Yale Group Presses for Gun Control

HARTFORD (UPI) — A group of college students calling themselves Yale Students for Handgun Control demonstrated outside the State House Thursday to urge lawmakers to get handgun off the street.

"1-2-3-4... Don't allow handguns anymore... 5-6-7-8... Make Connecticut a safer state," the sign-carrying protesters shouted as they paraded in a circle outside the Capitol.

The 18 students said a survey of 42 state legislators showed 89 percent of them favored stronger restrictions on handguns.

The students paid their own freight — $50 for a group train ride — from New Haven to Hartford for the mini-demonstration.

The group's leader, Steve Masters, a Yale sophomore from Chicago, told his followers: "Movements require momentum. This is only the first step."

He warned his colleagues that banning the manufacture and sale of handguns was not politically "feasible" at this time.

Instead, Masters said the students should work to elect candidates who support stronger gun control measures. After the elections, he said students could then push for legislation to raise the state's registration fee for retail gun dealers. It now stands at $1.

Later Masters told reporters, "Gun control strikes me as the one issue that students can grab onto."

He said the Yale group is the only gun control lobby in Connecticut and only one of a handful of collegiate gun control organizations in the nation.

Masters said his group would ultimately like to see handguns banned, except for law enforcement officers and sporting clubs. But for now, he said he would settle for a "gradual transition" into tougher registration laws.

Two politicians showed up for the rally. Rep. Irving Stolberg, D-New Haven, told the students, "It's very important for all of us to work the political system and work it well."

U.S. Travelers Like Big Dollar

United Press International Beer, bullfights and business lunches for Americans abroad all cost less today and both the jubilant expatriates and monetary experts said the newly invigorated dollar may herald the end of the worldwide greenback slump.

"President Carter's move (to strengthen the dollar) Wednesday is the first giant step to help the weak dollar. I hope it really does something to stabilize money markets," said a leading banker in London, where the dollar gained three cents on the pound Thursday. Gold opened $4.75 lower in London at $222.25 and $1.25 lower in Zurich at $192.25.

"I'm happy," crowed an American businessman in Tokyo, where a dollar bought 166 yen at the close of trading. The Tokyo market was closed today due to a national holiday.

Americans in Japan — including more than 40,000 military personnel and their families — also looked forward to lower prices. "We haven't been going out as much as we used to," said an Air Force captain. "I hope the dollar will become more stabilized." He can now buy a glass of orange juice that cost $3 Wednesday for $2.87.

For the beleaguered American tourist, there was immediate relief: The price of a cup of coffee in Japan dropped from $1.40 to $1.33 overnight.

A quarter liter of Stella Artois beer in Brussels, was available for 18 Belgian francs or 59 cents Thursday instead of Tuesday's price of 65 cents.

A ticket to a bullfight in Spain sank from $5.95 to $5.60. A businessman's lunch for two in a "proper" London restaurant cost $60 Thursday, $3 less than the previous day's tab for the same meal.

A pack of cigarettes in West Germany dipped from $1.67 to $1.53 and a dinner for four in Paris from $114 to $103.

The price of some items overseas still sounded astounding. An American living in Brussels — rated by the United Nations as one of the world's five most expensive cities — could buy a color television set for $1,575 instead of $1,610 on Tuesday. It was small consolation.

Where the dollar's steep climb — a result of Carter's surprise dollar-rescue plan — would take it was a mystery. Some money dealers said it was bound to level off eventually.

Conditions have been pretty hectic on money markets, with the dollar moving like a yo-yo, said a dealer for Barclays Bank International in London.

The People's Bank of China in Hong Kong suspended exchange rate quotations to wait out the market's most turbulent trading in weeks.

A spokesman for the Swiss Bank Corp. said "this turn-around marks an end, hopefully, to the worst decline of the U.S. currency in post-war history."

Drying Out the Loot

Coins are spread out to dry before being rolled in wrappers. Andrew Marmen, Manchester Memorial Hospital development director, is shown with about $250 worth of coins that he took from the wishing well at the Islander restaurant on Tolland Turnpike Thursday. This is the third year that the well has been cleared out. The money is deposited to the hospital's development fund. The use of the wishing well donations is the result of a mutual suggestion from Lew Eng, owner of The Islander, and Lois Porter, a hospital employee in the business office. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Assessor Says Phase-In Helped Hike Tax Suits

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The town's assessor today said an unusually high number of tax appeals have been filed this year against the town. He believes the phase-in legislation is at least partly to blame.

A sponsor of the legislation, however, believes the large assessment increases resulting from revaluation are the cause of the number of appeals.

The town completed a revaluation this year, its first since 1966. The phase-in legislation permitted the town to spread the increase in assessments resulting from revaluation over a five-year period.

Residential properties increased the most, an average of 100 percent, because of the revaluation of property. These properties would benefit the most from the phase-in proposal.

Commercial properties increased an average of 50-60 percent because of the revaluation and thus would not benefit as much from the phase-in.

Assessor Ed Belleville said the number of tax appeals filed this year is "astronomically higher than normal."

In a revaluation year, more appeals will be filed than in a normal year. But this year's total is high even for a revaluation year, Belleville said.

He said that some 30 to 50 property owners have filed appeals on more than 200 properties. (Many of the owners own more than one property.)

"I think a majority of these were generated by the phase-in," he said. Belleville had been a vocal critic of the phase-in proposal when it was introduced.

He said that most of the appeals are from commercial owners who will not benefit from the phase-in.

Some of the appeals are from property owners who normally file an appeal every year.

Belleville compared the number of appeals filed this year with the number filed in other towns and in Manchester during past revaluations. Because of the large increase this year, he believes the phase-in and its effect on commercial owners is part of the reason.

State Rep. Theodore Cummings, one of the phase-in sponsors, disagrees.

"I think Mr. Belleville may be wrong. Those appeals were filed on the basis of the revalued figures," Cummings said.

"There's a great deal of criticism of the revaluation. That's par for the course," he said.

Since the revaluation led to such large increases in assessments for most property owners — both commercial and residential — many are going to appeal those increases, he said.

"They're not — at least from my knowledge — appealing because of the phase-in," Cummings said.

He repeated that the phase-in is aimed at benefiting residential properties the most since this would assist the most people.

Chinese Repulsed, Vietnam Contends

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Vietnam said today it repulsed Chinese invaders from its frontier area and told Peking to pick the bodies of six Chinese soldiers killed in the first major border battle between the two Communist countries in 200 years.

In an official protest over the clash on Wednesday, the Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said thousands of Chinese troops poured into the battle area 123 miles north of Hanoi where "many" Vietnamese militiamen were also killed.

Vietnam earlier charged that China dispatched 100,000 troops to the Cambodian border area as a springboard to fight Vietnam.

China has not reported the incident and Chinese spokesmen in Peking told UPI by telephone their government had no comment on the Vietnamese reports.

Radio Hanoi, monitored in Bangkok, said "the clash caused by the Chinese armed force on Vietnamese territory not only caused casualties to the Vietnamese side, but also caused casualties to its own side leaving the bodies of six people belonging to the Chinese armed forces on Vietnamese territory."

The broadcast did not give figures of Vietnamese losses.

A Vietnamese foreign ministry protest statement said the Chinese were "authorized to come to collect the bodies to be handed over at the border."

In a related development, Peking's New China News Agency announced tonight that Cambodia killed 30 invading Vietnamese Oct. 24.

"On Oct. 24, a large number of Vietnamese aggressor troops intruded one kilometer (0.6 mile) deep into Cambodian territory along Highway 7 and seized the rice crop there.

Sign Language Help Proposed for Voters

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The Republican registrar of voters has proposed that the town have a sign-language interpreter available Election Day to assist hearing-impaired residents.

The Democratic registrar, however, has not been told about the proposal and knew nothing of the proposal as of this morning.

Frederick Peck, the Republican registrar, said he has contacted Leo Lalime of the state Commission on the Deaf and Hearing Impaired. Lalime has arranged for a sign language interpreter to be in the registrars' office Tuesday from 4-8 p.m., Peck said.

Peck said this is part of the office's "continuing effort to bring more voters into the main stream of elections."

The office in the past has taken steps to make polling places accessible to handicapped persons, including rehabilitation work at Veterans Terrace and the Veterans Terrace extension. Giamalis said this grant was "common knowledge" and had actually been pre-approved by the DCA earlier this year. The funds would be used for modernization of kitchens, bathrooms and heating systems, as well as improvement of the recreational facilities.

The governor said additional assistance could be made available "if warranted by the budget review and maintenance inspection."

The Housing Authority has sought outside assistance in the past. It had those in wheelchairs and those who are sight-impaired.

Peck said the interpreter will be available for the final four hours because most of Manchester's hearing-impaired residents work during the day.

The interpreter will be dispatched to any voting district where a hearing-impaired voter has a question about the ballot, Peck said.

He said he has notified Converse Communications Center, a system used to communicate to hearing-impaired persons, of the service Manchester will provide.

Peck, however, apparently has not notified Herbert Stevenson, Democratic registrar, about the proposal.

"This office doesn't know anything about it," he said this morning. Peck, who normally does his part-time work as registrar in the afternoons, could not be reached this morning for comment about the apparent breakdown in communication.

East Hartford Housing Probe Ordered

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — In response to concerns from tenants, Gov. Ella Grasso today ordered an in-depth review of the operating budgets at four state-funded housing developments in East Hartford.

She also directed a comprehensive maintenance inspection be carried out as well by state officials from the Department of Community Affairs.

The two directives will involve the Veterans Terrace and King Court moderate rental units and the Hutt Heights and Daley Court elderly housing complexes.

"I have instructed Commissioner James Rice of the State Department of Community Affairs to review in detail the operating budgets of various projects of the East Hartford Housing Authority as soon as they are submitted," she said. "When these budgets are analyzed, appropriate rent schedules can be determined."

The governor's actions came a week after a coalition of tenants from the four units brought their protests to the State Capitol about proposed rent increases of $13 to $20.

Nicholas Giamalis, executive director of the East Hartford Housing Authority, said today, "Our records are open for review at any time. In fact, we give quarterly reports to the commissioner's office."

Mrs. Grasso said a $650,000 state grant has already been approved for rehabilitation work at Veterans Terrace and the Veterans Terrace extension. Giamalis said this grant was "common knowledge" and had actually been pre-approved by the DCA earlier this year. The funds would be used for modernization of kitchens, bathrooms and heating systems, as well as improvement of the recreational facilities.

The governor said additional assistance could be made available "if warranted by the budget review and maintenance inspection."

The Housing Authority has sought outside assistance in the past. It had applied in July for a federal takeover of Daley Court and Hutt Heights by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which would allow tenants to pay only 25 percent of their income for rent rather than the present pay-as-you-go method. However, the application was denied last month.

The Housing Authority had asked for the rent increases to offset spiraling insurance and utility costs. Tenants say their fixed incomes cannot cover an increase and complained that maintenance was shoddy at the complexes.

Fahey, Clarke Ending An Aggressive Campaign

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — It's down to days before voters in the 3rd State Senatorial District make their choice between Democrat Marcella Fahey and Republican Esther B. Clarke. And voters may be confused by how recent developments in the campaign.

From the start, Mrs. Clarke has said she needs to make up a huge voter registration deficit (the district is about four to one in Democrats to Republicans) by stressing her conservatism.

Meanwhile, she has attempted to portray her opponent as an ultra liberal.

It has been an aggressive campaign on Mrs. Clarke's part.

But this week, Mrs. Fahey became the aggressor as she twice attacked her opponent.

Tuesday night on Channel 24, Mrs. Clarke said Mrs. Fahey favored a state income tax. Mrs. Fahey broke in and said she has opposed a state income tax all along.

Then, Mrs. Clarke said she supports a constitutional amendment placing a limit on state spending. Mrs. Fahey called such a proposal "irresponsible."

Then on Wednesday night, Mrs. Fahey launched her strongest attack yet on Mrs. Clarke. She said Mrs. Clarke had deliberately misrepresented her in campaign literature Mrs. Clarke sent out.

She also said Mrs. Clarke is running a "bale campaign" designed to scare voters by bringing up emotional issues such as gay rights.

Last week, the two candidates gave their views on several issues in separate interviews with The Herald.

Binding Arbitration

The state Supreme Court declared binding arbitration unconstitutional, a decision which Mrs. Clarke sup-

New Hampshire Fire Kills Two

FRANKLIN, N.H. (UPI) — Two young brothers have been killed in a raging fire in their three-story wooden apartment building.

Killed in the early afternoon fire were Chester Quinn Jr., 3, and his 2-year-old brother, Stanley. Their bodies were found in their third floor bedroom.

Two firefighters were treated for smoke inhalation in the blaze, which left an unknown number of people homeless.

The fire broke out shortly after 3 p.m. on the second floor of the four-family building, which was engulfed in flames by the time firefighters arrived. It took more than 50 firefighters from Franklin and four surrounding communities 40 minutes to bring the blaze under control.

The boys' mother, Marilyn Quinn, and firefighters tried to rescue the young brother, but were turned back by intense flames and heat, officials said.

The cause of the fire was under investigation.

Voters Across Nation To Decide Variety of Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Voters across the nation will decide on Nov. 7 a wide variety of issues involving what one group or another sees as a "right," "rights" or "rights" to smoke or not to smoke, to sexual preference, to work, to bear arms and equal rights for women.

California is voting on a ballot initiative to outlaw or restrict smoking in many public places and private businesses, including work places, schools, doctors' offices, auditoriums, public transportation, elevators and restaurants. Violators would be fined $50 for each conviction.

The nation's tobacco industry already has spent more than $3 million to defeat the proposal. Opponents contend it would force employers to provide costly segregated working areas, divert law enforcement from more important tasks and violate personal and property rights.

Proponents, including the American Cancer Society, say medical evidence shows second-hand smoke can cause respiratory diseases and discomfort and that nonsmokers deserve legal protection.

In Miami, Fla., a Dade County homosexual rights ordinance which voters defeated by a 2-1 margin in June 1977, is back in an entirely new form and with much less publicity.

The original, which singer Anita Bryant helped to defeat, banned job and housing discrimination on basis of sexual preference.

The new proposal would ban discrimination in jobs, housing, public health services and social services on grounds of "race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, age, sex, physical handicap, place of birth, creed, affectional and sexual preference, marital status, matriculation, political affiliation, native or familiar language, past or present state of pregnancy, past or present military service, or membership in trade unions, organizations or associations."

Gay Rights activist Bob Kunst, who worked to get it on the ballot, called it a "full-equality ordinance" and says: "If one people vote against this one, they're voting against themselves."

Said Miss Bryant's husband, Bob Green: "The ordinance is outrageous. It's non-sensical. Take away

Women's Shelters Favored

EAST HARTFORD — Marcella Fahey, candidate for the 3rd District State Senate seat, urged increased state support for shelters for battered women and their children.

"It is a disgrace that the state does not provide any support to a Hartford area shelter," Mrs. Fahey said.

"The only Hartford area shelter, Interval House, which is funded totally by private means, has been running at full capacity since it opened on April 18 of this year," Mrs. Fahey said.

The current state budget provides $150,000 to help support four shelters for battered women in the entire state.

"The lack of services for women and children in a desperate situation is clear and it must be alleviated," Mrs. Fahey emphasized.

"We have a successful model of shelters in the state, and now it is time for us to provide adequate funding so that when help is needed, it will be there for all who seek it," she said.

"Violence in our society is an affront to all of us. But it does exist, and we have a duty to do all we can to alleviate the emotional and physical suffering it brings to our citizens," she said.

As a state commissioner on human rights, I have a long history of speaking out for people who cannot speak for themselves," she said.

"Victims of physical abuse need the support of all citizens."

Penney Senior Wins Leader Scholarship

EAST HARTFORD — Kathleen Schmidt, a 17-year-old senior at Penney High School, has won the Century III Leaders Scholarship competition at the high school. Principal Donald Cramer announced.

M. Schmidt, the daughter of Mrs. Jeanne Schmidt of 981 Brewer St., is eligible to compete with other high school seniors throughout Connecticut for two $1,500 scholarships and $500 national scholarships and a $10,000 national scholarship that will be awarded at a conference of state winners in Williamsburg, Va.

M. Schmidt triumphed in the local phase of Century III leaders program, a scholarship competition that emphasizes the future concerns of America. Students were judged on the basis of their leadership abilities, community involvement and score on a current events examination. To compete at the state level, she must now write a brief projection on what she thinks is one of America's future challenges and how it should be met.

Swensson Back Open Space

MANCHESTER — Elsie "Bibi" Swensson, the Republican candidate in the 13th Assembly District, said Thursday she will work to preserve and protect agricultural and open space land.

While campaigning door-to-door she was asked by many people her about saving the Globe Hollow Pool area, she said. While this is a town issue, the questioning of the residents points out the need to save such properties, she said.

Thus, she said she will work toward preservation of such land. The final draft of the State Conservation and Development Policies Plan will be presented to the Legislature in 1979.

"With rising costs of gasoline and the need for conserving energy, we must protect all recreational parks and areas in our state so that families can enjoy their weekends and vacations without having to travel too many miles into other states," Mrs. Swensson said.

Area Candidates Report Campaign Expenditures

State Rep. Robert "Skip" Walsh has raised $1,560.67 and spent $1,113.95 in his bid for re-election in the 53rd Assembly District.

Walsh and other candidates filed financing reports earlier this week at the secretary of state's office.

The Republican candidate in the 53rd District, Claire Connelly, has not yet filed the report as of Thursday.

The financing reports had to be postmarked by Oct. 31, so those not yet received are not necessarily late.

Mrs. Connelly did file her report due Oct. 10 in the last week of the month. That report showed she had received $240 and had spent $20.25 which was paid by a personal loan.

She listed one contributor who gave $100 or more — William C. Harding of the Economic Political Industry Committee contributed $150.

Walsh listed one $100 contributor — the Tolland Democratic Town Committee — for the three-week period in his report.

The 53rd District includes Coventry, Tolland and Willington.

A third candidate, Independent George Hasapes, also is running in the 53rd, and he also had not filed his Oct. 31 report.

In the 56th Assembly District, Democrat Aloysius Ahearn has received $3,130.11 and has spent $2,580.87.

State Rep. Dorothy Miller, the Republican incumbent seeking re-election, has received $2,540.94 and spent $1,664.11.

Ahearn listed three $100 contributors for the three-week period ending Oct. 31 — the Andover Democratic Town Committee, the Connecticut Education Association Political Action Committee and the Connecticut AFL-CIO Political Action Committee.

Mrs. Miller's large contributors for the same period were the Hebron Republican Women's Club, $300; the Bolton Republican Town Committee, $200; the Hebron Republican Town Committee, $150; and the Connecticut Republican State Committee, $100.

The 55th District includes Andover, Bolton, Columbia, Hebron, Marlborough and part of Vernon.

In Vernon's 56th Assembly district, State Rep. Chester Morgan has collected $4,128 and spent $3,030.42. His race for re-election has been more expensive than most area assembly candidates, particularly his opponent, Republican Nancy Osborn.

She has received $1,190 and spent $238.85.

Morgan listed the following contributors of $100 or more for the three-week period: Greater Hartford Labor Council, West Hartford, $150; Abraham L. Brooks, 10 Center St., Rockville, $113; Connecticut AFL-CIO Political Action Committee, $100; Committee for Political Action of Certified Public Accountants, $100; Connecticut Education Association Political Action Committee, $100.

In the 35th Senatorial District, which includes Vernon and Tolland, the Democratic candidate has collected less but spent more.

Michael J. Skelley, the Democrat, has received $6,175.25 and spent $4,534.97. The Republican candidate, Andrew Repko, has collected $5,424.61 and spent $2,019.88.

The following contributors listed by Skelley gave $100 or more during the three weeks: Committee for a Democratic Majority, 37 Judd St., Manchester, $250; James Filkoff, 10 Janet Lane, Vernon, $225; Tolland Democratic Town Committee, $200; Marion O. Rossetto Denies Conflict

MANCHESTER — Paul Rossetto, a member of the town Zoning Board of Appeals, feels that he was not in conflict of interest when he voted on a Bigelow Street property division.

Residents of the neighborhood have opposed the division, which would create two lots from property at 35-38 Bigelow St.

The entire property has 100 feet of frontage, and 75 feet of frontage is required per lot in the Residence B Zone. The property owner has proposed a zig-zag division that would provide 75 feet of frontage at the street line for one lot and 75 feet of frontage at the building line for the second lot.

The division was permissible under zoning regulations in effect at the time. That regulation has been changed since, but the ZBA ruled the division on Bigelow Street was proper.

The neighbors are appealing the ZBA decision in Tolland County Superior Court. The group's attorney, Herbert Phelon, representing the owner of 35-38 Bigelow St., said an overruling of the property division would affect past similar divisions.

Rossetto does not feel this constitutes a conflict of interest.

Rossetto, a realtor, previously had divided a parcel of land under the same regulation used for the Bigelow Street land. During the public hearing on the matter, attorney Herbert Phelon, representing the owner of 35-38 Bigelow St., said an overruling of the property division would affect past similar divisions.

Rossetto does not feel this constitutes a conflict of interest.

"I don't believe there's a conflict of interest at all. My understanding is you're in conflict when you personally have a financial interest in the subject property," he said. No such situation existed in this case, he said.

Dems Set Bake Sale

MANCHESTER — The Democratic Town Committee will sell cookies, cake and other culinary creations Saturday.

The money from the bake sale will benefit area Democratic candidates.

The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. inside the Marshalls Mall at the Manchester Parkade.

The goods to be sold will be baked by party members who donate them. Mayor Stephen Penny is expected to be among those donating baked items.

"We have a large, largely untrained, unemployed sector. It would pay us to set up vocational training schools to prepare that group," he said.

While a solution for equalizing state spending for education is sought, the state will have to keep in mind the need for maintaining local control of education.

"The state will have to find a way to supervise without controlling," he said of the school spending issue.

Region Looks to Future of Solid Waste Disposal

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — The average person probably doesn't lose much sleep thinking about where his garbage goes once the garbage truck carts it away.

But, in Connecticut, solid waste is an issue of great concern.

In the early 1970s, the state implemented a plan to build 10 regional solid waste disposal units. The state created the Connecticut Resource Recovery Authority (CRRA) to oversee the project to its completion.

The first of these regional units opened last Friday in Bridgeport. The Bridgeport plant carries a $53 million price tag, but state officials feel it will be worth it.

The Bridgeport unit will not be operational for about a year. But, when it does open, state officials hope it will be more energy-efficient and environmentally sound than the separate town incinerator systems which serve many towns in the state.

East Hartford Mayor Richard H. Blackstone, a proponent of the regional system for many years, said regional waste disposal is more feasible economically for several reasons.

"First, it is more practical, he said. "Landfill is the most economical way to dispose of garbage, but it's also the most unwise," Blackstone said.

East Hartford now burns and buries its garbage. It costs the town $17 per ton to burn its garbage in its incinerator. And the town gets about 50,000 tons of garbage each year, although that figure has dropped in recent years.

A second benefit of a regional system would be greater reclamation, he said. A major part of the plan is to provide facilities with the capacity for resource recovery.

Sludge and other waste products can be converted into low and high pressure steam. Blackstone said Northeast Utilities and the Hartford Electric Light and Power Co. could be possible users of this energy.

Construction of a Hartford region plant appears to be at least three years away, however.

Russell Breneman, president of the CRRA, said this week a site has been selected in the south meadows of Hartford.

A feasibility study by CRRA pointed to the south meadows as a desired site because it is located close to both the HELCO electric plant and the Metropolitan District Commission water control plant.

Breneman said he hopes the MDC will be involved in the regional plant. The MDC can contribute sludge which, when mixed with other waste products, can be converted into energy.

A regional plant would need a steady flow of waste products every day. Breneman said. The type of facility planned for Hartford would require 1,500 to 2,000 tons of garbage a day.

This means that MDC would be looked to as a major contributor. It also means the CRRA must attract area towns to the idea of tying into a regional system.

So far, Breneman said East Hartford, South Windsor, Manchester and Glastonbury are the towns east of the Connecticut River which have expressed interest in joining the system.

"We have approached certain towns and they have passed resolutions — sort of letters of intent — stating they are interested in joining," Breneman said.

"The mayors seem to be telling us they don't care who does it (builds the facility), but for God's sake, let's get it built," he said.

One obstacle which may stand in the way of construction is the need for a steady flow of waste products every day.

Region Looks to Future of Solid Waste Disposal

is a new law passed by the state Legislature. The law says municipalities can regulate, through zoning, the placement of solid waste disposal facilities.

Despite the law, Breneman feels the City of Hartford will be attracted to playing host to the regional plant.

"It has economic benefits for Hartford," he said. "Low pressure steam from waste products can be used for a down town steam loop."

"High pressure steam can be used to generate electricity and to save on oil," he said. "In Bridgeport, steam from the waste products can replace 600,000 barrels of oil a year."

Blackstone has said participation of area towns is an absolute necessity if a regional waste disposal unit is to be successful.

The incinerator was built in 1956. It has two garbage pits, each with capacities of 4,000 tons.

The first pit was built along with the plant in 1956 and the second was added in 1968. As the town grew in population and added industry, its garbage also increased.

Since 1973, the town has recycled some of its waste products. It now recycles newspapers, glass, metals and 55-gallon drums. While the sanitation crews dispose of the 50,000 tons of garbage a year in East Hartford, town officials in East Hartford and other area towns sit and wait for a new regional unit.

Futner Asks Common Sense

Fenton "Pat" Futner, Republican candidate in the Fourth Senatorial District, asked the state to use "a little common sense" in future budgeting work.

Futner issued a multi-point campaign statement that also asked for more consideration of farmers and a need for the state to improve job training.

Futner said state spending has increased 40 percent in the past four years. People want to see the state budget itself based on anticipated revenues, he said.

"No other business or individual operates on the basis of setting up programs first, and then raising money to meet the costs. It's the state that used a little common sense," Futner said.

He also mentioned the need to provide tax incentives for farmers and to preserve farm lands.

"Our food supply depends on these men and women. They have been overlooked too long," he said.

The state can cut its welfare burden by increasing the job market, Futner said.

"We have a large, largely untrained, unemployed sector. It would pay us to set up vocational training schools to prepare that group," he said.

While a solution for equalizing state spending for education is sought, the state will have to keep in mind the need for maintaining local control of education.

Game Admission Policy Criticized

The spirit at Manchester High School is rising. This has been stated, written, claimed, and exclaimed by students, faculty, and outsiders. Reasons cited have been the presence of a new principal, motivated teachers and winning athletic teams.

Agreed, this is a good change. However, there is a dampener on this rising spirit and enthusiasm of the student body: admission charge. Admission is being charged to both the public and the students to watch these games. Manchester High School students should not have to pay to see school sports events.

Financial difficulties often prevent Manchester from attending a football or basketball game. Many students have no income, and money for school is used to buy material items - clothes, paper, pens, and lunches. Families from all income brackets have students attending Manchester High. Why should a poor student be excluded from coming and rooting the team on to win? There are students who can't afford other typical teen-age forms of entertainment. Going to the movies, watching bowling parties, or hanging out at the Manchester High seems to have some kind of response to most situations and Halloween was no exception. Quite a few students dressed up for the occasion and, because of the excellent costumes, the true identities of these loonies are not available. (Photo by Waddell)

Aridian Expansion Proposed

If you've missed the many posters decorating the hall walls, then you are one of the unfortunate who've missed the announcement of the start of Aridian's '78-'79 season.

For the sake of all the sophomores who aren't as informed as the rest of Aridian is MHS's art and literary magazine. It is the only one of its kind.

This season, Aridian is again trying something new. The Herald and HSW staff have allocated a section of the HSW every-so-often throughout the year to print the artwork, prose, photography, and poetry which have been submitted by MHS students.

Aridian may also have a separate newspaper edition printed by outside sources once or several times during the year. It is hoped that, unlike the past, Aridian will get the exposure it needs to generate more school interest in the organization by appearing in The Herald.

Aridian is an important part of MHS. It has served as an outlet for an artistic aspect of the school, otherwise seldom heard from. Unfortunately, it has never attained the recognition it deserves. The few members in Aridian this year are determined to keep the organization going by reaching those uninformed, artistic students who aren't aware of its existence.

Submissions are now being accepted in Room 209, or by any Aridian member.

The previous Nov. 1 deadline has been indefinitely extended for all procrastinators. Don't just think about submitting, submit! In all English and art rooms, submission folders are posted.

If you have any questions, your English or art teacher has been sent a letter explaining submission criteria. If you are interested in the club itself, don't hesitate to join the next meeting, which is held every Wednesday in Room 209.

The resource most lacking in Aridian is not artwork, but people! - C.V.E.

U.S. School Life New To New Zealand Student

My name is Jocelyn Ivory, and I am an AFS exchange student from New Zealand. I would like to share with you a little of what it is like to spend a year away from home in a foreign country.

During the time in which I have been involved with AFS, my outlook on life has changed greatly.

AFS is an organization promoting international friendship between the United States and the rest of the world. Coming from a small country like New Zealand, I knew a lot about other countries, but still my country was my world.

I had never traveled outside New Zealand and was really quite ignorant when it came to the ways of life overseas. Since leaving New Zealand, I have learned that my country is only a small part of the world and that it is important to look beyond my own secure environment.

Being here has made me realize just how small New Zealand really is. Few people know much about it, and the newspapers don't even seem to realize that it exists.

My stay so far in Manchester has been very rewarding. Before coming I had only impressions made by the television and newspapers.

All I knew of the United States was the Starkey and Hutch, Mission Inn, and the Family lifestyles. I was pleasantly surprised to find New England beautiful and full of people willing to help and interested in my little corner of the globe.

I am excited at the prospect of a white Christmas. In New Zealand Christmas falls in the summer and the occasion lacks the traditional atmosphere of Santa Claus in warm clothing, reindeer and plum pudding. The weather that we are experiencing now in Manchester is about as cold as it ever gets in New Zealand.

School life here is very different for me, but it is also quite interesting because it offers courses for almost every interest and talent.

One thing that I find difficult to get accustomed to is the early morning rise to catch a bus. Being an outsider, it has been a bit awkward breaking into the school social circles, and the first few months have been rather lonely and emotional at times.

I have met several students who thought their interest and friendship had helped me to be very happy.

If you have any questions, your English or art teacher has been sent a letter explaining submission criteria. If you are interested in the club itself, don't hesitate to join the next meeting, which is held every Wednesday in Room 209.

Host Sister Comments

My name is Karen Bensen, and I am Jocelyn's host sister for this year.

My family has been involved in AFS for about ten years, so the idea of having a foreign student live with us for a year has been running through our minds for quite some time.

As a family we finally decided that my junior year was the best time to do this. With this decided, last February my parents and I began to fill out the lengthy applications that were necessary to match us properly with a student.

It was much like writing a book - a couple of chapters about myself, a couple about my family, and a couple about our relationship as a family. I think I learned more things about myself because I was forced to write them down.

After the application was sent in and we had been interviewed by an AFS representative, the long wait began. First, we had to wait to find out if we were accepted as a family, and then we had to wait to find out who our student was and where she was from.

After each day had passed, we swore that we couldn't wait a day longer. Anticipation set in as we began to wonder if we had done the right thing, as we realized the potential problems.

My excitement still grew, however, because I was looking forward to having a sister in the house again. Both my sisters and my brother had moved out and I really missed having that kind of company.

I also realized how much I could learn by this experience. My new sister, my parents, and I would be forced to work out any differences or problems as a family.

This was a challenge that I was ready to accept, because I knew that the year would be fun and rewarding, too.

The news finally arrived, first that we were accepted, then that my new sister was from New Zealand and that her name was Jocelyn Ivory.

After the final okay, we immediately began writing letters to her to help her prepare and to get to know her. There were many questions coming from both ends of the world, and they were all answered in good time.

Of course, you can never know what a person is really like until you meet him or her in person. That day finally arrived on July 17, right in the middle of the heat wave. From that day on, Jocelyn has been living with us as a member of the family and it has been great fun.

There have been few problems. There was one that we didn't expect. We thought that we were lucky to have an English-speaking student. It never occurred to us that we would have such a problem understanding her accent! Even today, I miss things that she says. We've been trying to teach her some of our slang, but she just says "I'll pick hers up first. We shall see what the coming months bring."

Jocelyn and I have grown very close in the short time she has been here, and I know now that it will be a sad day when I have to wave goodbye to her as she leaves for her home in New Zealand. - Karen Bensen

Club Meets

On Monday, Oct. 23, the French Club held its third meeting of the year. Among the topics discussed was a trip to Quebec, Canada in February of this school year.

They were going there during an annual festival called the Winter Carnival. To defray the cost of the trip, the French Club will be selling stationery and pins. An auction may be held on Dec. 4. Our next meeting will be Nov. 6, where a guest speaker may be present.

Also, to become aware of French traditions and ways of life, the French Club, through the aid of the Peace Corps, is looking into the possibility of the Third World Nations.

Profits of various fund-raising activities throughout the year will be sent to the people of the town to help them and their community.

Hospital Addition Takes Shape

The addition to Rockville General Hospital is taking shape this week as workers put up the east concrete walls. The $2.1 million addition will allow expansion of the emergency outpatient areas and specialized units, and more importantly the moving of the pediatrics department from the oldest portion of the hospital. The wing will be called the Belding Wing. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Leaf Pickup Schedule Set; Town Has Collection Bins

VERNON - The Public Works Department is presently picking up leaves with two vacuum leaf machines in the normally high density areas of leaf fall.

Ronald Hine, public works director, said that the department is working at a disadvantage this year due to the loss of 15 Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) laborers, plus the fact that the department is working on emergency drainage projects.

The first major leaf pickup will begin Nov. 13 with the use of four machines and will continue for one week. Hine said he hopes most of the town can be covered in this week.

The town offices will be closed on Nov. 10 in observance of Veterans' Day so there will be no pickup on that Friday, Hine said. Collection will resume the following Monday.

After the first week major pickup, the department will continue with two machines through to the first week in December. Another major pickup will be scheduled for that first week in December.

Residents are asked to rake leaves to the edge of their property and under no circumstances should they be put onto pedestrian walks or on the streets. Since most of the pickup is done with the vacuum equipment, sticks, stones, and dirt shouldn't be mixed with leaves as they can damage the machine or injure the workers.

For those who don't wish to wait for the leaf pickup, leaf bins have been set up in the following places: Werner Drive, Valerie Drive, Route 30 (across from Hillside Avenue), the rear of the public works garage on Route 30, corner of Tunnel Road and Warren Avenue, Church Street along the railroad right of way, the glass recycling center on West Street, Hale Street near the Polywood School, the intersection of Hillside Avenue and Franklin streets.

Contractors hired to rake leaves may make deposits at the glass recycling center bin or the bin on Route 30, opposite Hillside.

Leaves in plastic bags will also be collected. Up to five bags will be taken by the regular refuse men but will be picked up by the regular refuse crews if it is tied in bundles no more than three feet long, and placed at the curb along with regular refuse.

Morgan Wraps Up Campaign; Says It Was Positive Effort

VERNON - Chester Morgan, Democratic candidate for re-election as state representative from Vernon's 56th District, has summarized his campaign as "a positive and issue-oriented effort."

He said that he has visited the vast majority of Vernon homes over the last two months and has stressed his record of service to the town.

Outlining his past accomplishments, Morgan said he:

- Sponsored legislation resulting in the retention of pediatric and maternity services at Rockville General Hospital.
- Sponsored a bill which made polling places accessible to the handicapped.
- Held regularly scheduled office hours for constituents.
- Maintained a 100 percent voting record for the two-year term.

Morgan noted that in 1978 Vernon received an increase of $65,275 in state grants, saving about 3.5 mills in local taxes.

"Because of a court mandate, I anticipate that the 1979 legislature will increase educational funds to the towns and Vernon will get just its share," he said.

He said he perceives the job of state representative as a large measure, as one of securing the most in dollars and programs for his constituency. He said at the same time he has pledged his support for restraint on unnecessary governmental spending.

He promises to continue to support measures designed to increase the efficiency and integrity of state government.

He lists among his priorities, for the coming session, bills which would repeal the Sunday Blue Laws and require that all consumer contracts be written in clear and plain language.

Morgan is being opposed by Republican Nancy Osborn.

He said she has not once suggested any positive goals, save riding the coattails of irresponsible advocates of constitutional fiscal restraints.

"Negative reaction is not very helpful in a legislative forum charged with rectifying the future course of our state," he said.

Recital Change

The voice recital which was scheduled for tonight at Union Congregational Church has been postponed to Sunday, Nov. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The soloists for the performance will be Miss Joan Chamberlin, Mrs. Donald Lewis and Mrs. George Mahar. The public is invited.

Chamber Seminar

VERNON - How to deal with OSHA regulations and the latest trends in workmen's compensation, will be discussed at a Nov. 15 seminar to be sponsored by the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce.

The seminar will start at 8:30 a.m. at the Colony in Talcottville and will run until about 11:30 a.m. with a mid-morning coffee and pastry break.

The seminar will feature knowledgeable speakers from the private sector who will discuss the two topics.

Representatives from large and small businesses are urged to attend the meeting. Those planning to attend should register by calling the chamber office, 872-0587. A $5 registration fee will be charged.

Ordinance Enforced

VERNON - With the coming of winter the Vernon Police Department will begin stepping up enforcement of the nighttime parking ordinance. Herman Fritz, police chief said.

The ordinance states that no person leaving a vehicle parked on a public street or highway in the town of Vernon for more than two hours, between the hours of 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. any day will be fined $5.

Chief Fritz said that reasonable requests for overnight parking on the streets may be honored in extreme situations such as fire, sickness or emergency situations, upon approval from the police department.

Chief Fritz also reminds residents that cars left on the streets during snow storms are a hazard to the flow of vehicular and pedestrian traffic and hamper snow removal operations. These cars will be towed at the owner's expense.

Mike Scholsky

Scholsky Elected

The newly elected president of the class of '79 is not just an ordinary run-of-the-mill senior whose major concern is to accumulate enough credits to graduate. Mike Scholsky has quite a few unique aspects about him and many good ideas for uniting the senior class.

Mike is a member of MHS wrestling team. He is one of those "different" people who gives up ice cream and cookies for skim milk and yogurt for the five month season. His sacrifice and practice paid off last year when he placed third in the state competitions.

This year he is hoping for a two-bell place, since one of the possibilities he has graduated.

Scholsky also enjoys the outdoors. He goes camping and backpacking with friends whenever he has the time.

After graduation he plans to spend the summer in Ireland, in a single hut with no lights, no heat, and no running water. The cottage is situated on acres and acres of land that are quite suitable for hiking and camping.

At the end of the summer he wants to go on to college. His first two choices at the present are Northeastern and UConn.

He has hopes for the MHS class of '79. He is trying to initiate new activities for the senior class. Some of his tentative plans include an ice cream social followed by a dance and a sleepover or camping trip for the class.

He commented at the end of our discussion, "Our class is a very together class. If we can keep up this great spirit we will have no problems in planning activities to please the whole class." - Ingrid Jacobson

Singers Open New Season

Round Table is off again on another successful year. We're singing and trying to raise money for our upcoming concert tour in Hawaii this spring vacation. So far it looks like we're off to a pretty good start.

Our first major fund raising event was the Talent Show held on Oct. 20. We raised money by selling tickets in addition to offering home baked goods during intermission.

The biggest profit, however, was obtained by selling calendars. Each member attempted to sell 20 calendars. The drive was organized by the GOALS INCORP and we should earn a minimum of $1,600.

Another energetic project was work day, held this past weekend. Each member set aside six hours for the citizens of Manchester. Many calls came in for leaves to be raked, windows to be washed, and houses to be cleaned. Another work day is planned for this Tuesday, Nov. 7, election day. Those wishing to have work done may call the music department at MHS.

So far all members seemed extremely anxious to work, not only to lower the rates on their visit to Hawaii, but to help their community. So thanks for your support and see you next Tuesday! - Terri Smith neighborhood hamburger stand all cost money.

Watching the school teams play interscholastic basketball and football should be a privilege of every student attending Manchester High. The admission charge denies this privilege.

Allowing students to attend without charge, as they can do for every other sport in the school, will increase students' participation, attendance at the games, and give support for the teams. This point has already been proven. Free tickets to the first football game (actually leftover musical tickets) were made available to the students during homeroom. At that game, the bleachers were filled and students yelled and cheered for the victorious Indians. The numerous free tickets used for admission demonstrates that more students will come to the games if they do not have to pay. These students are coming to see their friends, classmates, or the team as a whole, compete in OCL and rival school competition. They are watching a group of their peers, not a professional team that plays for money. Manchester High students should be able to watch their teams play for free. It can be argued that the SAA (Student Assembly Activity) card, costing four dollars, gives the student an advantage over the public when it comes to admission. The discount price of one dollar, when multiplied by all the home games of each athletic team, builds into a substantial sum, which the students are paying. This is going to support their sports teams.

The Student Assembly should have its admission charges for dances, concerts and movies. At these activities, it is accepted that students who are the participants, should pay for their entertainment.

These functions and other money-raising sales could compensate for the money lost from not charging students admission to sports events.

One of the Student Assembly's goals is to increase student participation and ignite spirit within the school, but their own efforts are cancelled by charging admission to these athletic events.

The purpose of the basketball and football games is to increase school competition and sportsmanship, not to make money.

So let's let it be at the principles behind high school sports and encourage student participation. Let's give students free admission to all home sports events. - Karen Johnson

Proposed Charter Revisions Will be on Nov. 7 Ballot

By BARBARA RICHMOND Herald Reporter

VERNON - When Vernon voters go to the polls on Tuesday they will be asked to vote on proposed revisions to the Town Charter.

The proposed changes do not include the controversial issues of consolidation of the fire departments or elimination of the annual town meeting. Both issues have been discussed in connection with past revisions but dropped due to public opposition.

All it will say on the ballots will be to vote on the question of proposed revisions to the charter of the Town of Vernon. The revisions will not be itemized.

The preamble of the charter is being changed to incorporate some of the historical background of the town.

Changes are proposed for Chapters III and VII, concerning the Board of Education. Terms for members have been for six years. The proposed change calls for election of three members for two years and three members for four years. The board has nine members with three elected at each town election. The transition procedure will be worked out by alternating election of three members for two years and three members for four years.

The charter is also being changed to read that no member of the board can hold another elected or appointed office.

'Mossbros' Rents Everything From Formal Wear to Umbrellas

By LILLIAN O'CONNELL
LIFE-Style Editor
LONDON (UPI) — If the man in your life balks at wearing a tie and jacket when you go out, point him in the direction of Brighton on your visit to England and forget the races at Royal Ascot.
But if morning clothes and a top hat don't terrify him, send his measurements and requirements ahead to Moss Bros., London, or head for 21 Bedford St., Covent Garden, when you arrive in the British capital.
The Monday before the opening day of Royal Ascot '78 we stood beside Moss Bros. in London, the grandchild of the founder and deputy chairman of the family business, and marveled at the long queue of English gentlemen at the hat bar, trying on grey toppers with incredible speed and dexterity while waiting for their morning wear.
A single-breasted black morning suit and grey top hat rents at 75 pence, and for another 55 pence, a stickpin.
If you think you'll need a brailly (umbrella), it's only one pound 75 pence.
All these items and many more are also for sale.
Moss Bros. was founded in the 1850s and today is one of the most complete men's stores in the world. They also do a big business in wedding gowns. They sell ski wear and hunting outfits and, according to Moss, they are the most famous saddlers in Britain. They have opera cloaks for rent at 10 pounds, and if you need the correct studs to go with your evening wear, they'll loan them to you.

return to the stiff collar? "I always used to wear a stiff collar. I've stopped doing that now, and I'm sure I'm the worst dressed for it. I try to persuade people when they're wearing outwears to wear a stiff collar, which is correct — it is formal and correct."

The only thing problems Moss Bros. encounters are with business suits. "A man doesn't want to do us out of a morning coat or a dinner jacket, but he can get a lounge suit if he's a ruger."

Moss Bros. will lend a man a pair of braces (suspenders) at no extra charge or rent him spats if he wants them — "a very smart." And this year for the first time, formal day wear was available for women for Royal Ascot.

Study of Burnham St. Closing Urged

East Hartford's Town Council should be careful not to act too hastily on closing Burnham Street to through traffic because of possible increased traffic going to and from the J.C. Penney industrial site in Manchester.

Recently, South Windsor Mayor Nancy Caffyn complained that if East Hartford closed Burnham Street at the Manchester town line, it would have a very negative effect on South Windsor.

What does this mean when coupled with the rumblings from East Hartford regarding dead-end Burnham Street? It means South Windsor stands to be the big loser here with all northbound traffic funneled toward its streets.

Study of Burnham St. Closing Urged

East Hartford's Town Council should be careful not to act too hastily on closing Burnham Street to through traffic because of possible increased traffic going to and from the J.C. Penney industrial site in Manchester.

Recently, South Windsor Mayor Nancy Caffyn complained that if East Hartford closed Burnham Street at the Manchester town line, it would have a very negative effect on South Windsor.

What does this mean when coupled with the rumblings from East Hartford regarding dead-end Burnham Street? It means South Windsor stands to be the big loser here with all northbound traffic funneled toward its streets.

Sarasin Backed For Governor

The State of Connecticut should elect Ronald Sarasin as its next governor. In doing so, the voters and taxpayers of Connecticut would be providing themselves with the closest thing to a guarantee that their tax dollars would be collected sparingly and spent wisely.

It is ironic. The rulers of Cambodia are as crazy as Hitler. One estimate is that three million Cambodians have been murdered. The estimate may be high. There is no outside media coverage of the slaughter, and evidence must be collected painstakingly from refugees and neutral diplomatic sources.
But U.S. intelligence people say the three-million figure could be correct. One high agency official notes that

'Burfoot Missed'

The familiar voice on the other end of the phone earlier this week was that of Amby Burfoot, winner of nine of the last 10 Five Mile Road Races in Manchester and the course record-holder.

boys' varsity tennis coach at DeSarro High. The job is vacant and one would't be surprised if Phil Hyde assumed the post he once held.

Due to a change in address, the 1978 race application is still somewhere in the mails.

"I'm in good shape and I have been training faithfully. I have three weeks of training left before the race. I figured I had better sharpen up after I've been hearing from a number of runners who are dead-set on beating me and ending my reign in Manchester," he said.

The 18-month limit still will apply to all CETA jobs, he said. "We have had a few minor problems that were published but they have all been resolved. The boys look their punishment like men. No one knows how close the boys are on the team. For example, the other day they all pitched in and helped one of the members of the team to get the necessary work at his farm. We've got some real good boys on our team this fall."

Formation of a Manchester Runners' Club will be announced shortly. A number of Manchester road racing enthusiasts will make up the membership. The club's initial venture will be competing in the Five Mile Road Race Thanksgiving morning.

Gary Gates, outstanding Illinois Junior High cross country runner, who has made it a habit of setting records in this fall, is the younger brother of Steve Gates, one of the state's best distance runners and current Manchester Community College cross country coach.

Indian Runners Fourth In State Class LL Meet

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter
Manchester High for the second consecutive year proved to be the fourth best team at yesterday's state Girls' Class LL Cross Country Championship Meet at Harkness Memorial Park in Waterford.

Sue Caouette

Conard High, runner-up in the CCIL, school, finished fifth with 145 points.

Third place honors went to Hall High of West Hartford, with 116 points, with the Silk Towers fourth at 129 points. Simsbury High, another CCIL school, finished fifth with 145 points.

Jeremy Edmonds of Glastonbury High took individual honors with a 14:35.5 clocking over the 2.6 mile layout, beating out defending champ Mary Jo Tabue of Simsbury who had a time of 14:46.8. Edmonds running for Tolland High, last year won the Class S crown.

Conard's Lynne Carlson finished third and Cheshireans occupied fifth through eighth placements but breaking up the pack was Manchester sophomore Sue Caouette who took fourth place with a time of 15:06.3.

"I wasn't surprised at all by Conard's strength," stated Manchester Head Coach Phil Blancheite. "It was an excellent job, super effort on the part of my girls. They ran the best they could and I couldn't ask for more."

"Our goal this year was third place. My team was stronger than last year but the competition was so much tougher. Time-wise I think this turned out to be the toughest division of the day," the third-year coach continued.

"The downstate schools (NFA, Fitch) turned out to be tougher than we thought. Again we underestimated them," Blancheite added. Fitch took sixth place with 204 points.

Caouette, in her own estimation, passed about six in the last half-mile to secure fourth place. "Caouette in the beginning of the season ran in Jayvees because she couldn't complete time trials," Blancheite revealed. "Now she's No. 1 because of her determination and also she's turning out to be a fine leader."

Senior Captain Kate Hennessy despite falling which resulted in a scraped knee regained her feet to take 10th place with a time of 15:28.3. Hennessy along with Caouette, won a medal for finishing in the top 10.

Sophomore Jeanine Murphy secured 16th place for the Indians with a time of 15:52.2 with junior Chris Cheney 42nd and sophomore Karen Scott 57th in a field of 133 runners. Sophomore Kim Scott finished 63rd and junior Lauren Woodhouse 86th for the locals.

Hall, which the Indians topped in dual meet competition, had its top runner (Marget Long) only in 12th place but placed five in the top 36 to nail down third place, earning members of that squad team medals.

Manchester advances to Thursday's State Open Meet as the top four teams and 20 individuals qualified for the Open.

Dolphins-Cowboys Head NFL Slate

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Miami Dolphins and the Dallas Cowboys - the NFL's two dominant teams of the decade - get together for the first time in five years Sunday in a game that can send one into first place.

Miami, 6-3 in the AFC East, can grab a share of first place if Buffalo upsets New England. Dallas, 6-3 in the NFC East, can pull into a first-place tie if Baltimore beats Washington Monday night.

These have not been the best of times for the Cowboys. Coming off a 21-10 loss to Minnesota Thursday night, Dallas has not been playing its customary crisp game.

"Right now we are not superior to a lot of football teams in this business," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said.

However, the Dolphins know the Super Bowl champions well enough to realize what they're up against.

"Their defense is awesome," said running back Delvin Williams, the league's leading rusher with 887 yards. "They played under that system for years and have all their techniques down pat. And they've got great personnel."

The game - played before an anticipated crowd of 75,000 at the Orange Bowl - will feature some alluring matchups.

Miami quarterback Bob Griese faces Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach - the top-rated passers in the NFL in 1977. At running back, it will be Dallas' Tony Dorsett against Williams.

On the sidelines, it's Don Shula of Miami vs. Landry - the two winningest active coaches in the NFL.

A Dolphin victory would give Shula 171 career wins, moving him into third place, ahead of Paul Brown, for all-time NFL coaching victories. Landry, the only coach the Cowboys have had, has 168 wins.

The last time the two clubs met was Thanksgiving Day 1973 with the Dolphins winning, 14-7. Elsewhere Sunday, New Orleans is at Pittsburgh, Cleveland is at Houston, New England at Buffalo, Green Bay at Philadelphia, New York Jets at Denver, Tampa Bay at Los Angeles, Detroit at Minnesota, New York Giants at St. Louis, Seattle at Chicago, Oakland at Kansas City, San Francisco at Atlanta and Cincinnati at San Diego. Baltimore hosts Washington Monday night.

Bidding Begins For Free Agents

NEW YORK (UPI) — There aren't likely to be many additions this year to baseball's elite class of million-dollar, free-agent players. The bidding begins today after the major league's 26 teams divide up the negotiating rights to the 42 players who have declared themselves free agents. But the most notable characteristic of this year's group is that it's the least impressive since free agency began three years ago.

Baseball

The biggest prize is Pete Rose, the lifetime .300-hitting third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds. Rose, who hit .302 and had 193 hits, scored 103 runs and had a 44-game hitting streak last season, turned down the Reds' latest offer for a reported $400,000 a year, saying he wants to be the highest paid player in the game. But like so many of his fellow free agents, Rose, at 37, is nearing the end of his career. He may find surprisingly few teams willing to pay him the kind of money he wants.

McNab Leads Way In Bruin Victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Boston Bruins' center Peter McNab was given more playing time last season he responded with a career-high 41 goals. Now, 10 games into the season and with the Bruins 7-1-2 and in first place in the Adams Division, it looks as though McNab has continued where he left off.

Pro Hockey

They fell behind 1-0 on a goal by New York's Wayne Merrick. But three goals by the Bruins in the second period by Terry O'Reilly, Don Marcotte and McNab set the tone for the rest of the way. Bob Miller completed Boston's scoring in the third period.

foot-9, 170-pound senior, was listed as questionable for Manchester. Head Coach Jack Holik early in the week. The Indians, however, will be without big blocking fullback/defensive end Dave Tye for the rest of the season.

Manchester will be bolstered for the important game by the return of starting quarterback Gary Marinneau and defensive nose guard Doug Ogden. College Plans Poet Reading

MANCHESTER — The poet-interpretor who accompanied Robert Frost on his tour of Russia in the late fifties will read his own poetry Monday at 8 p.m. in the dining room of Manchester Community College.

Franklin D. Reeve, now a resident of Higganum, has long been associated with Wesleyan University, first as a Russian scholar and head of the Russian Department, then as an English professor. He is currently an adjunct professor of English at Wesleyan and visiting lecturer at Yale University.

For two weeks in November he will give readings at various institutions of learning. The MCC reading "circuited" is arranged through the Honors College at Wesleyan.

Reeve received his bachelor's degree from Princeton and his master's and doctorate from Columbia. He has written five novels. His latest novel, "The Wild Swans," is soon to be published in England. His two books of poems are "In the Silent Storms" (1968) and "The Blue Cat" (1977).

A reception will be held after the reading, during which students may chat with the poet. The public is invited to the event, which is free.

Three members of the cast of "Guys and Dolls" pose here. Left to right are the Rev. Gordon Bates as Nicely Nicely Johnny; Hugh Finkle as Rusty Charlie; and Louis Skinner as Benny Southstreet. The South Congregational Church and Friends will present "Guys and Dolls" tonight and Saturday night at 8 p.m. at East Hartford High School.

Workshop Set On Woodwinds

MANCHESTER — Foot Prints at 466 Main St. will hold a woodwind workshop Saturday at 2 p.m. for ages 4 to 16. This workshop is the first in a series of four called the Young People's Music Series.

Dawn Werme, flutist and music ensemble director at Foot Prints, will lead the woodwind workshop.

Future workshops scheduled are a performance workshop Nov. 18 with Peter LaBombard, flutist, and John Bennett, oboist, string workshop Dec. 2 with Philip Wilson, guitar, and Dawn Werme, flute, and a percussion workshop on Dec. 16 with Bob Gatzen and Gene Bozzi of Creative Music, Wethersfield, and the Barchet Sound Sculptures. All workshops will begin at 2 p.m.

Anyone interested in registration and more information may call the Foot Prints at 645-8553.

Folk Music Due At Coffee House

Malcolm Dalgligh and Grey Larsen will offer traditional and contemporary folk music on hammered dulcimer, guitar and mandolin Saturday at 8 p.m. at The Sounders, a traditional folk music coffee house in the basement of the former church at the corner of Park and Amity streets in Hartford.

Concerts are held every Saturday night at the coffee house. The doors open at 7 p.m. and the concert starts at 8 p.m. One admission will be exchanged (on one week's notice) for a tin of home-baked goods.

Parishioners Up Late To Practice Gambling

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — There is a group of parishioners in the south end of town who have been staying up late at night this week.

They've been singing songs and pushing themselves to get ready for the church production of the play "Guys and Dolls," which will be presented by the South Congregational Church and Friends tonight and Saturday night at East Hartford High School. Curtain is at 8 p.m.

The play has been in the works since early September and many parishioners in the church have active parts. Its cast numbers about 60 and the cast and crew totals about 100.

The church presented "Li'l Abner" three years ago and it was a success. Church members feel this is a more ambitious project.

It involves various sets of props, musical scores and choreography. The project has been keeping its director, Audrey Sterner, busy for the past six weeks.

It wasn't until this week that the cast was able to move its rehearsals from the cramped quarters of the church meeting room on Forbes Street to its natural setting, the stage at East Hartford High.

But, this week the play finally moved to the high school, where the cast is busily preparing for opening night.

The play is set in New York City in the 1930's. It involves the story of two separate romances between gamblers and two different girls, Sarah Brown and Miss Adelaide.

Sarah Brown runs a missionary and the lead male character, Sky Masterson, attempts to woo her. Meanwhile, Miss Adelaide attempts to get her fiancé of 14 years, Nathan Detroit, to finally decide to marry her.

Poetry Society Meets Tonight

The Connecticut Poetry Society, which sponsors an annual contest public readings, and a magazine, will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Hartford YWCA.

All those interested in poetry are welcome to attend, preferably with a poem or two for criticism.

The deadline for submitting poems for the next issue of the "Connecticut River Review" is Nov. 30. Entries may be mailed to P.O. Box 44, Old Saybrook, Conn. 06475.

BOMB RUN: Grace Jones' Halloween spectacular at Roseland had been billed in New York as a bombshell. It turned into a bomb of multi-megaton yield and disgruntled ticketholders still are howling. The disco diva snubbed $60,000 of her own cash into a complicated battery of special effects machinery. None of it worked. With the show over, as many as 500 fans were left waving their $15 tickets on the outside. Inside it was no better. Hoping to sell a tape of the show to television, Grace hired a TV camera crew which blocked her act from the view of the audience and when some crowded the stage, security men started punching noses while the "cat lady" spat obscenities. Trick or treat, it seems, gets more dangerous every year.

COUNTRY HIC: Texas Congressman Bob Eckhardt must have been overwhelmed when United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young showed up in Houston to campaign for him. During a meeting with Young, Eckhardt came down with what the doctors call an "esophageal spasm" and it put him in the hospital for three hours. And just what is an esophageal spasm? It's translated as "a sudden vast hiccup" that causes intense pain in the throat and chest. After medical tests, Eckhardt finished afternoon campaign rounds with Young in tow.

THE UNINVITED: Even with a boyfriend in the cast, Stephanie Mills couldn't wangle an invitation to last week's New York World Premieres of "The Wiz" — the film version of the Broadway play in which she stars as Dorothy. Her press agent, John Carman, revealed Thursday tickets initially sent were canceled, on grounds too much had been distributed. At his protest, two duos finally showed up at the last minute — but by then, Stephanie's dander was up over the snub. "I'll go on my own," she huffed — and she did, after the premiere. Boyfriend Michael Jackson plays the Scarecrow in the film, with Diana Ross in the role of Dorothy.

GLIMPSES: Actress Anne Jackson and husband Eli Wallach are on a committee to raise money in the name of the late actor Gig Young, to build a home for retarded children. Betty Ford is hitting the promotion trail and will be in New York Sunday to push her autobiography "The Times of My Life," written in collaboration with Chris Chase. Ben Vereen will co-host NBC-TV's "America Alive" show Monday and Tuesday with Jack Lintletter. Shirley MacLaine will make concert appearances Nov. 11-13 in Melbourne and Sydney, Australia. Dennis Weaver is in San Francisco to codstar in ABC-TV's "Get Patty Hearst," in which he plays former FBI agent Charles Bates who supervised investigation of her kidnapping — with Lisa Eilbacher in the title role.

QUOTE OF THE DAY: From the essay that won first prize of $100 and a hot-air balloon ride for Greeley, Colo., 8th grader Dawn McNeese: "... riding in a hot-air balloon would be like having the whole sky to yourself, being on top of the world — free to do whatever you want. Look as the trees get smaller and smaller and the clouds bigger. Hear the wind whistling as it sings your song."

NEEDLEPOINT ART Turns to Fashion
NEW YORK (UPI) — When it comes to needlepoint art, pillows and other home furnishings made by taking a back seat to fashion accessories, according to judges of a national needlework competition held here.

The trend surfaced in the second annual Paternayan competition in which first prize was awarded to Susan Hall of Sun Valley, Idaho, for an elegant needlepoint bag.

Mahoney Knocks Foe's Idea

MANCHESTER — State Rep. Francis Mahoney said the state should make existing laws requiring automobile insurance work before proposing new regulations.

Mahoney, seeking re-election in the 13th Assembly District, was responding to a recent proposal from his opponent, Elsie "Bibi" Swenson, about changes to any legislation he said.

Maoney said proof of automobile insurance now must be shown on a newly registered motor vehicle form. The form requires the name of the insurance company and the policy number, he said.

"If my opponent was really serious about the uninsured drivers, where has she been since Jan. 1, 1973?" Mahoney asked.

She could have suggested proposed changes to any legislation, he said. "Her ideas for a new plan are already under consideration and in most cases outdated," he said.

A person not obtaining insurance is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a sentence of up to 90 days in jail. Mahoney also suggests that evasion of the law requiring insurance coverage should be made a separate crime. Now it is referred to only under the statutes that establish penalties for false statements.

Fahey Lauds Commerce Head

EAST HARTFORD — Marcella Fahey, Democratic candidate for the 3rd District State Senatorial seat, has praised Edward Stockton, commissioner of the state Department of Commerce.

Mrs. Fahey said Stockton has done an outstanding job in attracting new business and jobs to the state and she urged support of his efforts to improve the business and occupational climate of the state.

Jobs created or retained have doubled since 1975, Mrs. Fahey noted. And, new companies attracted to the state rose 35 percent last year, which is more than double the 41 new companies attracted three years ago.

Encouraged by a Democratic administration, the Department of

Extra Keys Handy

AIC advises motorists to keep a duplicate ignition and door key in their wallet or purse. Some might want to give a friend or family member a spare set of keys, which can be brought to the stranded vehicle. Some car owners purchase small magnetic key boxes which can be hidden under a bumper or in the engine compartment, but this method also increases the opportunity for a car thief to drive away with your automobile.

HOW TO BUY A HOUSE

Here are a few general tips to keep in mind when you plan on buying a house. The important thing to remember is that you must understand yourself - you taste financial ability and your needs. First of all:

- 1) Analyze your housing needs. 4 bedrooms may be basic to a couple with growing children, not if you youngest goes off to college next fall. Take into account your special needs.
- 2) Figure what you can pay. How much down payment can you afford? How much of a mortgage payment can you afford?
- 3) Now contact a Real Estate agency. Read ads for ideas, go out with real estate agents, cruise around on weekends. Keep in touch with your agent - he will get the leads for you.
- 4) Arrange financing with your bank. You can always shop around for a larger loan, a bit lower interest rate, or a longer term (which means smaller monthly payments).
- 5) Sign, seal and deliver - Finally comes the occasion known as "Closing" - when ownership passes to you. It marks the end of the trail. You have sought a house, found it and now it is yours. The Realtor has brought together to interested parties to complete the transaction for your new home ownership.
