Merit Science Works!

Low tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco delivers taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar brands.

The 'Enriched Flavor' science of low tar MERIT, 12 years in the making, isolates and fortifies flavor components of smoke for a taste way out of proportion to tar. Can that taste satisfy the toughest critics of low tar smoking—current smokers of high tar cigarettes?

Read the results from a detailed, nationwide research effort involving smokers who taste-tested MERIT against leading high tar brands.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

And in interviews conducted among current

MERIT smokers:

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT science has produced what it claims: The first real taste alternative for high tar smokers.

Iranians Seize Embassy

Nearer They Come

Nearer and nearer they come, was the way the town's band of volunteer Washington's Volunteer Army, in a leaky wheelbarrow that may get them to Downtown Washington just in time (before sinking) to the street with the mostest, the one and only downtown Washington's Birthday Sale. This TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Leftist guerrillas captured the American Embassy today in a two-hour gun-battle with 19 U.S. Marines and held Ambassador William Sullivan, 70 Americans and 70 Iranian employees and staff until they were freed by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Moslem marshals.

It's been an interesting Valentine's Day," Sullivan said after his release. "You win a few, you lose a lot of stuff lately."

Two Marines were slightly wounded in the battle and an Iranian employee of the embassy was killed. Two of the attackers were shot to death as they poured into the embassy grounds over the walls by the hundreds, tore down the U.S. flag and wrecked the embassy.

The marauders, described by the Khomenei forces as "Communists," arrived with Molotov cocktails in what witnesses said was an effort to burn down the embassy in a move to "purge" Iran of all American influence.

American officials said all of the attackers were captured or evicted by Khomenei forces and that the Americans were leaving the embassy for their homes. But as dusk fell hundreds of persons still were crouching on nearby rooftops and government marshals said they feared a night-time attack on the embassy.

"Who knows what's going to happen from here," political officer Miles Green, the first American released from the compound said. "They've wrecked everything."

"We lost communication with Washington about 11 a.m.," Green said. "We've been linking with Washington since through the British."

The pro-Khomeini forces immediately threw an armed cordon around the British embassy nearby to stop any repeat attack on that compound.

Asked if the Americans had destroyed all sensitive documents before the guerrillas seized control, Green said, "We've been burning a lot of stuff lately."

UPI photographer Tom Karges, who entered the compound with the guerrillas, said Sullivan and several other hostages were struck by their captors, who ransacked the embassy before they withdrew under urging of Khomenei's forces, who rushed to the scene in Jeeps.

Thousands of hostile Iranians watched as the guerrillas advanced despite a barrage of teargas and rifle fire laid down by the U.S. Marine guards. They said the guerrillas were seeking members of the shah's now disbanded secret police, SAVAK, thought to have taken refuge in the embassy.

UPI reporter Arthur Higbee, in the crowd of onlookers, said the mob yelled "down with the CIA" and "down with America!" He said the crowd was so hostile "at one point I thought I was going to be lynched."

Khomeini was unable to prevent the overthrowing of the embassy, but once the Americans were released, the building and adjoining compound were put under the guard of Khomenei loyalists. The Americans and 70 Iranian employees remained inside.

U.S. Embassy officials in the compound said "all of the left-wing attackers have now left or been captured" by the Khomenei forces.

U.S. Envoy Slain in Afghanistan

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador to Afghanistan Adolf Dubs was kidnapped in Kabul today and shot to death in a gunbattle between his Moslem extremist captors and police despite urgent U.S. State Department pleas to the Soviet regime not to use force, U.S. spokesmen said.

Dubs, 58, a native of Chicago, was shot in the head in the hotel room where he had been taken by two or three terrorists who ambushed his car as he drove to the embassy in the capital city of Kabul. State Department officials said one terrorist also was killed in the police attack. The U.S. officials said it was not immediately clear whether Dubs was killed by police or the gunmen, who had demanded the release by the Afghan government of several jailed Shiite Moslem mullahs, or priests.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter III said, "The American Embassy urged the Afghan government in the strongest terms to try to obtain the ambassador's release without force."

"The government disregarded this request and the ambassador was killed in the attempt to seize the hotel room."

The news reached the State Department officials as they were trying to establish contact with the U.S. Embassy in Tehran that had been seized by left-wing guerrillas. "It's been a bad night," said an official in the Iranian Section in the State Department.

CD Bid Voted After Bitter Debate

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — After a bitter debate that included several charges of innuendo, the Town Board of Directors approved an application for Community Development funding for the next three years.

A proposed ordinance for a ban on town participation in Community Development would include two of the three years included in the application.

But, Stephen Penny, chairman of the board, and other directors argued that failure to apply for the funds now would deny residents the right to vote on whether to approve such a ban.

That vote will come April 17, the same date set for a water-improvement referendum. (See related story.)

The deadline for applying for the Community Development funds is next week. If the board did not approve the application in time, it would have killed the town's chances for the funding, thus effectively deciding on non-participation in the program for at least next year.

Lawyers Argue Merger Petitions

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — Attorney John LaBelle, representing the Eighth Utilities District, and Attorney John Fitzgerald, representing the Committee for One Manchester, today argued about what persons in the Eighth District could have signed petitions for consolidation.

Today's session was the second day of the trial concerning the Committee for One Manchester suit against the Eighth District. The committee's suit says the district's electors failed to obey state law when they failed to appoint members to a consolidation committee last March.

Formation of the committee was one step in an attempt at consolidation started by the committee that was based on the state's Home Rule Act.

Consolidation would combine the Eighth District with the Town. Both units both have separate fire departments and sewer authorities, LaBelle this morning said signers of the petition from the district must meet the requirements of an elector as stated in Special Act 200, which says an elector must be a voter in Manchester and a resident of the district for at least three months.

Students Ignorant Of Wars

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Who did the United States fight in World War II? What was the Bay of Pigs? What happened at Munich in 1938?

If you're over 40, the answers are no problem. But a young California education consultant said Tuesday a majority of his remedial reading high school students could not answer the first question, a majority of his college students could not answer the second and fewer than 10 percent of his undergraduates could answer the third.

At a Senate education subcommittee hearing on why the basic skills of American students are so embarrassingly low, the consultant, Paul Coppersman, put the onus squarely on liberals.

He blamed busing and affirmative action plans that retain unqualified teachers, and a "permissive educational ideology" that allows ethnic studies, sociology and current events to be taught instead of world history.

Rudolf Fleisch, author of the 1955 best-seller "Why Johnny Can't Read," disagreed with Coppersman on almost everything except the fact that standards are declining.

Coppersman said basic skills improved each generation in American history, but are now starting to fall.

Fleisch said it started 50 years ago when schools began to teach children to read by the "look-say" method, in which children are taught to recognize the form of words alongside of pictures of what they represent.

Fleisch is an advocate of the "phonics" system in which children are taught the basic sounds of the alphabet and then apply them to words whose meanings they don't necessarily know.

The "look-say" method is in use in 90 to 95 percent of schools because, he said, there is a conspiracy between the education establishment and the big textbook publishers whose profit is derived from selling a series of primers from grades one through eight.

Improper teaching is the "chief source of education deterioration," Fleisch said.

Instead of spending eight years trying to recognize words, children could be taught to read by an inexpensive little book in first grade kindergarten and then go right on to Mark Twain or Emily Dickenson and all the beauties of our literature.

Fleisch forecast that "a growing part of our population is lapsing back into illiteracy," because of bad teaching.

Referring to Coppersman's despair about the educational level of today's undergraduates, Fleisch warned: "In the 1990s, this deterioration of basic skills will have reached the college graduate level and we will be in the situation of some Third World countries and have to import personnel to run the machinery of society."

"I honestly feel that if there is no change in the method of teaching reading, we will have to import doctors, engineers and scientists from France, Germany and Japan because we won't have enough," he said.

Wind Gusts Cause Northwest Deaths

By United Press International

Winds gusting to 100 mph dealt death and devastation to the Pacific Northwest, heavy snows spilled from the Rocky Mountains onto the Plains and Arctic cold enveloped the Northeast for the fifth straight day.

A fierce winter storm swept in from the Pacific Tuesday, lashing the coasts of Washington, Oregon and northern California with high winds and tides, killing at least seven people.

Wind and waves ripped loose part of the nation's longest floating bridge on Washington's Hood Canal. About half of the 7,131-foot structure in Puget Sound was ripped from its moorings and sank. There were no reports of casualties.

"It was moving pretty fast - it was kind of eerie - and then it went down like a battleship," said Stan Oltman, who lives near the span and was watching through binoculars.

Huge waves washed four seamen off the 470-foot freighter Wistaria Coral to their apparent deaths off the coast of Oregon and smashed another sailor against a bulkhead, killing him.

Widespread power outages were reported as the wind hammered away until shortly after midday. Seven small aircraft were flipped onto their backs at Paine Field in Everett, Wash. Numerous schools were forced to close for the day in the greater Seattle area and there were reports of small boats snatched from their moorings and sunk by the raging storm.

As the storm moved into the Cascades and high Sierras, it turned

Directors Set April 17 For Water Plan Voting

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - The Town Board of Directors made it official Tuesday night - April 17 will be the date for a townwide referendum on a $20 million bond issue for water improvements.

The board, as expected, unanimously approved the April date for the town vote to borrow the money needed for the improvements, which will include a new water treatment plant and improvements to the piping distribution system for water.

The board members and town officials all agree that the improvements are a necessity, and this was one reason for selecting the April 17 date.

Originally, Town Manager Robert Weiss had proposed a March 20 date for the water question. He set the date at that time because he estimated each day of delay in the project will cost the town $2,500 in inflation.

Glastonbury Seeks Talks Before Manchester Vote

GLASTONBURY - There was more discussion Tuesday night of the water service problem in East Glastonbury and town officials expressed a desire to meet again with representatives from Manchester soon.

Council members were anxious for some progress because they want to resolve the program before Manchester takes its $20 million bond issue to referendum, which has been tentatively scheduled for April. They discussed the three proposed bills by Rep. Fran Mahoney, one of them giving Manchester the power to

Scouts Honored For Aid

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - Six Boy Scouts from Manchester's Troop 27 were honored Tuesday night for their work during January's rainy weather.

The six scouts assisted local fire department members, who worked at a Richard Road home that was surrounded by high waters.

The home at 82 Richard Road became an island when a nearby pond flooded during a Jan. 24 storm.

The Town Fire Department spent many hours after the storm pumping the excess water away from the home.

The Scouts assisted by placing sand bags that helped control the water so the firefighters could complete the job.

The six Scouts were presented with citations from the town at Tuesday night's meeting of the Town Board of Directors.

Al Packer, Jim McKa, Ken Szarek, Jill Szarek, Russell Smith and Jeff Gartin, were presented the citations for their efforts.

"These fellows worked many hours helping the town, and we owe them some recognition," Mayor Stephen Penny, who made the presentations, said.

Stephen Penny, chairman of the board, said the April date was proposed so town officials would have enough time to make sure the public understands the issue. He feared that the March date would not permit enough time to educate residents about the proposed improvements.

He also said the April 17 date will permit the water question and another expected townwide vote - on the proposed two-year ban on town participation in the Community Development program - to be included in one vote.

Mid-April is the earliest the Community Development question can be voted on by town residents, so the proposed March date for the water question would have required two separate townwide votes.

Director Carl Zinsser also emphasized the need to make sure the public understands the water issue.

He wants to make sure all questions the public might have are answered before the townwide vote.

Zinsser said it is important that approval be granted for borrowing the $20 million for the improvements.

"As I tell people, if you don't vote for this, what's the alternative?" Zinsser said.

The town must meet federal drinking water standards, and the improvements are seen as necessary to meet these regulations and possible future stiffer ones.

The improvements, however, could mean as much as a tripling in the rates charged town water customers.

The town's elected and administrative officials are unanimous in their support of the need for the improvements, though.

In fact, the only real debate on the matter Tuesday night was how long to keep the polls open.

The board agreed to have all polling places open April 17 from noon to 8 p.m., the minimum amount of time permitted by state statutes.

simply discontinue service to the 270 users in Glastonbury.

During the discussion, it was mentioned one well driller was going through East Glastonbury soliciting business. Health Director Richard Coppa said he was reluctant to issue a permit for the first well because that would be a precedent for others.

Councilman Ed Crow asked Coppa to have such persons call him and Dale Richter suggested sending a letter to the residents explaining the alternative.

However, Councilman James McIntosh said, "We can't impose our wishes on them because there are plenty of other residents who have wells. I'm reluctant to refuse them the permit to drill. We can advise them it looks premature, but if they still want to do it, that's their business."

Chairman Henry Kinne said, "If they want to get even with the Manchester Water Company, that's no way to do it."

He said under the proposed legislation Manchester could assess abutting property owners whether a well is drilled or not.

"We've got to get a hold of Weiss and sit down with them," he said.

into effect automatically according to negotiation time guidelines.

The directors also made a number of appointments to town boards and commissions, including six of seven members to the new Town Ethics Commission. The following new members were appointed:

- * Human Relations Advisory Board - Janet Damros, 52 Philip Road
- * Manchester Legal Aid Services Inc. - William DiYeso, 91 N. Elm St.
- * Commission on Aging - Genevieve Shanahan, 38 Ludlow Road
- * Town Ethics Commission - William FitzGerald, 140 Richmond Road; Eileen Stern, 34 S. Farms Drive; Sol Cohen, 51 Jordt St.; M. Adler Dobkin, 153 Shallowbrook Lane; Marion Mercer, 174 Ludlow Road; and Paul Willhide, Jean Road.
- * Cable TV Advisory Board - Cheryl Hadley, 950 Sycamore Lane.

All of the appointments were made by the Republicans except for FitzGerald, Mrs. Stern and Cohen, Democratic appointments to the Ethics Commission. The Democrats have one more appointment to make to that commission.

Neighborhood Watch cuts Crime

By United Press International
The concept is older than Christianity: If you are your brother's keeper, then it follows that you are your neighbor's, too. Its practical application today is cutting crime in the suburbs. It is also reshaping the traditional law enforcement approach to crime by placing more emphasis on prevention rather than detective work and arrest after a crime has been committed. The neighbor's keeper philosophy has been successfully packaged in the National Neighborhood Watch Program sponsored by the National Sheriff's Association. It has been in operation five years, but only in recent months has the balance begun to tip. The program has two simple aims: make your home more secure against burglary and vandalism, and cooperate with law enforcement authorities in neighborhood activities aimed at discouraging criminal activity. "The main thing is to try and get everybody to watch out for their neighbors," says Gene Stewart, public information officer for the Pulaski County (Arkansas) Sheriff's Department. "This one old boy was sitting there watching his neighbor's house one day and a man in a pickup drove up and hunched up his neighbor's boat to it and drove off," Stewart said. "Hmmm?" thought the man, I wonder who that was? Well, they haven't seen that boat since. "If we had that program in effect then, I bet you he'd have called us after seeing that strange truck drive up. It's bad to be suspicious of your fellow man, but you've got to be. "We also had a lot of vandalism out there, kids running around with spray paint, and since we've started this program, we haven't had any of

Beginning with a basic kit which is provided, each approach may differ to fit the problems of a specific neighborhood or community with the help of the local sheriff's office or police department. An independent evaluation of the operation by the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, Mo. reached the same conclusions. "The National Neighborhood Watch Program is a highly effective, nationally based effort reaching millions of citizens," MRI wrote in its final report. "Where exposure is based upon an aggressive local program, citizen participants can be expected to take positive actions and to change their perceptions regarding residential burglary protection in ways sought by the program." The 2 percent average crime decline for the first six months of 1978 follows a 4 percent decline in 1977 from 1976. Lucas, executive director of the National Sheriff's Association. "Wherever they've implemented Neighborhood Watch Programs they've cut housebreaking and that type thing tremendously."

Death Toll 10,000 In Iran Fighting

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — More than 10,000 people were killed in the 15 months of Iran's revolution, according to conservative estimates, and more casualties may be added as rival armed bands roam the streets. Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic revolutionary command has called for an estimated 70,000 weapons of all kinds seized from military arsenals in the final three days of the successful revolt to be turned in. But extreme leftists, rightists, escaped common-law criminals and teen-agers are still clinging to their guns in vast quantities. Khomeini's men are also worried about "summary executions" by armed groups in the country and has ordered everyone to wait until "the appropriate time" to administer justice. Now that the main enemy, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, has been defeated, the rival armed groups are squaring off at each other. On Monday there was a brief gunbattle outside new Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan's office and wild shooting at the university campus. There was a gunbattle Sunday at the Inter-Continental Hotel between rival gunmen for the right to "protect" some 200 international journalists staying there to cover the revolution. Diplomats, reporters and other observers calculate that the death toll in the 15 months leading to the collapse of the 2,500-year-old peacock throne is, conservatively, 10,000 so far. In the final, fatal 48 hours of fighting the number of dead throughout the land was placed at some 860 and wounded at 3,500. The Tehran newspaper Kayhan International said after a check of the capital's 40 hospitals that they contained 728 dead and 2,906 wounded. It quoted a doctor as saying most were hit in street fighting but that some had been burned alive in barracks or other government buildings set afire by insurgents and others had been blown to pieces in exploding ammunition dumps. During the last hours of government resistance in the provinces, deaths were put conservatively at 150, with 570 wounded in battles at Tabriz, Shiraz, Shahr-e, Rey, Hamadan and other towns.

Winter Carnival Planned

COVENTRY — The Jaycees will hold their second annual winter carnival Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in front of the Captain Nathan Hale School on Route 31.

Admission is free, and refreshments will be provided.

Assisting in the sponsorship will be the Parks and Recreation Commission, the Junior Women's Club, and the Mothers Club.

The Jaycees held a poster contest among schoolchildren to advertise the carnival. Winners from grades K through 4 were Darcy Cloutman, Suzanne DeBari, Gina Defenia, Roy Engler, Dianne Simmons, Paul Bolduc, Valerie Pawcett, and Kevin Banks. Grades 5 and 6 winners were Carrie Landrie, Rae Ann Dimmock, Jamie Thurber, Michelle Bolduc, and Michelle Haskill.

Jaycees spokesman Anthony Roberto, a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission, presented a calendar for his and other local organizations at a recent Town Council meeting.

It lists various community activities slated for upcoming months. Roberto wants the calendar hung in the Town Hall so residents can keep informed of coming events.

The calendar grew out of an effort by the Jaycees last year to form an umbrella organization of representatives from many town groups. The Jaycees were recently cited by the council for their community service activities.

Lions Auction
The Lions Club has scheduled an auction for April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Second Congregational Church Hall on Route 4A. Proceeds will be used for local community activities sponsored by the Lions.

Hock can be reached at 742-9711. Gary Dopsalf, public relations chairman, is available for further information at 742-6128.

Trinity Church
MANCHESTER — The Rev. Norman Swenson, pastor of Trinity Covenant Church, will lead a Bible study tonight at 7:30 at the church, 302 Hackmatack St.

Women of the church will have a prayer breakfast Thursday at 6:30 a.m. at LaStrada West.

Post Office Fights Private Competition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service is slipping away 75 of its regulations in an effort to fend off... Postmaster General William Bolger warns that losing large amounts of the bulk third-class business "could seriously impair our ability to economically serve every American family."

Supper Sturper

Chantek, a five-month-old female orangutan at the St. Louis Children's Zoo, doesn't need much help in feeding these days. If she spies an unattended bottle within reach, she claims it eagerly.

Town Boy Loses Finger In Fireworks Accident

MANCHESTER — A 12-year-old boy lost a finger when a cherry bomb exploded in his hand Saturday. Frank Hajbucki, of 88 Bissell St., a Bennett Junior High School student, was lighting a cherry bomb that had a defective fuse, according to a Manchester Memorial Hospital spokesman.

Mail from individual citizens comprises only about 20 percent of the Postal Service's total annual volume of 7 billion pieces of mail. Commercial mailings provide the main financial support for the vast network of post offices and route delivery personnel.

He said industry officials, a half dozen of whom attended the news conference, have "expressed their desire to stay with the Postal Service," but price is the ultimate determining factor.

Postal Service officials say third-class customers are charged an average of about 8.4 cents for each piece, compared with as low as a nickel or less by some private services.

That disparity should be narrowed by changes in the regulations which are based on more than 300 recommendations from a joint industry-Postal Service task force. Hundreds of other regulations are under study, Bolger said.

Bid Opening Postponed

HEBRON — Opening of bids for the Rham Junior High School building has been postponed to Feb. 21. Officials said the delay was necessary to ensure that all contractors receive the addendum to bid specifications.

DOT Cited for Bungling

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Republican lawmaker has launched a "scrub board" campaign to highlight what she called "bungling bureaucracy in state government." Rep. Julie Belaga of Westport Tuesday issued her first "scrub board" award to the Department of Transportation for its "artificially mismanaged toll program on the Connecticut Turnpike."

Emanuel Church

MANCHESTER — Several meetings are planned for Thursday at Emanuel Lutheran Church. The Prayer Group will meet at 10 a.m. and the care and visitation committee at 11:15.

MCC Students Excited As Legislative Interns

By SUSAN VAUGHN Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Interest, excitement and enthusiasm were most apparent among three legislative interns from Manchester Community College as they talked about their "classwork" at the state Capitol. The three interns, Theresa Zielinski and Clare Frier, both of Ellington, and Cindy Levitt of Vernon, indicated they had already learned a lot about how the legislature works just one month into the program.

Despite the part-time status of the work, the special program involves a rather rigorous schedule. The three women travel to the Capitol on Tuesdays and Thursdays, working full days at whatever tasks they are assigned by their representatives. They also meet with their faculty advisor, Eleanor Colman, every week to submit logs of their work within the legislature.

The internship program, which has been in operation at MCC since 1974, carries six credits, or the value of two courses. In addition to the internships, the three interns are carrying full course loads. Mrs. Zielinski is married and the mother of five children, two of whom are still at home. She began her college career in the MCC Weekend College program for three semesters. She just enrolled full-time for a degree program in public administration last fall. She hopes to go on to a four-year college when she graduates from MCC.

Mrs. Zielinski is an intern for Rep. John J. Morrison (D-88th District) of Enfield. Mrs. Frier started back to college for the first time last fall after raising a daughter and working with her husband in the Sport Mart, their business which they sold a year ago. She said she wanted to do something else after being out in the business world and active in community service for several years.

Mrs. Frier is the former chairman and member of the Ellington Board of Education. Her assignment to Rep. Tereselee Bertinsson (D-57th District), who represents Ellington, East Windsor and part of Vernon, was appropriate because Rep. Bertinsson is on the Education Committee of the legislature. Mrs. Frier said she has found the meetings of the Education Committee and the Environmental Committee, for which Rep. Bertinsson is assistant chairwoman, "extremely interesting."

Mrs. Levitt is a sophomore transfer student from George Washington University who was surprised and pleased to find the quality of education she has found at MCC. "For the price, it's great," she said. Ms. Levitt is working for Rep. Rufus Allyn (D-3rd District) who represents Stonington and North Stonington. Ms. Levitt was interested in the intern program because she "wanted to see what it's like to really be a part of the political process."

Weiss Denies Morale Loss

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Town Manager Robert Weiss Tuesday night denied a charge by a resident that there are serious morale problems among town employees.

"The morale and the atmosphere is in desperate shape," Betty Sadloski, a Hollister Street resident and president of the Manchester Property Owners Association, said.

Weiss, however, responded, "I've never seen the morale of the town employees better than it has been in recent months."

Mrs. Sadloski, a frequent critic of Weiss and local government, made her comments in reference to a review of the manager's performance being done by the Town Board of Directors. The board is required to review that performance every two years.

She referred specifically to the tax assessor's office, which has an increased workload because of reevaluation and the phase-in bill and also has had a couple of recent resignations.

"We're really in rough shape," she said.

She also said that residents have developed a lack of trust in local government.

"The town manager has proved to be a detriment to the town. You'd better review what's best for the town," she told the board. The MPOA previously has asked that Weiss resign.

Another resident, Robert Faucher of Laurel Street, disputed that there is a lack of trust among residents. He said many in town trust Weiss and the town administration.

Weiss and members of the Town Board of Directors also defended the manager's performance and the present status of town employees.

Weiss said he tries to manage the town by involving many others in the decision-making process.

"There are a lot of people who work hard for the town. It starts with this Board of Directors," he said.

He said with 500 town employees there are bound to be problems. The assessor's office not only has reevaluation and phase-in to deal with, but it also must cope with a cramped office and frequently changing state laws.

Overall, he said, morale is as good as he has seen it among the town workers.

Stephen Penny, chairman of the board, said the board has taken steps to assist the level of morale.

"I think this board has made tremendous progress in the area of employee morale," he said. Penny mentioned the board's approval of a mid-management pay raise schedule and the creation of a personnel supervisor position filled by Steven Werber, who has been praised by many.

He also pointed out that the board Tuesday night approved a Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) position for the assessor's office.

Director Thomas Connors mentioned a bus trip for town employees to an ice show in New Haven. The trip, which was organized by town employees, last Friday attracted about 150 persons and is a positive sign about the morale of town employees, he said.

Connors and Penny both also praised local town government.

"The services rendered in Manchester are among the most outstanding of any town I've lived in in the U.S.," Penny said.

Penny said that Manchester rates well among area towns in the categories of government costs per capita and tax rates for its residents.

Part of this is due to the amount of industry that has located in town, he said.

"That is where Mr. Weiss' particular forte is revealed," Penny said of the town's level of industry and tax revenues that are generated.

In another personnel matter, Penny and Director Stephen Cassano spoke in support of the CETA program when responding to Frank Lapier of 21 Sunset St., who asked several questions about the federal employment program.

Penny said CETA funds are one example where the town has used federal funds to help defray local costs.

"Where departments have been understaffed, we've used CETA to fill those positions," he said.

Andover Residents Approve Gym Plans

ANDOVER — The Andover Elementary School members for its gymnasium addition became a reality Friday when residents at the Town Meeting voted in favor of an additional appropriation of $40,000 for the gym. The vote was 112 in favor and 53 against.

Construction of the addition that will cost a total of $702,000 will begin 15 days after the contract is signed with Paul Publick of Lebanon. The project will take about 10 months to complete.

The school's physical education programs now take place in an all purpose room which is also used as the school cafeteria and community meeting place.

Benjie's Valentine

Benford "Benjie" Stellmacher, Hartford's singing bus driver, displays a "Happiness Certificate" for Kathy D'Elia of Newton at the start of his 4 p.m. commuter run to New Britain Tuesday. He will present a certificate to those who on Valentine's Day administer a "Fuzzy" on his bus. Benjie calls a big hug a "Fuzzy" and it is "just the thing to bring back happiness and laughter."

Fewer Roses Than Usual For St. Valentine's Day

By United Press International

Legend has it that St. Valentine, a third-century priest who was martyred by a Roman emperor for his Christian beliefs, sent his jailer's blind daughter a note signed "from your Valentine."

Today, Connecticut residents will mark St. Valentine's Day with singing telegrams, friendliness to fellow bus passengers and free wedding licenses. But they will celebrate with fewer roses than usual. Connecticut rose growers say the extreme cold has reduced their production.

"Cold weather doesn't help them; they don't seem to open up," said William Cordis of William Pinchbeck Inc., a rose grower in Guilford.

Normally, the Pinchbeck growers cut 250,000 to 300,000 roses a month, but "we're down quite a bit," Cordis said. Some area florists reported they sold out of all types of roses as of Tuesday afternoon.

By contrast, this time of year is normally quiet for George Tudan. But the man who has been town clerk in Windsor, Conn., for the past 25 years expected a bit of a crowd when he opened his office at 8:30 a.m.

Comment Session

MANCHESTER — The Town Board of Directors will conduct a comment session Thursday from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the directors' office in the Municipal Building.

The session permits residents to meet with a member of the board to discuss any matter that involves town government. The comments and complaints are released to the press, but the identity of the residents who attend is not made public.

For the 17th consecutive year, marriage licenses were on the house this Valentine's Day in Windsor Town Hall.

"Oh, it was a quiet time of the year; I thought it would be nice to do something like a novelty," Tudan said of his handing out free marriage licenses every Valentine's day since 1962.

Two years ago, he got a special treat when he gave a Valentine's Day license to his daughter. A number of years ago he received a national publicity when two Hungarian refugees came to Windsor for their license on the special day.

When the wedding came, Tudan served as best man and his sister was matron of honor.

While Tudan issues wedding licenses, bus driver Benford "Benjie" Stellmacher will offer certificates to anyone on his "Happy Bus" who administers a "fuzzy" to another passenger "without kissing or pitter-patting."

A fuzzy is a big hug — "just a thing to bring back happiness and laughter" — said Stellmacher, its inventor.

Stellmacher is known for leading his passengers in song on the daily commuter run between Hartford and New Britain and his annual Christmas party held en route. For Valentine's Day, the blue and grey Connecticut Transit Co. bus will sport hearts and cupid.

At Yale University in New Haven, 25 members of the Yale Slavic Chorus will charge from $3.50 to $7 to sing valentines.

Debate Heard On Blue Law

HARTFORD (UPI) — The State Supreme Court Tuesday listened for three hours as a cadre of attorneys debated the constitutional ramifications of Connecticut's new "blue" law.

In about six weeks, the high court is expected to decide whether the Sunday closing statute should stand or fall. Tuesday's session represented the first time in modern history the Supreme Court had been asked to listen to arguments concerning the constitutionality of a Connecticut blue law.

There have been three Sunday closing laws in Connecticut's history, and each has been declared unconstitutional within the past three years by lower court judges.

In the past, storeowners who honored blue laws had no legal recourse to appeal the lower court decisions to the Supreme Court. Under the new law, they could appeal — and they did.

Four justices and a Superior Court Judge Tuesday heard final oral arguments from lawyers for storeowners who support the law and from attorneys representing entrepreneurs who oppose the statute.

Chief Justice John Ceter excused himself from the hearing, because his son-in-law, Hartford attorney Bourke Spillacy, was participating in the case. Ceter was replaced by Superior Court Judge Jay Rubinow.

Attorney Maurice Fitzmaurice, who achieved notoriety for his handling of the Horton vs. Meskill school finance case, urged the high court to uphold the lower court decision and strike down the new blue law.

Fitzmaurice said trying to figure out who's covered by the law is "pure guesswork."

"The statute is so vague the ordinary businessman cannot understand it, cannot deal with it," said Fitzmaurice, who is representing two stores that opened in violation of the law when it first took effect last October.

Fitzmaurice added he hoped he could explain how the law worked to get his point across.

"That's a pretty tough job," Justice Alva Loiselle said with a laugh.

But, attorney William Murphy said, "This statute is not nearly as complex as other economic regulation statutes."

Murphy, who is representing four stores who filed the appeal, said Fitzmaurice was taking "certain sections out of context" and that the law's overall intent was clear.

He also argued the Legislature, not the judiciary, represented the "policy-making body" closest to the legislature.

"It is the clear duty of this court, if it can, to uphold that legislative action (the blue law)," Murphy said.

"The record clearly submits the reasonableness of the legislative action."

Attorney Bernard Green told the high court the blue law is loaded with "Catch 22's" that say a certain product can be sold, but the type of business that sells that product can't stay open Sunday.

"Although antiques may be sold with impunity by antique dealers," he said, "antique dealers can't sell antiques."

During his presentation, Fitzmaurice argued there already was a law preventing an employer from making his or her employees work more than six days per week. The law, he said, also allows employees to choose which day their benefits end.

Fitzmaurice suggested the reason the law was passed was to protect some firms from competition.

But, a pair of assistant attorney generals, Robert Langer and Arnold Feigen, defended the statute, saying the Legislature had the right to pass whatever kind of laws it wanted.

Several times during the hearing, Rubinow interrupted Murphy to ask him about exemptions in the law, and how they would apply to the average citizen.

"What if I wanted to hire a babysitter on Sunday?" the judge asked the lawyer. "What if I want to consult you Sunday on a case you want to argue the next day?"

Murphy said he did not think those were legitimate questions within the scope of the appeal.

Several times during the hearing, Rubinow interrupted Murphy to ask him about exemptions in the law, and how they would apply to the average citizen.

GOP Directors Back Officer's Appointment

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Republican members of the Town Board of Directors said Tuesday night they will stand behind their appointment of a town police officer to the Youth Commission.

Members of the commission object to the appointment of Patrolman Alan Anderson. They feel it might discredit the image of the commission among the town's youth and might be the first of such appointments that would eliminate the intent of the commission.

Republican Directors Carl Zinzer, William Diana and Peter DiRosa, however, were vocal in their support of Anderson.

"As far as we're concerned, we're not going to withdraw the appointment. We're going to stand behind the appointment," Zinzer said.

Some members of the Youth Commission attended Tuesday night's Board of Directors meeting to explain their position. Members previously had sent a letter to the board asking that the appointment of Anderson be reconsidered.

Their concern is not one of a personal nature against Anderson. They are opposed to a person in such a position serving on the commission.

Toni Frese, chairwoman of the commission, said of a police officer in general, "His first encounter with youth is not a positive note." She and others feared the appointment of a police employee to the commission might lead to youth in town questioning the direction of the commission.

Another member, Odie Coleman, said, "I see the Youth Commission representing the young people of town. If that is the case, I think some young people would have a problem with that (the appointment), right or wrong."

Another factor mentioned was that a person who would work with youths daily was not being sought as a voting member of the commission.

Director Stephen Cassano, who originally proposed the commission, said advisory members to the commission include a Police Department representative.

The voting members should be residents not involved in jobs that include day-to-day contact with town youths, he said.

Mrs. Frese expressed fear that appointment of persons with youth-related jobs could wipe out the original proposed makeup of the commission.

Diana pointed out that another commission member, Robert Von Deck, is a teacher, and Mrs. Frese said that appointment also might have been an inappropriate one.

Other speakers, however, said Anderson should be permitted to stay on the commission. Michael Pohl, a commission member, said keeping Anderson off because he is a policeman is discriminatory.

Two representatives of the local police union — Russell Holyfield and Gary Wood — also spoke.

Holyfield said he thinks the police incident after it is made. That question presently will be answered by the town attorney's office.

Diana moved that the matter be acted on Tuesday night, but that motion was defeated and the matter was tabled.

Blaze Closes Kitchen

STORRS (UPI) — Fire officials said a University of Connecticut dormitory kitchen would probably remain closed today because a two-alarm fire caused considerable damage to cooking facilities.

The fire erupted around 2 p.m. Tuesday in the ground-floor kitchen of Shippee Hall, forcing the evacuation of students and staff, fire officials said.

There were no injuries, according to Storrs Fire Department Chief Burton Boker.

He said the fire, which was under control in less than one half hour, started in a deep-fat fryer. Flames were contained to the kitchen area. Boker added.

The blaze set off heat detector alarms and a resident director pulled the fire alarm in the six-floor dormitory which houses an estimated 300 women students, the fire chief said.

Letter to the Editor

Welfare Reform Suggested

I would like to share an experience I had with the registered and future voters of this town. Perhaps they would like to see their cast votes in future elections.

I had the occasion to visit the apartment of a welfare recipient in our town. It will suffice to say that it was not a social call.

As I pulled up in front of the apartment I was met by a youngster of about seven or eight years. I knocked on the door and no one answered. The boy said he didn't think anyone was at home.

I knocked again because I knew the people were home. The youngster repeated his claim. The same thing was repeated once more and then the boy gave up. He went to a side window, shook his head and said, "no, it's not going to work." I knocked one more time and then the person appeared at the door.

Connally Claims His Innocence 'Certified'

WASHINGTON — Big John Connally, his Stetson dominating the other hats in the presidential ring, has sought to turn his bribery trial into a political asset. With characteristic bluntness, he has proclaimed that he is the only presidential contender who has been "certified innocent" by a jury.

He had every reason to believe the jurors would not be available to dispute his contention. Judge George L. Hart, a past Republican committeeman, sealed the names of the jurors four years ago. He has no intention of changing his ruling, he told us, to permit them to be cross-examined about their opinions of Candidate Connally.

As I stepped into the apartment I couldn't help but notice how lovely it was. There was a very plush carpet in the living room with a beautiful sofa and coffee table on one side of the room.

Against another wall was a large console entertainment center including a stereo system and a color television set. On top of that was another television set. As I glanced into the kitchen I noticed a lovely kitchen set and another television set. I felt in amazement and shaking my head.

Please do not misunderstand, I am as compassionate as the next guy, maybe even more, and I don't begrudge someone who really needs help, getting it, but it seems to me there is something inherently wrong with our system.

My carping is worn very badly in places as I can't replace it because I can't afford it, yet this person's rug is a very plush rug.

My living room will have a sofa six months from now when I finish making the payments on it, for now it is empty. This person has a sofa half larger than the one I am working for pay for.

I don't mind working very hard so I can pay for the things I would like to have, but it really aggravates me to work so hard so I can help welfare recipients pay for the things I can't afford.

This is a person that sent a child of seven or eight something to lie to me, that tried to get specifically from my place of employment with no intention of paying for it, and one that lied to me while looking me straight in the eye.

Please keep these things in mind the next time you hear a candidate saying he wants to increase your government controls and increase social benefits for individuals in need.

It is fine to help those in need, but until new laws are passed to determine who is in need and who is not, you can't up the ante.

The CIA and LSD

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Students at Harvard University participated in the program. So did government intelligence officers in Washington. All federal prisoners in Atlanta, tourists in San Francisco and drug addicts in Lexington, Ky.

They are among the uncounted thousands of Americans who in recent decades received — often without their knowledge — experimental doses of the mind-altering, hallucinogenic drug lysergic acid diethylamide, commonly known as LSD.

The millions of dollars necessary to covertly support LSD research, as well as far more terrifying experiments designed to manipulate human behavior, came from public funds disbursed by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Although the CIA's involvement in highly classified behavior modification projects has been the subject of sporadic news accounts in recent years, the most comprehensive — and chilling — version has just been published as a book.

It's called "The Search for the Manchurian Candidate: The CIA and Mind Control." Its author is John D. Marks, a highly respected Washington researcher and co-author of the 1974 best-seller, "The CIA and the Cult of Intelligence."

Marks offers a compelling case to demonstrate that LSD for "acid," as it's known colloquially on the street) was both introduced and popularized in this country not by the youthful "counterculture" of the 1960s but by the CIA in the early 1950s.

But the book goes well beyond LSD, cataloging dozens of ethically questionable experiments in behavior control sponsored and financed by the CIA through secret projects with code names such as MKULTRA, MKDELTA, MKNAOMI, ARTICHOKE and BLUEBIRD.

Marks details the CIA's penchant for amoral dabbling in massive doses of tranquilizers, sophisticated hypnosis, psychosurgery, electroshock and a host of other techniques to advance the state of the art in "deprogramming" or "brainwashing."

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mr. Keen of the Missing Crises Bureau has done it again.

By dint of brilliant detective work, he has established that the energy crisis is still alive and being rehabilitated by Iran.

"When I took on this case last month, there were hardly any clues, and those we did have were misleading," Mr. Keen said in his final report.

"From the few words President Carter said about conservation in his State of the Union address, you would have thought the energy crisis had been given up for dead."

"Also subject to misinterpretation were reports of oil giants on both coasts and of gas companies trying to attract new customers again."

"All in all, it appeared the energy crisis might have gone the way of the cranberry crisis, the ozone layer crisis and other defunct delusions."

"I said, 'What would you suspect the energy crisis still existed despite signs of its demise?'"

"I was struck by the fact that the energy crisis had never been officially reported as missing," Mr. Keen replied.

"You know how terrorists groups claim responsibility whenever there is a bombing or something of that sort? Well, it's much the same when a crisis disappears. Ordinarily, you have a lot of people claiming credit for doing it in. But nobody was talking about what happened to the energy crisis."

"If members of Congress knew anything about it, it would not have taken them almost two years to pass an energy bill. And certainly the legislation they did pass would not have taken the form it did."

"Nine times out of 10, the Senate Energy Committee would have been baffled, you know for something were just another dead end. But this time I nobody else would think of looking,"

Mr. Keen explained. "In this case, I started lurking around the Senate Energy Committee."

"I hardly need point out that normally Congress is one of the last places you would look for information about the energy crisis."

Welfare Reform Suggested

I would like to share an experience I had with the registered and future voters of this town. Perhaps they would like to see their cast votes in future elections.

I had the occasion to visit the apartment of a welfare recipient in our town. It will suffice to say that it was not a social call.

As I pulled up in front of the apartment I was met by a youngster of about seven or eight years. I knocked on the door and no one answered. The boy said he didn't think anyone was at home.

I knocked again because I knew the people were home. The youngster repeated his claim. The same thing was repeated once more and then the boy gave up. He went to a side window, shook his head and said, "no, it's not going to work." I knocked one more time and then the person appeared at the door.

As I stepped into the apartment I couldn't help but notice how lovely it was. There was a very plush carpet in the living room with a beautiful sofa and coffee table on one side of the room.

Against another wall was a large console entertainment center including a stereo system and a color television set. On top of that was another television set. As I glanced into the kitchen I noticed a lovely kitchen set and another television set. I felt in amazement and shaking my head.

Please do not misunderstand, I am as compassionate as the next guy, maybe even more, and I don't begrudge someone who really needs help, getting it, but it seems to me there is something inherently wrong with our system.

My carping is worn very badly in places as I can't replace it because I can't afford it, yet this person's rug is a very plush rug.

My living room will have a sofa six months from now when I finish making the payments on it, for now it is empty. This person has a sofa half larger than the one I am working for pay for.

I don't mind working very hard so I can pay for the things I would like to have, but it really aggravates me to work so hard so I can help welfare recipients pay for the things I can't afford.

This is a person that sent a child of seven or eight something to lie to me, that tried to get specifically from my place of employment with no intention of paying for it, and one that lied to me while looking me straight in the eye.

Please keep these things in mind the next time you hear a candidate saying he wants to increase your government controls and increase social benefits for individuals in need.

It is fine to help those in need, but until new laws are passed to determine who is in need and who is not, you can't up the ante.

always looked Jacobsen in the eye and that Jacobsen looked away. She was impressed favorably by Connally's straightforward manner, unfavorably by Jacobsen's "shady" appearance.

But it was probably evangelist Billy Graham, according to Jurors, who helped Connally get the vote. The evangelist's testimony as a character witness for Connally impressed some of the jurors deeply.

They took the jurors more than five hours to agree upon Connally's innocence. They sat around a rectangular table in a bare, windowless room. One by one, they expressed their views. Then they took the first vote.

A slight majority voted for actual. A few had doubts and remained undecided. Only one juror felt Connally was guilty.

In the discussions that followed, several jurors wanted to review the financial testimony. They followed that testimony. They also had trouble understanding the White House tapes, which contained a damning conversation between Connally and Nixon and milk prices. Connally urged the president to help the dairymen, emphasizing that they were "amusing an enormous amount of money that they're going to put into political activity, very frankly."

But not all the jurors got the conversation straight. As one recalled: "We could just hear these things like 'yes, John... What's that... Okay... Blah, Blah, Blah...'"

Other ballots were taken until all the undecided jurors voted for acquittal. But the lone holdout refused to change his vote. The other jurors became annoyed with him and pressed him to explain his reservations. Defensively, he would ask to see the evidence. At one point, he had a stack of testimony a foot high in front of him.

The holdout was summoned to a chair next to the foreman so they could go over the testimony together, page by page. Then the judge sent in word that it was dinner time. The jurors asked for 20 minutes to make a last try before dinner. The holdout leafed through a few pages of testimony, shrugged dismissively and said he would agree to the acquittal.

Manchester Police Report

MANCHESTER — Police reported two robberies at gunpoint Tuesday night. Police said a black male robbed a woman while she was entering her car at Barr Corner Shopping Center. When the woman told the man she didn't have any money, police said he pointed a silver gun at her and ordered her into the car. Police said she refused because she was afraid he would rape her.

Police said the man took her pocketbook and emptied its contents on the car seat and took about $12 from her wallet. He then threw her car keys across the parking lot and ran toward McDonald's and the highway. The other robbery occurred about midnight Tuesday. Police said a man entered the 7-Eleven Store at 388 Green Road, WARRS around the store, then to the counter where he told the clerk to give him all the money she had and pointed a gun at her. There was no one else in the store, police said. The man took bills, no coins, amounting to between $50 and $60, police said. He then walked calmly out of the store and disappeared on Green Road, police said.

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has criticized the town Health Department for the publicity surrounding restaurant inspections and the department, in response, has enunciated its policy. Under the policy the department will not make public information about restaurant inspections during the two-week period given the restaurant to make corrections.

Lawyers Argue Petitions

They were Tomkiel, Ted Cummings, Democratic town chairman and the man considered to be the leader of the consolidation effort; Alfred Campbell and Darwood Miller, co-chairman of the Committee for the Manchester; Mayor Stephen Penny and Town Manager Robert Weise. FitzGerald's questioning centered around the technical aspect of the pro-consolidation campaign, such as how the petitioning was done. He also asked several of them about the Eighth District and whether consolidation is needed. The responses were similar. He asked Miller if the Eighth District had performed well. "Not in my opinion," he responded. "Yes, that's why you're seeking consolidation — to improve the government of the town?" FitzGerald asked. "Yes," Miller replied. Weiss said of the Eighth District's existence, "It complicates the af-airs of government in many ways. It complicates the fire protection in the town. Cummings mentioned confusion in some areas about what department has authority and said, "You have a state of competition that is greater than good sense allows for the good of the town."

LaBelle countered by asking almost each person if the Town Charter provides a method of consolidation. He does, and district officials feel this is the method that should be used for consolidation to come about. It would require a separate vote of approval by district residents while the Home Rule Act apparently would require only one townwide vote. "That hasn't been followed," LaBelle said of the Town Charter provision. Several of his questions appeared aimed at drawing technical differences between the petitions used in the Eighth District and non-district part of Manchester.

Health Panel Criticized For Inspection Policy

MANCHESTER — The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has criticized the town Health Department for the publicity surrounding restaurant inspections and the department, in response, has enunciated its policy. Under the policy the department will not make public information about restaurant inspections during the two-week period given the restaurant to make corrections. The Chamber's chief criticism centered on a case in which a restaurant failed an inspection by a slight margin and made corrections within three days. At the end of the period all information will be open to the public. Old inspection records are public information under the Freedom of Information Act. Ronald Kraatz, assistant director of health, said the Freedom of Information Commission has upheld the right to withhold information from the public during the two-week period. The protest by the Chamber was voted unanimously by its board of directors at a meeting Tuesday.

In a statement released today the Chamber said: "It is our understanding that there is a two week period following an inspection during which a restaurant operator is given the opportunity to make the necessary adjustments suggested by the health inspector. Since restaurant inspections are at best arbitrary, and since the visible condition of any restaurant changes dramatically depending on the time of day of the inspection, this two-week period is considered a necessary part of the inspection process. This is further enforced when factors that may be beyond the control of the restaurant can serve as the basis for violation."

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce is vitally interested in the health and safety of local residents and consumers, and has a long history of working with complainants to remedy business/customer problems. However, by its actions, the Town Health Department has displayed an apparent disregard for the many complainants who work continually to ensure the highest standards of quality for their customers. The restaurant cast in the media as a health code violator is the victim of an arbitrary judgment. Remedial action or involvement in an appeal process can only come after the damage has been inflicted upon a hard-earned, well-deserved reputation.

"All of us are aware of the fact that violators make the front page of the news while compliance may, at best, get buried in less visible sections. The financial and personal damage that can be inflicted by the premature release of information is unnecessary and can be avoided by the proper use of the two-week adjustment period. It does no good to offer this necessary time in the inspection process if irreparable harm has already been done." The Greater Manchester Chamber is firmly in support of the need to have restaurants operate in clean, healthy settings. Since this should also be the goal of the Town Health Department, the Chamber Board of Directors urges the agency to make better use of its policies and develop procedures for handling discrepancies in a more positive, professional manner.

Tech Loses Again By Single Marker

Sooner or later things will break right for Cheney Tech. Right now, however, the picture appears gloomy to the Beavers as they dropped their second straight one-point decision, 76-75 to East Hampton High in COC basketball action last night in East Hampton. The triumph improves the Beltingers' docket to 5-11 in the COC and 6-12 overall while the setback, the ninth in a row, sends the Techmen to 3-13 in the conference and 3-43 overall. "We played a very sloppy game tonight," noted Tech Coach Phil Crockett. "East Hampton pressed and we did not execute our attack well at all. I was not happy with what we were doing even though the game stayed close."

Manchester Girls End Up with Win

The bitterness of a disappointing season was sweetened just a little bit last night as Manchester high girls' capped its 1978-79 campaign with a 57-53 double overtime triumph over Windham High at Clarke Arena. The Indians, with hopes of qualifying for the tournament but without injured leader Sarah Mary Neuhell for the last 10 games, wind up 4-15. Windham also failed to qualify for post-season play, finishing at 8-11. The clubs were deadlocked, 48-48, after regulation as Liz Neuhell canned both ends of a one-and-one with 17 seconds remaining. Cindy Mills knotted it after the first overtime period at 52-52 as she converted both ends of a one-and-one. Lady Lack was on Manchester's side as Mills missed twice, but each time Windham was charged with a lane violation. The senior co-captain made good on each second opportunity.

Gymnasts Win Again

Nothing is eighth win in 12 outings yesterday was the East Catholic girls' gymnastics team, 82-80 to 72-10, over Penney High in the Eagles' Nest. Freshman Mary Mayhew once again took all-around honors with a total of 29.00 points as she swept all four events. She took the vault with a score of 8.5 points, the bars (8.5), beam (7.9) and floor exercise (8.0). Sophomore Kathy Klutredge followed her Eagles teammate in the all-around category taking seventh place with 28.50 points. She was second in vaulting with a score of 7.8 points, second on the bars (6.0) and second in floor exercise (7.0).

Penney 56 Simsbury 48

There was not much good about last night's sloppily executed 52-44 CCIL basketball win by Manchester High over home-standing East Hartford High. "I didn't expect a fitness game. I just look for hustle and for them to do what they can," voiced East Hartford Coach Neil Guerin, who has seen his club compile a 1-6 mark. "We did a decent job rebounding and that kept us in the game."

Penney Exhibits Top Form Tacking Loss on Simsbury

Playing in top form, Penney High outscored Simsbury High, 52-44, in the overtime period to take a 56-48 CCIL basketball decision last night in Simsbury. The setback drops Simsbury into a first place tie in the CCIL with each at 15-2. The Trojans are 15-3 overall. Penney firmed its hold on third place at 13-4, 15-4 overall. The Black Knights had a chance to go up by eight points with 5:04 left in regulation but Ed Huppe missed the front end of a one-and-one from the foul line. Simsbury came back with Jeff Moger hitting a home with 1:46 to go to slice the deficit to 44-40. Zack Harris fouled Penney's Frank Breen who made one of two for a 45-40 edge. The Trojans, after Coach Ray Schwartz called a timeout, utilized full-court pressure to force two Knight turnovers. Two field goals by Mike Hazzard made it 45-44 with Kevin Richardson fouling Mike Casard with 15 seconds remaining. The 6-foot-7 Penney pivotman cashed in on one from the foul line. Tribe Defeats Hornets In Dull CCIL Hoop Tilt

CCIL mark to 10-7 and aggregate docket to 10-8, Manchester, presently in fourth place in the league, visits fifth-place Windham High Friday night in Willimantic at 8 o'clock. A win would give the Whippets the fourth and final CCIL playoff berth as tough as they already own a 40-38 duke over the Silk Towners. Manchester owned a 15-12 lead after one quarter but the scrappy, hard-working Hornets knotted it at 29-29 and 22-22 on hoops by junior tri-captain Tyler Jones. Two free throws by Chuck Cohen and a hoop by the 6-foot-4 senior pivotman off a fine feed from Rich Koepsel gave the Indians the upper hand for good. It was a hot-hum third quarter in which the knights combined for 10 points, 6 by Manchester. The fourth stanza wasn't much better, it turning into a free throw shooting contest for the most part. Kowalyszyn Stars Again In Setback

Despite the fine effort turned in by Jim Kowalyszyn, Bolton High didn't have enough guns to win as they were overwhelmed by Portland High, 89-63, in COC basketball action last night in Portland. The Highlanders improved their conference mark to 11-5 and aggregate docket to 12-6 with the victory. Bolton slips to 1-15, 1-17 with the setback. # Tired Borg Upset

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — There won't be a Bjorn Borg-Jimmy Connors rematch this week. Unheralded southpaw Bruce Manson, a 22-year-old University of Southern California dropout, took care of that Tuesday when he knocked off a dead-tired Borg 6-7, 7-5, 6-2 on the second day of the $250,000 tennis tournament.

Connors closed his way to a 6-2, 7-5 win over Czechoslovakia's Vladimir Zednik.

"I was very tired," said the second-seeded Borg, visibly drained after a weather-delayed transcontinental flight from Florida. "Without a doubt, this is my biggest win ever," said the jubilant Manson, who left USC to turn pro in September, 1977, with one year of college tennis eligibility left.

In his match, Connors had time to do a little cavorting with the crowd after going ahead 4-2 in the second set. At that point, he lost three straight games before rebounding to win three straight games.

Third-seeded John McEnroe lost two service breaks but had little difficulty in beating Tom Gullikson 6-3 in his first match in the tournament.

Fourth-seeded Harold Solomon had an easy time in defeating Peter McNamara of Australia 6-2, 6-2 and fifth-seeded Brian Gottfried bested Terry Moore 6-3, 6-2.

Eighth-seeded Renee Tanner won on Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 5-7, 7-5, 7-5 and unknown Nick Saviano, who eliminated sixth-seeded Raul Ramirez of Mexico City 7-6, 7-5 Monday, was a 4-6, 6-1, 6-3 winner over Tom Gorman.

Chris Looks Ahead To Facing Martina

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — After an easy victory Tuesday night over Regina Marsikova of Czechoslovakia, second-seeded Chris Evert said she was looking forward to her next few matches, especially against top-seeded Martina Navratilova in the $150,000 women's professional tennis tournament.

On the heels of Monday victories by Navratilova and 16-year-old Tracy Austin, Evert whipped the 20-year-old Marsikova 6-3, 6-2. "I never felt threatened at any time," Evert said, explaining how the match went.

The winner said she was anxious to play Navratilova, who will play Maria Rodondo. The 16-year-old Austin, seeded third, will face Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia tonight.

"She beat me in San Francisco three weeks ago," Evert said of Navratilova. "I think I am playing well. You have to be confident to win. Concentration and confidence are the major part of the game. That's what separates the top four from the rest."

She named Navratilova and Austin, along with outplayed top-seeded players.

Sly Too Much for UConn

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Sly Williams, Providence College's star basketball player, grabbed 11 rebounds and handed out eight assists in a virtuoso performance Tuesday night to lead Rhode Island to an 84-71 win over Connecticut.

Ralph Simpson Delivers And Nets' Coach Smiles

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kevin Loughery, like any good coach, knows the best place for a guy like Ralph Simpson is on his own team, so he leaped at the opportunity to obtain the 6-foot-5 guard in a trade with Philadelphia last week.

"When he played in the ABA he took charge, pumped in a lot of points," said Loughery Tuesday night, after Simpson had scored eight of his 14 points in the final period of the final minute on a layup by Tom Bassett. In the fourth quarter, New Jersey built a 103-93 advantage with 4:14 left, but the Kings rebounded the ball and scored four points and George Johnson made two foul shots to prevent any Kansas City comeback.

"He's a fine offensive player," the Nets coach continued. "Before we only had (John) Williamson to pump the ball."

The Kings led, 53-48, at halftime, but the Nets opened a 78-74 lead in the final minute on a layup by Tom Bassett. Hospital officials said Jeffrey Poet, 26, of Warren, suffered a head injury, Desobro, 22, of Watsfield, suffered chest and facial injuries after Tuesday's accident.

Poet was reported to be in fair condition and Desobro's condition was listed as satisfactory at Medical Center Hospital in Burlington.

A third gondola passenger, also a ski area employee, was treated and released from the hospital as a result of the accident. He was identified only as Robin Bleier.

Other passengers on the gondola lift were evacuated and the lift was halted for the day.

Observers at the ski area said the cable that carries the gondolas halted about 12:30 p.m. The car carrying the three men appeared to be pulled in the wind and then crashed to the ground, they said.

The gondola was close to the bottom of the ski slope at the time.

A ski area spokesman said it is believed the accident was caused by a problem with the coupling between the gondola and the cable.

He said the lift will not resume operation until it has been repaired and inspected by state officials.

Basketball

WEST FROSH — Hopes of an unbeaten season for the East Catholic freshman basketball team were dashed yesterday as homecoming Xavier High took a 78-76 double overtime decision in Middletown.

The setback was Coach Jack Hull's fault, as he suffered a knee injury on consecutive victories. East winds up his season Saturday morning against arch-rival South Catholic at the B.A.'s.

Dave Hantz had 18 points, Brian Galligan and Chris Ciszewski 15 each.

ILLING-BENNET — Bennet whipped cross-town Iling, 74-44, yesterday at Iling's gym.

Herald Angle

Prestige Dropped — The National Hockey League look a sharp drop last weekend when the Soviets, after dropping the first game in their three-game set at Madison Square Garden in New York against the NHL All-Stars, routed back to win the next two games.

The manner in which the Soviets manhandled the NHLers in the third and deciding game was most convincing, a 6-0 decision.

This is the same Soviet team that lost to the New England Whalers three years ago in an exhibition game at the Hartford Civic Center two years ago when the Soviets came back and won home a winner against the Whalers.

The Whalers win over the red-shirted Russians was one of the most memorable sporting events witnessed in 50 years.

True, the Soviets had assembled for several weeks prior to coming to New York while the NHL squad had just three practice sessions before the series.

Frankly, I figured the NHL would win at least two of the games. As it turned out, the NHL was lucky to come away with the opener, 4-2, and the Russians squared matters in a come-from-behind effort, 5-4, and then won the finale in grand style.

Each member of the NHL team received a $3,000 bonus.

The three-game set grossed over $1 million with the Soviets getting a flat $500,000 guarantee.

One wonders how an all-star World Hockey Association team would have done against the Soviets. The NHL representatives were sure humiliated.

The television coverage was for the minority, home box office subscribers, not the majority, and the Saturday afternoon presentation, which was supposed to be a full period, was only a few minutes of the live action.

Whalers Off at Gate — Hockey News reports the biggest drop in attendance by a World Hockey Association entry after the first half of the 1978-79 season was experienced by the New England Whalers. The Whalers, despite being in the thick of the battle for first place all season, attracted 56,777 less ticket purchasers than a year ago for a comparative number of outings at the Springfield Civic Center.

After half the schedule, Edmonton ranks No. 1 at the box office, followed by Quebec, Winnipeg, Cincinnati, New England and Birmingham.

Before the Hartford Civic Center Coliseum roof collapsed, New England ranked at the top of the list as all important bucks office.

Playing home games at Springfield until the Hartford facility is ready, hopefully next January, has been a costly move for the Whalers.

The Whalers have kept WHA hockey alive in the area while taking a financial hit. The team is hopeful that in due time black ink will be used when the team returns to Hartford.

The Whalers lost hundreds of fans last year when the games were shifted to Springfield and this year, the number of Whaler regulars has dropped off at an even greater pace.

Whaler fans will have three opportunities in the next few days to see the club starting tonight when Birmingham comes to Springfield. Edmonton is due Friday night and Quebec Saturday.

Notes Off the Club — Most improved golfer awards at Ellington Country Club for the 1978 season were Helen Woodcock of South Windsor and David Olander of Vernon. Pro Wally Cherna made the announcement. Lori Veal of Manchester placed fourth in the two-mile run and seventh in the mile as a member of the Whalers.

Patient Hagler Waiting for Chance

BOSTON (UPI) — Marvin Hagler isn't the first fighter to be victimized more by the inequities and injustice of the tainted side of boxing than by an opponent's haymaker.

He has, among others, Archie Moore and Jersey Joe Walcott, but he has been a favorite of the television times. Hagler's career every day. He's going to get his chance."

The chances, so far, have been whippersnappers, subtle tuggings at the waistcoat, hushed inquiries in the hallway. There has been the promise of a shot at the winner of the Corro-Vito Anturfero fight. But Corro got hurt, the fight was postponed.

"I don't want to die in a gymnasium. I don't want to be like Jersey Joe Walcott who didn't get a shot until he was 35 — and then how long could he stay there? There has always been one more wall in front of me," said Hagler, 26.

Hagler, 43-2-1 with 36 knockouts, is one of the top ranked contenders in the middleweight ranks. But others ranked lower, others he has beaten, have been given title shots while he waits. He wonders when it will all end.

"I hope this is finally going to be my year. I figure when I get the title, I'll hang onto it for five years. Then I'll make all the money I should have been making a long time ago," he said.

Nothing has come easy for Hagler. The promises of a title fight, which he has all admit he deserves, have been mere excuses. He may get his shot this September against Hugo Corro, but then again, he's heard it all before.

"There are several reasons for the

Celts Made Four Moves And Turned Club Around

BOSTON (UPI) — The old seen in four steps. None of the steps could have transformed this club of under-achievers into one of respect and, surprisingly, playoff potential.

1. The acquisition of veteran Chris Ford for Earl Tatum and the draft pick.

2. The trading of Billy Knight for Rick Robey.

3. The trading of Jo Jo White.

4. The release of Marvin Barnes.

Ford has become the team's shining Paladin in this turnaround, the gritty veteran smoothing out the rough edges. Red Auerbach had been downright angry, but he was a mask on his face when he made this deal.

Knight's departure is the first link in the chain of the Buffalo Gang of Three. Owner John Y. Brown loved Knight, regarding him with a reverence accorded only to someone like Puyillis George. Robey's the strongboy with the big heart who also happens to be good friends with Larry Bird.

The White trade spanned the real estate. The little Celtic with the big salary had been unhappy all year. He has responded in the last seven games with superb basketball, exactly what the Celtics wanted when they got him.

Marvin Barnes. What can be said about him that hasn't been said? The wasted talent, etc. His departure was a necessary tonic for this team's goodwill. He has been sent either to Jersey Shores as compensation for Tom Barker or to Denver as a thank-you for signing Tom Boswell.

There is a fifth step, but it is not yet tangible. It may throw everything out of kilter, because Bob McAdoo needs the ball to get his 30 points or he's unhappy. And yet, Bob McAdoo may help this team.

Realistically, the three draft choices surrendered for McAdoo looked good on paper. But it's a lean year for college talent, and the Celtics may not have gotten anyone worthy out of the draft.

But, they also have no first-round draft picks for this year and next. Don't be surprised if McAdoo is

Garfield, Uthgenannt — Two area pros — Bob Garfield of the East Hartford Racquet Club and Ernie Uthgenannt of the Vernon Tennis Forum — and one from Burlington, Vt., Ted Hoehn, were the latest entrants announced for the Invitational Professional Tennis Tournament Feb. 23-25 at the Manchester Racquet Club.

The latest trio brings the number of acceptances to eight, or one-half of the field.

Pearl White Revisited

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The Perils of Pauline" mesmerized a generation of silent movie fans at Saturday matinees across the country and now television is getting into the old cliffhanger act with a modern series. "The First Time," due for release next month. If the nation doesn't suffer an Anton overdose before summer, Susan may become 1979's superstar. Still in her 20s, Susan, who is 5-foot-11, is too young to have seen Pearl White virtually hanging from cliffs in the old "Perils of Pauline" serials, but she has seen similar cliffhangers on old TV reruns.

Theater Trick No Treat In This Farce

By GLENNE CURRIE

NEW YORK — If anyone ever comes up with a good farce thriller, there'll be cheering in the streets. Larry Cohen's "Trick," which opened on Broadway Feb. 4 at the Playhouse Theater, tries to make that fall. What "Trick" does have is Tammy Grimes, with whom any evening is a treat. Just to see and hear her is fun, and you can ignore what she is saying — of course, sometimes you can't even understand what she's saying, but that's part of the fun.

The Queen's robes. Hundreds of people lined the streets in Ahmadi, Kuwait, hoping for a glimpse of visiting Queen Elizabeth. But they must have had to strain their eyes. The queen was dressed in deference to Moslem code that requires women to be covered from ankle to wrist. She even wore a hat equipped with a veil in the 85-degree heat.

Lobbyist Labels Proposal as Tax

HARTFORD (UPI) — A plan to require housing subdivision developers to pay municipalities cash in lieu of setting aside parks and recreational areas has drawn the support of a Waterford legislator and a town planner. But a construction lobbyist Tuesday told the Legislature's Planning and Development Committee public hearing the proposed amendment is nothing more than another tax in disguise.

Carnations on Sale

Under a bill proposed by Sen. Sanford Cloud, D-Hartford, municipal planning commissions could require monetary compensation from developers instead of requiring them to set aside the open spaces. The payments would be used for the subdivision by improving existing park land or by acquiring additional land for recreational purposes.

Robert Cohn, attorney for the Home Building Association, said his group was against the bill to give planning commissions greater flexibility. Cohn said it would be different if the proposal was worded so a cash payment could be "accepted" instead of "required."

Finance Moves Killed

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state tax-writing committee has rejected two attempts to pump money from legalized gambling into municipalities and public education. The bills were among several hundred money-related measures acted on by the Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee, which faced a 5-day deadline Tuesday for drafting bills for public hearings.

News For Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN
Hey there! What's happening? Let me tell you what's cooking at the center. I mentioned last week that we will be having a special occasion and I'm sure you're all aware of it. I won't say any more except that it really is a surprise. We know you won't want to miss it, so plan on being with us. The action starts shortly after 1 p.m. Maybe you'd like to come for our noon meal and then be here for our entertainment. The next bit of news is that we came up with some more work for the new senior center and we could use some more help. We have had as many as 30 show up in the past and for a while we sort of ran out of work, but now we have a big job and hopefully we can get it done by the middle of next week. Contractors have picked up their bids and we turn them in by Feb. 22. Soon after that we will get started on the major work. We meet at the Green School every day around 9:30 a.m. Drop by even if it's for just an hour or two. Check in with Howard Miller or Leo Hagan, our two supervisors, or Russ Nettleton, who has been filling in as their assistant. Our people who left for Florida last Friday were picked the right time to go with the temperatures here in the teens to zero. Sure hope they are enjoying the trip. By the time they get back we'll be getting a break in the cold weather. Last Friday afternoon we had 36 players for our setback game. The winners: Ada Rojas 128, Al Gates 126, Mike Desimone 124, Arvid Peterson 122, Hans Fredrickson 120.

Young Jason underwent heart surgery at St. Francis Hospital to correct a congenital heart defect. The technique to correct Jason's problem was developed through research sponsored in part by the American Heart Association. HARTFORD (UPI) — in which to draft proposals that would be subject to committee hearings. The committee also planned to hold hearings today on a batch of previously approved bills. One is a proposal by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee, working to approve dozens of bills before a 5 p.m. deadline Tuesday, also agreed to set hearings for later this month on bills allowing state police to exchange wiretap information with local police and further protecting the rights of mental patients. Tuesday was the last day for the committee to act on individually submitted bills. It now has two weeks minimum three-year sentence for a first offense. Second offenders would receive 5- to 10-year terms and third offenders would receive 10- to 20 years. Stiffer sentences and the elimination of indeterminate sentences repeat or chronic offenders would be required in other proposals. # Library Board Stunned By Possible Budget Hike

By JUNE TOMPKINS Herald Reporter MANCHESTER — The library board was stunned Tuesday night to learn that the town's 1980-81 budget request for $19,746, a 15.4 percent increase over this year's budget. Quick to react was board member Marge Flynn with "What! No way! It would be damaging to the board." After considerable discussion, the board moved to ask Jackson to re-submit his proposed budget to show a 6.5 percent increase plus the cost of two additional positions needed. The two positions call for a special and full-time person and a library technical assistant (20 hours a week) both costing a total of $9,758, Jackson said. At first, Flynn proposed cutting back "right down the line" in acquisitions, including books, records, microfilm and maybe putting some things on hold. Board member Mary LeDuc reminded the board that in most nations, books are considered the "frill," and that's what the Board of Directors would cut," she said. The proposed budget does not include any personnel salary increase which prompted reaction from the six staff members present. "We cannot unilaterally set salary scales until the library employees board a union," board chairman Leo Danna said, explaining this was upon advice from the Town Attorney. He explained that if a salary scale were set, the bargaining unit could use it as a negotiating tool. "Once a petition is filed, we cannot set a salary," George Dean, a library staff member who is one of the participants in applying for a bargaining unit, said. "If I was on the Board of Directors and this came to me, I'd

Jai Alai Hearing Allowed

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Hartford Superior Court judge has ruled the state gaming commission can hold a hearing on whether Milford Jai Alai has submitted financial records required by the commission. # Non-Oil Auto Is Needed To Keep Mobility: Adams

BOSTON (UPI) — Americans will begin losing mobility shortly after 1985 unless U.S. automakers invent a car that doesn't depend on high-priced foreign oil, Transportation Secretary Brock Adams warned Tuesday. Adams urged some of the nation's top automotive experts attending a two-day conference to work with the government to "speed development of an energy-stretching, life-saving, people-pleasing car" by the 1990s. "The most compelling motive in our quest for a better car is the stark fact that we are running out of what our motor vehicles run on," Adams said. # Industry Experts Say New Car Plans Wrong

BOSTON (UPI) — Key auto industry experts say it will take new, plentiful fuels to meet the nation's future energy demands. "We're redesigning the automobile as a near-term solution," Jones said, "eventually we'll need alternate fuels for the alternate vehicles." Ford Research Vice President W. Dale Compton said the auto industry for years has been working on news cars capable of using new, renewable fuels. He said new ideas will be phased in gradually in the coming years but will not "spring up overnight." Speaking to newsmen Tuesday, Adams said he was disappointed with the auto industry's plan concerning development of new technology. "The auto companies are muscle bound by their size and their wealth," Adams said. "It is not to innovate is very difficult for them." "I just want them to lift their sights a little higher." The Transportation Secretary later delivered a major policy statement on car transportation at Harvard University.

Mass Transit Comfort Said Essential in State

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut has made traveling in packs comfortable for commuters if the state wants to save fuel and clean up its dirty air, witnesses told a legislative hearing Tuesday. The Transportation Committee heard testimony on 13 bills to make mass transit more palatable — like guards, telephones and lights at commuter parking lots, car pool lanes on interstates and state aid to towns with commuter lots. One legislator and committee member Rep. Elizabeth Leonard, R-Ridgefield, said Congress should clean up its act if the state wants people on trains. The rail line receives about $10 million in state subsidies each year. Rail commuters, especially on the Danbury to South Norwalk stretch, often miss connections or have to pinch hit with taxis and buses because faulty diesel engines are trucked all the way to Harmon, N.Y., for repairs, she said. "I consider the situation intolerable and it cannot go on," Mrs. Leonard said while questioning William Lynch, director of rail transportation for the Department of Transportation. "With a track record like this, I can see why a person wouldn't put a foot on a train in this state," she said. Mrs. Leonard is co-sponsoring a bill which would require state-subsidized railroads to repair their cars in Connecticut. Lynch agreed it made more sense to fix the cars in Connecticut, but said the only

Fiber Optics To Change Future of Cable Television

Irving Kahn, chairman of Broadband Communications Inc. of New York, is planning the "ultimate" system of cable television. Industry figures show that 4,000 cable systems are serving some 14 million homes today. (UPI photo)

By PETER MACKLER
United Press International

There are those who say you can wrap the future of cable television around your finger. It's called an optical fiber, a filament of glass only slightly thicker than a human hair. Take 144 of them, wrap them in protective sheathing, and you still have a cable barely the width of a slender cigar.

And each of these willow marvels can theoretically carry 196 channels of laser-light TV signals—more than triple the capacity of the most advanced coaxial cable—and do it more reliably and with less interference.

"With fiber you are constructing a 10,000-lane highway whereas today you have a single-lane horse-and-buggy path," says Irving Kahn, the gruffly informal chairman of Broadband Communications Inc. Telephone and Telegraph, testified at a House hearing last July.

AT&T Can't Move

Indeed, AT&T is currently prohibited from making such a move outside its traditional domain. But cable TV, which began as an aid to rural signal reception and went on to establish itself as a saleable programing medium, is already beginning to expand to the more exotic services.

Mass use is still a ways off, but already on the market are two-way links that allow you to "talk back" to the TV tube, and make possible such services as computerized burglary and fire alarm systems.

It's the "wired nation" concept of the late '60s taking on new steam as video entertainment on a single fiber freeway into the home.

Yet for an industry where satellites and earth stations are as routine as slings— they're now "birds" and "dishes"—the cable world is remarkably low key about this new technology.

It's years away, they say; still too costly and plagued with bugs. But there may be more than just the normal business prudence behind the skepticism.

For some fear that as surely as fiber optics will thread its way to the telecommunications of tomorrow, it will lead to a death struggle with the King of the corporate jungle—the telephone company.

"We have never been in, nor do we have any plans to be in, the CATV business," says William Ellinghaus, vice chairman of the board of American Telephone and Telegraph, testified at a House hearing last July.

Just a Statistic

"We say that in a head-on collision between the Mack truck and this bicycle we are riding we're going to be just a statistic," says Robert Schmidt, president of the National Cable Television Association.

Cable TV has come a long way since the first line was stretched from a hilltop antenna 30 years ago to bring television to the homes of eastern Pennsylvania's coal belt, which were blocked off from over-the-air signals.

Today more than 4,000 cable systems serve some 14 million homes, according to industry figures. Nearly 3 million shell out an extra $8-to-$13 monthly fee for pay-TV movies, sports and variety extravaganzas, all uninterrupted by commercials.

The immediate future looks brighter still.

Video Cornucopia

Analysts predict an average 15-percent annual growth rate for cable TV over the next eight years. Total revenues, just under $1 billion in 1976, are expected to reach $1.5 billion this year.

For the viewer, cable TV is a cornucopia of video delights. In addition to regular entertainment fare, the country's cable viewers get news and weather services, religious shows, children's shows, consumer shows, community and public-access programming.

Cable is also flexible enough to accommodate visions big and small. For example:

- The newly created Cable Satellite Public Affairs Network plans to distribute gavel-to-gavel coverage of the U.S. House of Representatives, possibly as early as the beginning of next year.
- In Findlay, Ohio, high school students produce programs on school doings, sporting events, community news, meetings and panel discussions.
- A Los Angeles channel offers information on bus services and surveys gasoline prices in various parts of the city.

Two-Way Hookups

- Two-way hookups allow residents at senior citizen centers in Reading, Pa., to interview local politicians and bridge the generation gap with high school students via a split-screen dialogue.
- In Little Rock, Ark., a cable franchise proposal includes the linking of all municipal services from hospitals to schools.

Coffee Price Down

By United Press International

Three of the country's largest coffee roasters have trimmed wholesale prices on ground coffee by 5 cents a pound and that means lower prices should be evident at the supermarket within a month.

General Foods Corp., the No. 1 roaster based in White Plains, N.Y., Tuesday followed the lead of Folger Coffee Co. and Hills Bros. Coffee Inc., who initiated the latest round of price cuts Monday.

General Foods said it was cutting prices on its ground coffee in a move that would pare the price of regular Maxwell House, its largest seller, to $2.48 a pound. The pricing action is effective immediately.

Folger Coffee Co., the No. 2 roaster, and Hills Bros. Coffee Inc., the No. 3 roaster, said Monday the price reductions—from $2.53 to $2.48 a pound—would take effect immediately.

Region Jobs Rise

BOSTON (UPI)—A record 5.3 million New England residents held jobs last December, up 19,900 from the previous month, the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics said Monday.

The figure showed an increase of 220,400 over the number of persons who held jobs in December 1977, the bureau said.

The agency's report listed employment growth in the past year at 4.3 percent, slightly better than the 4.2 percent reported nationwide.

According to the report, the region gained 3,300 new jobs in manufacturing industries and 16,600 in the non-manufacturing sectors.

Bad Footwear Stats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Shipments of plastic and rubber footwear dropped 12 percent from 1972 through 1977, the Census Bureau reported Tuesday in a preliminary survey.

Employment also plummeted during that period from 31.5 million workers to 20.5 million, a 35 percent drop, the agency said.

Total value of shipments in 1977 was $530 million, down from $600 million five years earlier.

Company Officer

HARTFORD—Kenneth J. Dawson has been named assistant director of data processing operations at a company officer and insurance Co. Dawson measured and evaluated the performance of the company's on-line systems and maintains the computer resources used by the systems.

Dawson joined Connecticut Mutual in 1968 as a computer operator and following a series of promotions was named systems analyst, his most recent position.

Dawson received associate's degrees in business administration and data processing from Manchester Community College. He and his family are residents of Manchester.

Bosses' Night Slated

HARTFORD—The American Association of Medical Assistants, Hartford Chapter, will sponsor their annual bosses' night banquet Wednesday, Feb. 21 at The Brownstone Restaurant in Hartford.

Presentations of the awards to the new Boss of the Year and Medical Assistant of the Year will be made. Hartford's Mayor George Atholson will be a guest at the event. He will declare the week of Feb. 18 as Medical Assistants Week.

HEART MONTH

Affairs of the heart have always captured the attention of poets and novelists. Sentimentalists have ordained the month of February in celebration of St. Valentine as the occasion for exchanging vows of affection. Today, physicians and nutritionists, together with the American Heart Association, have added their recognition to the month of February as National Heart Month with more serious concerns.

Coronary heart disease is still the leading cause of mortality in the United States. Researchers are pointing the way to reducing these statistics through an intensified effort to reduce and modify the life style of individuals who fall into one or more of the major risk categories for heart disease—(1) smoking, (2) high blood pressure, and (3) high serum cholesterol.

The Rule of Six

NEW YORK (UPI) - Eula Boardman developed a basic rule of six to estimate cooking time in microwave ovens. She says one pound of raw solid food one inch thick and at room temperature will cook in six minutes on high power in a 650- to 750-watt microwave oven...

Using her rule as a benchmark, reduce cooking time if the food is less than one inch thick; very porous, warm, in small particles or has a high water content or if oven wattage is above 675. Add time if the food is more than one inch thick, very dense, at refrigerator temperature, bulky or has low water content or if the oven wattage is below 650.

Mrs. Boardman says variable power ovens can be used to achieve cooking results more nearly like those of conventional ovens. Her power percentage guide based on that principle recommends: - 30-100 percent power for foods with high water content such as cakes, fruits, vegetables, poultry, seafood.

high, reheating cooked foods and general cooking. - 50 percent, or medium high, less tender meats, casseroles, meat with high fat content. - 70-80 percent, or medium high, less tender meats, casseroles, meat with high fat content.

Seat Belt Use Is a Problem

By MICHAEL CONLON WASHINGTON (UPI) - People who drive subcompact cars are almost twice as likely to hook up their seat belts as are drivers of full-sized cars, according to a government survey. The study also found drivers and passengers of both big and small cars were making their seat belts work properly.

The basic conclusion of the study by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration: only 14 percent of all U.S. drivers use their belts. In subcompact, the figure jumps to 19.5 percent, compared with 9.6 percent for full-sized cars. The most common problems reported with belt usage involve comfort of the upper body during movement, pressure on the user, poor fit and inability to find the latch plate.

In 10 percent of the tests, belts with tension-relieving devices that allow slight slackening for comfort were found to provide too much slack. In the atmosphere. The gas in the watches is sealed in glass tubes. The report says the amount of exposure is still likely to be low if the tube is accidentally broken. The report adds the likelihood of that kind of accident is remote.

After-Hours Call Vary

NEW YORK (UPI) - A study of 3,862 after-hours patient calls found that parents are more likely to call a doctor after hours when their sons are sick than when their daughters are. The study also indicated women are twice as likely as men to call a doctor after hours.

Many after-hours calls concern emotional disorders or family quarrels, the study indicated. The of 707 employers. ### Books in Brief

Bard Guide

Shakespeare, an illustrated illustrated by Stanley Wells, (Oxford, $9.95)

Wells, head of the Shakespeare Department at the University of Oxford Press, has compiled a dictionary of Shakespeare's plays, characters, productions, actors, composers and editors. It will be of great value to non-specialist readers, teachers and students. Though heavily biased towards English actors and productions, the book contains a great deal of information otherwise hard to find in a single volume.

Good Story

Love Signs, the Story of Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh, by Louis Lasky, Jr. with Pat Silver, (Crown, $4.95)

Screenwriter Lasky and his wife, a television scriptwriter and producer, tell a twice-told story here but do it briefly and with many new anecdotes. They tell honestly of the problems which beset the Oliviers, though they do not detail Vivien Leigh's more grotesque sexual adventures. Her talent never reached his genius, and the couldn't forgive him for that.

Social Security

Q. I heard there was a recent change in the law that would most workers to work up until 70 if they wish. Did that change the age at which people can get Social Security retirement checks?

A. No. That law means workers generally cannot be forced to retire because they reach 65, but it doesn't change your Social Security rights. You can still apply for your full amount of your retirement at 65, or for a permanently reduced benefit as early as 62.

Q. By the time I retire at 65 in July, I'll have earned $12,000. As this is over the $4,500 annual limit for 1979, does this mean I can't get any Social Security checks during the year?

A. There's a special rule that applies in the first year of retirement. Under this rule, we can pay you a full benefit for each month in 1979 that you don't work or your wages don't exceed $375, regardless of what your local earnings are for the year.

Q. I'm 60 and would like to keep working as long as my health holds out. How will this affect the amount of my Social Security check later on?

A. Since you will reach 65 after 1981, your monthly benefit will be increased by 3 percent for each year you work past 65 and don't receive retirement checks. (The increase is one percent per year for people who reach 65 in 1981 or before.) Any wage increases also can mean bigger retirement checks because benefit amounts are based on average earnings covered by Social Security.

Q. I'll be eligible for retirement benefits in a couple of years and would like to get a general idea of how much I'll get. How can I get an estimate?

A. Any Social Security office can give you a post-card you can mail in to get a free statement of earnings reported for you. If you are 57 or older, request an estimate of what your benefit might be at 65.

Q. I understand that the Social Security Administration also handles Supplemental Security Income for the aged, blind, or disabled. Do people who get SSI payments also get the cost-of-living increases? And if so, what about those who get both Social Security and SSI?

A. Yes. Supplemental Security Income payments also increase with the cost of living. For those who get both types of payments, the Social Security increase is offset by a reduction in the SSI payment.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — A biochemistry professor says the discovery of a unique membrane which allows certain bacteria to convert sunlight into energy may eventually lead to the development of a new type of solar battery.

Dr. Robert D. Renthal, of the University of Texas-San Antonio, said it may be possible to synthetically duplicate the purple membrane. It makes possible the only known example of photosynthesis which occurs without chlorophyll, the green pigment that enables plants to use sunshine.

"Scientists eventually may be able to design a plastic sheet, modeled on the membrane, that can store solar energy and function as a solar battery," Renthal said.

The purple membrane, which is similar to the purple pigmentation in the retina of the human eye, was discovered in red bacteria found near the Dead Sea and other salt flats around the world.

Cell biologist Walter Stockenius, of the University of California-San Francisco, stumbled onto the purple membrane while at Rockefeller University in 1965.

Renthal, operating with $178,000 in grants from the Public Health Service and Robert Welch Foundation, wants to find out how the membrane, a specialized patch formed in the red bacteria, converts sunlight into electrical energy.

He said the purple membrane may represent a first hope of scientists to overcome the highly unstable condition of chlorophyll that has prevented its use to produce energy for man. Renthal said sunlight activates a pump-like mechanism in the purple membrane that carries protons, the simplest form of ion, across the cell membrane in a process similar to photosynthesis.

"The ejected protons produce an electrochemical gradient that the cell uses as a miniature battery," he said. "The research also may contribute to basic medical knowledge."

Fruit-Filled Roast Pork, With Beer, Is a Delight

By BETTY RYDER

Fruit filled roast loin of pork flavored with beer turns an ordinary meal into a gastronomic delight. Just imagine a tender loin of pork filled with apricots, apples and peaches and then lightly seasoned with beer. The taste is simply fantastic.

On a cold winter's afternoon there's nothing quite so satisfying as the aroma of Sunday dinner filling the air. This gourmet delight is relatively simple to prepare, although it does take a little time and is well worth the effort.

Roast Pork
1 cup mixed dried fruits
1 can or bottle (12 oz.) beer
4 1/2 pounds boned loin of pork center cut
Salt
freshly ground black pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons red currant jelly
2 tablespoons flour
Remove pits from prunes. Cut large pieces of fruit into 1-inch pieces.

Place fruit in saucepan; cover with cold beer and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and let fruit soak in the beer for 30 minutes. Drain fruit on paper towels, reserving beer; set aside. Make a pocket in the pork by cutting a deep slit down the length of the loin, going to within 1/4 inch of the two ends and to within 1 inch of the other side.

Season the pocket lightly with salt and pepper and stuff it with the fruit. Skewer opening closed. Tie with string at 1-inch intervals.

In large roasting pan, melt butter and oil over moderate heat. Brown loin evenly on all sides, about 20 minutes. Remove all fat from pan. Pour in reserved beer; bring to a simmer on top of the stove. Bake in 350 degree oven, covered 1 1/2 hours or until meat is well done. Remove loin to platter. Skim fat from seasoning. Carve meat into 1-inch slices. Garnish with watercress, if desired. Pass sauce separately. Serves 8.

As an accompaniment, try these roasted potatoes seasoned with cheese and basil from Allen Claire, NEA food editor.

These potatoes are attractive when they are sliced as directed below.

Roasted Potatoes
6 baking potatoes
Cold Water
1 cup (1/2 stick) corn oil
margarine, melted
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons dried bread crumbs
1/2 cup shredded low-fat Mozzarella cheese

Peel potatoes and place in cold water. Place 1 potato at a time on a wooden spoon large enough to cradle it. Slice down at 1/2-inch intervals across the potato. (The curved bowl of the spoon will prevent the knife from slicing completely through the potato). Return potatoes to cold water.

When ready to roast, dry potatoes and place them in a greased 8 1/2 x 5 1/2-inch baking pan. Combine corn oil, margarine, sweet basil and salt. Brush potatoes. Bake at 425 degrees for 35 minutes. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and cheese. Continue roasting for 10 minutes, or until done. Makes 6 servings.

Fight Stress

AURORA, N.Y. (UPI) — Deep muscle relaxation exercises, transcendental meditation and jogging were among the stress-fighting methods demonstrated or discussed at stress workshops conducted recently at Welles College, a women's liberal arts institution in upstate New York.

The workshops were sponsored jointly by the student government, the Dean of Students' office, the Medical and Health Club and the Women's Resource Center. They were designed to help students deal with their own stress and teach them how to help others suffering from stress.
