Still Pushing Massage Law

MANCHESTER — Vivian Ferguson, Republican town director who originated the town's ordinance on massage parlors, said today she will continue to pursue compliance with the law despite the massage parlor's efforts to skirt it.

"These people are skirting the law," she said of the conversion of Cleopatra's and The Body Shop from massage parlors to "encounter groups."

Paul O'Bright, owner of Cleopatra's, confirmed today that the business is advertising as an encounter group and that a notice is posted telling customers that they cannot give massages under the ordinance. The sign adds, "however, under existing state statutes, if a man or a woman (not an employee) desires and asks you to give or receive a massage behind closed doors, that constitutes 'consenting adults' and does not violate either state statute or town ordinance."

The manager of the Body Shop, Toby M. Bermant of West Hartford, could not be reached for comment on the Body Shop's plans, but the business was open this morning. Bermant was arrested Friday night and charged with permitting a massage without a permit. An employee, Deborah J. Fredericksen, 21, of Moodus was charged with performing a massage without a permit. Both were released on bond for court appearances Oct. 30.

Mrs. Ferguson said she talked with Town Counsel David Barry who is pursuing the legalities of the massage parlor ordinance.

Police said the investigation of the massage parlors is continuing.

Appeal Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today turned down an appeal by Skokie, Ill., officials who argued they could lawfully prohibit a Nazi demonstration in the village where many Jewish survivors of World War II live.

It let stand a U.S. appeals court ruling that the ordinances adopted by the village board last year to prevent a threatened demonstration violated the Nazis' rights to free speech.

Justice William Brennan dissented, saying the case gave the high court a chance to consider whether in this factual situation "there is no limit whatsoever to the exercise of free speech."

Congress Goes Home After Major Decisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bleary-eyed and bone-weary 95th Congress has handed President Carter a hard-won energy program, jobs bill and tax cut, and headed home with three weeks of campaign time for members seeking reelection.

The final gavel fell in the Senate at 7:17 p.m. Sunday, ending a marathon weekend session that began 34 hours, 17 minutes earlier — at 9 a.m. Saturday. House Speaker Thomas O'Neill adjourned his chamber sine die at 6:46 p.m., after 30 hours, 46 minutes of continuous work.

"The moment has come, the moment we've all waited for," Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd said as he moved to end this Congress and begin the next in exactly three months, on Jan. 15, 1979.

The chamber burst into applause. Minutes earlier, Byrd and GOP whip Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, had placed their ceremonial telephone call to President Carter, reciting a list of accomplishments and advising him Congress was going home.

"He expressed his congratulations to the Congress ... and stated that the Congress had been a very courageous one in standing up to tough issues, has been most cooperative and produced a record of which it could be proud," Byrd said of Carter.

O'Neill noted this Congress began in January 1977 with a new Democratic leadership team in both the House and Senate and a president of the same party in the White House for the first time in eight years.

"The new leadership in Congress and the White House successfully weathered the shakedown cruise in the 95th Congress," he said. "The same record of achievement for the nation is the goal of the 96th."

As is often the case, the final hours of the session were the most productive.

Carter's energy program received final approval at daybreak as the House voted 231-168 in favor of a five-section package.

The last element of the energy package had cleared the Senate shortly after midnight when maverick Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., abandoned his fruitless farewell filibuster of the natural gas pricing provisions.

Abourezk had delayed the Senate for 14 hours, causing most of the major remaining business to spill over to the early hours Sunday.

At mid-morning, the Senate voted 72-3 in favor of an $18.7 billion compromise tax legislation that includes $10.7 billion in individual tax cuts. The measure, believed acceptable to Carter, was expected to pare the tax bill by $136 a year for a family of four earning $10,000 — but provide a $249 reduction for the same family in the $25,000 bracket.

The House sent the measure to President Carter shortly after 4 p.m. on a 337-38 vote. With the tax bill out of the way, both chambers had cleared the last hurdle in the way of final adjournment.

Earlier, both the House and Senate voted another major administration priority, the Humphrey-Hawkins "full employment" measure that implements a target goal of 4 percent unemployment by 1983 along with a goal for chopping the inflation rate. The House also gave final approval to an $11 billion, four-year extension of public service job and training programs.

Administrators Pleased By Board of Directors

By GREG PEARSON

MANCHESTER — Town administrators do not always agree with the decisions of the Town Board of Directors, but they are pleased with the board's involvement and interest in local government.

The present board has been in office for almost a year and has taken the time to learn about the operations of the individual departments, according to the people who run those departments.

"There seems to be an across-the-board interest in our functions and the methodology for performing our duties," James Turek, collector of revenue said.

He said that in the past some of the unique problems a department like his might encounter have not been recognized by boards.

He said of this board, "They seem to have a much more sensitive approach to your needs."

Town Manager Robert Weiss also said that the change has been noticed.

"This board seems to be getting very much involved in all areas of concern," Weiss said. He thinks part of this is due to the newness of the board — five of the nine members elected last fall had no previous experience as a director.

"They were motivated to learn as much as they could as quickly as they could," Weiss said.

"I think what's reflected is a sense of teamwork between the elected officials and the administrative people," he said. Weiss, however, also said that the directors have stayed within their boundaries and have not interfered with the actual day-to-day administrative work.

Another department head, who asked not to be identified, disagreed. He said that this board is continuing a trend of recent years — one that has the board becoming more of an administrative body for the town and less of a policy-making board.

He believes that the hired administrators, such as Weiss, are losing too much authority to the directors.

His voice, however, was one of the few dissenting ones heard about the board's present involvement in seeking information about town departments.

One department head who probably has had more contact with the board than most is Frank Jodaitis, water and sewer administrator.

"I believe they've been willing to listen and they care about the decisions they make," Jodaitis said of the board members. "They are willing to take the time."

Jodaitis mentioned the amount of time that the board has spent reviewing studies about future improvements for the water system. He also was pleased that board members recently toured the reservoirs to see the job done by the forestry workers.

"It's more in the mental approach. They're not as distant," Jodaitis said.

Police Chief Robert Lannan said that he always has found the boards cooperative and helpful.

He called the present one "very energetic and very committed. The hours they put in — I don't know how they do it."

Bulletin

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Roman Catholic church elected its first non-Italian pope in 455 years Monday, naming Polish Cardinal Karol Wojtyla, 58. He took the name John Paul II.

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The princes of the Roman Catholic Church today failed in their fifth and sixth ballots to choose a successor to the late Pope John Paul I.

Cries of disappointment rippled through the crowd of 10,000 people jammed in St. Peter's Square on a sunny morning as black smoke billowed from the chimney atop the Sistine Chapel at 11:18 a.m. (6:18 a.m. EDT).

The 111 cardinals who are choosing the 264th spiritual leader of the world's 700 million Roman Catholics were going back into the ornately frescoed chapel to begin their seventh round of balloting at 4:30 p.m. (11:30 a.m. EDT).

Five minutes after the first puffs of black smoke rose into the sky, white smoke began to emerge and many bystanders rushed toward the front of the square, applauding in the mistaken impression that a pontiff had been elected.

Vatican radio said the white smoke was due to "the good quality of the paper of which the ballots are made." The better quality the paper, the whiter the smoke, it said.

"The (first) smoke was most decidedly black," the radio said.

The cardinals burn their ballots only after every second vote — but first they burn a special Italian army chemical flare to ensure a pure black or white signal to the outside world.

The cardinals' failure made this conclave the fifth longest of the century.

It took 14 ballots to elect Pope Pius XI in 1922, 11 ballots for the election of John XXIII in 1958, 10 ballots for Leo XIV in 1914 and seven ballots for Pius X in 1903.

John Paul was elected in four ballots only 52 days ago.

The church princes held two ballots Monday after failing Sunday in four votes.

The cardinals, who entered their conclave Saturday evening, have spent two nights locked up.

John Paul, the smiling former patriarch of Venice who reigned as pope only 34 days before dying of a heart attack Sept. 28, was elected on the fourth ballot in August after just eight hours and 54 minutes of voting.

Though conclave election deliberations are top secret, church sources speculated Sunday's four inconclusive votes meant that conservative and moderate blocs of cardinals had been unable to elect one of their own men or settle on a compromise candidate.

The church sources pointed out that John Paul's election Aug. 26 was one of the quickest in 300 years and that another one like it should not be expected.

The church sources said the first round of ballots in the conclave were probably a test of strength between conservative cardinals — led by Giuseppe Siri, 72, archbishop of Genoa — and a group of more moderate cardinals who follow the general policies of the late Pope Paul VI who died Aug. 6.

The second group includes such cardinals as Giovanni Colombo, 75, archbishop of Milan, and the so-called "pastoral" candidates — Corrado Ursi, 70, archbishop of Naples, and Salvatore Pappalardo, 60, archbishop of Palermo, Sicily.

Church sources said Ursi and Pappalardo could eventually emerge as compromise candidates along with cardinals Pericle Felici, 67, and Sebastiano Baggio, 65, both of the Vatican and both conservatives.

Still not to be counted out, the sources said, was Cardinal Giovanni Benelli, 57, the powerful former assistant Vatican secretary of state who is now archbishop of Florence.

Rabbi To Retire After 34 Years

MANCHESTER — Rabbi Leon Wind, the dean of Manchester clergymen, is retiring from his post as spiritual leader of Temple Beth Shalom, effective June 30, 1979.

He announced his decision to the congregation last week on Yom Kippur Eve, following Kol Nidre services. He said he will remain in Manchester as rabbi emeritus and will devote his time to writing and to a project he has looked forward to for many years.

Rabbi Wind said he will edit and publish a manuscript on Jewish Law that was written in the 18th century by Rabbi Joshua Shababo, a rabbinical scholar then living in Egypt. A study of the manuscript formed the basis of the Doctorate in Hebrew Literature degree Dr. Wind received in 1959. His thesis dealt with the history of Hebrew scholarship in Egypt dating back to its occupation by the Turks in the 14th Century.

When he retires next year, Rabbi Wind will have served Temple Beth Shalom 34 years. For two years before he came to Manchester in June 1945, he was spiritual leader at another Temple Beth Shalom, in Kansas City, Mo. He assumed that post soon after being ordained by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Rabbi and Mrs. Wind, the former Ruth Youngman of New York City, were married one month after he graduated from the seminary.

Dr. Wind is listed in Who's Who in World Jewry and in the Israel Honorarium, an encyclopedia of worldwide Jewish personalities. In 1971, he received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. Last April, he was honored by the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce with its Community Service Award for Spiritual Leadership.

He is a past president of the Rabbinical Assembly of Connecticut and of the Manchester Ministers Association.

Although Rabbi Wind had many offers to leave Temple Beth Shalom, he preferred to stay in Manchester because "I became part and parcel of the community, and because I saw that the need for building up Jewish life was as important here as elsewhere."

His greatest satisfaction in being a rabbi he has said is "working with youth and seeing them apply the teachings of their faith to the issues and problems facing them."

Rabbi Wind completed his early studies at the University of Lvov, formerly in Poland, now Russian-occupied. He majored in the sciences and philosophy.

Rabbi Wind considered it a natural step for him to enter the rabbinate. He said that he always felt there was a need to bring Judaism in line with the modern world. "Because of my background in scientific studies, I felt the need to show that science and religion do not exclude one another," he said during an interview before his 25th anniversary as Manchester's rabbi.

In a letter to Rabbi Wind informing him he would receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in August 1971, the leaders of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America wrote, "Through the work which you and your colleagues have done, the future of American Judaism has become far more secured than seemed possible at the beginning of this century."

Reassessment Plan Angers Pond Lawyer

MANCHESTER — The attorney representing owners of Hilliard Pond has expressed his anger with a proposal by the town that could lead to a reassessment of the property.

Attorney Samuel Teller of East Hartford, who represents pond owners Morris and Richard Bezzini, charged that the Town Board of Directors is attempting to intimidate his clients.

The board last week voted not to proceed with an application for federal funding to pay part of the purchase price for the pond. Board members agreed unanimously that the asking price for the pond was too high and much greater than the assessed value.

Director John FitzPatrick suggested that the town consider a proposal where the assessment of the property might be increased when the proposed sale price is much greater than the assessed value.

"We view the directors' request to seek reassessment of my clients' property as politically motivated and attention-getting, and part of a continuous attempt to curry favor with certain sections of the electorate," Teller wrote in a letter to the board.

"We also feel that this action amounts to intimidation of my clients, or for that matter, anyone else who may enter into negotiation with the town for sale of property and disagrees with the board over a purchase price," Teller wrote.

Teller said that such a proposal to reassess property would be illegal and could lead to reassessment of all properties offered for sale in the town.

He wrote that any attempt to reassess the Hilliard Pond property "will be met by appropriate action."

FitzPatrick said today that his proposal was not an attempt to intimidate.

"There certainly wasn't any intimidation involved," he said. The idea actually blossomed from suggestions made at previous hearings by members of the public, he said.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Vice President Walter Mondale has assured doubting Midwesterners the United States will not accept strategic arms limitations damaging to national security, but says SALT talks are close to agreement.

Mondale made the statements Saturday while campaigning for Rep. David Cornwell, D-Ind.

"We think we are making substantial progress in achieving strategic arms limitations," Mondale said.

Educators Receive New Rules on Crime

EAST HARTFORD — The Board of Education is scheduled to receive revised police guidelines on dealing with criminal problems in the schools at tonight's regular meeting at the Penney High School amphitheatre.

In a memo to the school board, Superintendent Eugene A. Diggs urged members to adopt the policy which would give explicit directions on dealing with problems from drugs and alcohol to civil disobedience under the guidelines, formal references and written reports would be channeled through the office of Ernest Grasso, the administrative assistant for personnel.

"These guidelines may reduce some of the ambiguity and confusion which now exist, and provide a clear understanding of the probable outcomes of certain infractions," the report said. "Students, parents, school and community will hopefully benefit from this more structured procedure."

The written guidelines were developed by Police Sgt. James Keegan of the Youth Division. Police officials have given support to the plan because it is the first time formal written policies have been made before acting on them. Tonight's meetings between school and police officials on cooperation in dealing with crime in the schools.

Suggested action on the possession of liquor and drugs calls for staff members, custodial and security forces to confiscate the substance and give it to the school principal within 48 hours. The principal must then transfer the seized goods to the police department within 72 hours of receipt.

However, the guidelines say, large quantities of drug or alcohol must be turned over to the police immediately.

If a bomb scare is discovered, the school official must notify the administrative assistant for personnel and the police department. Police will then call the fire department and

Rehab Loans Being Sought

MANCHESTER — The town's housing rehabilitation loan program has received its first applications for its new investor-owned program.

The investor-owned program was approved by the town Board of Directors in August and permits owners who do not live in the residences to apply for housing rehabilitation loans.

The program previously had been open only to owner-occupied residences.

John Donovan, who works in the administration of the program, said that the town has received its first three or four applications for the investor-owned program.

Work on the owner-occupied program also continues.

Through the end of September, the town had received 127 applications for the program. A total of 68 had been approved for funding, and for 65 of those, work had been completed. Another 31 applications were rejected or withdrawn and eight applications are being processed.

The program provides subsidized home improvement loans to residents who live in a specified area and meet financial guidelines. Funding is provided through the federal Community Development grants.

There are no income limits for the limits of $6,000 per unit and $50,000 per landlord have been set.

ZBA Chairman Decides He Served Long Enough

Johnson has served on the ZBA for the past eight years, six of which he has been chairman.

He wrote to Betty Intagliata, secretary of the Town Board of Directors, to say that he does not wish to be reappointed to the ZBA.

"Public officials, elected or appointed, should limit their term of service to insure the influx of new ideas and continued growth," Johnson wrote. "It is only the growth and

Post Office Up For Sale

VERNON — The old Rockville Post Office facility is up for sale again. The General Services Administration is inviting bids for the building located at the corner of Park and School streets.

The Rockville Public Health Nursing Association and the Board of Education have both previously offered bids for the building but they were turned down as being too low.

The property has been vacant since the Rockville Post Office was moved into new quarters on Union Street about a year ago. It consists of a single story brick building with loading platform and full basement. It's situated on 38 acres of land and also included is a 10 by 165 foot right-of-way easement that runs along the parcel's southerly boundary.

The land was acquired by the government in 1911. The post office building, containing a gross floor area of 3,987 feet, was built in 1917. The loading platform, containing 668 square feet, was added in 1956.

Senior Arab diplomats were privately skeptical of the chances for a long-term peace blueprint between the Christians and Syrian forces, who helped end the civil war and are in Franjeh as part of the Arab League peace-keeping force.

But the diplomats said Sarkis hoped at least to consolidate the cease-fire announced eight days ago.

Sarkis and the Arab ministers were expected to advocate renewal of the Arab force mandate, which expires Oct. 28, but also to trim Syrian troop presence in some Christian areas.

Each side has accused the other of violating the cease-fire. A statement from the mostly Syrian Arab League peace-keeping force Sunday said the militias were "trying to keep the security situation precarious, especially during the meeting of the Arab foreign ministers."

Duels Set Fire In East Beirut

BEIT EDDINE, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian forces and Israeli-armed Lebanese were counting on the diplomats to "freeze the country from its ordeal," official Beirut radio said.

The conferees — representing Lebanon, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates and Sudan — drew up a "working paper," conference sources said, for today's talks at the 100-century summer presidential palace in the southeast hill town of Beit Eddine.

But 25 miles away in Beirut, Syrian forces and Israeli-armed Christian militiamen traded sniper fire, and an occasional rocket-propelled grenade blast was heard.

Eight months of fighting in Beirut peaked earlier in the month in the city's worst rocket, artillery and mortar battles ever. The weeklong fighting killed 500 Lebanese — mostly Christian civilians — left 3,000 wounded and displaced half a million others, the Red Cross said.

At one point in the battle, artillery shells hit Beirut's main power grid, leaving the city in darkness with communications to the outside world severed. Fires raged and from mountain vantage points the city appeared to be under a atomic-bomb-like mushroom cloud.

Thick black smoke from the fire billowed over east Beirut, which is a "phosphorus shell fired by the Syrians."

The incident, the most serious cease-fire violation reported in the Karantina area since all-out heavy weapons fire died down barely a week ago, coincided with escalated sniper activity elsewhere in east Beirut, Christian radio reports said.

Phalangist radio warned Christians the "bridge area" around Karantina was "impassable due to sniping from all directions."

There was also a report of renewed violence between rival Christian rightists in north Lebanon. The Phalangists said rival militiamen loyal to former President Suleiman Franjeh had kidnapped 15 youths from the Batroun coastal area north of Beirut. "Two of the corpses were found — a teenage student and a farm hand. One had his head cut off," the radio said.

The reported abduction came nearly four months to the day after Phalangist supporters raided the home of Franjeh's son and militia commander, Tony Franjeh. He, his wife and daughter and a number of Franjeh supporters were massacred. The elder Franjeh vowed at the time to seek revenge.

President Elias Sarkis late Sunday opened the first Arab parley on the Lebanon crisis since the 1976-76 civil

Rec Program Slated

EAST HARTFORD — The Department of Parks and Recreation has announced that the women's fall program will begin Oct. 25 at East Hartford High School.

Volleyball will be offered in the girls' gym and basketball will be played in the varsity gym for women 18 years of age and over.

The program starts at 6:30 p.m. and runs until 9:30 p.m. every Wednesday evening until spring. All are welcome.

In addition, on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Hockanum School, the Parks and Recreation Department will be offering co-ed volleyball. All adults 18 years of age and over are invited to attend.

Those who attend are urged to bring a friend or a neighbor to either both programs and take advantage of staying fit and trim throughout the winter months. Brief warm-up exercises will be offered at both programs.

The Parks and Recreation Department reminds residents that town ID cards will be checked and can be secured for a nominal fee. The cards are good for a five-year period.

Progress Reported For Mideast Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Egyptian-Israeli peace talks, focusing on the details and maps of a treaty that would end 30 years of hostility, are reported to be making continued progress in a series of informal working sessions.

In the fourth of the talks today, the Egyptian and Israeli delegations were scheduled to hold a series of hotel room meetings, in a setting more informal and relaxed than the full plenary sessions at Blair House. Today is a Jewish festival of the autumn harvest.

On Sunday, the pattern also was informal, with meetings in the Madison Hotel where both delegations are staying.

"Progress continues, although differences remain on certain of the articles (in the draft treaty)," said conference spokesman George Sherman.

Sherman said legal advisers from all three sides took part in the Sunday meetings, which dealt with the American draft treaty, plus the maps and protocols that would be attached to the final version.

The State Department announced that Assistant Secretary of State Harold Saunders has been sent to Jordan to give King Hussein the American answers to a series of questions. Hussein posed about Jerusalem and the future of the West Bank.

The trip was meant to underline the importance the American government attaches to Hussein's eventual participation in the talks, which already have begun to deal with the larger questions raised by a comprehensive Middle East peace agreement.

"Progress continues, although differences remain on certain of the articles (in the draft treaty)," said conference spokesman George Sherman.

Showdown Meeting Due On South West Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — Western negotiators led by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance approached a showdown meeting with South Africa today over independence for South West Africa, warning that an unbending stance by Pretoria will put the white government in "confrontation with the world."

South Africa last month announced it would conduct its own elections in South West Africa rather than accept a U.N. plan to bring independence to the former German colony, also known as Namibia.

"It is quite inconceivable for us to accept the result of this makeshift election," British Foreign Secretary David Owen said Sunday.

"The South Africans must realize this will have very wide implications and certainly put South Africa on a head-on confrontation with the world," Vance, Owen and the foreign ministers of France, West Germany

Zoners Due to Vote On Bigelow St. Bid

MANCHESTER — The Zoning Board of Appeals is expected to decide tonight about a disputed property-division case on Bigelow Street.

Residents of the street have protested a proposal that would permit a second house to be built at 34-36 Bigelow Street.

Thomas J. Crockett, owner of the property, has proposed construction of a second home on the lot, which has 100 feet of frontage. A total of 75 feet of frontage is required per building lot in the Residence B Zone.

To meet this requirement, Crockett has proposed a zig-zag division of the property. This would create 75 feet of frontage at the street line for one lot and 75 feet of frontage at the building line for the second lot.

Zoning Enforcement Officer Ernest Machell has ruled the property division is proper according to zoning regulations in effect at the time. Since then, the Planning and Zoning Commission has amended the rules to prohibit such zig-zag divisions.

A group of neighbors has appealed Machell's decision, and the ZBA will decide tonight whether to grant the appeal.

The dispute was not voted on last month because three members of the ZBA thought that they might have a conflict of interest. The town council's office ruled that one, Harry Reinborn, does not have a conflict, so five ZBA members will be eligible to vote tonight. It will take four votes to overturn Machell's decision.

The ZBA also will conduct four public hearing items tonight at its 7 o'clock meeting in the Municipal Building's Hearing Room.

The hearing are for the following items:

- Richard E. Clough, who is seeking a variance to permit a non-conforming porch to be enclosed at 214-216 Hilliard St.
- Roger and Bonnie Weston, who are requesting a variance to reduce their front yard for an addition to an existing nonconforming dwelling. The home is at 472 Tolland Turnpike, which is in a Residence AA Zone, where a 40-foot front yard is required. They want a reduction to 15 feet.
- Eugene Sammartino, who is seeking a variance to permit a parking area of crushed stone at 519 Center St.
- Leo F. Bergamini, who is seeking to divide one parcel into two at 81 Carter St. He is requesting a variance because one of the lots would have only 30 feet of frontage and 150 feet of frontage is required.

Connell Charges Dodd 'Copped Out' on Office

VERNON — "Chris Dodd copped out" when it came time to take a position, either to build another $125 million congressional office building," Thomas Connell, Republican candidate for second district congressional seat, said today.

Connell is challenging Dodd who is seeking re-election.

Connell said, "Most of the House of Representatives showed the good sense to put a halt to the new Taj Mahal the Senate is trying to build for itself."

He said an additional $54 million for the structure, which he termed "gracious," was turned down by the house 345-153. "But Chris Dodd refused to vote against the new building with its teak paneling, 16-foot ceilings, rooftop tennis courts and olympic-sized gymnasium."

Connell said it looks like Dodd wants the building finished because he's already eyeing a suite of rooms there. "When the vote came up on the house floor, Dodd seemed torn between doing the right thing — which was voting against the building — and getting his suite with teak paneling."

Connell added that he thinks the citizens of Eastern Connecticut deserve to know how their representative feels about an issue. He said he doesn't think they deserve a congressman who copped out on an issue. He said he doesn't think they deserve a congressman who copped out on an issue. Third District Candidates Differ On Tax Questions

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — In a televised debate Sunday, the two state senatorial candidates for the third district agreed on just about everything except the question of state taxes.

Mrs. Clarke said, "It was a necessary step that had to be taken."

Blue Laver: Mrs. Clarke said she could not back the blue laws because "if people want to go shopping on Sundays, they should be able to."

Mrs. Fahey said business has a right to open on Sundays.

Horton vs. Meskill (equal funding for education): Both candidates agree with the decision and believe the state can implement it within the next few years.

Employment in the Third District: Mrs. Clarke said the district "has a lot to offer. We're old, we're established."

Mrs. Clarke said education should be the top priority. She said that employers of the region with capable future employees.

Mrs. Clarke called the third district "the skilled labor capital of the region" and said technical schools should be beefed up.

Schools should also ensure that every child gets a basic skills like reading and mathematics, Mrs. Fahey said.

Expanding technical schools: Both candidates said technical schools should be expanded. Mrs. Clarke said Pratt & Whitney Aircraft could possibly take over some of the schools which are closing because of declining enrollment.

Mrs. Fahey favors use of the school buildings or programs allowing students to visit the plant itself to learn a skill.

Interstate 86-84 connector: "I think it's very, very bad when we start something we can't finish," Mrs. Fahey said. "I don't want to see the connector."

Mrs. Clarke said she would like to see the connector. "I think it's very, very bad when we start something we can't finish," Mrs. Fahey said. "I don't want to see the connector."

Bolton Letter Backs Half-Time Teachers

BOLTON — A letter to support retaining two half-time positions at Bolton High School was received and read by the Board of Education at its meeting Thursday.

In July the board voted to eliminate two half-time positions at the school and create a full time French Spanish position.

The two teachers involved, Helen Winter who teaches Spanish and Ernest Stokes who teaches French, attended the September meeting of the board. Both objected to the decision and said they were not asked for any input and they did not know anything about it until they read it in the paper.

Mrs. Winkler said, "This is not the end of it. We feel we both have done a good job. The board's reasoning is not sound."

Further objecting to the fact the board wanted the teachers to become certified to teach both subjects immediately, Mrs. Winkler said, "I wouldn't hire me under those circumstances."

In their letter to the board, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Teller said they protest the decision of the board to combine

MACC News

By CLINT HENDRICKSON

Oh boy, I expected to use this space today just to tell you about the other fine entertainers you will enjoy at the Evening of the Performing Arts coming up this Saturday at 8 p.m. at Manchester High School.

I had forgotten about the "MACC" (more formally known as the Master Ceremonies) and a friend of mine who will be performing during the evening.

Jim Breitenfeld will do the honors, with a helping hand from David Moyer, Jim and his wife, Gail, Jim as the emcee, and Jim who will soon return from Hanover where they have been good will representatives of the U.S.A. to Germany as members of the Carter Friendship Flights.

Jim is executive vice president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and a board member of the local Red Cross. Jim and Gail are co-presidents of Bowers School PTA. In short, they are really into the community life of Manchester.

David Moyer, who is in the past worked closely with Jim at Crossroads, is now best known to Manchester as longtime advisor to and presently chairman of the Board of Directors of IOH (Instructors of the Handicapped).

Futurmore, David is a member of the board of directors of the Red Cross and is also on the board for New Hope Manor. He teaches psychology part time at Manchester Community College. His spare time is devoted to working for his doctorate in Educational Psychology.

I have heard it said that, to get a job done well, get a person to do it. So, we expect to have the M.C.C. job done doubly well.

But of course, with the fine talent we have, our M.C.C.s will have an easy time of it. Charles Tarpinian and Mary Stewart for instance, singing old time favorites like "Forever and Ever," "My Way" and "Where're You Walk." Charles is well known as a singer with the Beebees Choral and (our own) Sunshiners. Mary, a 25-year member of the Chamaine, has for a long time been a soloist in Hartford's First Presbyterian Church.

Introducing "Perussion Impressionist" Fred Bocchino will be fun for our M.C.C.s. He's a drummer who has been around, MHS Band, Navy Band, BHS

Duprey Heads Mitchell Unit

SOUTH WINDSOR — Larry Duprey, the owner of Larry's Auto Supply on Rt. 5, has been appointed chairman of the Independents for Mitchell Committee.

John Mitchell, a Republican and former town councilman, is running for the office of State Representative from the 14th District which includes South Windsor and a portion of northern Manchester.

Duprey, besides being a local businessman, is well known for his interests in civic activities and sports. He received the Jean Shepherd award two years ago and was recently interviewed by Popular Science Magazine. Larry and his family live on Lake Street and have been residents of South Windsor for more than 20 years.

"John Mitchell displays the qualities of good judgment, integrity, intelligence and common sense so necessary for good government," said Duprey. He would like other independents in this district who want to help elect John Mitchell to the General Assembly to contact him.

American Economist Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Professor Herbert Simon of Pittsburgh's Carnegie Mellon University, a pioneer in business administration who explained how business decisions are made, today won the Nobel Prize for economics.

"I am very pleased, delighted, astounded," Simon, 62, said at his home in Pittsburgh after learning that he had won the $165,000 award.

"One does not go around waiting for lightning to strike," Simon was the fourth American to be honored in the three Nobel prizes awarded so far this year. He also was the seventh American to win the honor in economics.

The Swedish Academy of Sciences cited Simon "for his pioneering research into the decision-making process within economic organizations."

"Modern business economics and administrative research are largely based on Simon's ideas," the Academy said.

Simon said his work was "an attempt to modify classical economic theory which assumed they (businessmen) had perfect information and that they were able to make any complicated computations."

"The work that I did tried to take into account limits on people's ability to compute and deal with incomplete information and sometimes overwhelming information," Simon said.

Unlike the other prizes instituted by the late Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite, and awarded since 1901, the economics prize was established by the Central Bank of Sweden in 1968.

The economics prize was first awarded in 1969.

Repko Urges Tax Relief

VERNON — "Elderly citizens desperately need tax relief that the Democratic administration has rejected," Andrew Repko, Republican candidate to the state senate from the 26th District told the Vernon Republican Town Committee.

Repko is running against Democrat Michael J. Skelley of Tolland, Robert Housley, who presently holds that position, decided not to seek re-election this year.

Repko, who discussed the tax issue in general, said that a constitutional amendment that would limit government expenditures and help reduce the tax burden on all citizens. "This is the first step, after all, you can't tax what you don't spend," he said.

Repko also addressed the problems of those people living on fixed incomes, mainly the elderly. He cited two key proposals that the Democrats defeated during the last session which he said that would have provided substantial relief to the elderly. He said the first would have exempted persons over 65 from the dividends tax and the second would have raised the eligibility limit for the elderly receiving circuit breaker property tax relief.

"Both these measures were absolutely essential to the financial well-being of our elderly residents. No amount of election year rhetoric can justify this type of callous treatment," Repko said.

VERNON — Speaking recently at a coffee hour in Vernon, Nancy Osborn, Republican candidate for representative from the 56th District, charged her opponent with voting with "big-city Democrats" on the issue of state funding for education.

Mrs. Osborn recalled that Republicans in the General Assembly had proposed an amendment to the state education funding formula which would have distributed state funds to local towns on the basis of current population figures rather than the 1970 census.

Her opponent, Democratic incumbent Chester Morgan, Mrs. Osborn said, voted against the amendment. "This was clearly a vote against the interests of Vernon and it is typical of the party-line votes cast by Chester Morgan," she said.

Commenting on the budget controversy in Vernon last spring, when two "action-oriented" town meetings were held before a budget was adopted, Mrs. Osborn said, "While we were furiously discussing whether a budget cut of $125,000 should be made in our education budget, Ches Morgan was in Hartford, quietly trying to take

Town Plans Flu Clinics For Employees, Others

MANCHESTER — The Health Department and the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association will conduct trivalent flu clinics for town employees and high risk persons.

The clinics will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

The schedule Tuesday is as follows:

8:30 a.m. — Hearing Room in the Municipal Building, for town employees.

9:30 a.m. — Hearing Room, high risk ambulatory persons, ages 25-65.

12:30 p.m. — Cronin Hall, Mayfair Gardens, 22 N. Main St., elderly residents.

2:30 p.m. — Hermann Hall, Westhill Gardens, 24 Bluefield Drive, elderly residents.

The schedule Wednesday is as follows:

9:30 a.m. — Senior Citizens Center, 63 Linden St., elderly residents.

1 p.m. — Squire Village, Spencer Street, elderly residents.

A make-up clinic will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, 2:30-3:30 p.m. at the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, 150 N. Main St. This will be for anyone who was not able to attend the previous sessions.

Annual immunization against influenza is recommended for all high risk persons, including those over age 65 and those who have a chronic disease.

A special vaccine is needed for high risk individuals who are younger than age 28.

Such individuals should see their own doctors or talk with Dr. Alice Turk, town health director.

Influenza vaccine is not recommended for pregnant women or for individuals with a high sensitivity to eggs.

Infrequently, influenza vaccine may be associated with fever, muscle pain and a feeling of tiredness. These symptoms may start six to 12 hours after vaccination and may last up to two days. Serious adverse reactions to influenza vaccines include the Guillain-Barre syndrome, a form of paralysis that is observed within eight weeks after influenza vaccination in approximately 10 of every million persons vaccinated.

Persons who receive influenza vaccine should be aware that there is a risk and should balance this risk against the risk of influenza and its complications. A private physician should be asked if there are questions about balancing the risks.

The town's volunteer EMTs and the Civil Defense ambulance will be on hand during these clinics.

Town Manager's Aide Leaves South Windsor

SOUTH WINDSOR — Kathleen Peak, administrative aide to the town manager, has resigned her position effective Oct. 20.

Miss Peak, who has been a Comprehensive Employment Training Act employee for the past year, will be employed with Aetna Life and Casualty as a system analyst.

In her letter of resignation, Miss Peak said she regrets leaving South Windsor at this time "in light of the impending administrative changes."

Making reference to the recent political controversy surrounding the recent resignation of Town Manager Paul Talbot, Miss Peak said, "I believe substantial efforts will be required for the town to overcome existing problems. Unfortunately, the present atmosphere is not conducive to professional development or functioning. It is particularly hard to realize the poor reputation that South Windsor has come to have within the region. I truly believe we have a community to be proud of and it saddens me that our progress may be limited by political interference."

Miss Peak said that she has come to appreciate the personal concern Talbot has shown to all town employees and for his "professional integrity."

During the past year Miss Peak has assisted Talbot in preparing the Affirmative Action Plan, Personnel Rules and Regulations, the annual budget, federal applications, the annual report, collective bargaining and assisted in the administration of the CETA program.

Two homes will also be built on the property — both on 1.3 acre lots — which the developers expect to occupy themselves.

In other action, the PZC voted to approve, with conditions, the application of South Windsor Builders Inc., for a two-lot subdivision on an Abby Road.

Also approved, with conditions, was the application of U & R Housing Corp. for a 16-lot subdivision south of Dart Hill and on Turnbrook Drive in an AA-30 zone.

The PZC approved, with conditions, the application of LaCava Construction Co. Wetfielder, for a 23-lot open space subdivision north and east of Quarry Brook Drive.

A blanket statement on cutting your water heating costs.

Northeast Utilities wants to help you economize by making your home truly energy efficient. As part of the National Energy Watch (N.E.W.), a broad energy conservation program, we have some simple suggestions that could help you save money... and sleep more soundly.

Keep your water heater warm and it will work better.

Just as you sleep warmer on chilly nights when you add an extra blanket, so will your hot water heater work more efficiently if you cover it with a blanket of insulation. While you're at it, blanket your pipes, too; and you'll have hot water at less cost.

Another way to reduce costs is to place your hot water heater in an area that is warm and as near as possible to the point where the water leaves the tap. The less pipe you have, the less heat you lose. Finally, if you lower the tank from 150° to 120°, you could save up to 9% on your water heating costs.

Controlled water heating... what is it?

Controlled water heating means that your water is heated during "off peak" hours, 11pm-7am. So you have plenty of hot water, but pay considerably less for it. All you need is a special meter which Northeast Utilities will install free. Your only expense will be for electrical wiring. You can get a controlled water heater meter if you have an electric water heater with a tank capacity of 80 gallons or more.

Learn more about controlled water heating and other (N.E.W.) energy-saving tips by writing: Ralph Marrone, Northeast Utilities, P.O. Box 1953, Hartford, Connecticut 06144.

At Northeast Utilities we've increased our efficiency and cut costs. Now we want to help you save more money... and sleep more soundly.

Gifted Program Topic for Vernon Education Group

VERNON — The Committee on Public Education (COPE) will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the Stop & Shop supermarket, Route 30, to report on its findings on research of the program for talented and gifted students.

The COPE report, committee members said, will place heavy emphasis on what other schools are doing in this area and what ideas might be considered for the Vernon system.

COPE committee members said they found there is a growing national concern with the damage that is done to the fast learners and talented students, by school curriculum geared to the average child.

"They said many outstanding school teachers make a special effort to identify exceptional students and to challenge them with interesting and varied work while other teachers, beset with their many day-to-day problems and demands, handle the fast learners with heavy doses of 'busy work'."

They said this often turns off the better students and builds a strong dislike for schools and authority, which can lead to serious problems later on.

"Many of the better programs for the exceptional children have provided ideas and help for all teachers in working with the above average students. This will be one of the concerns of the study committee," COPE members said.

The committee notes that the Vernon schools have had a successful Research and Independent Study Program (RIS) for academically talented children for the past six years but a concern has been expressed, they said, that it only reaches about one-third of the talented children in Vernon.

They further said it starts at Grade 4 while many schools have found it desirable to start in the first-grade.

The committee said an increasing number of better students are getting the academic background and credits from high school work that allow them to enter college with advanced standing and many students are now completing their undergraduate college work in three years.

The COPE report will go to the Board of Education, school administration, principals and interested citizens. The committee feels the report will be well received as changes in the RIS program are under consideration.

Parents are urged to attend Tuesday's meeting and to share their concerns and ideas. For more information contact James Moore, 872-4810; Gary Scott, 872-2789; or Rosemarie Belcher, 871-1569.

Opinion

Seasonal Law and Order? Good news about dogs comes from New York City. More precisely, about dog owners. To the considerable surprise of authorities, the city's new ordinance requiring walkers of dogs to clean up after their charges is working. Masters and mistresses of New York's dog population - guesstimated at between a half and one million - now venture forth equipped with a variety of makeshift and specially designed pet accessories, and the consequences are evident. Sidewalks and streets are noticeably cleaner. Some residents of high-occupancy neighborhoods are even daring not to look down before every step. Less than a hundred violation citations have been issued. The not so good news is that animal shelters report an increase in traffic. Animal love for some pet owners apparently can be rapidly cooled by inconvenience. Which has custodians of civic cleanliness wondering how long the present state of compliance may last. It could turn out to be a warm-weather phenomenon, subject to sudden change with winter when cleaning up becomes more inconvenient. When the snows come, the question may be: Where are the law and order of yesteryear?

Capital Fare

By ANDREW TULLY WASHINGTON - "He scares me to death," said a White House political adviser of Sen. Ted Kennedy. "He's the quintessential politician. Look at what he did in Massachusetts." What Kennedy did in New Hampshire's capital city recently was run for president simply by making a speech before a bunch of important Democrats in which he never once even hinted at any ambition to move into the White House. Indeed, he told reporters, "I expect President Carter to be the nominee, and I will support him."

But, as happens whenever Kennedy talks to the press, he was confronted by people who don't want to let him not run for Top Banana. He's the glamor boy of the Democratic Party, handsome, articulate, and one of the relatively few Irishmen who live up to the legend that all Irishmen have a sense of humor. Carter people and Republicans alike must have cringed reading about what happened when Kennedy paid tribute to the President's success at Camp David. He paused for applause, but none was forthcoming. So he put on his own hand-clapping act to get the cheering started. I believe Kennedy when he says he expects Carter to be the party nominee and that he'll support him. That undoubtedly reflects his thinking today. But politics is full of tomorrow's used by politicians to change their minds. Kennedy will run if the climate is right. Meanwhile, he would not be so impolite as to snub people who are already running him. Kennedy even used the subtle humorist's ploy to encourage enthusiasm for his candidacy. "I suppose you wonder why I am here," he began. And the roar from the Democrats was not for a man they expect to sit on the sidelines in 1980. Kennedy smiled that almost bashful smile. He might have explained later that, after all, it is only human to be wanted. Then he went on to remind the crowd of an

Another Rhodesia?

Intelligence sources warn that South Africa could become another Rhodesia. Prime Minister Vorster's retirement didn't change anything. South Africa is still ruled by rightist supporters of apartheid. Nationalist Party holds firmly to the power. Meanwhile, both the Soviet Union and Cuba have offered "technical help" to black guerrillas in Namibia, tribal name for South-West Africa, governed by South Africa. "Technical help," explains a State Department type, "means the Russians and Cubans will supply arms and military expertise."

Mental Health Through The Bible (1) This week I will highlight a Bible verse each day which can help us maintain our mental health. Today's verse is "Rejoice in the Lord always" (Philippians 4:4). No matter what is happening to us, we can always be glad that God has given us life and love. We can ward off depression by thanking him in the midst of our struggle. Rev. Laurence M. Register to Vote To the editor: Tuesday, Oct. 17, is the deadline for registering to vote in the 1978 Connecticut state elections. The League of Women Voters would like to remind all citizens that only those who turn 18 or become citizens between that date and Election Day can register after the deadline. The Manchester town clerk's office has scheduled extra registration hours today from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Tuesday, Oct. 17 beyond the regular weekday hours from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. instead of the usual 5 p.m. closing time. Other towns have made similar arrangements. Absentee ballots are also available now for those registered voters who will be unable to get the polls on Nov. 7 because they will be out-of-state, are disabled, or are temporarily living in another town because they are students or in the Armed Forces. If you are in such a situation, you can pick up an absentee ballot at the town clerk's office during regular hours or have someone else get an application for a ballot for you. But you must receive the ballot itself by mail unless you get it for yourself. You must also return your ballot by mail unless you fill it out in the town clerk's office and return it in person at that time. No one else may deliver your ballot for you. The League of Women Voters therefore urges all who need one to get an absentee ballot or application NOW. Allow plenty of time for the necessary mailings to return it to the town clerk's office on or before Election Day. Don't be left on the sidelines because you forgot to register or to get an absentee ballot. Democracy was never meant to be a spectator sport! Elizabeth W. Lauer Chairman, Voters Service League of Women Voters of Manchester, Inc.

Dedicated Women

To the editor: The article in The Manchester Evening Herald on Tuesday, Oct. 10 was an excellent summation of the work by the Convalescent Homes Auxiliary. However, there was a very misleading statement in regards to Bernice Rieg and Millie Kos. We wish to point out they are not discouraged by institutional investors and are just the opposite; they are very dedicated women who are a tremendous help to the auxiliary. It is people like them that we need more of. The patients we visit are all very alert and well aware of what is going on, are most interested in our efforts, and are most enjoyable to visit with. Also to avoid any misunderstanding, the auxiliary has no standing to do with patient advocacy. Thank you. William E. Rice 190 Chestnut St., Manchester Convalescent Homes Auxiliary

Individual Investors Still Force in Market

By LEROY POPE UPI Business Writer NEW YORK - Although the ranks of the small investor have dwindled in the stock market, individuals still hold much more stock than institutional investors and, if diligent, can do as well or better than the institutions. This proposition is advanced in a new study published by the prestigious Twentieth Century Fund and also is the raison d'être for a new organization just formed in Chicago by a group of financial experts called the American Association of Individual Investors.

Los Angeles Happy Out of Big Apple

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — If the Los Angeles Dodgers were psyches out by the blustering Yankee Stadium fans, they surely can't be too happy either about needing to win the remaining two World Series games — including a possible seventh against Ron Guidry.

Los Angeles Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda, known for his good humor, was glum after his team dropped their straight game to New York yesterday in Yankee Stadium. He hopes smile will return Tuesday night in Los Angeles when game No. 6 will be played. (UPI Photo)

The Dodgers, who left Los Angeles Thursday with a comfortable 2-0 Series lead in games, took a bite of the "Big Apple" over the weekend and choked on it. Sunday's 12-2 lacer was the biggest gap of them all. The New York Yankees, suddenly steamrolling toward their second straight World Championship, raked over three Dodger pitchers for 18 hits and, in the process, were aided by three Los Angeles errors, two passed balls and a wild pitch — most of which led to runs.

"I didn't believe the Yankees could sweep three games in New York," said Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda, "but I do now. At least we can go home now and play on our own field where we know our fans and how the ball will bounce."

The ball most certainly did not bounce well for the Dodgers in New York — especially in Sunday's Game 5, which put the Yankees ahead 3-2 in the Series. Dodger shortstop Bill Russell, who committed one of those errors, muffed another one in the bottom of the ninth. That was in the fourth inning when Bucky Dent hit a hard shot to short that should have been a double play, but Russell couldn't handle it and the ball wound up in the outfield, paving the way for a three-run Yankee rally that opened up a 7-2 lead.

"I'm not gonna make excuses," said Russell. "I missed the first one (an error in the first inning that didn't hurt the Dodgers), but the others were tough plays. I'm no Golden Glove (an Glover by any means. We had all the confidence in the world when we came here, but they tore everything down.)"

Earlier Russell chastised the New York fans, who didn't exactly improve their image by rampaging onto the field after the game and tearing it apart. "You've got to be half-crazy to live in this town," Russell said. "The infield here isn't the problem. It's the fans. They throw things at you and the screaming is like no place else we go to. I can't wait to get out of this town. At least in Los Angeles, our fans are civilized."

"That was one of the worst games we ever played," added first baseman Steve Garvey, whose wild throw to the plate in the fourth inning allowed Dent to score the sixth Yankee run. "We're going to have to do the job in Los Angeles. It won't be the same there with our own fans."

If the Yankees had an offensive star amid all the Dodger mistakes, it was Thurman Munson, who drove in five runs with two singles and a double. A leadoff walk by Dent, singles by Mickey Rivers, Roy White, Munson and Lou Piniella plus Reggie Smith's throwing error or Munson's base hit to right field staked the Yankees to four runs in the third inning and wiped out a 2-0 Dodger lead.

The Dodger locker room once again seemed like a funeral parlor after the game. Garvey sat and spoke softly in a cluster of newsmen. Davey Lopes' head was banging close to his knees. Bill Russell looked as if he wanted to find a corner to cry in. All the Dodgers wanted to get out on the first plane, leave the bad memory behind and try to regroup at home.

In "must win" sixth game Tuesday, the Dodgers sent right hander Don Sutton, the three-game loser, against Jim "Catfish" Hunter, the second game loser.

Martin Suggestion Aided Jim Beattie

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Martin is long gone, but his spirit lingers.

A suggestion the ex-Yankee manager made to young Jim Beattie months ago may have had a good deal to do with New York's resounding 12-2 victory over Los Angeles Sunday.

"Billy suggested I switch to the no-windup delivery that it might help me throw more strikes," said Beattie, who picked a nifty time to break some personal records while sending the World Series back to Los Angeles with the Yankees leading the best-of-seven series three games to two. "My trouble was that I was not throwing with my body and the advice helped."

Faced with a mid-caree pitching slump, Bob Lemon was at first unsure who his starting pitcher would be during Tuesday night's sixth encounter with the Dodgers. But Beattie, who pitched the first complete game of his career while striking out a career-high eight batters, solved that problem for his manager.

"I was undecided before this game," said Lemon. "Now I can use Catfish (Hunter) and if he doesn't succeed, I can come back with (Ron) Guidry with his full rest in the seventh game. That is a pretty nice feeling."

Beattie got off to a shaky start, yielding a first-inning run on Reggie Smith's run-scoring single and a third-inning run on Bill Russell's RBI double. But the Yankees came storming back.

A four-run third, which included RBI singles by Roy White and Lou Piniella sandwiched around Thurman Munson's two-run single, put the Yankees ahead in five runs. Before it was all over, Munson had driven in five runs with three of New York's 18 hits to send the Dodgers reeling home.

"I was a little worried about my control and my rhythm over the first few innings," said the 6-foot-6 Beattie, whom the Yankees almost lost faith in during the regular season. "I just planned to throw as hard as I could for as long as I could. One thing I've learned is if you keep it close in the early innings, we have the kind of pitchers that will come back and win for you."

The Yankees, within one game of capturing their second straight championship, established a Series record by pounding three Dodger pitchers for 16 singles en route to an 18-hit onslaught. But guarded optimism prevailed in New York's locker room.

"Remember, we didn't beat them on the coast the first time," cautioned Piniella. "But now we need just one and they need two. They're the world champions. We beat them last year and there's no reason why we can't do it again."

Beattie got off to a shaky start, yielding a first-inning run on Reggie Smith's run-scoring single and a third-inning run on Bill Russell's RBI double. But the Yankees came storming back.

Dodgers Outscored 21-6 In Yankee Stadium Play

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers flew home Sunday with one day to put the pieces of their busted dream back together.

Their chests and heads swelled after taking the first two games from the New York Yankees at warm, friendly Dodger Stadium, and some even talked about a World Series sweep. But the Yankees roared back with a vengeance so convincing that Los Angeles may be suffering a total breakdown.

In losing the last three games at chilly Yankee Stadium to fall behind three games to two in the best-of-seven series, Los Angeles was left with one day to put the pieces of their busted dream back together.

Shellshocked, psych-out and out of focus, the Dodgers were left with one day to put the pieces of their busted dream back together.

Indians Do Little of Everything Running over Hall High, 34-13

By LEN AUSTER

They're for real," voiced respected Hall High Head Football Coach Frank Robinson after his Warriors were scalped by visiting Manchester High, 34-13, in CCIL play Saturday in West Hartford under threatening skies.

"They (Manchester) do a little bit of everything," Robinson continued. "They can run, they can pass and they have a good offensive line. And that 14 (Bob Walsh) twists and turns and is hard to bring down."

Walsh had another standout afternoon as the 5-foot-8, 182-pound senior tailback rushed for 254 yards on 63 carries and three third-quarter touchdowns which snapped a 13-13 halftime deadlock. It was the third best rushing performance ever by an Indian running back and Walsh's second 200-yard punt outing of the season. In Manchester's 4-0 start, he has rushed for 796 yards on 84 carries (8.4 yards per carry average) and scored 10 touchdowns.

"We came out ready the second half," assessed Manchester Head Coach Jack Holik. "They ran all kinds of defenses at us and we made some adjustments. (Gary) Marineau threw the ball super and what can you say about Walsh."

The victory was Manchester's first over Hall since 1970 and pushed them into a half-game lead in the CCIL as Simsbury had its contest with Enfield postponed until Tuesday.

for the Indians and Mark Shapiro tallying on a 9-yard run for the Warriors, now 0-4 in the league and 0-5 overall. Hall is defending league champ.

Marineau looked up on a 72-yard bomb with split end Paul Cullen with exactly a minute left in the half to put the Silk Towners in front but the lead disappeared quickly. Hall signal-caller Jeff McLucas went up top and connected to Brad Karasik, 35 yards to Dan Sudol and finally a 10-yard TD strike to Ray Philpott with six ticks left on the clock.

Glenn Kalinich's extra point attempt flew wide leaving the clubs waddled, Walsh missing his first PAT attempt.

Walsh, who had 79 yards on 12 carries in the first half, broke loose in the third 12-minute segment. He sprinted 76 yards for a

TD on Manchester's first possession of the second half, burst 34 yards for a second score and capped off a 92-yard, 11-play drive with an 8-yard jaunt sprung free around left end by fine blocks from Tom McCluskey and fullback Dave Tyo. McCluskey was instrumental in the long march latching onto four aerials for 76 yards.

The 34-yard run by Walsh was somewhat remarkable inasmuch as he stumbled taking the handoff. The gaping hole, however, remained open until he could regain his balance and streak to the end zone. "The line has been blocking," Holik understated, "and we've been getting downfield blocking. Like I said, when a line knows it has a running back it does give that little extra."

"We hung together. This was a test of our integrity as a team," stated Holik. "The line really got off the ball well (in the second half)," he added, praising the offensive front wall. Manchester wound up with a whopping 386 yards offensively, 320 rushing and 208 in the air as Marineau was right on target with 11-of-13 attempts.

game against Simsbury," he said looking ahead to a possible Nov. 4 showdown between Manchester and Simsbury. The latter topped Hall the second week of the season, 30-14.

Manchester first, however, will have to contend with Conard High Saturday in West Hartford at 1:30 and Wethersfield High the following weekend before even thinking about Simsbury.

Whalers Skate Past Nordiques

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — The New England Whalers skated past the Quebec Nordiques Sunday night 6-5 to start their 1978-79 World Hockey Association season off on a bright note.

George Lyle scored two goals to pace the visitors in a contest that saw the two teams many observers felt would battle it out for the WHA crown series in 11 goals.

Denise the offensive show at both ends, New England coach Bill Dineen liked what he saw around the Whalers.

"We played well defensively, and we came out of our own end extremely well," the New England mentor said. "I think that's what made the difference."

Lyle opened the scoring at 4:35 of the opening period when his screen shot beat Quebec goalie Richard Brodeur. The Nordiques tied the game when Serge Bernier netted a goal on a power play later in the first stanza at 9:33.

New England broke back on top just three minutes after Bernier's score when Jordy Douglas canned a power play goal to make it 2-1.

Quebec forward Marc Tardif came right back with a score soon after the intermission.

Quebec continued to pepper New England goalie John Garrett as Richard Cloutier netted a goal early in the second period.

Commenting on the Nordiques, Dineen said, "I was also impressed by the play of their two young rookies — Richard David and Danny Geoffrion. I think there's a lot of talent to be developed there."

Lyle scored his second goal at 9:08, and Steve Odom added his second goal of the night on assists from Reol Cloutier and Jean-Claude Tremblay.

The Nordiques played with a two-man advantage for 57 seconds in the second period but were unable to capitalize.

"I think they're better than what they showed tonight," said Dineen. "It's possible because it was their opening game that they were nervous."

Officials Dominate Patriots' Triumph

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The men in black and white made the New England Patriots see yellow Sunday.

"I thought we moved the ball up and down the field all day," quarterback Steve Grogan said. "I think that's unfortunate. I hope the men (officials) were right in their calls. You couldn't run an offense today."

Referring to the number of penalties, Fairbanks added, "I just can't believe it was that bad. It's hard for me to think that's right."

Grogan and receiver Harold Jackson had a few other frustrations. On a fourth-quarter play from the Patriots' 44, Grogan dropped back to pass and then scrambled to his left.

Spotting Stanley Morgan sprinting open down the left sideline, Grogan threw long — five yards too long.

The fourth-quarter comeback could only find its roots on the soggy Astro turf as he lay on his stomach.

"When you roll out, it's hard to throw that," explained Grogan, who played with an injured right hand.

"A few plays later, Grogan again had trouble finding a receiver, and ended up completing a pass to tight end Russ Francis for eight yards.

"I think Cincinnati's ball club played hard. I really think the game was spoiled today for everybody that was here," said Fairbanks. "I've never

"Steve was scrambling and just didn't see me," bemoaned a smiling Jackson. "Oh, man, it's rough."

Earlier, on a first-quarter pass by running back Johnson, Cincy cornerback Louis Breen slipped, leaving Jackson all alone en route to the end zone.

But defensive end Ross Browner clobbered Johnson as he was throwing, forcing an incomplete. Said Jackson: "If he just could have gotten it off, it was a touchdown. A definite touchdown."

Redskin Misplays Costly In Suffering First Loss

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Washington Redskins beat their eighth club Sunday in Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium — themselves.

The opportunistic Eagles came up with six Washington turnovers, including an interception and two fumbles in the fourth quarter, to insure a 17-10 upset of the previously unbeaten Redskins.

The loss cut Washington's first-place lead in the NFC East to one game over Dallas and two ahead of Philadelphia and the New York Giants.

The Redskins have made their reputation in the '70s as a well-disciplined team that doesn't give games away — and Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil knew his team had the benefit of some good fortune.

"This is the one we were looking for," said Vermeil. "Our defense kept us in the game, but we also had a certain amount of luck."

After running back Wilbert Montgomery, who rushed for 125 yards, broke a 10-10 tie on a 12-yard run 1:30 into the final period, the Eagles placed the game into the hands of their defense.

They proved to be the hands of a thief. Cornerback Herman Edwards intercepted a Joe Theismann pass at his own 13 for starters, but the game's big play came on a third-and-two at the Philadelphia 11. Redskin rookie Tony Green eagerly to pick up the first down on second effort but fumbled and rookie linebacker Reggie Wilkes pounced on the loose ball at the Eagle 3-yard line with 5:05 left.

The Eagles later punted to Green, who was hit immediately after catching the ball by Vince Papale. The ball popped loose and Billy Campbell recovered with 1:48 to go to seal the game for Philadelphia.

We played our best defense of the year today," said Eagle middle linebacker Bill Gregory. "We came up with the big plays like the old Washington teams. They have done it so many times it amazes me, but we did it today."

Elsewhere in the NFL, the New York Jets blitzed Baltimore 33-10, Houston beat Buffalo 17-10, Dallas edged St. Louis 24-21 in overtime, and New York Giants topped Tampa Bay 17-14. New England defeated Cincinnati 16-3, Atlanta blanked Detroit 14-0, unbeaten Pittsburgh whipped Cleveland 34-14, Green Bay mauled Seattle 45-28, Oakland trounced Kansas City 28-6, Miami beat San Diego 28-21, Los Angeles remained unbeaten with a 34-17 triumph over Minnesota and New Orleans defeated New Orleans 14-7. Chicago is 1-0.

Ron Carpenter's 18-yard TD run capped a 93-yard scoring drive and rallied lethargic Houston over Buffalo.

Giants 17, Buccaneers 14

Harry Carson's interception and fumble recovery setup a pair of fourth-quarter TD runs by Larry Conka and rallied the New York Giants past gritty Tampa Bay. Jim Dabose became the first Buccaneer in their history to rush for 100 yards.

Falcons 14, Lions 9

Steve Bartkowski threw a 34-yard TD pass to Billy Byckman early in the second quarter and Bubba Bean erupted for a 25-yard TD run in the final minutes of the game as Atlanta beat behind two brilliant goal line stands.

Steelers 34, Browns 14

Terry Bradshaw threw touchdown passes to Lynn Swann and John Stallworth, and rookie Larry Anderson ran a kickoff back 95 yards for a touchdown to spark unbeaten Pittsburgh over Seattle. Seattle Sipe threw a pair of TD passes for the Browns, 4-3.

Packers 45, Seahawks 28

Steve Odom returned the opening kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown and halfback sensation Terrell Middleton scored four times in a steady drizzle 3:28 into overtime. Seattle's Seattle quarterback Jim Zorn scored on a 12-yard run and threw a 48-yard TD pass to Steve Largent.

Unbeaten Los Angeles broke a 10-year dry spell in Minnesota with a victory over the Vikings. Rams' quarterback Pat Haden opened the fourth quarter with a 3-yard TD pass to Lawrence McCutchen, giving Los Angeles a 20-17 lead, and linebacker

Isiah Robertson followed with a 16-yard TD return of a fumble. Fran

Sammy White for the Vikings. Saints 14, 49ers 7

New Orleans switched strategy and ran to victory against San Francisco. Saints' quarterback Archie Manning, who had averaged 33 passes attempts per game, threw only four times, including a 25-yard TD pass to to Ike Harris. Tony Galbreath paced the Saints' ground game with 62 yards.

Catholic Booters Outscore Aquinas

There were doubts the soccer game would be played Saturday morning in a steady rain but only St. Thomas Aquinas was caught in the deluge as host St. Catholic edged Aquinas 8-2, at MCC's Cougar Field.

"The field held up pretty well," voiced Eagle Head Coach Tom Terry, defending the decision to play. The pitch was drenched but the players stood up well.

East opened the scoring at the 12:30 mark as sophomore Kyle Ayer settled the ball nicely and drilled an 8-yarder past starting Aquinas goalie Dave Weber. The Saints, now 6-3-1, quickly knotted it as Steve Kravick split two defenders and lifted a shot over Eagle keeper Mike Ciszewski.

East, which has won two straight and stands at 2-7-1, went ahead on Ayer's second goal of the game and fourth of the year at the 20-minute mark. He took a long pass from Terry McConville, took a couple of dribbles with fullback Lou Byczkewicz nipping at his heels, and fired just over the right hand of Weber into the cage.

Just over a minute later, Seb Alessandra broke free on the right wing and knotted it again for Aquinas.

Mark Marciano collided with Weber with 10 minutes left in the half with the latter going out with a damaged knee. "The collision would have happened on a dry field," commented Malin.

The injury had its affect on Aquinas as it took Kravick out of an attacking position and put him in the net. He, however, didn't find success there as three times wet balls slipped off his hands and three times the Eagles converted.

Marciano twice and McConville in a four-and-a-half minute span gave the locals a 5-2 halftime bulge.

"Their No. 1 goalie got hurt and we capitalized on that," stated Malin. "Our goalie (Ciszewski) held onto the ball while theirs didn't."

McConville added two more goals after the intermission for a hat trick, bringing his season total to seven goals. Bill Furlong capped the scoring parade with his second of the season with just under five minutes left.

Ayer started the year at a fullback slot and McConville at halfback. They were moved up about five games ago and Malin commented, "the move has really paid off. It gives us more speed on the wings with Kyle in the middle, who is a settling influence. He has good skills and can distribute the ball." East has scored 17 of its season-total of 20 goals in the last five games.

The Eagles return to action Tuesday at Newington High at 3:15 with their ambition for gaining post-season play hanging by a thread. "We'll just take one game at a time and hope for the best," summed up Malin.

Ivy Grid League Back to Normal

BOSTON (UPI) — The topsy-turvy Ivy League race is back to normal — which means chaos.

Joe Yuzicka's Dartmouth team, a squad devastated by graduation and as green as the Hanover hills, sits atop the rest by virtue of their 10-3 upset win over Yale. The win snapped an 11-0 six-game league win streak and the Big Green owns the distinction of being the only Ivy team in the last two years to beat Yale.

Yale tumbled five times, Dartmouth four. Each team lost two. The Big Green won on a 17-play, 91-yard drive capped by Dufresne's two-yard slither.

Holy Cross 31, Army 0

The Purple Gang continues to roll — now 5-0 and boasting a seven-game win streak. Quarterback Pete Coleman passed for one touchdown and ran for another. The seven-game streak is the longest in 33 years.

Tulane 9, Boston College 3

The Eagles may be daring — but they also fumble a lot and that's why they're 0-5. Ed Murray booted three field goals to give the Green Wave the win. Tim Moorman's 24-yard field goal accounted for BC's points.

Cornell 25, Harvard 20

Halfback Joe Holland set an Ivy League record by carrying 58 times to give the Big Red the win. Holland's 244 yards on the ground included four touchdowns — all on short bursts. Ralph Poliville scored two touchdowns for the Crimson.

Aillon Retrial To Begin

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Guillermo Aillon, 38, whose conviction for the murders of his wife and her parents in 1972 was overturned by the Connecticut Supreme Court returns to Superior Court today for a new trial.

Aillon, a Bolivian native and former anti-poverty worker, was granted a new trial in July 1977 by the Supreme Court because of a possible prejudicial discussion between the trial judge and a woman juror.

Aillon was convicted for the murders of his estranged wife, Barbara, 26, and her parents, J. George Montano, 48, a wealthy lumber executive, and his wife Bernice, 46, in the couples' North Haven home on Aug. 14, 1972.

The victims were found stabbed to death in their nightclothes. The Aillon's 7-month-old baby, Catherine, was found at the murder scene, unhurt, beneath a chair.

Named by the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce as one of three outstanding men in 1971, Aillon was a member of the Connecticut First Opera Association's first production this season, Verdi's II Torvatore.

Mrs. Burton, a soprano, has been a volunteer member of the Connecticut Opera Chorus since 1965. In 1977 she performed in London with New York's Choral Arts Society during Queen Elizabeth's Silver Jubilee.

Opera Casts Area Woman

Mrs. Edith Burton of 34 Gardner Road, Vernon, has been named a member of the cast of the Connecticut First Opera Association's first production this season, Verdi's II Torvatore.

Mrs. Burton, a soprano, has been a volunteer member of the Connecticut Opera Chorus since 1965. In 1977 she performed in London with New York's Choral Arts Society during Queen Elizabeth's Silver Jubilee.

She is also a member of the Manchester Chorale and has sung with the Gilbert and Sullivan Workshop of Manchester.

II Torvatore will open Oct. 28 at 8 p.m. at Bushnell Memorial Hall in Hartford. A second performance is scheduled for Oct. 30.
