ANNE FLYNN
Saturday evening, Oct. 21, at the high school auditorium over 700 people applauded the variety performances at the Evening of the Performing Arts. Rev. James Archambault, pastor at St. James Church and president of MACC, welcomed the audience and introduced Rev. Odon Stairs, pastor of Community Baptist Church, to whom the program was dedicated in thanks for his loving ministry to our community. Rev. Stairs is retiring and moving to Florida, completing 40 years of Christian ministry. He will be sadly missed by many of us.

The master of ceremony, David Moyer and Jim Breitenfeld, gave the evening an air of light and witty banter with their relaxed informal manner. The program opened with the Manchester High School Band, under the direction of Karen Kramnik, playing some rousing music. The high school was also represented by Sock and Buskin's premiere of their play "The Future of West Revelation," written and directed by Lee Hay, which will be presented in its entirety Nov. 3-4, 10-11.

The St. Mary's Children's Choir with their bright, smiling faces and light cheerful voices brought a breath of freshness and vitality as they sang religious folk tunes. They were directed by Ken Woods and Patricia Garrity.

Woman Honored

Mrs. Jay D. Smith of West Hartford will be honored as "Woman of the Week" on Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. in the Hartford Hilton Ballroom, according to Dr. Harold Richmond, general chairman of State of Israel Bonds and Mrs. David Sheketoff, chairman of the Greater Hartford Women's Division of Israel Bonds. Mrs. Smith and her husband, Dr. Smith, who served as the flight physician for the Friendship Force, visited Israel last February in the exchange program.

Mrs. Smith, known professionally as Rosalie H. Smith, will be the seventh woman from the Hartford area to receive the award, which is presented by the State of Israel to one who has sold a minimum of $100,000 in Israel Bonds in her local community.

A former assistant professor of communications at the University of Hartford and a certified speech pathologist, Mrs. Smith teaches in the Management Development Program of the Hartford Graduate Center and at the counseling center of the Hartford College for Women. The mother of three children, she served as chairman of the Israel Bond Effort in 1974 and 1975. Active in many organizations, Mrs. Smith is listed in the 1978 Who's Who in International Jewry.

The award will be presented at a luncheon and fashion show "From Israel With Love." Israeli fashions will be coordinated and accentuated by Laetgen's Limited of Manchester serving as commentator.

Vionist Bernard Lurie, concertmaster of the Hartford Symphony Orchestra and associate professor at Hart College of Music, University of Hartford, will be performing artist in a musical tribute to honor Israel's 30th anniversary and Mrs. Smith.

For further information and reservations call Women's Division, State of Israel Bonds, 740 N. Main St., West Hartford at 238-4525.

group, directed by Ida Carnier sharing some of their favorites. Ida Carnier also shared a favorite as she sang "Bring On the Old Times." The Old Times had the audience clapping to their lively beat. The program ended as we all joined in singing "America."

MACC extends their thanks to these beautiful people who shared their talents and their love of the arts with us. We also wish to thank all those who helped to make the evening possible: the stage crew, ushers, Elizabeth Marx for handling tickets, our MC's Jim Breitenfeld and Dave Moyer, a special thanks to Clint Hendrickson for his publicity work.

A special tribute goes to Marcel Negro and Roger Negro for the many hours they spent in putting the show together and seeing that everything ran smoothly back stage. Thank you also to those who were our patrons and those who shared in viewing the performance. You all have helped support the many worthwhile and needed programs which MACC operates.

Thanksgiving
Rev. Neal McClain of the Church of the Nazarene called to tell us that the Lord brought to their Harvest Altar will be shared through the Emergency Pantry.

The Junior Women's Club held a raffle at their regular meeting and have sent in a check for $25.00 for meat for Thanksgiving baskets. The Joyce Weives will be adopting a family for a Thanksgiving basket.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 9, 10, & 11th the Manchester Parkade Association and WINF and MACC will co-sponsor the annual Thanksgiving Food Collection. WINF will be broadcasting "on the spot" from 12:00 to 5:00 p.m. at the Consumer Sales Bldg. See you there.

Sunday, November 19 — The Manchester Memorial Hospital has set up an emergency Halloween service tonight to lost candy and fruit brought in, for foreign objects.

Two senior radiological technicians, Tom Morrow and Molly Wright, have volunteered to be on duty tonight from 6:30 to 10 to fluoroscope any treats that parents have reason to suspect. Fluoroscopy, which will not harm the candy or fruit, will only show metallic objects.

Persons bringing their treats to be fluoroscoped should come to the outpatient entrance next to the emergency entrance at the rear of the hospital. Once inside, signs will direct the way to the X-ray department.

The hospital is providing this service free.

Sewers Hearing Tonight

MANCHESTER — Residents will have an opportunity to speak tonight about a proposed sewer improvement plan that includes $17.5 million in expansion costs.

Much of this cost, about $10 million, is for expansion of the sewer treatment plant.

The remainder of the proposed expansion is for improvements and expansion of the sewer system.

Some of these lines, however, may never have to be installed, but the routes are included in the plans in case installation does have to be done.

Jay Giles, director of public works, said that his office is seeking input from residents about possible sewer line installation in their area.

Information the residents can provide about past sewer failures and their opinions to sewer line installation will be helpful for future planning, he said.

The major cost in the proposed expansion is the addition to the sewer treatment plant on Olcott Street.

Once a sewer treatment plant reaches 90 percent of its capacity, the federal government requires that work be started to design expansion of the facility.

Manchester's plant already has passed the 90 percent mark, and the proposed expansion would meet expected sewage demands through the year 2000.

A majority of the cost for the entire work would be funded by the state and federal governments.

That price, however, is just an estimate. It is subject to change based on inflation.

Tonight's hearing starts at 8 in the Municipal Building's Hearing Room. Representatives from Metcalf & Eddy, the firm that prepared the sewer improvement plan, will be present to discuss the report.

Church Planning Holiday Bazaar

MANCHESTER — The Second Congregational Church Holiday Bazaar 385 N. Main St. will be Nov. 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Mrs. Helen Hannacher, chairman.

The bazaar will feature 13 boutique shops. Special features will include afghans, quilts, homebaked goods, handmade dolls and toys, wooden articles, plants and adult treasures.

Luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Pie and coffee will be served throughout the day.

The event is sponsored by the Women's Christian Fellowship and congregation of the church.

About Town

Manchester High School students will be dismissed Wednesday noon so that the faculty can prepare for the school's self evaluation which is part of the New England Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges accreditation process.

Delta Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. The Most Excellent Master degree will be conferred. Earnest J. Smith, excellent king, will preside. Officer dress will be robes.

High Court To Review Rights Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to review a California case that gives it a chance to clarify the scope of the 1966 Miranda decision outlining the rights of suspects in police custody.

The justices will consider whether police are required to stop interrogating a 19-year-old murder suspect after he asked to speak with his probation officer.

The California Supreme Court ruled they were. It said the youth's request was "a call for help," indicating he wanted to assert his privilege against self-incrimination, just as though he had asked for a lawyer.

Among hundreds of orders Monday, the high court also:

- Promised to examine the constitutionality of a Massachusetts law that required unmarried girls under 18 to get consent from their parents or a judge before having an abortion.

The decision will clarify a 1976 ruling which declared unconstitutional a Missouri law allowing parents to "veto" their minor daughters' intentions to obtain abortions, but which hinted that more limited restrictions might be allowed.

• Agreed to hear arguments on a Texas case involving what procedures the Constitution requires states to use in protecting the rights of both parents and children when youngsters are taken from the home under suspicion they are being abused.

In the Miranda case, the ruling said police must inform a suspect before questioning that he has a right to a lawyer and to remain silent, and that anything he says may be used against him. It decreed that police must stop questioning a suspect if he asks for a lawyer.

But that ruling did not say anything about a juvenile suspect who asks for his probation officer, or his mother or anyone else. Rehnquist noted, he pointed out that the court under Chief Justice Warren Burger has been reluctant to expand Miranda beyond its original guidelines.

The court also agreed to rule on a case involving the rights of congressional employees — who are not protected by federal civil rights laws — to bring sex discrimination charges against their bosses.

In addition, the court:

- Turned down an appeal by a companion who charges Sen. William Proxmire's wife unfairly received special privileges in operating a convention tour business in the nation's capital.

• Refused to prevent the Securities and Exchange Commission from making public detailed questionable overseas payment charges against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Joyner Sets Priorities Based on Voter Survey

MANCHESTER — Walter Joyner, Republican candidate in the 12th Assembly District, said the priorities he would work on in the 1979 General Assembly would include limiting state spending and eliminating wasteful spending.

These priorities were established in a questionnaire he sent to each household in the 12th District. Of those who responded 84 percent said the most pressing problem in the state is taxes and inflation.

Swensson Urges Campus For Child Care Center

MANCHESTER — Elsie "Bix" Swensson, Republican candidate in the 13th Assembly District, said Monday that a child care center should be located on the Manchester Community College campus.

She attended a party Sunday and was surprised to learn the school's present children's center is located at Center Congregational Church.

"Now after so many years of waiting for permanent buildings, and with funding finally having become available, it is most important that the parent or parents have a child care center on campus in the near future. This would eliminate the problem of having to transport these children so far from their parents attending classes at the college," Mrs. Swensson said.

"These parents, especially the single parent, who must go back into the job market and who need training and education, want to feel that their children are in a safe and healthful environment," she said.

Guide to SAT Published

All students registering for the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) this year will receive a new comprehensive guide designed to improve their understanding of and familiarity with the test and to reduce anxiety about what will be encountered in the test center. The first and largest SAT administration is Saturday, Nov. 4.

The College Board estimates that about 415,000 students, primarily seniors, will take the test that day. Five more administrations will be held throughout the year.

The 48-page guide, titled "Taking the SAT," is the most comprehensive explanation and preview of the SAT ever provided by the College Board. A major part of the booklet is a complete SAT and a complete Test of Standard Written English (TSWE), key, and answer sheets and scoring key. It also includes descriptions and detailed advice for solving each type of question, general test-taking strategies, information about the purposes of the SAT and the TSWE, and a description of College Board scoring procedures.

All schools have received quantities of the new guide for distribution, at no charge, to students who register for the tests.

Fuller Brush Reunion Slated

EAST HARTFORD — The employees of Fuller Brush Co., past and present, will have a reunion dinner dance Saturday, Nov. 11, at Marco Polo Restaurant, East Hartford, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. will be provided by John Vesco and his band.

Claude LeBlanc is chairman of the event. He is being assisted by John Kozak and Tom Along.

Reservations may be made by calling John Kozak, 649-8854.

School Nutrition Meeting Subject

MANCHESTER — Federally-funded nutrition pilot programs for the cafeteria and classroom will be explained to parents and school personnel Thursday at 7:30 in the Lutz Junior High School cafeteria.

The Manchester PTA Council is sponsor of the program.

Speakers on the pilot programs will be Dr. Janina Czajkowski, of the Health and Nutritional Sciences Department of the University of Connecticut and Mrs. Lois Selina, child nutrition coordinator of the state Department of Education.

Manchester professionals speaking on nutrition will be Dr. Salvatore Squarito, periodontist; Carmen Cutrone, Manchester Memorial Hospital nutritionist; Dr. Sobhy Ghahrial, pediatrician and Dr. Robert Stoker, chiropractor.

Students, school nurses, teachers, principals, school administrators and school board members, as well as parents, have been invited to the meeting which will include a discussion period.

The program is the outgrowth of a new PTA Council committee on the school lunch program. The committee resulted from a discussion on school lunch nutrition last spring between Manchester parents and school administrators.

The committee has representatives from each school as well as students representing the junior and senior high schools — Judy Clough and Nancy Fournier are co-chairwomen.

The nutrition program is one of several activities the council plans to be involved in this year.

The council consists of representatives from the elementary school PTAs, the Exceptional Children's PTA, the principals, central administration, Bennett PTA and others.

Some of the council goals for the coming year include continued support and coordination of the elementary schools' fine arts program, continued active role in the preparation, adoption and allocation of the school budget, initiation of a study and review of the school curriculum. The council will also monitor and support local, state and national legislation affecting the children of Manchester.

Other programs planned for the coming year will deal with vandalism and drugs.

A newsletter also has been initiated this year to keep members informed of upcoming activities, according to Jim Moracecy, president.

GOP Spending Heavily In Legislative Races

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican National Committee is investing $2 million in an effort to win back at least a quarter of the 800 state legislative seats lost to the Democrats in the last three elections. At $5,000 a seat, it could be the political bargain of the year.

"We're hoping to pick up 200 to 250 seats," said Dave Demarest, deputy director of the GOP committee's local election arm. "That may not sound like much. But to be able to turn things from a dramatic loss situation to a dramatic win situation would be just short of miraculous."

Demarest is one of 16 campaign pros assigned to the national committee to lead a new grassroots initiative at the state level. Their budget: $800,000 for advertising, another $1.2 million for direct candidate support, one-third of the party's total 1978 campaign expenditures.

"Our main priority this year is in legislative and state campaigns and that is where we are spending much of our money," said national committee Chairman Bill Brock said.

Forty-six states are electing legislators in 1978. Republicans in four. Seven states have split control of senate and house; in three, one party controls a single house and the other is evenly split. Nebraska has a non-partisan legislative body.

About 5,000 of the nation's 7,682 state legislative seats were held by Democrats. The issue is more than winning more offices for the GOP. The national party is worried about what will happen to congressional districts when the state legislatures begin redistricting work after the 1980 census.

"The last census cost us about 40 seats in Congress and we can't afford to let that happen again," Brock said. "The Democrats have no comparable campaign program for the state legislatures."

"We're only spending $100,000 on candidates at all levels in 1978," Scott Wolf of the Democratic national committee said. "They (Republicans) have a whole different set of priorities, due in part to the fact that they control so few legislatures."

"And we have much less resources at the national level," Wolf said. "We just don't have the luxury of being able to provide finances for candidates in small races."

Here are some of the state legislative battlegrounds:

Church Fair Set
SOUTH WINDSOR — The Wapping Community Church will hold its Christmas bazaar Saturday, Nov. 4, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Community House.

Featured at the fair will be booths featuring candy, baked goods and preserves, handmade gifts, handicrafts for fall and Christmas, children's toys (dolls, games and puzzles), new religious (books, and used books, white elephants, Christmas decorations, men's handicrafts and a snack bar.

Co-chairmen of the bazaar are Pat Zeruk, Donna Kausch and Joyce Mackie.

Skelley Knocks Repko On Program Proposal

TOLLAND — Michael J. Skelley, Democratic candidate for the state senate, 35th District, Monday criticized his Republican opponent, Andrew Repko for "not doing his homework."

He said, "My opponent wants to establish a program for the elderly which already exists."

He said this year Democrats funded the promotion of independent living for the elderly, also known as Project SAIL, with $1.6 million. The program was designed to meet the needs of the senior citizens in the area of home care.

Skelley said the Democratic General Assembly passed the proposal and averted a $500,000 cut coming from an amendment (LCO 2628) to the budget which was introduced by Gerald Stevens, minority leader.

Skelley said that in addition, under Democratic Governor Ella Grasso, a new Department on Aging was established specifically to deal with problems of senior citizens. "My opponent seems unaware of these efforts," he said.

Area Bulletin Board
Organizations Urged
HEBRON — The Hebron Commission on the Aging is encouraging town organizations to consider sponsoring luncheons for the senior citizens group. The commission meets on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 1 p.m. in the Guild Congregational Church Social Room. Residents or club presidents so interested are asked to contact Romolo Salio, president of the Hebron Senior Citizens group.

The commission is also sponsoring a Country Western afternoon social for the senior citizens with an exhibition to be given by the Marlborough Country Squares, Nov. 12 at 2 p.m., Phelps Hall, St. Peter's Church.

Any town resident or local group interested in contributing to the Van Fund is reminded that donations may be sent to the Burrill Mutual Savings Bank, "Van Fund." The fund currently has a balance of $400.00. The goal is $2,500.

Absentee Ballots
VERNON — Nov. 6 is the deadline for absentee ballots for the Nov. 7 state elections. Applications are available in the town clerk's office in the Memorial Building, 14 Park Place.

The absentee ballots, once received in the mail by the applicant, must be completed and returned through the mail so the town clerk will receive them at the Union Street Post Office (P.O. Box 245) no later than election day.

In a case where an elector applies personally at the clerk's office, he or she may complete and return the ballot at that time.

In addition to regular office hours which are Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., the clerk's office will be open Nov. 4 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., solely for the issuance of absentee ballots.

Open House
VERNON — Rockville High School will have an open house program Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Brian J. McCartney, principal of the high school, said the program is designed to provide parents the opportunity to have a brief conference with the teachers regarding their child's academic progress.

Preparing for Fair

Stella Pardo and Sue Krowchenko display some of the items to be sold at craft fair Friday and Saturday at St. John's Polish National Church, Manchester. The event will run from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday. Crafts, toys and Christmas decorations will be featured, along with Polish food. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Terminally Ill Club Meeting at College

MANCHESTER — A newly formed club focusing on problems of the terminally ill meets weekly at Manchester Community College.

The club, titled "Make Today Count," was founded by Orville E. Kelly of Iowa in 1974 to help himself and other terminally ill patients. Today there are chapters throughout the U.S., Canada and Germany.

The MCC Make Today Count Club deals with death and dying, and is the only chapter in Connecticut. Make Today Count is not a therapy group, and is open to everyone, not just the terminally ill.

The club meets Thursdays at 6 p.m. in the Faculty East conference room at the college. Officers of the club are Paul Paradis, president; Rainey Field, secretary; Rhonda Hidesout, treasurer, and Kenneth Steere, faculty advisor.

Further information is available by contacting Paul Paradis, 102 West St., Vernon, telephone 875-0067.

Awards Dinner Planned

HARTFORD — The 42nd annual scouters awards dinner sponsored by the Archdiocese of Hartford will be held Sunday, Nov. 5, at 6:30 p.m. at Capra's, 3430 Berlin Turnpike, Newington.

On this occasion deserving candidates will receive the St. George and Bronze Pelican awards in recognition of their years of dedicated service in the field of Catholic scouting. The Rev. Norman J. Belval will present the awards. The Rev. Robert F. Tucker of St. Mary Church, Simsbury, will be the guest speaker.

Weicker Phone Toll-Free

HARTFORD — U.S. Sen. Lowell Weicker has announced the installation of a toll-free telephone line in his Hartford office.

The line will permit calls from anywhere within the state with no charge to the caller.

Weicker's Connecticut offices, in Hartford and Bridgeport, are designed to assist individuals, businesses and organizations which have problems with the federal government.

The toll-free number in Hartford is 1-800-842-0128. There also is a toll-free number for the Bridgeport office, 1-800-972-4239.

It isn't so easy to save money these days. What used to be a matter of simple interest has been compounded to such a degree you need quite an education to figure it all out. Now, in addition to the usual savings plans, banks offer many unusual ones. With varying interests, rules and regulations, penalties and rewards.

You need help. Obviously, some savings plans are more appropriate for you than others. Long Term Investments are ideal if you have the money and can afford the time. But a Short Term arrangement might be more practical. Regular Passbook Account interest compounds differently from that of a Statement Savings Account. But the two types of accounts differ in other ways, as well.

How can you make sense of it all? Talk to an expert. Our Savings Investment Specialists have many of the answers you need. They've been trained in the applications of all the savings services we offer. So they can help you make the choices that are right for you.

Come in today and sit down with a Hartford National specialist. Or call for additional information. You could save a lot more money if you do.

Vernon Man Elected

VERNON — The Connnet Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation has elected Thomas W. Bowler as its treasurer for the second year in a row.

Bowler is a physical education teacher in the Vernon School system.

Vernon is well represented in the association. James Herdic, Peter Moulin and Robert Herdic, physical education teachers in the elementary schools in Vernon, presented a program at the state convention this weekend. The program was designed under the direction of Mrs. Clare Albom, supervisor of elementary physical education and health at Sayre.

Richard Tingley, supervisor of secondary physical education, served as liaison person with the Connecticut Association of Administrators of Health and Physical Education.

Trinity Confirms 21

MANCHESTER — On Sunday, the Rev. Norman Swensson, Pastor of Trinity Covenant Church, confirmed a class of 21 young people who have been studying with him for over a year.

The students participated in both the 8:15 and 10:50 morning worship services by reading Scripture and explaining the various phases of their studies.

At 6 p.m., the church honored the confirmation class at a potluck supper in Fellowship Hall after which the members read their themes on "What Christ Means to Me."

Matt Hennigan, Coordinator of Youth Ministries, was in charge of this service which concluded with the presentation of Bibles to the confirmands.

Classes Set By College

MANCHESTER — The Community Services Division of Manchester Community College is offering three non-credit courses that will begin in November.

“Advanced and Refresher Celestial Navigation” is for individuals who want to review the basic concepts, as well as to explore advanced topics of celestial navigation. Co-sponsored by Mystic Seaport Planetarium, the course will include work in the planetarium and sightings with a sextant at the shore.

Classes will begin on Monday, Nov. 6, and will continue on Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for six more weeks.

Students in “Finding and Keeping a Job” will learn current techniques for conducting a successful search for a job and for making the most of a new job. Classes will begin Nov. 9, and will continue on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for four more weeks.

“Purchasing and Inventory Control” is for employees of small-to-medium-sized businesses who need basic information about the management of purchasing and the controlling of inventories. Classes will begin Nov. 6, and will continue on Mondays from 7 to 9:35 p.m. for six more weeks. For more information, call the Community Services office.

Cost, Fashion Combined

NEW YORK (UPI) — Regina Kravitz, a young designer of pace-setting sportswear, knows how to translate the high chic approach so prevalent today into realistic and low prices.

In her collection for the current spring-summer 1979 fashion showing in New York, she uses interesting and offset fabrics such as lino mesh and crash silk, as well as cotton chevron, tissue faille and corded charmeuse. Light-weight cotton, chenille is no longer relegated to bed spreads. Here it becomes glamorous and sexy, along with cotton sheeting, for amusing beach clothes.

Each group coordinates with the others. The ordinary camisole is cut like a slip top, with deep V front and back, wrapped and tied over the side with the same side wrapping used in a melon-shaped skirt. There are easy, jackets with new small collars and apron skirts with double shirttails.

Some pants are cut full in the hips, tapered and side buttoned at the ankle. Very new looking are pants with tiny cuffs, plus shirt jackets with raglan yokes and padded shoulders.

Colors include naturals, cream, bronze, blue, black and white on white jacquard.

Standouts are the sexy sarong wrap dress with bare back and buttoned on one shoulder in lino mesh, the cotton chevron flanged and padded shouldered sleeveless slim cut over a melon shade slip top and cuffed pants; and some charmeuse separates in a Meissen porcelain print. The skirts are side wrapped and belted in corded charmeuse and slit high on the side.

Last but not least is a black cotton chenille sheath with a low V baring the back. It reeks of glamour on its own or worn as a tunic over blouson shorts or pants.

The prices begin at $36 and go to $110. Kravitz is right on target all the way with this well thought out collection that should be very popular.

Concert Honors Israel

held Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. at the Hartford Hilton ballroom.

Conductor of the Greater Hartford Youth Orchestra and concertmaster of the Connecticut Opera Orchestra, Lurie's performance will also be in honor of Rosalie H. Smith who will be given the Woman of Valor Award during the luncheon.

Lurie is a former visiting professor and founder of the orchestra at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. He has performed with conductors Bernard Bernstein, Charles Munch, Arthur Fiedler, Arthur Winograd, Fritz Mahler and Moshe Paranon. He has been soloist and guest conductor with the Hartford Symphony and the Hartford Summer Symphony. He has concentrated in foreign countries. He lives with his wife and their two children in West Hartford.

Lurie will be accompanied on the piano by Inna Gotman, a graduate student at Hartt College.

Admission to the fashion show-luncheon is by purchase of an Israel Bond, which is used to help Israel's economic life, including the fashion industry.

For further information and reservations, call the Women's Division, State of Israel Bonds, 740 N. Main St., West Hartford, 236-4523.

Cancer Society Cited for Goal

MANCHESTER — The Manchester unit of the American Cancer Society has received an award for reaching its crusade goal of $50,000 during 1978. The unit was also cited for achieving 124 percent increase over last year's goal, the largest percentage increase in the Connecticut Division.

Manchester was one of five ACS units that reached their crusade goals. Awards were presented recently at the Connecticut Division's annual meeting in Wallingford.

The Manchester unit has met its goal every year since 1967 except 1975. The unit's goal for 1979 is about $4,000.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

Before my recent trip to Germany, I decided to buy one of those "organizer" pocketbooks. I did, and I've never been so disorganized in my life.

First of all, I couldn't open the "easy-to-open" clasp, which caused some consternation on the part of not-patient customs officials. Then inside, I came to the zipped compartments.

I tried. I put my passport and airline ticket in one, my American Express travel checks in another, and my little black address book (actually it's blue) in another. Would it be so easy to find about five compartments to fill? So, my rose-colored lipsticker, my pen and pencil and a pad of notepaper, all had separate compartments, and I still had a couple to go.

Especially exciting was the snap-on key chain. I was so tickled till I realized that when I left home, realistically I should leave the car, garage and house keys. There was without a thing to snap-on.

I tried to find a pocketbook until the first time I had to open my pocketbook, under pressure that is. Like at the airport, going through immigration and finally with (as I mentioned before) the not-to-patient customs officials.

I didn't know which zipper compartment anything was in. I pulled out my ticket, he scowled, I immediately scrambled to another compartment and beamed as I presented him my passport. He wanted my customs declaration explaining just what I had purchased for my $33.10.

Hey, I'm not knocking "organizer" pocketbooks. They're great. But, only if you are organized yourself.

Doing Well
For those of you who have been kind enough to inquire, my dad is doing fine. Well, as fine as an ornary, restless Connecticut Yankee can who is confined to a convalescent home for a couple more weeks can do. Since his hip operation a few weeks ago he has made great strides (if you'll pardon the expression) and is using a walker alternating with a cane to walk. He is currently at the Silver Lane Pavilion in East Hartford where he is looking forward to having him home soon.

We'll have to watch him though. He already has plans for pulling up the garden this fall. Guess, it's true — you can't keep a good man down.

No Fish Story
The bluefish are running, but Fred Levitt and his son, Ron, of Oxford Street, are catching them.

An avid fisherman, Fred is really reeling them in and I'm grateful, 'cause he passed along a couple of prize catches to me.

Actually I like fishing. It's putting that slimy bait on the hook and taking that wiggly fish off that scares me; the in-between part is fine.

Anyway, when Fred's wife, Mary, called and asked me if I wanted some fish I said "yes." After dragging the "slightly smaller than a whale" fish out of my back of my car and plopping them on my kitchen table, I began to wonder if I'd made a mistake. That, plus the fact that the men in my house (who can clean fish weren't home. But, my daughter came to the rescue. She called a friend who came armed with his trusty knife, and the job was accomplished.

The end result was delicious. In fact, so delicious that when they called again Sunday I again said "yes," and have a freezer partially full of bluefish.

Haloween
The cutest Halloween greeting I've spied is on a card and pictures two little trick-or-treaters walking toward a house just as a long hairy arm reaches out to place a sign on the door.

It was then and still is the number one problem, but Mr. Carter apparently chose to ignore it for the past 20 months.

Campaign promises are easily made and even more easily forgotten.

In this day and age of runaway inflation, promises relating to it should not be just words to obtain votes.

Family Planning Topic Of Weekend Workshop
Natural family planning will be the subject of a weekend workshop conducted by the Couple to Couple League (CCL) on Dec. 9 and 10 at St. Therese's Parish Hall in Granby.

The method taught by the league is a system of fertility awareness in which several symptoms of female fertility are used in a cross-checking way for the greatest reliability and confidence.

The workshop will be conducted by Bill and Kathy Siddons of Manchester. The Siddons, CCL certified instructors, have been teaching natural family planning for three years.

As an organization, the league dates back to the fall of 1971 when John and Sheila Kippley teamed up with Dr. Ronald Prem, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Minnesota School of Medicine to form CCL. The non-profit league describes itself as an interfaith organization dedicated to providing education about natural family planning.

In the Service

Navy Machinist's Mate Fireman
Apprentice Francis X. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Murphy of 131 Lakewood Circle, is currently on an extended deployment in the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean.

He is assigned to the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, homeported in Alameda, Calif. The one month, routine excursion into the Indian Ocean is in keeping with U.S. policy of conducting naval operations in international waters and with previously announced intentions to operate ships periodically in the Indian Ocean. A port visit is scheduled in Perth, Australia during the cruise. Following the Indian Ocean cruise, his squadron will continue its deployment with the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

A 1977 graduate of East Catholic High School, Murphy joined the Navy in August 1977.

Cheryl Latulippe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Latulippe of 35 Allan Drive, Vernon, has enlisted in the Air Force.

Airman Latulippe, a 1978 graduate of Coventry High School, selected a position in the General Career field and departed for basic training Oct. 28.

After completing six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Texas, she is scheduled to receive technical training for which transferrable college credits will be granted.

College Notes
The Goucher College Alumnae Club of Central Connecticut and the college admissions office are co-sponsoring an open house for college-bound women and their parents. Next, 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the Roberts Center at Kingswood-Oxford School, West Hartford.

Alumnae, faculty, staff and students will be present to discuss life on and off campus and in the classrooms.

For further information, contact Jeanne C. Kovach at 321-7722.

Todd Hewey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hewey of 327 W. Middle Turnpike, has been chosen to play the part of Papa, the beggar in "Fiddler on the Roof" to be presented this fall by the Goucher College Players in Wenham, Mass.

Hewey is a sophomore history major at the college and a graduate of Manchester High School.

Opinion Promises Should Be Kept, Not Just Made

President Carter's latest attack on curbing inflation is about 20 months late according to his promises of the 1976 election campaign.

Inflation should have been the problem which he attacked first and effectively.

In 1976 during the New Hampshire Presidential Primary and later during the nationwide campaign, Carter told voters inflation was the number one problem in the country.

Not only did he tell voters of the problem, he openly criticized the Ford administration's inability to stop or curb it.

It was then and still is the number one problem, but Mr. Carter apparently chose to ignore it for the past 20 months.

Campaign promises are easily made and even more easily forgotten.

In this day and age of runaway inflation, promises relating to it should not be just words to obtain votes.

Other Editors say:
The Kings of economic policy in Washington are showing new concern about a problem that threatens to become chronic.

No — not inflation or rising taxes, chronic though these seem to be. The new concern is over American productivity, or, the average output of goods and services per hour of labor. Productivity is being seen increasingly as a critical index of our economic health. Of late, it hasn't been growing much at all; hence, the concern.

When productivity lags, it means fewer goods, which fuels inflation — as do the unit pricing costs that mean higher prices. Slipping productivity hurts the competitive position of U.S. goods abroad and crimps U.S. growth generally.

G. William Miller, the federal reserve board chairman, has the solution: reform of burdensome regulatory regulations; tax policies that will encourage investment to modernize industrial plants; and cooperation from labor unions in adapting to modern technology. It's a tall order that President Carter should wrestle.

Thoughts

The famous Russian novelist, Tolstoy, once put the view of the plain person very succinctly in a short story. The tale involves distribution of land to tenant farmers who were told that they could claim as much land for themselves as they could walk around in a day. One farmer paced himself and circles a considerable piece of land without oversteering himself and without violating the time limit. Another man, however, lags after as much land as he can get. He ran all day over hill and valley always seeking a more treasure — a well — a creek — a mountain that he wanted to own. As evening approached, he pushed on, forgetting that he would have to return to the starting point. Finally, sweating and anxious in his selfishness, the farmer drops dead of overexertion. "For what does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his gains?" (Matt. 16:26)

Congress: Let's Make A Deal

By LEE RODERICK
Herald Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — One of the curiosities of American politics shows up dramatically in this year's Senate race in Texas, pitting Democrat Bob Krueger against incumbent GOP Sen. John Tower.

As of the first of October, 46 special interest groups had made campaign contributions to both men.

These groups, according to Federal Election Commission records, have given at least $79,395 to Tower and $32,775 to Krueger. They include oil and natural gas interests and organizations representing consumers as diverse as automobiles, banking and medicine. The 46 groups include such bluechipers as the General Electric Co., General Motors, U.S. Steel Corp., Texaco Inc., and International Paper Co.

Time was when powerful individuals and organizations backed a political candidate to help get the best one elected. Sadly, that often is no longer the case. Now they bet on both horses in the race, not in the interest of good government, but to ensure they have a friend in the winner's circle, no matter the outcome.

"This [Texas] is another classic demonstration of special interest groups using campaign contributions to invest in public officials," said Fred Wertheimer, senior vice president of Common Cause, the citizens lobby group. "It couldn't be clearer the interest groups are covering themselves with both candidates in order to protect their political investments."

Following enormous and blatant abuses of the political system in the 1972 presidential election, Congress was moved to take the nation's highest office off the auction block. It passed a bill providing public financing of presidential campaigns — a system that, by most accounts, worked very well in 1976. But big-money interests continue to control Congress.

South Africa's Border War

By WILLIAM CAMPBELL
THE OPERATIONAL AREA, OWAMBOLAND, Northern Namibia (UPI) — South Africans call it "a crusade against communism."

Army officers call it "an anti-insurgency operation needed to protect our border."

And SWAPO guerrillas simply call it "a war against South Africa."

Either way South Africa's Namibia border patrol is a full-scale military operation.

Heavily armed and specially trained troops patrol the Angola border in mine-proof armored personnel carriers that resemble something out of "Star Wars."

Helicopter gunships fly low over the dusty Owambo bush looking for anything that might be a SWAPO camp or sniper position.

Unofficial estimates indicate that well over 10,000 combat-ready South African troops are busy along the Namibia-Angola border in a crack military operation aimed at trying to keep several thousand Cuban-trained SWAPO guerrillas out of Namibia.

The army has dug in in Owamboland, a semi-desert range that is a homeland for over 300,000 Owambo tribesmen. Sprawling Owamboland straddles a 200-mile border with Angola.

For years guerrillas from Sam Nujoma's South West Africa Peoples Organization (SWAPO) have been recruiting Owambo tribesmen and schoolboys for military training at border camps in Angola and then sending the fighters back into Namibia. During the last five years SWAPO guerrillas have killed at least 25 South African troops, a score of important Owambo tribal leaders and the chief of the Herero tribe. They have also claimed responsibility for a string of industrial sabotage operations deep within Namibia.

"We won't let these terrorists run around the country like they are doing in Rhodesia," a young army officer said. "They are killing their own people, so we are up here protecting the Owambo natives as well as the whites down south."

Many of the Owambo people will admit they are glad that the troops are in the area. A rash of SWAPO operations and landmine explosions that have killed a number of Owambos has frightened tribesmen who don't support the SWAPO party.

"These white men watch us hurt and keep the SWAPOs from taking us at night," one old Owambo mineworker explained. "Some of the schoolboys don't like them but maybe they are SWAPO, too. You don't know anymore who SWAPO is."

But some Owambos feel that the army is there only to protect the Owambos who support the pro-South African DTA party. "The army won't stop a DTA Owambo from hurting a peaceful SWAPO," an Owambo clerk said.

The South African operation in Owambo is no secret. South Africa radio has a special program called "Boys on the Border" where relatives send a request for the army in Owambo.

"And the next song is for Timmy on the border from mom, dad, and sis. They say that they are proud of you, be careful, and say your prayers."

The army has overwhelmed the Owambo towns of Oshakati and Ondangwa. The Ondangwa airport is now an air force base protected with a 12-foot dirt wall lined with sand-filled 50 gallon oil drums and posted with sandbag machinegun nests.

Every day dozens of Leopard and Hippo mine-proof vehicles loaded with young, subarmed troops leave the Ondangwa area and disappear down dusty roads for base camps along the border.

Six months ago South African troops launched a direct attack against SWAPO training camps in Angola. Since then, reported SWAPO activity in Owambo has been described as light.

But as the proposed South African-backed December elections draw

Irish Criticized

To the Editor: The Town of Manchester Fire Fighters Union Local 1579 wishes to criticize the public comments made by Wallace Irish Jr., deputy fire marshal of the Eighth Utilities District and member of the Republican State Central Committee.

Mr. Irish should realize that since he is involved with the district fire department his comments political or otherwise, reflect on that body.

Mr. Irish's recent accusations are based solely on his own personal beliefs and not on fact. As a direct result, he is putting a severe strain on the already fragile working relationship that now exists between the Town and District Fire Departments. Fire Fighters Union Manchester can ill afford any such emotional and irresponsible comments. The safety of the people of Manchester must always come first and the town maintains two separate fire departments, everyone must strive to achieve harmony and a good working relationship.

We look forward to Mr. Irish's positive statements in the future.

This effort will go a long way in helping to repair a damaged relationship.

members voting against it had received a total of $101,250 from the American Medical Association since 1973.

Of the 21 voting for the cost containment bill, 16 had also received AMA money since 1975, but a comparatively paltry $16,109. It is estimated the bill could have saved consumers $27 billion over the next five years.

Item: In August 1977, the House Merchant Marine Committee approved a bill to benefit the maritime industry (the cargo preference bill) by a vote of 31-5. Twenty-four of the 31 voting for the bill had received a total of $82,263 in contributions from maritime unions in their 1976 campaigns.

Of the five voting against it, three received no contributions from the unions and the remaining two got $500 each. But high-level administration officials opposed the bill, saying it was inflationary and unnecessary, and — in a rare defer for big money — the full House killed the legislation.

Item: Thirty-two of the 36 members of the House Education and Labor Committee received some $500,000 from organized labor over a three-year period. Thirty-eight of the 46 members of the House Agriculture Committee got $381,651 from dairy groups over the same period of time.

And the list goes on ad nauseam.

Perhaps now it is easier to understand the recent 11th-hour spectacle of Congress which, in its headlong rush to adjourn so members could go home and campaign, passed over 100 bills within a few frenzied days.

Many of those bills were blatantly written for — and sometimes even by — special interest lobbyists who had paid for the privilege.

But it goes without saying that those who will pay in the end are the American taxpayers. What can be done about it? A start would be to elect members to Congress in November who are not in the hip pocket of any special interest, and who are likely to favor needed campaign spending reforms.

If unsure of which candidate measures up, remember that in the 1978 congressional election, incumbents received three times as much special interest money as challengers. When it's a tossup, a good rule of thumb is to vote against whoever holds the office.

near the army prepared for a new wave of SWAPO activity.

Pro-South African Owambo chiefs are getting full protection from the army. In the past the chiefs have been a main target for SWAPO snipers.

But most observers believe that no matter what happens between the army and SWAPO, the Owambo people will be caught in the middle of a political tug-of-war that may erupt into full-scale guerrilla fighting.

"It's a damned if you do — damned if you don't" situation for these Owambo people come the December elections," an English mine technician pointed out.

"The night before the election SWAPO will knock off some Owambos and spread the word not to vote. Then the (South African) army will roll into their villages and take them to the polls.

"One thing is for sure. Owambo is going to be a very unhappy place for a long, long time," the old miner said.

Departments Prepared For Halloween Pranks

MANCHESTER — Tonight is Halloween, when children dress up and go trick-or-treating and mingle with the ghosts and goblins.

Tonight, also, the police and fire departments will be prepared to handle problems that often result from Halloween pranks.

The Eighth Utilities District Fire Department of Manchester will station its trucks throughout the district so that any emergencies requiring their services may be quickly handled.

Chief Joseph Rivosa of the Town Fire Department in Manchester said that more personnel will be on duty tonight. He said that he and the duty officer will be on patrol throughout the area.

Cap. Henry Miner, patrol division commander of the Manchester Police Department said more police officers will be assigned to patrol duty. Cap. Miner advised the youngsters going out trick or treating to wear highly visible clothing and to be careful of street crossings. He also advises drivers to be on a careful lookout for children, particularly near leaf piles where children often have a tendency to hide.

He also urges all those who collect candy not to eat any of it before taking it home and having it checked out by their parents. For further safety precautions, Cap. Miner said all youngsters going out tonight should be accompanied by a parent or a responsible adult.

In East Hartford, Officer Al Kerling said the police are doing the "usual things." Patrols will be added on Main Street and Burnside Avenue, and additional officers will be assigned around the schools. He also urged that children be careful crossing the streets and travel with an adult, and to check all candy and fruit from home under the light before eating any of it.

Aerialscope Helps Save Half of Barn

MANCHESTER — Eighth District firefighters were able to save about half of a storage barn and part of its contents with a quick response and the help of the district's new aerialscope fire truck Monday night. The fire was the result of possible arson, according to officials.

The barn was engulfed in flames when firefighter Ray Frederickson spotted it from the nearby Lingard Cabinet Company about 8:20 p.m. Eighth District Fire Chief Ted Lingard was also working in his company at the time. The barn is located at the rear of 30 Woodland St.

About 30 district firefighters who were drilling at the District Firehouse on Main Street responded to the call with three engines, the rescue and aerialscope trucks. An additional 20 firefighters responded from throughout the district.

Lingard said the fire was knocked down in about five minutes and was under control by 9:24 p.m. The aerialscope truck was used to shoot water over the trees from a distance of about 30 feet from the barn, which was not easily accessible for fire equipment.

A 1929 antique truck and some other old farm equipment and part of the hay in the barn were destroyed. The total size of the barn was about 20 by 50 feet. The barn is owned by Calvin Taggart, superintendent of the Eighth District Public Works Department. The hay was deposited in the barn last Saturday, police said.

Lingard said he believes the fire was set because the barn was unoccupied with no electrical connections. He said there was evidence recently that youths had been in the unlocked barn.

The investigation of the fire has been turned over to the Manchester Police Department.

The Town Fire Department's Company 5 from the Buckland Fire Station was on standby at the Eighth District Firehouse during the barn fire. Vernon fire department also stood by in Vernon.

History-Making Day at Cheney, Soccer Squad Tournney Qualifier

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Editor
There was history made at Cheney Tech soccer field yesterday as the Beaver booters for the first time in school history qualified for the State Tournament with a 2-0 blanking of East Hampton High yesterday.

The Technem wind up with a 6-2 mark, gaining post-season play the hard way by having to win their last two to qualify.

"I'm pretty happy about it. It was a long time coming," pointed out happy sixth-year Tech Coach Manny Gonzalez. "I felt I had the team to do it last year but we didn't."

Cheney went 5-2-2 a year ago. "I didn't expect it this year. I didn't think we had it."

Gonzales was hesitant at the outset of the season as five youngsters who played well in the summer league, including four whom he felt would fill starting roles, elected not to play. Sophomores, however, turned in fine performances and at least one senior, Mike Dunn, did too.

"The improvement of Michael Dunn from last year to this year is absolutely phenomenal," praised Gonzalez.

It was two goals off the foot of senior Mike Gagner which spelled the difference. Gagner popped in his first goal of the game and fourth of the year at the 11:43 mark of the opening half assisted by Doug Landry.

Landry, moved up to the forward line when the Beavers had difficulty scoring, took a swipe at the ball but it deflected off an East Hampton defender. Gagner banged it home from the loose ball. He picked up Bellingher keeper Andy Tupper.

Halfback Lou LaBrec set up the insurance marker early in the second half. He picked up a loose ball around midfield and dribbled around several defenders. He finally let loose with an apparently easy drive at Tupper. The East Hampton keeper had it in his hands but somehow the ball slipped through his fingers with Gagner on the spot to drill it into the empty cage. The goals gave Gagner a team-leading total of five tallies.

The Bellingers, 2-1-2, had a shot of coming close shortly thereafter as they were awarded a penalty kick. Shaun Donovan's drive, however, was right at Beaver sophomore keeper Bill Moreau who made the save to preserve his fourth shutout of the season and the team's sixth of the year.

Gonzales had worries about his defense but the return of senior Ben Hennigan, who missed a year because of knee problems, solidified the backfield. "Hennigan was the key back there," voiced Gonzalez, "and the sophomores (Walt Kostrzewa, Dave Nowak) have learned to cover for each other."

"The biggest thing is now we're in post-season play. It was the thing we were thinking of when we realized we had a chance. We'll have practices this week as if the season is about to start."

"The second season" is about to begin — and for the first time, Cheney will be part of the action.

Reunion Successful

Stories and games of another day were swapped in to the wee hours of the morning last Saturday when the Manchester Fast Pitch Softball League of the mid and late 1960s gathered for a reunion dinner.

The two men who proposed the move and termed it most successful when more than 175 men and women turned out at the Manchester Army & Navy Club were Ollie Jarvis and Cliff Casey Magnuson.

Many of the men who started in the town's only softball league at the time 30 years ago looked like they could still get out and give top-flight performances like Don Gentilore, Red Gavello, Pat Anello, Henry and Benny Gryzb, Lee Fracchia and Ed Savino to skim the surface.

The group had no bigger ticket pusher than Jeff Koelsch and his efforts were noted while one of the night's highlights was a solo by Harold Binks, accompanied by the always popular and most entertaining Dubaldo Brothers' orchestra.

Credits for keeping the show moving belong to Tom Conran who turned in a top-grade performance with those called upon speaking at a minimum.

Gates Rates Salute

Five-star salute is aimed in the direction of Steve Gates who stepped in as cross country coach at Manchester Community College this fall.

The former student at Manchester High and Eastern Connecticut State College runner reported he had just signed candidates out for the squad and "not more than five for any one practice."

Still active in New England long distance competition, Gates said he uncovered one young man with a lot of potential, Mike Martin. The fine-tuning of the team will be done by Auster reports, and is in select company with Coach, the finest back at the school ever produced, and Baleano, the only other to post a gain in 1,000 or more yards in one season.

East Hartford Tops

East Hartford High captured the East L boys' cross country Eastern Sectional yesterday at Eastern Connecticut State College while cross-town Penney High qualified for the state Class LL Meet with a seventh place finish.

East Hartford had a team total of 56 points to finish first of Xavier High of Middletown which had 74 points. St. Bernard was third at 131 points.

Penney accumulated 206 points to wind up in the top eight in the team standings to advance the Black Knights to Friday's state Class LL Meet at Timberlin Golf Course in Berlin.

Steve Brennan took second place in state Class M Meet at Timberlin Golf Course in Berlin.

Cheney Tech as a team didn't qualify but freshman Ron Schulz qualified for the Class M Meet finishing in the top 25, taking 22nd placement.

Manchester had a team total of 49 points to finish with Newburgh Free Academy with 127 points. Finch was third at 129 points with four CCLL schools — Simsbury, Conard, Penney and Wethersfield — also qualifying for Friday's Class LL

Penalty Kicks Provide Catholic with 2-2 Tie

Two second-half goals two minutes apart, both penalty kicks, gave East Catholic a 2-2 tie with New London High in soccer action yesterday at MCC's Cougar Field.

The visiting Whalers jumped on top at the 20:30 mark of the first half as David Nasser scored the goal.

It remained that way until the 10-minute point of the second half when Kyle Ayer drilled home the 12-yard penalty shot to knot the game.

Ayer did the honors two minutes later to give East a 2-1 advantage. It was the sophomore's eighth and ninth goals of the campaign.

New London came back to tie on a Nasser marker at the 30-minute mark.

"It was a very aggressive game with numerous fouls," noted East Head Coach Tom Malin, who added New London drew two yellow cards and one ejection. "Overall, I was pleased with our ability to come back after being down."

The Eagles, now 4-8-3 for the season, outlook New London, 33-28. East keeper Mike Ciszewski was credited with 15 saves. East had 14 corner kicks compared to five for New London.

East concludes its 1978 season Wednesday at Cougar Field against Newington High in a 3:15 start.

Field Hockey Result

Manchester High girls' squad took to the field for the 13th time yesterday in Enfield against home-standing Fermi High and for the fifth time this season had to settle for a draw as the clubs drew 2-2.

The Silks' Towners, tournament-bound for the first time ever, stand at 5-3-5 and conclude regular season play Wednesday at home against Windham High.

The Indians struck quickly with Lisa Schwartz pushing in the opening tally with the tilt 10 minutes off. The locals continued to press the attack but didn't add to its advantage until just before the half when Mary Neuhelb slammed the ball into the cage from about 15 yards out.

Manchester goalie Lois Ann Diana made several fine stops in the first half to prevent Fermi bids but had to be replaced when she was injured falling on her stick. She sustained an injury to her right hand.

Leah Secondo got Fermi on the board two minutes into the second half and then later added a disputed goal. The Falcons' had a free hit outside the circle which was directed to Secondo who hit goalward. It was ruled to have gone in with Manchester players protesting it landed outside the cage, where it was picked up, noted Manchester Head Coach Mary Faigant.

Manchester and Fermi played to a 0-0 darkness-shortened stalemate in jockey action. Jennifer Medina and Kelly Ray played well for the young Indians, now 4-3-5 for the season.

Indian Jayvee Gridders Bow

Manchester High jayvee football team dropped a 20-6 verdict to Wethersfield High yesterday.

The Silks' Towners, now 1-4-1 for the season, accumulated 186 yards primarily on the running of Bob Gentile and Mark Scarito. The latter tallied the young Indians' only touchdown on a 66-yard run.

Shawn Spears, Steve Harley and John Dubois played well defensively for Manchester.

Tribe Jayvee Kickers Victors

Manchester High jayvee soccer team blanked Fermi High of Enfield at the locals' field yesterday, 3-0.

Alex Britnell scored twice and Ralph Daniels scored once. The Indians, Sparky Laegis, Bob Monaco and goalie Matt Petersen played well for Manchester.

Manchester Kickers Outscore Fermi, 4-1

Moving a notch up in the standings yesterday was the Manchester High soccer team with a 4-1 triumph over CCIL foe Fermi High at Memorial Field.

The victory by the Indians, 10-4, boosted them into fourth place in the league standings past Simsbury High, 9-4-1, which dropped a 2-1 decision to Hall Monday. The win by Hall clinched the league title for the Warriors.

The Silks' Towners scored single goals in each quarter. Pete Krupp put the locals on the board at the 11:03 mark of the opening stanza as he went down with fire, dribbled around a Falcon fullback and fired into the upper right hand corner of the net. It was Krupp's fourth goal of the season.

Tom Roach made it 2-0 at 15:40 of the second period as he headed home a rebound of a Jim Glubosky drive which glanced off the crossbar. It was Roach's sixth tally of the campaign.

Jeff Lombardo made it 3-0 with his 15th goal of the season at the 15:59 juncture of the third canter. An indirect free kick was taken by the Indians with the ball slid over to Lombardo. He boomed it past a Fermi wall into the cage from about 15 yards out.

Bill Frattolillo capped the local scoring with a fine individual effort in the final quarter. He gained possession of the ball about 25 yards away from the cage, dribbled and then shot from about 10 yards out into the back of the twine. It was Frattolillo's third goal of the season.

Fermi, 0-14, averted the shutout on a John Winch tally at the 13:04 mark of the final period. "There wasn't much improvement over last week but it had to get a club up for a team like Fermi," remarked Manchester Head Coach Dick Danielson. Fermi has never beaten Manchester and celebrated after the Winch score inasmuch as it was the first ever against the locals by a Falcon club.

Police Report

Manchester
Two persons were arrested on reckless driving charges in connection with driving the same vehicle Monday on New Bolton Road.

Arrested were Migue A. Mollet, 21, of Oak St. and Kathy Anne White, 21, of 875 Main St. Police said Mollet was observed driving and when he saw police attempted to switch places with Ms. White, causing the car to go out of control. Mollet was also charged with operating while his license is suspended. Court date for both is Nov. 14.

Nunzio L. Spacone, 40, of 287 Parker St. was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor Monday night. Court date is Nov. 7.

Donald E. Fee, 26, of Hartford was charged with third-degree larceny by possession on a warrant issued Monday. He was released on a non-surety bond for court Nov. 13.

Man Charged In Car Theft

MANCHESTER — Joseph P. Lyman, 22, of no certain address was arrested on several charges after he was involved in an accident in a stolen vehicle early today.

Police said Lyman had stolen the 1978 Chevrolet from a Charles Drive garage. He was seen by police driving on Center Street and was pursued at a high rate of speed about 2:30 a.m. until the car left the road at the Exaco Station on Center Street and collided with a stop sign, and ripped off a guy wire to an electric pole, causing a power outage. The car continued across the median and sideswiped another pole before coming to rest, police said.

Lyman was transported to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was examined and released. There was heavy damage to the car.

Lyman was charged with second-degree burglary, and second-degree larceny in connection with the theft of the car. He was also charged with operating while his license is under suspension and reckless driving in connection with the accident.

Second-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny charges were also lodged against him in connection with a burglary on Flower Street. Also early today, he was held on $1,000 bond for court today.

Man To Spend Tonight Braving Haunted House

United Press International
For Dave Rodgers, Halloween was a night of reading "The Invisible Man" among the restless ghosts of his haunted slave house in Equality, Ill.

For the First Family, it was Carol Channing and some polio-ridden white House lyrics from "Hello Dolly."

For children in Mexico, it was graveyards and grinning candy skulls on the Day of the Dead, and for the government of Nevada, it was 700 pounds of popcorn and four hours of assorted small spoons on the front steps of the executive mansion.

It was trick or treat for Harry Houdini in Marshall, Mich. — the trick being to induce the late magician's ghost to come to the party. The treat, a plate of hot and bagels, Houdini's favorite snack.

Rogers, a 26-year-old Harrisburg, Ill., disc jockey vowed to spend Monday night alone in the Old Slave House, against the ghosts that dwell there would drive him screaming into the streets by 1 a.m.

The old mansion, now a museum, held the sound of whimpering and one housed slaves forced to labor in the salt works of its builder, John Hart Crenshaw. The current owner, George Sisk, says at least 150 challengers of Rodgers' stripe have haunted on No. one, he said, ever has braved the sound of whimpering and sound of spectral forms for a full night.

Two Markets Sued For Opening Sunday

MANCHESTER — Two local store owners have been sued for remaining open on Sunday in an action filed by a food store chain.

Both Devanney and Crispino were served with warrants earlier this month for being open Sunday. Their cases have not been heard yet in court.

Dean Says Students Dumb at Selections

NEW YORK (UPI) — College students are dumb at selecting courses and need more direction, a top Harvard dean told the 1978 National Forum of the College Board Monday.

Henry Rosovsky also said students make "many poor choices" and "don't know what they don't know."

"You can't just give an 18 or 19-year-old a catalog and expect him to make the right choice," the Dean said.

Rosovsky, head of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, said curriculum reforms at Harvard will attempt to put more structure into undergraduate schooling.

He noted that students of the last 10 to 15 years at most colleges have not been getting the guidance they need to make "educational persons."

"Students come to college and say they can't stand science or that all humanities are creeps," he said.

By requiring students to be exposed to things that the faculty decides is "good for them," the hope is that "we will turn out educated persons who have a better understanding of many things."

He referred to stay in Cambridge, Mass., and help with undergraduate curriculum reforms underway.

Shake-ups in undergraduate requirements are in progress at many universities and colleges in an effort to overcome the overspecialization syndrome — concentrating most study in a narrow field.

A "serious encounter" with moral and ethical issues is one of the major shortcomings of most college educations these days, according to Rosovsky.

"It may be that the most significant quality in educated persons is the informed judgment which enables them to make discriminating moral choices," the Dean said.

Must be able to think and write clearly and effectively. Expository writing is required.

Must be informed with the aesthetic and intellectual experience of literature and the arts, with history as a mode of understanding present problems, and the processes of human affairs, with concepts and analytic techniques of modern social science, with philosophical analysis.

Must be exposed to foreign languages and cultures to expand the range of cultural experience.

Must achieve depth in some field of knowledge.

Industry Hit Hard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American textile and apparel industry has been hard hit by unemployment because "imports have increased their share of the U.S. market by 30 percent in just the past decade," according to the American Textile Manufacturers Institute.

In testimony recently before the Senate Subcommittee on International Trade, industry representatives reported that the unemployment rate averaged 7.6 percent in textiles and 10 percent in apparel in 1977 compared with the 6.7 percent rate for all manufacturing industries in the U.S.

The ATMI testimony came in support of legislation intended to supply safeguards for the textile and apparel industry which is the largest manufacturing employer of labor in America, providing jobs for some 2.5 million workers nationally.

Eastern Sectionals Won by Tribe, Ed Lemieux Individual Champion

Defending state Class LL boys' cross country champ Manchester High captured the Eastern Sectionals yesterday at Eastern Connecticut State College.

East Catholic, without junior standout John Clifford who is out for the rest of the season with a stress fracture in his foot, put forth a strong effort taking third place in an hour team field to qualify for Friday's state Class M Meet at Timberlin Golf Course in Berlin.

Cheney Tech as a team didn't qualify but freshman Ron Schulz qualified for the Class M Meet finishing in the top 25, taking 22nd placement.

Manchester had a team total of 49 points to finish with Newburgh Free Academy with 127 points. Finch was third at 129 points with four CCLL schools — Simsbury, Conard, Penney and Wethersfield — also qualifying for Friday's Class LL

Meet. Central Valley Conference champ Rockville High also advanced in the LL field taking sixth place with 150 points.

Ken Colliton led the East effort with a 12th place finish with time of 17:48. Jay O'Keefe of E.O. Smith took individual honors with a 16:50 clocking. Dave Kittredge was 13th for the Eagles, one second behind Colliton, with Steve Funk 34th. Bob Fitzgerald 35th and Ben Patrick 46th to complete the East starting.

Schulz turned in a 17:58 clocking to win 25th place in Class M race and qualify for further action. Other Tech finishers were Chris Beaches 33rd, Tom Martin 89th, Woody Holland 94th, Paul Daniels 96th and Ken Pitts 98th. Cheney wound up with a 9:4 mark in dual meet competition, its first winning season since 1974.

Smokey Joe's Bar 'Grad' Responds

ATLANTA (UPI) — The folks in Smokey Joe's bar in Philadelphia were whopping it up Monday night. Tim Mazzetti, who was bartending there three weeks ago while dreaming of a shot at pro football, has his wildest dreams fulfilled before a national television audience — including the crowd at Smokey Joe's — when he kicked five field goals to give the Atlanta Falcons a 15-7 upset victory over Los Angeles. "It's the most unbelievable day in my life," exclaimed the 22-year-old Mazzetti in the excited Falcons' dressing room. "I keep asking myself, 'Why do I deserve this?'" Mazzetti's field goals — on kicks of 21, 37, 30, 28 and 37 yards — tied a team record set in 1973 by Nick Mike-Mayer, also against the Rams. They also brought the Falcons back from a 7-0 deficit, boosting Atlanta's record to 5-4 and handing the Rams their second straight loss after seven wins. "The way I felt tonight I couldn't have," said Mazzetti, who beat out two other kickers at a special tryout when the Falcons decided to replace Fred Steinfort three weeks ago. Mazzetti's kicking was the needed boost for the Falcons, who lost star

Again on Eve of Stardom Steve Bartkowski Injured

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bartowski, as was so often the case during his three previous professional seasons, spent the second half standing along the sidelines in his street clothes, his left arm in a sling, watching the Falcons rally behind the five-field-goal kicking of rookie Tim Mazzetti to upset the Rams 15-7. But while Bartkowski rejoiced with his teammates over the victory that kept alive their dream of their first NFL playoff berth, his concern for his own immediate future cast a shadow over that celebration. The Atlanta coach Leeman Bennett, who has said all along that the key to the Falcons' playoff chances rested squarely on the quarterbacking of Steve Bartkowski, stood ashen-faced while the Falcons doctors and trainers rushed out on the field to check on the fallen quarterback. When Bartkowski finally rose to his feet, he was clutching his left arm and he walked slowly off the field and into the Falcons' dressing room for preliminary X-rays. "I'm not sure if Bart has a broken clavicle," said Bennett. "We won't really know until more X-rays are taken, but I feel it's not broken, that he won't be out very long. At least I hope so." Bartkowski's general manager Eddie LeBaron was not quite as optimistic. "We don't think it is as serious as it first appeared," he said. "But, I'd say the chances of him playing again

Tommy John Set to Move Controversy Follows Thomas to Packers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers and veteran left-hander Tommy John apparently are parting company. Negotiations between the 35-year-old John and the National League champions broke off Monday and Bob Cohen, John's attorney, said Dodger President Al Campanis told him the Dodgers would not select John on Friday's free-agent re-draft. John, 35, then listed 10 clubs he would consider. The clubs included Boston, California, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, San Diego, St. Louis and Texas. "In all probability," Campanis said, "we will not claim him on Friday. We don't feel we want to get into bidding war for the services of a player we already have had under contract." "I'm perplexed and I'm disappointed," John said from his home at Yorba Linda, Calif., when asked about the Dodgers' position. "I wasn't disappointed that I won't be able to play for (Manager) Tommy Lasorda next season because I love him and I'm disappointed I won't be able to play with the best 25 guys in baseball — on and off the field — anymore. I'm perplexed about the negotiations. I don't understand the Dodgers' thinking. They didn't calculate I would have a good year and I had an excellent year and I had an excellent playing record and World Series. As a result, the Dodgers were always three or four months behind."

Marshall Awaiting Offers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Mike Marshall, the only consistent relief pitcher for the Minnesota Twins this past season, is trying to decide how much it's worth to him to play for Tompkins manager Gene Mauch. Marshall said earlier this year he signed with the Twins because he wanted to play for Mauch. But Friday he will go through the major league re-entry draft in New York along with 41 other players. He said if he is drafted by a team other than a National League team, he may leave the Twins. The National League is attractive to Marshall, he said Monday, because he hates the designated hitter rule used only in the American League. "I consider it a travesty," he said. Marshall earned a reported $100,000 last year. "Twins' President Calvin Griffith would not comment on Marshall's salary request, but he said the major needs of his club are a left-handed pitcher and a power hitter. "I don't think you are born with good hands. They have to be developed," comments Pearson. "There's also a lot of grace involved. I like to think that wide receiver is one place in the field where you can be kind of an artist." Pearson has caught 265 career receptions (4,415 yards and 22 TDs) and needs only 17 more to move into second place on the Dallas all-time pass receiving charts behind Bob Hayes, the individual who made speed popular different."

Egal, friends, this is the week the "sure thing" bettors get even for the season — um-kumph! There are many excellent, closely matched contests on this week's card, but — kaff — the Hoopie System sees the favorites emerging victorious in each instance — har-rump!

The hot attraction is placed for University Park, Pa.: Penn State, shooting for that elusive national crown, will take on Maryland in a brilliant offensive showdown 4:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. The Nittany Lions outscoring the Terps. Led by senior tailback Steve Nicks (128 yards rushing per game), Maryland has been averaging 27 points per game. But it's a big BUT — with quiet defense. Penn State, an authentic Heisman candidate, the Nittany Lions have chalked up better than 30

Tampa Has Fared Well With Top Draft Picks

SPORTS SLATE

NEW YORK — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers are off and running... and throwing... and sacking opposing quarterbacks largely due to the efforts of their 1978, '77 and '76 first round draft choices.

Tampa Bay is 4-6 on the season and in third place in the NFC Central Division. No longer are people mentioning the 2-8 record, but instead the Bucs are being recognized as a team to be reckoned with in their division. The latest believers are the Chicago Bears, 33-19 victors of Tampa Bay last week.

"Beating the Bears was the biggest victory of the season, but as soon as the game is over your next opponent becomes your most important game," says Tampa Bay Head Coach Tom McCarley.

Three of the major reasons the Buccaneers are playing better football these days are the club's first round draft choices — defensive end Lee Roy Selmon (1978), running back Ricky Bell (1977), and quarterback Doug Williams (1978). Selmon from Oklahoma and Bell from Southern California were also the NFL's top picks the years they were chosen. McCarley has justifiable praise for

Williams, Campbell Headed For 1,000-Yard Campaign

NEW YORK — Miami's Delvin Williams and Houston's Earl Campbell, a pair of American Football Conference newcomers, top the list of six AFC runners who are more than halfway to the 1,000-yard plateau as the 14 teams started the second half of the 1978 season.

Of these players — Williams, Pittsburgh's Frank Harris, Oakland's Marc Epstein — have hit that elite 1,000-yard mark in previous seasons. The three other newcomers — rookie Campbell, Kansas City's Tony Reed, and the New York Jets' Kevin Long — are trying to make the exclusive club for the first time.

Williams, a five-year veteran who was acquired by the Dolphins from the Oakland Raiders, has gained two draft choices during his seven seasons. His total of 2,000 yards follows Brown (58) and Simpson (42) in that category.

Kansas City Coach Marv Levy's decision to switch to the three-back, Wing-T defense has paid off for Reid, who has rushed for 583 yards in 107 attempts. The second-year Reed is averaging 5.4 yards per carry. Williams possesses an extremely strong arm and is turning out to be exactly the type of quarterback McKay wants for his offense. "The way to win in the NFL is to build a good defense first, and then the addition to one or two players on offense, like Doug Williams, can help you develop," McKay says.

Speed Overrated Receiver Claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Drew Pearson is not blazing fast, but the Dallas veteran receiver knows how to use his speed to the greatest advantage and he is one big reason the Cowboys' passing offense is No. 1 in the NFC.

"Speed by itself is so overrated," says Pearson, a free agent signed out of Tulsa in 1973. "Most fast guys don't know how to use their speed. I come out of these punting my arms real hard, acting like I'm going full out, but I'm not. I switch into higher gear later on. Nobody knows how fast I really am."

The 27-year-old, six-year veteran has caught 29 receptions for 442 yards and two touchdowns this season and has extended his consecutive pass-catching streak to 53 games. His style is subtle, not flashy.

"I don't think you are born with good hands. They have to be developed," comments Pearson. "There's also a lot of grace involved. I like to think that wide receiver is one place in the field where you can be kind of an artist."

Windsor Locks' Jinx Over Rams Continues

Rockville High's jinx of never having beaten Windsor Locks on the soccer field continues and the result is the Raiders today are CVC champs.

The Raiders captured the conference title for the sixth time in nine years with a 1-0 win over the Rams to highlight yesterday's game at the stadium. In other area contests, Rock Hill, 4-1; East Hartford High played to a 1-1 tie with Windsor High while the Terras, who captured the COC title, 13-12 overall.

Mike Doran's goal enabled East Hartford High to deadlock Windsor. The Hornets sport a 1-1-1 record. Pete Maznicki's goal lifted Enfield, 11-3, over Penney High, 3-0-1.

South Windsor went to 3-3 with the tie with Suffield.

Coventry, which got off to a fine start and placed third in the Charter Oak Conference standings, continues on hard times as the Patriots lost their fourth in a row. Mike Orcutt tallied for Coventry, now 7-4-2 for the season.

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — Johnny Bench slammed a solo homer and George Foster hit a sacrifice fly Tuesday to back the one-run pitching of Mike LaCoss and lead the touring Cincinnati Reds to a 2-0 victory over the Yomiuri Giants in their third exhibition game in Japan.

The victory was the Reds' second in three games against the Giants, who placed second in the regular season in the Central League.

A crowd of 24,000 saw the game at Maruyama Stadium in Sapporo city on the northern-most island of Hokkaido.

Both teams were scoreless over the first seven innings. In the eighth, Foster hit a sacrifice fly to right to bring in a run. Bench, following Foster, then blasted a homer over

Just Ask

Murray Olderman

By Murray Olderman

Q. In recent years, the sport of baseball has been criticized for the slowness of the game due to player antics and other unnecessary delays. Can you give the logic for taking the time to pitch four baseballs beyond the reach of the batter when it has been demonstrated that the stadium to make more money, but is where the real money is.

A. What is wrong with Ken Stabler this year? The quarterback of the Oakland Raiders seems to be throwing a lot more passes for interceptions than usual. Is he getting 404? — B. Alameda, Calif.

Q. If you consider 32 and a lot of gray in his beard, old. What's affected Stabler more than anything else is change in his supporting cast. Two new offensive linemen, Mickey Marvin and Henry Lawrence (the played part of 77) are new running backs, and a new wide receiver. That's a sizeable transition. Also, Kenny has been operating on a bad knee for a couple of years and isn't nearly as mobile as he used to be. So he's more susceptible to sacks. But in clutch situations, when he's given time to throw, there still isn't a quarterback to match him in effectiveness.

The Cy Young voting was pre-announced. Ron Guidry won the American League and Gaylord Perry in the National League. Perry, a 30-game winner for the San Diego Padres at the age of 40, is the oldest to receive the award in the 23-year history. Early Wynn was 39 when he won it for the White Sox in '59.

Q. If the score is tied, 3-3, in a ball game and it's the bottom of the ninth, two men, how many runs are counted if a batter hits a home run? Is the score 4-3 or 8-3? — Danny Wells, Springfield, Va.

It's 6-3, with the batter given credit for driving the ball out of the park and batting in the two extra runs.

Q. Baseball is NOT the great game it used to be. There are too many "bought" crumbums. I wouldn't walk across the street to watch New York Yankees. How many runs are counted if a batter hits a home run? Is the score 4-3 or 8-3? — Danny Wells, Springfield, Va.

It's 6-3, with the batter given credit for driving the ball out of the park and batting in the two extra runs.

Town Garden Was Success; Plots Yield Bonus Food Crops

COVENTRY — The community garden program offered 48 plots to 30 residents this year. A North River Farm site donated by the University of Connecticut, according to a recent Conservation Commission report.

Last year the theft of the harvest of participants at property belonging to St. Mary's Church stunned the town and received statewide publicity. Local farmers saved the day by donating crops to make up for the lost fruits and vegetables.

The new site has frontage on a major town road, and police kept a close watch this fall as crops ripened. Only a few crows and raccoons made off with a small amount of produce this time.

About half of the plot-owners this year were victims of last year's thievery. They happily reported that the recent crop even exceeded last year's yield. Pumpkins and tomatoes did especially well.

The commission charged $5 for fertilizing and liming each 25 by 25-foot plot, which then yielded about $150 worth of produce. Free seeds were donated by Richard Cole, and the town's volunteer fire department filled water barrels for the farmers.

The conservationists had considered dropping the project after last year's disappointment. But so many participants offered to try again, that the program was continued. It is expected to run again next spring with the university again providing the land.

PZA Action

A five-lot subdivision on Boston Turnpike, applied for by Alfred Heckler, has been approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZA).

Under commission stipulations, the driveway must be constructed to minimize erosion onto the roadway and to meet the standards of the State Department of Transportation.

A request by Orin Miles to alter a driveway at his Old Appleton Road subdivision also was approved by the PZA.

The second suggestion involves bulk wastes or organic material such as tree trunks, concrete wrecks, and hoses, which should be placed in the landfill area or potentially extend the useful life of the site," Padick maintained. It might also produce revenues through the implementation of a "picking charge," he added.

Connell Criticizes Dodd Vote On Program for Home Buyer

VERNON — Thomas Connell, Republican candidate for congress, Second District, said his Democratic opponent, incumbent Christopher Dodd, voted for a program, last July, that would have required people who were buying a home for the first time to go to counseling before they could get an FHA loan.

Connell said that during debates with Dodd, in Middletown and New London and on the radio, Dodd said he was in favor of that program and would vote for it again.

He said during the radio debate Dodd explained that the program would require first-time home buyers to be represented by a lawyer and then said the program would have the federal government pay for the lawyer.

"I agree buying a house is a big enough investment and complicated enough, that until the process can be made simpler, it is a good idea to have a lawyer's help," Connell said.

He added, "However, I do not favor the government requiring that a person have a lawyer or the federal government paying for that lawyer," Connell said.

He said there are a great number of homes bought each year and it would be a costly program. He said multiply the number by legal fees that run at least $150 to $200 per purchase and "it is like giving a $200

Ahearn Terms Party Lever A Boon to Political Hacks

BOLTON — "The party lever is a boon to the political hack and an insult to the intelligence of the voters," Al Ahearn, Democratic candidate for state representative from the 55th District said today.

Ahearn, who has in the past served in the legislature, is seeking to be returned. He is running against Republican incumbent Dorothy Miller. Both are from Bolton.

Ahearn promises, if returned, he will introduce legislation to eliminate the party lever.

"Both political parties are guilty in this matter, politicians from areas where their party is dominant want to keep it. They know it makes it easy for the voter who responds more to a party label than to the individual merits of each candidate," Ahearn said.

He added, "If each voter had to pull an individual lever for the candidate of their choice, there would be fewer party hacks carried in on shir-tails," Ahearn said.

He said that statistics show 70 percent of the voters still pull the party lever in an election. He said they should at least be required to look at the names of the candidates before they vote.

"Both political parties should cease their political hypocrisy on this issue and support it," Ahearn said.

Work by Krut 'Best of Show' At Rockville Public Library

VERNON — A watercolor "Over the Farmington" by Charles F. Krut, was chosen the "Best of Show" at the 22nd annual fall art exhibit of the Tolland County Art Association. The show is open to the public this week at the Rockville Public Library.

A reception and awards ceremony will be held Thursday from 8 to 10 a.m. at the library for members and guests.

Awards for oil paintings were given as follows: Ernest J. Garrot, first place for "Winter Sunset"; Shirley Ellen Reed, second place, "Bar Harbor at Dusk"; and Muriel Parker, third place, "Cows are Curious."

In the acrylics, Thelma Eisenberg took first place for "Flowers"; and Priscilla Souder, second place for "Ghosts of Bigelow Peak."

Natalie K. Pfantstiel won first place for her watercolor, "The Breeze and Iris"; Pat Cook, second, for "Windy Heights"; Priscilla Souder, third, "Cape Porpoise Fantasy"; and Barbara Orlovski, fourth, "The Old Tree."

In the miscellaneous category, including pastels, mixed media, and collage, first place went to Lucille Meierfeld for "Autumn"; second to Joan Burbank for "S and I"; and third to Emma Batz, for "Still Life."

"Egyptian Prince," a sculpture by Sharon Merton took first place in that category and "Woman in Gown," took second place for Georgiana Bourdeau.

The Trudy Lee best floral award went to Carol Gorman for a watercolor, "Copper and Velvet." Four honorable mentions were awarded to Charles Krut, Bridget Reeve, Bonnie Zahner, and Ernest Garrot.

Pictures of Month

Winners of the association's "Picture of the Month" contest have also been named. The winning art work will be on display during November at area banks and libraries.

"Autumn Afternoon in New Hampshire," by Hazel Brown will be at the People's Savings Bank, Tri-City Plaza, Vernon; "Old Church" by Shirley Reed, Society for Savings, Ellington; "Roses," by Mildred Lisk, First Federal Bank in Rockville; "Old Mill," by Lynn Peters, Vernon National Bank, Dart Hill office; "In Praise of Butterflies," by Patricia Cook, Tolland Library.

Also, "Color in October," by Emma Batz, Hall Memorial Library, Ellington; "The Old Mill," and "Bouquet of Tulips," by Eleanor Cocio, Savings Bank of Tolland and Savings Bank of Rockville.

Mitchell Commends Council For Ordering Traffic Study

SOUTH WINDSOR — John Mitchell, Republican candidate for the 14th District General Assembly, said today that he feels that all environmental studies should be completed and reviewed before any state permits are issued on the proposed Buckland Commons development.

Mitchell said that he commends the foresightfulness of the South Windsor Town Council for authorizing a detailed traffic study on the impact of the pending projects (Buckland Commons and J.C. Penney Industrial Park).

"Ordinarily state laws require the preparation of an indirect sources environmental impact statement which must address many factors, including traffic impact," said Mitchell. "The preparation of such a document would have allowed South Windsor officials adequate time both to review and comment on any factors affecting our town."

"This normal process, subverted by special legislation for the Penney project and supported by our current state legislator, was waived," said Mitchell. "In doing so, a valuable, if not critical, opportunity for South Windsor officials and citizens was denied."

"Residents should anxiously await the results of the study which will establish the magnitude of the traffic impact of the projects," said Mitchell. "This will also provide a measure of the disservice done to our citizens by the state-passed legislation which was supported by Abe Glassman."

State Rep. Glassman could not be reached for comment.

Southeast Suffers Most from Fires

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Fire takes its greatest toll in the southeast section of the United States, according to a survey by one of the nation's major manufacturers of smoke detectors.

The region including North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana has the highest percentage of fire deaths by population, reports James T. Thompson of Honeywell's fire fatalities.

Down Home Dirt

When Count Dracula comes flying out of his coffin for a blood transfusion this Halloween, he'll be doing it right for the first time since he made his name on Broadway.

Producers of "Dracula" — now in production both in New York and Los Angeles — finally have come up with the one authentic touch that was missing — soil from the Transylvanian homeland. That's a coffin decor the Dracula of legend just couldn't do without.

Now, the stage coffins of Raul Julia, who plays the role on Broadway, and Jeremy Brett, the Los Angeles go-gore-guy, each will contain a handful of dirt imported from the village of Snagov — now Romania — where the real Dracula, better known in his day as Vlad the Impaler, lies buried.

Call and Raiser

President Carter's 80-year-old mother looks like anything but the average person's idea of a high roller, but Miss Lillian left the Las Vegas Strip a winner last week.

Monday, she told a breakfast meeting group in Everett, Wash., her gambler's luck netted her $500 in a private game at Caesar's Palace — a game that turned out not be penny ante after all.

Says she, "I thought I was playing with nickels and dimes, but instead they were $100 chips."

Sore Throat

The chicken bone that choked Elizabeth Taylor two weeks ago as she campaigned with husband John Warner still is giving her trouble. She's back in the hospital — in Richmond, Va. — with "complications."

Her physician, Dr. Owen Gwathmey, says she'll be there for at least three days.

"It is my opinion that she has developed severe laryngitis which has aggravated her original condition of laceration to the esophagus for which she was treated earlier. As a result, she has inflammation and spasms to her upper esophagus and even the adjoining muscles are inflamed."

Translated: a very sore throat.

Crystal Ball

The Class of 1963, taught 25 years ago by Richard Auerbach at the Egger Road Elementary School in Buffalo, N.Y., has come up with a precognitive batting average any seer would envy.

Auerbach asked his fifth-graders to write essays predicting conditions in 1978. Monday, he opened the "time capsule."

Among the prophecies: "I think the world will have very high prices in 1978... Trains will not be used very much... Some men may even walk on the moon."

Church Offers Musical

EAST HARTFORD — The South Congregational Church of East Hartford will present the musical comedy, "Guys and Dolls," Friday, Nov. 3, and Saturday, Nov. 4, at 8 p.m. at the East Hartford High School auditorium.

"Guys and Dolls" is directed by Audrey Sturner, who has played summer stock on Cape Cod (including a performance in "Guys and Dolls" there) and also has been active with the Michigan Civic Theatre and the Windsor Jesters.

Ronald Sturner, Audrey's husband, has been responsible for many of the high-quality musical produc-

Ballet Due at Penney

EAST HARTFORD — The East Hartford Fine Arts Commission will sponsor the Center Ballet Theatre Friday at 8 p.m. in the Penney High School auditorium. There will be a reception after the program.

Frank Ohman of the New York City Ballet Company has choreographed a second ballet, "In The Still of The Night" for the company to music by Cole Porter. Guest artists in this piece are Kathy Latham and Christopher Bruce.

Other works on the program are "Symphonic Concert," a classical ballet of spirit and elegance, and "Puro Sanguine," which takes place in an Italian fishing village at festival time.

In addition will be "Bartok Variations," a ballet combining both modern and classical movements. Choreography is by Joyce Karpely. The event is free.

Arts and Older Adults Subject of Conference

HARTFORD — Artists, art educators, arts managers and workers in the field of aging from around the nation will meet Wednesday and Thursday at the Sheraton-Hartford Hotel for a conference focusing on "Arts and Older Adults."

It is the first of a two-part conference. The second will focus on "Religion and The Older Adult."

The conference is being convened by the National Council on the Aging Inc. and its National Center on Arts and Aging, and is co-sponsored by the Connecticut Commission on the Arts and by Religious Communities for the Arts.

Several workshops led by those with active experience in planning, developing and implementing arts/aging programs will be held during the day-and-a-half conference. Connecticut artists will present demonstrations in various art forms Wednesday evening.

Other workshop subjects include arts programs and education in the arts, arts as a force with isolated and frail elderly, neighborhood conversation and heritage arts, arts programs at senior centers, universities, and sources for funding.

Silk City Chorus Gets High Rank in Contest

MANCHESTER — The Silk City Chorus, barbershop harmony singers, advanced their competition Saturday to the highest ranking it has ever held.

The men placed seventh among 23 qualifying choruses from throughout New England, New York, Nova Scotia and Quebec. More than 1,800 persons attended the session at Memorial Auditorium in Burlington, Vt.

The Racing City Chorus of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., took top honors to become 1978 chorus champions of the barbershop harmony society's — Northeastern — District. Following closely in second place were the Sons of Harmony from Housatonic-Derby, Conn.

The Silk City Chorus qualified last March to sing in the Vermont competition by placing second in a contest with the 13 other barbershop choruses in Connecticut. Housatonic-Derby was first in that contest.

The Manchester Men, directed by Vincent Zito, will appear Friday at Bolton. Elementary School in a benefit for the Bolton Scholarship Fund. Three guest quartets will join the chorus in the 8:15 p.m. performance. Tickets will be available at the door, or may be reserved by calling Mrs. Andrew Managgia, 645-1744.

Literacy Concern Meeting Subject

HARTFORD — The Greater Hartford Community College and the Hartford branch of the University of Connecticut will be hosts of an all-day conference Saturday, Nov. 18, on "The State of Literacy: A Community Concern."

The conference will be held at the Greater Hartford Community College, 61 Woodland St., Hartford. The conference will begin at 9 a.m. in the GHCC auditorium.

Those planning to attend should register by calling or writing to Professor Bernard Knab at Greater Hartford Community College, 61 Woodland St., Hartford, 661-05, telephone 549-4200, extension 229.

Mothers' Group Planning Dance

The Twin Mothers' Club of Greater Hartford will present a dance Saturday, Nov. 4, at the Elks Club, 515 Dean Highway, Rocky Hill.

The Blue Horizons will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Those attending are asked to BYOB and snacks. Setups will be provided.

The public is invited.

AARP Plans Hobby Show

MANCHESTER — The fifth annual Gallery of Manchester Community College will present an exhibition Friday, Nov. 3, of paintings by Jeff Danglefelder and assemblage paintings by Sharon Vatsky. The program will begin 7:30 p.m. with a showing of the 1922 German silent film classic, "Nosferatu" — the first film to deal with Count Dracula.

After the film at 9 p.m., a reception with refreshments will be held in the gallery for the artists.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited. The exhibition will remain on view until Dec. 1 with gallery hours 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

The gallery is located in the college's 146 Hartford Road building. Jeff Danglefelder graduated from Glastonbury High School in 1973 and from the Paier School of Art in 1977 where he specialized in illustration. He is currently a staff artist for the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Hartford. He is the recipient of several awards and has participated in eight exhibitions in Connecticut in the past four years.

Sharon Lyn Vatsky, originally from New York City, has lived in Connecticut for 10 years. She has exhibited extensively in Connecticut and is represented in many private collections. She has her first one woman show recently at the Barn Gallery in West Hartford. She is currently a candidate for the degree of Master of Art Education at the Hartford Art School of the University of Hartford. Her work deals with personal interpretations of women's lives.

Marjorie Bissell, rag dolls by Beatrice Thomas, pen and ink sketches by Joseph Boris, plaques by Ora and Ruth Hadden, oil paintings by Helen Felber, and needlepoint by Agnes Chidester.

This is not a professional show and nothing is for sale. Space is available for other exhibits. Anyone interested may contact Fred Towle, 299 Spring St., or call 649-4656.

The following tours are scheduled: Nov. 15 (Thursday), "Fiddler on the Roof" at the Coachlight Dinner Theatre. Bus leaves South United Methodist Church parking lot 10:30 a.m. Return by 8:30 p.m.

New Drug May Help In Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Cancer Institute began testing a drug called thymidine on cancer patients a week ago and doctors say it may be several months before they can determine if it works for people as well as it does mice.

Since the initial testing began on three patients at the NCI's Baltimore Cancer Research Center, the institute and the hospital have received hundreds of inquiries from people seeking information about thymidine.

"Our response is that at the present time we have a limited amount of drug to test a limited number of patients," said Dr. Peter Wernick, who is directing the Baltimore tests.

Wernick said in a telephone interview Monday all that can be said so far is the three patients have not suffered any apparent toxic effects.

"We have to wait several weeks or longer to find out if the drug, in fact, any anti-cancer effects in man."

If thymidine seems to be retarding the growth of cancer in the initial patients, all of whom have spread of the disease to other organs, Wernick said additional tests will be needed to confirm the findings.

Dr. Franco Muggia, head of the NCI's cancer therapy evaluation program, agreed it probably will be several months before any conclusions can be reached about thymidine, a normal component of body cells.

He noted it took several weeks for the treatment to take effect in laboratory mice and human tumors usually react slower.

Supply of the drug is another problem. Several pounds of thymidine per patient is required, and the substance is in short supply because there had not been a large amount of it previously. It is being obtained from a variety of producers around the world and Muggia said there will be enough to conduct the initial testing.

Wernick said two more patients will be added to the test program this week and the NCI hopes to include a total of 20 people in the initial thymidine testing.

In addition, the drug is being tested at the Stehlin Foundation for Cancer Research in Boston where the substance was developed as a possible anti-cancer agent. The first two patients who received thymidine there died before therapy could be completed.

The NCI acted with unusual speed in moving thymidine to human tests because it was effective in mice, causing disappearance of some tumors and shrinking others, and because Dr. Beppino Giovannella of the Stehlin Foundation demonstrated its apparent non-toxic effects by administering large doses to himself.

"I think the effect in mice is certainly exciting enough that you would want to test it," Muggia said.

State Pays 15 Percent Of Road Project Costs

MANCHESTER — The road to improving Main Street and the Main and Center streets intersection still may be a long one, but it probably will be a little cheaper, Jay Giles, director of public works, said.

Giles, in a letter to Town Manager Robert Weiss, said he expects the state will provide 15 percent of funding for three road projects in town.

The state Bonding Commission will meet Dec. 8 to consider providing $5 million for turn-back fund projects, Giles said.

Manchester has four such projects, which are funded with monies set aside for highway projects that never developed. The four town projects are upgrading of Main Street from Ford to Charter Oak streets; improvement to the Main and Center streets intersection; upgrading of Adams Street and the Adams Street Bridge; and improvements to Vernon Street and West Vernon Street.

The federal government pays 70 percent of the cost for the projects. In the past, the state has paid 15 percent for town roads and 30 percent for state roads.

Educators Push New Curriculum

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — The school department Monday night did its best to sell an innovative, but often-maligned, reading curriculum to both board members and parents at a special workshop meeting at the Center School.

Teachers, staff personnel, a principal, a reading supervisor and two members of the administration defended the program and asked supporting parents to give the pilot program a "fair shake" before its evaluation at the end of the school year.

The workshop was called to present an overview of the Dale Avenue reading curriculum, a diagnostic method of instruction which was started at the Center and Silver Lane schools two years ago.

The curriculum got its name from the place where it originated in Paterson, N.J. Some parents have criticized it because it has not helped their children to read better, while others criticized it because it has not helped their children to read better, while others criticized it because it has not helped their children to read better.

The presentation was made by Principal William Corcoran, members of the Center School staff and Laurie Fisher, a diagnostic reading and language arts.

The curriculum tests students in 10 different areas related to reading and records the progress of each child. Second graders at the Center School are enrolled in the curriculum, and will be piloted for another school year.

Laurie Fisher, a Center School teacher, praised Dale Avenue as being "developmental and sequential." It allows students to go at their own pace, she said, and teaches basic skills for the students to master before moving on to other skills.

For demonstration purposes, parents, board members and reporters were divided into small groups and taken through the various stations in a classroom. While some of the same year and was promoted to sales manager in 1957.

A long time member of the National, Connecticut State, and Hartford Chapter of the Association of Life Underwriters, he also has been active in several fraternal and civic organizations.

He and his wife, the former Shirley Cervini, live at 306 Hackmatack St.

Vernon Council Given Petition on Firehouse

VERNON — The Town Council was presented with a petition Monday night, signed by some 900 residents, and asking the council to give high priority to building a proposed new firehouse south of Interstate 86.

The town has to replace the existing Dobson firehouse on Route 30 which is Vernon Company 2. A referendum last spring approved an appropriation of $40,000 to buy the land.

A Fire Study Committee, formed in 1975, recommended that the Company 2 station be located in the Skinner Road area, which is north of the highway.

The petitioners cited the fantastic growth rate in the area south of the highway which includes the Lake Street and Washington and Phoenix streets areas, as the reason for building the new station be located there.

They said there are no fire hydrants in the area and this means that water has to be brought in by tankers to fight any fires.

The some 900 signatures constitutes more than the one percent of registered voters required on a petition to start the initiative process according to the town charter.

Action must be taken on the petition within 45 days.

New National Smoker Study:

“Glad I Did It.”

Former high tar smokers report having “no regrets” in switch to low tar MERIT.

Read what former high tar smokers had to say about their switch to MERIT in a new, nationwide research effort.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an “easy switch” from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

And in research conducted among high tar smokers who taste-tested MERIT against leading high tar brands:

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first real alternative for high tar smokers.
