

Public Schools Blamed for Illiteracy in New Army

FORT HOOD, Texas (UPI) — Some of the men who would have to lead American soldiers into combat in another war say the inability of many recruits to read and write adequately is reducing the sophistication of the modern army and tying up skilled manpower during training.

And these men, combat arms officers and sergeants interviewed at the Army's largest post, place the blame on the public school system, pointing to errors in recent years which have accused the system of failing to teach these basics plus basic mathematics properly.

In the increasingly technical military profession this means, they say, that the armed services must spend time and resources bringing many recruits up to trainable standards before they can impart combat skills.

"Recruits are products of society," said 1st Sgt. Franklin Lee, the senior sergeant in a company of riflemen, "and many high schools are not adequately training graduates for high-order thinking."

"Put yourself in the place of a mid-level NCO or junior NCO. Imagine teaching the trooper who recognizes the word in the manual but who may not know what it means. You can go across to him, but meanwhile the brighter troop is going to go to sleep on you."

The consensus among more than a dozen officers and NCOs interviewed is that military operations require more complicated equipment than ever before. Even the infantryman who traditionally fought only with small arms — now must cope with a variety of complex and delicate missiles, radios and chemical weapons.

In the army, with its laser range finders, and the artillery, with computerized fire direction, the problem has become even more acute.

"You can teach one of these people to put stage one here, and stage two on top of that, and so on," Lee explained. "But you can't teach him what the component does."

Since the draft was abolished, the Army has encouraged recruiters to draw manpower from among the highest scorers on the Army qualifying examinations, according to a study by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

The Aspin study suggests that the Army is taking fewer men from the lowest intellectual category than it could, and that with a preoccupation with high school diplomas, the Army is passing over many potentially valuable recruits.

"High school dropouts are more difficult to deal with," said Warren Nelson, the Aspin aide who compiled the study. "Of high school dropouts, about 40 percent don't work out. That means that if you (refuse to accept) 100 dropouts you're losing 60 good soldiers."

The combat leaders at Fort Hood agreed that graduation from high school does not guarantee the recruit has the intellectual equipment to deal with military demands.

"The (1st Cavalry Division) has been testing all new people," said Capt. Richard Ringler, commander of an artillery battery. "Of 18 recruits tested, they found reading levels of between 8th and 10th grade. All those tested were high school graduates."

The need to upgrade education to a minimum acceptable level for some troops also means less resources are available for advancing the education of better qualified soldiers, Ringler said.

"If a man wants to go to school, chances are he's the one you need most with the unit," Ringler said. "You can't send him off to school because you'd be cutting your own throat when you go to the field."

Educational deficiencies involve more than training problems. In some cases, failures in training give rise to difficulties in discipline. Contrary to the commonly held belief that the less intelligent soldier responds more readily to orders, the combat leaders stressed that better educated soldiers make leadership easier.

Olympics Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Predicting his city will avoid the financial pitfalls that have plagued other hosts, Mayor Tom Bradley Friday signed an agreement officially designating Los Angeles as the site of the 1984 Olympic Games.

The White House ceremony ended a year of strained negotiations between the International Olympic Committee and Los Angeles officials over protecting the city from the huge debts usually encountered by Olympic hosts.

Knocks Carter

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Former President Gerald R. Ford said Friday his successor's "irresponsible fiscal policies" have led to double-digit inflation and will propel Republicans into congressional seats and governors' chairs now occupied by Democrats.

Playing down his presidential aspirations for 1980, Ford concentrated his attention on the shortcomings of President Carter's administration.

"The Carter Democratic complex in Washington is totally responsible for the 10 percent inflation we had in the first half of 1978," said Ford, in Connecticut to stump for Republican candidates, primarily gubernatorial nominee Rep. Roger Sarasin.

Tires Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and the government agreed Friday to the largest tire recall in history.

The recall, prompted by reports of 41 deaths and 65 injuries allegedly resulting from failures of the tires, will cover: — Firestone Steel Belted Radial 500s; similar private brands made by Firestone, such as Ward's "Grappler 8000" and the Shell "Super Steel Radial," and Firestone "FPO" tires. — Any Steel Belted Radial 500 in the five-rib tread design manufactured after March 1, 1975, but before Jan. 1, 1977. — Steel Belted Radial 500s in the seven-rib design if manufactured after March 1 of 1975 but before May 1, 1976.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market Friday closed with a sharp loss to cap its worst weekly performance in history.

For the five-day session, the Dow Jones industrial average tumbled 59.08 points to 838.01, the greatest one-week decline in the 93-year history of the bellwether blue-chip indicator.

The committee as well as the town's Board of Directors voted earlier this week to not consider joining the MDC. Both bodies agreed the town should maintain full control of the water system and make improvements to the system itself.

For the five-day session, the Metropolitan District Commission's stock price fell 1.25 to 24.76.

Ella, Ron Agree On Some Issues

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso and her Republican challenger, Ronald Sarasin, Friday agreed on some issues of school desegregation, busing and zoning are best handled by local officials — not the state.

But the two candidates for governor found very little else to agree on in their second televised debate.

Although they spent most of the time haggling over familiar issues, the dialogue between the two was as biting as it has been at any time during the campaign.

At one point, Mrs. Grasso defended her record on crime by reciting a list of anti-crime bills pushed through the Legislature this year.

Sarasin, a three-term congressman, immediately pointed to Mrs. Grasso for trying to penalize on the legislative achievements of her party.

"I think it's well known Mrs. Grasso seldom takes a position on legislation, for or against," the Republican said.

Later, Mrs. Grasso retaliated when asked if she thought there had been a noticeable change in Sarasin since he pledged a few weeks ago to develop a new, more aggressive tilt to his campaign.

"I think he's the same as he's always been," the governor said, leading up to her favorite campaign theme — the income tax.

In 1971, Sarasin, then a Republican leader in the Legislature, voted against an income tax amendment. But in the weeks of the morning, he voted for a budget that included the controversial levy, saying it was the only responsible thing to do.

Mrs. Grasso and Sarasin both said they disapproved of the merging of urban and suburban school districts to accomplish desegregation.

On the matter of zoning, both candidates felt the state has no business stepping in to tell communities how to become racially balanced.

On another front, Sarasin catalogued his tax cutting priorities. He said first he would to knock one-cent off the state's 7 percent sales tax.

The governor promised there would be no new or increased taxes if she is re-elected. But she said "there are going to be few new dollars" because of state employee contracts, court-ordered school financing and essential increases for various social services programs.

Tight Control Due To Stop Inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's "stick" to enforce his new anti-inflation program will involve tough monitoring of price and wage developments and tighter control over awarding government contracts, administration sources said Friday.

"Virtually all facets of the new program have been decided," a source said. "The only thing left to do is polish Carter's image and delivery for selling it to the American people."

Carter will go on national television at 10 p.m. Tuesday to announce the government is redoubling its efforts to combat inflation — the top domestic worry of both the administration and the public.

The sources said he will "make it clear that the government is doing its part" in the anti-inflation struggle and that "everybody must cooperate" if progress is to be made.

The administration will "push hard" for public acceptance with a series of forums around the country, a source said, and invitations to business and labor to "consult with the White House frequently."

As gleaned from several sources, here is what the program will entail:

- Voluntary annual ceilings of 7 percent on wage increases and 5 percent on price boosts. Mandatory controls were ruled out long ago as "political suicide."
- Wage guidelines will have some flexibility so that lower-paid workers can catch up with those receiving higher pay for the same job.
- To back up the guidelines, Carter has ordered the Council on Wage and Price Stability to increase its staff by 100 and begin monitoring wage-price developments "on almost a daily basis."
- If companies or unions flout the new guidelines, the government is prepared to act. "We need a stick and that was the hardest part to decide," a source said.

The action will involve the government's lucrative contracts and procurement policies. "Many firms may think twice before risking a loss of a government contract," said the source.

Carter will renew pledges that every effort will be made to cut government spending. The administration is expected to ask Congress in January for new powers to "coordinate" federal regulations in an effort to reduce costs. Budgetary restraint also will be emphasized.

A limited freeze on federal government hiring. One source said up to 20,000 jobs may be eliminated before the end of the year. The current civilian federal work force totals 1.92 million people.

U.S. Writes Treaty To Get Talks Going

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States introduced a new draft treaty Friday in a bid to get the deadlocked Egyptian-Israeli peace talks past a critical stage in which both sides recalled key negotiators for consultations.

Israel's chief negotiator predicted President Carter eventually would have to arrange a new Camp David style summit to break a deadlock over the sensitive Palestinian issue.

Carter denied the talks had broken down, but said the "negotiations obviously have reached the point where consultations with their governments are necessary."

Israel ordered its two top negotiators — Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman — to leave for home Saturday night to brief officials in Jerusalem on the talks.

"It was the Israeli cabinet's decision to ask us to come home and present a report to the Israeli cabinet," Dayan told reporters at his hotel in Washington.

The foreign minister said the issues still in dispute were so important that he has proposed a new Camp David summit to resolve them.

"I do think the main points we are negotiating over are to be decided eventually by the heads of state," he said.

A senior member of Egypt's negotiating team — Osman Al-Bar — left for London Thursday night to brief Vice President Muhammad Mubarak on the talks. The vice president then will report to Cairo.

The peace talks ran into trouble this week over Egypt's insistence on Israel accepting the principle of eventually giving up the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Conference sources said the talks, which at one time seemed headed for a possible windup this week, will go forward if the Egyptian negotiators are willing to accept the American draft providing the basis for negotiations.

The sources described the new proposal as an evolution of the first U.S. draft — but with the incorporation of treaty language already agreed on during the Israeli-Egyptian talks.

The recent Camp David summit resulted in two frameworks for peace — one providing an Israeli-Egyptian treaty and the other leading to the creation of a Palestinian self-rule on the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Conference sources said the deadlock in the talks has been over Egypt's insistence on — and Israel's opposition to — linking the two issues.

Pope To Demand Church Freedom

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II Friday told Vatican diplomats his Pontificate would fight with "peaceful means" to eradicate the "physical and moral miseries" in the world.

The new pope, the former Polish Cardinal Karol Wojtyla, told the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican that although "at times the church may not be understood, it is rendering a service that mankind cannot do without."

"On its part, the church — and the Holy See in particular — demands that your nations, your governments, always take into account a certain number of needs," the pope told ambassadors from more than 80 nations that have diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

"There are still too many physical and moral miseries due to the negligence, selfishness, blindness or hard heartedness of man," the pope said, in a French-language address only five days after his surprise election as the first non-Italian pope in 455 years and first Polish pontiff in history.

"The church wants to contribute toward diminishing these miseries through its peaceful means," the new pope said, "educating the moral sense through the honest work of Christians and men of good will."

In calling nations to a greater respect for religious freedom, the pope said to be understood, it is rendering a service that mankind cannot do without.

The new pontiff said that the fact that he comes from Poland makes no difference in the Vatican's approach to religious freedom.

"As a Christian and still more as pope, I am and will be the witness of universal love, reserving the same benevolence for everyone, especially those who have experienced order," he said, dropping into the familiar first-person singular speech so often used by his predecessor, John Paul I.

John Paul II will be formally inaugurated as pope during an outdoor mass in St. Peter's Square Sunday morning.

In the tradition set by his humble predecessor, the new pope does not plan to receive the elaborate triple-tiered papal crown.

Your Neighbors' Views:

If the election was to be held today, who would you vote for: Gov. Grasso or Rep. Sarasin? Why?

Steve Politza, 449 Hopewell Road, South Glastonbury — "Sarasin. Perhaps he would do things a little different."
Mike Boyle, 629 Main St. — "Grasso. She's a worker."

Mike Benevento, 51 Mellon Dr., East Hartford — "Grasso. She has done a good job."
Mrs. Jennifer Dehm, Tolland — "Sarasin. I am not impressed with Gov. Grasso. I think the surplus figures she is using are on paper only."
Randy Boynton, 34 Gerald Drive, Vernon — "Grasso. It is a tough job, but she has been all right."
Dan Burnett, 142 Bissell St., — "Sarasin. I have given up all faith in the Grasso administration."

Twain Memorial Grant

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Mark Twain Memorial has been awarded a $100,000 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities to build up its endowment. One term of the federal grant announced Wednesday is that the memorial match every $1 of federal funds with $3 raised from non-federal sources.

Wynn Lee, director of the memorial, said the funds will offset expenses so the operating budget will rely less on the memorial match every $1 of federal funds with $3 raised from non-federal sources.

Grant's Demise

In 1884 the collapse of the Grant & Ward investment house led to President Ulysses S. Grant's demise. He then began his "Personal Memoirs," writing while ill of cancer and completing them four days before his death on July 25, 1885. Grant was buried in a tomb on Riverside Drive, N.Y., where his wife also lies.

Television, just like any other industry, gets around to playing musical chairs, in effect, as far as executive suite occupancy is concerned.

Latest case in point: One William (Bill) Sheehan, most recently senior vice president, ABC News, part of the American Broadcasting Cos. down in New York, and now ensconced in a newly created title, general public relations manager on the public relations staff of Ford Motor Co. in Detroit.

What happened with the one-time WRIC, Hartford, air personality at ABC? For one thing, not that many years ago he was chief honcho of ABC News. Then somebody upstairs apparently got the idea that, well, sheen's Roonee Arledge doing such a smash-up job, lad, with ABC Sports, well, let him take command of the news department, too.

Great! Great! Probably shot back someone else. But what about Bill Sheehan? He came to New York from Detroit, where he did a smash-up job. A smash-up job. As matters wended their way, Roonee Arledge assumed dual command. Bill Sheehan, the lad from Hartford (via Detroit), became senior vice president. Well, somebody upstairs then probably said, we're going to make a lot of waves. Folks all over America.

I haven't seen or heard from Bill Sheehan in a while. I remember him as capable, cordial, courteous, back in the days when WRIC was situated on the top floor of 750 Main St., in downtown Hartford. (The station's since moved to its transmitter site out of Bloomfield), somebody sitting on one of my desks into New York's steel canyons, I've got to hear, first-hand, what Howard what's-his-name thinks of this. After all, a brilliant, multi-logic, astute capabilities-plus, but not yet, at least to my knowledge, destined for status as Roonee Arledge's successor at ABC News Sports.

But then, again, there's a consolation prize of sorts. Somebody, somewhere along the line, will come up with a smash-up idea: A superspectacle, on another network, probably, focusing on television's musical chairs. The narration by Howard what's-his-name should be superb.

the world. The party of the first part resumed his monologue, attesting to the strength of the substitute, and the significance of ABC News/Sports in the years ahead; a little mood music on the ocra, Charlie!

Then, television came up with a smash-up idea. Richard C. Wald, who had been basking in executive favors at NBC-TV, wound up in Los Angeles, California! The land of eternal sunshine — and doesn't everybody out there listen and watch Howard what's-his-name? Wald was an executive within the Times-Mirror network in Detroit, the Motor City. Honk! Honk! Sheehan had gone to Detroit from Hartford and Show Biz, that's quite a jump.

Well, somebody upstairs must have insisted, we've already got Bill Sheehan in charge of news. He's done a smash-up job with news.

But the ratings, lad! somebody else probably chimed in. The ratings! Look what Arledge has done with Howard what's-his-name on ABC Sports! Made him a national, raw, an international institution. Mention Howard what's-his-name in the downtown district of Peoria or down in New York, and now ensconced in a newly created title, general public relations manager on the public relations staff of Ford Motor Co. in Detroit.

Well, somebody upstairs must have insisted, we've already got Bill Sheehan in charge of news. He's done a smash-up job with news.

Boxing Presentation

Johnny Duke, left, former amateur and professional boxer, presents a headgear used in boxing to Tony D'Angona, center, director of physical education at Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School. Bart Paeconis, student council president, witnesses the presentation. Duke, whose real name is Julius Caesar, visited Cheney Tech Thursday and explained the merits of a boxing training program. With him were a couple of amateur boxers who put on a demonstration for the student body. (Herald photo by Stremper)

Cummings Responds To Irish

MANCHESTER — Ted Cummings, state representative from the 12th Assembly District, took issue Friday with several charges leveled against Wallace Irish Jr. regarding political participation by town employees.

Irish claimed that Cummings is protecting the union representing the town firefighters because of his support for consolidation of the town and Eighth District fire departments.

Cummings backed up participation by town firemen on the Democratic Town Committee as a right granted by state law passed two years ago.

He also noted, however, that Robert Bychowski, a town firefighter, has not been a member of the Town Committee since he moved from one voting district to another about a month ago.

Cummings also acknowledged that he may not know a lot about fires and firemen, but that he knew enough to lobby and vote for a bill that provides standard insurance for volunteer firemen who drive their trucks or cars to fires. They were previously in an assigned risk pool for insurance coverage.

Regarding the complaints by Irish and other officials of the Eighth District that he is afraid to attend a meeting of an anti-consolidation group, Cummings said that he had already talked with residents of the Eighth District at three separate meetings. He said he thinks the STEAL meeting planned for Monday night, which he has refused to attend, can accomplish only one thing: "Further polarize people."

In commenting on the statements by various Republican and Eighth District officials, Cummings said, "I'm apparently running against about five people. I wonder who the candidate is and about his ability to exercise any independence."

Walter Joyner is running against Cummings for the 12th District seat in the Nov. 7 election.

State Intervenes
HARTFORD (UPI) — Attorney General Carl Ajello said Friday Connecticut has gained intervenor status in a federal hearing on a proposed 15-cent surcharge for certain kinds of first and third class mail envelopes.

The Postal Rate Commission is holding hearings on the plan. Ajello said the proposal would cost the state an extra $1.75 million a year.

About Town
Felix Demicco and his board of great chiefs of the Council of Connecticut of Imperial Order of Redmen will hold the Miantonomah Tribe Monday at 8 p.m. at the Italian-American Club on Eldridge St. Corn and venison will be served.

There will be babysitting service during the noon Mass Sunday at St. James Church.

Manchester Chapter Parents Without Partners will hold a dance Sunday at Piano's, Bolton, from 7 to 11 p.m. Music will be provided by The Light Touch. Membership cards or courtesy cards must be presented at the door.

The Senior MYF of North United Methodist Church will have a car wash at the church today from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There will be a kitchen social Monday at 1:30 p.m. in Crown Hall at Mayfair Gardens. All residents of Mayfair Gardens are invited.

Emanuel Hill Chapter of AA will meet tonight at 8 in Luther Hall of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, 60 Church St.

Pool Repair Bids High

MANCHESTER — A bid for much-needed repairs at Sallers Pool was higher than expected, and town officials are deliberating what to do next.

Ernest Turek, park superintendent, had said sand blasting and repainting of the pool would have to be done if the pool is to open next year.

Bids opened this week for that work, however, were higher than town officials expected.

The low bid for the work was $1,800, and that did not include an addition to the bid for filling cracks in the pool surface. The apparent low bid was submitted by Palazzi & Son of Westfield, Mass.

The only complete bid, submitted by Rizzo Pool Co., set the entire price at $1,245.

Town officials had expected the work to cost about $1,200, Jay Giles, director of public works, said.

"I'm a little disappointed," he said of the high bids.

Town Engineer Walter Senkow said that the town might accept the low bid and forget the special process for crack-filling.

Another project, which was bid earlier this year, went up in price since the last time.

East Hartford Audit Shows Records Good

By CHARLIE MAYNARD

HARTFORD — The town's financial records are in good order, and show "no irregularities or controversies," according to Henry Genga, chairman of the Town Council's Investigation and Internal Audit Committee.

The committee met with auditors from the Chipman, Malis & Pont firm Friday morning to review a preliminary draft. Stanley Malis said the "records are in excellent shape again and the whole (finance) department is fully aware of what's going on."

Malis said the 1977-78 budget has an unappropriated surplus of $182,787 and part of that money, if need be, could be used to help reduce the deficit in the school board's special education account.

"That's one area to look to," said Deputy Mayor George Dagon, altho he cautioned that some could remain with the town for snow removal and other emergencies.

The auditors recommended that the town's purchasing activities be combined with the purchasing activities to save money. Malis said it would be a consistent practice by dealing with the same vendors and both agencies could get better discounts.

Genga was not receptive to the town's annual report.

Most frightening is the attitude of the pro-income tax people toward other taxes by Edith Clarke, council member. "They do not understand the sales tax, or any other tax. They say only that they would reduce taxes. Obviously that would leave them free to raise any and all taxes to pay for their costly, inefficient and open-ended spending programs."

Rewards Offered To Find Killers
HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut Friday put up $220,000 to find the killers of 11 Connecticut residents, 10 of them from Fairfield County, who were slain since 1966.

Rewards are offered in the case of Martha Moxley, a Greenwich teenager budgeted to death with a golf club Oct. 30, 1975, and 10 other murder victims, stretching back to 1966.

Included in the list were two teenage girls found stabbed to death in Norwalk last summer; the latest young, black woman to be slain in New Haven; and four unresolved slayings in Stamford.

Gov. Ella Grasso authorized rewards of $20,000 in each case — the maximum allowed under a new law which she vetoed.

Financial records filed at the secretary of state's office show that a political action committee of the Connecticut State Employees Association bought $150 worth of tickets to the party's dinner-dance.

One of those honored at the event was John Thompson, executive director of the CSEA. Thompson is a former mayor and former member of the Board of Directors and has long been active in the local Democratic Party.

Thompson said that six couples from CSEA attended the dinner-dance at which he was honored.

Democratic Town Chairman Theodore Cummings also said that the CSEA purchase of tickets was because of the honoring of Thompson.

"My opponent is on record as wanting to hold the income tax open as an option for future taxing," she said. "Coming from a liberal spender, it should guarantee her vote in favor of an income tax. Furthermore, I have no confidence that the incumbent Governor would veto an income tax if one were passed."

The only way to ensure that the tax is not implemented, she said, is to vote for legislators who have voiced opposition to it.

Three Speakers Slated For Mission Program

MANCHESTER—The Community Baptist Church will feature three speakers during its mission mobilization program Sunday and Monday.

The speakers are Mrs. Margaret Bristol, a missionary in Japan, the Rev. Solomon Gort Jr. of the Talahatchie Development Agency in Mississippi, and Miss Mary Suderman, a missionary in Northeast India.

Mrs. Bristol will speak Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. service.

Since her first mission assignment to Japan in 1967, she has taught English and Bible classes in English, and has edited the mission magazine, "Japan Calling."

Sunday at 6:30 p.m., the Rev. Mr. Gort will speak about his work with the youth in several states. He has also worked with the Delta Ministry and as a consultant to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In 1972, Pastor Gort received the master of divinity degree from Golden Gate Theological Seminary, Mill Valley Calif. He is listed in "Who's Who" and is also listed among the Outstanding Young Men of America.

There will be refreshments after the evening meeting. Child care will be provided during the meeting.

Monday at 9:30 a.m., Miss Suderman will speak about her hospital mission in India at a coffee hour in the church living room.

At the Satri Bari Christian Hospital in Gauhati, Assam, she directs the school of nursing and is superintendent of nurses. She is a member of and active in the Gauhati Baptist Church.

Child care will be provided during the coffee hour.

Monday afternoon, Miss Suderman will speak classes at the Barnes School in East Hartford.

Collectors' Corner

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

It has been a long, long haul since we last had a new $2 stamp—40 years in fact. Hard to believe? It was the Harding, Scott No. 833, that was issued on Sept. 29, 1938.

The Liberty series of 1954-61 had a gap in between the 41 Patrick Henry stamp and the $5 Hamilton. The Prominent Americans of 1962-68 also had a gap between the $1 O'Neill and the $5 Basset Moore. So this $2 value in the Americana series brings a fresh look to our USPS collectibles.

The carving inscription, typical of the series, reads: "America's Light Will Shine Over All The Land." To carry out the theme, the picture shows a stylized version of a kerosene lamp. The designer, James Schleyer, also did the 16-cent Lighthouse and the 28-cent Remote Outpost issued earlier this year.

Kerosene lamps had heyday that started right after the first commercial oil was drilled at Titusville, Penn. and struck profitability at 6 1/2 feet. (1859). In the following year there were 41 patent applications for lamp designs, and they kept coming.

The Antique Trader Weekly always has a section entitled "Lamps Bought and Sold." There is one ad offering to sell $50,000 for Tiffany Pairpoint lamps and bases, but a sensible lamp that would be handy in case of another you-know-what can be had for around $30.

For collectors who wish to branch out, there are pattern glass lamps, colored lamps, peg, parlor, hanging, Gone-With-The-Wind and miniatures. (The GWTW was originally a 10-cent lamp. It has a large ornamental ball shade and a fancy colored base—price nowadays, perhaps $300.)

The first appearance of the $2 lamp stamp will be on November 16 during the annual show of the American Stamp Dealers' Association at the New York Coliseum. FDCs of customer-affiliated stamps may be ordered through Dec. 1. (Address: First Day Cancellations, Postmaster, New York, NY 10001.)

The USPS evidently expects a rush to put these stamps into currency, the two dollar bill for instance, so they are offering a handbook cancellation service at New York on the 16th and at other POs throughout the country afterwards. This goes for the stamp when stuck onto anything that cannot go through the mail without a cover.

Full Edition Here

The fall edition of the Journal of the Postal History Society of Connecticut is out. The editor pleads for contributions of any sorts—even if it's only a snarl about a misplaced comma. Still better would be a note on what you collect, or somebody else collects, in the way of Connecticut postal history. (L.P. Leonard, P.O. Box 292, Cos Cob, CT 06807.)

The Journal has a useful laid-in sheet with auction result pertaining to this area. A Deviland-Pitchfork cancel out of West Meriden brought $1,100 and Hockamuk Fox went to $2,000. There are many others at a gamut of prices.

You Can't Win Department

An unstrung collector has brought in a clipping from Linn's that says "As a result of an upsurge in the demand for the non-denominational 'A' stamp booklets, the U.S. Postal Service suddenly withdrew the booklets from sale."

He had three of the "cursed things" but used them for postage because he hated them. "Now they'll go skyhigh!" he sobbed.

Clarke Thanked for Shots

EAST HARTFORD—The representative to the Legislature from the Hockamuk chapter of the American Association of Retirees Persons thanked Esther B. Clarke for "getting us the flu shots."

Mrs. Clarke, a Republican Town Councilwoman and state senate candidate, pushed for the shots after she heard at an AARP meeting that the town would not be offering them.

Mayor Richard H. Blackstone ordered the shots Thursday, but denied that Mrs. Clarke's efforts had anything to do with the shots being ordered.

"I would like to commend Esther Clarke for getting us the flu shots," said Peter McDonald of the Hockamuk chapter of the AARP.

He said the elderly wanted the shots and they are glad that they will now get them.

Shots will be administered at the Senior Citizens Center, 30 Remington Road, on Oct. 25 and Nov. 2.

Residents Concerned About Greens Care

BOLTON—At least one resident, Alison Bolsonaea, has expressed concern that maintenance for the town greens should be considered before final plans are formulated for their landscaping.

David K. Lannan, 540 Taylor St. and Susan A. Rudeen, Bolton, Oct. 28 at South United Methodist Church.

Darrell L. Hickson and Mariel R. Brown, both of Vernon, Nov. 11.

Mrs. Bolsonaea, in a letter to the Board of Selectmen, said as a member of the Bolton Woman's Club for eight years, she and others were very involved with the landscaping of Herrick Memorial Park and Bentley Memorial Library.

She said a committee of four or five women did all the planting and spent countless hours and many dollars at both sites—receiving awards from the Connecticut State Federation of Women's Club for conservation and beautification.

Mrs. Bolsonaea said, "As I drive by the library or visit the park I cannot help but feel sad and somewhat angry at the lack of maintenance of these areas." She said, "The gardens need weeding, the bushes need trimming and the lawns need mowing."

Plans for landscaping the town greens are currently being drawn up by a college professor and his landscape architecture class.

Mrs. Bolsonaea said, "What a disappointment and waste of talent for the college professor as he drives by the Bolton Greens four years from now and sees the plants decaying from neglect."

She asked the board to consider the maintenance involved when it considers the plans. She ended her letter by saying, "Beautiful grounds can only be beautiful if they are maintained."

The selectmen thanked Mrs. Bolsonaea for her concern and said they hope to establish a public works department in the future and would appreciate her support.

Mrs. Joan Kelsey hands out UNICEF boxes to young United Nations hobgoblins who will be collecting donations for the left arm Alleen Catterop, vampire, Daniel Kelsey, pirate, and Mikey Kelsey, scarecrow. In Manchester, UNICEF is sponsored by Church Women United, and all money collected by trick-or-treaters on Halloween will be used to help less fortunate children throughout the world. UNICEF is currently aiding projects in 100 countries. It concerns itself with the basic needs and problems of children, primarily those in developing countries. (Herald photo by Strempler)

- Banning of Trucks Being Considered
SOUTH WINDSOR—Two local subcommittees will look into the possibility of banning trucks from Pleasant Valley Road and the construction of a bypass road, intended to divert traffic expected from the J.C. Penney Warehouse area in Manchester on the South Windsor line.
Although Town Attorney Richard Rittenband told the South Windsor Town Council that he believed the banning of trucks from Pleasant Valley would be illegal, another attorney, William McCullough, apparently disagrees. McCullough, according to South Windsor Councilwoman Jackie Smith, will serve as a one-man subcommittee to look into the possibility of the truck ban.
A second subcommittee will investigate the cost and benefits of constructing a bypass road. The panel consists of Mrs. Smith, Town Planner Jules Page, and Jeff Bayer, a resident of the Pleasant Valley Road area.
Residents and town officials have been concerned for some time that the traffic expected from the J.C. Penney plant will be more than the already overburdened South Windsor roads can tolerate. Residents along the Pleasant Valley, Chapel and Buckland Road areas also fear the traffic will create a hazardous situation.

Many Will Attend Homecoming at SA

MANCHESTER—Among the many persons coming to the Homecoming gatherings this weekend at the local Salvation Army will be 27 officers from out of town plus four clergymen who in various ways have been associated with the local Corps throughout the years.

They will all be at the banquet Saturday evening in the Youth Hall beginning at 6.

Reservations closed Thursday and 206 persons are coming.

Sunday's meetings are open to the public and start with an adult reunion at 9:30 a.m. in the sanctuary under the leadership of handsman Russell Clough. This will be informal and besides the singing of old songs and choruses will allow for the sharing of anecdotes and experiences, in which anyone may participate.

The morning worship will start at 10:45 with the organ and piano prelude by Songster Leader Lillian Perrett and Deputy Songster Leader Karen Krinjak. The invocation will be given by Brig. J. Hudson Lyons. Musical selection by the Citadel Band under the direction of Bandmaster Michael Ortelli will include "I Can Thank Him," and "Holy Spirit Come and There will be a special vocal trio by Songsters Krinjak, Langford, and Sterling entitled "Life for a Look." In addition Miller, chief secretary of the Central Territory, on "The Baptism of the Holy Spirit," there will be the Rev. Wayne Cole, Bendisville, who will be given by Brig. Brannell Crawford.

Beginning at 3 p.m. during the Musical Praise Service the Songsters will sing "For All the Saints," and "The Earth is the Lord's" which was written by Harold A. Turkington and published in 1934. The band will play "Departed Heroes" and "Roll Call" and a cornet quartet by handsman

Hanebury, Langford, Krinjak and Southwood will play "A Joyous Proclamation." Personal witness will be given by Brig. Joseph Kittle and Mrs. Maj. James Watson. There also will be the dedication of 100 new song books being given in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Simmon. Col. Miller will give a short talk on "The Ensemble."

The special exhibit in Faith Hall will be open for viewing before and after the Saturday evening program and also following the afternoon service Sunday. The 22-page Historical Booklet will be given to all who attend Saturday evening, plus all who under the leadership of handsman Russell Clough, this will be informal and besides the singing of old songs and choruses will allow for the sharing of anecdotes and experiences, in which anyone may participate.

Indian Harriers Assured of Tie

Clinching at least a tie for the CCIL championship, Manchester High boys' cross country team downed league foes Enfield High, 15-50, and host Conard High, 22-39, yesterday in West Hartford. The Silk Turners also topped non-conference opponent Greenwich, 20-42.

The Silk Turners, second in the league a year ago, are 8-0 in the CCIL and can take the crown outright with a victory Tuesday against Windham High at Center Springs Park. The Whippets, defending champs, stand 6-1-1 in league competition and can play the spoiler role, with dropping the locals into co-championship status with East Hartford High.

A win Tuesday would give Manchester its first CCIL crown in a long, long time. Head Coach George Sultor has done research but couldn't come up when the last time the league title was annexed.

Dave Timbrell took third place to lead the Silk Town effort with teammates Paul Johnson and Jim Gryznowski taking the next two places. John Lahda was seventh, Doug Meek eighth and Joe Neubelt ninth. The six Indian harriers were within 18 seconds of each other.

MHS Mermaids Remain Unbeaten

Two school records were broken and another tied as unbeaten Manchester High girls' swimming team moved another step closer towards a second straight CCIL championship with a 113-59 dunking of league foe Wethersfield High yesterday at the Indians' pool.

Manchester is 6-0 overall, 5-0 in the league while the loss drops Wethersfield to 4-1 in CCIL competition.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Shelly Valentine, Chris Scott, Beth MacDonald and LeeAnn Stauffer took second but broke the school standard with a 2:02.8 clocking, bettering the previous mark by 1.3 seconds. Wethersfield won with the same clocking.

Senior Chris White shattered her year-old mark in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 57.3, improving on her previous best by half a second. White was only second in the event as Eagle standout Karen Smyers was victorious with a time of 56.8.

Beth MacDonald tied her own mark in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:27.4 as she led a sweep with Jane Jordan and Shelly Valentine taking two-three.

Manchester also swept the 500-yard freestyle with Marcy MacDonald, Anne Morrison and Carolyn Kaskas going one-two-three and the Indians came right back in the 100-yard backstroke with a one-two-three sweep as Valentine, Karen McDonough and Diana Siebold did the honors.

Manchester's next test is against cross-town rival East Catholic Tuesday afternoon at East Hartford High's pool at 3:30. "We're looking to see good competition against East Catholic and hope that meet will push our kids to personal best times," noted Manchester Head Coach Dave Frost.

Long Ride

It was a long ride home from Waterbury last night for the Manchester Community College volleyball team which saw its three-match win streak ended via a double loss.

Post stopped the Cougars, 15-7, 15-12, while Mattauca won in straight games, 15-8, 15-12.

Donna Daniels and Pat O'Brien were well in the first loss with Tami Twyford playing a fine floor game.

The latter also starred against Westford, along with Mariene Hedlund tallying first half goals. Gossie Laura Potter played well to preserve the shutout.

Packers Surprise Package

NEW YORK (UPI) — Every year at least one team nobody thought was going anywhere confounds the experts with its success. Denver did it last year, New England the year before that, Baltimore in 1975, St. Louis in 1974 and so on. This year it's Green Bay. So far.

The Packers haven't convinced anyone just yet that they will continue at the current pace that has them atop the NFC Central Division with a 6-1 record.

There is good reason for the skepticism. The season is less than half completed. Nine games remain, only three of which the Packers play at home. Also, the year's Packers have not yet beaten a team with a winning record. The tough ones are still ahead — Philadelphia, Dallas, Denver, Los Angeles.

Of all the teams in the NFL, I sure hope Thurman Munson is all right. I can't be absolutely positive, but I think I saw him smile during the Yankees' celebration over winning the World Series with the biggest "share" of anybody. And speaking of shares, I'm curious to see how much the Yankees voted Series' hero, Brian Doyle, their little fill-in second baseman who shuttled between them and the minors all season long.

Yankees Interested In Free Agent John

By MILT RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Next free agent the Yankees are going after is 35-year-old left-hander Tommy John, whom the Dodgers told to take a hike when he asked them for a three-year contract. If John succeeds in getting it from the Yankees, he'll come out of the World Series with the biggest "share" of anybody. Of all the teams in the NFL, I sure hope Thurman Munson is all right. I can't be absolutely positive, but I think I saw him smile during the Yankees' celebration over winning the World Series with the biggest "share" of anybody. And speaking of shares, I'm curious to see how much the Yankees voted Series' hero, Brian Doyle, their little fill-in second baseman who shuttled between them and the minors all season long.

Yankees Interested In Free Agent John

By MILT RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Next free agent the Yankees are going after is 35-year-old left-hander Tommy John, whom the Dodgers told to take a hike when he asked them for a three-year contract. If John succeeds in getting it from the Yankees, he'll come out of the World Series with the biggest "share" of anybody. And speaking of shares, I'm curious to see how much the Yankees voted Series' hero, Brian Doyle, their little fill-in second baseman who shuttled between them and the minors all season long.

Joe's World

By JOE GARMAN
"What are you going to use?" I asked Joyce as I bettered up. "Grasshopper" wife and I went fishing.

It was a beautiful day. The temperature was in the high 60s, the gentle breeze was blowing, and the surface of the water was perfect for fishing. I had seen the gorgeous colors of the trees ringing the pond we are going to fish. You really couldn't ask for a better day.

"What are you going to use?" I asked Joyce as I bettered up. "Grasshopper" wife and I went fishing. "Grasshopper" ... What else is there? ... I'll use a grasshopper. She finished "on top," while I went deep with a muddler.

Suddenly, a large fish broke the surface of the water. I scanned the pond for fly activity but there was none. I continued to fish with the muddler, working my way around the pond, trying to catch a few more. I was still no fisher. Joyce started to change dry flies, while I continued to fish with the muddler. Leaving the Dodgers is like taking one of my limbs away. I'll miss the Dodgers. The reason I'm going to nymphs down to size is because I want to play and I want some security. Boston and Toronto both are interested in Lacy.

I switched to a dry line with shaking fingers, figuring I was going to miss the hatch ... Tied on a size 20 dry fly to imitate what was popping to the surface of the water ... Results ... a big zero.

It was hours of fruitless casting. I realized that flies were breaking all over the pond, but were only taking an occasional fly on the surface ... So I went to back to nymphs.

To make a long story short ... We spent 3 1/2 frustrating hours without even getting a rise. Some warm and spin fishermen around the pond went home gnashing their teeth, the same as we.

Saturday last week, especially Saturday morning, was really wet and rainy. I was glad I had made a date to go fishing ... Figured anybody who did, would get drowned. It continued to be miserable all morning, so I did not look out the windows with any longing or wish to be elsewhere.

Saturday night, the first call came from my buddy, Frank Horton. He informed me that he and his son Rick, had gone out to his Rod & Gun Club, and had a picnic on dry flies. "Dry flies" questioned, "In all that rain. You've got to be kidding."

"Honest," Frank answered, "I couldn't even see the fly because of the rain drops and the leaves on the water. They just kept on hitting."

That was call No. 1. Then I received another from a friend, who said he had been hauled from the rain, while fishing the same pond, we had early in the week. Said he had caught and released 15 fish on muddlers. Then call No. 3 from a friend who claimed he had grown gills, from fishing in the rain, up at Bigelow Brook. "Couldn't keep them off a fly," he said.

That did it. Sunday morning, Frank, Rick, and I were out at his club pond where he had caught and released so many trout the morning before. It was a clear cold morning. In fact was so cold, we were wearing gloves. Sun total after 3 hours of "frozen" fishing ... 3 small trout and 3 rigid fisherman.

Seems like this month, I've been in the wrong place at the wrong time ... But that's fishing!

But that's fishing!

Eagle Swimmers Top Windsor Locks

Back on the winning track, East Catholic girls' swimming team trimmed Windsor Locks High, 95-75, yesterday in Windsor Locks.

Claire Viola, a sophomore, was a double winner for the Eagles, now 4-2 for the season, capturing the 50 and 100-yard freestyles. Lynne Dakin, Kelli Dakin and Julie Tucker combined to sweep the 100-yard breaststroke for East while Karen McCaffrey, Erin Shaffer and Leila Bradley took one-two-three in the 100-yard freestyle, also for the Eagles.

Dial-ogue

PRESLEY POWER - In answer to a question from Judy Ginn, North Carolina, Elvis's biggest selling record was "Don't Be Cruel" with "Hound Dog" on the flip side. According to my 1977 album, "The Elvis Presley Story," the record was "a multi-million seller that became the biggest single in history, with both sides hitting No. 1! This 45 RPM single stayed on the charts for over one full year! An historic feat never to be equaled."

Also, in answer to a letter a while back, the comedian from "Hollywood Squares" who looked and acted like Woody Allen was Wally Cox. - L.J.M., Aberdeen, Md. That answer should set many a restless sleeper back to the land of nod at night. In fact, the answer can complete No. 10 of the National Enquirer's "win Elvis Presley's ring" quiz. As to Wally Cox looking and acting like Woody Allen, you sure could have fooled me.

PRACTICING what he preaches is Ed Asner, chairman of the nationwide "Great American Smokeout," a day devoted to voluntarily giving up the weed. Asner, a hard core smoker of one of the oldest high tar, high nicotine unfiltered brands in the country, considers himself "honor bound" to lay aside his smokes for 24 hours on November 16.

1 + 1 = 4 in California where the law limits the number of hours that child actors can perform each day. That's why it takes four little girls to play the parts of two of the Ingalls' children on "Little House on the Prairie." Lindsay (top, left) and Sidney Greenbush, who are 8, play the part of Carrie Ingalls, while Brenda (bottom, left) and Wendy Turndearough, 9 months, play the new part of baby Grace in the popular series.

Voice like an Angel?

Fame can be tough, or as Cheryl Ladd says "It's semi-lonely at the semi-top."

Charlie's newest little cutie is learning the hard way that being an Angel can be a devilish detail when you're trying to convince critics to stop leering and listen. One music magazine has noticed though - Crawdaddy calls Ladd's singing effort on her first lp, Cheryl Ladd "surprisingly soulful."

But, she says, "It's not going to be easy getting accepted. I know that, and I'm ready for it. And I'm not going to worry about it. I did the best I could, and that's really all I can do." So there.

Cheryl Ladd: singer?

SCI-FI is the mask that has been put on violence this fall, according to Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc., the advertising agency which publishes a yearly report on the new TV season. BBDO says the networks are disguising blood and guts with fantasy this year: "New and returning science fiction-type shows and their special effects portray very unrealistic, and therefore less objectionable, violence." The masks on many of "Battlestar Galactica's" characters (series star Ricard Hatch is seen here) and the super-human comic book qualities of "Wonder Woman" and "The Incredible Hulk" are a world away from the street crime and murder of the defunct action/adventure/mystery emperors like "Baretta" and "Kojak." Put that in your ray gun and blast it.

FILMETER

A capsule look at cinema

REMEMBER MY NAME (R) — Geraldine Chaplin, Anthony Perkins. Drama. A girl ex-convict makes life miserable for her ex-husband and his new wife, in a film that has some dramatic moments and some foolish ones. If you can overlook the latter, you'll find the film memorable. Caution: Gutter language. GRADE: B-plus.

UP IN SMOKE (R) — Cheech and Chong, Stacy Keach. Comedy. The far-out comedy team makes its movie debut with this far-out film. The plot may offend — the two are frankly trying to buy some drugs — but you find yourself laughing anyhow. Good rock music along the way. Strictly for the 20s crowd. GRADE: B.

THE BOYS FROM BRAZIL (R) — Gregory Peck, Laurence Olivier. Thriller. From Ira Levin's gripping novel, this deals with some scientific dirty work the left-over Nazis are up to in South America — including murders all over the world. It works out to be a very nasty plot, but scary. The cast all use different accents, which is disconcerting, but it will keep you watching. Caution: It gets pretty bloody at the end. GRADE: B-plus.

DEATH ON THE NILE (PG) — Peter Ustinov, David Niven, Bette Davis, Mia Farrow, etc. Mystery. Agatha Christie's dandy puzzler turned into a classy murder mystery. A much-hated heiress is done in aboard a Nile cruise ship and Hercule Poirot tries to find whodunit. More red herrings than you'll find at a Moscow smorgasbord, and an all-star cast to bring them to life. GRADE: A-minus.

INTERIORS (PG) — E.G. Marshall, Geraldine Page, Maureen Stapleton, Diane Keaton. Drama. Woody Allen wrote and directed this, but don't expect humor. It's very serious — and very good, if you can take the heaviness. It's the story of a family full of hidden (and not-so-hidden) problems and emotional traumas. Beautifully photographed and acted, but dark and somber. GRADE: A-minus.

SOMEBODY KILLED HER HUSBAND (PG) — Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Jeff Bridges. Romantic thriller. Farrah, in her first film since "Charlie's Angels," had the good sense to pick a solid script done with class by good people. She plays an unhappy wife who finds happiness with a department store toy salesman, and then her husband is done in. It builds nicely and has some surprises en route. GRADE: B.

WEDDING, A (PG) — Carol Burnett, Geraldine Chaplin, Desi Arnaz Jr., Mia Farrow, etc., etc. Comedy-drama. Robert Altman's long-awaited analysis of a wedding proves to be just that — he dissects the bridal party brutally. Some of it is devastating but it all lacks a focus and, unfortunately, starts nowhere and leads to nothing. GRADE: C-plus.

WHO IS KILLING THE GREAT CHEFS OF EUROPE? (PG) — George Segal, Jacqueline Bisset. Comedy-mystery. Against a background of Europe and, especially, great European restaurants, there is a murderer at large. This works very hard — perhaps too hard — to be cute and amusing as it toddles along. The recipe badly needs a pinch of calmness, because it is too contrived. GRADE: B.

(Film grading: A — superb; B — good; C — average; D — poor; F — awful)

Could CB teach America history?

By Ink Dipper

A national effort to utilize CB as an educational avenue is getting under way. If some help comes through from Washington it will become a reality.

Clive C. Veri, dean of the College of Continuing Education at Northern Illinois University, at DeKalb, has advanced a proposal to both the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the National Endowment of Humanities that would create a nationwide "CB network" to function as a historical sightseeing guide throughout the century.

"There's no place in our country where something historical hasn't happened," says Veri, "but we drive through the area and never recognize its historical value. There are campers and truckers and vacationers who drive thousands of miles through the United States, all those miles loaded with history, and they never know about it except for the markers along the highway."

"I just finished a three-week trip with my family from Nashville to the West Coast and back," says insurance executive John Harde-tire trip."

Channing Hadlock of Towanda, Pa., who frequently travels northeastern Pennsylvania along the New York border, reacts: "I've never taken anyone along the highway and shown them Aloum — the spot where Marie Antoinette was going to establish a French village for the loyalists of ment of the Interior, which is responsible for the historic markers you see on the highways, has done a great job. But he feels that more people are tuned to listening than they are to reading, and that CB could make these historical points come alive.

His plan is somewhat complex, but it is certainly worth genuine consideration. The ramifications of it can blow a poor old CBer's mind.

Next week: details of the plan.

beck. "We drove because we wanted the children to see the country. We had a CB because we thought it would be company on the long stretches between stops. Except for the calls on Channel 9 and the conversations on Channel 19, there was little to listen to. This plan would have been a worthwhile and productive bonus to the en-

the French Revolution — that they didn't say they'd never heard of such a thing. Yet the land was purchased and members of the government came here and surveyed the land and actually prepared plans for its development. Travelers don't stop and see it because they don't know about it."
