

News For Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi there! Tomorrow is an important day because for our afternoon program you're going to hear the pros and cons about HUD and we hope it will give you a clearer picture of what the controversy is all about. To help us get the complete picture we have as speakers our mayor, Stephen Penny, and the minority leader of the Board of Directors, Carl Zinsser. The discussion starts shortly after 1 p.m., depending upon time it takes to serve the noon meal, a delicious roast breast of chicken with all the trimmings. Why don't you plan to join us for lunch and then be in hand for the program?

I would like to take this time to mention and thank all the men who have volunteered to help with renovations at Green School. A couple of days, we had 20 fellows show up and you wouldn't believe all the work they accomplished. Howie Miller and Leo Hogan are the head supervisors, ably assisted by Russ Nettleton.

Time is just about here for folks going on the bus trip to Florida. Tags for the bags are available at the center. You all are reminded to have your name pins with you. They will help Pauline keep an eye on you and makes it easier to pick you out of a group.

While on trips, may we remind you that we have fliers available here at the center for our coming Hawaiian trip.

Happenings at the Center start with Friday afternoon setback. We had 32 players and the winners were Lillian Ruitnick 133, Joseph Martino 124, Oscar Cappuccia 121, Gladys Seelert 120, Violet Dion 117, Helen Silver 116, Ernestine Donnelly 116, Josephine Schreitz 115.

Then came Monday and for our pinocle games we had 11 tables. The winners were Martin Bakstan 798, Ann Fisher 787, Kitty Byrnes 787, Clara Hemingway 780, George Last 774, Marie Burke 772, Edna Farmer 772, Al Chelman 763, Helen Silver 762, Tom Regan 754, Ray Durey 746.

We sincerely express our sorrow and condolences to Charlie Caron whose wife Leola died last week end. Leola was a very talented person who over the years worked hard to make large beautiful quilts which we were able to raffie for an exceptional amount of money. We'll all miss her talents and pleasant personality.

By the way, we have a number of very talented ladies that are exceptional in sewing and one of them, Annie Rouhan, spent a number of hours at home to make some very lovely aprons, 16 in all, for the students who work in our kitchen.

A reminder that every Tuesday afternoon for the next few months we will have men available to help you with your income tax. It's all free. All you need to do is drop by sometime between 1 and 3:30 p.m. and there will be several men waiting to help you. They are volunteering their time and talent and have arranged the following schedule just in case you can't make it on Tuesday. Monday at South United Methodist Church, Tuesday at the Center, Wednesday at the KofC Home, and Thursday at First Federal Savings at the Parkside.

Next Tuesday we start our oil painting class. Kay Hendricksen will be back with us and she request that everyone interested to please attend this first session. Action starts at 10 a.m.

Our crew embroidery class will meet on next Wednesday morning. Rosemary Cornelius will be back and is ready to greet beginners as well as those wishing to pick up more pointers. At this session, we will discuss the chances of meeting on a different morning because Wednesday already has a full schedule of activities.

This Sunday is the day for all you talented people to try out for the variety show. This year's theme is "Hooray for Hollywood." We are looking forward to seeing our regulars back but we sincerely hope to see some new faces. We know you're out there and here you'll decide to bring your talent to the troups and then have fun bringing some enjoyment and laughter to many people. The action starts at 2:30 p.m.

Whist Party Set By Cosmopolitan

MANCHESTER — The Cosmopolitan Club will conduct a Valentine Whist party for members and their guests on Friday at 1:30 p.m. at Center Congregational Church.

Mrs. Robert Russell of Glastonbury will conduct the whist.

Mrs. Rudolph Gorsch, chairman of the program committee, will serve refreshments with the following committee members: Mrs. Donald Freeman, Mrs. Adolph Kittel, Mrs. Ronald Mattram, Mrs. Robert Nelson, Mrs. Clarence Bush and Mrs. Russell.

Warm Up Winter! And Save 35¢ on Delicious Folgers's.

Here's a Folger's coffee recipe to warm up your winter. And, to warm your heart, here's a savings on great tasting Mountain Grown Folger's. Try Folger's, and see how delicious coffee can be.

Folger's Coffee comes in 3 grinds—regular, electric pecc and drip. Folger's mountain grown—that's the richest, most aromatic kind of coffee. The cool mountain air and gentle sunshine let coffee ripen slowly, so it builds up richer flavor.

Folger's Flaked Coffee is specially designed for automatic drip coffee makers. It's the same delicious Mountain Grown Folger's, but it's flaked to release more rich flavor, so you use less and save money. If you normally use 5 measures per pot, you only need 4 of Folger's Flaked Coffee.

Hearst Freed

PLEASANTON, Calif. (UPI)— Patricia Hearst walked out of prison today waving the commutation of her prison sentence from President Carter that set her free.

Benjamin and composed, the 24-year-old newspaper heiress who spent nearly two years in custody for a bank robbery conviction, stepped from the campus-like medium security prison and said, "I'm glad to be going home. I want to thank my parents and all the other people on the committee to release me, and this is what we worked so hard to get."

She said she was going home to have breakfast "with my family and friends" and sped off to her mother's home in suburban Hillsborough.

No Leaders

ROME (UPI)—Italy, without a government for the 40th time since the fall of fascism 36 years ago, today faced the prospect of admitting Communists to the Cabinet in order to lure back the support of the powerful left-wing party.

Premier Giulio Andreotti's minority Christian Democratic government collapsed Wednesday and Andreotti submitted the resignation of his government to Socialist President Sandro Pertini Wednesday night.

The fallen government, Andreotti's fourth, had been in power since last March 16, the same day Red Brigades guerrillas kidnapped former Premier Aldo Moro, architect of the agreement through which the Christian Democrats accepted Communist support in Parliament.

Poison Pills

BOSTON (UPI)—A study published in the New England Journal of Medicine says an 11-month-old girl in the Buffalo, N.Y., area accidentally swallowed as many as five Laetrile tablets and died of cyanide poisoning. Cyanide is contained in the compound amygdalin, found in Laetrile and released into the blood stream when swallowed.

The study pointed out the child's life could have been saved if the parents had told physicians the child swallowed the Laetrile tablets her father was using for the treatment of cancer. He considered the pills to be harmless vitamins. It said tablets containing Laetrile are common enough in American homes that steps should be taken to prevent accidental consumption by children.

Amtrak Cuts

NEW YORK (UPI)—Transportation Secretary Brock Adams revealed planned cutbacks of Amtrak's passenger train service Wednesday that include a 10 percent of the 15,700 miles in the Amtrak route system. Congress has 90 legislative days — until about May 15 — to veto the law, change it, or allow it to go into effect. Adams said the federal subsidy for Amtrak would rise to $6 billion over the next five years, but his proposed cutdown system would trim that subsidy by $1.4 billion.

Papal Trip

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI)— Pope John Paul II, lanned and smiling, arrived in the Bahamian capital for a two-hour stop after a triumphant tour through Mexico where he opened the Third Latin American Bishops Conference and stressed Christ was not a "political revolutionary," in a thrust at the so-called theology of liberation.

He ended his first foreign papal trip in the Protestant black Bahamas with a call for unity to "all other Christian brothers." He left the British Commonwealth island at 2:25 a. EST to return to Rome.

Triumphant Arrival
Iran's main opposition leader Ayatollah Khomeini is escorted to a waiting car as he arrives in a triumphant end to 15 years of exile. The deified religious leader returned to Tehran, Iran, today after exile in France. (UPI photo)

Khomeini Returns to Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—A weeping Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the bearded holy man who toppled the shah, returned today from nearly 15 years of exile and immediately demanded control of Iran so he can wipe out foreign influence and prevent the monarch's return.

"I beg to God to cut the hands off all these foreign advisers and helpers in Iran," Khomeini himself told an estimated 25 million Iranians who cheered him wildly and cried, "Khomeini is our government!"

In an emotional climax to his triumphant return, Khomeini visited a cemetery and prayed among the bodies of hundreds of revolutionaries who died for his cause.

"The time of the monarchy is over," the 78-year-old Khomeini declared.

The mob surged for miles around Mehrabad Airport, straining to catch a glimpse of the man who, from exile in France, orchestrated 14-months of bloody turmoil that caused the downfall of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi Jan 16.

Thousands more watched as he drove 25 miles from Tehran's international airport to the Beheshti Zehra cemetery where his slain followers are buried.

The Iranian army, which supports Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar and the shah, was hardly visible today although on Wednesday it was pointedly staged a massive display of its armed might in the streets of Tehran.

Khomeini's threat apparently was directed at the United States, which this week ordered all dependents and non-essential personnel out of Iran for fear Khomeini's wrathful return would trigger anti-American sentiment and civil war.

Khomeini said Bakhtiar "should step down today and hand over power," spokesman Ibrahim Yazdi told reporters soon after the Air France Boeing 747 touched down at 12:32 a.m. EST and discharged the bodies of Iran's Shiite Muslims.

The white-bearded, black-robed ayatollah — which means "sign of God" — called for unity among Iran's political groups, because, he said, the shah was trying to create division and return to the throne he tearfully left Jan. 16.

"He is still trying to find some way to come back," Khomeini said. "Iran has suffered 50 years of tyranny. We've lost everything — our culture, our oil."

"This is only the first step. Our struggle continues after departing the main criminal, the shah," said the bearded leader of the Shiite Muslim sect who has vowed to topple Bakhtiar's regime and set up a government based on the strict tenets of Islam.

"Our final success will be when all foreigners leave and stop ruling our army."

"We all should understand that our success has been through unification. We must be careful that we are not divided as the shah is still trying to do," Khomeini said.

All major anti-shah figures lined up at the airport to welcome Khomeini, but Bakhtiar was conspicuously absent.

Blue uniformed airport police with German machine guns took up strategic positions all along the runways, taxiways and airport buildings.

Iranian television broadcast the beginning of Khomeini's arrival, but when he called for Bakhtiar's resignation, the picture suddenly switched to a portrait of the shah, smiling in regal manner, and the national anthem was played.

The ayatollah postponed until Saturday naming the revolutionary Islamic council which he intends to supplant Bakhtiar.

The delay fueled speculation that he would hold talks with the opposition leaders before a final decision on the council.

An exodus of foreigners and Iranians that began this week was scheduled to resume Friday when the airport reopened to normal traffic.

It was closed today to all but the Air France jetliner bearing Khomeini's party of 50 and about 150 newsmen.

Bakhtiar insisted in a radio interview that he would resist any move to topple his Cabinet, declaring, "There is only one government and one army."

Khomeini fled Iran in 1964, going first to Turkey, then Iraq and last October, to France, where he has directed anti-shah opposition from a tiny villa outside Paris.

Teng Ends Honeymoon Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It may be a long march but he regards it as a honeymoon trip.

Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping today was beginning a five-day tour of Atlanta, Houston and Seattle with his program influence grills, a 10-gallon cowboy hat and the courtesy of many Americans.

"The honeymoon will continue," the 4-foot-11 Peking leader said of future Sino-American relations, during a television interview, after three days of matching public smiles with President Carter in Washington.

The 74-year-old veteran of the 1934-1935 Long March that tested and inspired the Communist conquest of China was acting, said a guest at his Washington farewell party Wednesday night, like a campaigning American politician.

In a day and a night in Georgia, Teng was to tour an auto plant — guided by Henry Ford II through such production line sights as a car wash — and sample Southern grits for breakfast.

In Houston he is to tour America's space center, observe Texas cowboys during their rodeo version of that old Mongolian pastime of cattle roping and, the devil with chop sticks, try barbecue. Seattle plans to preface Teng's return to China by showing him Boeing's plane works and feeding him Puget Sound protein.

The Texans planned even to crown Teng with a cowboy's wide-brimmed hat.

To his American honeymooners he was all woo and tickle — "The friendship we have experienced here leaves us with an unforgettable impression," he said at the Washington farewell party.

With Carter he presided at the White House signing of pacts leading to setting up consulates in San Francisco and Houston, Shanghai and Canton, to the sale of American space technology to Peking and to exchanges of students, journalists, sportspeople, artists and scientists.

"We have just done a significant job. And this is not the end but a beginning," he said at the ceremony.

But in talking to Americans other than Carter and his aides, Teng spoke darkly and steadily of Peking's public enemy, the Russians.

At his Washington Blair House guest residence he told reporters over lunch that America, China, Japan, Western Europe and developing nations "each should take steps to restrain Soviet hegemony." In Peking wall poster "Hegemony" means aggression.

In his multi-channel television interview — Walter Cronkite, David Brinkley and Frank Reynolds had to merge CBS, NBC and ABC efforts for separate shows when Teng called for collectivism — the Chinese leader was asked if China would make war over Vietnam's invasion of Peking-supported Cambodia.

"We will not take any rash action," he replied. "At the same time I can tell you that in addition to Cambodia, the Vietnamese are also creating a great number of incidents along the Sino-Vietnam border and these are increasing."

Changes Planned at Charter Oak

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The town's Engineering Department is designing renovations at Charter Oak Park that will include an addition generated by recent weather — improved flood control.

Walter Senkow, town engineer, said his department is working on design for the park improvements, which will include paved and expanded parking area, an additional warmup field and lighting the Marbury Field baseball diamond at Mount Nebo.

The project has received a total of $210,000 in funding, half from a federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation grant and half from the Community Development money.

Senkow said the flood control work, which would involve an expanded dike to run along the Hop Brook, would boost the project cost, but he did not have an estimate on the figure.

Such work might be included as an option in the bidding when a final price is sought for all the work.

Another possible option is a bridge for emergency and service vehicles over the brook. This would permit access between Charter Oak Park and Mount Nebo.

The Hop Brook flows through the park, which is located off Charter Oak Street.

Heavy wet periods, such as those that occurred in January, cause the brook to overflow its banks. Considerable flooding occurred at the park twice in January, and the problem also has occurred in past years, Ernest Turcek, park superintendent, said.

Senkow and Turcek said the proposed flood control would include construction of a dike to run from the warmup field near the skating rink to the eastern end of the park where the small baseball diamonds are located.

There is a small earth dike area near the skating rink area. This earth dike would be expanded under the proposed engineering design.

"The last storm we had, the water jumped the banks of the brook and washed out the clay infill of one of the baseball fields. I feel I can't let this happen," Senkow said.

He said the dike expansion could mean a "reasonable" price increase, but he did not estimate on how much such a hike might be.

Grasso Says U.S. Budget Hurts State

HARTFORD (UPI)— Gov. Ellis Grasso told the state's congressional delegation today President Carter's proposed budget will cut federal aid to Connecticut about $70 million.

Almost half of that money would have gone directly to the state's economically troubled cities and towns if it had not been cut from this year's budget, said the governor, who flew to Washington today to tell the congressional delegation about the impact of Carter's budget.

When the president first proposed his budget, Mrs. Grasso ordered her 22 agency heads to review the document to see what impact it would have on Connecticut's spending plans.

For the past week, state officials have been poring over Carter's budget. They have jealously guarded what they had learned, waiting until Mrs. Grasso could report to the congressional delegation.

According to the agency calculations, Connecticut will lose $70 million in federal aid it is now getting.

"A reduction of this magnitude would cause grave hardships in many of the programs," Mrs. Grasso said in a statement released by her Hartford office.

"The president's effort to control inflation through restrictions on federal spending are commendable," the governor said. "However, the allocations in the budget for fiscal year 1980 raises serious questions about the adequacy of federal support for programs that are vital to the future of our state and our region."

The largest cut — $39 million — will come in the CETA jobs program, Mrs. Grasso said.

"The result would be traumatic increases in unemployment," the governor said.

Connecticut also stands to lose $2.75 million in economic adjustment assistance loans.

"This kind of reduction would wreak havoc with our program to revitalize the Naugatuck Valley," Mrs. Grasso said.

The governor said other proposed cuts would significantly reduce aid to school lunch programs, crisis intervention programs that help the needy pay their fuel bills and urban development grants on which the housing industry relies heavily.

"It is my hope that you will lead a congressional review of the budget which will result in a reassessment of these areas of concern," the governor told Connecticut's congressmen.

Proposed School District Budget Shows Increase

HEBRON — The proposed budget for Regional District 8 Board of Education reflects an increase of 14.7 percent over the current budget but the board has asked the administration to cut it further and bring in a budget reflecting a 7, 8 and 9 percent increase.

The board also asked the administration to prepare a priority list of the various costs deleted from the original requests.

The total proposed budget is now at $2,722,659, an increase of $348,409. One of the reasons for the increase is that projected amounts are included in the budget for such things as additional aides, a principal, counselor and text books, utilities and such for the proposed new junior high building.

The board hasn't made any firm decision yet on the recommendation of the administration for staffing for the new school.

The principals' account projects a cost of $96,608 which is an increase of $27,315. In this is included a salary of $23,500 for principal of the junior high. It was pointed out that this figure was inserted as a "placeholder" subject to negotiations between the board and staff, for salaries.

The teachers' salary account reflects an increase of $59,405, or a total of $1,300,708. Of the proposed increase, $23,124 is for a full-year librarian for the junior high plus degree changes, longevity payments, stipends, special education, homebound instruction and other funds required to meet the negotiated agreement.

The proposed budget also allows $24,500 in the substitute teacher account. This shows no increase over the current year and allows for $25 a day for substitutes, which is a change from the current pay.

The salary account also reflects an increase of $10,827 over the current year and includes an additional cost of $3,334 to advance an intern in a psychological position to a full-time position.

The summer activities account decreased by $462 to $3,215 and the board clerk account reflects an increase of $666 to $2,150. This includes an administrative proposal to increase the clerk's salary from $3,500 to $5 an hour.

The salary account for school system secretaries shows a proposed increase of $8,094 to $4,709. This includes a new position for a half-year for a secretary for the junior high, salaries for substitutes and a 25 cents an hour increase per person.

Also because of inclusion of two new custodial positions for the junior high, that account shows an increase of $11,609 to $104,730.

The utilities account is budgeted for $54,200, an increase of $12,200 and $8,000 of this is for utilities for the new school.

Another of the fixed accounts, insurance on property, is budgeted at $47,358, an increase of $14,305 with $36,358 for the senior high and $11,000 for the junior high for one-half year.

The telephone account at $14,550 includes $3,750 for telephone service to the junior high for one-half year.

Some of the other accounts included in the proposed budget are: Teacher aides, $56,376; nurses, $7,686; student work-study program, $3,283; medical and life insurance, $95,169; retirement program, $7,426; tuition reimbursement, $1,500; data processing service, $16,300 contracted services (grounds, buildings and equipment work not done by board employees), $19,900.

Also: Vocational Agriculture and technical schools $20,376; Regional Vo-Ag Center, $26,000 (50 percent reimbursable by the state); heating oil, $56,000 with $3,504 budgeted for the junior high; library books, $15,000, $5,000 to establish a library at the junior high.

A number of other line items are also included in the proposed budget.

Karen B. Awad Mary F. Fletcher

Awad-Tyler

The engagement of Miss Karen Bruce Awad of Weston, Mass., to Kevin Nichols Tyler of Manchester has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Awad of Weston.

Mr. Tyler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Tyler of Manchester.

Miss Awad is an alumna of Abbot Academy in Andover, Mass., and Connecticut College in New London. She is currently employed by Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

Mr. Tyler graduated from Wilbraham Academy and Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine. He is vice president of the Nautic Lumber Co. in Nautic.

The wedding will take place in September.

In the Service

Warrant Officer Robert F. Snuck, son of Mrs. Catherine Sparks of 7 Cherry St., and Solomon Snuck of 14 Mitchell Drive, both of East Hartford, recently was assigned as an aviator with the 2nd Infantry Division at Camp Stanley, Korea.

Jeffrey R. Geagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Geagan of 21 Stephen St., Manchester, has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

Geagan selected a position in the electronics career field and departed for basic training on Jan. 22. He will complete six weeks of basic training at Lackland AFB near San Antonio, Texas.

Airman Edmond C.F. Godreau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond C. Godreau of 11 Horton Road, Bolton, has received a new assignment following graduation from the aircraft maintenance specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command at Sheppard AFB, Texas.

Airman Godreau, who trained to maintain and service aircraft currently in use by the Air Force, will go to Charleston AFB, S.C., for duty with a unit of the Military Airlift Command.

He graduated from Bolton High School in 1978.

Sgt. Debra J. Miller, daughter of Mrs. Jean G. Lavigne of 40 Olcott St., Manchester, and Edward H. Miller, 57 Hilliard St., Manchester, has re-enlisted in the U.S. Air Force after being selected for career status.

Sgt. Miller, an aircraft maintenance specialist at Myrtle Beach AFB, S.C., was approved for re-enlistment by a board which considered character and job performance. She is a member of the Tactical Air Command.

The airman graduated from Manchester High School in 1972.

Fletcher-Pickering

The engagement of Miss Mary Florence Fletcher of New Britain to Dr. William J. Pickering of Manchester has been announced by her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Fletcher of New Britain.

Dr. Pickering is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Pickering of Manchester.

Miss Fletcher graduated from New Britain High School and Barnard College in New York City. She is a graduate student in the School of Speech Pathology at the University of Connecticut and is employed by the University of Connecticut Health Center, Farmington.

Dr. Pickering holds degrees from the University of Connecticut and the New York Medical College. He is an attending physician at St. Francis Hospital and Medical Center in Hartford.

Vice President's Wife To Kick Off Fund Drive

Joan Mondale, chairperson of the Federal Council on the Arts and Humanities, will hold a news conference on Friday at 9 a.m. in the Ethan Allen Room of the Sheraton-Hartford Hotel, Trumbull Street, Hartford.

The news conference will follow Mrs. Mondale's speech at the kickoff of the Greater Hartford Arts Council's 1979 Fund Drive at 8 a.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the hotel.

Among the topics Mrs. Mondale is expected to comment on are: The current status of the arts, the strong corporate support of the arts in Greater Hartford, the need for business, government and individual support of the arts, and the importance of volunteers.

She is coming to Hartford solely for the purpose of launching the Greater Hartford Arts Council's 8th annual fund drive. She will address an audience of approximately 500 people, including 350 Arts Council volunteers, board members, state and local government officials, and special guests.

Since its founding in 1971, the Greater Hartford Arts Council has provided funds and services to area arts organizations. Through its annual fund drives, the Council has raised more than $3 million from Hartford area businesses for the arts. In 1978, 612 large and small local businesses contributed $550,000 to the Greater Hartford Arts Council. The 1979 goal of $625,000 represents a 15 percent increase and will enable the council to better meet the needs of both large and small arts groups.

Opinion Up to Legislatures To End Deficits

Judging from news reports, deficit spending by the federal government is one of the things which persons throughout the country express definite views. The definite view of several million of them is that it must be stopped.

The views are not just from people in the far west or south, a stop to deficit spending has been echoed by New England residents as well.

A proposal to stop federal deficit spending is being promulgated by a Georgia-based group which calls for a constitutional convention to deal with the questions and prohibit deficit spending.

Under the U.S. Constitution, constitutional convention can be called if application for such a convention is made by the legislatures of two-thirds of the states. Two-thirds of the states would be 34.

A resolution has been passed by the Maryland legislature and to date 22 state legislatures have adopted the resolution.

Where does this leave New England? At present, the six New England states are among the remaining 28 states which have not adopted the resolution.

Jack Anderson Irish People Turning from Violence

WASHINGTON - One of the unhappiest cities in the Western world is Belfast, the capital of Northern Ireland. A decade of sectarian violence between Catholics and Protestants in Ulster's six counties has claimed more than 1,800 lives and left a legacy of fear and suspicion which blankets the region like the fog that rolls in from the Irish Sea.

Ten years of bombings, assassinations, demonstrations and neighborhood terror have done little to clear up the confusing political turmoil built up over a thousand years of Irish history. It's a compelling argument for halting the spread of terror tactics in the United States.

To get a ringside view we sent our reporter to Belfast.

Our reporter concluded that the people of Ulster, weary and heart-sick after the years of inconclusive violence, are turning away from the gun and the bomb. The Irish Republican Army outlaws and their Protestant counterparts are rapidly losing support for their destructive forays among the populace.

The seriousness of deficit spending is quickly illustrated when one considers the interest alone for the 1979-80 federal budget represents more than one-third of the total federal budget of 1951.

If persons complain about deficit spending, there is an alternative and by calling for a constitutional convention, the alternative could be considered.

It cannot however, begin to be considered until 34 states call for the convention.

New England is presently among the missing concerning the needed resolutions.

When New England state legislatures clamor for relief in the area of federal deficits, they should remember "to put their money where their mouth is."

Andrew Tully

Kennedy's Actions Indicate Candidacy

WASHINGTON - Not to get personal, but people who swallow Ted Kennedy's repeated denials that he's running for President suffer from rocks in the head. Kennedy is running just as fast as his brother John ran in the spring of 1960, and in the same fashion.

One bit of business alone suffices to prove the thesis: Kennedy's continued public and private sniping at President Carter's new budget. It is not necessary to cast doubt on his sincerity in seeking help for both the underprivileged and the heavily-burdened middle income sector. But in doing so he positions himself as the champion of a big bloc of voters.

Consider Kennedy's routine of popping up all over the American landscape in his campaign for national health insurance. It might be both unfair and candid to say he is out looking for support in the Presidential sweepstakes. But the votes are there; even the $30,000-a-year father is in a bind over medical expenses.

Kennedy is also indignant over what is called "tax expenditures." The phrase is government jargon for preferential tax treatment, including tax credits and special deductions. Kennedy wants $3 to $4 billion of spending cuts to be in the field of these "tax expenditures."

And Kennedy is still harping on the unfairness of tax deductions permitted for "lavish meals and martinis" for corporate executives and "relatives, lawyers," and other relatively well-off citizens. Ending those deductions, he claims, would save more than enough to fund anti-cutting funds for food stamps.

Most community leaders agreed that only a tiny fraction of the citizenry sympathizes with the more desperate terrorist tactics of the once-intimidating paramilitary organizations. The fear these groups used to inspire is losing ground to present emotional exhaustion. Those who have suffered most from the extremists' bloody fanaticism simply have had enough.

According to Roy Mason, Britain's secretary of state for Northern Ireland, everyday security has improved in recent months. Shootings and other incidents of sectarian violence are "on the wane," he told Mitchell in an interview at Stormont Castle.

Mason left no doubt that the British government's hard-line, uncompromising refusal to deal with the paramilitary groups will not weaken. "We won't talk to them more on the dimly lit but feisty Mason declared of the I.R.A. "If we did," he explained, "the Protestant backlash would be even more serious."

One of the main sources of tension in the past, the once detested, Protestant "Royal Ulster Constabulary," has become more overhauled in the execution of its police functions, most sources agree. But graffiti scrawls of "R.U.C. Thugs Out" can still be seen on walls of the working-class Catholic neighborhoods, attesting to the fact that a minority of the population still regards the British troops and their local police force as an army of occupation, not peace-keepers.

For its part, the I.R.A. continues to profess belief that the most important thing is to get the "British" out of Ulster. In Dublin Mitchell met secretly with I.R.A.'s top strategists. They turned out to be mild-mannered men whose surface reasonableness belies their faith in strong-arm tactics.

I.R.A. leaders, who have used donations from Irish-American sympathizers in the United States to buy Soviet-made weapons, insist that Ulster is the victim of "British imperialism," and vow to continue their struggle until the six northern countries are united with Eire. Asked if their recent spate of bombings in London, interpreted by some observers as the desperate acts of a losing cause, do not constitute violation of human rights, the I.R.A. leaders counter that "British presence is impossible without the violation of human rights."

Although the I.R.A. denies it, official Irish sources told us that the underground army's financial support in the United States is drying up. Meanwhile, on the other side of the paramilitary fence, the Ulster Defense Association has announced, surprisingly, that it favors complete independence from Britain. The I.R.A. might welcome this, since it views the British troops as the main obstacle to its unification policy.

Moderates on both sides, however, recognize that, at least for the present, the British army is a stabilizing force which is keeping civil war from erupting between the extremist factions. Other sources expressed a strong desire for an eventual return to self-rule for the province.

Although violence has abated in recent months, even a casual visitor to Northern Ireland soon realizes that this is not a country operating under normal, peaceful conditions. Grim-faced British soldiers patrol the streets of Belfast, flagging down passing motorists to run spot-checks for bombs or other weapons.

Body searches are as common in Ulster's capital as afternoon tea. Mitchell was frisked each time he entered his hotel, as were all the guests.

Clearly there are no easy answers to the problems plaguing the "terrible beauty" that is Northern Ireland. Economic, social and religious divisions seem as permanent as the lush greenness of the countryside.

Footnote: In future columns, we will examine a controversial prison, the political and economic stagnation of Northern Ireland, and the latest efforts to bring lasting peace to this divided land.

Norwalk (Conn.) Hour
As far as Japanese fishermen are concerned, their government officials have been seeing too many horror movies. That, at least, seems to be reaction to the 13-foot plastic whale the government built as part of a project to scare dolphins away from the island's fishing grounds.

Complete with electronic sound equipment to duplicate the cries of a killer whale, the plastic model could be the first of many if tests demonstrate that it will intimidate dolphins. Behind the unusual experiment is the worldwide outcry which arose last February when Japanese fishermen killed about 1,000 dolphins while bringing in their catches off the island of Iki.

If dolphins are as smart as reputed to be, the playful creatures may have a sporting good time with the ersatz whale. Officials in charge of the project haven't said what they will do if a school of real killer whales gathers around the plastic imitation which speaks their language.

Thoughts
When Christians reach out to help others, too often we give the message that we are doing it only because of duty, and so we have made one term "charity" into a negative word.

In serving others, particularly those we deem unwelcome, we must remember three Christian themes: First, it's not merely a duty to serve others in need. It is a privilege, for by doing so we serve Christ Himself. Second, when we pray about those whom we are called to love and serve, God allows us to catch a glimpse of them through His eyes. Then we can see the real people He created them to be. This makes loving and serving them far easier. Finally, by serving and loving others, we open ourselves to be more fully served and loved.

PCSW Bill Gets Support

The Connecticut Displaced Homemakers Network announces its support for a legislative bill introduced by the Permanent Commission on the Status of Women (PCSW).

The bill calls for coordination of existing services for state displaced homemakers and areas where they don't exist.

Displaced homemakers are those persons who have worked in the home for a substantial number of years, dependent upon the income of another, who have lost that source of income through divorce, death, disability or separation and who are ineligible for public assistance and Social Security or who are within six months of losing public assistance benefits and to ensure that the state is not left in the position of providing long term support for this growing population.

The PCSW bill attempts to coordinate and increase services for the displaced homemaker in Connecticut, to increase decent employment opportunities

The funeral is Friday at 8:15 a.m. from D'Esopo Funeral Chapel, 235 Wetherfield Ave., Hartford, with a mass at the Church of St. Patrick and St. Anthony, Hartford, at 9. Burial will be in Mount St. Benedict Cemetery, Bloomfield.

Friends may call at the funeral home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Edith S. Wetherell - MANCHESTER - Mrs. Edith Seymour Wetherell, 89, of 20 Harvard Road died Tuesday.

Mrs. Wetherell was born in Manchester and attended local schools and was graduated from the former Morse Business College of Hartford.

She formerly had been manager of the Sperry and Hutchinson store for 17 years. She was a member of South United Methodist Church and its Mizpah-Spencer Circle. She also was a life member of Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters. She was predeceased by her son, Wells S. Wetherell of Pacific Palisades, Calif.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Norma L. Sterling of Harvard Road, with whom she made her home; two granddaughters, Merrie Ann Sterling of Low Moor, Iowa, and Mrs. Carol Bacon of Oakland, Calif.; and a great-grandson, Paul Bacon of Oakland.

A memorial service will take place Saturday at 2 p.m. at South United Methodist Church. Private burial will be in Wapping Cemetery.

The family suggests that any memorial gifts may be made to South United Methodist Church, Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., is in charge of arrangements.

There are no calling hours.

Robert R. Fregin - MANCHESTER - The funeral of Robert R. Fregin of 118 N. Main St., who died Wednesday at his home, is Saturday at 11 a.m. at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St.

Burial will be in St. Bridget Cemetery. Military honors will be accorded at graveside.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 2 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Ann Franke - EAST HARTFORD - Mrs. Anne Franke, 90, of North Windham, formerly of East Hartford and Andover, died Jan. 26 in Windham Community Memorial Hospital.

Her funeral was Jan. 29, and burial was in the New Lebanon Cemetery, Lebanon, with the Rev. Charles Kuhl, pastor of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church of Manchester, officiating.

The Potter Funeral Home, 456 Jackson St., Willimantic, was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Franke was born in Germany and came to this country in her teens. She lived on Spencer Street, East Hartford, many years where she bred and showed German shepherds and golden retrievers. At one time, she raised dogs for Manchester's former police chief, the late Herman O. Schendel.

She was also a cook for several years at the Manchester Country Club and a banquet cook for the former Murphy's Restaurant in Manchester. She later moved to Andover where she operated a lunch room for several years.

William Anderson, an EDC member and Burnham Street resident, asked when a water line installation at a railroad crossing on Tolland Turnpike will be done.

Anderson operates a business on that road, and he said parts of the road are not in very good shape.

The water line work was delayed until permission was granted by the rail company. Now, the permission has been granted, and still no work has started, Anderson said.

"It seems like we're dragging our feet," he said.

Alan Lamson, town planner, said that the delay could be because of a winter shutdown by the construction firm.

Anderson also said there has been minor flooding problems in residential areas near the park, but these are being worked out between the neighbors and the J.C. Penney Co.

Town Manager Robert Weiss reported on progress with Hartford Distributors Inc., a beer distribution firm that will be the park's second tenant.

He said attorneys for the town and the firm are working out a final agreement for the land purchase. He said there are no apparent problems in working out the agreement.

Also, bids will be opened Feb. 9 for a railroad line to service the park. The line will run parallel to parcels in the west side of the park and will end at the J.C. Penney property line, Lamson said.

J.C. Penney and the other firms in the park will be responsible for construction of their individual railroad spurs to connect to the main line.

Weiss said he is receiving inquiries from others interested in purchasing park land, which is selling for $25,000 an acre.

He said one is a "substantial possibility" but would give no further details.

Weiss also said letters have been sent to the town's largest firms about the visitation program. That program would involve the town meeting occasionally with local business to discuss future plans and any problems the firms might have.

Manuel, who finished with 18 points and grabbed a game high 17 rebounds, pulled UConn out of a first half scoring drought. The Huskies netted only six points during a 10-minute span while Manhattan built a 16-4 lead.

Mike McKay added 17 and Randy LaVigne 16 for UConn. 12-6. Jolo Walters scored a game high 21 points for Manhattan, 3-15.

Sly Williams poured in 22 points and grabbed 11 rebounds Wednesday night to lead Rhode Island to an easy 99-56 win over Division III Merrimack.

With the score tied 14-14, the Rams reeled off 20 straight points and were never threatened again. UPR, 15-3, had a 51-29 lead at 11.

Guard Joe DeSantis scored 19 points Wednesday night, including seven down the stretch, to pace Fairleigh Dickinson to a 77-69 win over Connecticut State.

The Stags, 11-8, led 46-41 at half but were tied at 55 when DeSantis led the late-game surge. DeSantis also had three assists and Barry Gundersen added a career high 17 points and grabbed eight rebounds.

James Bailey tossed in 21 points Wednesday night to pace Rutgers to a 60-55 Eastern 8 win over Massachusetts.

Bailey tossed in 10 in the first half, as the Scarlet Knights, 12-6, built a 31-22 lead at intermission. UMass, 5-12, had 16 first-half turnovers.

EDC Approves Bills, Hears Road Gripes

MANCHESTER - The Town Economic Development Commission this morning approved about $150,000 for expenses connected with the Backland Industrial Park and heard from a neighbor of the park who has concerns about area road conditions.

The bills approved by the EDC include $118,250 for design and construction of lighting poles and fixtures in the park, which includes the J.C. Penney Co.'s catalog distribution center.

Mr. Cooley was a former member of the state Safety Commission and a former ball bond commissioner for Hartford County.

The funeral is Friday at 9:15 a.m. from Carmon Funeral Home, 6 Poquonock Ave., Windsor, with a mass at St. Gabriel's Church, Windsor, at 10. Burial will be in Mount St. Benedict Cemetery, Bloomfield.

Friends may call at the funeral home today from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

New Roofs, Paving Needed for Schools

MANCHESTER - The town's leaky school roofs and its potholed streets have much in common. Both are usually being patched up because there is seldom funds available to do what is needed - new roofs and pavement.

This year's what the PTA Council budget study committee discussed Wednesday night when it discussed capital outlay items in the 1979-80 school budget.

Verplack School, which had its roof repaired during the past year, has had $20,000 allocated for a new roof in the budget. Wilson Deakin Jr., assistant superintendent of schools, said this was being given top priority.

Verplack has to have a new roof, or the kids will be working in the rain," he said.

Buckley School, which also needs a new roof, is getting $3,000 for repairs. Manchester High School, which also needs a new roof, is getting $3,000 for repairs, and Bennett Junior High, which is being renovated, is expected to get $4,000 for work on the main building overhang and gutter replacement.

Raymond Demers, business manager for town schools, said the Board of Education is trying to fund one school roof a year.

The PTA committee would like to see a petition for a referendum for funds to provide all needed roofs on town school roofs.

It has asked William Dion, director of buildings and grounds, to come to its meeting tonight and advise them on the status of roofs, what it would cost to correct the problems and where dormant programs might lie.

Boy Held in Burglary

MANCHESTER - A 15-year-old male juvenile was arrested by police Wednesday and charged with the burglary and theft of equipment at Howell Center Regional Vocational Technical School Sunday.

The majority of photo equipment, locks, keys and other items was recovered, according to police. The break was apparently through a window, police said.

No other arrests are expected in connection with the recent Cheney Tech break, police said. Four youths were arrested in connection with a burglary at the school earlier in January.

DAR Schedules Meeting

EAST HARTFORD - Martha Pitkin Wolcott, Chapter DAR will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Feb. 5, at 8 p.m. at the Raymond Library, 840 Main St., East Hartford.

Officials Consider School Use Charges

By JUNE TOMPKINS Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - The question of who pays for what when community groups use town schools was the prime topic of discussion among representatives of the Board of Education and the Board of Directors Wednesday afternoon.

The group met in the media room of the newly renovated Washington School and talked about the various users provided by the schools, a proposed community relations guideline, a community services account, and priority use of the schools.

Town Director Joseph Sweeney said there were several things the taxpayers have been grumbling about with regard to the proposed $17,000 community services account, one of which was a town charge for school staff volleyball games at Washington School.

"This is one type of thing I don't think the town should be paying for," he said. "If the Board of Education can't pay for it, I don't think the town should." However, he suggested the use of school facilities for town voting that would be charged to the town registrars.

"We're constantly bumped," he said, "staffers leave and then we get back because there's not enough supervision," he said.

Many of the cancellations he knows about in October and can make adjustments. "Usually it's a last minute thing that pushes us out," he said.

Wilson Deakin, assistant school superintendent, said he would try to arrange the school situation so that Siebold could use the cafeteria.

Board of Education member Peter Crombie thought there should be some rule to govern the bumping practice.

Another problem mentioned was providing security when outside groups use the schools.

The town and education boards are working on an agreement for community use of the Washington School and West Side Recreation Center, which they say needs revision in certain areas.

Elderly's Mini-Bus Is a Real Clunker

MANCHESTER - One person described the bus as "a real clunker" and, judging by the time it's spent in the repair shop, the assessment may be accurate.

The vehicle in question is a mini-bus used by the town for its transportation system for elderly and handicapped residents. Again this week, the bus was in need of repair - the fourth problem since the bus arrived a month ago.

Weiss also said a new one that is in the town purchased, primarily with federal funds. It is used along with a rented bus for the Phone-A-Ride system, which provides transportation for the town's elderly and handicapped.

The system is operated by Dial-A-Ride of Connecticut Inc., of 134 E. Center St.

Roger Talbot, who heads the Dial-A-Ride firm, said, "We have had our share of grief."

The most recent problem occurred this week when an oil leak developed. Previous problems have included an alternator, a bad battery, a separate repair and two steering and power brake system, he said.

This week's problem kept the mini-bus out of service for four days, he said, but it is the fourth repair required since the bus was delivered in early January.

Police was charged with reckless driving late Tuesday night. Police observed his car screeching, speeding and driving out of control in the area of Delmont, Cambridge and Hawthorne streets.

Joy Loersch, 39, of 47 Cottage St. was charged with possession of marijuana Wednesday night by police detectives. He was in possession of the marijuana in his apartment, police said. He was released on a non-surety bond for court Feb. 12.

Larin Frink Jr., 48, of 1 Rose St., East Hartford, was charged with fourth-degree larceny in connection with a shoplifting incident at the Westhaverne in the new Manchester Parkade Tuesday. He was released on a non-surety bond for court Feb. 26.

August E. Pezzenti, 23, of 147 South St., New York, was turned over to East Hartford police on a charge of disorderly conduct after a motor-vehicle stop in Manchester Wednesday.

Police made 20 motor-vehicle arrests Wednesday, mostly on charges of speeding under radar control.

The Baldwin-Stewart, Electrical Co. of Hartford reported the theft of five light fixtures and three junction boxes, with a total value of $450 from the J.C. Penney construction site Tuesday night.

Mumford Standout In Tribe Ice Loss

Despite the heroics of goaltender John Mumford who kicked out 39 shots, Manchester High was overpowered by Simsbury High, 9-0, in ice hockey action last night at the Bolton Ice Palace.

The victory improves the Trojans' position in the CCIL while the loss drops the Indians to 1-15-1.

Brad Fox, Perry Seale, Gary DeSmith and Dan O'Loughlin are among the Trojans.

Simsbury scored twice in the first period, four times in the middle session and capped it off with three third-stanza goals.

John Duncan and Jim Plankl each had two goals and Rick Samuelsen, well played for the Indians.

New England Cage Roundup

HARTFORD (UPI) - New England Whalers right wing Jack Carlson has been traded to the Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League for future considerations, says a Whaler spokesman.

The Whalers decided to trade Carlson because "he signed a contract for next year with Minnesota about two weeks ago" and the club decided to "trade now and get something for him," spokesman John Hewig said Wednesday.

Carlson had two goals and seven assists for nine points in 35 games with the WHA team this year. He also had 61 penalty minutes.

Steve Shutt, one of several casualties on the Canadiens this year, scored a pair of goals and assisted on a third goal to pace Montreal to a 4-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Only four players on the entire roster have managed to play every game this season for Montreal, yet the club sports the best record in the NHL.

George Ferguson was the only Penguin able to solve goalie Ken Dryden, who turned away 23-of-24 shots to frustrate Pittsburgh repeatedly.

Maple Leaf 5, Blues 1 - Rookie John Anderson scored two third-period goals and Borje Salming netted the winning goal at 4:21 of the second period, powering Toronto to a decision over St. Louis.

Black Hawks 2, Bruins 2 - Peter Mahovlich's 25th goal of the season with 1:03 left in the second period lifted Boston to a tie with Chicago, snapping a three-game losing streak for the Bruins.

Celtics Showing Some Life

BOSTON (UPI) - Maybe the problem with Boston Celtics this season has been that they've had too many players.

Playing with just a league-minimum eight men for the second straight game, the Celtics reeled off their second straight win Wednesday, 90-82, over the Celtics effort and was played with the team's Celtic Maxwell led Boston with 28 points and Chris Ford and Dave Cowens combined for 42 more.

But it was "Tiny" Nate Archibald who grabbed the spotlight after the flurry of activity of the past week which saw veteran guard and captain Jolo White traded to Golden State and forward Marvin Barnes suspended for two games for missing practice (his second suspension in a month).

In 41 minutes, the diminutive guard netted 18 points, hunkering out 10 assists and made four steals.

"What I try to do is beat my man up court as quickly as I can and hit men who are open," he said basically what I'm out there to, to run the offense but get the ball to guys who can score," he said.

Of the 11 players hearing lecture himself, Archibald said he can still rack up points, but it might not be to the Celtics' advantage if he continues to get into trouble.

"I can score, but I can't beat my man up court, someone has to pick me up and I can pass off to someone who's open for the easy basket," he said.

Knicks Surprise Ends Loss Skein

NEW YORK (UPI) - Just when things are looking hopeless and the most devoted fan begins to give up, the New York Knicks do something surprising.

The Knicks averted a Detroit Wednesday night with a six-game losing streak - their longest in 11 years - and also missing three of their 11 players.

Then Bob McAdoo scored 34 points and Toby Knight added 26 as the Knicks came alive in the second half at the school. It was in the form of a rout which left the former football coach in a fine frame of mind.

Well-tanned Cliff Demers, East Catholic director of athletics, soaked up the sun in the Bahamas during the school vacation. The latter times all home state basketball games with LaFolonia handling the public address system.

CHICAGO (UPI) - John Skibinski, a sixth-round draft choice from Purdue and a native Chicagoan, Wednesday was named winner of the Chicago Bears' Brian Piccolo award in voting by the club's veteran players.

A trophy will be presented to the 6-foot-11, 220-pound running back June 11 at the annual career research benefit golf tournament at Indian Lakes Country Club in Bloomington.

Sponsors Hoping Weather Improves

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (UPI) - A freak snow storm Wednesday forced the cancellation of the pro-am prelude to the $100,000 Triple Crown LPGA championship, and sponsors were keeping their fingers crossed that today's start would not be postponed by more bizarre weather.

Later Wednesday the snow gave way to heavy rain, turning the Mission Hills Country Club course into a field of slush. More rain was forecast but the snow was not expected to fall below 2,500 feet and the course is near sea level. Rain would not necessarily cause a further cancellation, a tournament spokesman said, but play would depend on the condition of the course.

Nancy Lopez, 1978 player of the year, and defending champion JoAnne Carner were rated favorites for the match-play tournament, the only major women's and men's professional golf in America.

Foyt to Remain In USAC's Fold

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - A. J. Foyt, the winningest driver in United States Auto Club history, has decided to remain with USAC and has resigned as a member and director of the rival Championship Auto Racing Teams.

The four-time winner of the Indianapolis 500 said the goals of CART had changed since it was organized by championship division car owners and he felt "we can strengthen the sport of auto racing by staying with USAC."

The turnabout by Foyt, who was a member of the CART board of directors, was announced Wednesday by USAC President Dick King at the club's headquarters in suburban Speedway.

King said Foyt would compete in all USAC championship and stock car division races in 1979 and had filed his entries for the stock car opener March 11 at College Station, Texas, and the championship and stock car doubleheader March 25 at Ontario, Calif.

A USAC announcement said Foyt, the six-time USAC national champion, had told King: "The original goals of CART were to improve the benefits for the car owners and to form a more workable relationship with the USAC board of directors on things like rules and specifications."

"I think that now those goals have changed considerably. I don't think CART should be sanctioning races and promoting its own races," Foyt said.

Parnell Jones and Vel Militch, who are building Foyt's cars for the 1979 racing season, also will align with USAC.

More than a score of championship division car owners, including many of the sport's biggest names, organized CART late last year in an effort to get a greater say in USAC policy-making.

When the auto club refused to meet the owners' demands, CART announced it would hold its own series of championship races. Both sides have been scrambling to line up racing dates and sites and sign up drivers and owners.

Eaglette Gymnasts in Split

East Catholic girls' gymnastics team split a pair of decisions last night in Somers.

The Eaglettes bowed to homestate rival Somers High, 78.35 to 77.05, but did win East Windsor, 77.05 to 44.55.

East is now 4-4 for the season.

Fredman Mary Mayhew continued to shine for the Eaglettes as she took all-around honors with 31.00 points. Mayhew took the vault with a score of 8.15, the bars at 7.5, beam at 7.4 and floor exercise at 7.75.

Kathy Kittredge and Michelle Fretwell tied for fourth place in the vault, each with a score of 7.25. Kathy Connolly took fourth place in the bars with a score of 5.05 and fourth on the beam at 5.35.

Double Setback

Defeat came in the form of a double dose last weekend for the Manchester Midget hockey team.

Undelected Southern Connecticut blanked the locals, 9-0, Saturday and Sunday Simsbury tackled a 5-1 defeat on the Silk Towners.

Against Simsbury the Midgets had only 10 players and just ran out of gas. Willie Simon tallied the lone Manchester goal with Rick Spiller and Bob Carls who split the net-minding, turning aside several breakaways.

Watson Primed for Win

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) - For a guy who had not taken a competitive round of golf in almost three months, Tom Watson certainly didn't embarrass himself last week in the San Diego Open.

In fact, with a dropped putt here and there he might have won the tournament. Instead, it was Fuzzy Zoeller who made all the putts in the third round, but Watson did finish in a four-way tie for second.

"I never felt I was in it," he said later. "Obviously, I didn't make enough putts, but the rest of my game was solid. Maybe I'll do better next week."

Next week is now, and the tournament is the $300,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, which starts Monday in Monterey. Watson's opponent is Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point.

Watson won last year's Crosby en route to his most successful season as a pro. He had to go overtime to do it, beating Ben Crenshaw with a par on the second hole.

This year, Watson says his interest is in being the best player possible - by his standards, which are high.

"My career is over," he said. "The biggest compliment of all would be if my peers said 'Hey, that Watson, he was a helluva player.'"

As might be expected, Watson is regarded as the player to beat this week, not because he is the hottest one around but because of his experience over the Crosby courses, which he has won as a student at Stanford and used to sneak onto Pebble Beach and Cypress Point at snuff for a quick 18 before the real members showed up.

From the point of view of success, the hottest golfers coming here are John Mahaffey, Crenshaw and Zoeller, who, respectively, won the Bob Hope Desert Classic, Phoenix

Staubach and wife ambushed by a crowd of fans during a game.

Staubach And Wife Ambushed

DALLAS (UPI) - Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach says he, his wife and the wife of a Minnesota Viking, were ambushed by a crowd of fans in the Los Angeles Coliseum parking lot following Monday night's Pro Bowl football game.

Nobody was injured during the ambush, but Staubach said the coach's wife, who was not identified, was knocked down, had her glasses broken and lost her purse.

Staubach said the incident began after the 137 NFL victory while he was placing his 4-year-old son, Jeffrey, in their car.

One of the youths grabbed Staubach's wallet and fled with the quarterback in hot pursuit.

"I chased the guy but by the time I caught him, he'd handed it off to some other kid," Staubach said.

Other members of the gang grabbed Mrs. Staubach and attempted to pull a pendant from her neck. A New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning charged into the group and dispersed them.

There were no police in the parking lot and there was an unruly crowd of perhaps a couple hundred kids out there," Staubach said.

"Most of them were good kids, but there were 10 or 12 who were definitely out to create a disturbance. There were several purses smashed."

Sometime between the attack and Staubach's flight home, another Los Angeles woman found the quarterback's wallet on a sidewalk. It was returned to Staubach with all contents intact except for the cash.

Barnes AWOL & Celts Fed Up

BOSTON (UPI) - Marvin Barnes apparently has gone AWOL once too often.

The Boston Celtics' forward missed practice Tuesday, but the incident was lost in the shuffle surrounding the trade of guard Jo Jo White to the Golden State Warriors. But player-coach Dave Cowens didn't forget.

Barnes, according to the Celtics, didn't contact the team about missing practice Tuesday, but he is in St. Louis on business. At the least, Barnes, one of three players off-kept in an off-season trade, faces a fine and possible suspension. But Cowens apparently wants more.

"I know how I feel about it," said Cowens. "I told Red (Auerbach) to

Flyers in Changes, Quinn Head Coach

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - Pat Quinn started a job Wednesday he came close to getting seven months ago - head coach of the Philadelphia Flyers.

The Flyers Tuesday fired Bob McCammon and his assistant, Terry Crisp, and announced Quinn, coach of the Maine Mariners, the Flyers' farm club, would take over beginning today Wednesday.

Keith Allen, Flyers' general manager, said he made the decision to fire McCammon and Crisp because of "a lot of confusion and lack of discipline" on the team. Currently in last place in the Patrick Division of the National Hockey League with a 22-17-11 record and winless in its last eight games.

McCammon, who guided the Mariners to a championship in the American Hockey League last season, was chosen head coach over Quinn and Crisp last July.

Quinn and Crisp had been assistant coaches under Fred Shero, who resigned after the end of last season to become general manager and head coach of the New York Rangers.

Allen said he called McCammon and Crisp into his office early Tuesday afternoon after the Flyers were routed by the Montreal Canadiens, 3-2, the night before, and told them of his decision.

Neither could be reached for comment.

Allen said they were surprised but "both took it extremely well I thought." He said when he called Quinn to tell him he was promoted, "He was as surprised as Bob and

Yankees Await Permission From Kuhn to Talk to Carew

NEW YORK (UPI) - Lost in all the speculation over whether Rod Carew will or won't wind up with the world's most valuable player, the Yankees' assistant coach Bowtie Kuhn's permission to talk with him, and what's more, he may refuse to give it to them even if they make a deal with the Twins.

Kuhn hasn't come out and said so, but he's concerned over ongoing negotiations between the Yankees and Twins regarding Carew. What he's essentially concerned with is something he always talks about - the competitive balance. Kuhn feels strongly about that. He believes that helping to maintain it constitutes one of his primary responsibilities as commissioner.

Specifically, Kuhn is worried about the competitive balance in the American League East where the Yankees conceivably have been picked up anywhere from a dozen to possibly 20 or more additional victories with the addition of left-hander Tommy John and right-hander Luis Tiant since the end of last season. Now with the possibility of also getting Carew, Kuhn can foresee a Yankee runaway this summer and that's upsetting him.

At the moment, he's not saying anything regarding the matter. "I'm waiting to see what the Yankees' position is on whether or not we should be completed."

He manifested his feelings plainly enough though last week when after both the Giants and Angels had talked to Carew, he refused to give his permission to the Yankees to do so.

That refusal coincided with a statement by him saying he would not give his consent for any club to talk to Carew until the Twins had completed a deal for their first baseman with another club that was interested in him. Kuhn felt it known his ruling wasn't directed at the Yankees in particular, but if that was the case, then which club was it aimed at, the Mexico City Tigers?

Should the Twins and Yankees ultimately agree on a deal for Carew and Kuhn then looking for it, he feels it upsets the competitive balance. Yankee owner George Steinbrenner would be sure to holler "foul" and that would be understandable, but Kuhn would have both precedent and leverage on his side. He set the precedent on June 10, 1976 when he canceled a pair of deals by Oakland's Charlie Finley that would have sent outfielder Joe Rudi and relief pitcher Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox for a $1 million each and pitcher Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million, and his leverage comes from having beaten Finley's challenge over the deals in court.

Right now, the Yankees and Twins are hung up on a deal for Carew. The Twins are satisfied with most of the package the Yanks have offered - first baseman Chris Chambliss, outfielder Juan Beniquez and infielder Brian Doyle plus $400,000 - but what's causing the hang-up is the pitcher the Twins would like to get. They want either Dave Righetti, a 19-year-old right-hander, or Paul Mirabella, a 24-year-old left-hander, and the Yankees refuse to give up either one.

"We know what they're looking for and we know what we can afford," says Al Rosen, the Yankees' president. "It's a big deal, and no one wants to make a mistake."

Bowie Kuhn believes he should become involved in it, in his opinion, the competitive balance is upset, and whether you agree with him or not, he's acting in what he feels is the best interest of baseball. If the Yankees should run away from the rest of their division by 30-25 games, he thinks that would not be in the best interest of baseball; George Steinbrenner, looking at it the other way, sees nothing wrong with it.

In 1936, the Yankees won the American League pennant by 19 1/2 games. There were cries of "Break up the Yankees!" as there were in the next three years when the Yankees also won each time, but the fans kept coming out to see them in as great numbers as before.

On the other hand, attendance dropped significantly during the five-year stretch the Yanks kept winning pennants from 1949 through 1953, so you could say one showing off the other and doesn't really prove anything conclusively insofar as Bowie Kuhn's belief in competitive balance is concerned.

Suit Will Be Heard

HARTFORD (UPI) - A Hartford federal judge has agreed to hear a class action suit which charges that keeping retarded persons at a state institution in U.S. District Judge John D. Newman Wednesday denied a motion by the state to dismiss the suit brought by the Connecticut Association for Retarded Persons against the Mansfield Training School.

Assistant State Attorney General Sidney Vogel, representing the state Department of Retardation, argued the case should be heard in a state court. But the CARC claimed there are "massive violations" of human rights at the school which are protected by the U.S. Constitution.

The suit charges keeping persons at the Mansfield facility violates their right to more humane care in a community or group home environment.

Ethel Kennedy's Beef

Dean Small says the Christmas dinner catered for Ethel Kennedy was a $35 gourmet's delight, but Mrs. Kennedy said it was more like a sack lunch. She refused to pay, so Small is suing her in Aspen, Colo. She pegs the value at $25 - and she says the order was for 20 people and consisted of a 12-pound beef roast, green bean, dip and potato chips, potatoes, french bread and cake.

Sniffs Mrs. Kennedy in a written answer, "the dinner basically was canned beans, canned mushrooms and a small roast." She pegs the value at $25 - and says she didn't authorize it in the first place. Small says $360 of the tab was for labor - billed at a holiday rate of $90 an hour. A jury will mediate the squabble on March 14.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: MISERABLE IN OHIO was miserable with good reason. He had struck a 12-year-old boy on a bicycle and wrote to express his anguish as he waited six hours for the lad to come out of surgery.

He said: "I wasn't going very fast, but it was night and the poor kid was wearing dark clothes and there wasn't a light anywhere on his bike. I didn't even see him until I hit him. I was told that his chances for survival were slim. You can't help me - or the boy - but if you print this, maybe parents will see it and make sure their kids have the proper lights on their bikes so accidents like this can be avoided."

Abby, you are to be commended for printing that letter, but I submit this as a follow-up:

Since your letter appeared in my column last October, hundreds more pedestrians and bicyclists have been struck and killed or injured by motorists - mostly at night because the drivers couldn't see them in time to stop.

This is senseless and needless because there are many reflective materials on the market today to make people more visible at night.

See-on-trip for clothing, or entire garments made of fabric that glows in the dark are available at many retail stores. If you can't find them where you shop, ask for them. Insistent consumer demand can help make this life-saving feature easily available to all who need it.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR GRACE: Your friend can speak only for herself. She certainly doesn't speak for any of the older folks here. Don't ever stop caring for her, dear. Pride in one's appearance is the hallmark of self-respect.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a guy who seldom brushes his teeth and his shower?

DEAR VAL: Nothing.

Are you the lonely lass in the crowd? Friends make a winner, and Abby tells you how to win them in her book, "How To Be Popular, You're Never Too Young Or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (2¢ cent) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was shopping for a dress but couldn't find anything I wanted to buy. I told my friend about it, and she said, "Oh, when you get your age, nobody looks at you or cares how you look anyway." Abby, is that the way most people feel about us old folks? We are both in our 70s, but I always notice how people are dressed regardless of how old they are.

Maybe I'm just an old fool to feel I do, and should quit caring how I look. I'd like your opinion.
