Byrd Is Mean Fiddler

Politicizing isn't the only talent Sen. Robert Byrd can boast. He's also a mean mountain fiddler, and Sunday he proved it - saving on "Turkey in the Straw" and "Will the Circle Be Unbroken" on a Grand Ole Opry PBS special out of Nashville, Tenn.

The West Virginia Democrat was introduced by country music king Roy Acuff and President Carter gave him a pre-performance call for moral support.

And how does he like show biz? Says he, "I don't know. I was a little nervous. I'm not used to playing before a big crowd."

Still Tough

John Wayne, who underwent cancer surgery Jan. 13 in which his entire stomach was removed, stood smiling and appeared relaxed Sunday as he gazed over Balboa Bay from his Newport Beach, Calif., home.

tor says will be a long convalescence at home. It was his second cancer operation and his second major operation in a year.

He underwent surgery for removal of a cancerous lung in 1964 and only last April had open heart surgery to replace a faulty heart valve.

Marriage Mellows

The terror of the tennis courts is said to be a mellow fellow these days - in the words of one observer, "very relaxed and happy."

The Dayton, Ohio, Journal Herald says that's because Jimmy Connors now has a wife he hasn't told anyone about, and that furthermore, he'll be a proud father sometime this summer.

The newspaper says the terrible-tempered Connors - No. 1 in the world by estimation of the Association of Tennis Professionals - secretly wed Playboy magazine's 1977 "Playmate of the Year," Patti McGrate, last fall in Tokyo. He used to date Chris Evert, but that match never got off the court.

Father Continues Fight For Youth Camp Safety

WESTPORT (UPI) - A man whose son was killed in a summer camp canoeing accident more than 13 years ago says he has been fighting since then and will continue to fight for a federal law on youth camps.

Mitch Kurman of Westport said Sunday he has been repeatedly "outraged and disgusted" by the number of serious accidents and deaths at summer camps due to the lack of safety regulations and the unqualified personnel in charge.

"I've been at this thing since I found out the outrageous situation that led to the death of my boy," he said. "And I intend to persist."

Kurman's 15-year-old son David was killed in a canoeing accident on the Penobscot River in Maine in August 1965 and it took three days to find the boy's body.

"I've got hundreds of cases in which kids were killed, blinded, crippled and sexually assaulted at camps," said Kurman, who has been gathering information and taking his cause to Washington for the last 12 years.

"There'll be more and more tragedies. The camps have been downright lucky they haven't been more. If there had been 100 kids killed in one day there'd be an outcry for this bill," he said.

An estimated eight million children attend 10,000 summer camps each year - marked by an average 100 deaths and 250 serious injuries, a federal study reports.

Rains Flood Southeast

By United Press International

Torrential weekend rains flooded the Southeast from Mississippi to Florida to the Carolinas, killing at least four people, leaving hundreds homeless and causing millions of dollars in property damage.

A late winter blizzard paraded parts of the upper Midwest under huge drifts that blocked highways, leaving hundreds of travelers stranded.

The National Weather Service said the threat of flooding should ease in the Southeast today, but warned wide areas of the Midwest, Mid-Atlantic and Northeast states to be on the watch for flash floods caused by thawing ice-jammed rivers, snow runoff and rain.

Gale and storm warnings were posted in the Pacific Northwest and the NWS said rain-loosened snow packs in the Olympia and Cascade Mountains posed a high avalanche danger.

Described as one of the worst storms in decades, the rains started Sunday and Sunday measured up to 15 inches in some parts of the Midwest. The storm spun off front winds of 40 to 45 mph over parts of Atlanta and

Craft Eyes Moons, Survives Radiation

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Voyager 1 survived intense radiation as it raced past Jupiter today, turning its electronic eyes from the surrealistic clouds of the giant planet to a variety of yellow, orange and brown moon worlds.

The robot explorer, performing flawlessly 422 million miles from Earth, swept within 173,000 miles of the planet colossus of the solar system at 7:06 a.m. EST. It took 30 minutes for confirmation of successful operation to reach Earth.

"Everything's normal," reported project manager Robert Parks.

As it passed over the turmoil of Jupiter's atmosphere, showing detail as small as three miles across, Voyager 1 rotated its instrument platform to scrutinize the satellite Io, a bizarre moon that resembled a giant pizza pie in more distant color photos.

Closer shots showed a mixture of strange features including what appeared to be depressions, lumps and fractures in the crust believed covered by beds of salts and sulfur.

Jupiter's tremendous gravity whipped the 1,800-pound Voyager like a slingshot around the planet and hurled it on a course taking it past Io and the three other largest Jovian satellites later today and Tuesday en route to a rendezvous next year with Saturn.

Jupiter's gravity is so great that it had doubled Voyager's speed in relation to the sun to more than 80,000 miles an hour in 24 hours.

Jupiter Probe

This composite photo shows the four large satellites of the planet Jupiter. All are shown in their correct relative sizes. Ganymede and Callisto are larger than the planet Mercury while Io and Europa are about the size of our moon. Io is thought to be covered with sulfur and salts, and Europa with water ice. Ganymede has both ice and rock exposed while Callisto is primarily rocky. These photos made by Voyager I were taken between Thursday and Saturday. (UPI photos)

Rent Review Unit Sought by Rubin

MANCHESTER — Ben Rubin has asked the town to establish a fair rent commission to review rents charged by landlords.

Rubin, who is the organizer of the Manchester Tenants Association, wrote to the Town Board of Directors to suggest an ordinance to establish such a commission in town.

He said five cities in the state, including Hartford, have such commissions.

Rubin said some landlords have not raised rents during the past year or are keeping their rents at a comparatively low figure.

"However, we also are receiving reports of rent increases far in excess of the presidential guidelines, where the combination of inflation and reducing rate of vacancies are creating a seller's market," he said.

He said money from the Community Development program could be used to fund the work of such a commission.

Rubin also wrote to the Board of Directors recently to recommend again a proposed ordinance that would require a certificate of occupancy to be issued each time a property is sold or occupied by a new tenant. Rubin previously has suggested such an idea, but town officials have felt it might be expensive because of the number of inspections that would be required.

Hebron Telephones Topic for Hearing

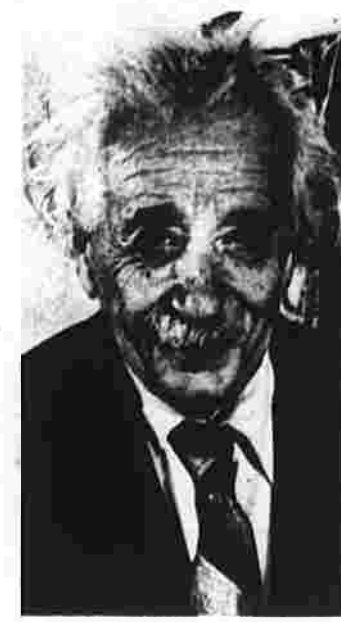

HEBRON — Hebron residents will have an opportunity to voice their opinions concerning the town's multiple telephone exchange at a public hearing tonight at 8 in the auditorium of the Hebron Elementary School, Route 85.

The public hearing was arranged by Rep. Aloysius J. Ahearn on request of the Hebron Businessman's Association. Representatives of the Southern New England Telephone Co. will be present to explain the split exchanges.

Robert Little, assistant vice president in charge of revenue requirements will discuss the problem. A representative from the Public Utilities Control Authority will also be present along with Ahearn and members of the Businessman's Association.

Centennial of His Birth

Scientists Honor Einstein

Albert Einstein

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — A ramshackle old character with ruffled pants and a kitchen-pot hairdo, who often disdained to put on his socks and who gnawed his pipestem through, was honored today in a gathering of 550 of the world's leading physicist minds from three continents.

He died here in 1955, and Pablo Casals remarked: "After Einstein's death it is as if the world has lost a part of its substance."

Albert Einstein, the father of relativity who had a warm and child-like purity of spirit, was the subject of a six-day learned symposium sponsored by the Institute for Advanced Study, which he joined in 1933 and where he spent the rest of his life.

The event observed the centennial of his birth on March 14, 1879 and opened the national Einstein centennial celebration.

"Einstein was clearly one of the greatest minds in the history of mankind," said institute director Harry Woolf, "and he remained an extraordinarily humane, kindly and witty man."

The invited participants, many of whom were delivering scientific papers and giving reminiscences of the genius who heralded the atomic age and revised man's concept of the universe, were from Europe, Asia and North America. They included 16 Nobel laureates.

Woolf said they represented "a full array of scholars in Einstein's fields of interest" and that the program would stress Einstein's role as a pacifist against the building of the German war machine or his outspoken battle against McCarthyism.

At the opening dinner Sunday night, Dr. Jürgen Schmude, minister of education and science for West Germany, announced a $700,000 gift from his government to the institute in honor of the German-born Einstein. It provides a senior research professorship and two fellowships for five years.

"This gift is not to be understood as a late attempt to claim the genius of Einstein for Germany," Schmude said. "Rather it is meant as a token of our respect for Albert Einstein, which includes acknowledgment and understanding of his attitude toward Germany. It also includes the expression of regret that fate did not permit reconciliation with the Germany of today."

The Albert Einstein award was presented at the dinner to Prof. Tullio Regge of the Institute for Advanced Study and the University of Turin, Italy. The recipients of that award often have subsequently received the Nobel Prize.

The 1979 commemorative stamp honoring Einstein was issued here Sunday. The first album was sent to President Carter, the second to Margot Einstein, the physicist's stepdaughter, and the third to Helen Dukas, his longtime secretary.

Special Session Asked On Sewers Question

MANCHESTER — Prior to a special vote tonight of the Eighth District electors, Director Robert Blechman will call for an executive session of the district directors to question a stand taken by Evelyn Gregan, another district director.

Blechman said he has asked the directors to convene at 7 tonight at the Whiton Memorial Library for the purpose of going into executive session.

The special vote to ask the district electors whether they will allow the town to provide the sewers for the Buckland Commons development in the North End will be at 7:30 at the library.

Blechman has taken issue with a public stand taken by Mrs. Gregan the sewers for the district. He claims that she had no right to take a stand in her capacity as public relations director of the district, particularly since she had voted at a Feb. 20 meeting to support the sewerage of the project by the district. Blechman had called for a motion at that meeting urging HARTFORD - The winning number drawn Saturday in the Connecticut daily lottery was 448.

Crisis To Crowd Transit System

NEW HAVEN (UPI) - Any future energy crisis could cause overcrowding on the state-run mass transit system during commuter rush hours, says State Transportation Commissioner Arthur Powers.

"There are many who think buses and trains are running half empty. But during commuter hours in Stamford for instance, the buses are about 75 percent full and in Hartford they are 95 to 100 percent full, so we do have a problem," Powers said Sunday in a broadcast interview.

He said trains are filled and riders already standing on the West End commuter rail line to New York.

The state does have contingency plans to provide transportation for most people if a full-scale energy crisis developed, but it would take long-term planning to develop a permanent solution, he said.

"We can increase ridership on the buses by at least one-third during commuter hours by allowing standing room. This is permissible and will provide more capacity so people can use the buses," Powers said on Connecticut Radio Network's weekly interview program "Dialogue '79."

"If the energy crunch is on, you're going to find many municipalities, states and private bus lines trying to buy new buses, because the demand will be there," the new transportation chief for Connecticut said.

He pointed out it takes more than one year to obtain a new bus after it's ordered, "so you can appreciate it won't be easy to get a lot of new buses in a hurry."

The Nutmeg State has 280 buses on order which are due in place by the end of August, and the transportation department plans to repair, maintain and utilize older buses in case there is an energy crisis, Powers said.

He added state officials hope to work with industry for cooperation on staggered work hours, so buses can transport a greater number of workers.

Changing the public attitude on energy consumption is another task, Powers said.

Alertness of Guide Dog Saves Woman From Fire

NEW YORK (UPI) - Ellen Logue, blind since birth, put the burning potholder in the sink and thinking the fire was out - sat down to eat her lunch. Soon, her guide dog, Star, was barking and nipping her, nudging her toward the front door.

She obeyed, and minutes later, she was standing on the front sidewalk. Then the three-story, wood-frame house where she, her blind husband and two blind sons lived, burst into flames.

The golden retriever ran back inside in an apparent attempt to save the family's two pet cats. But the flames forced the dog back. The cats perished.

"Being blind isn't the worst tragedy in the world," Mrs. Logue's husband, Andrew, said Sunday. "We could all be dead."

The seven-room Brooklyn house they rented for $250 a month was heavily damaged and most of the family's possessions were destroyed in the fire Friday.

Logue said the fire started when she put the potholder in the sink and thought the flames were out, but maybe sparks had scattered.

Mrs. Logue was sitting in the dining room about 1:30 p.m. with Star when the dog began barking. Smelling smoke, Mrs. Logue walked into the kitchen.

"That's when Star started barking and pushing her out the door," said Logue. "A guide dog will nip its master, gentle nips, out of pure love."

Board Will Discuss Evaluation Forms

EAST HARTFORD - School administrators will present a new evaluation form for teachers, nurses and clerical workers to the Board of Education members tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Penney High School.

Jerry Marcus, assistant superintendent for personnel, released the forms Friday as part of the board's agenda.

The new forms will be used for annual evaluations of teachers, nurses and clerical workers. The forms are the result of more than a year of work with teachers, nurses, clerical workers and administrators.

Categories for teachers include instruction, classroom control, techniques and skills, planning and organization, competency in subject matter, teaching rapport with students, relationship with staff and parents, communication and professional involvement.

The salary scale will increase from 75 cents to 85 cents and chips will rise from 50 to 25 cents. In the high schools, cafeteria lunch will increase from 90 to 95 cents; hamburgers from 55 to 65 cents; cheeseburgers from 60 to 70 cents; hot dogs from 45 to 50 cents; yogurt from 40 to 45 cents and triple-decker burgers from 75 to 95 cents.

Diggs said the reason for the rise in prices is inflation, which he called "a fact of life," that "cannot be fiscally ignored."

East Hartford Police Report

Police arrested a Vernon woman early Sunday after she left her two-year-old daughter with a 16-year-old youth when she gave him a ride home, police said.

Nancy Monnier, 18, of 30 Prospect St., Rockville, was charged with police with injury or risk of injury to a minor, interfering with a police officer and disorderly conduct, police said.

Miss Monnier allegedly left the child with the East Hartford youth after she gave him a ride home Saturday night.

The youth said he didn't know what to do with the child and called his girlfriend and her mother notified the police. The mother kept the child until Miss Monnier's father picked up the girl Sunday morning, police said.

Miss Monnier told Manchester police at one point Sunday morning that East Hartford police had kidnapped her child.

Police said they have filed a complaint to the state Department of Children and Youth Services.

Miss Monnier is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond for an appearance in court today.

Police arrested 14 persons late Saturday and early Sunday after they were called several times to a party at 228 Woodlawn Circle.

It took about eight officers to stop the party at 11:10 p.m. Saturday, police said. They were called originally to stop a fight. They were called a second time for a noise complaint and a third and fourth time because the party goers were acting disorderly.

Streaking UConn Five No. 1 in N.E.

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sports-writer

It started to peak at the right time and how far it can go is a question. But one thing is certain. UConn is the 1979 ECAC New England Division I basketball champions.

The streaking Huskies led claim to the title Saturday afternoon with a 58-50 verdict over defending titlist the University of Rhode Island at the Providence Civic Center before an estimated crowd of 12,000.

Connecticut became the first two-time winner of the five-year ECAC Tournament and earned its second trip to the NCAA Tournament in four years, its first since 1976.

UConn, 23-7, winners of five in a row and 10 of 11, will face an old "friend" in the National Tournament. The Huskies are paired with 23-7 Syracuse University in a second round tilt Saturday afternoon at the Providence Civic Center at a time to be announced.

The winner advances to the East Regional semifinals and finals March 16 and 18 at Raleigh, N.C.

"It's like a dream come true. I said the same thing two years ago when I got the job," beamed Husky Coach Don Perro before a large gathering of the media. "I can go right down the line. Our defense was exceptional. We changed and caused some confusion."

"One time I heard Sly (Williams) come down the court and yell 'man.' We were in a zone," exemplified Husky Tri-Captain Jeff Carr, who had 10 points, 10 in the second half, and 8 rebounds in the championship game.

Freshman sensation Cory Thompson, 6-foot-8, 230-pounder out of Middletown High, was named the tournament's most valuable player but there would've been no argument if Carr or Randy LaVigne had been selected instead. "One time I heard Sly (Williams) come down the court and yell 'man.' We were in a zone," exemplified Husky Tri-Captain Jeff Carr, who had 10 points, 10 in the second half, and 8 rebounds in the championship game.

Freshman sensation Cory Thompson, 6-foot-8, 230-pounder out of Middletown High, was named the tournament's most valuable player but there would've been no argument if Carr or Randy LaVigne had been selected instead. Carr and LaVigne, along with Rhody's Jim Wright and Don Perro before a large gathering of the media, "I can go right down the line. Our defense was exceptional. We changed and caused some confusion."

UConn, 23-7, winners of five in a row and 10 of 11, will face an old "friend" in the National Tournament. The Huskies are paired with 23-7 Syracuse University in a second round tilt Saturday afternoon at the Providence Civic Center at a time to be announced.

The winner advances to the East Regional semifinals and finals March 16 and 18 at Raleigh, N.C.

Campbell Ailing In R Sox Camp

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI)—Reliever Bill Campbell, who has been working out with the rest of his Boston Red Sox teammates, is now resting his sore right shoulder after being ordered not to throw until Wednesday.

"I'll just keep taking my (corticisone) pills every day and go back to playing it by ear," said Campbell, trying not to sound discouraged. "We'll see what this rest will do. If it doesn't work, then we'll have to try something else."

Campbell, who was sidelined much of last season with a sore shoulder and pitching arm, has said he is prepared to undergo surgery if his right shoulder fails to come around by the end of spring training.

His shoulder acted up last week after three days of workouts as the Red Sox continue to prepare for exhibition action under the Florida sun.

"I didn't seem to me I was throwing that hard," he said. "I didn't come down here to rush myself. I threw for five minutes each time and on Thursday I felt really good out there. It was later that the shoulder stiffened up."

The Red Sox, meanwhile were expected to re-open trade negotiations this week with the Cleveland Indians. The Tribe reportedly has offered to swap outfielder Jim Norris for rookie pitcher Roy Finch.

But, General Manager Haywood Sullivan said the deal could include other players as well.

"I've heard the Indians are having some trouble signing some of their outfielders, (Bobby) Bonds, (Billy) North and Norris. Well, we'll be talking in the next day or two," he said.

Former Boston great Ted Williams, now Boston's special batting instructor, showed up at camp Sunday. He predicted slugger Jim Rice would find the going tougher at the plate this season.

"He (Rice) had 677 plate appearances last year," said Williams. "He won't get that many again, especially if he keeps hitting home runs. They'll walk him more and they'll pitch him differently. So we'll have to be more selective."

Fifth Indoor Title Won by Connors

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Jimmy Connors, who spent almost as much time dodging questions about his marital status as he is running around on the court, didn't waste much time savoring his fifth U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championship Sunday.

Connors collected his $40,000 check and a silver champagne bucket, then left the Memphis Racquet Club immediately after his 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 victory over Arthur Ashe.

The official explanation from tournament director Tom Buford was that Connors had become ill in the dressing room and decided to forgo his usual interview with reporters.

"I guess that 24-hour bug that's been going around here got him just right," Buford said. "If he had 30 minutes earlier, we wouldn't have had a final."

The departure left about 20 reporters waiting for Connors to follow through on a promise to "talk about anything you want" as soon as the tennis match ended. The world's top-ranked male tennis player made the promise while avoiding questions about whether he married former Playboy magazine Playmate of the Year Patti McGee last October.

After the match, Connors and McGee flew to St. Louis, where they are expected to make a formal announcement of their marriage today.

A source close to Connors told UPI the couple secretly married last year, but Connors was noncommittal when questioned about it Friday night.

White Not Excess Baggage In Uniform of Golden State

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Boston Celtics figured he was excess baggage, an aging player whose better days were behind him. The Boston Celtics were wrong.

John White can still play basketball and some of the hottest youngsters around the NBA could stand to learn a lesson or two from the nine-year veteran.

Now playing for rebuilding Golden State after a lengthy and distinguished career with the Celtics, White scored 30 points Sunday to help the Warriors to a 111-108 overtime victory over Kansas City, snapping a 15-game winning streak at home for the Kings.

Clifford Ray hit two free throws with 14 seconds remaining in the overtime to provide the Warriors with the victory. Ray's two foul shots gave Golden State a 111-108 lead and a basket by Sam Lacey narrowed the margin to one 10 seconds later. The Kings were able to jump ball on the inbound pass and even won the ensuing tip. But they couldn't manage a shot before time expired.

John Lucas added 25 points for the Warriors and Otis Birdsong tied the Kings, losing a four straight games, with 25.

The Kings held a 13-point lead, 60-47, at the half and a six-point margin, 81-75, after three quarters, but the Warriors hit 12-of-18 shots in the final period to gain a 104-104 tie after regulation. The win was only the second Golden State's last 21 road games.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Phoenix routed Philadelphia 119-94, Washington edged San Antonio 129-112, Portland got by Cleveland 106-102, Milwaukee downed Boston 135-122, Denver outscored Los Angeles 112-99, and Seattle topped Houston 119-109.

Man in Penalty Box Whalers' Downfall

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—To many observers, it was Claude St. Sauveur's power play that won the game for the Cincinnati Stingers. But to New England Whalers' Coach Bill Dineen, it was a fight to the end of the game.

St. Sauveur scored 17 seconds into overtime Sunday night to lift the Stingers to a 4-3 win over the New England Whalers in World Hockey Association action before 6,066 fans.

St. Sauveur's goal, his 17th of the year, was a power play tally as New England's Allan Hangeleben was sitting out a fighting penalty, after he and Cincinnati's Peter March got into a scuffle in the fourth period.

Hangeleben was hit with two penalties, and March received one. "Those penalties cost us the game," Dineen said.

Whalers' center Andre Lacroix had another view.

"We're fighting for first, Cincinnati's fighting for a playoff spot," he said. "When you've got a game like this, you're going to be hustling. We should be hustling."

SOME PEOPLE SHOP FOR NEW CARS EVERY THREE YEARS. AND SOME PEOPLE OWN VOLKSWAGENS.

The longer a car lasts, the less it costs per year. And Volkswagens are built to last until they deliver a lot of value.

That means that there's extra care and extra quality built into every Volkswagen. And that means that features are built in that won't become obsolete in a mere matter of years. Like fuel injection, that lets you get the most from regular gasoline. It's also why we build the most economical car engine in America for our 4-speed Diesel Rabbit—delivering EPA est. 20mpg, 50 mpg est.

There's one other thing that can contribute enormously to the life of a Volkswagen. And that's the kind of dealer who will help you and your VW make it far into the future. We have the kind of service that can make every mile a better one with our uniquely professional, highly sophisticated maintenance organization. NEW YORK (UPI)—Ozzie Smith drove in one run and scored another Sunday to lead the San Diego Padres to a 3-1 victory over Japan's Yufuitt Swallows in a spring exhibition game.

New York Mets Manager Joe Torre listed Tom Hausman, Pat Zachry, Craig Swan and Nino Espinosa as right-handers—as his probable starters when the Mets open the season in Chicago April 5.

Chris Speier was in uniform Sunday, but the Montreal shortstop was unable to work out as he continues to take treatment for a pulled ligament in his lower back. Meanwhile, the Expos are awaiting word from Phoenix, where free agent catcher Duffy Dyer has been taking treatment for muscle spasms in his back.

Hookie pitcher Byron Wilkerson was struck by a line drive off the bat of Mike Vail during hitting drills Sunday, becoming the first casualty of the Chicago Cubs' spring training camp. Wilkerson, who coughed up blood after being hit, will miss at least two weeks although x-rays proved negative.

St. Louis Cardinals Manager Ken Boyer said Sunday that Lou Brock will keep his job in left field until Brock proves he can no longer handle it. Although Brock, 39, batted .221 last year, Boyer said, "There's no reason for me to think that he can't hit .280. I'm sure he's still thinking about hitting higher. It depends on how the club plays. He's motivated by how the team goes."

San Francisco General Manager Spec Richardson said Sunday that there has been no progress in the salary negotiations with pitcher Bob Knepper and outfielder Jack Clark. Richardson said that, if they are not signed by Monday, he would renege this season's contracts.

Louisville manager Whitely Herzog has taping Steve Sax to pitch the opening Spring exhibition game against the New York Yankees Friday. Busby won 56 games for the Royals in 1973-74. However, due to various injuries he has only contributed to seven victories in the past three years.

The Rangers may have lost the game at the end of the first period, when they had a two-man advantage for a full two minutes and failed to score. Don Murdoch did blast a shot past Leaf goalie Mike Palmateer, but it came just after the buzzer sounded. New York wanted two other power-play chances in the second period.

At the same time, the Toronto power play was working just fine. Dave Williams scored after a penalty to the Rangers' Mike McEwen in the first period, and Lanny McDonald added his 31st goal—with a man advantage in the second period—to make it 2-0.

Dan Maloney and Pat Boutette added other Leaf scores—Boutette's was into an empty net at 6:29 of the second period, but at 6:48 Cloutier picked up his second goal. His third came just 55 seconds later.

In the WHA, Cincinnati shaded New England 4-3 in overtime, and Quebec best Birmingham 5-4.

In Capitals 5, North Stars 4, Bob Sirois scored with 13 seconds left, seconds after Minnesota tied the job. It led Washington to victory. Penguins 7, Rockies 2.

Orest Kindrachuk scored three goals and left wing Rod Schutt scored twice for Pittsburgh. Kindrachuk scored the tie-breaking goal by deflecting a 60-foot slapshot by defenseman Ron Stackhouse. Gregg Sheppard scored 30 seconds later and Kindrachuk scored his second goal late in the period to give the Penguins a 4-2 lead.

Ranger Power Play Not Working Right

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Rangers are having trouble on the power play, and Fred Shero is concerned—but not too much.

"It's just not working out right," the Rangers' coach-general manager said Sunday night. "If the puck's not going to go in, it's not going to go in."

It did go in twice, but not on the power play, and the Toronto Maple Leafs were able to escape with a 4-2 victory over the Rangers Sunday night.

Byman Enters Winner Circle

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—For a 23-year-old newcomer who had to worry about qualifying for the PGA tour, much less winning golf tournaments, Bob Byman was incredibly confident about his chance to take the $250,000 Citrus Classic.

Byman shook off bogey on the 9th, 10th, and 13th holes Sunday to finish with a par 71 for a four-day total of 278, forcing a sudden-death playoff with PGA tour veteran John Schroeder, who carded a 70 in the fourth round.

All-Around Title To Mary Mayhew

Freshman sensation Mary Mayhew of East Catholic High continued to add laurels to her trophy collection as Saturday she annexed the state Class M all-around gymnastics title at Haddam-Killingworth High.

The Eaglettes took third in the team standings with a total of 79.80 points, trailing Haddam High (80.25) and Morgan High (80.85).

Mayhew took the individual championship with a total of 32.60 points, trailing Haddam High (33.25) and Morgan High (33.85).

"We had a fine season and the girls did a great job all year," noted East Coach Mark Benoit.

Mayhew, Kittredge and Freilheit have qualified for Tuesday's Regional meet at Hall High in West Hartford.

Freiheit, Cyndi Bette, Janice Boser, Kathy Connelly and Noreen Callahan also competed for East and added to its score.

Little Easy Winner In Bent Tree Golf

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Sally Little—a self-described slow starter—has her first LPGA victory of the year a lot sooner than she expected.

The slender South African posted her second 67 in four days Sunday to run away from the field in the $100,000 Citrus Classic.

"I peaked a little early here," Little said after she pocketed $15,000 for her 10-under-par finish of 278, two shots ahead of defending champion Nancy Lopez.

"This is very early for me in the year. I am a slow starter and I had prepared my game for California," Little said.

The LPGA moves from Florida to California Thursday for the Sunstar Classic at Los Angeles. But even though she has been looking ahead to the California portion of the tour, Little will sit out next week—a move she had scheduled even before the season began.

Scott's World An Actor Sans Country

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Odds are overwhelming you'll never see Redford, Newman, Reynolds or Beatty play anything but Americans because they star solely in American movies, an agreeable arrangement all the way around.

Enough pictures are made in Hollywood to assure them job security, economic independence and a national identity.

This double life is also the case with Russian stars, Frenchmen, Germans and Italians and a small army of Japanese performers.

Like the phalanx of American stars, most actors tend to cling to their national origins on screen. Physical appearance and language often dictate the roles they play.

When foreign actors work in Hollywood films they generally play to their national type as they do in their homelands.

There are exceptions, to be sure, among them Laurence Olivier and Peter Ustinov. English stars are most adept at slipping into one nationality to another.

Few Americans are able to do so. There's no way Clint Eastwood could pass for French or Dutch. Charles Bronson sometimes gets away with playing foreigners as he did in "Telefon," portraying a Russian spy.

Consider the plight of Max Von Sydow, the most distinguished actor of the Swedish theater and screen.

He is an actor without a country. The tall, austere Von Sydow has never played a Swede except in Sweden.

Von Sydow first became known to Americans in 1955, in "The Greatest Show Ever Told" playing Jesus Christ. He went on to star in "The Exorcist," "The Quiller Memorandum," "Three Days of the Condor," "Hawaii" and "The Kremlin Letter."

In "The Exorcist" he played a Roman Catholic priest named Lancaster Merrin, he said, grinning. "But my origins were a mystery."

"The closest I ever came to being identified with a particular place was in 'Hawaii.' It was assumed I was a New England American. In 'Three Days of the Condor' I was described as an Alsatian. That begged the question because I meant I could have been German or French or a mixture."

Max Von Sydow

Jesus Christ. He went on to star in "The Exorcist," "The Quiller Memorandum," "Three Days of the Condor," "Hawaii" and "The Kremlin Letter."

As he points out, how many times do Swedes crop up in European or American scripts to begin with?

As he points out, how many times do Swedes crop up in European or American scripts to begin with?

Von Sydow's English has improved a hundred fold since he played Christ, but so much that he might be mistaken for a native American. The big man is bemused by the fact that his nationality is seldom specified in movies. He recently completed the Dino De Laurentiis remake of novel overture, and the disappointing title number is a pale echo of Kurt Weill's "Mack the Knife."

N. Richard Nash's lyrics are somewhat more relevant, but only the ballad "A Simple Man" and to a lesser extent the lament "Vadino is Gone" work at all. Nash's book waffles and wavers and finally gives up in despair. Director Rick Atwell's choreography is lively, but rarely has anything to do with the plot.

The acting and singing of Miss Feldjahn (Helena of "Holocaust") as Dona Flor and Ingram as her second husband, the mild pharmacist Tio, shine like glowworms on a moonless night.

The use of body mikes is as expediting as ever: one sometimes hears of ever hearing a natural voice in a Broadway musical again.

Better Off Broadway
It was a much better week Off Broadway.

The best was the American premiere of "Says I, Says He," which opened Feb. 19 at the Off-Broadway Phoenix Theater and shelved only till March 4. It doubtless will be seen again.

Author Ron Hutchison is an Ulsterman, and this his first play is an oblique commentary on the mindless violence in Northern Ireland.

"Hurricane," the South Seas adventure drama that first introduced Dorothy Lamour to the sarong.

In "The Exorcist" I played a Roman Catholic priest named Lancaster Merrin, he said, grinning.

"The closest I ever came to being identified with a particular place was in 'Hawaii.' It was assumed I was a New England American. In 'Three Days of the Condor' I was described as an Alsatian. That begged the question because I meant I could have been German or French or a mixture."

"That day is far off, I'm afraid," he said. "Like every place else in Europe, financing a film in Sweden is a difficult thing. Jan Troell, who directed 'Hurricane,' a Swedish film, have worked together in five pictures. We're trying to organize a Swedish project now but getting the money is not easy."

quips and poetry reminiscent of Kurt Weill's "Mack the Knife."

The author's flow of language, idiom and metaphor takes an honorable place in the lexicon of Irish drama. Cynicism and wit and despair are bewilderingly mixed with crude nationalism, opportunism and dreams.

The rich use of language for its own sake, however, weakens the thrust of the play and insufficient groundwork is laid for their final destruction at the hands of the extremists: Pete's brother and Mick's sister.

Brian Dennehy as Pete and Don Grisfasi as Mick were superb, although the latter played the part less sympathetically than he might.

The story takes place at festival in Germany in the 1200s when the city becomes plagued with rats. The events which follow are both humorous and exciting ranging from mean-looking rats to lively creatures in the magic mountain.

Others on the cast include Cathy Litragy as a former patient and friendly agent who has her eye on the doctor, John Fry as a fellow doctor, and Tom Connor as a constant neurotic who spends most of the play on the couch. Steven Ward is stage manager. The production is directed by William Lannon, director of drama at the college.

Zaccaro made his first appearance last year in "Heartbreak House," appeared as seven characters in "Hamlet" and was a double winner in the One Act Play Contest. Campus audiences who already know him as Tony Z will be delighted by his broad portrayal of Dewey Maugham, M.D.

Nancy Lowe of Coventry plays Dewey's wife, Paula. Ms. Lowe, a theatre major from SMU in Texas who currently works for Aetna, has been active with the Society this season. The couple's progeny is a daughter, Leslie, played by Jodie Sloat.

South Windsor Seeks Industrial Road Funds
SOUTH WINDSOR — Mayor Nancy Caffyn and a group of other town officials and residents will meet with Governor Ella Grasso Wednesday, in hopes of gaining the governor's support in obtaining funding for an industrial road, to connect the J.C. Penney warehouse and industrial park with the Bissell Bridge.

Such a connector is seen by most residents and town officials as the town's only hope in eliminating hazards of traffic on local streets when the giant industrial park opens.

A group of residents from the Pleasant Valley and Chapel Road area recently presented the Town Council with a petition signed by more than 400 residents, asking the council to reconsider the proposed reconstruction of Pleasant Valley and Chapel Roads. The residents fear that such reconstruction would make the residential roadways too convenient to commuters and trucks.

Town Manager Allan Young has recommended going ahead with preliminary engineering studies for the reconstruction project, although a study committee recently recommended only minor reconstruction of the two streets and the construction of the industrial road connector.

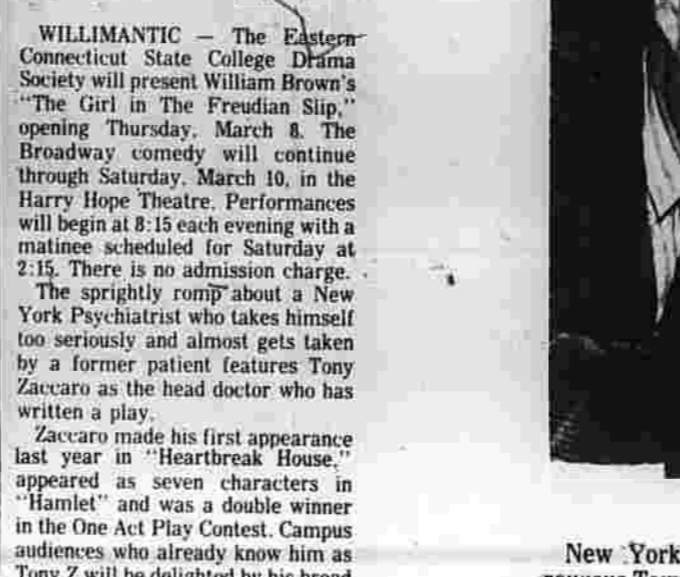

Young said that he fears efforts to transfer already approved funding for the reconstruction of Pleasant Valley and Chapel Roads, to the industrial road project, would give the impression that "the project is not nearly as important as we had previously stated" and possibly hamper efforts to get further funding.

In a straw vote taken at a work session of the Town Council, six of the eight residents present voted in favor of "not requiring the industrial bypass road to be built before Pleasant Valley and Chapel roads are reconstructed."

Mayor Caffyn said she will emphasize the importance of quick action by Mrs. Grasso when she meets with her on Wednesday. Mrs. Caffyn said she hopes the governor will act on the matter preliminary engineering studies for the reconstruction project, although a study committee recently recommended only minor reconstruction of the two streets and the construction of the industrial road connector.

Theater Little Going for 'Sarava'

By GLENNE CURRIE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The main thing wrong with the new Broadway musical "Sarava" is the lack, but there really isn't much right about it except the performances of Tovah Feldshuh and Michael Ingram.

"Sarava" starts with full-priced previews at the Mark Hellinger Theater Jan. 11. Opening night was set for Jan. 30, postponed to Feb. 9 and again postponed to Feb. 23. Humor said, "Trouble with the first act."

The New York daily papers lost their patience at the second postponement, and published their reviews — mostly unfavorable — Feb. 12. All attention at an official opening (press) night were abandoned. Variety arbitrarily selected Feb. 13 as opening night, but it was stubborn (or lazy) enough to wait for the Feb. 23 performance.

The theme of the show is the dilemma of a highly sexed young Brazilian widow who remarries for company but is haunted — and bedded — by the ghost of her earthy first husband.

Whatever charm there was in the novel on which "Sarava" is based — Jorge Amado's Bahia background is a distant memory — almost totally evaporated by the time the show hit Broadway.

One title that is left of the Santo Laogusto's fragile sets and mobile-like hangings. Even they are negated by the same designer's accurate but tasteless Carnival evocations.

Mitch Leigh's music is too much like his work in "Man of La Mancha" for comfort. The score doesn't live up to the promise of the lively bossa novel overture, and the disappointing title number is a pale echo of Kurt Weill's "Mack the Knife."

N. Richard Nash's lyrics are somewhat more relevant, but only the ballad "A Simple Man" and to a lesser extent the lament "Vadino is Gone" work at all. Nash's book waffles and wavers and finally gives up in despair. Director Rick Atwell's choreography is lively, but rarely has anything to do with the plot.

Sen. Fahey Attacks Vote To Delay New Bottle Bill

EAST HARTFORD — State Sen. Marcella Fahey is one of two Democratic members of the General Law Committee who criticized a committee vote to raise a bill that would delay implementation of the Bottle Bill for 18 months.

In a letter to their legislative colleagues, Sen. Fahey and Representative Steve Casey of Hartford said, "The bill approved by the General Law Committee will delay implementation of the Bottle Bill and leave open the possibility of total sabotage at a later date."

The committee voted 12-4 to raise the bill, and the proposal now will be scheduled for public hearing. Sen. Fahey and Casey were two of the four who voted.

They said the bill "virtually appeared out of nowhere and had not even been officially processed by the Legislative Commission's office."

State Lobbyist Ranks Now Include Bishop

HARTFORD (UPI) — There's a new, unofficial face in the Catholic lobby at the Connecticut Capitol. But it's unlikely he'll be wearing the blue lobbyist's badge.

But then, his outfit says it all.

"I have to pick and choose issues," he says, says the Rev. Peter A. Rosazza of Hartford, the latest spokesman for the church's viewpoint before the Legislature.

In official church language, Rosazza is "Titular Bishop of Opus Nuovo and Auxiliary Bishop of Hartford." But to the people with whom he's venturing to the Capitol, he's known as Bishop Peter.

The slim, 44-year-old bishop with the salt-and-pepper hair and goatee was ordained a priest in 1961. In February 1978 he was named the archdiocese's new auxiliary bishop.

Rosazza, known for his close ties to Hartford's Puerto Rican community, was director of the archdiocese's Spanish Apostolate and a pastor in one of the city's Puerto Rican neighborhoods. He's often seen riding a bicycle around that neighborhood.

Rosazza insists he isn't an official lobbyist for the church. There are two lobbyists registered to present the Catholic viewpoint at the Capitol and they wear the blue badges the Legislature assigns registered lobbyists.

But the bishop only wears his white clerical collar and dull black suit during his visits to the Capitol "to preach the faith to the people."

Rosazza has only been to the Capitol three times during this session when he testified at public hearings. He said in an interview, though, that he plans to return at least once more and will be there even more if the issues require it.

"It's myself as a citizen," he said of his testimony. But he admitted the publicity that accompanied his consecration as auxiliary bishop hasn't hurt his position as a lobbyist.

Cancelled Meeting Criticized

MANCHESTER — Wallace Irish Jr. has criticized a subcommittee of the Town and Eighth District Utilities District Board of Directors for canceling a meeting last week.

The subcommittee had scheduled a meeting last Wednesday, but the session was canceled because of the Democratic and Republican Town Committees also were scheduled to meet that night.

"It's pretty poor if politics means more than mending the problems with the Legislature was responding to requests from the people to put the state on record as one that is willing to make a greater effort to clean up litter and conserve natural resources," he said.

"In adopting the Bottle Bill in 1979, the Legislature was responding to requests from the people to put the state on record as one that is willing to make a greater effort to clean up litter and conserve natural resources," he said.

"It would be a betrayal of the public trust to delay implementation of the Bottle Bill. It would be throwing in the towel before we've given this bill a chance to work," he said.

There still are six months before the bill goes into effect, and this should be ample time to enact it, the senators said.

Hebron EDC Eyes Official Status
HEBRON — The Economic Development Committee, at its meeting Friday night, discussed whether or not it should recommend that it be made an authorized commission to be established by town ordinance. First Selectman Aaron Reid told the committee that two public hearings which are coming up will have some bearing on the decision. The first is one on transportation to be conducted March 7 in Glastonbury. Committee members Ed Sellers and Laurette Longue were asked to attend this hearing to obtain information concerning the Town of Hebron. The second hearing will be tonight at 8 in the auditorium of the Hebron Elementary School. It will concern the multiple telephone exchanges which currently serve the residents of Hebron. The committee was also told by Reid that it should develop a minimal budget requests for presentation to the Board of Finance. An amount of $100 was suggested but no formal action was taken Friday on the recommendation. In other business the committee spent considerable time discussing the purpose of the committee as well as the "economic needs" of Hebron. Chairman James Lynch asked the members to continue working on their various research projects in order to discuss this phase of the committee's development. Lynch said that he would like to see the committee move onto other business as well as establish a life of relevant data. The committee will meet again on March 21 at 8 p.m. in the Town Office Building.

WANTED

To buy... 5 single or multi-deckling homes in the Manchester area for CASH...

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding with a man in an out-of-state prison for quite a number of months. We have never met. I started writing to him because a mutual friend asked me to. You might say I did it as an act of kindness. He is serving time for armed robbery. From his letters, I am not convinced that he has learned his lesson. He has a lot of anger and hostility in him. My problem is that he thinks he is falling in love with me. I do not feel the same. (We've exchanged pictures.) I care for him as a friend and would like to keep in touch, but not at the risk of endangering myself. He might get out in six months. I don't want a loveless, rejected ex-con on my hands. If you know what I mean, how do I go about letting him know I don't want a romantic relationship with him? I don't want to hurt his feelings, but I certainly don't want him for an enemy either. Please advise.

DEAR ABBY: Be honest. Write your pen pal and tell him you love him as a strictly platonic friend. If you anticipate a need for your birth certificate in applying for a passport, Social Security, entering a new school, or for any other reason, DON'T wait until the last minute. Write to the Department of Vital Statistics in the city where you were born and request your birth certificate to have on hand in case you need it. Don't wait until two weeks before you take a trip to a foreign country. It sometimes takes THREE MONTHS to get a birth certificate. (Everyone waits until May or June.) A letter stating that your birth is in FILE IS NOT acceptable. You must produce the certificate itself with the raised seal in most instances. If for any reason your birth is not recorded, this will give you plenty of time to file a delayed birth certificate before you need it. Please, be wise and act accordingly. JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL PAN

DEAR FAN: All right, all you readers out there who weren't born yesterday, please take note! DEAR READERS: For 23 years I've been helping you with your problems. Now is your chance to help me with mine. If you should see DEAR ABBY 7-shirts, nightgowns or anything else for sale bearing my name, please let me know where it was purchased. (The name of the store and city.) The DEAR ABBY name is being used without my permission in order to protect my copyright. I must take legal action against the manufacturers. Will you please help me to track them down? Many thanks. DEAR ABBY

You'll then have a more positive direction. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Getting your facts straight should be your No. 1 priority today. You have a strong tendency to jump to conclusions because of faulty information. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your head may not be altogether today, and you might have trouble trying to do two things at once. Take special care with financial matters. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Important goals could slip through your fingers today because of your lack of attention. Negligence will take its toll. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The ways and means to say what you want to say are not present today. Rather than talking in circles and making little or no sense, keep quiet. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Although sometimes we are well justified in telling others what we think of them it is rarely wise to do so. Turning the other cheek will get you further in the long run. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) It won't be the big things that can give you lifts today but bunches of incidental items. Don't spend more on them than they're worth. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Before making plans involving another, better check to see if this person will go along with you. You could get caught holding an expensive bag. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Family issues could create unnecessary friction today. If you voice them without thinking of the consequences, leave them at rest. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Before lending fuel to the fire, double sure your own skirts are clean. You may start the cry, but someone else could start the fire. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
