Foreign Visitors Get Taste of Nutmeg Hospitality

Managing Editor

MANCHESTER - Three visiting foreign nationals got a taste of Connecticut hospitality Monday night thanks to the efforts of Town Manager and Mrs. Robert Weiss. The three, part of a group of 19 foreign nationals currently on a tour of the U.S., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Weiss following two days of exposure to Connecticut election

The Weiss' guests were Joe Francis Sainte Rose, general secretary of the Republican Party of Martinique; Rosauro Galiza Acosta, foreign news editor of the Manila, Philippines, Times Journal and Hasan Cemal, a member of the editorial staff of the Turkish newspaper Cumhuriyet,

Also attending the dinner was Manchester Mayor Stephen Penny. The three visitors were in Connecticut for two days as part of a 28-day tour under the auspices of the Visitor Program Service and the International Communication Agency. Cemal said the tour consists of 19 persons from 19 different nations who will study the electoral process in the United States during the trip. He said the persons selected for the tour include election officials, politicians and journalists.

The group arrived in Connecticut after six days of briefings and seminars in Washington, D.C. Sun-

Are your candidates with you on these important issues?

CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT SPENDING EDUCATION AND TRAINING ENERGY

State elections are coming up November 7. How candidates feel about Control of Government Spending, Education and Training, and Energy is important, because these three issues will have a lot to do with the quality of your life and your future here in Connecticut. Party labels don't reveal very much; you need to know how each candidate would act on these issues. We are confident that you, as a thinking voter, will want to consider these viewpoints:

Control of Government

Spending. Whatever the government does costs taxpayers money. In the past two decades, the cost of government has grown enormously, and so have taxes. In order to hold down taxes, elected representatives will have to make careful decisions about spending. Do you know which candidates will support constitutional amendments and spending reforms that will limit government spending to those programs for which people are willing to pay? Remember, each one of us eventually pays, either directly through taxes or indirectly as part of the cost of things we buy.

Education and Training. One of the biggest costs of government is education. Yet we are not getting our money's worth, because our system doesn't adequately train students in the "basics" or for available job opportunities.

And we know that unless Connecticut business. and industry fills those jobs, our economic health will suffer. All too often, employers plan expansion in other regions of the country where skilled people and training are available. Are your candidates for improving the quality of our education and providing skills training so that our young people and unemployed can compete in the job market?

Energy. Reliable, affordable energy is one of the features that helps retain and attract industry to provide the new jobs we need for our growing population. It's a national problem, but we in Connecticut have special concerns.

For example, we need a sound regulatory climate that will let us assess our future energy needs realistically and allow the utilities to build the generating capabilities to meet them at the most advantageous time. Failure to anticipate these needs can have a severe effect not only on the eventual cost of new power-generating facilities. but also on the state's economy and the ability of its citizens to earn a living.

Obviously, we have strong views about these three key issues. We think the quality of life here in Connecticut depends on sound political decisions concerning control of government spending, education and training, and energy. If you would like to know more about these issues, use the coupon below, or call us. And we would sincerely like to know your viewpoints. We're the 3,000 member companies of the Connecticut Business and Industry Association - CBIA - working to make Connecticut more competitive.

It isn't so easy to save money these days. What used to be a matter of simple interest has been compounded to such a degree you need quite an education to figure it all out. Now, in addition to the usual savings plans, banks offer many unusual ones. With varying interests, rules and regulations, penalties and rewards.

You need help.

Obviously, some savings plans are more appropriate for you than others. Long Term Investments are ideal if you have the money and can afford the time. But a Short Term arrangement might be more practical. Regular Passbook Account interest compounds differently from that of a Statement Savings Account. But the two types of accounts differ in other ways, as well. How can you make sense of it all?

Talk to an expert.

Our Savings Investment Specialists have many of the answers you need. They've been trained in the applications of all the savings services we offer. So they can help you make the choices that are right for you.

Come in today and sit down with a Hartford National specialist. Or call for additional information.

You could save a lot more money if you do.

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently bought a very expensive cockatoo. He has a cage for it, but it's hardly ever in the age because my husband thinks it should have the freedom to fly around the house. Needless to say, there are bird droppings everywhere My husband refuses to clean up after the bird, so I have to, Priscilla's Pop - Ed Sullivan and I am tired of the mess. We fight about this constantly. Otherwise, we have a good marriage, but this really keeps me in a bad mood. What can I do?

LYNN IN GLENDALE DEAR LYNN: Give your husband an ultimatum. Either the bird stays IN the cage, or HE cleans up after it. If that oesn't work, keep your windows open a lot, buy a cat, or send me your address and I'll send you a wonderful recipe r stewed cockatoo on toast.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years, but this is my first time to write. When I read your advice to kids to stay in school, I had to write because I am living proof that ids start on a life of crime when they begin skipping school. That's what happened to me. I am an 18-year-old boy who has been in trouble since I was 12, and it all started when I egan skipping school.

have been in more institutions and group homes than I Captain Easy can count, and right now I'm in jail waiting for my court I wish I could tell every kid on the other side of these jail ise bars, "STAY IN SCHOOL, AND DON'T QUIT NO MATTER WHAT!" Please don't be a high school dropout You can't get a decent job without a high school diploma-

And without a job, all that's left is running the streets and I'd also like to tell young kids, "Remember, you have only one mother and father, so mind them! If they punish you for doing wrong it's only because they love you, and want what's best for you." Please correct my spelling, Miss Abby, and print this Maybe someone will listen to you.

DEAR JESSE: I'll print your letter in hope that some kids out there will listen to you. Thanks for writing. (P.S. I Alley Oop — Dave Graue lidn't have to correct one word. Your spelling was perfect. God bless you, son.)

DEAR ABBY: We are two secretaries who have a peculiar problem. We have been instructed to answer the elephone in the following manner: "Good morning. This is Mr. Johnson's office." Occasionally we get some smart aleck on the other end who says, "Well, what do you know - a talking office!" Do you have a snappy retort for those people who get smart with us? Thank you.
