Inspecting Cars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Calling the sale of faulty used cars a major consumer abuse, the Federal Trade Commission staff recommended today the agency require dealers to inspect all cars first and admit what's wrong with them in writing.

If the agency adopts the proposal, used cars would carry a window sticker showing the results of the dealer's inspection. Each major component of the car would be listed as "OK" or "Not OK." And any system designated as in need of repair would have to carry the estimated cost of fixing it.

The staff report said dealers usually perform inspections on all used cars, for their own information, but rarely let the buyers in on what they find.

Amin at Front

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — President Idi Amin took personal command of his troops on the battlefield today to repulse a Tanzanian counter-offensive across the crocodile-infested Kagera River.

Tanzanian sources said the battle continued 36 hours after its start, but Uganda claimed it had been bloodily repulsed and many of the Tanzanian soldiers had been devoured by crocodiles in the Kagera, a tropical river 150-feet wide separating the two armies. There was no independent confirmation of either report.

Amin's troops seized 700 square miles of Tanzania two weeks ago and are dug in on the north bank of the river.

PZC Hearings

Manchester's Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct four public hearings tonight, including one for a zone change on Lydall Street and one for a detention basin in the Manchester West subdivision. See page 4.

Near-Perfect

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A space-gazing satellite equipped to map the characteristics of mysterious X-ray sources in the universe made a near-perfect launch today to study pulsars, quasars and black holes.

NASA spokesman Karl Kristofferson said the powerful instruments on board the HEAO 2 satellite have not yet been turned on. Its initials stand for High Energy Astronomical Observatory.

Order Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today refused to block an order requiring American Telephone and Telegraph Corp. to give the government copies of 2.5 million documents ATT turned over to two firms pressing antitrust suits against the giant communications company.

The government wants the documents to help it prepare a massive antitrust case it launched against ATT in 1974.

The full court vacated a temporary stay which Chief Justice Warren Burger granted ATT last week pending further consideration of its request.

The government case, one of the largest antitrust suits ever filed and litigated in the United States, still is in the pre-trial stages.

Israel Wants to Move Talks

By United Press International

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin will propose to his cabinet that the peace treaty talks with Egypt be moved from Washington to the Middle East, Israel's armed forces radio said today.

The radio said in a report from New York, quoting sources close to Begin, that Israel wants to have closer supervision over the peace talks.

The negotiations have been recessed repeatedly because of the need for the Israeli negotiators to travel between Washington and Jerusalem.

The recesses "create a condition of crisis in which Israel is forced to make additional concessions," the radio report said.

The report was broadcast less than two hours after Begin arrived home from a 12-day visit to the United States and Canada.

The Israeli army radio said Begin will make the proposal to his cabinet either Tuesday or Thursday.

The report speculated that if there is agreement to shift the talks back to the Middle East, in northeastern Sinai or in Egypt.

The presence of the negotiators in Washington has enabled President Carter to intervene on several occasions in attempts to reach compromises when both sides have run into obstacles. He has been successful.

Begin said on his arrival that there is no stalemate in the peace talks and that his cabinet will decide this week on steps to be taken to reach an agreement.

"There are problems but the public interest demands that I do not detail them until after the cabinet meeting," he said at Tel Aviv on his return "For the time being, there is no stalemate." The Israeli cabinet, which rejected new Egyptian demands Sunday, was to go into special session Tuesday to hear Begin's report and again Thursday with the participation of Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman. As Begin returned, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat met with his top aides at the Suez Canal city of Ismailia to examine a telephoned message from President Carter on the progress of the Egyptian-Israeli negotiations on a peace treaty, government officials said.

The influential Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said Egypt, backed by the United States, wants a partial Israeli withdrawal from Egypt's Sinai desert to run parallel with the establishment of Arab autonomy in the Jordan West Bank and Gaza Strip. Both would be completed in nine months after the peace pact is concluded, the newspaper said.

Officials did not disclose the content of Carter's message which was relayed to Sadat in a long-distance telephone conversation Sunday night. The Middle East News Agency merely said it dealt with the "conduct of the Washington negotiations." Sadat immediately summoned Vice President Hosni Mubarak and Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil to a meeting at Ismailia, which began in the early afternoon to study the message, officials said.

Injunction Asked To Bar Takeover

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Lawyers for the Anti-Trust Division of the U.S. Justice Department today sought a preliminary injunction to bar a Connecticut firm from making an offer to buy an interest in the Carrier Corp.

The attorneys made the application in U.S. District Court to block the offer by United Technologies Corp. to acquire 49 percent of Carrier for an estimated $476 million.

UTC Sunday made its official tender offer to purchase 17 million shares of Carrier stock, two days after New York State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz approved its original proposal.

Lefkowitz said Friday he was satisfied with UTC's disclosure statements concerning the takeover, which Carrier has fought since September.

UTC Chairman Harry Gray said the tender offer was dependent on Carrier's agreement to a negotiated takeover. Carrier's board previously had rejected such a merger.

Under the offer, UTC will pay $28 for each share of Carrier's common stock and $50.82 per share for the company's preferred stock.

UTC said the offer was scheduled to expire at 10 a.m. EST Dec. 4 unless extended.

Carrier, headquartered in Syracuse, N.Y., initially failed to disclose enough information on the proposed merger under New York law. UTC later filed three amendments providing additional information on its takeover proposal.

A Carrier spokesman said, however, there were still several areas where UTC's offer failed to meet disclosure provisions of New York law.

The spokesman said Carrier would study the Lefkowitz order before deciding whether to appeal the decision.

In a statement released Friday, the attorney general's office said Lefkowitz "regards and relies on the statement of United Technologies to continue the company in Syracuse under present management; that it had no plans to disturb Carrier's existing relationships, or its involvement with community affairs in Syracuse."

Lefkowitz also views the information supplied by UTC as "statements of fact and present intention and a commitment ... to Carrier's employees and suppliers and the community of Syracuse," a spokesman added.

Carrier has also filed motions on an anti-trust suit scheduled to be heard in federal court Tuesday. Carrier's complaint contends a merger of the two firms would raise serious questions of securities and anti-trust law.

United Technologies, a highly diversified firm which owns Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and Otis Elevator Co. among other interests, has been aggressive recently in seeking out other acquisitions. The company had sales of $5.6 billion in 1977.

UTC tried last year to take over Babcock & Wilcox Co., producer of nuclear and coal-fired power plants. Babcock fought the proposed acquisition in the courts. J. Ray McDermott, an offshore drilling rig concern, eventually moved into the fray and successfully outbid UTC.

Fact-Finding Delays Slow Talk Progress

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — A further delay in the fact-finding report for the town's police union is slowing labor negotiation progress for another local union as well as the police union.

The state Board of Mediation and Arbitration has granted its second extension for the police fact-finding report. The first extension was a lengthy one that set the due date at Nov. 10, last Friday. The second extension gave the fact-finder another six days, until this Thursday, to complete his work.

The fact-finder listens to the arguments of both the town and union and then proposes a model contract. A key issue in the police negotiations — the amount of accumulated sick days — also is a major issue for the union representing public works department employees, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, Local 991.

Local 991 met this morning with the town in a mediation session. Mediation is the step before fact-finding.

The session was still in progress at noon, but Robert Fuller, union president, and Charles McCarthy, assistant town manager, both said they do not expect a final agreement today.

Fuller said his union is waiting to see what the fact-finder decides for the police in the sick day issue before proceeding.

Presently, both unions have a clause that permits retiring employees to be paid for all accumulated sick days up to a limit of 105.

The town is seeking to have the retiring employees receive pay for only one-half of all accumulated sick days, with no maximum limit.

The other two town unions, the fire union and the Municipal Employees Group, have agreed in past negotiations to the one-half limit. Both the police union and Local 991 have been seeking to keep payment of all accumulated sick days up to the 105-day limit.

Fuller and McCarthy both said sick day payment and wages for the upcoming contract are the two key areas of difference between the town and union.

McCarthy said there have been a number of areas of discussion between the two parties, but added, "If we solve a couple of issues, everything will fall into place."

The union, however, appears set on having no change in the sick day policy.

"I've been told by the union we can't move on the sick days matter," Fuller said.

McCarthy and Town Manager Robert Weiss both said this morning they are surprised at the length of time it has taken to receive the police fact-finding report.

The town and union both will have to accept the fact-finder's report for it to become binding.

Dollar Holds

NEW YORK (UPI) — The dollar maintained its upswing against the yen in Tokyo today, strengthened marginally in London but dipped slightly at the opening of most European exchanges.

A West German bank warned the test of President Carter's program to bolster the dollar still is to come. Tokyo closed at 188.80 yen, up from 188.10 at Friday's close.

In London, the pound opened at $1.9675, marginally higher than the $1.9650 overnight.

Ice Skating Out If Pond Drained

MANCHESTER — Draining Union Pond as a step to eliminate the odor problem there could also eliminate skating at the pond's annex this winter.

Jay Giles, director of public works, has asked that testing be done soon to see if a problem will develop that could affect skating.

The annex is a smaller body of water separated from Union Pond by a dike.

The pond has been lowered, though not yet completely drained, so testing can be done by the state Department of Environmental Protection. The tests were requested after an odor problem developed in the pond area.

Giles said water from the high level of the annex might seep through the dike to the low level of the pond.

There is a pump at the site, but if it cannot supply water at a faster rate than the seepage, it could affect annex skating, he said.

Because of this possibility, this Giles has asked the Recreation Department to test the site soon.

Both the annex and the pond now are at low levels, so he has asked that the annex be filled to test how much seepage will occur. If seepage is slow, there will be no problem.

DEP testing of the pond bottom should be done in two to three weeks, Giles said. The odor problem apparently is related to the Town of Vernon's sewage treatment plant.

Material from the plant was floating downstream and settling in the pond. DEP testing will determine how much such sediment on the pond's bottom actually came from the Vernon plant.

The Town of Manchester has threatened to sue Vernon if it is required to dredge the bottom of the pond.

Cure Sought for Legion Disease

ATLANTA (UPI) — More than 500 scientists from some 30 countries gathered in Atlanta today to search for a cure for Legionnaires' disease — an illness that has claimed dozens of lives since it was first discovered at an American Legion convention in 1976.

The mysterious ailment which first drew attention when it claimed the lives of 29 Legionnaires at a convention in Philadelphia is caused by an organism that differs from all previously known agents of human illness, researchers say.

The three-day international symposium at the Center for Disease Control is sponsored by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases and the World Health Organization in addition to the CDC.

Two representatives of the Soviet Union were among those expected to attend.

CDC Director Dr. William Foege said Legionnaires' disease is caused by a bacterium unlike any that medical science has ever encountered. Its behavior in the laboratory and in experimental animals is different, he said, as is its genetic structure.

The pneumonia-like illness which is fatal in about 15 percent of all cases is caused by a bacterium that lives in water and is capable of spreading through air-conditioning systems.

The organism was discovered by a CDC microbiologist six months after the Philadelphia epidemic struck more than 200 people, killing 29.

Scientists have since found that an antibiotic, erythromycin, is effective in treating the ailment if administered in time.

Dr. David Fraser, head of the CDC's special pathogenic unit that has studied the disease for two years, said he expected the symposium to shed new light on the illness.

"I'd be very surprised if things don't come out that are not already known," Fraser said. "But even if I'm not surprised, I expect to be educated about the disease."

YMCA Classes To Begin

EAST HARTFORD — The East Hartford branch of the YMCA will begin the second session of its Pre-School Movement Education Program on Tuesday.

The program will consist of 12 class sessions on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. The classes will run from Nov. 14 through Jan. 4.

There are three classes which are offered at the following times: three-year-old class, 10 to 11 a.m.; four-year-old class, 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.; five-year-old class, 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Movement Education is a process of learning by discovery. Movement is the basis for learning many lifelong skills. The pre-school child is challenged to explore his or her own solution to the teacher's suggestions, thus there is success for each child.

This problem-solving approach to physical education has been proven to increase more than fitness and motor development. Children become willing to listen to problems, think about them and to seek increasingly more skillful, thoughtful and original ways of solving them through movement.

Other results are an increased willingness to carry out tasks to completion; increased self-motivation and self-worth; appreciation of others; and a willingness to work with and to help others.

The East Hartford branch YMCA has won national acclaim for its pioneering efforts with the movement education concept. This program has become a model for many YMCAs across the country.

This year, the YMCA is offering three classes — one for three-, four- and five-year-olds.

In the five-year-old class, the instructor works directly with the children. The five-year-old class will consist of an hour of movement skills and games at a more advanced level.

Parents are invited to stay and observe the class or may leave their child if they feel this would provide a more beneficial learning experience for the child at this age.

Ceremony Simple, Solemn

MANCHESTER — A flag was raised, lowered to half staff and again raised Saturday in simple and solemn ceremonies at Manchester Memorial Hospital which have taken place there since the hospital was first dedicated 60 years ago to Manchester men who died in the Great War.

With flag at half-staff, "Taps" was sounded and representatives of three veterans organization auxiliaries placed wreaths near the monument at the foot of the flag pole.

This was the core of the Armistice/Veterans Day observance which included a talk by Everett R. Kennedy Sr. and remarks by Walter Von Home as well as George Roy, who represented the hospital trustees and staff.

Tracing the history of American involvement in wars and the hope for peace brought by each successive one, Kennedy said, "We are proud of all people who have served."

Von Home paid special tribute to what he called the "new faces" among veterans, those of the Vietnam veterans who "deserve our admiration for having participated in a conflict that was not popular."

Roy said the group was meeting for the 59th time to rededicate the memorial in the hope that no more names ever need be added to the role.

The monument this year had been cleaned by Jack Bowers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Town Tax Collection Ahead of Last Year

MANCHESTER — Tax collection for the town is ahead of last year's pace — a situation that Tax Collector James Turek has called "rewarding."

"We're pleased with the progress we're making this year," he said.

Through the end of September, the town had collected $9,715,157 which represents 85.5 percent of the estimated tax revenues for 1978-79.

Last year, at the same time, the town had collected 51.8 percent of expected revenues. Figures for October are not yet available, but Turek said the month went smoothly.

This year's figure also includes some taxpayers who have had to pay only 75 percent of the amount owed the town. Persons with pending appeals of their tax assessments are required to pay 75 percent of their entire tax bill to the town, Turek said.

This had concerned Turek's office, because there are many appeals filed this year. The town completed its revaluation, and the number of appeals increases in a revaluation year.

Assessor Ed Belleville has said the number of appeals this year is high, even for a revaluation year.

Thus, those appealing have paid only the 75 percent of taxes due. Even so, the town's collection rate is ahead of that of one year ago.

Three Men Charged In Cafe Incidents

MANCHESTER — Three men were arrested after a series of disturbances and vandalism at Carry Nation's Cafe, 10 E. Center St. after 2 a.m. Saturday.

Nugent was also charged with first- and second-degree criminal mischief and Shea with second-degree criminal mischief in connection with damage to the cafe at police headquarters.

Sewer Bill Changes Due

VERNON — When the Town Council meets Nov. 20 Mayor Frank McCoy will discuss sending out sewer user bills on an estimated basis rather than waiting until the Sewer Authority has figured out a formula.

The town's new $16 million sewage treatment plant is partially in operation now and is expected to be in full operation about the first of the year and the mayor said some of the costs of the new operation will be astounding.

He said the council tabled action on a request of the Sewer Authority for establishment of a water pollution control account position so that the authority is about three months behind schedule in developing the sewer user charge formula.

The bills are supposed to go out Jan. 1. The present user charge is $21 a year and the new plant operation is expected to cause them to go up anywhere from $80 to $120 a year.

Mayor McCoy said by getting the bills out earlier he is trying to give the users a break and he will suggest that the users be allowed to make payments in two installments to lessen the impact.

He said the first bill could be an estimated one and the adjustment could be made on the second one. The state Department of Environmental Protection has indicated it would not object to this method of handling the billing.

In requesting the establishment of the pollution control account, the authority said it believes it is essential to the successful implementation of the user charge system and industrial cost recovery system required by the conditions of the grant for the treatment plant.

The authority further said it believes that in the long run the accounting and related requirements for the treatment plant can and should be integrated with other town requirements and it therefore requested that the position be authorized only through June 30, 1979.

Board Mulls Head Start

EAST HARTFORD — The Board of Education will be asked to approve the contract for Head Start at tonight's meeting at Penney High School.

The contract will be with the Hartford-based Community Renewal Team, which funds and administers the program for disadvantaged pre-kindergarten children. The start of the program has been delayed because CRT did not properly apply for the funds at the regional Health, Education and Welfare office in Boston.

At the Sept. 18 school board meeting, Sam Leone, assistant superintendent for instruction, said the program would begin Dec. 1 if approved by the board in time. He said that it would take two or three weeks for the administration to hire the staff and ready the classrooms. The board agreed to a cutoff date of Oct. 15 and those parents meet specific income requirements. Federal officials announced last month that a $332,467 grant to expand the program for low-income families in Hartford and Manchester and begin in East Hartford, Bloomfield, Enfield and Windsor.

Police Charge Man In Kidnap, Rape

EAST HARTFORD — After a day-long investigation, police arrested a 40-year-old local man and charged him with kidnapping and rape Sunday night. Police said Joe L. Shockey of 200 Nutmeg Lane was held overnight on a $5000 bond for a court appearance this morning. Shockey allegedly held a Hartford woman against her will in a Tudor Village apartment and raped her Saturday night.

Police received a call from the victim's friend at 11:54 the next morning after the victim had escaped. She told police the woman had been forced into the car in front of the Civic Center in Hartford Saturday night and driven to East Hartford. The woman recognized the sign, police said, in determining the place where she was raped.

Shockey was arrested at 9:50 Sunday night, police said, and was charged with first-degree unlawful restraint and third degree sexual assault.

Teacher Cited In Persuading Gun Surrender

EAST HARTFORD — A commendation for a teacher who put "service above self" will be included on tonight's Board of Education agenda.

School Superintendent Eugene Diggs has recommended that the board commend David Griffin, a teacher at Penney High School, for persuading a student to surrender a .22 calibre pistol he had brought into school. The incident occurred Oct. 13.

According to the superintendent's memo, Griffin overheard students talking about a gun and was suspicious that one of them might be concealing it.

The memo said Griffin "directly approached the student and convinced him to surrender the pistol. The commendation, which the board is asked to act upon, said Griffin took the action "without concern for self" and handled the matter in a calm and clearheaded way.

The student has been excluded from school and the case has been referred to juvenile court, the report said.

Waving Her Thanks

"Thanks for the support." Motorists traveling off the 1-86 ramp in Manchester Friday afternoon got a message of appreciation from state senator-elect Marcella Fahey, shown here acknowledging the congratulations from one supporter. Mrs. Fahey won the third senatorial district seat in last Tuesday's elections. (Herald photo by Maynard)

About Town

A full dress rehearsal for the LTM musical "Company" will be Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at East Catholic High School auditorium.

Performances will be Friday and Saturday evening at 8:30. Cast and crew should be at the auditorium one hour before each performance.

Anyone wishing to order tickets may do so by contacting Vincent Liscomb, Henry Street, Manchester, 647288.

PZC Hearings Tonight

MANCHESTER — A zone change and a sedimentation basin will be the two major items facing the town's Planning and Zoning Commission when it meets tonight at 7:30.

The PZC will conduct four public hearings at the meeting, which will be held at the Keeney Street School auditorium, 179 Keeney St.

One hearing will be for a zone change proposed for 62.8 acres on the north side of Lydall Street near the Vernon town line.

The owners of the property, John M. Davis and Rosemary Davis, are seeking a change from Rural Residence to Residential A Zone for the property at 722 and 747 Lydall St.

The owners plan a subdivision for the property, attorney Stanley Falkenstein, who represents them, said.

Residence A Zone permits smaller lots and homes than a Rural Residence Zone. With a Residence A Zone, as many as 189 homes could be built on the property.

The owners plan to build fewer than that, however, Falkenstein said. He said a preliminary subdivision plan will be presented tonight and probably will include between 90 and 125 lots.

Society for Savings has applied to use a sedimentation basin as a permanent detention basin in the Manchester West subdivision off Keeney Street.

The basin is located at the corner of Briarwood and Lamplighter drives.

Originally, a detention basin had been proposed and approved for property behind homes on Briarwood Drive. Residents of that road, however, protested the basin and expressed fear about safety problems that might develop.

Society for Savings, which is the developer of the subdivision, then recommended the sedimentation basin be converted to serve also as a permanent detention basin.

The public hearing on that proposed conversion, which requires an inland-wetlands permit, also will be heard tonight.

A public hearing also will be held for the MIP 15 Corp., which is seeking a special exception for the construction of an industrial building on Progress Drive.

A special exception is needed for any development that will cover more than four acres and will require parking with 60 or more spaces.

The fourth public hearing will be for the Town of Manchester, which is requesting amendments to the boundaries of inland-wetland designated areas.

The amendments are drafting corrections and additional inland-wetland soil areas that are shown on the state Department of Environmental Protection's soil map of October 1972.

PUCA Mulls SNET Charge

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Public Utilities Control Authority was scheduled to begin deliberations today on the phone company's plan to charge for directory assistance calls.

The Southern New England Telephone Co. is requesting a 20-cent charge for each call for information over a five-call monthly limit.

The proposal has drawn fire from union workers and the business community.

The phone company said the plan would provide exceptions for the visually and physically handicapped; calls from pay phones, hospitals, hotels and motels; and calls seeking out-of-state numbers.

Company officials cite rising costs as the main reason for the increase. They say new equipment will be necessary unless the number of information calls decreases.

Project Child Find Will Sponsor Fair

HARTFORD — Project Child Find of the Capitol Region Education Council (CREC) will sponsor a fair Wednesday, Nov. 15, from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Special Education Resource Center, 275 Windsor St.

Of the 30 member Boards of Education which comprise CREC, several are within the Manchester area. They are East Hartford, Ellington, Hebron, Manchester, South Windsor, Tolland and Vernon.

More than 100 representatives from community agencies and organizations will present program exhibits. An afternoon forum will feature speakers from state, town and private sectors from throughout the region, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. The topic will be "Services Available for Preschool Children and Dropouts."

Admission is free to the public. For further information, call Linda Parker, 245-0301.

PZC Plans Hearing On New Regulations

HEBRON — The Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct a public hearing Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Office Building to consider amendments to the zoning regulations concerning subdivisions.

The commission will charge a fee for all subdivisions in accordance with state statutes.

The section concerning plans and final plans will be submitted to read, "The final plan of a subdivision submitted for approval and recording shall be clearly and legibly drawn in black ink upon tracing cloth or other suitable permanent material."

"Sheet size shall be 24 inches wide and 36 inches long, including a one-inch margin outside the ruled border lines on three sides and a two-inch border along the left side of the 24-inch side for binding."

Permit To Be Sought

The Conservation Commission, in response to a request from the Planning and Zoning Commission concerning Lot 3 in Millstream Park, has recommended that the applicant obtain a permit from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The commission also recommended that the applicant obtain an additional permit from the Department of Environmental Protection.

The applicant will also be reminded of the town's zoning regulations concerning the streambelt protection in connection with the proposed location of the leaching fields for the dwelling. A permit must be issued by the commission for any construction activity within 100 feet of a stream.

During its review of Northam 4, the commission members said they were pleased that the adjoining open space for that subdivision would adjoin open space designated in the Joshua Farms subdivision.

Cynthia Wilson, chairman of the Conservation Commission, has been elected vice president of the Connecticut Association Conservation and Inland Wetland Commission.

Special ZBA Meeting

The Zoning Board of Appeals will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Town Office Building. The special meeting was called to act on an application by Kevin P. Nicolazzo. Nicolazzo is seeking a variance to allow a dwelling closer to side lines than permitted on Lot 11 at the intersection of Jones Street, Burrows Hill Road and Hope Valley Road.

At a Nov. 2 hearing, several area residents were concerned about a verbal building permit being issued. It was then found that a variance would be required.

Board Hears Bus Gripes

HEBRON — A group in Hebron has filed a petition with the Board of Education complaining about a school bus driver and listing four alleged offenses.

The petition claims that Mrs. Pat Greenhalgh, driver of Bus 1, starts the bus moving before students are seated, drives too fast, drives over bumps recklessly, and stops too quickly.

The 16 parents signing the petition suggested that a monitor, with some authority, be put on the buses to relieve the driver of discipline request, as well as administrative pressure.

Zip Codes

It's not really so bad, come to think of it. The mail service ZIP code numbers were instituted in 1953, and only now is an addition to the initial five-digit numbers in the works. Such a change only once every 15 years or so strikes us as tolerable.

By straining a bit, one may perceive a sort of "1988" aura about requiring a nine-digit ZIP code on letters. Some may regard this as a further personalizing of our society.

But our hunch is that most citizens will share Assistant Postmaster General E.V. Dorsey's view that "this is a relatively simple price to pay to help move the mail and hold the line on postal costs."

The rationale is that with nine-digit numbers on the envelopes, fewer mail clerks will be required to sort the mail. It also is expected that there will be fewer mis-routings, which should result in less delayed mail.

In making this change, which will be completed two to three years hence, the Postal Service is moving in the right direction — toward more efficient mail handling.

various issues. True, the alignment can be solely on issues and avoid the consistency of identification with one bloc of nations or another. But neutrality is compromised to a degree.

Swiss neutrality has always been without question. On a number of occasions during the past 20 years, the United States and Cuba have been to the point of the good offices of the Swiss for fair representation of the other's position on sensitive issues.

It is Switzerland's historic ability to maintain its neutrality which is troublesome concerning potential membership in the United Nations.

The Brezhnev Image

By DOUGLAS STANGLIN MOSCOW (UPI) — The public image of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev is carefully controlled and carefully sanitized.

A recent photograph in the Communist party newspaper Pravda showed Brezhnev seated at the usual long table holding an official meeting.

By evening, an almost identical photograph printed in the government newspaper Izvestia had undergone careful airbrushing that removed a healthy portion of Brezhnev's double chin.

Brezhnev's speeches — which he often slurs badly — note that several times during a televised delivery Brezhnev's lip movements do not match the words being spoken, indicating that some of his more noticeable speaking errors have been edited out.

Image building, of course, is nothing new on the top rungs of power. President Lyndon B. Johnson wrestled with teleprompters and specially built podiums to improve his televised appearance and never did get it right.

For Brezhnev and other top Soviet leaders the carefully controlled public image is virtually the only glimpse the world has.

Brezhnev requires no campaigning to remain in office, so he makes few western-style forays into the countryside. Those trips he does make end up as staged chats in factories or in the fields.

But fragments of his private life do surface occasionally and rare photographs of the Soviet leader in an informal setting depict a man far removed from the somber, humorless image known by many in the West.

Brezhnev is a backslapper and a storyteller. He tells jokes well and is a gallant hand kisser around women.

The gregarious Brezhnev once shocked Western reporters by bystroiling up to them during a meeting in Bonn, West Germany, to assure them jokingly he was drinking tomato juice and not vodka.

The 71-year-old beetle-browed Soviet leader has lived in the same spacious four or five-room apartment on Kutuzovskiy prospect for over 20 years.

He makes his daily trek to the Kremlin around 8:45 a.m., preceded by police who clear the streets for his fast moving motorcade.

The Soviet press does not dwell on the private lives of Soviet leaders and there are few photographs of Brezhnev with his wife, Viktoria.

One shows the couple sitting on a park bench looking after their grandchild in a baby carriage.

Another shows Brezhnev in a wild colorful sport shirt holding his grandchild.

The Brezhnevs have at least two children. Yuri Brezhnev is the deputy minister of foreign trade. Daughter Galina is in her mid-40s.

The elder Brezhnev took over the most earnest observers who have tried to per behind the public image to see the private Brezhnev.

Observers for years have noted his slurred speech, which some attribute to ill-fitting dental work and others to jaw surgery.

His movements, as well as his speech, have also slowed. During the recent trip to Bonn, Brezhnev displayed little of the backslapping and conviviality noted in past trips, observers said.

But Brezhnev has bounced back before, time after time, confounding even the most earnest observers who have tried to per behind the public image to see the private Brezhnev.

Benign neglect, promises to reform and occasional gestures such as gold sales by the Treasury have had no effect on the complex of dollar problems. The campaign now launched by the Carter administration seeks to deal with them as a package. Tightened interest rates, wage and price guidelines and tax incentives are designed to slow inflation. The dollar abroad will be supported with a $30 billion fund of marks, yen and Swiss francs.

With effective persuasion, skillful administration and extensive cooperation, the measures may prove effective without triggering the economic downturn which no one wants.

Thoughts

The late Father James Keller, founder of the Christophers once spoke to a large gathering in the Los Angeles Coliseum. At a certain point in his talk, he motioned for a technician to turn out the lights, and the vast stadium was left in darkness.

Then, Father Keller lit a single match, and urged the audience of 100,000 to do likewise. In a few seconds, the great arena was illuminated by light from thousands of matches, and the crowd was amazed at the amount of light produced by their mutual effort.

There are many times when we feel small and insignificant, unable to make any impact on people or events around us, but we should remember that together in communion with other Christians and the Lord we can do mighty things.

You are special, unique and worthy in His sight, so don't despair. Instead, reach out to others who are feeling low and show them the love you have found in Him, make yourself an open channel of God's unfathomable love.

When you are on fire for God, your efforts are magnified many times and you can do mighty things in His name. It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness, and light the way for those lost in the shadows.

Budget To Be Frugal

By HELEN THOMAS WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's natural frugality will be in full flower as he works on the next federal budget.

Carter sounds like a conservative Republican these days when he talks about the "very tight" budget he is preparing to present to the new Congress in January.

The only area he has deemed untouchable is in defense spending. That budget will be bigger, and more acceptable to the Pentagon.

Even if a strategic arms limitation agreement is reached with the Soviets, and it appears likely, there is no outlook for reducing the dollars spent for defense, particularly in view of inflation.

Carter also has signaled that he will propose no new programs that will involve major federal spending, except perhaps for a national health insurance program.

A former small town businessman, and a farmer, Carter is following his own instincts for keeping a tight rein on finances. "Tight as a tick," is the way press secretary Jody Powell described him.

The frugality Carter instituted at the White House when he first came into the presidency is typical. He put a relative — Hugh Carter Jr. — in charge of doling out the felt pens, and denying limousine transportation to his staff. Hugh Carter became the fall guy, and is not so lovingly dubbed "Cousin Cheap."

Staffers also have to pay for most of the parties they attend at the White House. They shell out for their own picnics on the lawn in the summertime.

Senate To Be Younger

By IRA R. ALLEN WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate's average age will drop by three years with six hooovers 40 or younger and an influx of eight new members still in their 30s.

The new Senate will have an average age of 51.8 years, compared to the current 54.8 average. The median age — the number at which half are above and half below — will be 51.5.

The three-year drop is due to a 42.1-year average age of 20 newcomers who were elected this week.

The youngest new members are New Jersey Democrat Bill Bradley, 35; Montana Democrat Max Baucus and south Dakota Republican Larry Pressler, 36; Massachusetts Democrat Paul Tsongas and Oklahoma Democrat David Boren, 37; and Alabama Democrat Donald Stewart, Maine Republican William Cohen and New Hampshire Republican Gordon Humphrey, 38.

The six other youngsters already in the Senate are Joseph Biden, D-DeL., 35; Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., 36; and Donald Riegle, D-Mich., Sam Nunn, D-Ga., John Danforth, R-Mo., and John Heinz, R-Pa., 40.

The oldest member of the Senate is Milton Young, R-N.D., 81, followed by John Stennis, D-Miss., 77; Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., 76; and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who will be 76 next month.

Randolph and Thurmond were re-elected Tuesday. The oldest of the freshmen is Nebraska Gov. J.J. Exon, who is 57.

Deadly Storm Moving

A persistent, deadly storm that dumped up to 3 inches of snow on the Rockies swept into the Plains and Great Lakes today on tracks of ice and snow.

At least 12 deaths were blamed on the season's first major storm, which has shrouded the western mountain ranges for the last five days.

A light plane with an ice-encrusted windshield crashed Sunday near Eden Prairie, Minn., killing the pilot, Richard Reed, 53, of Eden Prairie.

Also Sunday, the body of a 12-year-old boy who became separated from his father while hunting on Arizona's Smith Mesa was found in a 48-year-old Sierra Vista, Ariz., man was killed by debris during a windstorm.

Three bodies were found Saturday in the wreckage of a light airplane in rugged northwestern Wyoming and searchers later found the fourth body, that of a woman passenger who survived the crash and wandered away.

Storm-related traffic accidents in the weekend killed four more people in Wyoming, Utah, Nebraska and Minnesota. Another victim was a young member of a Boy Scout troop that was trapped in the snowbound streets of Southern California. The youth died of exposure and five other were injured.

St. Paul Capitalizes on Mistakes

To Defeat Catholic in Fog, 27-6

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sports Writer

You know you're in trouble when the opposition runs off only five offensive plays the first quarter - yet leads 14-0.

That was the predicament for East Catholic Saturday night as it bowed, 27-6, to HCC foe St. Paul at fog-shrouded Mt. Nebo before a crowd of 900.

"This was a perfect setting for what happened here. It looks like the moors," mused East Head Coach John LaFontana, his eyes fixed on the hazy overcast.

"We've played three great clubs - Northwest (Catholic), Xavier and St. Paul and in each we got in trouble in the first quarter," the sixth-year Eagle coach continued.

Two East fumbles, both by quarterback Tony Pacheco, were converted into early Falcon scores. Pacheco, intercepted on the Eagles' first possession, lost the handle on the snap with Greg Cistilli recovering at the East 9.

Quarterback Peter Brown plunged over from a yard out two plays later with Steve Anderson the first of his three PATs. On the ensuing series, the referee got in the way of tacker LaFontana.

Mistakes Play Major Role

As Enfield Stops Indians

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sports Writer

Mistakes will hurt, especially against a good club.

Injury-riddled Manchester High committed the miscues and opportunistic Enfield High took advantage as the visiting Raiders took a 42-20 decision Saturday at Memorial Field before a crowd of 1,000.

The Raiders' victory, coupled with Canaan's 35-7 trouncing of Simsbury and Windham's 29-8 verdict over Penney, sends the topsy-turvy CCIL football race into a four-way stalemate heading into the final weekend of league play.

Enfield, Conard, Simsbury and Windham each stand 6-2 in the CCIL while the Silk Towners are in fifth place. Manchester plays the spoiler's role Saturday as it opposes Windham High in Willimantic before closing out the campaign Thanksgiving Day morning against traditional rival East Catholic at 11 o'clock.

The Indians had Enfield stopped twice in the first quarter, but each time yielded a first down as the Raiders shifted into punt formation. "It was the first time we saw them shift on a punt," commented Manchester Head Coach Jack Holik.

The little mistakes were converted into touchdowns, a 1-yard plunge by Courtney McLaughlin and a 14-yard pass play from Jay Wheeler to Tom Downs. Manchester, however, bounced back from the 12-0 deficit in the second quarter.

The Indians wasted their first drive but turned their second advance into six points. Two strikes from quarterback Gary Marineau to Paul Cullen of 31 and 19 yards highlighted the advance with tailback Tom McCuskey, punting over from a yard out.

East Relay Swim Team Scores in Class M Meet

Garnering three firsts, East Catholic girls' swimming team took third place in the state Class M Meet at Woodbury Wilson High in Middletown.

Sheehan High of Wallingford as expected took the team title with 243 points followed by Weston 155 and the Bagelletes with 135 points.

The 200-yard medley relay combination of freshman Lynne Dakin, sophomore Claire Viola, junior Jane Price and senior Julie Tucker took relay honors with a 2:00.7 clocking, shattering the school record by 2.1 seconds.

"It was a perfect relay. Every start and every turn was just perfect," noted East Coach Ralph Viola. Each girl turned in personal bests on all four legs.

Viola successfully defended her crown in the 100-yard butterfly with a 1:01.9 clocking while Lynne Dakin annexed the 100-yard breaststroke crown with a 1:13.6 clocking, overpowering the field including defending champ Kim Doolan of Sheehan.

Lynne Dakin was also sixth in the 200-yard individual medley while sophomore Kelli Dakin was fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke with a 1:17.8 clocking. Viola was second in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:08.1, trailing Ande Brown of St. Joseph's.

Tucker took ninth place in the 100 yard while Price and Karen McCaffrey were sixth and 11th respectively in the 100 freestyle. Price turned in a 1:00.9 freestyle relay of Mary McCarthy, McCaffrey, Laura Peterson and Price turned in a 4:08.1 clocking to secure third place. Price on the anchor leg was under the minute mark for the first time ever.

Viola in the butterfly and backstroke, Lynne Dakin in the breaststroke and the 200-yard medley relay qualified East Catholic for Saturday's State Open at Southern Connecticut State College.

Rough Weekend for Schools

In Area on Football Field

Area football teams did not have a good Saturday as only a tie could be salvaged out of four outings.

Rockville High battled to a 0-0 deadlock with former CVC co-leader Glastonbury High; South Windsor High dropped an 8-6 dupe to Bloomfield High; Penney High was on the short end of a 28-8 score to Windham; and East Hartford High dropped its ninth straight, 14-6, to Fermi High in Enfield.

Rockville went to 2-2 in the CVC and 2-2 overall with its second scoreless tie of the season. Earlier, the Rams played to a 0-0 tie with East Catholic; Glastonbury went to 1-1 in the conference and 6-1 overall burst and Mark Anderson added the conversion for Penney, now 2-6 in the CVC and 2-6 overall.

Pete Derosse failed twice to lead Fermi, 44-44-k, past winless East Hartford. The Hornets, 0-8 in the league and 0-2 overall, scored on a 24-yard Pete Mott to Ed Marsh pass.

CAMERA SHY: Dinah Shore and Gregory Peck were handed Hebrew University's coveted Scopus Awards Sunday night in Los Angeles by one of the most famous Scopus recipients of them all, but Ol' Blue Eyes wasn't exactly sparkling. Frank Sinatra made the presentations, but not before offering to black a few camera lenses. Rankled, perhaps, by the revival of the old mobster cliché; he snarled and snapped at photographers, saying, "Don't anybody take my picture - leave me alone... stop taking my picture if you don't want to get thrown out of here." Later he posed, briefly, with Peck and Miss Shore, then growled his way out, saying "I've had enough of this."

REMEMBER THE SWAN SONG?: Back the 1950s, Arthur Godfrey effectively murdered his career - by firing him on the air - but today, Julius LaRosa is alive and well and headed for Broadway. He's been starring in "A Broadway Musical." That's a new off-off-off Broadway musical, and on Dec. 12, he'll shed that "off-off" tag. The show is moving uptown, from the theater of the Riverside Church where it's been getting its shakedown cruise to the Lunt-Fontanne Theater with Gover Champion taking over direction and choreography from George Faison.

ONE-SHOT SMASH: It could only happen in New York - the best one-shot Broadway benefit since Mary Martin and Ethel Merman were teamed three years ago. Sunday night, the team line-up was Liza Minnelli, Chita Rivera and Gwen Verdon, singing and dancing their way through a barrage of gems from "Chicago" and other hits by John Kander and Fred Ebb. Eighty-year-old Lotta Lott was capped the evening at Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall with a recreation of her old cabaret hits. Backing up the whole production were Joel Gray, John Raitt, Nina Givette, Larry Kerst and Jack Gilford - all for the American Musical and Dramatic Academy and the George J. Republic - at 8:30 a.m. ticket.

Monks in Egypt Desert Find St. John's Remains

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - An Egyptian reporter said today he has seen the coffin containing the body of St. John the Baptist - the hermit who heralded the coming of Jesus Christ and was beheaded at the whim of the belly dancer Salome. The reporter for Cairo's Al-Ahram newspaper said he was shown the remains of John, whom Christians venerate as the precursor of Jesus. He said the monks told him they were confident it contained the remains of John, whom Christians venerate as the precursor of Jesus. The Al-Ahram reporter said he was told the body was found in a cave below an old church in the St. Markar monastery, a fortress-like structure built by Egypt's Orthodox Coptic Church in A.D. 360. The monastery is located in the Natron Valley, about 60 miles northwest of Cairo. An Al-Ahram suggested that scholars and Egyptologists should ascertain the authenticity of the discovery. But biblical scholars in the United States looked askance at the initial reports. "If someone comes up with a serious piece of evidence, then the evidence can be considered. But the monks' opinion is without scientific value," said Prof. Morton Smith, an expert on ancient history at Columbia University in New York. Professor Theodore Gaster of Columbia University's Barnard College agreed. "If John was beheaded, it would have been in what is now the West Bank. Any story about what happened to him afterwards is legend," Gaster said. "I've never heard any authoritative story about his coffin." The Coptic Orthodox Church teaches that the body of John the Baptist was removed from Palestine to Alexandria, Egypt, in the 5th century A.D. because of persecution of Christians at the time. John the Baptist called himself in the scriptures "the voice of one crying in the wilderness" and baptized people throughout the Jordan valley, according to the coming of the Messiah. The book of Mark described him as wearing a coat of coarse camel's hair, a leather belt around his waist and feeding "on locusts and wild honey." Herod was imprisoned for denouncing the marriage of King Herod Antipas to his dead brother's wife. Matthew gives this account: "Herod would have liked to put him to death, but he was afraid of the people, in whose eyes John was a prophet. But at his birthday celebrations the daughter of Herodias danced before the guests, and Herod was so delighted he took an oath to give her anything she asked to ask. Prompted by her mother, she said, 'Give me on a dish the head of John the Baptist.'" "The king was distressed when he heard it, but out of regard for his oath and for his guests, he ordered that the request be granted and John beheaded in prison. The head was brought in on a dish and given to the girl; and she carried it to her mother. Then John's disciples came and took away the body, and buried it; and they went and told Jesus."

State Air Flunks Tests

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut's air flunks two federal air pollution standards, and residents may be forced into some drastic choices if a new state plan doesn't meet federal air quality regulations, officials warn. The state Department of Environmental Protection must present the State Implementation Plan to federal officials by Jan. 1. The federal Environmental Protection Agency ordered the new attack on the state's pollution problems. It said Connecticut did not meet federal standards for two major types of pollution - oxidants or smog, and particulates or tiny solid particles. "Somehow, we will have to accommodate economic growth without causing pollutant growth," said Leonard Bruckman, head of the DEP's air compliance unit. If the EPA isn't satisfied with the state nine-year plan, residents may be forced to choose between two sure-fire pollution producers, new highways or new industry. The alternatives are part of the so-called offset provision included in 1977 amendments to the 1972 federal clean air law. The provisions say if an industry wants to build a new plant emitting the oxidants or particulates, it must find "some way or somebody that's got the same emissions." Then it must reduce those emissions in proportion with the pollutants the new facility will produce. Bruckman said in this state eliminating much of the particulate pollution from cars could be the trade-off for new factory emissions, because more roads meant more car particulate pollutants. "Transportation takes away some of your ability to allow new industrial growth, you can't have both," he said.

Porn Czar Said Happy

HARTFORD (UPI) - The Connecticut attorney for porn czar Mike Thevis says his client was almost happy to be captured by FBI agents, but he can now vindicate himself of murder and arson charges. "Thevis, 46, was serving 8 1/2 years for arson, racketeering and interstate transportation of obscene materials when he escaped from a New Albany, Ind., jail last April during a civil trial. Thevis was charged with killing two pornography competitors and using arson to build his $100 million steam empire. The FBI has claimed Thevis controls 40 percent of the nation's pornography business. Donnelly said Thevis' other attorney, Robby Lee Cook, a trial lawyer from Somersville, Ga., was planning steps to expedite court procedure on a 14-count indictment Thevis faces in Atlanta. Donnelly said that the Danbury facility, and had complained he was "being smothered by all the protection."

Coventry Zoners Upheld In Superior Court Suits

COVENTRY - The town has been upheld in decisions by the Tolland Superior Court in two lawsuits brought by residents. Developer Richard Breen had asked the court to strike down a Planning and Zoning Commission regulation requiring a separating distance of 150 feet between a septic system and a watercourse and 50 feet between such a system and wetlands. Breen claimed that the new rule would hinder his ability to develop property on Eagleville Road bounded by the Williamam River and the Mill Brook. However, Judge Harry Hamner ruled that Breen had not appealed a specific application to the town's Zoning Board of Appeals for a reduction in the minimum setback. Hamner added that Breen might find some other reasonable use for the land even if he was prevented from developing some parts of the six-acre lot. The ruling reduces the plaintiff's charge that the ZBA acted arbitrarily, illegally, and beyond its authority. Hamner noted that under state statute the planning commission has the authority to protect watercourses and wetlands and that ecological and environmental considerations have been subject to state control since the 19th century. In another case, Judge John Shea rejected an appeal by Swamp Road resident Thomas Madore to overturn a Zoning Board of Appeals denial of a side yard variance. Madore had requested an exception from the regulations so he could build a garage next to his house. Such structures must be 20 feet from the property line under town regulations. Madore sought to reduce this to six feet and contended that the ZBA, in denying the request, had acted improperly, arbitrarily, and in abuse of its discretion. The appellant claimed a hardship because an open drain ditch on his property prevented construction of the garage either to the rear of his house or to the other side. The ZBA ruled that a variance would be a detriment to the neighborhood due to crowding. Shea accepted the ZBA's contention that it might be unsafe to have the garage too close to the adjacent building. "Also, the applicant did not prove a hardship since it is possible to relocate the garage in compliance with zoning regulations," Shea held. The judge added that "the law in this state makes it clear that the solution of zoning questions should be left to the local authorities and courts should not substitute their judgment for the liberal discretion enjoyed by zoning authorities." He said the ZBA may be overruled only if it acts unfairly or with improper motives. The Planning and Zoning Commission is expected to discuss these cases at its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 at the Town Hall. The final draft of a master plan of development for the town will also be considered.

Area Bulletin Board

Annual Meeting - The reports of all officers and commissions will be heard at the annual town meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall. Residents will be asked to approve the sum of $2.95 for engineering specifications and schematic drawings for the soccer field at Bolton High School and $2,500 for the selection of budget clerks' wages category. The meeting will be asked to accept Piano Road, set May 14 as the annual budget meeting, and set the date for the annual town meeting. Building Committee - The Ram Junior High Building Committee will meet today at 7 p.m. in the library at Ram. The committee will discuss liability insurance coverage for the project, telephone service and drawings and plans and will also approve invoices as required.

CRCOG Will Consider South Windsor Rights

SOUTH WINDSOR - The executive committee of the Capitol Region Council of Governments is expected to decide the future of South Windsor's voting rights when it meets next month, according to Richard Goodman, chairman of the group. South Windsor's voting future in CRCOG is in the air following a 5-3 decision by the Town Council last week not to pay the $4,500 annual assessment due CRCOG. Goodman is expected to recommend deprivation of voting rights when the committee meets. Democratic council members, who voted in favor of paying the assessment, along with some members of the community, have reacted with shock at the council's decision. Councilman Edwars has said, following the vote, that if he was not willing to pay "his share" then they should withdraw from the organization completely. Republican Councilwoman Joan Cushman, who voted against the assessment, said that CRCOG's assessment represented "one more intolerable layer of bureaucracy" and the dues were "blood money" taken as a fee for obtaining federal grants to which the town is rightfully entitled with or without CRCOG's intercession. GOP Council member Richard Ryan had offered an alternative proposal whereby the town would pay $2,500 of the dues. The proposal was voted down. The vote against paying the assessment does not mean that South Windsor intends to withdraw from the organization, according to most councilmen. According to Goodman, of the 27 dues-paying towns, only South Windsor voted against adopting the $4 million budget. The assessments are based on a formula in which population, geographical size and grand list are taken into account.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

No Lap, Dog!

DEAR ABBY: My name is Sandy (short for San Diego) and I became acquainted with your column while being paroled.

I can't read or write because I'm only 3, and besides, I'm a mongrel dog. Someone bought me from the Humane Society for $12.72. (That's the donation, plus the state sales tax.)

When you said, "I don't care WHERE I'm entertained, as long as a dog doesn't come and sit on my lap," I was shocked! I love people and want to help my family entertain guests, so I jump into their laps, look into their eyes and wag my tail. Almost everyone likes me.

My friend, Rover, said we should run you out of the Canine Corps, but I stuck up for you and said you are a nice lady who does much good for many people.

Can't you find a spot in your heart for me, too? I love you.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I love you, too. And please be assured that I do have a spot in my heart for you. But not on my lap. Especially when I'm all dressed up in a beige lace dress and your paws are all sticky from a freshly tarred driveway.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently received an invitation to the wedding of my cousin, who lives 500 miles from us.

There was no indication on the invitation that our children were not included. (Usually, when they don't want children they put "NO CHILDREN" on the invitation.)

Well, I went out and spent a small fortune outfitting my kids for the wedding — and then found out they weren't invited.

Perhaps I should mention that they are not babies, and are greatly well-behaved.

Don't you think the invitation should have indicated "No children?"
