Refugees Due

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The United States announced today it would accept 1,200 Vietnamese refugees from the Philippines, including 600 from the freighter Tung An, marooned in Manila Bay for 48 days.

Canada also confirmed it would take from 300 to 350 refugees from the vessel packed with 2,100 Vietnamese and Australia said it would resettle 200.

The announcements by the three countries came at a meeting of about 30 ambassadors brought together by Foreign Minister Carlos F. Romulo to discuss the refugee situation in the Philippines.

U.S. Ambassador Richard Murphy told the assembled officials the United States would take 600 refugees from the Fabella Center in suburban Mandaluyong Town and 600 from the Tung An.

Murphy's announcement came on the 48th day of the Tung An's stay in Manila Bay. Refugees aboard the vessel were denied asylum in the Philippines, which claimed there was no more room for them at Fabella.

More than 2,000 refugees at Fabella have been awaiting resettlement for months prior to the arrival of the Tung An Dec. 27 and the United States had refused to give priority to the people aboard the vessel.

The Economy

Beirut, Lebanon: The authoritative Middle East Economic Survey says Saudi Arabia has increased the price of extra oil produced to offset cutbacks in Iranian exports by 14.5 percent above the 1978 price level, rather than the 5 percent applicable for the first quarter of 1979 under OPEC guidelines.

Washington: President Carter, who begins a state visit to Mexico on Wednesday, says the United States will be a good customer for any oil and gas Mexico decides to sell, so long as the price is fair.

El Centro, Calif.: Tons of lettuce ready for harvest is left unpicked in California fields where United Farm Workers union leader Cesar Chavez — hoping to quell violence — has called off picketing until after the funeral of a young striker shot to death Saturday.

Detroit: Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, faced with predictions that the price of gasoline will hit $1 a gallon this year, summons the nation's top automotive experts to open an all-out search for a revolutionary, fuel-conserving car for the 1990s.

Belle Chasse, La.: Union representatives and management officials at Chevron Oil Co. have reached a tentative contract agreement, easing a strike threat.

Big Explosion

WHITING, Ind. (UPI) — Explosions ripped through oil storage tanks at a large refinery south of Chicago today and police evacuated about 1,000 persons from a 10-square block area near the spectacular blaze that ensued. No injuries were reported.

Fire officials said the fire began in a four-story gasoline processing unit that exploded about 10:45 p.m. CST Sunday at the Amoco Oil Co. refinery. The resulting fire spread to three of five nearby oil storage tanks early today.

Police evacuated a 10-square-block area adjacent to the refinery as a "precaution," spokeswoman Therese Hruskoc said. About 1,000 people live in the neighborhood.

Firefighters from three northwestern Indiana communities — Whiting, East Chicago and Hammond — joined Amoco crews in battling the blaze.

Iran Takeover Complete

New Prime Minister Names Military Chief

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolutionary forces completed their seizure of Iran today and his prime minister, Mehdi Bazargan, formally took over the government. Bazargan promptly named a new military chief of staff.

danced in the tanks abandoned by the "immortals." Bazargan appealed to his followers for calm amid wild jubilation by Khomeini supporters who rampaged through the capital firing wildly into the air.

The commander of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's Imperial guard was killed — apparently by his own men — after he switched his loyalty to Khomeini in a communique broadcast Sunday night.

Members of Khomeini's popular militia stormed the Lavizan barracks, where the elite palace guard — dubbed the "immortals" — held out against the Ayatollah's forces until early today.

Khomeini, in an appeal broadcast over the radio, called on thousands of his heavily armed followers to restore calm and stop destruction and arson amid indications that youthful guerrillas rampaging through the capital were acting on their own.

Radio Iran said Khomeini's designated prime minister, Mehdi Bazargan, would announce shortly a comprehensive program for reopening schools and calling off industrial strikes to resume production.

Bazargan prepared to take formal control of the government, abandoned Sunday by Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar. Iran Radio said Bakhtiar, who once called Khomeini's pledge to take over the government "a joke," had "resigned or committed suicide."

However, diplomatic sources in Tehran said they had heard reports that Bakhtiar was still alive and in hiding. They said he was trying to negotiate a formal resignation and handover of power to Bazargan in exchange for his safety. The reports could not be immediately confirmed.

Earlier today, crack units of the "immortals" surrendered to pro-Khomeini forces after a bloody gun-battle around the American military advisory center in north Tehran.

The center had been vacated by American personnel. It had housed the U.S. military mission to the Iranian army.

Later, UPI reporter Raymond Wilkinson reported from the site that the building was being systematically pillaged and all portraits of President Carter had been torn down or smashed. He said that only a few looters were going through the

School Deficit Due; Spending Freeze Set

By CHRIS BLAKE Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — The school department is facing a projected $255,000 deficit and school officials have ordered an immediate freeze on all expenditures except those which are absolutely necessary.

Board of Education members learned Thursday night that the school department has deficits, either actual or projected, in the following accounts: tuition, telephone, insurance, fuel oil, electricity, water, substitute teacher salaries, summer school and home instruction.

The largest single deficit is in the tuition account. The $141,900 deficit is largely due to the increasing number of placements of students in schools outside of the district.

The utilities — fuel oil, electricity and water — all face projected deficits. The fuel oil account has an anticipated deficit of $41,000, while the electricity account has a projected deficit of $12,000. The projected deficit in the water account is $2,400.

Other deficit figures are: telephone account ($16,400), insurance ($12,000) substitute teacher salaries ($21,000), summer school ($1,600) and home instruction ($4,300).

The figures are based on spending in the first six months and anticipated spending for the rest of the budget year, said Dominic Fulco, school finance director.

The school department will try to cut back wherever it is possible, Fulco said. All requests for funds will be reviewed and only those which are emergency needs will be granted, he said.

In addition, thermostats at school buildings will be turned down on nights and weekends, when students are not in school, to save money, he said.

However, Fulco said he foresees "an immediate" increase in fuel oil prices because of the unstable political situation in Iran. The U.S. has not received any oil from Iran in the past three months and, with Sunday's political developments, it appears unlikely this situation will change.

While school officials attempt to hold the line on spending, they will try to generate surpluses in other areas.

But, Fulco said it is difficult to generate surpluses when there are only five months left in the current budget year and most of the spending has already taken place.

Surpluses would have to come from non-salary accounts, because salary accounts cannot be touched, he said. Also, the school department cannot expect the situation with the utility accounts to improve, he said.

Even so, school officials are "praying for warmer weather," Fulco said. Warmer weather would allow the schools to save on fuel oil expenses.

"It doesn't look good," Fulco said, referring to the budget situation.

Last March, School Superintendent Eugene Diggs ordered a temporary freeze on all school spending to avoid a projected $134,000 deficit at the end of the 1977-78 school year.

The board wound up with a surplus of about $7 last July.

Israel To Resume Mideast Peace Talks

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Israeli Cabinet has formally accepted President Carter's invitation to resume peace talks with Egypt, but balked at widening the negotiating powers of its representative, Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin expressed hope Sunday that the upcoming meeting at Camp David will overcome the difficulties and "pave the path" to peace between the two countries.

Earlier, the cabinet formally accepted President Carter's invitation to resume peace talks with Egypt, which have been stalled for more than two months over differences in the wording of the draft peace treaty.

"Let us hope it will be a useful meeting and will pave the path to overcome the difficulties which have arisen lately in the negotiations," Begin told a group of visiting South African Israeli Bonds leaders at the Knesset building.

The prime minister charged that the difficulties have arisen since Israel agreed to sign an American draft of the treaty Nov. 21. He said Egypt has raised proposals inconsistent with the Camp David agreements which would change the treaty's nature.

After the more than four-hour Cabinet session, Begin told reporters that Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan will be the only minister to represent Israel at the renewed peace talks.

Dayan had asked that his negotiating powers be widened, but Begin said the Cabinet did not discuss the request.

He said Dayan was empowered only to act according to previous cabinet directives and advice from the prime minister.

A report on the national television said many Cabinet ministers expected the upcoming talks to lead the way for a three-way summit meeting among American, Egyptian and Israeli leaders.

City May Give Exams For Manchester Jobs

MANCHESTER — The City of Hartford might do testing for applicants for jobs in Manchester because of the lack of transportation from the city to the suburb.

Hartford's City Council has an item on its agenda Tuesday to permit such testing.

Manchester officials have said the lack of public transportation from Hartford has hindered the town in its recruitment of minority candidates for job openings.

Buses run by the Connecticut Transit Co. come to Manchester once an hour during the day and do not run at night.

Because of this, Hartford's Deputy Mayor Nicholas Carbone has suggested that the city's Personnel Department do testing for municipal job applicants in Manchester.

This would eliminate the problem of city residents being unable to come to Manchester to take tests, which often are given at night.

Hartford's Personnel Department already does recruiting and testing for some surrounding communities, including Bloomfield and Glastonbury.

Carbone has been critical of the state-run bus system in the Hartford region. One complaint he brought against the bus system led to a decision by the U.S. Department of Transportation's Office of Civil Rights that the bus system discriminated against Hartford's poor and minority-group residents.

This decision was based on the fact that the bus service did not provide city residents with the same access to suburban jobs as it did for suburban residents working at city jobs.

Budget Criticism

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso should give lawmakers at least two days to digest her proposed budget before presenting it to the Legislature, says Rep. Warren Sarasin, R-Beacon Falls.

Health Agency To Test Dental Care Eligibility

MANCHESTER — The town's Health Department will be in charge of certifying local families who are eligible for reduced-cost dental service being offered by the Manchester Dental Society.

The dentist's fees for these services will be taken from the fee schedule of the state Department of Social Services and paid by the patient. The cost will be less than the usual cost for dental service.

The reduction in fees varies with different procedures, but the savings often will be 30 percent.

Payment arrangements will be established by each dentist.

To qualify for these services, a person must receive a card from the Health Department identifying the family as eligible. Forms and cards are being printed, and applications will be accepted beginning March 1.

The department is developing criteria for eligibility for the program. Family size and gross family income will be the primary factors. These will be publicized once they are finalized.

The department plans the dentists for volunteering to establish the low-cost program for those residents who cannot afford to pay regular fees. The program was established as an alternative to a proposed dental clinic, which appeared to be a costly proposal that would have taken months to develop.

The Health Department also apologized for a recent publication of the list of dentists who are participating in the program. The list, which was not complete, was released in error by the department.

Rehab Loan Program Has 132 Applications

MANCHESTER — The town's rehabilitation loan program has received a total of 132 applications through January.

The program, funded through the federal Community Development program, provides subsidies to help residents pay the interest on home improvement loans.

Interest for the residents may range from zero to five percent depending on the income level. Residents who qualify for the program must live in a certain area of town that includes the downtown area and must meet certain income limits.

The rehabilitation loan program has been one of those discussed during the recent debates about the Community Development program. A group of residents is seeking an ordinance that would place a two-year ban on the town's participation in Community Development.

Supporters of Community Development have said such a step would eliminate funding for programs such as the rehabilitation loan one, which they feel has been very successful.

Even opponents of continuation in the Community Development program have said that the rehabilitation loan program is a good one.

The number of applicants has been minimal the best two months. There had been 130 applications at the end of November.

Iranian Forces Clash

Marines, Copters Ready for Evacuation of Iran

WASHINGTON (UPI) - U.S. passenger-carrying helicopters and Marines are on the way to bases in Turkey, where they will be ready to move fast if the president orders evacuation of some 7,000 Americans still in Iran. The Defense Department said Sunday the United States is making preliminary plans to withdraw Americans from the troubled Middle East nation in response to the reported collapse of the U.S.-backed government. U.S. officials emphasized the administration has not yet ordered an evacuation of the Americans, of which 1,500 are military or diplomatic personnel and dependents. A spokesman said all are safe and have been advised by the U.S. embassy in Tehran to stay off the streets. U.S. sources said 69 Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C., were airborne Sunday night on their way to Turkey, and six "Super Jolly Green Giant" helicopters were also en route from a base in England.

A Pentagon spokesman said the helicopters would be used for evacuation if it becomes necessary, and the Marines "might be needed to assist in the 19 Marines who are presently guarding the embassy" in Tehran. "We emphasize that these moves are being taken strictly on a precautionary basis," a Pentagon spokesman said, adding, "We have no plans at this time to deploy (the Marines) into Iran. We simply are preparing for contingencies." The 78 highly-sophisticated F-14 aircraft the United States has sold to Iran remained under Iranian military guard at their bases in Isfahan and Shiraz, government sources said. Military observers said arrangements between the U.S. and Iranian armed forces apparently provided for the most sensitive equipment to be pulled out of the F-14 aircraft in case of trouble.

Station Grant Delayed
HARTFORD (UPI) - A $4.5 million grant to renovate Union Station in Hartford will be delayed until the Greater Hartford Transit District and the station's owners settle their dispute, federal officials say. The owners, E. Clayton Gengras of West Hartford and Maurice Kenny of Glastonbury, want to renovate the run-down station with private funds. The district plans to do the same with public money. Donald G. Sullivan of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration said Sunday the agency will not approve the project until the conflict is resolved. He said the UMTA will not fund the project until the two factions. The transit district adopted a plan to convert the station into a transportation center with shops, a restaurant and offices in June after talking about it for three years. The owners revealed another plan a year ago.

Iran Strife Gives Way To Orgy of Celebration

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - Thousand of urban revolutionaries loyal to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini today virtually completed their takeover of Tehran and went on an orgy of celebration through the streets of the capital. As dawn broke over the city, clusters of holdout loyalist troops streamed from a major base housing the American advisory center on the hills overlooking the capital to join mobs of guerrillas massed outside. One motorcycle passenger clutched a can of beer in one hand, a rifle in the other and had a box of ammunition jammed on his knees as his bike roared through the center of the city. In the bright winter sunshine, one middle-aged woman triumphantly drew an eight-inch hunting knife from beneath her long robes and brandished it at a visitor. "Bakhtiar finished," she said. For Khomeini, it marked the final vindication of 15 years of exile and triumph over the final defeat of his old enemy, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi. The battle of Tehran began unexpectedly Friday night when elite troops of the Imperial Guard, fiercely loyal to the shah, stormed the sprawling Farahabad Air Force Base and captured hundreds of pro-Khomeini cadets. On Saturday night, hundreds lay dead and additional hundreds of wounded packed the city hospitals. The fight for Tehran, and ultimately control of the country, was on. On one side, the army - hand-picked and supplied by the shah with some of the world's most sophisticated weapons. On the other, the ayatollah's religious zeal and his follower's faith. Throughout the night, Khomeini's followers ambushed troops and even tanks with gasoline bombs and rifles as they rolled through streets figured with months of debris, garbage and bonfires. Troops with orders to shoot on sight blasted away at packs of demonstrators. Small knots of protesters stormed and burned a string of police stations across the city. A dozen localized battles raged as dawn broke. A mob of 1,000 howling youths, fiercely supported from local homes, crashed through a downtown army barracks, setting ablaze fuel storage tanks. Troops fought back just as fiercely. Machine gun bursts whistled through the densely populated neighborhood. Civilians took it in stride, with women lining up, seemingly unconcerned, at a bread shop. A middle-aged civilian walked past crouching guerrillas reading the latest newspaper reports on the situation. Other civilians dragged green park benches into the middle of boulevards for a better view of the clashes. On youthful guerrillas squatted in the middle of the road, chatting with a friend and sipping tea before plunging back into the fight for the Senate. The statement was, in fact, simple recognition by the army that it could not crush, even with its tanks and helicopter gunships, the Khomeini legions. Health authorities considered the use of Italian military physicians to help deal with the crush of work caused by the virus outbreak. City health officials said about 300 infants suffering acute respiratory problems were being admitted to hospitals daily, with about the same number being released after treatment. Santobono Hospital health director, Dr. Pietro Noverto, said his facility was not set up to use military physicians but that the army doctors would be helpful in the special clinics. Over the weekend, health authorities special medical teams which visited over 700 homes where parents were concerned over the health of their children.

Massive Prison Break Highlights Latest Chaos

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - Some 11,000 prisoners, including Americans and Europeans, hopped and clawed their way out of Iran's largest prison during the chaos in the largest recorded prison break in history. "I'm trembling. I feel like a nervous wreck," said Mary Ellen Schneider, 43, of Bethesda, Md., as she walked through mobs of armed civilians Sunday morning. Miss Schneider said women prisoners were jammed 36 to a room, and added: "That prison was a filthy garbage pit. There were female murderers in my room and they were very keen to tell you all about it." "Early Sunday, everyone began banging on the door and a tremendous racket broke out. Some people busted out of their cells. Things were set on fire. But then people from the outside came to our cell and literally dragged us out." "My jewelry, passport, everything I have except this bundle of clothes, is inside there. I'm trembling all over. I can't think. But it feels good." Yunoski, 31, said he was arrested two years ago on a drug smuggling charge, but was never brought to trial. He said he had suffered a broken thumb and a broken arm from beatings during his imprisonment.

Experts Eye Italy Virus

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) - Three American disease experts flew to Italy today to help Italian health officials contain the mysterious virus that has killed at least 64 infants in the Naples area over the past year. A British specialist was to join the American team in the effort to halt the spread of the "dark disease," responsible for the deaths of three more infants between the ages of six months and 18 months over the weekend. Late Sunday night, an 18-month-old girl was admitted to the intensive care unit of Naples' Santobono hospital after showing symptoms of the killer virus. Over the past months, 33 infants died from the infection which begins with breathing difficulty and high fevers, then causes convulsions, coma and finally death. Doctors in Rome were investigating the deaths of two infants at the Policlinico hospital to determine if they were linked to the Naples virus. The three U.S. experts, designated by the World Health Organization to help Italian authorities, are Professors Gregory Prince and Steven Sufin of the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md., and Dr. William Baine of the Center for Disease Control at Atlanta, Ga. The Italian team led by Dr. Giulio Tarro of Naples Cotugno hospital, said the "dark disease" is a syncretic virus, which usually strikes in the winter months and is especially dangerous to babies less than a year old. There is no known cure for the virus and doctors say they can only hope the arrival of spring will ease the epidemic. Health authorities considered the use of Italian military physicians to help deal with the crush of work caused by the virus outbreak. City health officials said about 300 infants suffering acute respiratory problems were being admitted to hospitals daily, with about the same number being released after treatment. Santobono Hospital health director, Dr. Pietro Noverto, said his facility was not set up to use military physicians but that the army doctors would be helpful in the special clinics. Blue Cross Withdraws Premium Hike Request

NORTH HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) - Connecticut Blue Cross and Blue Shield is withdrawing its $10 million premium hike request currently on file with the state Insurance Department, a company spokesman says. Insurance Commissioner Joseph Mike had asked the firm, which is the largest medical plan in the state with 1.1 million subscribers, to reconsider the proposed rate hike in light of President Carter's wage and price guidelines. Blue Cross & Blue Shield President Joseph Duplinsky said Sunday the request for a premium increase in the Century Contract Plan will be dropped. The firm is to meet with the insurance department Friday. Duplinsky said, however, that the company still wants approval to increase payments to doctors and to add benefits for procedures such as ultra-sound examinations, cancer chemotherapy and reconstructive breast surgery. Blue Cross & Blue Shield will not ask for higher rates in the plan until 1980, he said.

Hadassah Donor Dinner Slated for March 20

MANCHESTER — Mrs. Sandra Novitch is chairwoman of the annual Donor Dinner of the Hadassah Chapter of Hadassah, which will be held Tuesday, March 20, at 6:30 at Temple Beth Shalom, 600 E. Middle Turnpike, Vicki Greene, chapter president, has announced.

Mrs. Novitch will be assisted by Blanche Hocher, Ruth Wind, Pearl Segal, Roberta Shore and Elise Josephson.

Hershel Fox, cantor, singer and entertainer, will be the attraction of the evening.

Proceeds of the dinner will benefit Hadassah Medical Organization and Youth Aliyah Center Programs.

Hadassah Medical Organization maintains approximately 1,800 beds in two general hospitals, one in Kiryat Hadassah, and one on Mount Scopus, both in Jerusalem. In addition, there are also a major rehabilitation center for stroke and accident victims, an oncology (cancer) institute devoted to research, teaching and clinical care of cancer patients, a medical school, a dental school, a school of nursing, a Mother and Child Pavilion for

Sandra Novitch
Premature infants, clinics and services encompassing every specialty in medicine, as well as numerous neighborhood "walk-in" clinics throughout Jerusalem. These bring directly to people who need it most, first class public health care.

The program of Youth Aliyah will also benefit. Aliyah means "going up" (to Israel). Originally, it was conceived as a rescue mission to save children from Hitler's Europe. Since 1952, it has rescued, resettled and rehabilitated 155,000 children, not only from Europe, but also from primitive North African countries and other backward Oriental lands, like Yemen and Iraq. More recently, it has focused on thousands of disadvantaged Israeli youth, as well as young escapees from the Soviet Union.

One of the new Aliyah Youth Centers, in Beersheva, is named in honor of Eleanor Roosevelt, an early and enthusiastic supporter of the program of Youth Aliyah.

For those members of Hadassah and their guests who would like to support these programs, please make reservations by calling Doris Adler, Executive Director, 666-1235 or Helen Kopman, 646-2783. All are members of the Financial Committee. Deadline for reservations is March 12.

This about it. What was there to stop Monday's demonstrators in the presidential election? Our problems are difficult, but not insoluble. Solutions, however, require a degree of public sacrifice and support that has not been forthcoming.

The demonstration on the White House lawn during Monday's welcoming ceremony for Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping should serve as a warning to the Secret Service that there's something drastically wrong with the procedure used in press credentialing. It was extremely fortunate that Monday's incident was only vocal. It should serve as notice, however, that an assassination attempt on the president and/or a foreign dignitary could easily come from the press.

What we saw Monday was a demonstration by representatives of a radical West Coast publication. Apparently, there's no provision for weeding out such "press people."

Credentialing of news people for a presidential appearance has been so slipshod as to border on criminal negligence. Name, Social Security number, date and place of birth, address and media affiliation can get anyone within several feet of the president of the United States.

Media affiliation? That's a broad term as far as White House credentialing is concerned. Anyone putting but a photocopied newsletter can be accepted as a newsworthy by the gang at Pennsylvania Avenue. They — and we're not limiting our indictment to the present administration — care only about media coverage of a human foundation. Our problems are difficult, but not insoluble. Solutions, however, require a degree of public sacrifice and support that has not been forthcoming.

Letter to the Editor HUD Effects Outlined

To the editor:

As one who believes in the power of knowledge, I am dismayed by the amount of rumors and innuendo that surrounds Manchester's participation in the Community Development Block Grant program.

I would like to present the following points of information which can be checked by the public.

Community Development funds generate other state and federal dollars for the town of Manchester.

Examples of this are: Charter Oak Project, $75,000, will generate $75,000 in matching federal dollars from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation; Cheney Mills Study, $23,000, is being matched with $23,000, in Historic Preservation Money. Nathan Lake Playground, $25,000, was matched with $25,000 in Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funds.

The Community Development Block Grant program is this town's only means of providing requested services to its citizens, playground repairs, downtown revitalization, sidewalk and sewer projects in the downtown area, a new senior citizen center, etc., without placing additional tax burdens on its taxpayers.

To date 109 housing units in 92 buildings have been or are being rehabilitated. If Manchester rejects future participation in the CDBG program, what will happen to deteriorating housing stock in Manchester?

Fourth-year CDBG funding includes money for a downtown staff coordinator working out of the town planner's office. Continued funding for this coordinator is scheduled to come out of fifth year funds.

Main street improvements are scheduled to come out of sixth and seventh year funds. Sidewalk improvements in the downtown area are scheduled to come out of fifth, sixth and seventh year funds.

Where are the taxpayers of Manchester going to get the revenue to continue such worthwhile projects, if we pull out of the Block Grant Program.

On the evening of Nov. 28, 1978, the Board of Directors were faced with a decision of whether or not to allocate $20,000 in fourth year CDBG funds for a fair housing program. A negative vote would have lost Manchester the fourth year funds.

The only directors who can say that their votes obtained the fourth year funds for the senior citizens center at Green School, Charter Oak Park improvements, playground equipment for handicapped individuals etc., are the six Democratic directors and Republican director Bill Diana. Item 10, on the agenda records a vote of 7-2.

Should the town of Manchester refuse to enter into the fifth and sixth year Community Development Block Grant programs, then all administrative costs for the program would be halted as of June 20, 1979.

If the town wished to "tap" any unused fourth year monies, then the town would have to pay for one year's administrative costs of running the block grant program, which would run the taxpayers approximately $65,000.

Without this funding, the town could not use the remainder of fourth year funds for a number of programs. I pose the following question: If the voters request a two-year moratorium, would a director be justified in voting for the use of some $65,000 in town monies so that unused fourth year funds could be used?

There are many other facets concerning the Community Development Block Grant program which citizens need to become informed about.

I urge them to explore the issues for themselves and to avoid listening to rumors and half-truths.

I also urge church and civic organizations to provide "bi-partisan" public information programs for their membership and the citizenry at large on this important issue of continuance in the CDBG program. I earnestly hope that the voice of reason still prevails in Manchester.

Jack Anderson Plea Issued To Venezuelan Kidnappers

WASHINGTON — We have an urgent message for the kidnapers of William Niehaus, the Owens-Illinois executive who was seized at gunpoint in his Caracas home by Venezuelan guerrillas three years ago.

The message is this: do not let the recent killing of Pedro Celestino Galucian, known among the guerrillas as "Comandante Torqueque," keep you from contacting us again to arrange Niehaus' ransom and release.

Galucian, a reputed guerrilla leader, died in a shootout with Venezuelan police a few months ago. In his body, say our sources, they found a snapshot of Niehaus' three sons at their Caracas swimming pool taken years ago. The dead man could have obtained the snapshot only from Niehaus.

We have received no word from the kidnapers since that shooting, and it's possible they feel the need of reassurance from us. We want the guerrillas to know that we are still willing to go anywhere in the world to meet with their representatives, and that we act independently of the Venezuelan and United States governments — or, for that matter, the Owens-Illinois company.

Our only contact in this matter is Donna Niehaus, who with her three sons waits in never-ending anxiety at their home in Ohio, hoping for word of her husband and praying for his safe release.

We reported in earlier columns how the guerrillas' attempts to contact Owens-Illinois to negotiate Niehaus' ransom were thwarted by mischance. After reading our accounts, the kidnapers secretly contacted us to ask if we were willing to become part of the negotiations.

Assured that we were willing, the guerrillas recently provided us with solid proof that Niehaus was still alive as recently as last May 8.

We believe the 48-year-old American businessman is still alive; we hope the kidnapers will overcome their suspicions and renew their contact with us. We will resume negotiations on their terms, and meet them at a time and place of their choosing.

FORGOTTEN HERO: Mrs. Harry James Carr Jr. is a proud Gold Star mother who wants to honor the memory of her oldest son, Lt. J.G.G. Edward Dean Brown Jr. in her own way.

But is not the way of the Veterans Administration, which refuses to unbend. As a result, Mrs. Carr will not get the free memorial plaque to which she's entitled, and will wind up paying $150 to commemorate her son in the way she wishes.

The son, a 25-year-old Navy flyer, was hit by Viet Cong ground fire in July 1965, and his Crusader jet exploded in flames. No remains were found.

Under VA rules, his mother could obtain a free memorial marker — but only to be placed in a national, local or private cemetery. "There is no authority under which a memorial marker may be furnished for installation outside of these areas," the VA advised Mrs. Carr.

What Mrs. Carr wanted was to have a memorial marker placed on the wall of the ROTC building at Notre Dame, her son's alma mater. She rejected the VA's offer to provide a marker for a cemetery on the South Bend campus where faculty members and special students are buried.

It makes no sense to have a memorial over an empty grave," she explained to us. "It would be a hollow gesture without any meaning. I know they have to have rules, but I'm not going to desecrate the honor I'm trying to pay to the memory of my son."

From what we learned from one VA source, Mrs. Carr's only mistake was letting the agency know what she planned to do with the memorial marker. This source said the VA sends out the markers by the thousands, and never checks whether the cemetery-only rule is observed.

CONGRESSIONAL SECURITY: We recently received a letter from Nicaraguan guerrillas, threatening the life of Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. We notified police who rushed a bomb squad to Washington's National Airport. Murphy was in Nicaragua at the time, and they wanted to "sweep" his parked car for possible explosives. The guard had apparently gone to dinner; the plainclothes policemen focused a spotlight on Murphy's Mercedes and worked on it for a full 40 minutes without a solitary soul asking what they were up to.

Weekend Blaze Fatal To Former Residents

EAST HARTFORD — Walter J. Mugford, 55, and his wife, Margaret, 55, formerly of East Hartford, died Saturday night when a multiple alarm fire hit their East Hampton home.

East Hampton Fire Chief Phillip Viscintainer said the blaze originated in or around a wood-burning stove. The state fire marshal has been called to investigate the blaze. Viscintainer said, although the cause did not appear to be suspicious.

A bedroom was found on the floor of a bedroom in their one-story Mohagan Trail home after the fire was extinguished, fire officials said.

Autopsies performed Sunday attributed the primary cause of both deaths to asphyxiation, and secondary causes to carbon monoxide poisoning and smoke inhalation, officials said.

Mr. and Mrs. Mugford had lived in East Hartford before moving to East Hampton 11 years ago. They were building, some of them women and children.

Two revolutionary guards stood with guns at the doorway, idly watching the looters carting off typewriters, camera projectors, car tires and copy machine paper.

There was no great damage to the building visible from the outside.

Iran radio said tens of thousands of gun-wielding youths raced around the capital shouting wildly and firing into the air.

Several hundred armed Khomeini supporters burst into the Inter-Continental Hotel where most of the foreign reporters covering the revolution are staying. They told UPI reporter Arthur Hightower they were "Islamic police guarding against the possibility of an army takeover."

The gunmen were still in the hotel about an hour after entering it, but were allowing guests to enter and leave the building.

A communique from Khomeini's headquarters ordered all civilian gunmen to hand in their weapons, most of which were seized in raids on weapons depots Sunday, to military and police bases around Tehran.

Tehran's International airport was guarded by less than a dozen gun-wielding marshals of Khomeini's forces, but the airport was completely deserted.

There was no indication of when it would reopen.

Khomeini's forces also closed all border checkpoints and warned security guards to "watch against known corrupt elements from fleeing the country with money and valuables."

The radio, now controlled by Khomeini forces, said earlier reports that Americans were fighting beside the Iranian guards were "fortunately not true."

The reports of American involvement in the fighting had caused alarm among Westerners, who braced for a violent backlash by Khomeini forces.

The Defense Department said Sunday it is preparing for the evacuation of the 7,000 Americans still in Iran. A spokesman said all Americans in Iran were safe but advised them to stay indoors.

Radio Iran reported clashes in several other cities of the country and said 150 people were killed in a shooting Sunday between Iranian troops and pro-Khomeini forces in Tabriz, capital of the west Iranian province of East Azerbaijan.

Alien Traffic Increases, Solution Not Yet Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The estimate of illegal aliens moving into the United States from Mexico has reached the neighborhood of half a million or more each year, and neither country has found a way to stop the flow.

The perennial problem is certain to be high on the agenda in President Carter's meetings this week with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo.

But administration officials warn the talks are unlikely to produce any instant miracles in the way of solutions.

They say Carter hopes to soothe any hard feelings remaining from 1977, when he proposed — without consulting the Mexican government — that Congress enact a law to penalize U.S. firms that knowingly employ illegal immigrants from Mexico.

Officials believe it was partly due to Mexico's irritation that this proposal died in the 96th Congress. They say the administration probably will reintroduce it this year if Carter's diplomacy this week is successful.

But the officials say Carter is not prepared to make concessions on the issue of illegal aliens.

He believes the main reason as many as half a million indigent Mexicans steal across the 2,000-mile border each year is a lack of job opportunities at home.

They are searching for "a better life," Carter believes, and hopes to nudge his Mexican counterpart to provide programs designed to improve the job possibilities for the people at home.

Carter, officials say, wants to continue efforts to prevent illegal border crossings and to crack down on smugglers, who charge Mexicans a fee for a trip into the United States.

"But the border is so long and so difficult to patrol effectively," said one White House aide, "that if the only thing you did in terms of trying to control illegal immigration was to attempt to put more border patrolmen, you would never be able to control it."

The total number of illegal aliens in the United States has multiplied so

Favorite Player

Every sports buff has a particular favorite player on teams of his choice.

This corner's particular "favorite" is the New England Whalers' Dave Keon, the 28-year-old veteran with the 21-year-old legs.

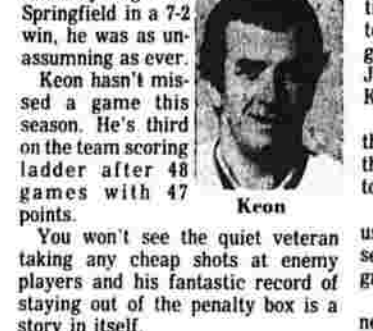

I have yet to see the 5-9, 167-pound center have a bad game in six years in the World Hockey Association, the first three in enemy colors — Minnesota and Indianapolis — and the last three in the green and white of the Whalers.

He's by far the most consistent player with the club and when he tallied his first hat-trick — three-goal performance — against Winnipeg last Saturday night at Springfield in a 7-2 win, he was so unassuming as ever.

Keon hasn't missed a game this season. He's third on the team scoring ladder after 48 games with 47 points.

You won't see the quiet veteran play any cheap shots at enemy players and his fantastic record of staying out of the penalty box is a story in itself.

When Keon gets whistled off the ice for an infraction, it's unique. To date, he's spent but two minutes in the box, this figure being the total he accumulated in 78 games last year when he won the league's "Most Gentlemenly Award" for the second straight season.

In six WHA seasons, he has picked up just 20 penalty minutes.

Keon is a super penalty killer, a crafty stickhandler and a guy you can count on to go all out every minute he's on the ice.

For 15 years he plied his trade with Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League while playing with six Stanley Cup winners.

Stingers End Whaler Skein

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Stingers defeated the New England Whalers 5-2 Sunday afternoon on the strength of a fine goaltending performance from Mike Liut.

Jamie Hislop, Bryon Shutt, Peter Marsh and Michel Pearnizeau provided Cincinnati with a 4-0 lead goal for argument when the three-star game selections are made, but no one could disagree with the choice against the Jets last Saturday night. Keon won by a landslide.

It's a true professional and he never has to offer any alibi about his performance for not going all out.

Green Snaps Slump With Hawaii Win

HONOLULU (UPI) — Hubert Green has won only one major title in nine years — the 1977 U.S. Open — and obviously he's like to win a few more, but he's in no hurry.

"The only tournament I'm worried about right now," he said, after winning the $300,000 Hawaiian Open Sunday for the second straight year, "is this week's tournament, which is the Tucson Open."

Green was near perfect in the Hawaiian Open on a course deep in water and probably unplayable Sunday. The last half dozen threesomes in the final round ploughed through a driving rainstorm accompanied at times by winds of nearly 40 mph.

Green managed a final round 68 for a 72-hole score of 21-under-par 267, a tournament record. He went 69 holes before making his first bogey.

In the Bob Hope Tournament, Green failed to make the cut and in the Bing Crosby Tournament he finished in a tie for 54th. Coming here he had failed to break par in eight rounds and poor putting was the reason. So Green worked about a dozen hours on the practice green.

He did with $54,000 and his 15th career victory. His career earnings now stand at $1,197,789 and the Hawaiian victory pushed him ahead of Johnny Miller into 12th place on the all-time list.

NHL Stars Red-Faced, Soviets Score Shutout

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Soviet Union staked its temporary claim at being No. 1 in Canada's national sport Sunday night, and the National Hockey League All-Stars were offering no alibis.

"We have no excuses," said NHL captain Bobby Clarke after the Soviets had trounced his team 6-0 to win the Challenge Cup two games to one and take the unofficial world championship of hockey. "When you get beat 6-0 you don't have an excuse for nothing. We just got out batted kicked."

They're in much better condition than we are," General Manager Bill Torrey said.

The Soviets dominated this series over the first two games, winning 5-4 Saturday — while clearly outplaying the NHL — and then coming back for the decisive win Sunday behind the goaltending of little Vladimir Myshkin, a 23-year-old angelic type who stands only 5-foot-7 and weighs 157 pounds.

Myshkin replaced Vladislav Tretjak in the Russian net after a shaky Tretjak performance in Saturday's game. But Sunday the Soviets denied the NHL, many good scoring chances.

Myshkin, who showed little during earlier workouts, is a confident sort who actually expressed disappointment at not being more severely tested.

"I felt I deserved a chance to play in this series," said Myshkin, who plays for the Soviet Wings. "I was very excited when the coach came to me and told me I would play. The NHL didn't shoot as well as I thought with the NHL Stars trying to play physically throughout. At one point, Russian official Valentin Sytch threatened to pull his team off the ice following an incident in front of the Soviet net in which Bryan Trottier knocked down Myshkin and both players received penalties.

Scotty Bowman, who as coach of the Montreal Canadiens and isn't used to losing, joined his teammates in refusing to alibi.

"I have no excuses," Bowman said. "We prepared our team to the best of our ability. I don't have one excuse at all that we could have done better under any other circumstances or conditions."

The future of this series is uncertain at this time. The NHL players all said they'd like another shot at the Soviets, but for now must be content in getting back to the regular NHL schedule, which resumes tonight.

Connors Confused In Losing to Borg

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI) — Jimmy Connors tried everything, but nothing worked against Bjorn Borg's accuracy from the baseline Sunday.

"I think he (Connors) didn't know exactly what to do," said Borg after his 6-2, 6-3 win in the finals of the $300,000 Grand Slam of Tennis.

He was trying high ones and drop shots and coming in, and he didn't know what to do," Borg said.

Borg returned Connors' "high ones" with his own "high ones," ranked fourth in the world, placed in the third-rated Vitas, 6-4, 6-2, to collect $45,000 in prize money in tennis' richest event. Vitas made $30,000 for losing two matches, and Connors earned $75,000.

Baker Wins Pole For Daytona 500

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Winning the pole position for next Sunday's Daytona 500 was a "picnic," said Buddy Baker, a driver obsessed with winning stock car racing's most prestigious event.

A record lap speed of 196.049 mph Sunday put Baker on the pole. Donnie Allison ran his fastest lap at 194.889 for the No. 2 position in the $500,000 Daytona 500.

"That's the race I've wanted more than any other," said Baker, who has gone without a win for 69 races and two years. "To me, because I've been so close, so many times, I guess it's become an obsession. I just have to win that race."

"It's exciting to be back in the thick of things," he added. "It's like going to a picnic again after a long absence."

The soft-spoken Charlotte, N.C., driver also won $50,000 by reaching the finish line first in the 50-mile Busch Clash. He averaged 194.24 mph in the race that pitted him against eight other pole winners of 1978.

Baker's victories were overshadowed by the spectacular performance of Kyle Petty, 18, who won the ARCA 200-mile race. He proved himself an aggressive driver — although it was his first race behind the wheel.

"You don't really feel the strain in four or five laps of practice," said young Petty, who is wearing a jacket in his father's old uniforms for luck. "But 80 laps ... that's different."

Eagle Icemen Rally To Trim Maloney

Coming from behind, East Catholic trimmed Maloney High, 9-3, in ice hockey action last Saturday night at the Bolton Ice Palace.

The Eagle skaters, now 8-3 in CIAC competition and 11-3 overall, will face cross-town Manchester High Saturday night at the Ice Palace at 8:30. There will be a pre-game meal between the East jayvees and the Manchester Youth Hockey Midgets.

John Fontaine and Pete Landry tallied for Maloney in the first period for a 2-0 lead. East, however, struck quickly at the outset of the second session with Kurt Peterson tallying twice in a 27-second span. The scores were Peterson's 14th and 15th of the season.

Peter LaBelle put East in front with his third goal of the year at 10:19 as he fired the puck past screened Spartan goalie Mike D'Auria.

East broke it open with a six-goal final period. Gerry King tallied the three-goal hat trick giving him 15 for the year with Matt Tobin (16), Rob White (6) and LaBelle (4) also finding the back of the twine.

East countered for Maloney. East outshot the visitors, 33-22, with Scott Mosher and Scott Howat sharing the netminding chores for the Eagles.

Jim Marshall A's Manager

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jim Marshall, who managed the Chicago Cubs for three seasons and was three-time Minor League Manager of the Year, will pilot the Oakland A's in 1979.

Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley paused Sunday in his efforts to sell the team long enough to name Marshall, 47, to the job. He noted that what spring training scheduled to start in less than two weeks he could not wait any longer to choose a pilot.

Marshall, former major league and outfielder, managed the A's Vancouver team last year. He replaces Jack McKeon, fired by Finley at the end of last season.

Marshall, who managed the Cubs from 1974-76, was given a one-year contract.

Marshall received minor league accolades as manager at Tacoma in the Pacific Coast League in 1971, at Wichita of the American Association in 1972, and in 1977 at Denver, also of the American Association. He guided Vancouver to a second-place finish last season.

Colleges Hit By Measles

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Rhode Island's measles outbreak has hit the state's college campuses with one confirmed case at Brown University and another suspected one at the University of Rhode Island.

State health officials over the weekend set the total number of confirmed cases at 70. Twenty more suspected cases are being studied, including the URI student, officials said.

Robert A. Reichley, Brown's vice president for university relations, Saturday said an 18-year-old unidentified rown student living in a campus dormitory had contracted the contagious disease.

State officials continued to ask all schools to ban students starting Monday in kindergarten through 9th grade and to prove they were immunized against the contagious disease.

The Ivy League school has obtained 500 doses of vaccine, which it will administer to students starting today, Reichley said. Dispensing the vaccine is a "precautionary measure," he said.

State Epidemiologist Dr. Gerald Faich said the state is adequately prepared to deal with any outbreaks on college campuses, should they occur. But he said the schools should be able to deal with their own campus outbreaks.

"We stand ready to help college medical staff to put together a program," Faich said, "but we are not ready to mobilize the troops and come out and do it for them."

Most adults, over the age of 21, have at some point contracted the disease, if only in a mild form and therefore don't require measles shots, Faich said. But people between 18 and 21, the so-called "swing group" should get shots, he added.

Notre Dame Upset Loser

NEW YORK (UPI) - UCLA Coach Gary Cunningham knew just how difficult it was.

Bruin freshman Tyren Nauls hit four pressure free throws in the closing 13 seconds Sunday and third-ranked UCLA came away with a 56-52 upset of top-ranked Notre Dame.

"For a freshman, Nauls was put in a most difficult situation, and to step up and coolly make four free throws was a great achievement," Cunningham said.

Notre Dame hit a cold spell that let UCLA back into the game, as the Bruins rebounded off six straight points to take a 44-40 lead with 5:41 remaining.

With the crowd of 11,345 at the Athletic and Convocation Center, the freshman went to work.

Nauls, who scored only 6 points for the game, hit both ends of a one-and-one with 15 seconds left, giving UCLA, 83, a 54-50 lead.

Notre Dame's Tracy Jackson, who scored 11 points, hit a layup with seven seconds remaining to cut the gap to 54-52.

Notre Dame, 17-3, then fouled Nauls again and the freshman sank two more free throws to lock it up and help UCLA end a three-game losing streak against the Fighting Irish, who also saw their 15-game, homecourt winning streak snapped.

Saturday night, All-America forward Larry Bird was held to only 4 points, and Carl Nicks of second-ranked Indiana State scored 31 points to lead the unbeaten Sycamores to a 91-72 triumph over Bradley.

Steve Reed added 19 points for the Sycamores, 22-9 overall, who will be in contention with No. 3 UCLA for the top spot in this week's poll.

Anderson paced Bradley with 30 points.

N. Duke and No. 5 Louisville were Saturday's big upset victims. The Blue Devils were shocked by Pittsburgh 71-69 and Louisville fell to No. 8 Marquette 71-55.

Eaglettes Off Mark And South Triumphs

Shooting a dismal 28 percent from the floor, East Catholic dropped a 49-36 decision to arch-rival South Catholic in a key HCC girls' basketball clash Saturday night in Hartford.

South finishes 9-1 in the conference, while East capped its regular season campaign at 7-3 in the HCC and 13-4 overall.

South enjoyed an 11-4 lead after one quarter and 12-8 at the half. East warmed up a little bit in the third stanza, pulling within three points, but could never get any closer.

Nancy Zazzaro paced the Rebels with 18 points followed by Karen Byrne (13) and Sharon Busch (10).

Monica Murphy had 10 points to pace the cold-shooting Eaglettes.

South also took the jayvee contest, 30-19. Fiona Campbell had 9 markers for the young Eaglettes.

Next action for East and South will be Thursday night in the HCC playoff.

Solid UConn Effort Too Much for UMass

Not 22, not 29, but 40 solid minutes of basketball was turned in by UConn as it notched an impressive 79-59 win over the University of Massachusetts Saturday night before a sellout crowd at the Field House.

The contest was the final preparation for the Huskies, which is off in a row, prior to their important New England match-up with the University of Rhode Island Tuesday night at the Providence Civic Center.

You could tell Connecticut, 16-6, was ready to play from the outset by the accustomed furrowed brow of head coach Dan Perno, who was expected to play in the pros with the Boston Celtics.

Auerbach said he did not know all details of the trade for McAdoo, a 6-foot-9 forward because it had been worked out by Celtics owners John W. Brown and Harry Mangurian Jr. No news conference was scheduled for today.

Auerbach would not confirm a New York Times report that the trade would include Celtics forward-center Tom Barkley, who was signed last week by Boston to a long-term contract.

Brown, Knick's owner Sonny Werblin and New York President Mike Burke were unavailable for comment.

McAdoo, 27, broke into the league in 1973 with Buffalo. He was named rookie of the year then won three straight scoring titles with the Braves and won the MVP award in 1974-5.

Both teams used four pitchers in the exhibition contest, with the Trojans collecting four singles off Dave Patterson, Paul Binn, Tim Terry, Steve Henry, and Charlie Hough. The Dodgers were limited to five hits.

Celtics Obtain Ex-Point King

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Boston Celtics have obtained three-time NBA scoring champion Bob McAdoo of the New York Knicks for three 1979 first-round draft choices.

Celtics' General Manager Red Auerbach said in a telephone interview from his Washington D.C. home early today that Celtics and Knicks' management worked out the trade in a home-and-home series between the Golden State Warriors and Seattle SuperSonics.

"You don't often get a chance for a McAdoo," Auerbach said, when asked if the trade coincided with the Celtics' several deals this year in hopes of rebuilding the 13-time NBA championship team.

The Celtics apparently feel they can afford to lose the draft choices, since they have drafted All-American Larry Bird and he is expected to play in the pros with their next year.

Auerbach said he did not know all details of the trade for McAdoo, a 6-foot-9 forward because it had been worked out by Celtics owners John W. Brown and Harry Mangurian Jr. No news conference was scheduled for today.

76ers Impressive Outsourcing Bullets

NEW YORK (UPI) - Listening to Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham, one would think he attaches great significance to the 76ers' 107-99 victory over the Atlantic Division-leading Washington Bullets Sunday.

"I have a great deal of confidence in this team," he said. "There's some doubt sometimes. We have our share of peaks and valleys, but if we play at the level we did today, especially on defense, that's the key to the playoffs."

Darryl Dawkins, starting in place of injured forward Julius Erving, scored 24 points and Eric Money, whom Philadelphia obtained in a trade to replace injured All-Star guard Doug Collins, clipped in with 15 as the 76ers cut the Bullets' lead to four games. Collins will undergo foot surgery today that will sideline him for the rest of the regular season.

The 6-foot-11 Dawkins, starting up front with 7-foot-1 Caldwell Jones, scored the outside in his liking. He scored four shots from 20 feet out in a 13-point third quarter that helped the Sixers build an 84-67 lead, which was needed to withstand a fourth-quarter Washington rally that cut the margin to six.

Money, acquired last Wednesday from the New Jersey Nets, dazzled the crowd with his quickness in the second quarter. The 6-foot guard shot 6-for-7 for 13 points and handed off when Philadelphia took a 45-45 lead.

In other games, Boston edged New York 107-102, Indiana mugged Chicago 110-108, Milwaukee bombed Denver 126-87, New Jersey defeated San Diego 104-99, Phoenix routed Cleveland 136-101, San Antonio beat Golden State 125-107, Kansas City got by Los Angeles 104-103 and Portland beat Atlanta 91-87.

Parvex 110, Bulls 108

Sixier Bucks hit 20 of his game-high 25 points in the first half and Ricky Sobers added 20 as Indiana snapped a three-game losing streak. Artis Gilmore had 20 for Chicago and Mickey Johnson added 18.

Hawk 126, Nuggets 87

Junior Bridgeman scored 20 points. Play with second quarter and 100-100 on two free throws with 31 seconds to go.

Trail Blazers 91, Hawks 87

Maurice Lucas and Mychal Thompson scored consecutive baskets in the last minute to lift Portland over Atlanta. Lucas, who had 24 points, scored with a minute to go to put Portland up 85-84, and Thompson followed with a layup 16 seconds later as the Trail Blazers rolled to their seventh straight home victory.

State Wants School Open

ASHFORD (UPI) — The state is going to court Tuesday to seek an injunction to keep Ashford's only public school from closing because of budget difficulties. The school board Thursday voted to shut down the 60-student school after town officials ordered it not to exceed last year's spending levels until residents approve a fiscal 1978-1979 budget. Bernard McGovern, assistant state attorney general for education, said the state will seek a show cause hearing in Hartford Superior Court ordering the town to explain why the school can't stay open the 180 days required under state law. Ashford School Board Chairman Robert W. Shortreed said he hoped a state judge would order the town to provide a sufficient budget so the town's only school can remain open without operating like a "prison."

Automobile Revolt Sought

DETROIT (UPI) — Transportation Secretary Brock Adams wants another American revolution to begin this week in Boston — this time to overthrow the status quo in automotive engineering. Adams has summoned the nation's top automotive experts to open an "all-out search" for a revolutionary, fuel-conserving car for the 1990s. The goal of his initiative is to find a new power plant that will ease reliance on gasoline, which experts say may reach $1 a gallon in the country this year. The unique two-day conference starting Tuesday will serve as the technical springboard for an automotive summit meeting in Washington this spring. Adams called for the summit during a recent Detroit speech in which he accused the automakers of taking a "paternalistic" approach to improving fuel economy. He hinted tough federal mandates for fuel economy during 1985 may be just the beginning and challenged the industry to "re-invent the car" by the 1990s. "We must intensify our efforts to develop a new engine to power our cars," Adams said, noting the nation's growing dependence on declining world petroleum supplies. "I have asked the industry to join us in an all-out search for the engine and the car of the future," he said. The auto companies have produced smaller, lighter cars in recent years to meet federal mileage standards. Their work on power sources has been largely limited to refinements of traditional internal combustion engines. Adams invited 500 specialists to Boston, including automotive and oil industry engineers and technicians, independent researchers, consumer advocates, en-

Montrealer Said Waste

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — The Amtrak "Montrealer" train through Vermont is a waste of money and a waste of energy, says a government official who backs elimination of the route. William Harsch, an official of the U.S. Transportation Department, said in an interview published Sunday, it would be more efficient for Vermonters and tourists to switch to bus transportation. "There is direct bus service that's just as easy and just as economical," Harsch said. The Transportation Department has said it will eliminate the Montrealer run, along with 40 per cent of Amtrak's nationwide rail service, on Oct. 1, unless Congress intervenes. Rep. James Jeffords, R-Vt., already has introduced a resolution that would veto the plan. Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., has said he will introduce similar legislation in the Senate. Harsch said the Montrealer often runs half empty, causing what he called "an obscene waste of money." "There is nothing less efficient than a half-empty train," Harsch said. He disagreed with critics who said elimination of the train would hurt the state's tourist industry and rural Vermonters who depend on it for transportation. He said figures show that while thousands of travelers get off the train at other points in its

Lettuce Pickets Removed

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI) — Rows and rows of lettuce ready for harvest have been left unpicked and Cesar Chavez has removed his pickets. Fearing more bloodshed following Saturday's killing of a young striker, the president of the United Farm Workers of America moved in personally to plead with 2,000 farm workers angered over the shooting. Chavez asked for peace. Growers asked for the National Guard. Grower spokesman Tom Hubbard sent a telegram to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., requesting National Guard troops to prevent further violence in the 25-day lettuce strike. There was no response from the governor's office. But Sheriff Ben Clark of Riverside County said he had sent 21 of his deputies with support vehicles and a riot control truck at the request of Imperial County Sheriff Oren Fox. The tensions grew from the slaying of Rufino Contreras, 28, of Mexicali, who was shot just below the eye with a .38 caliber bullet in the field belonging to grower Mario Sakibon. Three unidentified Salkeem employees were booked on murder charges and two were released a short time later on $7,000 bail each.

Peopletalk New Lucy Makes Debut

There were more stars in the audience than there were on the stage Sunday night, which isn't surprising, since Neil Simon's new musical, "They're Playing Our Song," has only two characters. Costars were Robert Klein and Lucy Arnaz, who made her Broadway debut while the other Lucy — Lucille Ball, her mother, cheered her on. The show is autobiographical — the love story of composer Marvin Hamlisch and lyricist Carole Bayer Sager who wrote it and now are rumored ready to tie the knot. In a rare Broadway gamble, Neil Bogart of Casablanca Records pressed the cast album a month ahead of opening night, with Johnny Mathis on the vocal. A disco release follows, with Tony Orlando. The gamble is rare because if a show bombs, so does the album. Billy Boss Out Several months ago, Gerald Raishoon — President Carter's image-maker — shot down an appearance by Midge Costanza on "Good Morning America," but he says he had nothing to do with Billy Carrier backing out of a Sunday appearance on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation." A spokesman admits Raishoon was "disappointed and quite upset" about boisterous Billy's impending appearance on the tube — that an aide called the network and told them so. But Billy apparently defected quietly to avoid tough questions about money and his Libyan friends. These questions were to have been asked by CBS correspondent George Herman, CBS investigative reporter Bob Schakne and UPI's Helen Thomas. Passport Plea Daredevil Evel Knievel wants Santa Monica, Calif., Superior Court Judge Edward Halcedite to reduce his felony conviction to a misdemeanor so he can risk his neck in Australia. Seems Australian authorities are still-necked about people with felonies on their records and won't let them enter the country. Knievel is serving three years probation, imposed by Raledice, for the 1977 baseball bat battery of his former publicity agent, Sheldon Saltzman. Michelle's Attorney, Marvin Mitchell, brought her home from the hospital — says she is in pain but convinced her honor on the point will be vindicated. HARTFORD (UPI) - Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., says one of the nation's biggest energy problems is President Carter's Energy Secretary, James Schlesinger, and said things would be easier if he quit.

Moffett said Schlesinger is "never really sure of Carter's position" on many issues, including energy. "There is some really deep and hard-felt resentment against Schlesinger in the White House," said the Sixth-District Democrat.

Moffett charged the president has abandoned the Northeast on skyrocketing home heating oil costs and now must propose controls to deal with the issue or other necessities, such as gasoline and food.

"In the Northeast, we're seeing people forced to choose between the basic necessities - between heating and eating," he said Saturday.

Moffett added that the overall wholesale price rise continues at January's rate of 1.3 percent, food prices will soar 21 percent by the end of the year, heating oil by 17 percent and gasoline by a "staggering" 38 percent.

Moffett said he will seek price controls on costs at the refinery level, which also would give Americans their first real look into the operations of the oil companies and their supplies and profits.

Council To Eye Petitions

SOUTH WINDSOR - The Town Council will hold a work session Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the caucus room of Town Hall.

The petition called for an increased emphasis by the Town Council on the needs of the town's young people.

The petition said that efforts to curtail the drinking and smoking of "pot" should be in the form of added activities for the town's youth and places for them to meet.

The petition also asked the council to consider the possibility of providing a place for the young people to ride minibikes.

Town Manager Allan Young said that both he and the council were aware of the needs of youth in South Windsor and efforts were under way to fulfill some of the needs in the near future.

He said that the landfill area on Strong Road was a consideration as far as a place for the riding of minibikes, however, Young said that it was not sure of the town's insurance coverage regarding such activities.

The council passes an ordinance last year banning the riding of minibikes on public and private property following the complaints of numerous citizens regarding property damage and noise.

Residents said that they feared reconstruction of the two roadways would encourage commuters and trucks from the J.C. Penney Warehouse to use the residential streets. Residents said that the resulting traffic would have an adverse effect on the property value of their homes.

Some council members feel that funds slated for the reconstruction of one of the two streets may be transferred to an industrial by-pass road which would run in the direction away from the residential area.

The J.C. Penney Advisory Committee concluded that the by-pass road would be most advantageous and said "only minimal alterations should be made on Pleasant Valley and Chapel roads.

Also included on the work session agenda will be discussion of the elderly sewer assessment ordinance, a mass transit ordinance, a recycling study committee interim report by Larry Brown, the Management by Objectives final report by Councilman Richard Ryan, and the status of the Avery Street Dam project.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing Tuesday to consider the two applications.

R & D Realty Inc. is asking for a zone change from AA-30 to A-30 on 2.5 acres owned by U & R Housing Corp. on the south side of the Dart Hill Road and the east side of Ellington Road.

Martin F. McGrath, 1 East Lane, Bloomfield, is asking for a zone change. From restricted office to general commercial on about 10 acres on 10 acres on the west side of John Fitch Boulevard about one-half mile south of the intersection of John Fitch Boulevard and Sullivan Avenue.

In other business, the commission has voted to approve, with conditions, the applications of RSK Contractors for a residential subdivision on four lots on land located near the intersection of Lake Street and Dorla Lane in an AA-30 zone.

Elman's Budget Up 8.5%

COVENTRY - School Superintendent Arnold Elman has proposed a budget of $3,281,784 to the Board of Education for fiscal year 1979-80. It is up 8.5 percent from this year's budget.

No new programs are provided for in the proposal, Elman said, although building maintenance funds have been increased. Pay hikes for professional and other staff account for most of the increase, according to the superintendent.

If the board accepts Elman's budget, it would bring a proposal to the council for a 1.9-mill increase to cover educational costs. Elman said the increase would be offset by state grants through guaranteed tax base (GTB) funding.

Hebron Educators Cut 1979-80 Spending Plan

HEBRON - Members of the Board of Education voted to reduce their proposed budget for the 1979-80 school year by $13,442, which brought the total to $1,206,627 or an increase of 9.8 percent over the previous year's appropriation, during their meeting Thursday.

Accounts which were reduced were the teacher salaries account, $2,552; one-half custodial position, $2,592.48; assemblies, $500; field trips, $400; printing student handbooks, $500; library books, $1,000; swish and split supplies, $25.

During the kphial presentation of the board's budget, the members of the board by consensus had directed the administration to reduce the proposed budget which showed an increase of 16.7 percent over the previous year to 9 percent. However, the board has scheduled continued action and review of the budget during a special meeting Feb. 15.

Board chairman Joseph Pelletier asked Casey McPartland, clerk of the Board of Finance and representative to the Board of Education, during its budget deliberations for his opinion. McPartland said he would like to see the Board of Education return to the General Fund.

That when he had talked with other members of the Board of Finance that they had seemed to say that they would like to have the Board of Education return to the General Fund.

Pelletier also said that on paper he would like to give the surplus back to the
