

Society Says Columbus Proved World Is Flat

By JEFF WILSON

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI) — Charles K. Johnson swears he is on the level.

The president of the 1,500-member International Flat Earth Society spends his time trying to prove the world is "flat as a penny."

Still, one of the society's super-heroes is Christopher Columbus, whose day is today.

"Contrary to the history books, we claim Columbus proved the world flat," said Johnson, 54.

"At the time Columbus made his voyage, everyone believed the world was a ball — except for Columbus. He was not one of them. They were afraid they would fall off the edge of the earth because it was round, not flat."

"Columbus is one of our heroes because he didn't fall off — gravity wasn't invented yet. Gravity was invented by a priest in England. There was no gravity in Columbus' day."

"Every year around Columbus day," Johnson said, "there is a great controversy" about the earth's shape.

"The average person believes the world is round because modern science says so," Johnson said, "but it's just not true. Columbus did not fall off so that proves it."

Johnson was born and raised in Texas. His family moved to San Francisco and then to the Southern California desert.

Indeed, from his porch on the sandy, parched desert floor near Edwards Air Force Base, the world does look flat.

Johnson's Flat Earth Society boasts 1,500 members worldwide.

"Most live in the United States, but we have many others in 167 countries. We publish the Flat Earth Quarterly with the objective to restore the world's sanity," Johnson said.

"We consider this the world's most superstitious age. From integration to going to the moon, the world is a vast and complex place. We try to get people to use their minds logically."

But what about the space shots? Millions remember live pictures from space showing Earth spinning in the distance.

"The whole thing was a science fiction TV movie," Johnson said. "We aren't accusing the government of anything. The whole thing is a plot by Nazi German scientists. They are the nucleus of the U.S. space program."

"The movie 'Capricorn One' proved that the moon shot did not happen — that it was faked."

"The idea that the earth is round comes from Greek superstition." Surprisingly, the flat earth concept is usually met with polite interest, rather than rudeness or hysteria.

"There is a lurking sanity in the American public's mind, no matter what the American space program claims," Johnson said. "People don't condemn us."

But how is it that one can go "around" the world?

"Simple," Johnson said. "Magnetic north is the center of world and a ring of ice surrounds the land which is floating in a sea of flat water. It has nothing to do with the earth being a ball. It's like going around an island."

"Ships disappear on the horizon, but it's only an optical illusion. After a ship goes six miles it doesn't disappear over a hump of water. I can prove that with a telescope."

WHAT'S NEWS

New Numbers

New telephone numbers for the town's municipal and educational buildings will go into effect tomorrow. The new phone system was installed this weekend. All schools and town offices are closed today for the holiday.

A complete listing is contained in an advertisement on Page 2 of today's Herald.

Record Lows

New Englanders making their traditional fall foliage tours Columbus Day were greeted by mostly sunny skies but chilly temperatures, including a touch of frost in some areas.

Early morning temperatures today were in the low 30s in many sections — with the thermometer bottoming out at a record low 29 degrees at Bradley International Airport in Connecticut. The previous record low was 30 set in 1953.

Some snow flurries were reported in the western mountain area of Maine overnight and an inch or more of snow was reported atop New England's highest peak — Mt. Washington in New Hampshire — where the temperature early today was 11 degrees.

No Regrets

Sgt. Roger Boucher left a good job at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft to become a police officer nine years ago. He has never regretted it, although the money is not nearly as good. Boucher talks about his experiences as a police officer and about the new radio communications system. See Page 3.

Strike at VW

NEW STANTON, Pa. (UPI) — Volkswagen of America Inc. workers today set up picket lines outside the firm's first American assembly plant after overwhelmingly rejecting an initial wage contract proposal.

Workers failed to report for the 6 a.m. production shift and blocked the entrances to the Westmoreland County plant, the company said.

The employees, members of Local 2055, United Auto Workers, Sunday turned down by a 1,235-94 vote a proposed three-year agreement negotiated last week.

'Doing Well'

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — The world's second test-tube baby and her mother are "doing very well" and will be going home soon.

Gynecologist Saroj Kanti Bhattacharya, who delivered the baby by Caesarian section Oct. 3, told reporters Sunday, "There is no evidence of deformity" in the 6-day-old infant.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher in slow trading today of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 3.55 points Friday and 14.20 points overall last week, was ahead 0.60 to 880.62.

Advances led declines, 273 to 180, among the 698 issues traded in the early going.

Crowd of Democrats Greet Miss Lillian

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Gov. Ella Grasso and the president's mother, Lillian Carter, were greeted by a crowd of over 200 well-wishers who packed into Democratic Party Headquarters about 9:30 this morning.

Impressed by the large crowd, Mrs. Carter said, "I can't help but wonder what kind of woman Ella Grasso is to get all of you out so early on a cold morning. If it were this cold in Plains (Ga.)," she said, "we wouldn't have seven people."

Although Mrs. Carter downplayed her presence, saying, "I just came behind Ella this morning," it was clear that everyone was anxious to meet the spirited little white-haired woman.

Mrs. Carter said she had not met Mrs. Grasso before last week when they were both among the U.S. delegation to Pope John Paul's funeral. She said she spent the flight playing poker and lost 25 cents. Mrs.

Grasso spent most of the trip hooking a rug and Mrs. Carter commented, "I go so darned tired of seeing her punch at that thing."

In her straightforward down-home Southern manner, Mrs. Carter said she did not know what to expect when she first met Gov. Grasso. "I thought she would be a great big fat woman ... kinda sweaty looking. You know, you've seen them before," she said, drawing a loud outburst of laughter from the crowd. "But when I saw her, she's not big ... and she's not sweaty," she added.

Mrs. Grasso spoke briefly in appreciation of Mrs. Carter's visit to her behalf amidst her very busy schedule.

First District Congressman William Cottole also spoke briefly in behalf of the other state candidates campaigning for the upcoming November election.

Also seated at the podium were State Senator David Barry, (D-Fourth District), Marcella Fahey, candidate for the Third District senatorial seat, Mayor Stephen Penny and Ted Cummings, Democratic Town Committee chairman. Nearby were other local candidates, including Francis Mahoney, (D-13th District).

Barbara Weinberg of Manchester, who organized Mrs. Carter's visit to Connecticut today, also welcomed the governor and Mrs. Carter.

Audrey Wasik, state central committeewoman from South Windsor, presented Mrs. Carter with a pewter donkey necklace.

Gerald and Sherry Shea, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Shea of Andover, presented the two women with flowers.

The campaign delegation was whisked off after some hand-shaking and autograph signing. The total visit lasted about 30 minutes.

The governor and Mrs. Carter were scheduled to attend a picnic in New Haven later in the day with the delegation of visitors from a Friendship Force flight from Germany.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Sniper fire marred a Syrian-engineered cease-fire in Lebanon today while the presidents of Lebanon and Syria concluded four days of political and military talks in Damascus apparently without reaching full agreement.

Although the cease-fire was generally reported holding in most of East Beirut, its suburbs and adjacent mountain areas, Christian right-wing radios said three people were killed and one other injured today by Syrian sniper fire on the two key bridges commanding the northeast approaches to the capital.

Otherwise, both the state-run Beirut radio and the right-wing Phalangist radio said Lebanese citizens had "spent another calm night, free of artillery and rocket shells."

President Elias Sarkis was leaving for Saudi Arabia today on the first leg of a tour of Arab capital, Beirut said.

Syrian President Hafez Assad indicated the Syrian-Lebanese summit on the crisis in Lebanon had failed to reach agreement on all issues after four days of discussions.

"We are three-quarters of the way down the road," he told reporters in Damascus early today after four hours of talks with the Lebanese president, "and we are very optimistic."

Assad said "we were discussing practical steps" to resolve the Lebanese crisis and he added that Sarkis "will have to choose the most appropriate measures."

The Syrian leader said Sarkis would return to Damascus after his Arab tour and "we will conclude these discussions" on a solution to the Lebanese crisis.

Accurate casualty figures from a week of heavy shelling were impossible to obtain. Right-wing "Radio Free Lebanon" issued reports that said up to 1,300 people died and more than 2,000 were injured in the fighting. Red Cross officials said they felt these estimates were "surely exaggerated."

Badly outgunned Christian leaders, including former President Camille Chamoun, said the cease-fire arranged in Damascus by Presidents Elias Sarkis of Lebanon and Hafez Assad of Syria would not last.

"My confidence in the effectiveness of the cease-fire worked out in Damascus is very limited," the 78-year-old Chamoun said. "In past cease-fires, when the fighting stopped, (the Syrians) reinforced their positions and started fighting again."

"There will definitely be more fighting," one Christian commander said. "This cease-fire is nothing."

The current cease-fire was the latest in a long series that began during the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war between the Christians and the Palestinians, backed by Lebanese leftists.

An Arab League peacekeeping force, made up almost entirely of Syrian troops, ended the civil war 23 months ago but stayed on and became involved in new fighting with the right-wing Christians, who rejected Syrian control of their northern Lebanon strongholds.

Israel has threatened to intervene on the side of the Christians if the fighting does not end. Observers believe such an action could endanger the Camp David peace agreements between Israel and Egypt and could lead to another Middle East war.

Rightist radio reports late Sunday said two shells fell on the southeast Christian suburb of Hadath, two on the Karantina area of east Beirut and five on the Christian village of Douar.

A right-wing radio broadcast said about 30 people were wounded while trying to cross the Karantina Bridge to escape from east Beirut Sunday.

"The fact that the refugees would brave fire to escape showed how desperate the situation has become," one witness said.

The state-run Beirut Radio said, "There were limited and isolated violations of the cease-fire, which were dealt with quickly in order to stabilize the security situation in the country."

"Radio Free Lebanon" quoted a spokesman for Lebanese rightist forces as saying they would reject any accord reached between Sarkis and Assad that did not provide for the immediate withdrawal of Syrian troops from Lebanon.

"There will be no real cease-fire until our brothers return (to Syria)," it said.

Strikes Spread Throughout Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Riot police and troops in armored cars today patrolled Tehran and several riot-hit provincial cities. Strikes paralyzed universities, hospitals and government offices for the third day.

Incomplete reports said at least three persons were killed and more than 30 wounded in violence in provincial cities.

Three persons were reported killed when police fired to disperse rioting youths in the Caspian Sea resort towns of Amol and Babol.

Two young demonstrators were killed and another 30 wounded in Amol, where police firing continued late into Sunday night. A security officer was wounded.

Police fatally shot a demonstrator in Babol, 19 miles northeast of Amol, Iranian newspapers said.

Student demonstrators rioted in support of strikers demanding pay increases and other benefits in widespread walkouts.

Strikes spread in government departments, including state-owned hospitals. The work stoppage by hospital staffs threatened an outbreak of disease. Tension mounted between the strikers and thousands of Asian doctors who stayed on the job.

The strikes shut down the operation rooms of government hospitals.

and piled up garbage and dirty bandages. Patients were left without food or only sandwiches.

Pregnant women brought in for delivery of babies were turned back by the strikers.

Striking medical staff members demonstrated in hospital compounds in the southern port city of Khorramshahr in Ahvaz, and in southern Iran, doctors served a three-day notice on the authorities for acceptance of pay hike demand.

Courts were closed and trials suspended as justice ministry personnel went on strike.

"Panic has gripped Amol, the newspaper Rastakhiz said today. It reported that shooting continued until 10 p.m. Sunday and fires burned all over the city.

Thousands of youths fought security units in the streets of Amol, provoking shooting. No exact figures of dead and wounded are known, Rastakhiz said referring to the two confirmed deaths.

Sunday's rioting erupted during the funeral for Forougei Raie, a housewife killed Saturday by police who shot her way into her house in pursuit of demonstrators.

The clashes in Amol came during the second day of student protests in support of striking teachers.

30th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher J. Culleton of 183 Green Road celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on Oct. 4. The couple was honored at a surprise dinner party on Oct. 1 at the Yankee Silvermint Inn in Wallingford.

Hosting the party were their six daughters, Eileen Culleton of New Rochelle, N.Y.; Mrs. Noreen Botticello of Manchester; Patricia Culleton and Christine Culleton, both of Hartford; Angela Culleton of Danbury and Colleen Culleton of Manchester; their son-in-law, Michael Botticello of Manchester; and their granddaughters, Amanda Botticello and Bridget Botticello, both of Manchester.

The Culletons were married at the Church of the Assumption in Westford, Ireland, and came to the United States in 1952. They are both active parishioners at St. Bridge Church in Manchester.

Mr. Culleton is a carpenter employed by Standard Builders Construction Co. The couple is planning a trip to Florida soon.

Saccoccia-Reale

Ann Louise Reale of Manchester and Peter Edward Saccoccia of East Hartford were married Aug. 25 at St. Bartholomew's Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico F. Reale of 11 Bonner Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Saccoccia of 70 Porterbrook Ave., East Hartford.

The Rev. Martin J. Scholsky of St. Bartholomew's Church celebrated the nuptial mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with pink chrysanthemums and white pompons. Michael McCarthy was organist and Fred Black, trumpet soloist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory chiffon and Venice flower and leaf lace gown designed with fitted bodice, scoop neckline, long tapered sleeves, high-rise waistline with full circular skirt extending to a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a matching Camelot top of Venice lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons with peach roses and baby's breath. Miss Teresa M. Fersch of Manchester was maid of honor. Miss Julie M. Taylor of South Windsor was flower girl. Dennis Pierz of Hartford served as best man.

Building a Better Bus

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Confrontations over public policy in this capital seldom fail to attract the interest of the press and public, but too little attention is paid to the peaceful resolution of those conflicts.

The Transbus Group and the DOT agreed that both the ramp and lift will be available as alternative options to be selected by local transit agencies when they buy the buses. In either case, the mechanism will be attached to the front door.

Thought

In "The Living Bible" we read in Ephesians 2:4-7 about God's love toward all people. "But God is so rich in mercy, he loved us so much that even though we were spiritually dead and doomed by our sins, he gave us back our lives again (literally, 'he made us alive') when he raised Christ from the dead — only by his undeserved favor have we ever been saved — and lifted us up from the grave into glory along with Christ, where we sit with him in the heavenly realms all because of what Christ Jesus did."

Gang Tackling by Patriots

Steve Neilson, Sam Hunt, Tim Fox and Ray Hamilton (l. to r.) of Patriots all have one object: Eagle running back Will Montgomery.

Grogan TD Bomb Leads to Triumph

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Ron Jaworski, "the Polish Rifle," was on target Sunday but his receivers dropped too many of his bullets. Meanwhile, Steve Grogan, the Patriot mule, fired a touchdown bomb and set up a field goal with another long gain to lead the New England Patriots to a 24-14 win over the Philadelphia Eagles.

"I'm disappointed with the fumbles and dropped passes," said Eagles coach Dick Vermeil, whose team dropped to 3-3. "You can't beat a physically superior team doing those types of things. We haven't dropped that many passes in a long time."

Eagle quarterback Jaworski hit on 18-of-39 for 186 yards, including a 28-yard scoring strike to Harold Carmichael in the second quarter. But the key pass was, unfortunately for the Eagles, one of many dropped airdrops all day. With Philadelphia trailing 17-7 in the third quarter, Jaworski threw a perfect 40-yard pass to Ken Payne in the New England end zone. The ball hit off Payne's fingertips. Two plays later, Grogan launched a 58-yard bomb to speedster Stan Morgan for a score to give the Patriots can't really tell you in words how sad it is. A big part of the Bengals' slide can be blamed on the loss of Anderson to a hand injury in the first game of the season. The eighth-year pro came back last week, only to throw four interceptions in a 26-12 loss to San Francisco.

"You've got to believe he's going to be much more ready to play this season," Dolphin coach Don Shula said. "Shula's No. 1 quarterback, Bob Griese, will be suited up on the sidelines tonight for the first time during the regular season, but it is unlikely he'll see action. Bob Matheson, the other middle linebacker, will remain on the sidelines with a back injury suffered two weeks ago. Rusty Chambers, who now leads the team in tackles, is his replacement."

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers were embarrassed enough by what Walter Payton did to them last year with his running. They didn't need the added insult of what he reportedly did before Sunday's game with his words. The Chicago Bears' usually amiable running back was quoted in a Green Bay newspaper Sunday saying the Packers were overrated and not the team their 14 record suggested. He added the Bears would beat the Packers just as they did twice last year when Payton rushed for 205 yards in the first game and 183 in the second.

"We were upset by what he said," said safety Steve Lake. "We wanted to show him just how good we are." Naturally, Payton's comments were circulated around the Green Bay locker room prior to the game to provide more incentive for the already important task. The Packers responded with another unexpected victory, 24-14 over the Bears. Luke figured considerably in helping the Packers remain the season's biggest surprise. He recovered a 41-yard field goal to set up Chester Marcol's 41-yard field goal

Cowboys Rebound Against New York

IRVING, Texas (UPI) — Tom Landry had felt his Dallas Cowboys were at the crossroads Sunday and when they made it through the intersection with hardly a scratch he was so pleased that he momentarily forgot the next assignment. "Let's see, where do we play, obviously having a hard time remembering, 'Is it Philadelphia? Or is it St. Louis?'" When reminded that Dallas must travel to St. Louis next week, Landry said, "Well, they will be tough. They are to win one. I hope it's not next week!" Landry's brief memory lapse demonstrates how much effort and thought were put into preparation for Sunday's meeting with the New York Giants, who are the Cowboys' 24-3. There was a great deal of honest concern in Cowboyland following Dallas' 9-5 Monday night loss to Washington. The Cowboys were going to start proving they were champions of repeating as Super Bowl champions, I had to start Sunday.

Defense Features In Jets' Triumph

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Jets' defense was tired. Not physically tired but tired of the abuse it has been taking from local media and opposing quarterbacks. Led by the NFL's leading passer, Joe Ferguson, managed only a 16-yard TD pass from Ferguson to Heben in the first period and a 15-yarder from Bill Munson to Bob Chandler against Jet reserves with 28 seconds left. "You saw what happens when you play aggressive football," said Jets Coach Walt Michaels, whose club ended a three-game losing streak and is now 3-3. "We were physical today and you make things happen when you play aggressive football. I haven't seen more enthusiasm than I saw before we went out there today. Elsewhere, Central Connecticut set a school ground gaining record to stop a three-game losing streak and Southern Connecticut came out of the woods for the first time in four tries. Trinity and Coast Guard were on the debit side, the University of Connecticut led for the fourth time in five Saturdays and Western Connecticut was yet to win after four tries.

Yale and Rutgers clashed in the Yale Bowl before 21,000 spectators. The Bulldogs, 2-1, scoring in the final 1:28 of the game, gambled for a win instead of a tie. Quarterback Pat O'Brien had clicked with John Spagnola on a 22-yard touchdown play to move the Bulldogs within one point of Rutgers 28-27. But their try for the two-point conversion failed when O'Brien threw an incomplete to Spagnola.

Yale Out of Unbeaten Ranks

HARTFORD (UPI) — Yale dropped a thriller to Rutgers but the University of New Haven and Wesleyan remained unbeaten in the weekend's Connecticut college football action. Money What Series Players are Seeking

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Money. Whether it be the root of all evil or what makes the world go 'round it is most certainly what this 1978 World Series between the New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers is all about. With the two largest media markets in the country meeting for the second straight year, the TV networks are happy, the advertising people are happy, the show-biz types are happy, yes, even the players are happy.

"I'm grateful for the opportunity to play the Yankees again," said Smith. "It makes us want to come back and prove that we should have won last year. It's not always the case of the best team winning. I thought we had better players last year, but they (the Yankees) did a better job. I also felt the Red Sox were a better team than the Yankees this year." The 75th World Series will begin Tuesday at Dodger Stadium (8:30 p.m. EDT) and will mark the 10th time the Yankees and Dodgers have met to settle baseball's biggest stakes. Yankee Manager Bob Lemon selected right-hander Ed Figueroa to face his opening game starter, while Dodger skipper Tommy Lasorda was leaning to veteran left-hander Tommy John over 19-year winner Burt Hooton.

Whalers and Rangers in 4-4 Deadlock

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — A 4-4 overtime exhibition series finale with the New York Rangers vs. New England Whalers' Coach Bill Dineen following with satisfaction. "I wouldn't mind starting the regular season that way, especially with the first three games on the road," Dineen said following Sunday's tie. "It exceeded all expectations." "Getting 10 out of a possible 14 points isn't bad when you've played National Hockey League teams seven times," he said. The Rangers played a high pressure game from the outset and scored the first goal just 3:01 into the first period when Ron Duguay fired a backhander from 15 feet over Whaler goaltender Al Smith. Gordie Howe tied it up on a powerplay three minutes later with a rebound of an Alan Hanger shot.

Council Selects Panel To Seek New Manager

SOUTH WINDSOR — The Town Council has named a three-member committee to seek a successor for Town Manager Paul Talbot who has resigned effective Jan. 1, 1979.

Town Council members voted 7-1 in favor of naming Republican Mayor Nancy Caffyn, Republican member Robert Silis and Democratic member Arthur Champagne to the selection committee.

Champagne, however, said he may withdraw his name from the panel when Democrat Edward Havens returns from vacation. Champagne said he was reluctant to serve.

Some town officials have indicated the panel may have a difficult search because of the controversy surrounding Talbot's pressured resignation.

Following an attempt by the Republican members of the council and Democratic member Mayor Robert Myette to fire him later this summer, Talbot submitted his resignation on Oct. 2 at the council's regularly scheduled meeting.

Although the January 1 effective date of the resignation is considered unacceptable by the GOP members, they appear to have no choice but to accept it because Myette has withdrawn his support of Talbot's ouster. Myette is believed to have had a "change of heart" because of his anger over a published report quoting Mayor Caffyn as saying that Myette would provide the sixth necessary council vote for Talbot's dismissal.

The Talbot controversy sparked a "mud-slinging" session among council members which has continued on even since Talbot's resignation announcement.

Myette has claimed Mrs. Caffyn offered to vote in favor of correcting a drainage problem in front of his brother-in-law's home in exchange for his vote to dismiss Talbot earlier than January 1.

Mayor Caffyn, on the other hand,

About Town

Large lot zoning around the lake, which is presently zoned for two acres. She said it placed a hardship on people who owned land there but could not develop it.

Suzanne Brainard of South Street advocated allowing small general stores in heavily populated area for the convenience of resident who don't wish to use their cars to go to the major shopping areas on Route 31 and on Route 4A.

Joanne Corrigan of the Conservation Commission complimented the PZC on the plan. "I think a 300-foot buffer zone in the lake area is good," she said, referring to the plan's attempt to discourage construction near the water's edge.

PZC Chairwoman Marilyn Richardson said after the hearing that she anticipated no major changes in the master plan draft. She felt the hearing was generally supportive of the recommendations.

Once the PZC adopts the plan, local zoning regulations will be changed to conform with it.

The first meeting of the season for the Retired Teachers Association of Manchester will be Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the First Federal Savings, 344 W. Middle Turnpike, and not Wednesday as previously stated.

The Women's Home League of the Salvation Army will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Citadel, 661 Main St. Mrs. Molly Bell will be in charge of the service meeting.

Rec To Offer Pottery Class

The Manchester Recreation Department's cultural program is offering afternoon and evening pottery classes for beginners starting Oct. 16 at the Arts Building on Garden Grove Road. Instruction will be given on the power wheel, kick wheel and on basic handbuilding techniques. The instructor is Diane Bakulski.

Afternoon pottery is open to teen-agers under age 18 and will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The evening pottery will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and is open to adults ages 18 and over.

Registration will be held in person Oct. 11 and 12 from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the Arts Building on Garden Grove Road. All fees are payable upon registration.

For further information contact the Arts Building between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., 643-8795.
