

News for Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN
Hi! This Friday at 7 a.m., you lucky folks will be off on a Florida trip. It's finally D-Day and we remind you all to have a carry-on bag for the overnight stands because you won't be able to get your suitcase.

March 22 We will register on Monday, Feb. 26. The price for the trip will be $9. You'll have a chance to spend some time at the Quincy Market where you'll have a choice of restaurants.

Here's some more good news especially for folks who have enjoyed our exercise class in the past. Mel Siebold, recreation director, has arranged for one of his staff, Cleo Livingston, to give the exercises. The class will be Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m. and Fridays at 10 a.m., starting this coming week.

On Friday afternoon we had 48 players for our setback games. The winners: Archie Houghaling 136, Anna Demko 134, Martin Bakston 132, Mary Davis 127, Mike DeSimone 122, Paul Schuetz 121, Paul Oitone 121, Elmer Swanson 120, Mna Heather 117, Bill Stone 117, Al Chellman 117, Rene Maire 117.

Tomorrow afternoon, we will celebrate Valentine's Day. Admission to the Fun Day party will be a Valentine. We'll serve some goodies, have a special guest on hand to treat us to enjoyable songs and music on the piano. We'll also dance to records, led by Bea Maher and Helen Vee. It should be a great afternoon—be sure to join us.

Next bit of news is about a trip to Boston for the annual Flower Show. Hartford — The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving has made a $75,000 challenge grant to the American School for the Deaf toward redevelopment of the school's playing fields.

Challenge Grant Given

HARTFORD — The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving has made a $75,000 challenge grant to the American School for the Deaf toward redevelopment of the school's playing fields.

The 161-year old school, the oldest school for the handicapped in the Western Hemisphere, seeks $50,000 to convert its present football field into a soccer field, construct an additional playing field to include a 1/5 mile all-weather six-lane track, and relocate an access road to the infirmary to make room for the fields.

To qualify for the foundation's grant ASD must raise $100,000 from sources outside Greater Hartford toward the project and increase its own annual giving program by $25,000 over last year's increase.

Q: My parents want me to take them to the local Social Security office next week to apply for SSI payments. They don't have the slightest idea what papers they should take. Can you tell me what they'll need?

A: They should take proof of age, unless they are already getting Social Security benefits, their latest tax bill or assessment notice if they own real estate other than they home; their latest rent receipt if they pay rent; bank books, insurance policies, and other papers that show what resources they have; the motor vehicle registration if they own a car; and pay slips or other papers that show their income; and their Social Security cards or a record of their social security numbers.

Q: In January, I'm going to work part time doing inventory for a local store. I'm in high school and have never had a job before. The store manager told me I need a Social Security card. How do I get one?

Social Security

Q: My parents want me to take them to the local Social Security office next week to apply for SSI payments. They don't have the slightest idea what papers they should take. Can you tell me what they'll need?

A: You can apply for a Social Security card at any Social Security office. You'll need proof of age, identity, and U.S. citizenship or lawful permanent resident status. The documents must be originals, not photocopies. It usually takes about 8 weeks to get your card after your application has been filed. Since your job starts in January, you should apply for your card now.

Q: I'm 62 and have been getting Social Security widow's benefits since my husband died two years ago. I'm getting married again in January. Will my widow's benefits be stopped because I'm remarrying?

A: No. Starting January 1979, remarriage after age 60 will no longer affect widow's or widower's checks.

A: My husband, who has Medicare, lost an arm as a result of an auto accident two months ago. His doctor is arranging for him to get an artificial arm. Will Medicare pay for it?

A: Medicare medical insurance can help pay for artificial limbs and eyes, as well as for prosthetic devices and other substitutes for an internal body organ. After the $60 annual deductible is met, medical insurance will pay 80 percent of the reasonable charges for covered prosthetic devices.

VA News

Q: Since separation from active duty I have maintained my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy. Has the law changed to allow more than $10,000?

A: Public Law 92-188, which became effective July 1, 1972, provided for the purchase of paid-up additions with dividends. This is the only way that the $10,000 maximum can be exceeded.

Q: I am a veteran of WWII. When I apply for burial at a national cemetery, will my Social Security number be used to identify me?

A: Application may be made only at the time of death of the eligible veteran or eligible dependents. Identification should be made to the director of the national cemetery where interment is desired.

Q: I am currently drawing non-service-connected pension. My wife died in June of this year and there have been no other changes in my dependency or income status. Must I report Social Security payments to the date of her death?

A: Yes. All family income must be reported. You should, however, show the cost of her last illness and burial provided you have paid the cost out of your pocket. This is an allowable exclusion which serves to reduce your countable income for VA purposes.

Arts Board Meets

MANCHESTER — The executive board of the Manchester Arts Council will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Blanche Stone, 60 Butter-nut Road.

MANCHESTER — All senior citizens are invited to participate in the Manchester Senior Citizens Pinochle Group game Thursday at 9:45 a.m. at the Army and Navy Club.

MANCHESTER — The six and a half inch snow which fell in Manchester Wednesday caused no major problems for town plowing crews, and was a welcome sight for winter sports enthusiasts.

It has been a slim winter for town outdoor recreation activities because of the lack of snow. The Northview Ski Slope will open tonight for only the second time this winter. The skating rink at Center Springs Park will be supervised for only the third day.

Melvin Siebold, recreation director, said that he hopes the ski slope can open tonight, despite problems with four-wheel drive vehicles on the Wednesday night. The vehicles which were apparently on the slope late Wednesday or early today messed up the snow and caused ruts, but Siebold said it did not look too bad this morning. There has been a problem with the vehicles on the slope before, he said.

The skating rink at Center Springs Park will also be open today from 3 to 9 p.m. and skating will be allowed at Center Park from 3 to 9 p.m. For information phone 643-4700.

Winter Sports

Skating, under Recreation Department supervision, will be permitted tonight at Northview Ski Slope from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Skating will be permitted at Center Springs Pond annex from 3 to 9 p.m. and skating will be allowed at Center Park from 3 to 9 p.m. For information phone 643-4700.

The ski slope is a "lot of powder right now," Siebold said, but if it gets packed down tonight, there might be another day of skating. A decision on whether to hold the Manchester State Bank and Recreation Department-sponsored ski races at the Northview slope Saturday has not yet been made.

Fred Wajes, highway superintendent, reported no major problems with plowing operations. All plowing was completed by 6 a.m. today and sanding of all routes began after that.

One private snowplow which contracts with the town was knocked out of commission because of an accident Wednesday, Wajes said.

The police and fire departments reported a very quiet night. There were no fire or rescue calls. There were only nine minor motor vehicle accidents between 8 and 10 a.m. today, which Patrol Captain Henry Minor termed "very good."

The private snowplow made it easier on the Park Department crews and the snow equipment, said Ernest Turek, park superintendent.

School Abuse

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, which represents 500 schools in 45 states, said it has asked a federal court to overturn rules designed to end fraud and abuse in the trade-school industry, little added benefit. The rules provide that students, who drop out of vocational schools, would be allowed pro-rata tuition refunds for the unused portions of their courses. However, the head of one school said prices would have to be raised to take care of the refunds.

BOSTON (UPI) — Physicians from St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., studied 639 children with leukemia from 1962 to 1978 and Dr. Alan M. Maurer, one of the four authors said anti-leukemic treatments of chemotherapy and radiation should last 2 1/2 years before they are discontinued. However, the paper published in the New England Journal of Medicine brought out, children can now — for the first time — be "considered cured" of leukemia if they don't have a relapse within four years after the treatments are discontinued.

Norse Penny

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — A coin found on the coast of Maine by amateur archaeologist, Guy Meldrum, 20 years ago and donated to the Maine State Museum four years ago was found to be an authentic Norse penny, made 400 years before Columbus left Spain. State archaeologist Bruce Bourque said Wednesday the coin probably either was carried to Maine by Indians who traded with viking settlements in the Canadian Maritimes, or the site actually was occupied for a period of time by Vikings. He said more exploration of the site is needed to determine whether the coin actually was carried to Maine.

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

By United Press International
Egyptian President Anwar Sadat today accepted an invitation from President Carter for resumption of Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty negotiations in the United States later this month.

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

The acceptance was announced by U.S. Ambassador Hermann F. Ellis after he met with Sadat to deliver the official invitation.

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

Ellis told reporters Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil will lead the Egyptian delegation to the resumption of talks "at the ministerial level."

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

He declined to say whether the talks could be a prelude to another Camp David summit grouping Sadat, Carter and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin to wrap up a treaty.

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

Ellis said the exact location and date of the new round will be announced in Washington. He would not say whether the talks will be held in Washington or Camp David.

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

"I do not know whether there is an answer yet from the side of Israel," Ellis added. "But at such time as answers are available from both sides, an announcement will be made in Washington."

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

The invitation to Israel was delivered to Begin Wednesday. The Israeli cabinet has yet to take a formal decision on it.

Sadat Will Come For Peace Talks

Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan is expected to lead the Israeli delegation and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance will head the American team. Reports from Washington and Jerusalem indicated that Egyptian government sources have spoken of Feb. 20 or 21 as the likely opening date.

State Budget Infuriates Special Interest Groups

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso's frugal budget proposal has infuriated some special interest groups, but most Democratic and Republican lawmakers agree the package meets the wishes and expectations of Connecticut taxpayers.

House Majority Leader John Groppo, D-Winsted, who will be responsible for directing Mrs. Grasso's spending plan through the lower chamber, contends the task will be an uphill fight, especially with special interest groups.

"They're going to scream, but they can live with it," Groppo said Wednesday after the governor outlined her $2.388 billion budget with no new or increased taxes to the both houses of the Legislature.

The hold-the-line spending plan would be only 5.1 percent higher than this year's budget with most of the spending increases going for court-ordered school funding and state employee raises.

"It's what the people wanted and what they expected her to deliver," Groppo said.

However, certain groups started screaming almost as soon as Mrs. Grasso finished her 20-minute address. Kingsley Beecher, president of the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities, predicted the budget would cause "unavoidable property tax increases."

Beecher, Winsted's mayor and Winchester's first selectman, said the governor's plan would only produce $19 million in new money for cities and towns, hardly enough to keep pace with inflation.

He said to maintain existing municipal services, the governor would have to come up with another $146 million.

"It's not a no tax increase budget," CCM's executive director Joel Cohen added. "It's going to create an increase in taxes for us."

William Roper, part owner of the Plainfield dog track, said Mrs. Grasso's proposed hike in gaming taxes, coupled with increased competition from a Rhode Island dog track, would have a devastating impact on his facility.

"The bottom line is we're going to be out of business," he said.

Al Marotta, president of the Connecticut State Employees Association, was upset with Mrs.

Grasso's $33 million appropriation for state employee pay hikes.

"It's totally inadequate," he said. "The governor's intention to hold wages under (President) Carter's 7 percent guideline is one-sided, unfair and an ineffective anti-inflation program."

Not all special interest groups were mad.

The Connecticut Business and Industry Association was happy with Mrs. Grasso's plan to cut the sales tax on spare machinery parts in half.

"The document is a signal to the people of Connecticut that this administration is serious about controlling government spending, and it is a reaffirmation to the business community that state government will continue to seek economic growth through revitalization of the business climate," said CBIA president Richard Woods.

Republican and Democratic leaders alike hailed the governor's move to control state spending. But state lawmakers said they probably would have done things differently.

"Although we can say we pleased the budget increase is only 5.1 percent, Republicans would deal much better with the programs, particularly with school funding and state employees," said Senate Minority Leader Richard Bozato, R-Waterbury.

House Minority Leader Ralph Van Norstrand, R-Hartford, said he wished Mrs. Grasso had been as conservative last year when she proposed a 142 percent budget increase before the elections.

"I hear the strains of the old tune, the threat of a tax increase in their discussion of the Community Development program."

A proposed ordinance would place a two-year ban on participation in the program. Five of the Democratic members of the nine-member Town Board of Directors oppose the ordinance and support continuation in the program.

They have talked about the benefits of the programs funded through Community Development. If the Community Development funding is stopped, these programs would have to be funded with local money or dropped.

"The Democrats have now added the threat of increased property taxes to the threat of returning federal funds and unfinished projects," Weinstein said. He said funding through the program equals about one mill of taxes.

The town has received $483,000 in present-year funds through the program. Mayor Stephen Penny has said, however, that the Community Development funding has been used to generate other funds, such as a matching federal grant to pay for improvements at Charter Oak Park.

Weinstein said that the Democrats have raised town taxes every year, even with the availability of the Community Development funds, which are distributed by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

"We know that the Democrats are not going to hold the line on taxes. We further know that the HUD funds have nothing to do with property taxes and is another red herring in a further attempt by the Democratic majority to frighten the citizens of Manchester," he said.

Weinstein said the Republican Party has supported past Community Development projects.

"But, the Republican Party will not serve as a rubber stamp for any program and blindly continue to endorse a program if the demands become unreasonable," he said.

He referred to a past remark by Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings, who called a fair housing brochure produced by the town "silly."

"I cannot imagine how any responsible person in government could condone the use of tax dollars, whether federal, state or local, for silly purposes and then have the gall to brag about it," Weinstein said.

He also referred to the reconstruction work on West Middle Turnpike that was done primarily with federal funds. After the work was completed, the federal government told the town no parking would be permitted on the road, he said.

"The Democratic Party failed to fully understand the strings attached to the use of federal funds in the construction of Middle Turnpike," he said. He said "strings" for the Community Development funds are more involved and time-consuming.

A compromise later was reached to permit parking on Middle Turnpike during hours of light traffic.

"How ironic it is that the Democratic Party supports an anti-democratic view, opposing the right of the people to speak out through referendum," Weinstein said.

Even though the five Democratic directors have opposed the ordinance, Penny and others have said they expect a referendum on the issue.

Weinstein said, "Let the public decide just how many strings are reasonable. Let the public decide whether Manchester's autonomy should be sold to the high bidder. After all, the Town of Manchester hopefully still belongs to its citizens."

GOP Head Knocks Dem Tax Threats

MANCHESTER — Republican Town Chairman Richard Weinstein has criticized local Democrats for including the threat of a tax increase in their discussion of the Community Development program.

A proposed ordinance would place a two-year ban on participation in the program. Five of the Democratic members of the nine-member Town Board of Directors oppose the ordinance and support continuation in the program.

Report Averts Serious Blaze

BOLTON — The alert action of a neighbor of the Sherwood Holland family on Birch Mountain Road Extension probably averted what could have been a very serious fire early this morning at the Holland home.

Tommy Morrone, who was coming home from work about midnight, noticed flames shooting from the attic vent of the Holland house. He pointed on the door and woke Mr. and Mrs. Holland and their three children and the Bolton Fire Department was called immediately.

Mrs. Holland said the Bolton Fire Department along with firefighters from Andover and Hebron responded immediately.

The fire apparently started in the partition behind the fireplace. The Hollands had been using a wood stove. Bolton fire officials said they thought the fire had been smoldering for about three days.

Damage was confined to the fireplace area. Mrs. Holland said a hole had to be cut on the outside of the house and part of the fireplace had to be cut away so firemen could get at the smoldering beams.

The house is liveable but two of the Holland children were taken to the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Karlav Oviian, last night, Mrs. Oviian also made coffee for the firemen.

It was still snowing quite heavily at the time of the fire and reportedly one Hebron fireman was involved in an accident on his way to the scene. He was taken to the hospital to be checked.

Judge Jails Berster

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Albert Coffin sentenced her federal judge has sentenced West German fugitive Kristina Berster to 16 more days in prison, after which she will face deportation as an illegal alien.

Miss Berster, 31, was arrested and taken to jail in Burlington, Vt., last night.

However, Miss Berster will not be free then. As an illegal alien, she will be turned over to the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service for deportation.

Before sentencing, Coffin quoted a pre-sentence report on Miss Berster. It cited a West German magistrate's order showing "that you have been charged in West Germany among other things with being a member of a terrorist group known as the Red Army Faction."

One of West Germany's best-known guerrilla gangs, the group has been accused of crimes ranging from murder to taking hostages.

Through her month-long trial, the court had only said Miss Berster was charged in West Germany with

MANCHESTER — Sister Mary Lynn of New York will be guest speaker at the Sabbath Eve Service at Temple Beth Shalom Friday at 8:15 p.m. The subject of her talk will be "Israel, Holy Land, New Holy."

A member of Sisters of Mercy, Sister Mary received her doctorate in Religion and Culture from the Florida State University. Her specialty is teaching and administration. She has been freed from her religious duties to become assistant to the director of the Holocaust Research Center in New York.

Her interest in the Holocaust began while studying in Germany and after a visit to Israel in 1977 the Holocaust has become a pivotal part of her life and consciousness. In her talk this Friday she will tell of her impressions during her stay in Israel.

A Sabbath Tea and a question and answer session will follow the service. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Six Persons Volunteer to Serve as Mini-Bus Escorts

MANCHESTER — Six persons have responded so far to a request for volunteers in an escort system for elderly and handicapped residents.

Laine Dyer of the Human Services Department said that the department, which operates the transportation program, will continue to accept volunteer applications.

There will be an orientation meeting Tuesday, Feb. 29, at 10 a.m. in the front lobby of the Municipal Building.

Miss Dyer said that the volunteer escorts will ride the buses that are designed to handle wheelchairs, and observe how the lifts work.

On Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 11 a.m., Miss Dyer said a mobility instructor from the state will meet with the volunteers and demonstrate how to work with blind people. The meeting will be in the hearing room in the Municipal Building.

The escort service will include assisting people in wheelchairs, helping people carry packages, assisting people with sight problems, or simply providing companionship to riders who may not like to go places by themselves.

Miss Dyer said that anyone interested in volunteering for the escort program may call 647-3098 for further information.

U.S. Researchers Like ROTC Visit

MANCHESTER — Two members of a federal vocational rehabilitation research project left the Regional Occupational Center after a visit last week very satisfied and promising to return, according to Norman Fendell, director of the center.

Fendell said that William D. Barley, project coordinator, and Elinor Gollay, project consultant, were very impressed with the school and its cooperation in the community with other agencies. He said they were especially impressed with the enthusiasm of the staff at ROTC.

The visitors said they will return for a more in-depth visit at the center with others involved in the project in about six weeks.

The study is funded by the Rehabilitation Services Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The ROTC was one of 11 vocational-rehabilitation facilities for handicapped and special educational students which is being studied by the researchers. The information obtained from the on-site visits will be compiled into models for similar programs throughout the country.

Lutz Asks Students For Interview Help

MANCHESTER — The Lutz Junior Museum thinks teenagers ought to know more about the 70s—the 1870s, that is.

It was around that time that thousands of Europeans began to come to Manchester to work in the Cheney Silk Mills. Since many of these people still live in town, the Lutz is forming a group to interview them—the Pastfinders.

The group is open to any junior high or high school student interested in learning how to conduct an interview. These talks will be taped and included in a special school kit for use in area classrooms. Other plans include bus and walking tours of the mill district, a traveling slide show for younger students, and a play based on a Cheney Mills strike.

The Pastfinders will meet Friday from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m. for a workshop on basic interviewing techniques. The session will be led by Professor John Sutherland of Manchester Community College.

For further information, contact Patrick Farrell at 643-0949.

The Pastfinders project is supported by a grant from the Connecticut Humanities Council, the state committee of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

PTA Sets Sports Night

MANCHESTER — The Verplanck School PTA will sponsor its annual family sports night Friday at 6:30 p.m.

The first volleyball game will be the fifth grade girls and boys against their parents and other adults. At 7:15 p.m., a similar contest will take place between the Grade 6 students and their parents and other adults.

The small admission fee will be used for physical education equipment for the school.

The PTA will also sponsor a raffle. Refreshments will be available.

AARP Plans Theater Trip

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Green Chapter of American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will sponsor a trip to the Camelot Dinner Theater in Higganum Friday, Feb. 16, to see "Oklahoma." The bus will leave the parking area at the Community Baptist Church at 10 a.m. and return at about 5:30 p.m.

Reservations may be made by calling Anne Steele, 643-6039, or Lillian Juncos, 643-6661, as soon as possible.

80 Building Permits Granted in January

MANCHESTER — The town's Building Department issued 80 building permits during the month of January. The permits issued during the month included 58 for alterations and additions and 11 for single-family dwellings.

The number of single-family dwelling units was surprisingly high for January, usually one of the slowest building months of the year.

Permits also were issued for the following projects: one two-family dwelling, one garage, one industrial building, one underground gas tank, six signs and one fence.

The Building Department also issued three affidavits and three demolition permits. The total estimated cost of all projects is $683,322.

The department also issued 39 certificates of occupancy, 52 electrical permits, 32 plumbing permits and 17 heating permits.

DEP Offers Sewer Funds

HARTFORD — Gov. Ella Grasso has announced a $1 million fund to help small communities solve their sewage problems. The fund is being established by the state Department of Environmental Protection, she said.

Five towns — including Tolland and Ellington — already have qualified for the program.

The money will be used to help finance alternative sewage control systems. This would include systems that do not rely on sewers and treatment plants, such as community septic systems and on-site correction of polluted waters.

Towns eligible to apply for grants under this special program are those with populations of less than 3,500. Sparsely populated sections of large municipalities also are eligible if these areas qualify.

Youth Officers Urge Safety Rules

By BARBARA RICHMOND
 Herald Reporter

VERNON — Kids should know the four basic rules for safety but hopefully they won't have to be frightened by learning them, Harold DeLise of the Vernon Police Department and Paul Scannell of Troop C of the Connecticut State Police said. Both are youth officers.

Scannell said the four basic rules children should be taught are not to accept gifts from strangers, don't get into a car without a parent's permission, go directly home from school, and don't play in lonely places alone.

The two officers are promoting safety programs through the schools in Vernon and other Tolland County towns, showing films and talking with the younger children. The want to also promote the importance of crime prevention and feel the time to do this is when the children are very young.

Vernon has a "Helping Hand" program to aid children walking to and from school.

Parents in selected homes on each block of the town have been asked to spend about 15 minutes, morning and afternoon, standing out on their porches or sidewalks to check the children's progress until they're within the safety of the school yard or their homes.

"At the present time there are about 150 'Helping Hands' homes with more anticipated in the near future. Homes are selected for their strategic locations so that a child can see the distinctive Helping Hand signs in the windows simply by glancing from side to side.

Helping Hand parents react to all emergency situations just as if they were the parent of the child involved. When a child is in trouble of any kind he or she knocks on a Helping Hand home and the volunteer reports the emergency to the Vernon Police or to the child's parents, depending upon the nature of the problem.

In the event of an incident of child molestation or other serious incident, the helper is instructed to make the child comfortable and isolate him until the police arrive.

Helping Hand parents are carefully screened before being accepted.

The Vernon Police also have safety books and coloring books and pages to distribute to children through the courtesy of the state police and area merchants who paid for ads to make the books possible.

The reading book is entitled, "Betsy & Bill & the Nice Bad Man." Another coloring book is titled, "Tuffy Talks About Medicine," and this explains about the dangers of taking medicine unless given by a parent.

"I'm washing a few leftover dishes and cleaning up." - Alvin Karpis, the restaurant owner made famous in the 1960s by folk singer Arlo Guthrie, saying the closed his latest entry - in Lenox, Mass. - because of harsh winds, snow and a tough local sign ordinance.

Thoughts

"Here, he said, have left everything to become your followers." (Mark 10:15:31) "Do you give up anything to be a Christian? It has been said that one of the costs of discipleship is the willingness to be misunderstood. Many times we are misunderstood when we act in accordance with what we believe God is telling us to do. Many of us let the opinions of our families, friends, or even casual acquaintances determine our actions. We care too much about 'what people will say.' 'The real Christian doesn't let himself be influenced by the approval or disapproval of others. He doesn't care if his motives are misunderstood by others. He has to be sure that his motivation comes from Christ himself, and his direction from the Holy Spirit.' - What does Christian discipleship mean to you? Are you willing to leave everything, and be misunderstood for Christ? Even if you are not vindicated or rewarded for it? The Disciples, too, found it hard simply to 'follow' Jesus. 'Then fancies flee away. I'll fear not what men say. I'll labor night and day To be a pilgrim.' (Hymn 563) (Excerpt from 'Forward Day by Day') The Rev. Stephen K. Jacobson, Rector, St. Mary's Episcopal Church

Good Baseball Man Warren Giles Dies

CINCINNATI (UPI) - A funeral is scheduled Friday evening for Warren Giles, 82, president of the National League for 18 years and before that general manager of the Cincinnati Reds for 15 years, who died Wednesday at Christ Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Services are planned for 5:30 p.m. EST Friday at the Church of the Redeemer in the Hyde Park section of Cincinnati and will be conducted in Moline, Ill., where he got his start as a baseball executive in 1920.

Giles was National League president from 1951 until 1962, when he retired and almost was named Commissioner of baseball in 1961.

Following the death of A.B. "Happy" Chandler as commissioner in the fall of 1951, Giles and Ford Frick finished in a deadlock in voting for a new commissioner. After 17 ballots, Giles withdrew, permitting Frick to become commissioner. Giles took Frick's job as National League president.

"Warren Giles was the perfect baseball man," said Waite Hoyt, who was pitching his way into the Hall of Fame when Giles was in the early years of his career.

"He was very considerate, very tactful. He weighed everything very carefully. He went to extremes to try to conclude any dealing in the most honest way possible.

"I was a very close friend and I had nothing but the utmost respect for him," added Hoyt, like Giles, a resident of Cincinnati. "I think he will be very well remembered by everybody who knew him."

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, after learning of Giles' death, said, "He was one of the greatest executives baseball has produced and he was my own dear, personal friend."

"His counsel and irresistible good nature are gone and that is a tremendous loss for baseball. I will miss him more than I could possibly say."

Giles, born May 28, 1896, in Tiskilwa, Ill., entered organized baseball on a dare in 1920 and seldom turned down a baseball administrative challenge over the next half-century.

It was in 1920, in Moline, Ill., where his parents lived, that Giles got his baseball from-life start with the Moline club of the old Three-I League, Illinois, Iowa League. He had attended a fans' meeting to determine what was wrong with the Moline club and offered so much criticism the fans challenged him to take over the club himself - he did.

He moved steadily upward to St. Joseph, Mo., in the Western League, to Syracuse, N.Y., and Rochester in the International League, and then, in 1936, he hit the big leagues, coming to Cincinnati as general manager of the Reds in 1936.

After 15 years of heading the Reds' organization, Giles gave way to Frick in that celebrated 1951 voting for a new commissioner and had accepted the job as National League president.

Giles was credited with improving the salaries and the overall lot of umpires during his 18 years of heading the National League.

Former umpire Jack Conlan said, "He did more for the umpires than any other man in the history of baseball."

Following his retirement in 1962, Giles remained in Cincinnati and also remained an avid baseball fan.

Mary Mayhew on Balance Beam Jets Share Lead In WHA with Win

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Winnipeg Jets moved into first place and the Edmonton Oilers pulled to within four points of third place in WHA action Wednesday night.

Winnipeg took over the top spot on the strength of a 3-2 victory over the Birmingham Bulls. Maurice Lokovich scored a pair of goals, his 40th and 41st of the season, while defenseman Barry Long added one as the Jets moved one point ahead of the New England Whalers.

Winnipeg led 2-0 before goals by Louis Sleigher and Paul Henderson in the third period for Birmingham tied it.

The Oilers, sparked by the two-goal performance of Maurice Sobotnik and Ron Chipperfield, hammered the Cincinnati Stingers 5-3. Chipperfield also picked up an assist to pass the Messersmith Returns.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Andy Messersmith, an injury-plagued member of the New York Yankees past two seasons and the first baseball player to play out his option, is back with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers Wednesday announced they have signed the 32-year-old free-agent right-hander to a two-year contract, the terms of which were undisclosed.

A Dodger spokesman said Messersmith will participate in the team's public workout Sunday.

Manchester coach assisted by Kurt Wagner while defenseman Rich Bidwell did an outstanding job of back checking.

Fermi outshot Manchester, 43-13. Mumford bid 10 seconds later Fermi responded and added five more tallies before the period ended.

Fermi added two goals in the middle session and three in the closing period.

Steve Richter, the area's leading scorer, had the three-goal hat trick to top Fermi. Markku Makkola scored on route to an 11-2 CCIL ice hockey decision last night at the Bolton Ice Palace.

The triumph improves Fermi's CCIL leading mark to 10-0 and aggregate record to 14-3. Manchester slips to 2-6-1 overall with the setback.

Kelley McSweney put the Indians on the scoreboard first at 4:15, assisted by Tom Roach and Mike Mumford but 10 seconds later Fermi responded and added five more tallies before the period ended.

Eaglette Gymnast Youth with Talent

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sportswriter

Young and talented - that's one way to describe East Catholic gymnast Mary Mayhew.

Although only a freshman, the just turned 14-year-old youngster already has made her mark with the Eaglettes. She's won all-around honors in four successive meets and should be one of the top contenders for state honors in the small school division.

Mayhew has been involved in gymnastics for five years, performing for the Terrettes in Hamden before enrolling at East. "I got started in gymnastics because I needed coordination," she explained.

"Am I a klutz?" she retorted. "I still am. I'm a walking disaster." She stated, sporting a black eye as proof.

"She's been in the state on the high marks of 8.6 on the bars, 8.25 on the vault, 7.95 in floor exercise and 7.75 on the beam. 'Anything over 7.0 on the bars in high school is excellent,'" offered East Coach Mark Bennett.

"The bars and beam are the most difficult events Mayhew considers, but her favorite is the bars. 'I like the swinging around. I love it,' she enthused.

"She's smooth, fluid, she doesn't take breaks when she does her routines in four successive meets and should be one of the top contenders for state honors in the small school division."

"I hope to do well in the states. If I keep working hard, I feel I can pull my scores up," Mayhew believes.

That could produce a state title for the paradoxical-klutz yet graceful -Eaglette gymnast.

asked if he planned any surprises for the NHL. Tikhonov changed his mind.

"This is not the time to experiment," he said. "This series is too important."

The NHL seems beset by the same ambivalence.

Steve Shutt, who will start with Clarke and Guy Lafleur on a starting lineup selected by the fans, wants to win. But he doesn't see the series as the "Holy War" of the 1972 Team Canada series came to symbolize for Canadian hockey.

"Canadians can't expect to be the best just because we invented it," Shutt said. "Sooner or later we're going to lose a series. We're going to have to expect that. These teams are playing good hockey."

The Soviets have had more practice together, but there can't be many excuses for the loss.

Cal Griffith Unique Among Club Owners

By MILT RICHMAN NEW YORK (UPI) - Calvin Griffith couldn't nurse a grudge against anyone if he tried, and in the case of Rod Carew, he isn't even trying.

There's no other owner in baseball quite like Calvin Griffith. Certainly, there is no other owner more open than he is. That's his trouble sometimes. He's too open. It gets him into a little hot water now and then, but he always comes out all right because there is no meanness or deviousness in him.

Understandably, he is disappointed over losing Carew. He's more disappointed yet over the circumstances under which the seven-time batting champion went from the Twins to the Angels.

It was rather like a shotgun wedding. Calvin Griffith wasn't given much choice. Or much time to say yes, for that matter. But he's not resentful at the Angels, who will pay his 33-year-old former first baseman $4 million plus over the next five years, or at Carew personally.

"It wouldn't surprise me at all if he wins the batting championship again this year," says Griffith. "I don't see why he shouldn't. There's no other hitter around near him. Maybe George Brett if he gets hot or somebody like Jim Rice with that potent bat of his, but Carew is the best there is. And now with all that money, I imagine he'll be floating on air."

Money was the reason Griffith lost Carew. He simply could not afford him anymore, the same way he could no longer afford Larry Hise and the late Lyman Bostock. And with Carew due to become a free agent in October, it was a case of either trading him and getting something for him now or letting him play out his option and winding up with nothing for him after the season.

Griffith first began trying to deal Carew last June. He found he couldn't get enough for him, so he laid back awhile and tried again this winter. He had what he felt was a good deal worked out with Bob Lurie of the Giants the first week of December but Carew, whose permission was needed, wouldn't go for it.

Carew subsequently made his own deal with the Angels a few weeks ago but that one didn't work out because Griffith wasn't satisfied with the players he would get in return.

The Yankees were next. Griffith believed he had a deal made with them for first baseman Chris Chambliss, infielder Brian Doyle, outfielder Juan Beniquez plus a pitcher until the Yanks informed him they would not under any circumstances include either of two young left-handed pitching prospects, Paul Mirabella or Dave Righetti. The talks between Griffith and the Yankees suddenly broke down last Saturday and an hour later Carew went to the Angels for outfielder Ken Landreaux, pitcher Paul Hartzell, catcher-third baseman Dave Egen and pitcher Brad Havens.

Since then, Griffith has been roundly criticized for making a bad deal. "I don't think it's a bad deal at all," he says. "We specified four guys we wanted from the Angels and we got three of them. I think we were fortunate to make any kind of a deal after the statements Carew made in the newspapers. First, he gave us an ultimatum that we had to trade him by Feb. 10. Then he moved up the deadline to Feb. 9. He said, 'You don't trade me, I'll play out my option.'"

Calvin Griffith, whose uncle, Clark Griffith, pitched for, managed and owned the old Washington Senators, has been associated with baseball for most of his 67 years. In his time with the Senators and Twins, he has seen some fine players come and go. Someone he has survived. In all likelihood, he also will survive the departure of Rod Carew.

Griffith was working at his office desk in the ballpark at the Twins' Orlando, Fla., training site when I called him on the phone Tuesday and interrupted him in the middle of some contracts.

"We've still got 20 players unsigned," he revealed. "They're practically all young kids. Some of 'em haven't even played in Triple A yet and they're asking 10-11 thousand. I'm not too worried about it, though. What in hell good does it do to worry about anything these days?"

Griffith was working at his office desk in the ballpark at the Twins' Orlando, Fla., training site when I called him on the phone Tuesday and interrupted him in the middle of some contracts.

Cal Griffith Unique Among Club Owners

By MILT RICHMAN NEW YORK (UPI) - Calvin Griffith couldn't nurse a grudge against anyone if he tried, and in the case of Rod Carew, he isn't even trying.

There's no other owner in baseball quite like Calvin Griffith. Certainly, there is no other owner more open than he is. That's his trouble sometimes. He's too open. It gets him into a little hot water now and then, but he always comes out all right because there is no meanness or deviousness in him.

Understandably, he is disappointed over losing Carew. He's more disappointed yet over the circumstances under which the seven-time batting champion went from the Twins to the Angels.

It was rather like a shotgun wedding. Calvin Griffith wasn't given much choice. Or much time to say yes, for that matter. But he's not resentful at the Angels, who will pay his 33-year-old former first baseman $4 million plus over the next five years, or at Carew personally.

"It wouldn't surprise me at all if he wins the batting championship again this year," says Griffith. "I don't see why he shouldn't. There's no other hitter around near him. Maybe George Brett if he gets hot or somebody like Jim Rice with that potent bat of his, but Carew is the best there is. And now with all that money, I imagine he'll be floating on air."

Money was the reason Griffith lost Carew. He simply could not afford him anymore, the same way he could no longer afford Larry Hise and the late Lyman Bostock. And with Carew due to become a free agent in October, it was a case of either trading him and getting something for him now or letting him play out his option and winding up with nothing for him after the season.

Griffith first began trying to deal Carew last June. He found he couldn't get enough for him, so he laid back awhile and tried again this winter. He had what he felt was a good deal worked out with Bob Lurie of the Giants the first week of December but Carew, whose permission was needed, wouldn't go for it.

Carew subsequently made his own deal with the Angels a few weeks ago but that one didn't work out because Griffith wasn't satisfied with the players he would get in return.

The Yankees were next. Griffith believed he had a deal made with them for first baseman Chris Chambliss, infielder Brian Doyle, outfielder Juan Beniquez plus a pitcher until the Yanks informed him they would not under any circumstances include either of two young left-handed pitching prospects, Paul Mirabella or Dave Righetti. The talks between Griffith and the Yankees suddenly broke down last Saturday and an hour later Carew went to the Angels for outfielder Ken Landreaux, pitcher Paul Hartzell, catcher-third baseman Dave Egen and pitcher Brad Havens.

Since then, Griffith has been roundly criticized for making a bad deal. "I don't think it's a bad deal at all," he says. "We specified four guys we wanted from the Angels and we got three of them. I think we were fortunate to make any kind of a deal after the statements Carew made in the newspapers. First, he gave us an ultimatum that we had to trade him by Feb. 10. Then he moved up the deadline to Feb. 9. He said, 'You don't trade me, I'll play out my option.'"

Calvin Griffith, whose uncle, Clark Griffith, pitched for, managed and owned the old Washington Senators, has been associated with baseball for most of his 67 years. In his time with the Senators and Twins, he has seen some fine players come and go. Someone he has survived. In all likelihood, he also will survive the departure of Rod Carew.

Providence Trips LIU

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) - Rudy Williams scored 21 points and grabbed nine rebounds to lead Providence College to an 87-77 victory Wednesday night over Long Island University.

Providence, now 8-13, opened up a 27-point lead, 78-51, with 5:34 remaining in the game. Long Island, now 10-10, then outscored the Friars 21-4 to pull within 10 points with 5:34 left.

Providence marched to a 38-25 half time lead, outscoring the Black Birds 22-7 over the final eight minutes of the stanza.

Gary Tancle hit his first seven shots from the floor and finished with 15 to round out the Providence scoring, while John Nolan contributed 11 points and 13 assists.

John Bailey scored 17 points and tallied 11 rebounds, while Chris Urdahl and Chris McMahon each scored in 14 for the Long Island effort.

There are no screaming crowds cheering on the man who was so badly burned as a boy doctors said he would never walk again, much less run. The only ones rooting for him are a bunch of troubled kids who want the second chance the 69-year-old Cunningham can provide them.

Cunningham, who recently was named the outstanding track performer in the 100-year history of Madison Square Garden, is racing his creditors trying to keep his Hidden Valley Ranch for troubled youngsters in operation.

"We've had financial trouble for many years," Cunningham said, "and we lost our house parents a short time ago. We're looking for good Christian, sound people to work with kids. We don't have any kids there right now, because there are no house parents."

Cunningham bought the 40-acre ranch bounded by the Ouachita National Forest near Lake Nimrod in 1972 after running a similar operation for more than 20 years in Kansas. Youngsters generally between the ages of 6 and 16 from broken homes, who have had problems at home or with the law come to the ranch when it is open.

The ranch will open again when house parents - one set for every 10 youngsters - can be found.

Cunningham possibly thought more people were like him. While growing up in Kansas, his legs were badly burned in a fire in which his brother was killed. He was told he would never walk again but began running to strengthen his legs and set world records in the mile.

At Madison Square Garden alone, he set six world records in the mile and 1,500-meter runs, and another in the 1,000-yard run. In 1935, he won all five of his races in the Garden, and from January 1937 to March 1938, the only race he lost anywhere was at 600 yards. From 1933-40, Cunningham raced 31 times at the Garden and won 21 times.

He returned Jan. 20 to be honored at the U.S. Olympic Invitations in the opening meet of the indoor track season in New York.

Setting the world records gave him a "little buzz" but no great thrill, said Cunningham, who has a doctor of philosophy degree from New York University. He said the great thrill he discovered later in life was giving to others.

Cunningham, who lectures to high schools, colleges and church groups throughout the country, and his wife, Ruth, have 12 children of their own.

"We've put a lot in workwise and moneywise," he said. "We simply can't continue to support it as we've been doing it. I never have been a fund-raiser and I don't ask people for help. I've never made a charge for any child. We've sold our support, it as we've borrowed but to keep it going. We've borrowed but it's reached the point where we can't continue to borrow and keep the thing going."

"We're going to come up with something, I'm not one to give up very easily. These kids are too important to just allow them to drift along and get into trouble."

Geranium Blossoms At Their Best Now

By FRANK ATWOOD
The geraniums that Miss Millicent Jones keeps year after year at her home on Tolland Road, Bolton, have put out their winter blossoms and are at their best now as house plants in these short, cold days of early February.

When the time comes, she will remove whatever blossoms are open and the plants should continue to blossom through the winter and spring until Miss Jones takes them outdoors again in the long, mild days of May.

While it is still February and the plants are blossoming vigorously indoors, Miss Jones will take cuttings from the tips of the branches. She will leave these in the air to dry for 24 hours while callouses form on the cut ends, then dip the stems in ground limestone and "stick" them in a rooting medium.

More cuttings will be made in August and rooted as small plants to come back into the house next fall. Some of the old plants, by then grown "leggy" and "woody," will be abandoned for the new ones.

All of these geraniums are of the old-fashioned varieties that take longer than one season to reach maturity. Miss Jones feels they are superior to the new varieties that can be lowered from seed in a single season.

One of them, Berta Kamm, which has the largest clump of blossoms in our picture, came from the Crane estate near Pittsfield, Mass., which

Action Tabled On Cop Panel

COVENTRY - Sentimental strong arm for 10 days. After Town Council subcommittee recommendations for a "permanent police committee" by both town officials and residents at this week's council meeting. The council tabled action on the issue after a lengthy discussion with citizens.

Last summer the council set up a subcommittee to investigate the town's police department after longstanding internal conflicts erupted into disciplinary action against the officers by Chief Robert Kjelquist. Karen Nash headed the group, assisted by Roberta Kozmicki and other members of the police department after longstanding internal conflicts erupted into disciplinary action against the officers by Chief Robert Kjelquist.

Earlier in the meeting, the council tabled action on the issue after a lengthy discussion with citizens. The council tabled action on the issue after a lengthy discussion with citizens. The council tabled action on the issue after a lengthy discussion with citizens.

Unit OKs Gay, Pot Bills

HARTFORD (UPI) - The lively issues of gay rights and decriminalization of marijuana have passed the first legislative hurdle toward public debate on the controversial subjects.

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee Wednesday voted to draft legislation on marijuana use and narrowly agreed to hold hearings on a gay rights bill. The marijuana bill was approved on a voice vote after the committee voted 17-3 to reject a motion by Sen. Richard Cunningham, R-Stamford,

Panel Rejects Plans To Build New Prisons

HARTFORD (UPI) - Keeping Gov. Ella Grasso's lean-budget proposal in mind, a legislative committee has killed a measure to build new jails and prisons in case mandatory sentencing is approved.

The Legislature's Human Services Committee also voted Wednesday to hold a public hearing on a bill which would require able-bodied welfare recipients to work.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Curb This Doggie Gag!

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor lady has a peculiar sense of humor. Last Christmas she went to the animal shelter and got a dog which she named Marvin, knowing perfectly well that it is my husband's name.

In the evening when she calls her dog, my Marvin goes to the window and barks like a dog just to confuse her. There have been times when I've called my husband when he's out doors, and that dog comes running.

Everyone in the neighborhood thinks it's hilarious, but I can't see anything funny about it.

Are there laws to protect people against being publicly humiliated? If I thought I could, I'd haul this neighbor into court. What are my chances?

MARVIN'S WIFE

Priscilla's Pop - Ed Sullivan

IF YOU HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO BE A BALLETT DANCER... WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

I'D JUMP AT THE CHANCE!

BARUSHINIKOV WOULD HAVE CHOICE AT THAT!

Captain Easy - Crooks & Lawrence

WH-WHOTTA YA MEAN WE'RE GOIN' TO THE SIDE?

YOU'LL FIND OUT BOON ENOUGH!

PORT THE HELM A BIT AND BACK THE PORT ENGINE! THAT DOES IT! STEADY AS YOU GO!

TAKE A LOOK, YOU TWO! WHEN I SAY YOU'RE GOING OVER THE SIDE I MEAN YOU'RE GOING DOWN TINY DUNNELL!

Alley Oop - Dave Graff

DEAR '65': There is a lot of good in you or you wouldn't have written to express your experience as a volunteer. With consistent good behavior you can build your self-respect. Tomorrow is the first day of the rest of your life. Good luck, dear.

DEAR ABBY: I have studied the Bible and am convinced that everything that happens to us is the result of God's plan. When we become ill, it is God's will - that's why I never take any medicine. Why try to reverse God's decision? Also, when we fall victim to an illness or an accident, that is God's way of punishing us for our sins.

If you can refute this, you are a genius.

GOD'S HUMBLE SERVANT

DEAR SERVANT: I am no genius, but consider this: If your theory is correct, why then did God order man with the knowledge to conquer so many diseases?

And if you believe that victims of illness and accidents are being punished for their sins, you need more enlightenment than I can give you in a letter.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get the name spelled out. Here's how: Write "MARRIAGE" and add a long, stamped (25 cent) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 123 LaSalle Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Conditions that have a direct effect on your career or work could suddenly shift from least to time this coming year. Be sure to your toes and ready to take full advantage of them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Heavily agreeing to do something for another is no excuse for performing irresponsibly. It's better for you to let the person who can't follow through find out more of what lies ahead for you in 1979 by sending for your copy of the new Astro-Graph Letter Mail 31 to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Your hunches will have a strong influence on your outlook today. Unfortunately, they aren't reliable. You'd better think twice before doing anything.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If your views aren't readily accepted today, you might open today's associates. You might open a honest's nest you aren't prepared to cope with.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) You're going to need allies in order to achieve the goals you've set for yourself today. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You might have extreme difficulty relating your ideas to practical, workable plan today.
