

History Program Planned

EAST HARTFORD — Another of its "Remembering East Hartford" series is being planned by First Federal Savings of East Hartford Monday at 7:30 p.m.

As in previous programs, the meeting will focus upon the history, growth and continuing progress of the town with a special emphasis upon its industrial growth. A round table-type discussion will highlight the paper manufacturing, railroading and tobacco industries and their contributions to the town's growth.

Three long-time residents will share their experience with their respective industries. Harry Burke will speak on railroading. Vincent Brewer will talk about the tobacco industry and Helen McChellam will speak on paper manufacturing.

Others to speak include Ralph Secord, former librarian, Lee Paquette, author of a book on East Hartford history and Raymond Johnson, president of the East Hartford Historical Society.

A display of memorabilia pertaining to railroading is being prepared by Charles Palmer. John Keithline will show some slides.

The program is free and open to the public. Parking is available at the rear of the office at 1187 Main St.

Memories Live in Trees

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Trees located around the town's Municipal Building parking lot may not look extraordinary to most folks.

But, to a North Main Street family, the trees are a very special way of remembering a loved one.

The Gladys family of 645 N. Main St. has offered trees in its back yard — mostly Scotch pines and blue spruce — to the Town of Manchester.

Those trees were planted by James Gladysz, who passed away four years ago. Now, his son, Stan, is doing some clean-up and renovation work in the yard. The work has required most of the trees to be removed.

Rather than tossing them out or trying to relocate them on the property, Stan, and his mother, Pauline, decided to give them to the town.

"I couldn't see them going to waste," Stan said. "My father — it's in remembrance of him," he said of the tree donation.

"He was on good terms with a lot of people who worked with the town," Stan said of his dad.

Mrs. Gladysz said she has lived in town 29 years. This is one small way to help out the town.

The trees already have served a variety of purposes for Manchester. Ernest Turek, park superintendent, said about a dozen have been placed in planters located in an expanded section of the Municipal Building parking lot.

Another 10 have been planted around Union Pond, he said. Others were used in the Woodbridge Street parklet, which is across from Parkweather Street.

By using an exercise which he had learned at a special multi-cultural workshop, Dr. Fitzgibbons said, "The reason Americans do many of the things they do is because of their culture."

This year's enrollment figures show that there are more than 178

Educator Seeks Aid On Culture Program

By JUNE TOMPKINS

MANCHESTER — Assistant School Superintendent Dr. J. Gerald Fitzgibbons will ask the Board of Education Monday night to authorize him to seek federal aid to implement a special multi-cultural program.

Dr. Fitzgibbons' proposal was approved this week by the board's committee on curriculum and instruction.

He estimates that the program will cost between $150,000 and $200,000.

Dr. Fitzgibbons explained the Emergency School Aid Act, the purposes of which are to provide financial assistance to meet the special needs pertaining to the elimination of minority segregation and discrimination among students and faculty in elementary and secondary schools, and to aid school children in overcoming the educational disadvantages of minority group isolation. Also, to encourage reduction or prevention of minority group isolation in schools.

He said that some of the money would be used to pay for 10 teachers to attend four workshops.

Committee and board member Mrs. Eleanor Colman said that this program "will be a benefit not only to minorities, but desensitizing among teachers will benefit students and certainly be of benefit to the whole school system."

Dr. Richard F. Lindgren, principal of Hing Junior High School, began the meeting presenting a summary of multi-cultural education events in Manchester schools since the 1975-76 school year when special meetings were held at Hing with concerned parents to discuss racial tensions among some of the students. Dr. Lindgren was appointed coordinator of multi-cultural education by the State Department of Education. With the help of a planning committee, Dr. Lindgren had laid the groundwork for a recommended inservice program for which he was commended by Dr. Fitzgibbons.

Snoopy Rises Again

A 50-foot-tall "Snoopy" rises again at the Goodyear plant in Akron, Ohio, to go battle with the Red Baron in a make-believe Sopwith Camel. The giant balloon is being prepared for the 1978 Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City Nov. 23. Snoopy made his debut as an aviator in the 1968 parade but since 1969 has been made up as an astronaut. This year he's an aviator again. (UPI photo)

Educators Urge Public To Help Observe Week

EAST HARTFORD — The administration urges public participation as schools prepare for American Education Week observance Nov. 12-18.

Parents and other concerned citizens — in their constant quest for excellence in their local schools and education generally — should support teachers by outside activities that heighten classroom interest and involvement, said Sam Leone, assistant school superintendent for instruction.

"If we do not concern ourselves with the schools," Leone said, "we are forfeiting some of the responsibility we share for the future of our community, our country and successive generations."

Observance of the special week will include programs and other activities highlighting not only the accomplishments, but also the problems and challenges that lie ahead in education.

Sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the U.S. Office of Education, the week — with its theme this year, "Education Can Turn Things Around" — is also supported by more than 50 other organizations.

Leone, noting that the schools and education leadership face increasingly complex problems, said "we can help minimize the pressure of current crises by helping teachers at all levels instill a sense of values among their students."

Sponsors of American Education Week have noted a number of ways parents can express a commitment to education, he said. Among them are asking teachers how the parents themselves can become involved or by encouraging children that schools belong to them. They should also foster young people's interest in public television programs which might supplement classroom studies.

Council Fills Vacancies

COVENTRY — Republican Richard Bowen has been appointed as an alternate to the Planning and Zoning Commission, by the Town Council. The commission is comprised of five regular members and three alternates.

Edward Detrol was chosen to fill a vacancy on the town's Pension Board. Virginia Diehl was reappointed to the Board of Welfare. Walter Flwell to the Housing Authority, and Thomas Hall to the Sewer Authority.

In other business Town Manager Frank Connolly informed the council that the John Rockwell House at Hemlock Point has been approved for study by the National Register of Historic Places for possible listing. Connolly also discussed a recent meeting of persons involved with social services in town attended by him and by David Caver. Coventry's social services coordinator. The group recommended that the council appoint an advisory board for the following functions:

- To research the needs of the community.
- To communicate resources available to the community.
- To be the people's advocate for service programs.
- To seek funding for various programs and organizations.
- To do program planning and evaluation.
- To advise the town manager, the social services coordinator, and the council's William Kennedy, Fred Wallace, Caver, and Carl Brand will draft bylaws for the advisory group. In addition, Caver will prepare a list of needs for discussion at a subsequent meeting, which is slated for Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

Wallace represents the Windham Regional Community Council, and Brand is with the Parent-Child Resource Center. Kennedy is a resident of Mansfield and a member of that town's Social Services Department.

Loyalty Sunday Tomorrow

MANCHESTER — Sunday will be observed as Loyalty Sunday at Emanuel Lutheran Church, and pledges for 1979 will be received at both services.

Hod MacLean is chairman of the stewardship committee which has been making arrangements for this year's member appeal. The theme is "Working Together with Him in Mission." Members who do not attend the worship services will be visited.

In the evening, at 5:30, families are invited to a potluck, followed by a talent program, featuring the talent of church members.

The church has received its order of the new hymnals, "The Lutheran Book of Worship," and plans to begin using them on Advent Sunday, Dec. 3. A series of workshops will be held in the sanctuary for the next three Saturdays at 9:45 a.m., starting tomorrow.

The new editions of the hymnals were given in memory of Arthur I. Toll, who died Sept. 18, 1977.

Hebron Panel Just Advisory

HEBRON — At a meeting this week, members of the town's Water Pollution Control Authority stressed the fact that the authority was established to act only in an advisory capacity, to Hebron residents.

Basil Boycensky, town sanitarian and member of the authority, said that while he is serving on the authority he is acting in a sewer advisory capacity.

He said he is available to residents but said he will not investigate anonymous complaints but will work on the formal complaint basis.

Boycensky encourages residents, who wish further assistance with a possible overflow problem, to contact his office during regular working hours, or from 6 to 9 p.m. Mondays at the Town Office Building.

The authority also chose the names of six engineering firms to be interviewed Nov. 14 and 16.

The authority will meet again Monday at 8 p.m. at the Amston Lake Clubhouse. This will be a public forum.

Agencies Join Together to Combat Child Abuse

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Child abuse is a community problem. So, community agencies are doing their part to help those in Manchester affected by it.

Carole Shomo was hired two weeks ago to coordinate the work in this area. She explained the problem and how she hopes it can be handled.

"The whole concept of child abuse is a community problem," Ms. Shomo said. "Many of these families need a variety of services."

Thus, many of the town's agencies offering such services have joined the team that is taking child abuse.

Actually, the work on the child abuse problem started earlier this year. The group — known as the Child Abuse Task Force — was formed in March by the Manchester Community Services Council.

The team is made up of 23 area agencies and a volunteer child advocate, Jane Boggs.

Ms. Shomo was hired to coordinate the efforts of these agencies and insure that each separate child abuse case is getting the special treatment it needs.

She presently works out of the Human Services Department's office, but her position is funded totally through a federal grant.

"Mainly, I act as a liaison between an agency and the team," Ms. Shomo said. For instance, the team might review the case of a family where a boy is being abused by the mother and there is no father at home.

It might decide to contact a program like Big Brothers to provide a father figure for the boy, Ms. Shomo said.

Parents about being parents. Some abuse problems develop because parents have unrealistic expectations for their children, she said.

"They expect a one-year-old to level himself and dress himself. When he can't, they can't handle it," she said.

When such problems arise, the team can be called in to help. If possible, the solution will be both quick and beneficial one for all those involved.

Gunther Says Biebel Has Work to Complete

HARTFORD (UPI) — Maverick Sen. George Gunther, R-Stratford, said Friday GOP state chairman Friedrich Biebel should be made to clean up the party's large campaign deficit before any decision is made on whether he should resign.

Gunther, whose outspoken comments usually prick Republicans as well as Democrats, said Biebel should be made to "stay on and clean up his own pot."

Gunther said he was referring to the Republican central committee's campaign debt that ranges from between $200,000 and $300,000.

Designated as a family show with nearly 100 exhibitions by local retail service, and industrial firms, the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce show will be offering $1,000 worth of gifts as door prizes in a series of regular drawings.

Television, brass handboards, power tools, gift certificates, and home products are just a few of the items to be given away. Also ready for some lucky winner are ice buckets, smoke detectors, savings bonds, building accessories, camping blocks, and gift and hobby items.

The 1978 Manchester Product Show is open to the public from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 18 and 12:00 to 6:00 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 19. Ample parking is available.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haack will serve as host and hostess Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Latz Junior Museum, which is open to the public free of charge.

Schools Urge Parent Visits

VERNON — In recognition of National Education Week, Nov. 12-17, Dr. Bernard Sidman, superintendent of schools, urges parents and others who are interested to visit the schools to see educational programs in action.

Visitors are welcome any day during regular school hours, not just during education week.

There will also be evening hours Nov. 14 at the elementary schools; Nov. 15 at the Middle School; and Nov. 16 at Rockville High School. Special displays of student work will be posted at all of the schools.

Group Formed On Firehouse

HEBRON — Fire Department President Frederick Speno announced the formation of a fire department building committee, to look into the replacement of the present company No. 1 on Main Street.

According to Speno, this committee "will look into the alternatives for building sites and specifications and we hope to formulate a realistic proposal before the end of 1979."

Fire Chief William Borst said the present firehouse, built in 1936, is seriously deficient and is probably the worst town facility. Borst said the fact that last year's proposal for a municipal center was turned down was probably a "good thing."

"We feel we can put up a better facility for less money," he added.

Snow Clogs Rockies

An unrelenting snowstorm — the season's first major blast — shackled the Rockies in deep snow Friday and mounted a wild assault of blizzard winds and blinding snow on the Plains.

At least three traffic deaths were blamed on the storm and a private plane with four persons on board was missing.

The plane was feared down in a Wyoming wilderness area near Cody. A search crew was dispatched into the snow-swept woodlands.

Snow swirled from Utah to Wisconsin as the storm gathered strength and moved eastward onto the Plains.

"It's terrible up here," said Betty Pjepis of the Hot Springs County Sheriff's office at Thermopolis, Wyo. "I mean the roads and stuff are just like pure ice."

Up to a foot and a half of snow clogged roads and passes in the Rockies of Montana and Wyoming and foot-deep snows swathed the Black Hills of South Dakota. Roads and passes were closed, at least one airport shut down and some schools called off classes.

The Diablo Canyon Hulk

By MARTHA ANGLE
and ROBERT WALTERS
SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (NEA)

The massive hulk stands on a bluff overlooking the Pacific Ocean, a monument to the bad faith, arrogance and incompetence that have become the hallmarks of the controversy over the future of nuclear power.

Officially, it is known as the Diablo Canyon Power Plant, a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. (PG&E) generating station that houses two nuclear reactors, each capable of producing about 1,100 megawatts of electricity.

Unofficially, Diablo Canyon is located almost exactly halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco — has become a symbol of everything that can go wrong in the increasingly acrimonious nationwide dispute over the role of atomic energy as a source of commercial power.

Because the California coast is laced with sub-surface fault lines, the utility company conducted extensive geologic and seismic surveys in 1965 and 1966 to search for underground rock formations that might someday produce an earthquake.

No faults were found, but PG&E never conducted any offshore tests — even though the plant is located directly on the coast. The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) issued construction permits for the two generating units in April 1968 and December 1970.

In January 1971, two geologists employed by the Shell Oil Co. to search for offshore petroleum deposits published the results of their work in a scientific journal. Among their findings: the existence of a fault line beneath the ocean floor less than five miles from the nuclear plant.

Although an earthquake is highly unlikely, the possibility nevertheless exists that a major tremor could severely damage the Diablo Canyon plant. In the "worst-case" scenario, substantial amounts of radioactive material could be released into the atmosphere.

The AEC was supposed to closely monitor and regulate all nuclear activities to safeguard the public against potential hazards. Yet more than 2 1/2 years after the existence of the fault line was disclosed, federal officials were totally unaware of it.

PG&E says it didn't learn of the new evidence until late 1972, but even then it continued construction of the plant for almost a year without making any modifications to provide additional protection against an earthquake.

In August 1973 — a month after PG&E formally requested a federal operating license for both Diablo Canyon generating units — the company finally mentioned the newfound fault line to the AEC.

That touched off a round of additional investigations, preparation of supplemental safety reports (eight have been issued to date, a record unmatched by any other nuclear power plant in the country) and extensive reconstruction that continues to this day.

PG&E originally estimated that the generating station would cost $60 million. The current cost-estimate reconstruction that continues to this day.

and the plant has become a grotesque example of worst-scale planning gone berserk.

Inside the facility are solid concrete walls, floors and ceilings 2 feet thick, laced with steel reinforcing rods 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Heavy structural steel I-beams, some 4 inches thick, protrude from every imaginable angle to provide bracing and buttressing for pipes and conduits.

Although the company has made a heroic effort to refit the plant, its critics remain dissatisfied. The Southern California Edison Shoreline Preservation Council and other environmental organizations banded together as the Abalone Alliance will be satisfied with nothing less than abandonment of Diablo Canyon.

After more than a decade of planning and construction, the plant has yet to generate a single watt of power. The blame for that unprecedented delay must be shared by all the parties involved — conservation groups, the utility company and federal regulatory agencies.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:
Health costs have climbed threefold from 1970-1977. It is estimated that by the year 2000 even when taking inflation into account, we will be paying twice as much as we do today for health care. The nation's health bill will top two trillion dollars when such indirect costs of loss of earning power are included. It is time people put their feet down to what seems to be an unreasonable costs of medical care. One way to put power back with the people is to become more health conscious. By doing this we make every effort to keep ourselves in fit condition to stay out of hospitals and doctor's offices.

This means taking a closer look at what is putting us there in the first place. Scrutinize yourself. How many things can you list that in some way enhance your health? Do you make a special effort to get proper nutrition, checking labels to find out exactly what you are eating?

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Saturday, Nov. 11, the 315th day of 1978 with 50 to follow. This is Veterans Day. The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Mercury. Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

Thoughts

"Our Father... lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil." Some day we will realize that religion has as much to do with this life as with the next. Some day we will realize that eternity is the product of our lives here on earth without our selfishness and without our uncharitableness and hopefulness with God. Some day we will start forgiving each other as we wait for the Father to forgive us.

Taxation: Political Trust and Uniform Income Tax

Editor's Note: This is the 10th in a series of 15 articles exploring "Taxation: Myths and Realities." This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Manchester Community College offers a three-credit course based on the newspaper series. For information, call 646-2137. Copyright 1978 by the Regents of the University of California.

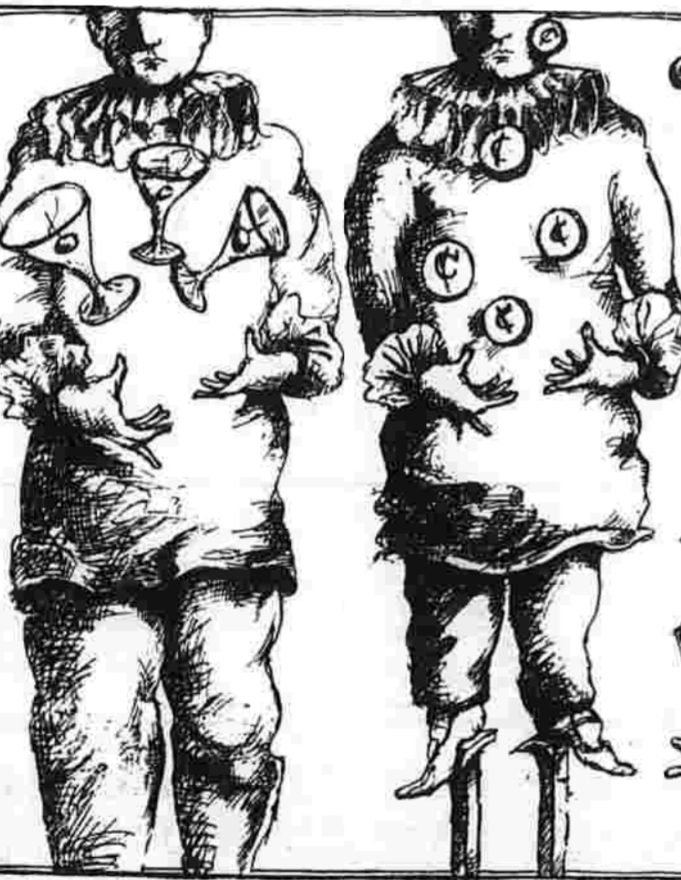

By AARON WILDAVSKY

How does an income tax system, full of special provisions to make it fair to everyone, end up pleasing no one? Why, if all these special tax breaks, like the ill-famed "three-martini lunch," are widely regarded as unfair, do they continue, breeding disrespect for government all the while?

The answer is that the general public is powerless against the "special interests" who are tax rates so high that these groups must work so hard to avoid actually paying them?

Why not, to come directly to our subject, abolish all income deductions so that the federal government could realize the same revenues at much lower rates and no one would be treated any differently from anyone else?

In trying to answer these questions, we hope to discover why it laged? How do we move toward fairness without leaving wrecked lives and institutions in our wake? Similar considerations hold in regard to the deduction of interest on housing mortgages from individual federal income taxes: it amounts to a subsidy that favors the cost of housing to buyers and homeowners. The interest on state and local bonds, which are issued to finance the building of streets, schools, and sewers, is also tax deductible. This tax break makes the bonds attractive to investors at a lower rate of interest than would otherwise have to be offered.

Who wants to bankrupt cities or depress the housing industry in an era of high unemployment, by eliminating deductions that help them? Yet who wants to perpetuate privilege?

Evidently, the problem is to get from where we are to where we would like to be without making most people worse off on the way.

Direct Subsidies
How? The federal government could subsidize state and local public confidence. Those who benefit sneer at how easy it is to avoid taxes or how glibly it is taken advantage of by those presumably designed to do good.

There is a pervasive sense that moral values are being subordinated to strategies for minimizing taxes. Financial gain, therefore, is often suspect as derived more from special privilege than from unusual talent. Consequently, the legitimacy afforded to government by the respect that supports the authority to govern, is being undermined.

Although there are deep controversies over what is or is not income, and therefore subject to taxation, a uniform tax on income would strengthen support for government.

Most of the work done by tax lawyers and accountants depends on having different rates for disputable amounts of taxable income. A single uniform rate would reduce feelings of dependence on the now indispensable legal reman of tax experts. Furthermore, cutting rates way down, though actual amounts paid will not vary greatly for most people, would lessen the feeling that most of what we make goes to taxation. The sense that everyone is part of the same fair process, paying the same rate, will enhance feelings of responsibility to the same civil society.

Destined to fall of its own weight, the present tax system has too many provisions, too many special cases, too many doubts. To preserve political legitimacy — the trust to make future decisions — it is vital that the tax process not only be fair but be seen by citizens as being fair.

The views expressed in Courses by Newspaper are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the funding agency, the distributing agency, or the participating newspapers and colleges.

An Uniform Tax

Why, then, if it is not clear that a uniform tax would be more just or more efficient, if it is politically problematic, does it deserve serious consideration? Because the massive discrepancy for government caused by the existing tax system outweighs its ability to adjust to individual differences. Indeed, so precisely this capacity to take into account special circumstances that has brought the tax system into disrepute.

Practically everyone I know believes that other people take unfair advantage of the tax code. Loopholes look more like breaks in the dam of MANCHESTER — A 1978 Pontiac parked in front of 75 Robert Road Friday night sustained considerable damage as the result of a fire which started in some leaves piled along the curb.

The fire blew out on the car during the fire and most of the damage was toward the front of the car. Deputy Chief William Griffin of the Town Fire Department said.

Airline Deregulation To Benefit Many Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Within 45 days, several hundred cities will reap the first fruits of a new airline deregulation law by getting back non-stop air service they had lost. Many communities will gain airlines that never before have visited.

The sudden route expansion will turn Hawaiian Airlines, until now a local carrier in the island state, into an interstate airline with a route network stretching from Baltimore and New York on the East Coast to San Diego and Portland, Ore., on the West Coast.

Sock 'n Buskin Meets Dialogue Play Challenge

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter
At best, a dialogue play is difficult for a professional adult cast to put over successfully. It seems hardly fair to impose such a play on a high school drama club, talented as it may be. But this is the challenge met by Manchester High School's 'Sock 'n Buskin' drama group in its current production, 'The Future of Revelation.'

Preserves Town's Natural Resources

At the tender age of 6 1/2, the Manchester Land Conservation Trust is a sturdy as they come and growing every day. There are older trusts in the state (one is 66). There are larger trusts (one has 400 members and another, 1,400 acres in keeping). There are a few that are younger, and one with only enough members to fill a board and no land at all.

The trust came into being on April 1, 1972. Manchester's population had doubled in the three preceding decades and was expected to increase by more than 30 percent in the next. Residential and commercial development was fast eroding the natural open and wooded spaces and the plant and animal life therein.

Dr. Douglas Smith was chairman of the City Beautiful Committee of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Frederick Spaulding was chairman of the town's Conservation Commission. Harry S. Maidment, chairman of the Hockanukiver Coordinating Committee; Attorney John Papa was an environmentally concerned legislator, and Mrs. Leonardo Parla was a Conservation Committee member.

Attendance is encouraged. Trust members are admitted free. The six annual May dinner meetings of the trust have included distinguished speakers providing information and inspiration on matters of environmental and organizational concern.

Wilderness Lake is scheduled for December 1. Audiences have been delighted in color presentations of the beauties of mountains, rivers and sea. Scenes from "Secrets of the Wildlife World," "Colorado by Dory," "The Flight of the Osprey," and the dramatic 12-projector slide show "Gentle Shines the Light" will not soon be forgotten. Admission is minimal to these programs and family attendance is encouraged.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Covington loves to tell about the first time he took a picture of himself and studied it carefully, discovering what he looked like. "I expected to see a young Robert Redford," he says. "Instead, I saw a young Groucho Marx."

Covington is almost blind. If he holds something up to his nose and looks at it through a magnifying glass, he can see it. The rest of the world is a blur.

He taught journalism at West Virginia University and tried practicing law in Texas, but didn't like it. Now he is working as a consultant to the Association of Flight Attendants writing and photographing — a slide presentation on how airline stewards can best help blind passengers.

When he looked at the results, he writes in his book, "I suddenly realized there was a great deal in those little pictures I had not seen at the time of the shooting. In some cases I did not even recognize the scene I had looked at for half an hour."

He was born with 20-400 vision in both eyes. Over the last nine years, retina degeneration took most of what little vision he had. He sees with less than 10 percent of normal vision on the edge of his right eye.

That's Entertainment

By Allen M. Widem

Ted Baxter came home to Connecticut the other day, somewhere between and between pomposity and bombast, belittled and between legend and real-life. Ted Baxter, character of the mythical television station high above the Minneapolis skyline.

He was still stalling, still snickering, yes, indeed, telling folks—at least, those who would listen—that Ted Baxter was none other than the tears and turmoil of a new series cancellation and, besides, whoever thought Lou Grant and Murray Slaughter would forsake Ol' Ted, anyway?

It was Ted Knight, nee Ted Baxter, back in Terryville, his home-town, a bucolic corner of heavily industrialized Connecticut—he of the astonishingly dense, self-centered mind ON screen, yet to be sure, very much with-it homelower very mindful of childhood ties, OFF screen.

He allowed as how, finding a suitably striking "return" vehicle for network television, to fit-like-a-glove the Knight, NOT the Baxter image necessarily, was not all that doggedly easy there, Ol' Pella.

Working on CBS-TV's "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" for something like seven, award-winning seasons (and some of them, remember?) was fine, certainly, but one can't keep working until one positions one's self for one's career goal years as a downbeat anything but anything in a way, lovable television "personality."

He's a well-trained actor, this Ted Baxter, Knight, dating back to post-World War II studies at the then-Randall School of Dramatic Arts in Hartford. Fellow students: Mike Kellin, Ernest Borgnine, among others), and, in all verisimilitude, he can act, act like many a Connecticut lad seriously bent on making it in one of the most competitive components of the American economy. That he did—from equally to the WCCC studios at the Old Bond Hotel, Hartford, to equally-modest broadcast stints on both coasts before Lady Luck beckoned.

Ted Baxter, as empty-headed a "personality" as TV could be found to contain, was waiting in the wings. Ego-plus—and didn't Ted Baxter remind us of some of the best of the difference between tooling up an Edsel at Ford Motor Co. and then learning, to one's dismay, that the market simply wasn't there, and slotting an actor identified with one given role for seven, yes, seven, award-winning years, into something else that's at once winning, winsome, and the shouting did away for Ted Baxter. A man who can pick up career acclaim after humble career start HAS the capabilities to forge ahead anew. Right on, Ted, right on!

How the Time Flies

How the time flies department: Pete Close and his son, 14-year-old Peter will be one of the many father and son combinations in the Five Mile Road Race Thanksgiving morning. The senior Close, the last Manchester native to win a berth on the United States track and field team in Olympic competition, is the current track and cross country coach at Tufts University.

The younger Close is attending Notre Dame Prep in New Haven and has earned with the Cross Country and Soccer teams. Close Sr. came out of Manchester High a standout and continued his outstanding career at St. John's University. He won the Five Mile in Manchester in 1958 - 20 years ago. While in college, Close won the ICAA indoor mile championships in both 1958 and 1959 as well as the Metropolitan distance titles.

USC Tops

For the second straight year, Southern California has produced the most players on the 28 National Football League squads this season. No less than 41 one-time Trojans are sprinkled on the rosters, the same number as a year ago.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) - The Penn State-North Carolina State game of last season turned into a record-shattering showdown between two players who now are among the leading contenders for the Heisman Trophy.

Oklahoma-Nebraska Shootout Could Be Scoring Explosion

NEW YORK (UPI) - Saturday's Oklahoma-Nebraska shootout could produce the biggest scoring explosion in college football history and perhaps the national championship.

Top-ranked Oklahoma, leading the country in rushing offense at 414.7 yards a game, must beat fourth-ranked Nebraska to maintain its momentum toward a national title and the Orange Bowl bid that goes to the Big Eight champion.

Nebraska, which has an initial offense with a 515.2 yard average, would merit consideration toward being named the No. 1 team in next week's ratings if the Coach's Office believes his upstart Coach Tom Osborne believes his team can accomplish.

The two teams also rate one-two in scoring offense, with Nebraska averaging 41.3 points a game in nine outings and Oklahoma registering 40.4 per cent.

Third two years ago and second last year in the Five Mile Road Race in Manchester Thanksgiving morning, Charlie Duggan has his sights set on moving up one notch this time around.

The 25-year-old Hartford native, now residing in Gainesville, Fla., working with Marty Liquori's Athletic Attie headquarters in that Sunshine city, was one of more than 200 entries received by Will Hadden yesterday for the 1978 run.

Riva Ridge Track Mark Slew's Aim Not Patriot Defense

NEW YORK (UPI) - Riva Ridge's 1973 track record of 1.47 will be Seattle Slew's object Saturday when the 4-year-old colt makes the last start of his career in the $100,000-added Stuyvesant Stakes at Aqueduct.

Slew was assigned high impost of 134 pounds - the most he's ever carried for the 1 1/4 mile, and will be going from 19 to 29 pounds to his seven opponents.

Nevertheless, Slew, to be ridden by Angel Cordero Jr. from post No. 3, was labeled the prohibitive 1-10 favorite and will be coupled with staminate Big John Taylor.

From the rail out, the field includes Big John Taylor, 117, Falber Hogan, 111; Jumping Hill, 115; De Tiger George, 114; Wise Philip, 112; Finger Paints, 107; and Judging Man, 111.

Another game involving top ranked teams No. 6 Texas against No. 8 Houston, whose coach, Bill Yeoman, admits his Cougars surprised him this season "by coming along faster than expected."

Also, No. 7 Michigan plays Northwestern, No. 9 UCLA meets Oregon State and No. 10 Georgia faces Florida.

American Pfister Defeats Rosewall

HONG KONG (UPI) - American Hank Pfister upset defending champion Ken Rosewall of Australia, 6-4, 7-6, in what he called "my most cherished victory" Friday as play in the Hong Kong Tennis Patrons' Classic was halted due to rain.

The 25-year-old sixth seeded player became top contender for the $12,750 winner's purse by eliminating fourth seeded Rosewall, the last of the Hong Kong five players, at Hong Kong's Victoria Park.

The temperamental American smashed powerful cross-court passing shots after racket serves to break the tenacious Australian's spectacular comeback in the second set of the one-hour 50-minute match.

Cartoon Characters? Not Patriot Defense

NEW YORK - Although their nicknames may create visions of cartoon characters, there is nothing comical about New England's defensive corps of Raymond (Sugar Bear) Hamilton, Mel (Jaws) Sack, McGee, and Richard (Tricky Dick) Bishop.

The Patriots' defense, which has helped the team atop the AFC Eastern Division with an 8-2 record, is anchored by its strong front wall. New England is No. 2 among AFC clubs in fewest yards allowed (28.4 per game) and is the toughest unit to run against in the conference (111.3 average rushing yards per game).

The only area in which Coach Chuck Fairbanks' club is not measuring up to its 1977 standards is in sacks. The Patriots have tackled opposing passers 19 times in 10 games after leading the league last season with 58 sacks.

New England's defensive coordinator Hank Bullough is not alarmed at the drop-off.

Sparky Lyle Out to Texas In 10-Player Transaction

NEW YORK (UPI) - Sparky Lyle, the American League's Cy Young Award winner in 1977 who became disenchanted when relegated to second-line status in the Yankees, Friday got his wish to be traded when the New York Yankees sent him to the Texas Rangers in a 10-player deal.

The Yankees dealt Lyle, the 34-year-old left-hander, plus catcher Mike Heath, pitchers Larry McCall and Dave Ristich, utility infielder Dimingo Ramos to Texas for center fielder Juan Beniquez, pitchers Dave Righetti, Paul Mirabella and Steve Carlton, outfielder Greg Jenson. The Rangers also received an undisclosed amount of money.

Righetti, 20, was considered the main player in the deal as far as the Yankees were concerned. The younger struck out 127 batters and walked only 49 in 31 innings at Tulsa of the American Association this year. He was 5-5 as a starter.

"We're in love with Righetti," said Yankees President Al Rosen, who is pleased with the trade and the lefty reliever was glad.

"Sparky seemed elated," Rosen said. "He hopes they work his best out. That's what he wants. He is one of the greatest left-handed relief pitchers the game has ever known. He's a great competitor."

In order for the Yankees to trade Lyle, they had to get his consent since he has been in the major leagues for 10 seasons and spent more than five with the Yankees. Lyle said he would not agree to the trade unless his contract terms were met but Rosen said that to his knowledge the Yankees have ever known.

Lyle still has two more years to run on his old contract but it was reported the Rangers were going to lengthen it at a sizeable increase in salary.

As Lyle feared when the Yankees signed free agent Rich Gossage for $2.75 million last year, there was not enough work for both late-inning relievers. The Yankees elected to rely on the hard-throwing Gossage and third baseman Graig Nettles, quipped Lyle "went from Cy Young to savora."

Just one season earlier, Lyle became the first relief pitcher in American League history to win a Cy Young Award. After resolving a contract dispute with the Yankees that lasted nearly two years, Lyle accepted for the pitcher, Lyle appeared in 72 games and posted a 2.15 record with 26 saves. His earned run average over 137 innings was 1.37.

Maryam began playing the universal sport back in the seventh grade. Good thing. With hundreds of teams vying for honors in her homeland, a good head start is necessary just to qualify for the many trials of future competition.

"I learned volleyball just by practicing in my back yard," she said. "I never had formal clinical experience. I had no real coaching until I went out to join my high school team."

There are scores of championship tournaments in Iran, and cups are the only prizes. The best teams in the nation play each other until ultimate victor becomes the champion of Tehran. Many times this club recruits outstanding players from runner-up teams and then plays the best teams from other countries, Eskandani said.

In Iran, as in the United States, there are men's and women's teams. This is complicated by the fact that students change schools so often. You can't tell the players without reading all the score cards.

Believe in the Dog

There's an old saying amongst bird hunters that goes something like this: "If you've got a good dog, BELIEVE IN THE DOG." These words, or similar sentiments, are easier said than done. Especially when we think we are faced with the obvious. What made me decide to write about his was an incident that happened last week.

I went hunting with some friends one day last week on a game preserve out east. The hunt was organized by my good friend, Tom Quinn, a Manchesterite and one of the finest dog trainers in the East.

I'm sure when some of my readers see the words "game preserve," they'll figure... "Like shooting fish in a barrel"... that's hunting on a preserve. These are the same people who think this way when you say "you've fished a stocked pond for an hour when you take them out to the stocked pond, they can't do any better there than they would fishing a public pond or river. The fish become wild very shortly in a stocked pond, and a hunt organized by Tom Quinn is no hasty pick'n's.

The birds are not put out and placed with head tucked under wing, so that they sleep until aroused by the dogs. On this preserve, they are dropped long before the hunt, and are scattered all over some 70 odd acres... So, what you are hunting are holder birds from previous stockings, and moving wary pheasants... And they can move!

But to get back to my story. Don Quinn of Manchester, who was one of my companions, has a really great dog going in "Willy," a beautiful German Shorthair. Trained by Quinn, this dog has got to be one of the best I've hunted over... Great game, minds well, beautiful style on point and a damn good retriever.

Willy had pointed a bird, and we were running up toward the dog, the dog was barking and the pheasant was flushed, catching us flat footed for a moment. We both tried it as it winged over toward some trees in another field. We knew the bird was also because we saw the feathers fly before it settled down in a tree, about 200 yards away.

We arrived at the spot where we had marked the bird... no bird... Stopping around these bushes under the tree, we searched every way, looking for it. Don to "Willy," "Find the bird!" "Find the bird, Willy." Suddenly the dog took off and went down a hill a good 200 feet from where we were searching... and off he went along the bottom of the hill another 250 to 300 feet away from us. "What that dog up to?" Don said, as he tried to call him back.

"We were all trying to figure him out, and Tom was muttering under his breath, about crazy darn fool dogs that he'd trained taking off like that. Suddenly up the hill came "Willy," proud as a peacock, with the bird in his mouth... Right up to Don he went, and then turned, and took the bird to Quinn, who lifted it from him. The dog looked at us as if to say, "Hey turkeys, I knew what I was doing!"

Another time, while hunting with Quinn, and one of his great dogs, "Son Dog," the dog locked on point in some tall grass next to a stone wall. We stopped and beat those bushes for a good five minutes while "Son Dog" stayed locked up. I even looked around the rocks in the wall. Turning to Tom, I said, "That bird must have jumped on the wall and scoted along the top." [Pheasants will often do this... They are great runners.]

My parents had very close friends here in Manchester," she said, "and they invited us to stay here for a day or two and be a part of their family."

These friends are Dr. Hossein Hosseini, a surgeon at Manchester Memorial Hospital, a native of Iran, and his wife, Ann Metta. They invited Maryam to stay. "I definitely decided to do this," Eskandani said, "and my mother and brother went back to Iran. I wanted to do a new experience, and I knew that living in the United States would be very exciting. I don't know if I'll go back to Iran on a permanent basis. Actually I love both countries. I'll have to live with my father."

Maryam plays center back, left back and right back. Coach Sandy Sawicki says the young volleyball player "has been playing well and is very enthusiastic. She serves well and is becoming a better hitter. And Maryam works better at spiking the ball."

Eskandani is studying business administration in college from an academy point of view. One little harder 24 courses a year in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. And they are all required courses. But after ninth grade, students select their courses. There are nine months of school and three trimesters a year. Sometimes classes in some courses meet daily and others meet only once a week, but one cannot avoid taking 24 courses.

Heavy emphasis is placed on all the sciences, especially algebra, biology, chemistry and physics. English is considered a second language and students begin learning that in the first grade.

"We had to get used to idiomatic expressions," Maryam said. "All we studied was grammar so I needed to learn more vocabulary and speaking the language."

In the summer of 1976 Maryam visited Las Vegas and Los Angeles. She also joined the Youth for Understanding program and the American Field Service while attending Manchester High.

"I really love the United States," Maryam said. "They have very opportunities and more freedoms here than in Iran. I guess I had a tough time learning English and getting used to the atmosphere here. I've been away from home was difficult. "I go home every summer and my father has come here every winter. This winter I am going home with my father. I don't know if I'm coming this winter."

"I don't know if I can ask for a better family. They have been very nice to me. I have two families and four parents," she said with a smile.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Helping Hands Get A Knuckle-Rap

DEAR ABBY: Please say something to well-meaning friends and relatives who insist on crowding into the kitchen to help serve a meal even after you have said, no, thank you, to their offer.

They block the passageways, the stove, the refrigerator and cabinets, and they think they're helping you. I've worked many hours preparing a good meal, but before I get it served, I'm ready to go to bed!

When a hostess refuses my offer to help, I retreat, return to the other guests and keep the conversation going. How I wish everyone would do me that way. Sign me...

NO HELP WANTED

DEAR NO HELP! There's a wonderful poem by Susan Sawyer that you might want to hang in your kitchen. It's been in my column, but apparently it's time for a rerun.

PLEASE STAY AWAY FROM MY KITCHEN

"Please stay away from my kitchen
 From my darning, cooking and such;
 When I ask that you not to touch in
 But thanks, no, thank you so much!

Please don't think me ungrateful
 When I ask that you not to touch;
 For my kitchen's not just my space
 And my routine is strictly my own.

Tell you what: Stay out of my kitchen
 With its odds and ends, but better than
 When you're here, stay out of my kitchen
 And I promise to stay out of yours!"

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to be a dynamite guy. My friends say he has an IQ of a genius.

LEONA

DEAR LEONA: An IQ is the number which is supposed to indicate a person's level of intelligence. It is one's mental age as shown by intelligence tests multiplied by 100 and divided by one's chronological age.

Are your problems too heavy to handle alone? Let Abby help you. For a personal, unpublished reply, write: Abby Van Buren, c/o Hearst, Call, 50009. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Helping Hands Get A Knuckle-Rap

DEAR ABBY: Please say something to well-meaning friends and relatives who insist on crowding into the kitchen to help serve a meal even after you have said, no, thank you, to their offer.

They block the passageways, the stove, the refrigerator and cabinets, and they think they're helping you. I've worked many hours preparing a good meal, but before I get it served, I'm ready to go to bed!

When a hostess refuses my offer to help, I retreat, return to the other guests and keep the conversation going. How I wish everyone would do me that way. Sign me...

NO HELP WANTED

DEAR NO HELP! There's a wonderful poem by Susan Sawyer that you might want to hang in your kitchen. It's been in my column, but apparently it's time for a rerun.

PLEASE STAY AWAY FROM MY KITCHEN

"Please stay away from my kitchen
 From my darning, cooking and such;
 When I ask that you not to touch in
 But thanks, no, thank you so much!

Please don't think me ungrateful
 When I ask that you not to touch;
 For my kitchen's not just my space
 And my routine is strictly my own.

Tell you what: Stay out of my kitchen
 With its odds and ends, but better than
 When you're here, stay out of my kitchen
 And I promise to stay out of yours!"

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to be a dynamite guy. My friends say he has an IQ of a genius.

LEONA

DEAR LEONA: An IQ is the number which is supposed to indicate a person's level of intelligence. It is one's mental age as shown by intelligence tests multiplied by 100 and divided by one's chronological age.

Are your problems too heavy to handle alone? Let Abby help you. For a personal, unpublished reply, write: Abby Van Buren, c/o Hearst, Call, 50009. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ASTROGRAPH

November 12, 1978

You're likely to place considerable emphasis this coming year on establishing personal relationships. This is a wise course to follow. It will greatly enrich your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)
 Friends will find you a fun person today, but not necessarily a generous one. Sharing what you have isn't your long suit. Find out more of what lies ahead for you by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing $5.00 for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify Birth (M or F), DOB (DOB), and SEX (M or F).

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Remove the mole from your own eyes before criticizing friends. They'll like you better if you praise their finer points instead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 Occasionally we find that we can get better deals from strangers than we can from friends. This will be true for you today business-wise.

BARRY'S WORLD — Jim Barry

WINTHROP — Dick Cavalli

I'M GOING TO INVITE PRESENT CARTER TO JOIN THE FRIENDSHIP CLUB.

OSTRINSKY PAPER & IRON

Before You Throw It Away, Check With Ostrinsky First

For over seventy-five years, the Ostrinsky family has been involved in the business of recycling in the Town of Manchester. As a past president of the Eastern Paper Mill Suppliers Association, Mr. Abraham I. Ostrinsky has kept abreast of standards and procedures for packaging and presenting to various mills a product for recycling that has continually met the demand for other than natural resources. Ostrinsky has a constant market for his product. (salvageable material) and has paid his customers higher prices because he has insisted on handling only that type of material which is free of contamination. Environmental Control, pollution, resource recovery, and ecology are familiar topics discussed and acted upon by the various mill and secondary handlers associations. It is for the best interest of the public to be concerned with our future for we come into those years that our natural resources dry up it will become mandatory to save as much as possible those resources which can be recycled. You can start now by selling your paper-metal-and iron to Ostrinsky at 731 Parker Street, Manchester, Connecticut, Telephone 643-5879.

It's hard for Peppermint Patty (center) to swallow the idea of a Thanksgiving dinner of toast, popcorn, jelly beans and pretzels, much to the chagrin of her host Charlie Brown (second from left), in "A Charlie Brown Thanksgiving," Wednesday, Nov. 15 on CBS.

TV Dial-ogue

SURF'S UP — I truly enjoyed the film "Dead-man's Curve," which aired last season. Will it be on again soon? Also, will Jan and Dean ever record again? — Julie McPherson, Hammond, Ind.
ABC plans to repeat the film biography of Jan and Dean next spring. As for the real duo, they have appeared several times on stage together this year on a bill, appropriately enough, with the Beach Boys. While Jan Berry has never allowed his infirmity to dampen his enthusiasm, Dean Torrance remains reluctant to give it another go on vinyl. And truthfully, Jan's voice has never been the same since his accident.
CHOP-SUEY — I recently saw the film "Marlowe," starring James Garner on television. Am I mistaken or was that Bruce Lee wrecking Garner's office in the movie? — Roger Landis, Moorhead, Minn.
There's no mistaking that drop kick. It was that human demolition derby, Bruce Lee, in one of his early film roles before he became king of the kung-fu flicks.

Pearly Mates

The lustre and beauty of the cultured pearls in these ladies rings rivals that of the natural oriental gems. Only the price tags give them away.

Potential is great CB's still a misunderstood medium

By Ink Dipper

It is time someone stood up and shouted the glories of CB. It is time someone said that CB is the greatest medium since the personal letter. After all, 20 million Americans can't all be crazy.

CB talks WITH people. Or, perhaps better expressed: People talk WITH CB. Real people. Not the decision-makers. Not the earthshakers. Just real people.

Several states monitor Channel I so they can advise passers-through of things to do in their particular states.

A man in Alabama has submitted to us a very comprehensive plan for commercial use, similar to the Yellow Pages of the telephone book.

There is an anthropologist who is listening constantly to study the language used. It will serve as a base for a thesis on linguistics that will prove helpful in the knowledge of dialects and phrases of our country.

There are Crime Watches in Ft. Worth, Texas, and Neighborhood Alerts in Rochester, N.Y.

A retired Army colonel in California who has spent a lifetime in broadcast frequencies writes that he is appalled at misuse of CB.

CB can work to everyone's benefit. But it carries the opposite effect, too.

Nothing is as powerful as an idea, someone once said. And nothing has changed about that.

CB CONVAC

There are these letters in our files and many more. Few of them are negative. They are crying for some positive approach to the avenue that now exist.

How long will it take for CB to be understood? It is wrong that CB should be considered a way of beating the cops to a speeding ticket. It is wrong to think of CB as a way of ducking a radar ambush.

Positive thinking must be applied to utilizing this mag-

PRAIRIE ORPHANS - I've heard that Patrick and Matthew Labortaux of "Little House on the Prairie" are not really brothers. Is this true? Also, do twins play the baby, Grace, the same way twins play Carrie on "Horse"? - Rommie Meyerson, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Patrick and Matthew are both adopted, and are not brothers by blood. Both boys were institutionalized early in life as being retarded, until the Labor-teaux undertook their cause and found one boy to merely be suffering from low blood sugar resulting in hyperactivity, and the other from autism, from which he has since recovered. Another member of the Ingall's family is also an adopted child - Melissa Gilbert. Finally, because of the California work laws concerning minors, twins also are used to play Grace.

SEARCHING FOR STEVE - Steve Kaslo on "Search for Tomorrow" was such a great actor, and really cute, too. Please tell me why he decided to leave the show. Is he going to be a singer? - Deanne Baresse, Woodbury, Ct.

Kaslo wasn't the great actor; Michael Nouri was. But the fact that Nouri was becoming indistinguishable from Kaslo was one of the reasons he left the series. Nouri's plans are to continue with both his acting and singing careers, but there's nothing in the immediate future set for television.

A new Capp to feather

"Li'l Abner," the long-running Al Capp comic strip that appeared in newspapers around the world, will be a one-hour special on NBC.

The comic strip adds the TV presentation to its list of influences - a Broadway musical and a 1959 Paramount motion picture with Peter Palmer and Leslie Parrish.

Polly Bergen, Kaye Ballard and Louis Nye are among the stars slated for the special, while the leads of Abner and Daisy Mae are relative unknowns who won their roles in open auditions.

'Star Wars' Revival

If you're a "Star Wars" freak, make sure your interceptor is tuned to CBS on Friday, Nov. 17. An interplanetary trip on "The Star Wars Holiday Special," will star Beatrice Arthur, Art Carney, Diahann Carroll, The Jefferson Starship and Harvey Korman.

Luke Skywalker, Princess Leia and other members of the film cast will make special appearances: Mark Hamill (Luke Skywalker); Harrison Ford (Han Solo); Carrie Fisher (Princess Leia); Anthony Daniels (C3PO); Peter Mayhew (Chewbacca); R2D2, and the voice of James Earl Jones as Darth Vader.

A spectacular trip into outer space on the planet of the Wookiees takes place on their special holiday of Life Day, at a time long ago in a galaxy far away on the two-hour show that combines a dazzling lineup of stars, animation, adventure, music and visual effects.

The story takes us into the adventures of Chewbacca, the giant furry Wookiee who is copilot of intrepid Han Solo's interplanetary pirate spaceship, the Millennium Falcon.

We meet Chewbacca's little son, Lummwarrump (nickname Lumpy), a typically mischievous 10-year-old; his loving wife Mallatobuck; and his 400-year-old father, Attchituck, known as Itchy.

Featured in special musical numbers are Miss Arthur, Miss Carroll and The Jefferson Starship. Art Carney plays a loyal friend of the Wookiees in their struggle against the ruling imperial troops. Harvey Korman appears in three different roles - as a Dromboid, as a unique television chef, and as a bar patron of Miss Arthur, who manages an interstellar cantina with a wild assortment of customers.

In the constant interstellar warfare between imperial troops and rebels, Chewbacca and Han Solo are blockaded by an imperial starship in their flight to Chewbacca's own planet and family for Life Day, the most important holiday on the Wookiee calendar.

While anxiously waiting for her husband in their enormous treehouse home, Malla tries to distract grandfather Itchy and son Lumpy with such Wookiee entertainments as a mind evaporator and holograph, which shows circus acts and enchanting music.

It is Art Carney, as the kindly trader Saun Dann, who comes to Malla's aid when imperial troops come to search for Chewbacca, suspecting him of rebel sympathies.

In an animated sequence, Luke Skywalker takes dromboid C3PO and Robot R2D2 and flies off in an effort to rescue the besieged Han Solo and Chewbacca, only to crash-land on a water planet. There, they have a climactic encounter with a spectacular bounty hunter named Boba Fett.

Kevin Brophy returns to ABC on Monday nights as "Lucan," a boy who was raised in the wild by a pack of wolves.

Kevin Brophy's Co-stars Are Wolves

On Monday, Nov. 13, Kevin Brophy returns to ABC with his limited series, "Lucan." The handsome young actor stars as a young man who was raised in the northern Minnesota woods by a pack of timber wolves.

Kevin explained his character's background: "The pilot took place in northern Minnesota. Some hunters got lost and saw a two-legged person - a 10-year-old - running with a pack of wolves. Lucan is brought back to a research facility, something like Stanford Research Facility, and educated. He ages from 13 to 15 to 21, which is his age in the current episodes."

Kevin explains, "The man who is doing my training (John Randall) is at odds with the University people who think I should be locked up."

Kevin describes his character as "a person put in compromising situations. He responds as best he can. It's a survival story. He can run 60-miles an hour, because he ran with wolves. His conditioning makes it hard for him to accept cultural and society manners - like why a man would lock up his son because of a drug disorder.

"I would class 'Lucan' as an adventure series," he concludes.

For one thing, most of the series is shot outside on location.

Another reason for labeling "Lucan" an adventure series is the practice of using two real wolves.

Kevin explains the technique of working with these dangerous animals in a matter-of-fact voice:

"Dorka is a female, and Kolckeck is a male. Both are Arctic White Wolves. We use one for a half-hour, then substitute the other."

TV Dial-Ogue

THE WINNER IS - I've written about this question before, but I may have sent it to the wrong place, so let me try again. Why, on the "Dinah" show last December did Dinah introduce Rita Moreno as the only person to have ever won four top awards like the Oscar, Emmy, the one for doing a Broadway show and a Grammy? Then in the December issue of Playboy, it was said that Barbra Streisand was the only one to win all four. Who is mistaken? - Ms. Neva Kallwick, Longview, Wash.

No one is really mistaken; each performer was merely being hyped for a different accomplishment. Moreno's quartet of awards are: Oscar for best supporting actress, 1962 for "West Side Story"; Tony (the Broadway show one you forgot) for best supporting actress, 1975 for "The Ritz"; Grammy for best record, 1973; and Emmy for a guest appearance on "The Rockford Files," 1977.

Streisand's are: Oscar for best actress of 1968, "Funny Girl"; Georgie award in 1977 from the American Guild of Variety Artists; Grammy for best female vocalist and song writer (with Paul Williams) for "A Star Is Born," 1978. Her special of 1965, "Color Me Barbra" also nabbed five Emmy awards.

FAIR FARE - Who is the very attractive lady who played the role of Elaine on a recent episode of "Taxi"? - T.S.M., Hackensack, N.J.

Marilyn Henner was, and is every week, Elaine. You can also see her opposite Richard Gere in the new theatrical film, "Blood-brothers."

PRIME TIME - Could you tell me why, in this age of technology, must we in the Easter and Western time zones suffer with prime time starting at 8 p.m.? Central starts at 7 p.m.; I'm not sure of Mountain zone. I can never watch a movie as I can't stay up until 11 p.m. and function at 6 a.m. the next day. My young children have to stay up until 9 p.m. to watch their favorite shows, or miss them. Is there anyway that there could be a change so both coasts have prime time starting at 7 p.m.? Comment please! - J.M.G. Jacksonville, N.C.

The federal Prime-Time Access Rule determines that only three hours a night be used for network entertainment programming. For example, in the East, the half hour between 7 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. is slotted for network news, and the half hour between 7:30 and 8 p.m. reverts to the local stations. As to Mountain and Central prime time starting at 7 p.m., this is because programming is fed to the Central Zone from N.Y., and Central time is approximately one hour earlier than Eastern. Programming is fed from L.A. in the West, and, again, Mountain time is one hour earlier, too.
