Pep Into Pop

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — Researchers at Rutgers University are looking for economical ways of putting more pep and some nutrition into soda pop.

The project is funded in part by the National Science Foundation and in part by the Japan Society for Promotion of Science, says associate professor Alkis Constantinides, who heads the research team of chemical and biochemical engineers.

Constantinides said the Japanese are particularly interested in developing soluble plant protein to use in liquids and beverages, especially soft drinks.

Social Security

Q. My doctor has advised me to undergo surgery. It is of a non-emergency nature but I would like a second opinion to bolster my own confidence. Will Medicare pay for this second opinion?

A. Yes. And most doctors will assist you in doing so because your doctor wants you to feel completely confident that the proposed surgery is the best treatment for you.

Q. What do I do if my doctor doesn't recommend anyone for a second opinion?

A. Medicare recipients in Hartford county may call toll free number 1-800-823-0033 and will receive the names of several nearby physicians who have volunteered to be on the referral list. You may choose anyone from the names given.

Q. My check is deposited directly to my bank. Do I have to notify Social Security of a change of address?

A. Yes. If you have elected direct deposit, telling us about your new address will assure that you get any correspondence we send you.

Q. When my son turned 18, I notified Social Security that he was attending college. His checks continued but my check stopped. Why?

A. Social Security recognized a student's continued dependency on the worker's earnings. Checks may continue until the student turns age 22 if he does not marry in the meantime. Your checks as a mother are based on having a minor child in your care with the presumption that you are needed in the home during your children's growing years. Once the child turns 18 that presumption is no longer considered valid, and payments to the mother end.

Q. My father died and I have his last three checks. What should I do with them?

A. All checks should be returned to Social Security. Any checks due for months before the month of death will be reissued to the appropriate representative of his estate.

Plastic Ornaments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Plastic Christmas ornaments, lights, trees and toys owe their birth to a researcher named Leo Hendrik Baekland of Yonkers, N.Y.

IPO Inc., a non-profit group dedicated to preserving the patent system as an incentive to innovation and creativity, says Baekland was trying to develop a substitute for shellac when he hit upon Bakelite, a phenolic resin that became a permanent solid when heated. It was an excellent insulator, could be molded, withstood extreme heat and was resistant to many other chemicals.

The group says Baekland's invention created the plastic industry. He obtained his first patent on it Dec. 7, 1909 and successfully defended it and other patents against all imitators.

His plastic has also figured in the mass production of automobiles, radio, television and other billion dollar industries where control of electricity is needed.

The inventor retired in 1939, at the age of 57, after selling his corporation to Union Carbide and Carbon Corp.

Age Bias Claimed in Suit

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — A Stratford man has filed suit in U.S. District Court against American Cyanamid Co. charging age discrimination and libel following his dismissal from the firm's Danbury division. In his complaint, Robert P. Douglas, 59, said he was notified in June 1977 that he was going to be fired from the American Cyanamid Co. because of poor performance. He had been employed there 20 years. Douglas worked both in the firm's Stamford research center and later in the company's Davis and Geck division in Danbury which manufactures surgical sutures and needles. Douglas alleges in the complaint, on file Wednesday, that at the same time he was notified he was going to be fired, he was assigned by his supervisor to a job that was unfamiliar to him. He was dismissed from the firm in December 1977 after his immediate supervisor allegedly made false statements against him in writing. Douglas says in the complaint the supervisor later admitted the accusations were false. Attorney David F. Golub of Stamford, representing Douglas, said Douglas received annual salary increases based on merit while he was employed at the Danbury division from October 1970 to December 1977. During those seven years, his salary increased from $12,000 to $21,500 per year and he was promoted to the position of design engineer despite the fact that he does not hold a degree in engineering. The suit names the company, along with Douglas' supervisor and a personnel manager, charging they allegedly made false statements about Douglas, including the allegations of poor performance. The complaint said Cyanamid was being charged with age discrimination because the company was seeking someone to fill Douglas' position before his termination from the firm. A spokeswoman at the Davis and Geck Division said the company would not comment on the matter.

Bicen Panel To Disband

MANCHESTER — The town's Bicentennial Committee, responsible for a variety of events, including the state's longest parade, to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday in 1976, expects to disband next month and make a final report to the Board of Directors. Two of its Bicentennial projects, the construction of a replica of the old Kenney Street School, and the Bicentennial Band Shell were completed during the past two years. The schoolhouse was dedicated and the band shell, which was dedicated in 1977 had its first successful season this past summer. Ralph Maccarone, band shell coordinator, said that each of the concerts, which were open to the public free of charge, drew at least 200 people. Before the committee disbands, it will look into ways to fund a refreshment stand and rest room facility. The committee has been told that the town is for dreaming. SANTIAGO, CHILE (UPI) — Chile's National Tourism Department has adopted a new slogan to lure tourists to this country. The slogan is "Chile, a nation in which to dream."

Jury Hears Taped Talk On Plans to Steal Sub

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A tape-recorded phone conversation played to a jury in the wire fraud trial of an insurance salesman detailed what he said were plans to hijack a submarine and fire nuclear missiles at Washington, D.C., and New London, Conn. The defendant, Edward J. Mendenhall, of Rochester, N.Y., sat impassively Wednesday while jurors and lawyers wearing headphones listened to the recording in U.S. District Court. Mendenhall, 24, did not put on the headset in front of him. "I could drop a subroc (missile) on Washington," Mendenhall said in one of the recordings. "I can launch it because they've got a 30-mile range." "We have to lay one on New London town. That's definite. It'll make the town look like Hiroshima." Mendenhall said he would recruit a crew of 12 to 15 men to steal the USS Tregang from its berth at New London and fire the missiles as a diversion. "It'll look like the Russians did it or something and all the boats will be going out and we're going to catch them all out," he said. The FBI taped the conversations, which occurred Aug. 10 and 11 between Charles E.N. Rosene and Mendenhall. Rosene, a St. Louis heating and air-conditioning contractor, gave Mendenhall odd jobs after Mendenhall was orphaned at 15. The government originally charged Mendenhall and James W. Cosgrove, 26, of Geneva, N.Y., with conspiracy to steal the submarine. However, last week the charge against both men was changed to wire fraud — using the telephone to try to swindle Rosene of up to $300,000 in front money for the operation. Cosgrove, who, like Mendenhall, was arrested Oct. 4, is scheduled to go on trial Monday. Donald Wolff, Mendenhall's court-appointed attorney, contends that by his sudden switch in charges, the government is ensure whether the plot was to steal the Tregang or take money from Rosene. Wolff said the jury should have reasonable doubt about both charges and therefore should find Mendenhall innocent. Rosene testified Wednesday Mendenhall first called him about the plot in late July or early August. "He said he had a submarine he wanted to sell for $200 million," Rosene said. "Mendenhall said, 'I'd rather sell it to you than to Cuba because you have the contacts and because I'd never come out alive there if I sold it to Cuba.'" Rosene said he called a friend at the police department and asked him for $300,000. "I told him this is World War III and I didn't want to get involved in World War III," Rosene said. The policeman notified the FBI, and agents asked Rosene to call back Mendenhall for more information, pretending that he had a buyer for the vessel. Rosene also later introduced an undercover FBI agent to Mendenhall and Cosgrove as a representative of the prospective buyer. Rosene told Mendenhall he had three buyers willing to pay a total of $150 million for the submarine. In the taped conversations Mendenhall on several occasions asked Rosene for front money to hire a crew and prepare the plot. "We're going to need money," he said. "I'll need anywhere from $50,000 to $300,000."

This Seasonal Card Is Actually Tax Bill

MANCHESTER — The card will be trimmed in green and red, but for many it will not be the best present received during this holiday season. The town's collector of revenue office this week is sending out about 8,000 supplemental motor vehicle tax bills. The total amount of the billing is $492,000, an increase of $60,000 over last year. The supplemental tax bills are the result of a state law that went into effect last year. The law creates a second billing for vehicles registered after Oct. 1. Before the law was passed, it was possible to avoid paying motor vehicle taxes in a fiscal year by registering the vehicle after Oct. 1, the last date for inclusion in the Grand List. The supplemental billing will charge for vehicles registered between Oct. 2, 1977 and June 30, 1978. Vehicles registered between June 30 and Oct. 1 are included in the regular billing for motor vehicles. The regular billing is due in July. The supplemental tax bills are due in January 1979. Last year, the town collected 95 percent of the $432,000 in supplemental taxes it billed, James Turek, collector of revenue, said. This meant about $400,000 in revenues for the town. Even more can be expected this year if a similar collection rate is reached. The computer cards sent with the billing are lettered and trimmed in green and red, the colors of the Christmas season. "Season's Greetings," Turek said with a smile. The colors actually are just a coincidence, he said. The cards were ordered in the spring. The law divides the period from Oct. 1 to June 30 in two sections. Anyone who registers a vehicle before Feb. 16 pays 100 percent of the assessment in the supplemental tax and receives 100 percent credit for any former vehicle he had. Anyone who registers a vehicle on or after Feb. 16 pays 50 percent of the assessment and receives 50 percent credit. The new billing raised some anger among residents last year. Some persons felt the tax should be prorated for the entire period, so a vehicle bought in December would not be charged the same as one bought in October.

Attempt Fails To Save Man In House Fire

BRISTOL (UPI) — A 65-year-old man died in a house fire caused by a portable electric heater, despite the efforts of his wife and two passersby to save him, fire officials said Wednesday. Domenico Bocompano was pronounced dead at Bristol Hospital shortly before midnight Tuesday. His 65-year-old wife, Mary, was listed in stable condition in the hospital's intensive care unit after suffering smoke inhalation. The passersby were identified as Lori Reed, 20, and Diana Raymond, 21, both of Bristol. The fire at 50 Carol Drive started in the bedroom of the single family house where Bocompano was sleeping. Fire Marshal Rene Laurier said it was caused by a portable electric heater which was too close to the blankets and rug. Laurier said Mrs. Bocompano had gone for coffee at a local restaurant and when she returned home, the house was engulfed with smoke and she could not open the bedroom door. Three passersby stopped. While one of them, Charles Raymond, called the fire department from a nearby house, the young woman went into the house and tried to help Mrs. Bocompano open the bedroom door. "They couldn't get the door open and they took Mrs. Bocompano outside and held her," Laurier said. "She wanted to go back in to try to help her husband out, but they kept her outside until the fire department arrived."

State Panel Cacks Down on Lottery Firm

WETHERFIELD (UPI) — The gaming commission, accused in recent weeks of not doing its job, has decided to get tough with the firm that runs the daily lottery.

At its weekly meeting Wednesday, the gaming panel also voted to challenge a lawyer's claim that organized crime has infiltrated gambling and to clamp down on unrestricted phone use in gaming facility computer rooms.

At the meeting, the commission decided to warn AmTote's parent, the state's financial disclosure law. The gaming panel said it will terminate AmTote's contract March 15 if the financial information is not forthcoming.

Commissioner Lester Snyder of West Hartford said it would be irresponsible for us to approve a contract with a firm not in compliance with financial disclosure laws.

The commission also requested its state police chief of criminal investigations to ask Rep. Christopher Shays, R-Stamford, to prove his allegations that organized crime has infiltrated legalized gambling in Connecticut.

The nine-member commission voted to notify AmTote's parent firm, General Instruments Inc. of New York, that it was in violation of the state's financial disclosure law. The gaming panel said it will terminate AmTote's contract March 15 if the financial information is not forthcoming.

Commissioner Gloria Morris of Willimantic said she was anxious to see documentation of Shays' allegations since "I don't think it's true. There is no organized crime involvement in any legalized gambling activity in this state."

Shays was one of five Republican lawmakers who last week at a news conference called for a moratorium on new gaming facilities. The GOP lawmakers also proposed a 40 percent reduction in the number of pari-mutuel performances for a two-year period while a blue-ribbon panel of New London urged Jacob Louzotis to collect whatever information he can provide the commission as soon as possible "so we can do away with these allegations."

In other action, the gaming commission ordered that unrestricted phones be banned from computer rooms of the state's three jai alai arenas and the Plainfield dog track as a security measure.

Computer rooms are where the odds, wagering and collecting operations are carried out. Automatic Totalisator Inc. of Newark, Del., handles the three jai alai arenas and American Totalisator Inc. runs the Plainfield computer system.

The commission learned unrestricted phones had been installed in the computer rooms without the commission's approval, some going back several years.

State Racing Commissioner Louis Fiocchi said the operators "were under the erroneous impression they had applied for and received permission" to install the phones.

Officials Probe Arms Explosion

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Remington Arms Co. Inc. engineers and technicians were investigating the cause of an explosion of a primer powder mixture which claimed the life of a 58-year-old employee, officials report.

There were no other injuries caused by the Wednesday explosion and damage to the plant was minimal, said public relations supervisor Richard Dietz.

Dominick Pulley of Bridgeport was severely injured when ammunition primer exploded at 10:10 a.m. Dietz said Pulley died on the way to Bridgeport Hospital.

Pulley was working alone in the primer mixing area, Dietz said.

Bolton Selectmen Divided on Interstate 84 Opinions

BOLTON — "The opinion of First Selectman Henry Ryba, on Interstate 84, is not that of the Board of Selectmen. The opinion of Selectmen, voting on the highway completion through Bolton, voted two against, two in favor and one abstained."

She said she has also reviewed, as Ryba said he did, the material in favor of and against the highway and has been doing so for seven years and my research has convinced me that Interstate 84 through Bolton would not have any beneficial effect, in fact, it would be a costly mistake."

Listing her reasons for opposing the project, Mrs. Neath said the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has an edict from the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to "clean up our air." The federal agency has extended the deadline because Connecticut couldn't comply with the original deadline, she said.

"If smog levels remain as high as they have been in Connecticut, the state will be faced with restructuring the transportation system or calling a halt, or severe limitation, to new industry," Mrs. Neath said.

She said that almost a year ago Stanley Pac, commissioner of DEP gave a go ahead to the Interstate 84 project saying it was consistent with air quality standards.

She termed polluted air a special threat to children, the elderly and those suffering from heart disease or diseases of the lungs.

College Visibility Suggested

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's colleges and universities should come out of the closet and be more a part of communities where they live, says the man who heads up the state's higher education system.

Michael Usdan, commissioner of the Board of Higher Education, told the board's new advisory panel Wednesday they must help colleges and universities change to reflect political, social and economic realities of the state.

The colleges must stop their "selective invisibility" and become "more visible and responsive community institutions," he said at an installment meeting for 28 new board members in the Capitol Senate chamber.

The advisory panel, which includes representatives from business, industry, and labor, was welcomed by Gov. Ella Grasso and Howard Klebanoff, chairman of the Board of Higher Education.

Mrs. Grasso said employment has increased in Connecticut "due in large measure to the quality of higher education in our state. It is also a product of our efforts to analyze the needs of business and industry for special skills."

The governor said $4 million has been allocated this year for programs to encourage business and industry to create new jobs in areas of chronic unemployment.

In addition, operating funds have been provided to accommodate expanded enrollments at vocational technical facilities and increase student counseling programs, she said.

Usdan said the panel will have to come up with a pattern for reorganizing education "within a very, very tight timetable." He said Connecticut's educational system "mile for mile, probably the most complex, is organizational makeup."

He said the panel will have to find a new financially flexible delivery mechanism for Connecticut educators that will "set the course of education until the end of this century."

London Musical

LONDON (UPI) — A London producer has turned to a Hollywood movie company to help finance a stage musical in London.

"I am not prepared to put a figure to it," said impresario Harold Fielding, but local reports said Universal Pictures is putting 350,000 pounds ($665,000) into his untitled production.

The show is based on an Italian musical telling the Old Testament story of Noah's Ark but setting it in an Italian village. An opening in November is planned.

Connecticut doesn't meet air quality standards, new industry will be seriously curtailed and existing industries will be faced with stringent controls that will not encourage growth.

"Thus, the job-industrial growth argument needs serious scrutiny," she said.

"Some say the highway will get them where they are going, quicker. I think about that often when tied up on the bridge to the city with the bumper-to-bumper crowd," Mrs. Neath said.

She added that fewer cars on the road will get people where they are going, more quickly and charged that population projections on which the need for the highway were centered, were erroneous noting that population has declined.

She also pointed out that the state's mass transit system has improved dramatically since 1971 with new routes and commuter lots being added in northeastern Connecticut. She said one of the original reasons for the highway was to provide transportation because of the lack of transportation systems in the area.

"Since then we have seen two of the most successful commuter bus runs established in the state (Vernon and Burr Corners in Manchester) in Connecticut. Additional service now available in Willimantic, Andover, and Columbia and one day in Bolton next April," Mrs. Neath said.

Stating that some of her points indicate to her that there is a serious question about a need for Interstate 84, Mrs. Neath said, "It is unfortunate that the real problems of air pollution and its causes are not readily understood. If they were, the citizenry would be up in arms over highway construction."

She calls on taxpayers who are concerned about their local taxes and the conditions of roads in their towns, to demand some of the federal and state funds for highway improvements locally instead of seeing their tax dollars "poured into concrete for more new highways."

This is the sewage treatment tank which had its cover knocked out of place last week. The tank, known as a digester, is at the sewage treatment plant on Landfill Way. The dark ridge at the top of the tank shows where the cover has lifted up out of place. Heavy Lid Might Float

MANCHESTER — Did you ever try to float a 30,000-pound steel cover? The idea may sound a little unusual, but town officials are considering taking such a step and they think it might work.

The town presently faces the problem of replacing the 30,000-pound cover of a sewage treatment tank at the town's sewage treatment plant.

The cover was knocked ajar last week when gases built up inside the tank and displaced the cover of the huge treatment tank, known as a digester.

Brackets and bolts that held the cover in place were knocked out of place.

The cover still sits on top of the tank, but it is slightly askew. It resembles the top of a cookie jar that has been replaced properly, Jay Giles, director of public works, said.

The town now must decide how to move the heavy cover back into place.

Cranes could be used to lift it and place it back in its prior position, Giles said.

Most Legislators Oppose Ban on State Income Tax

By ANDREW NIBLEY

HARTFORD (UPI) — A majority of lawmakers oppose a permanent ban on a state income tax and a constitutional ceiling on government spending — ideas tested by both candidates in the recent governor's race, a UPI survey shows.

Both Gov. Ella Grasso and the man she defeated, three-term Republican congressman Ronald Sarasin, spent much of the campaign telling voters the time had come to change the state Constitution to limit annual budget increases and to ban an income tax ad infinitum.

But 56 percent of the lawmakers who responded to a UPI poll of the 1979 Legislature said they oppose a permanent ban on a state income tax. Only 40 percent favored the income tax ban, while 4 percent were undecided.

The lawmakers were also concerned about holding any increase in welfare benefits below the 7 percent level. Sixty-eight percent said they wanted to keep welfare increases down, while only 13 percent thought the 7 percent figure was too low.

At the same time, 52 percent of the legislators said they were against tampering with the Constitution to limit government spending. Nearly 42 percent favored a constitutional ceiling on spending, while 6 percent said they hadn't made up their minds yet.

[UPI] gave the legislators a list of 20 potential issues and asked them to rate issues on their significance. The lawmakers were also asked to indicate their positions on the issues.

Even though a majority of lawmakers opposed the idea, setting a constitutional limit on government spending was ranked as the fourth most important issue the Legislature will deal with this year.

The only issues that were given a higher priority were increasing funding for public education, setting fixed sentences for chronic criminals and holding state employee raises below 7 percent as requested by President Carter in his anti-inflation program.

Legislators ranked a permanent ban on an income tax as the eighth most important issue of the session which gets underway next month.

The survey revealed that while a majority of legislators oppose the income tax ban and the spending ceiling, those who favor the ideas gave them a very high priority. On the whole, spending and budget issues seemed to be a major concern of the new Legislature.

The survey showed that 45 percent of those who responded opposed any cut in the state's 7 percent sales tax, while 40 percent favored the idea. Many wrote that such a cut was "not feasible at this time."

Even though cutting the sales tax was unpopular, 62 percent of the lawmakers said they would like to

This wooden chain will be about 14 feet long when Paul Buettner finishes carving it. Here he shows how he went about the task, mostly with small hand tools. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Mahogany Chain Was One Piece

MANCHESTER — Paul Buettner of 169 Autumn St. is carving a chain from a single piece of mahogany.

When he finishes it it will be 14 feet long.

Buettner, a retired florist, started the project with a piece of mahogany one inch square by 12 feet long. He rabbeted off the corners on a table saw and started each link with a small drill. From that point on it was all hand work with a small saw and craft knives.

So far the project, his second wooden chain, has taken 40 hours. The first chain was cut from a six-foot length of black walnut, harder than mahogany and with shorter fibers.

Buettner retired five and a half years ago, but his interest in carving began before that.

He discovered that he could carve the thin strips of wood that separate flowers in large boxes, so he made them into decorations which he kept.

Poetry Reading Salutes Christmas Classic

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Dr. Clement C. Moore's black sleigh slid over the snow glistening in the light of New York's full moon on Christmas Eve 1822. He had one hour to write a holiday poem promised his children.

Moore, a somewhat stuffy professor of oriental languages, glanced at his driver, a Dutch handyman named Peter. The man's nose was red and his belly shook as he sneezed in the cold night air.

Inspiration.

By the time they arrived home, Moore was reciting: "His eyes — how they twinkled! His dimples, how merry! His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!"

"A Visit From St. Nicholas" — now better known by its first line, "Twas the night before Christmas" — was born. Santa at the time was typically envisioned as a scrawny old man in bishop's robes. Moore transformed him into a fat, happy fellow.

Not particularly proud of his poem, Moore never intended it to leave the family realm. But a friend secretly copied it and sent it to a newspaper. Now it is read in every land around the world.

In Newport, where Moore spent the last years of his life, James H. Van Alen has made it an annual event.

At 1 p.m. Saturday at the Colony House, Van Alen will don the same frayed frock coat he always borrows from the Player's Guild. With all the drama he can muster, he will deliver his 25th annual reading of Moore's masterpiece.

Van Alen, 76, an heir to Vanderbilt and Astor fortunes, is owner of the historic Newport Casino as well as an editor, publisher, world traveler and tennis champ. The reading carries him back to his childhood.

Van Alen's show lasts seven or eight minutes and always includes three "phenogenic" girls, one boy and Candy, his wife.

She reads the introduction written by Van Alen, telling the children, "... if you'll sit very still, your eyes and heads this tale will fill, with visions which on Christmas Eve, are dreamt by all who believe."

Then it's Van Alen's turn. With nary a script, he gleefully tells the tale of Dasher, Dancer, Prancer and Vixen delivering jolly old St. Nicholas:

"He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work.
"And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
"And laying his finger aside of his nose,
"And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
"He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
"And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
"But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

"I know it by heart," Van Alen said. "I could say this blindfolded, with my hands tied behind my back." The same goes for the copyrighted "postscript" he penned in 1926 because Moore's 46-line work always left him yearning for more detail. It's as long as the original and describes Santa's "twinkle, his dimple, his nose like a cherry, his wink and his laugh, none ever ever so merry."

"And laying his finger aside of his nose,"

Officials Prepare Draft Of Brochure on Housing

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The town has completed a draft copy of a brochure about its housing market and the many cultural and municipal services it offers.

The brochure, which has been opposed by some residents, is part of the town's requirements to receive present-year Community Development funding.

The brochure was approved by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, which is in charge of the Community Development Program. It is aimed at showing that Manchester operates under fair housing practices with no discrimination and anyone who can afford it can move into town.

The brochure will include photographs and brief segments of writing that offer some detail about life in Manchester.

Pictures will include "racially mixed" photographs of people coming out of church and children in a school yard and a photograph of a minority couple with a child entering a house.

The cover of the brochure says, "Welcome to Manchester — The Better Town to Grow In."

An inside flap will say "Manchester has it all" and then lists such things as schools, recreation, transportation, the historic Thanksgiving Day Road race and ethnic diversity.

"This brochure does not begin to tell all there is of Manchester and its people but it does attempt to reveal some of the true spirit of our community. Discover us for yourselves," the proposed text says.

It also lists the telephone number of the town's equal opportunity coordinator and says he may be called for a list of equal opportunity Realtors or if someone feels he has been discriminated against in the purchase or rental of housing.

The proposed brochure will be reviewed by the Town Board of Directors. Draft copies were presented to the directors Tuesday, and the board will discuss the brochure at its January meetings.

LNG Disaster Warned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A fire or explosion at East Coast storage areas for liquefied gas could be catastrophic to heavily populated areas nearby, witnesses told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cosgriff of New York City testified at a Senate Commerce subcommittee hearing into the handling of such things as liquefied natural and petroleum gas.

The Cosgriffs are active in the group, "Bring Legal Action to Stop the Tanks." It opposes storage or handling of LNG and LPG near populated areas.

"I am guided by 'Murphy's Law,'" Cosgriff told the subcommittee. "If something can go wrong, it will. There is nothing made by man that can be made

Coventry Educators Eye Grammar School

COVENTRY — The Board of Education will hear an overview of activities at the Coventry Grammar School at its meeting there tonight at 8. Principal William McDermott and members of the staff will lead the discussion.

Also on the agenda is a meeting with State Representative Robert Walsh, who will tell the board about upcoming legislation affecting education.

School Superintendent Arnold Elman will ask for approval of substitute teachers' payment of revenue-sharing bills, and the awarding of bids. He will also present a revised budget format and calendar changes.

McDermott is expected to report on the Christmas performance given by third and fourth graders this week. On the last day of school, December 22, the grammar school faculty will put on a play for the students entitled "Mrs. Santa Makes a Point."

At its last meeting the board voted to write a letter to the Town Council protesting a proposal to build a town garage on a five-acre site behind the high school. The board felt it would present a traffic hazard, cause noise, and cut into athletic fields there.

Recently the town's Parks and Recreation Commission joined the board in opposing the site. The commission's main concern is the loss of field space. One proposed road that would lead to Ripley Hill Road would slice into a field now used by the high school for girls' soccer. An alternative road would go to Route 31 and would reduce an athletic field used by the Captain Nathan Hale School.

The proposed site was suggested to the town by Town Planner Gregory Padick and Sanitarian Donald Holmes after the Public Works Study Committee recommended that town-owned land be

Vernon Church Sets Ceremony of Carols

VERNON — "A Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten, will be presented as "Worship Through Music" at the Sunday morning service at 10 a.m. Sunday by the Women's Chorus of Union Congregational Church.

The ceremony will start with the choir coming up the church aisle singing the plain chant that tells of the birth of Christ. Soloists will be Shirley Maharan, soprano; Mary Schlechtweg, and Sue Levitt, contraltos.

Accompanying the chorus will be harpist Rebecca Flannery who is a harp instructor at the University of Hartford. Clifford Wood will direct the chorus.

South Windsor FISH Launches Fund Drive

SOUTH WINDSOR — The town's FISH organization has launched its drive for funds for 1979. Letters have been written to local churches, civic groups and clubs, outlining the group's service to the community and asking for financial support.

This year FISH is seeking $750, most of which will be spent for the 24-hour answering service which receives incoming calls. Other major expenses are the costs of insurance and mailing the bi-monthly newsletter and duty roster.

The local FISH organization has been in operation eight years. It provides "neighborly" services to persons who find themselves in difficult situations and who have no one else to turn to for help. The great majority of incoming calls request transportation to health treatment and social services facilities. However, the group also provides hot meals, child care, companionship, and emergency telephone checks.

During 1977, the Friends in Service Here (FISH) received 466 calls. It is expected that 1978 calls will also exceed 400.

While FISH volunteers cover the costs incurred in providing their services, they turn to the town each year to provide the funds needed for organizational expenses.

Christmas Party

Avery Street Christian Reformed Church will hold its annual Sunday School Christmas program at 7 p.m. service on Dec. 17.

There will be a congregational carol singing during the service. Guests from South Windsor and surrounding towns are invited to attend the service.

Windmills Favored Over Nuclear Plants for Energy

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International

The nation would become a land of windmills — producing energy without polluting — if young American adults could have their way.

An energy attitudes survey issued Wednesday says nice clean windmills head the list of energy producers most acceptable close to home.

The survey, funded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, found 64 percent of those between 26 and 35 favor windmills over any other kind of energy producer within 25 miles of their homes.

The least acceptable power producers close to the hearth: nuclear power plants, coal-burning, coal gasification, oil shale processing.

When asked to consider trade-offs between energy development and risks to the environment, the young adults appeared to learn toward environmental protection.

Other practical aspects of their size-up of the energy situation:

— Ninety percent believe that as use of energy increases throughout the world there will be less for the United States.

— Eighty percent think wars probably will occur over energy supplies as world energy consumption goes up.

The survey was conducted in mid-1977 and involved 1,300 of the population born between 1941 and 1960. Participants were paid $5 for filling out a booklet full of questions. Each also was interviewed in his or her home.

The study was sponsored by the National Assessment of Educational Progress in Denver, Colo., an agency of the Education Commission of the States supported by the HEW's National Center for Education Statistics.

The young Americans, mostly part of the postwar baby boom, tend to be dunces when it comes to facts needed to make informed decisions on energy in this era of energy shortages.

However, they recognize that energy problems are serious and capable of cramping individual freedom, lifestyles and workstyles. The energy situation already has influenced many of them when buying cars and appliances, traveling to work and heating their homes.

The survey aimed to learn how well informed Americans are to meet the challenges of current energy problems and to make choices for the future.

Deficiencies include:

— Only 14 percent know the largest proportion of the nation's electrical energy is produced from coal. 30 percent mistakenly believe falling water is the principal electrical source; 16 percent know coal, as well as petroleum, can be converted into gasoline.

— Only 23 percent know heating water for use in the average American home consumes more energy than refrigerating, cooking, drying clothing or lighting the home.

Their concerns include:

— 70 percent believe importing foreign oil poses serious consequences for the social and economic well being of the nation.

— 6 percent consider disposal of radioactive waste the most serious potential hazard associated with nuclear power.

Bright spots include:

— 87 percent know accelerating quickly to the appropriate speed wastes gasoline.

— 52 percent know keeping tires underinflated for better traction wastes gasoline.

— 71 percent know a 40-watt fluorescent tube produces more light than a conventional 40-watt incandescent bulb for the same amount of electricity.

Irony in the findings: although 95 percent know auto emissions add heavily to air pollution, more than half report they would hop in a car to go one-half mile or less.

Consultants asked to comment on the survey said they were troubled that the young adults did not have a grasp of deeper issues and concepts necessary for informed decisions.

Donald Duggan, chief of the Academic Programs Branch, Department of Energy, and Isabelle Weber, coordinator of the energy department, League of Women Voters Education Fund, agreed.

— There is a need for "how to" information that can be quickly disseminated for the benefit of all age populations.

Rebuilding Ahead For High Matmen

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports-Editor

Hard pressed to match last year's best-ever 11-4 record will be the 1978-79 Manchester High wrestling team.

Nine of the 12 starters graduated leaving first-year Head Coach Barry Bernstein a rebuilding job. "We are considering this a rebuilding year," admits Bernstein, who was assistant coach a year ago under since retired Bob Albright. "This will be a developing, experience-gaining season."

Senior Co-Captains Mike Scholsky (185-pound weight class) and Pat Bixby (126) and junior Dan Collins (105) represent the Indian grapplers experienced over. Others saw either partial varsity action or jayvee competition for the most part.

Junior Mark Albert is lined up in the 98-pound division while the Eagle skaters on the board at 2-24 of the final period with center Matt Tobin taking a pass from Bob White and putting it behind the West net.

John Waugaman at 4:17 tallied for Warde on a 3-on-1 break, assisted by Gordon Brown and Barry Waugaman.

Tobin took a centering pass from King behind the net in the slot and drilled home a 10-footer at 5:38 to make it 3-3 deficit. But Warde tied it at 8:53 as Larsen stole a clearing pass, skated in and scored his fourth point of the night.

East outshote Warde overall, 33-28, with Doug Roberts and Peter LaBelle playing well defensively and Tobin and King offensively.

when he'll return to the mat is unsure.

The Silk Towners, who open their campaign Friday night against Ithaca High in Hebron at 6:30, have not settled at 122 with either juniors Scott Christensen, or John Mazur or sophomore Bill Reid to get the nod.

Bernstein has not settled on a starter at either 135 or 145, too. Either Bill Hoyt or Dale Carlson, both juniors, will draw the start in the former classification while either junior Joe Smith or senior Doug Hanley will wrestle at 145.

Junior Don Beckman is top candidate at the 167-pound weight level with Chris Boudreau, a transfer from Cheney Tech, also a possibility.

John Walrath and Andy Gibson, a pair of sophomores, figure in the picture at 185 while 165-pound Keith Ray has "looked excellent" and is top candidate at unlimited. He could also figure in at 185. Sop more Bernie Zimmerman, a 190-pounder also is an unlimited (i.e. heavyweight) division prospect.

"We lost much more than anyone else in the league (CCIL) states currently out with a broken nose and Scholsky, Bixby and Collins and resurgence from Ray, Smith, Beckman, Albert could swing a lot of points in our direction.

"We have our least experience in the middle weight classes. I think we'll have a good season and we would like to shoot for the 500 mark," Bernstein added.

The rookie Tribe coach sees Scholsky, Bixby and Ray having one seasons and doing well in state competition. Scholsky was third in his weight class as a junior.

"What we're looking for is consistency. We're going for 500 so by next year we'll have built up again," remarked Bernstein, well aware of his primarily underclassman lineup.

Ski Notes

By Bill Sarchek

It was cold Monday night at Mt. Suntington as I skied the area on mammoth snow. Snowmaking look place all day and well into the night as it hit a few icy spots in a few sections and sharp edges were needed.

Many skiers were already trying out their early Christmas gifts. It seemed that many were coming down the wide slope through the middle. If one stayed closer the edge, it was here where the snow was best, minus going through the snow blowers.

Gordon Barnes, who heads the Barnes Weather Service, predicted a colder and a more snowy winter than last year.

Hope you haven't forgotten the Skiers Responsibility Code, follow it and you will enjoy a safer ski season.

1. Ski under control at all times so you can stop or avoid other skiers or objects.

2. The overtaking skier must avoid the skier below him.

3. Skiers must not stop in places that will obstruct a trail or in places not visible from above.

4. When entering a trail or crossing, stop look up hill, and before starting downhill yield to the moving skier.

5. All skiers MUST wear retaining straps or other devices to help prevent runaway skis.

6. Skiers MUST keep off all closed trails and posted areas and observe all posted signs.

When you see Woodstock's Suicide sign, you were warned.

Six area this winter you'll hardly recognize it. A new double chairlift begins its operation base load, expanded snow making and a free J-bar area for beginners and novice skiers. See you on the mountain.

"The kid made some great saves," Penguin coach Johnny Wilson said of the 33-shot performance.

The unbeaten streak has moved Pittsburgh to within four points of second-place Los Angeles in the Norris Division.

Things aren't going so well for the Blues, who were blanked for the second straight night and are now 6-21-4 for the season, having given up a league-worst 146 goals in 31 games.

In other NHL games, the New York Rangers outgained Los Angeles 8-7, Montreal shaded Minnesota 3-2, Toronto defeated Vancouver 5-1, Buffalo belted Chicago 6-2 and Atlanta tied Detroit 5-5. There were no games in the World Hockey Association.

Hangers 8, Kings 7
Steve Vickers, Ron Greschner and Ulf Nilsson scored in a 4-07 span of the third period to move New York into second place in the Patrick Division. Vickers and Greschner scored two goals apiece for the Rangers, Wings.

Terry Bradshaw Heads Pro Bowl AFC Stars

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw, the American Football Conference's leading passer, tops the starting offensive team in the 40-man squad that will represent the AFC in the 1979 AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, to be played in Los Angeles on Jan. 29.

The starting squad also includes Bradshaw's teammates Lynn Swan at wide receiver and Mike Webster at center. The New England Patriots are the only other team to have more than one starter on offense, represented by tackle Leon Gray and guard John Hannah.

Miami's Delvin Williams and Houston's Earl Campbell are the starting AFC running backs, and rounding out the offensive unit are New York Jets wide receiver Wesley Walker, Oakland tight end Dave Casper, Buffalo guard Joe DeLamater and San Diego tackle Russ Washington.

The Denver Broncos have four players on the starting defensive squad, including end Lyle Aldred, middle linebacker Randy Gradishar, cornerback Louis Wright and safety Bill Thompson.

Joining the Broncos are two members of Pittsburgh's Steel Curtain defense, tackle Joe Greene and outside linebacker Jack Ham. Houston also has two defensive starters, end Elvin Bethea and outside linebacker Bob Brazile.

Completing the defensive squad are San Diego tackle Lyle Ketcher, New England cornerback Mike Haynes and Cleveland safety Thom Darden.

Oakland's Ray Guy — selected for the sixth straight year — is the punter, Miami's Gary Yערpeman is the kicker and Denver's Rick Upchurch the kick returner for the squad, chosen in balloting among the 14 AFC head coaches and the NFL Players Association members on each team.

Pittsburgh had the most members on the squad with 10, followed by Denver with six and New England with five.

The NFC won the 1978 Pro Bowl 14-13 to even the division series at 4-4. The AFC coaching staff will be that of the division champion team which is eliminated in the divisional playoffs.

Michigan Has Hopes Of Big 10

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In the past nine years, the only Big Ten victory in the Rose Bowl was a 42-21 romp by Ohio State over University of Southern California in 1974.

That means eight wins in nine years for the Pacific-8, now the Pacific-10.

But USC football coach John Robinson refuses to believe that constitutes a trend.

USC will host Michigan, a loser in the past two Rose Bowls, on New Year's Day. The Trojans have been listed as five-point favorites in the media, "the games have been all close and exciting."

"Except for the 1973 game (a 42-17 USC drubbing of Ohio State) and the 1974 game," Robinson told reporters on USC's Rose Bowl Picture Day for the media, "the games have been all close and exciting."

In some of the games, the Big Ten teams have been favored. I will say the West Coast teams have had more flexibility in the pass and run. But I don't think you could say the West Coast teams have been dominating the Big Ten."

Michigan was favored by a pair of touchdowns last January but was knocked out of action by a 35-10 defeat left Wolverines Coach Bo Schembecher with an 0-4 record in the New Year's Day classic at Pasadena and 0-5 in bowl games.

However Robinson does not believe Michigan will be on a crusade when it arrives from Ann Arbor.

"I don't think Michigan will be on a crusade and I don't think what's happened in the past will have any bearing on this year for them," the USC coach says.

"I think they'll see the Rose Bowl as a great game and I think they'll be determined to be successful." It was a very sincere thing that was done by a sincere man, George Steinbrenner. It was no stunt."

At an informal luncheon with a group of eight writers back in August, Martin, in answer to a question, said he felt his differences with Reggie Jackson were the chief reason he resigned as manager.

He did not say that Wednesday would be the day Jackson would have to trade before he would take over the club again.

"How much do you think coming back means to Billy?" I asked Mantle.

"It's his life," Mantle said. "What happens if for some reason he doesn't come back?"

"It'll hurt him very much," Mantle said. "It'll hurt me, too. I like to see him happy."

Someone had put it squarely to Mantle back in his shop: Did he actually expect to be back as manager of the Yankees in 1980?

"No question," he answered evenly. "The 'expect to come back in 1980.'" In 1980, Martin and Lennon is supposed to move up and become the Yankees' general manager.

"I think a lot of people think it was a publicity stunt," Martin went on, talking about the public announcement of his rehiring during the Yankees' Old Timer's Day celebration only five days after he resigned.

"I'd say the whole staff," he answered. "Even the relievers. If I could, they'd come into my office and say to me, 'I don't want to pitch if he's playing right field.' He doesn't hear that side of it."

How many of the Yankee pitchers had said that to Martin?

Superman Review

'Fun' Describes Movie

By LAURENCE McQUILLAN

United Press International "Superman" the movie opened before such mere mortals as the president and first lady, and while its humor is faster than a speeding bullet, the question of it becoming a top box office attraction is up in the air.

There's really only one way to describe it: fun. It is a comfortable movie with a touch of nostalgia from the memories of comic book days. When Lois Lane conducts a starry-eyed interview with the man of steel, she asks what he hopes to do with his career.

Defend "truth, justice and the American way," he replies calmly. Christopher Reeve, starring as the visitor from Krypton, brings an unexpectedly strong comic dimension to the role of Clark Kent, described in the movie — as always — as a mid-mannered reporter. The advance publicity on Reeve has been hailing him as America's next male sex symbol. His comic touch, however, also qualifies him to think about replacing Peter Sellers. At one point, Reeve, with the heroine caught in a helicopter dangling from the top of a tall building, races to a telephone booth to change — but all he finds is a wall pay phone, so he changes in a revolving door instead.

Marlon Brando, despite his $3.7 million salary, has a relatively brief role as Superman's father in the beginning of the movie, with only momentary returns later. Gene Hackman plays the lovable villain, Lex Luthor, who wants to make a land deal killing by purchasing unusable land in the West. Then he tries to dredge the rest of the West Coast into the sea.

With Hackman and Reeve, the movie is thick on humor — to the communications, Inc., clutching his cape tail.

After Sunday's premier Sunday in New York, Boston, Chicago and Los Angeles before its general release across the country and Canada Friday.

Warner executives aren't making a prediction of the film's ultimate success — "I'd rather not venture a guess," says one — but it's obvious they have dreams of the "Star Wars" $275 million gross in the U.S. and Canada and its $400 million merchandising record.

Warner is ready to cash in on the super-hype — in more ways than one. No fewer than six subsidiaries of the huge conglomerate are involved with "Superman" in hopes of coloring that big red "S" green.

Warner Bros. Inc., which is distributing the film. In addition, the television production unit may produce programs on how the movie was made and the premiere parties. DC Comics, which receives 2.5 percent of the film's gross for the use of the "Superman" character and which will distribute 500,000 copies of a $2.50 collector's issue of the 1938 comic book in which Superman first appeared.

Warner Books Inc., which has nine offerings connected with the film ranging from an original novel to a $7.95 package of blueprints of Superman's secret hideout, "The Fortress of Solitude."

Warner Bros. Records, which is planning to release a soundtrack album to coincide with the movie's opening.

Licensing Corp. of America, which will also get 2.5 percent of the film's gross and will also receive royalties from the flood of "Superman" products being rushed onto the market. LCA already has added 40 licensees to the 100 it had before the movie's debut was announced.

Alert Inc., is planning a Superman pinball game. "It's certainly the biggest project of this kind that any film company has ever done," said Bob Rotnitz, information director for Warner Communications.

Warner executives say the buildup has done its job for the long awaited movie — plans for "Superman II" first announced in May 1974 at the Cannes Film Festival.

Before the movie was released, the specific week ending, Warner's says 1,000 retail stores will set up boutiques to sell Superman products. In Bloomington's, a large, chic New York department store, Christmas shoppers are already browsing through the "Superman-ia" boutique that includes everything from bibs to bath towels, T-shirts to tote bags, "super sizzle" jeans to $50 jogging shorts. "I don't think Superman would approve of this," groused one shopper looking at the "super shoulder tote" promoted as "super silver in kryptonite silver and metallic vinyl."

The stock market also is interested in the acceptance of the movie with some analysts touting its chances. "There would appear to be a reasonable possibility of a blockbuster," one said. And most say a failure should not do too much damage to the stock.

The Christmas Tree Kid

The Sundance Kid, dressed as a Christmas tree? Well, almost. Viewers of NBC-TV's "America Alive" today will see Robert Redford ride a horse through the lobby of Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, all decked out in a suit studied with hundreds of tiny, glowing light bulbs.

The occasion — the filming, on location, of final scenes in his new movie, "The Electric Horseman." So great is the occasion that Diana Ross even canceled a booking for the evening so the film crew could use her showcase as the casino.

Redford costars with Jane Fonda and country singer Willie Nelson, who's making his film debut.

Family Man When you live in Uganda, you practice what Idi Amin preaches, and what the "president for life" is preaching now is marital fidelity. Amin is upset by reports of hanky-panky between some of his ministers and married women, and he wants it stopped forthwith.

Says Amin, in a Kampala Radio warning, "I do not want people in government to play with other people's housewives from now onwards."

As to his own record, the president has been divorced and remarried at least four times and presently has several wives.

Goodbye Dolly Baltimore just isn't Carol King's town. Not one, but two fire trucks routed her from her room at the city's Lord Baltimore Hotel Wednesday.

The first, in a store room, sent her, with about 100 other guests, into the lobby for several hours. With the next one, in a vacant room a few hours later, she gave up and moved to another hotel.

She's in Baltimore with her eternal musical "Hello Dolly." During her last appearance there, in 1976, someone filched her $30,000 white mink coat. Police got it back and won an accolade from Miss Channing who says they're "better than Scotland Yard."

No comment, so far, for the fire department.

Computered to Death Francis Armand's wife didn't know he'd been dead for 10 months until a Social Security representative told her.

Francis Armand didn't know he was dead at all until his wife told him. He was in the shower at the time. He still doesn't believe it.

Says the 78-year-old Englewood, Colo., man, "If I'd been dead for 10 months, it was a surprise to me."

The call from Social Security was indignation. Why had Mrs. Armand been illegally cashing all those Social Security checks?

Says Armand, "She damn near had a heart attack."

Dorothy Hettlinger of the local Social Security office says it's all a computer error and the computer has been duly chastised.

Glimpses Superman, in his disguise as the mild-mannered actor Christopher Reeve, met Britain's Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday prior to the European Royal Charity premiere of "Superman" in London. The movie was German oom-pah and the lady Victoria Colosme — was an Italian visitor, but the occasion was purely Canadian as Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau danced away the Liberal party's annual Christmas celebration Wednesday night in Ottawa. ... Doctors treating 83-year-old Arthur Fiedler in his recovery from brain surgery say it's "entirely feasible" that he'll again conduct the Boston Pops orchestra as he has for nearly 50 years.

Yule Music Always Good

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
United Press International

Christmas comes but once a year with music pleasant to the ear.

This year's selection of Christmas recordings produces just about everything that is needed for the Yuletide. There also are some albums that are not seasonal but appeal to children.

A good starter would be "The Holly and the Ivy" by the Gabriel Brass, with Martin Starke, narrator (Deutsche Grammophon 535 311-10). This is a reissue of an album made 10 years ago when members of the chorus, "The Gentle Power of Song," were in their early 20s. The Herald Angels Sing and "Silent Night," to seldom-heard carols such as "The Gloucester Wassail" and "The Sussex Carol."

Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops cover a broad spectrum of song on "A Christmas Festival" (Deutsche Grammophon 284-024). Fiedler devotes one side of the album to carols, from "Joy to the World" to "Silent Night." This side also contains "Shepherd's Pastoral" from Bach's "The Christmas Oratorio" and "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah." The second side consists of seasonal and commercial Christmas music — "Sleighride," "Santa Claus Is Comin' to Town," "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "White Christmas" — as well as Tchaikovsky's "Waltz of the Flowers" and Leopold Mozart's "Musical Sleighride."

The sheer beauty of young voices makes "Christmas with The Vienna Choir Boys and Hermann Prey" (RCA ARL1-2539) an album that should grow on the listener. Only a few of the songs are familiar — "O Tannenbaum" and "Silent Night." For instance, But the boy singers introduce an element of crispness and freshness to each of the tunes. And Prey's rich baritone gives extra flavor.

The Roger Whitaker Christmas Album (RCA ARL1-2933) presents the internationally known singer in a good assortment. Whitaker's compositions include "Christmas Is Here Again," "Mamma Mary," and "Hallelujah Brahms." He also offers his own arrangement of Brahms' "Lullabye." This is a worthwhile album because Whitaker's voice is relaxed and somewhat reminiscent of Perry Como in the mid-1950s.

And don't overlook "Elvis Sings for Children and Group-ups Too" (RCA CPL1-5901). There are 11 songs, previously issued in Presley albums, that have been pulled together for this edition. The oldest tunes are those Elvis made with the Jordanaires — "Teddy Bear," "Old Shep," "Five Sleepyheads" and "Purper on a String." Other songs are "Wooden Heart," "Angel," "Old MacDonald," "How Would You Like to Be," "Cotton Candy Land," "Big Boots" and "Have a Happy."

Since the songs were sung by Elvis, nothing more needs to be said.

Brandless Food Items Meet Public Acceptance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The movement isn't anywhere near big enough to disturb the makers of nationally branded products but the new generic grocery products seem to be selling well in eastern and midwestern supermarkets.

The generic grocery product movement originated in France a few years ago and was launched in this country early in 1977 by Chicago's Jewel Food Stores and its New England affiliate, Star Stores. Pathmark and a number of other supermarket chains now carry generic lines.

The generic items come in plain containers with no brand names, and make no special product claims. They are produced by the same manufacturers who make nationally branded and private label brand foods and other grocery items.

According to Consumer Response Corp. of New York, which conducted a research study on generic product acceptance, the items sell in supermarkets for an average of 35 percent less than nationally advertised brands and 10 percent less than private label brands.

The products are formulated to sell for less. They are made to specifications supplied to the manufacturer by the supermarket chain.

For example, a generic household cleaning product may contain much less perfume than the similar branded product. A generic mayonnaise may contain less high grade salad oil than the well-known brand mayonnaise on which it is patterned.

Helicopter Sales Up for Sikorsky

STRATFORD (UPI) — Sikorsky Aircraft said it underestimates the demand for its S-76 helicopter and expects to produce more than 3,000 commercial and military helicopters over the next 10 years.

Sikorsky President Gerald J. Tobias Tuesday said the firm anticipates a steady increase of orders prompting the projected six-fold increase over its production rate of the past decade.

New ACLU Chief Shifts Priorities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new head of the American Civil Liberties Union intends to make issues involving racial discrimination a top priority during his tenure as chief of the civil liberties organization.

But Ira Glasser, who took over leadership of the ACLU from Arsyeh Neier in mid-October, said his new priorities would in no way lessen the 59-year-old organization's "unbending commitment" to protection of First Amendment rights.

"It's been my experience," Glasser said in an interview, "that all of these problems — privacy, foster care, welfare, all of which are civil liberties problems — that if you look at who it is that is being violated, you see that there are a disproportionate number of blacks involved."

Gardening Yule Trees Growing On Old Dairy Farm

By Frank Atwood
John and Donald Dzen grew up on their parents' farm in South Windsor and moved to school.

The brothers operate the same farm today but they produce Christmas trees instead of milk. This is the harvest season at the Christmas tree farm, a cut-your-own operation where the customer is handed a saw and invited to choose any tree on the lot, cut it, pay for it and take it home.

It takes 10 to 15 years, says John Dzen, to grow a Christmas tree from seed and the brothers now are growing some of their own replacement stock in a small nursery where tiny trees stand in rows like vegetables. They will be transplanted later in an open field.

Turning to Irrigation Cuts Risk in Farming

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — Gambling on the weather never has been a good bet. The benefits of irrigation systems, center-pivot are being tested on a relatively large scale on some prime crop land near Mahomet in central Illinois.

Farmer Kenneth Hendren of Leroy and land owner David Cole of Champagne installed two center-pivot irrigation systems on 320 acres last summer. Next summer, the two — along with Mendren's brother-in-law, Mike Greene — plan to irrigate all 640 acres of Cole's land near Mahomet.

Although a substantial increase from 10 years ago, the 1977 figure still is less than 0.5 percent of the state's 24 million acres of crop land. Markowe Thorne, U of I agronomist and one of the three researchers involved in the irrigation survey, said there are a number of reasons for the increase in irrigated acres.

Panel for Handicapped Losing three Members

MANCHESTER — The town's nine-member Commission for the Handicapped will be a six-member group within a month unless the Board of Directors acts promptly on appointing replacements.

Barry Bernstein, who served as chairman since the commission was formed last spring, resigned in November because he would be unable to attend meetings for the next few months.

Wednesday night, the commission learned that Robert Johnston, who had attended few meetings since he was appointed to the commission, was resigning.

Frank Vaccaro, who had said that he could not afford to live in Manchester since re-assessment had raised his taxes, is having a new home built in Florida and told the commission in November that he expected to leave Manchester in January.

All three are Democrats, and Robert Tarrant, another Democrat, said he would speak to Ted Cummings, Democratic town chairman, and to the town commission's executive board about recommending qualified people for the Board of Directors to consider in making the appointments.

The commission may be faced with the problem of having a quorum, which under its charter is five members, when colds or perhaps, the flu hits more than one of a six-member group.

Carter To Consider Cut In Pensions of Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter is considering a Pentagon plan to retain — but reduce — the controversial 20-year retirement pensions in return for the $10 billion-a-year military retirement system, it was learned today.

The plan was sent to the White House earlier this month by Defense Secretary Harold Brown, who rejected recommendations of Carter's blue-ribbon military pay commission that would have scrapped 20-year pensions.

The presidential panel said its plan would cut costs 30 percent by the year 2000, when inflation will take the retirement program past $30 billion yearly.

But Pentagon officials said such savings are impossible, partly because Carter has agreed that those now in the military will get present pensions of half pay for life after 20 years.

They said Brown's alternative proposal envisioned "slightly" higher military retirement costs between now and the end of the century, with savings projected to start around 2010.

Pentagon sources said savings could reach about $2 billion yearly in terms of today's dollars, or about 20 percent of the current $10 billion annual retirement bill. If inflation were figured in, the potential savings would go higher.

Parents of Suspects Sued for Fire Damage

VERNON — The parents of four youths accused of setting a fire in a home under construction, are being sued to recover costs of some personal items already moved into the home.

Keenan and Christine Keenan of 100 Bette Circle, Vernon, filed the suit in Tolland County Superior Court this week against Allan and Jayne Chester of 12 Austin Drive, John and Margaret Dzedzinski of 17 Tumblebug Drive, Philip and Marianne Owen of 28 Hillcrest Drive, and John and Mary Marshall of 14 Welles Road.

The four youths, all charged with arson and burglary in connection with the fire that destroyed the nearly completed $75,000 home on Austin Drive, are: Mark A. Chester, Steven Owen, and Michael Marshall, all age 17. The alleged incident occurred in November 1977.

They were also charged in connection with several other fires including the one that destroyed the former county home on Route 30.

All but Marshall have pleaded guilty to third-degree arson and burglary charges. Marshall pleaded innocent and is awaiting a jury trial. Owen is free on bond awaiting sentencing and the other two have been given suspended sentences.

The Keenans have already been granted a $2,000 real estate attachment against the property of each of the parents, pending a formal hearing on the lawsuit.

What Was Uncle Printing?

NORTH HAVEN (UPI) — Joseph Willis, 18, admits he helped his uncle buy a printing press up to the attic of his grandfather's house last summer. But Willis told authorities he had no idea what his uncle was using it for until he broke into a locked cabinet in the attic recently and found $3 million in counterfeit bills.

Police said Willis spent $200 of the phony money at fast food restaurants before he was caught and the cache was seized Tuesday at the home of Joseph Bagliore in both Haven and Bagliore's son, James, 48, of East Haven, was charged Wednesday with manufacturing the bogus bills.

The younger Bagliore, a leading door worker, surrendered after hearing there was a warrant out for him, said Chief Assistant U.S. Attorney Harold Pickerslein.

He appeared before U.S. Magistrate Arthur Latimer and was ordered held on $10,000 bond. Pickerslein said Willis told U.S. Secret Service agents his uncle James had sole access to the locked cabinet where the bills were stored.

Bagliore's parents are apparently not connected with the counterfeiting operation, Pickerslein said. They told authorities their son had been at the home infrequently.

Legislators Listening

Local legislators did most of the listening Tuesday night as town officials met with them to make recommendations for legislative proposals. Left to right are State Sens. Marcella Fahey and David Barry and State Rep. Francis Mahoney. Two other representatives, Muriel Yacavone and Walter Joyner, also attended. (Herald photo by Pearson)

Chamber Assails Council On Sewer Rate Increase

By BARBARA RICHMOND Herald Reporter

VERNON — "The committee uncovered so many questionable areas that it astounds us that the (Town) Council could pass what they did the other night," Stephen Lamont, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Sewer Study Committee told the Board of Directors, Wednesday.

Lamont explained that the study committee was formed because the chamber had serious questions about the sewer plant costs which are being passed on to the users.

The town's Sewer Authority proposed a schedule of charges to recover costs of operating the town's new $16 million sewage treatment plant for the past six months. Residential users have been paying $21 a year. The new schedule calls for payment of $35 for the six months period. Costs will be re-evaluated before the next bill goes out.

He said that there appears to be some energy being generated at the treatment plant, which is not being used. He also said the system of charging, just approved, calls for each single house and each apartment unit to pay the same yearly charge and said this is inequitable.

Lamont spoke on behalf of the chamber committee, at a public hearing. The committee has raised a number of questions and identified some problem areas which it feels should have been answered before the council took action on the rate proposal.

Lamont said the committee feels that the Town Council ignored completely what some people are facing. He said it might be said that $20 or $30 increase per customer is not much "but that's a lot of money for some people."

Canton Sees Grant

CANTON (UPI) — State health officials say they will declare Canton's chemical pollution problem an imminent threat to community health so the town can qualify for federal aid to help finance an extended public water system.

According to papers filed in U.S. District Court, Willis said he helped his uncle buy a printing press up to the attic of his grandfather's house last summer and into the attic.

Two Methods Fight Stains

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are two methods for removing cosmetic stains from washable fabrics, says the Soap and Detergent Association.

To remove non-greasy cosmetic stains caused by such things as powdered makeup, eye shadow and blusher, first dampen the stained area. Then, rub with bar soap, detergent paste (made with detergent granules and water) or liquid detergent. Rinse and launder.

Stains from oily cosmetics such as lipstick, rouge, liquid makeup or mascara should be pretreated with a prewash soil and stain remover. Or, place the stain face down on paper towels. Sponge the back of the stain with a dry cleaning solvent. Move fabric to a clean area of the towel often. Then, dampen the stain with water and rub it with bar soap or detergent. Rinse and launder. If the stain remains, treat it with chlorine bleach if the garment's label says that chemical is safe for the fabric, or use oxygen bleach.

Early Warning

NEWPORT (UPI) — Honeybees may provide early warning of environmental pollution, says entomologist Jerry J. Barnevensh. They store chemicals accumulated during foraging and have been used to determine distribution and magnitude of a variety of contaminants.

Baldy Gets No Fringe Benefits
DEAR ABBY: This is to protest that a bald-headed man has to pay the same price for a haircut as a man with a full head of hair. It isn't fair. I think the barber should charge the bald-headed man half-price for a haircut. Awaiting your reply.

Captain Easy - Crooks & Lawrence
HE CAN CONTACT THE OLD ONE FOR SOME HELP! I'M BACK TO PREVENTING... "YEAH, I THINK WE'LL MAKE IT!" HEY!!
DEAR PERPLEXED: Yes. DEAR ABBY: I've been seeing Ron (made up name) for seven months. We also work together. He's everything I like in a boyfriend - intelligent, considerate, good sense of humor and he puts up with my bossiness. My parents are crazy about him and I love his parents. He's 26 and I'm 23. The problem is he wants to marry me and I keep putting him off because I think he's too short for me. I'm 5 feet 5, and Ron is only 5 feet 6. We are exactly the same weight, but my hands and feet are bigger than his. I feel conspicuous when we're out together. He just doesn't seem masculine enough for me. My parents say I'm too picky. Ron says if I don't make up my mind by next summer, he'll start dating other girls. I don't want to love him and I don't want to marry him. I know good men are hard to find, but I don't want to marry him unless I'm rid of this hang-up about his size. Can you help me?
DEAR HUNG: The word from here is DON'T marry Ron or anyone else unless your heart and mind are in unison. In my opinion, size is unimportant, but then I won't have to live with him - YOU will.

Alley Oop - Dave Graus

Win at bridge
Eliminating losing trick
West wasn't trying to help South, and it was up to South to see what he could do about making 10 tricks. So South played two rounds of trump and led his five of spades toward dummy. West played the nine, dummy the queen and East the ace. East and a diamond and South rose with his ace. If worse came to worst he could try the diamond finesse later, which led his 10 of spades. West won and led a third spade, which South ruffed. New South simply played three rounds of clubs. West was forced to win the third club trick for the defense, it was the last one. West led a trump, and South had to lead a ruff and discard or lead right up to the diamond ten ace.

Had West opened a low spade, South would have played low from dummy and eventually set up a diamond queen for a club or diamond discard. Had he opened a diamond, the lead would have been right into South's trap, while a club lead would have taken care of South's club loser. But West opened a trump, and South had to try to eliminate one loser some way or other.
