

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

37 Years Later, An Indiscretion Calls Him Daddy

DEAR ABBY: Please answer in the paper because I live in a very small town and if anyone ever found out my name I'd be a laughing stock.

What would you do if your husband, after 34 years of marriage, suddenly announced that he has a 37-year-old daughter? I raised her. Was I in error?

My husband told me that a woman came to his place of work and identified herself as the girl he got pregnant 37 years ago. She reminded him that when she told him she was expecting, he said he'd do anything but marry her because he wasn't ready for marriage. She then disappeared. Now, after all this time, she suddenly finds him and says her daughter would like to know her father! My husband says he recalls the incident vaguely. Without consulting me, he agreed to meet this so-called daughter and also promised to tell our children about her!

I say this woman is out to make trouble and wreck our home. I forbade my husband to tell our children about it. (We have two.) I told him this woman may not even know who fathered her daughter, and he shouldn't get involved. Our family life has been good up to now, but this is upsetting. What should I do.

FROM A SMALL TOWN

DEAR FROM: Advise your husband to see a lawyer and find out (a) how much (if any) legal responsibility he has to this woman and her daughter, and (b) how to handle it. If your husband feels a moral obligation to the woman, he will have to deal with it as he sees fit. In the meantime, the word from here is to keep cool and keep quiet!

DEAR ABBY: I know this is a dumb question for an 18-year-old girl to ask, but when is a girl no longer considered a virgin?

I had a boyfriend and we were very, very close, but we never had sexual intercourse. (We did everything BUT.) Am I still considered a virgin?

These answers in the paper, as I don't want this kind of information coming to my house in a letter. Also, I'm sure there are other girls who would like to know.

VIRGIN OR NOT

DEAR VIRGIN: Although you have done everything but the "but" makes the difference. Technically, you are a virgin.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LOTS OF PROBLEMS IN MILWAUKEE: You need a "parentectomy" which means to become completely independent from your parents. You must support yourself, make your own decisions and assume total responsibility for your own actions. At 30, you are old enough. Get going.

The teen years are the questioning years. Abby has the answers to all your questions in her booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know." Entries $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Housing construction plunged sharply for the second straight month in February, the government reported Friday, with record mortgage interest rates and dismal winter weather combining to severely cripple the industry.

U.S. Woos Saudis, Jordan on Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The White House Friday dispatched special envoys to seek Saudi and Jordanian support for the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty and made tentative plans to host a treaty-signing summit a week from Monday, March 26.

Washington, as a tribute to President Carter, but he cautioned that would merely begin the real test of peace. Sadat said the issue of Palestinian autonomy in the occupied territories would decide the success or failure of the treaty and he expected Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin to be a tough bargainer.

Both nations endorsed an earlier Arab summit pledge to enforce economic boycotts against Egypt if it makes separate peace with Israel. U.S. officials are hoping they can be talked out of such action. Meanwhile, Israel's Defense Minister Ezer Weizman opened discussions with Defense Secretary Harold Brown and other top U.S. officials Friday on the extra military aid Israel will want in reward for making peace.

Weizman was quoted as telling Brown the cost of moving Israel's Sinai-based planes and troops across the frontier to the Negev Desert would be between $3.5 and $4 billion. Weizman was said to have urged the stepped-up American military aid to Israel - including the hastened shipments of F-16s - to meet a growing threat from Soviet-armed Syria and Iraq.

Mark Callahan, 17 Richard Road, East Hartford - "If the situation gets bad enough, they should do it."

John Useforge, 72 Deborah Drive, East Hartford - "I don't think it's necessary right now. I'm opposed to it on principle. I'm in favor of deregulation and letting the natural market take care of itself."

George Hall, Vernon - "I'm concerned about the suggested use of gas rationing because it might cause gas hoarding and create a shortage which is a very real problem. I'm against deregulation. I would prefer nationalization."

Jean Monnet, Led Europe

PARIS (UPI) - French statesman Jean Monnet, the father of the Common Market, died Friday at the age of 90 in his thatched-roof cottage outside Paris.

Monnet died as the European Economic Community he founded was taking its largest step ever toward unifying Europe economically and politically.

In three months, Europeans will vote for a 410-member parliament in the first democratic election in modern history that crosses national borders.

Last Tuesday the Common Market put into effect its new European Monetary System that could lead to a common European currency and coordinated economic policies for the nine-nation group.

Monnet's Common Market - once derided as an impractical pipe dream - has become the world's second-largest economic bloc, after the United States, and an established political force.

Monnet, known affectionately as "Mister Europe," is credited with convincing European nations to forget national interests and unite after World War II. He was the architect and president of the European Coal and Steel Community.

Park Explains Why He Fleed

MONROE, La. (UPI) - South Korean rice merchant Fongsun Park, the prosecution's key witness in the bribery and tax evasion trial of former Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., said Friday he fled the United States hoping an investigation into his payments to congressmen would "go away."

"Everyone was hoping this whole thing would go away, including the Koreans," Park said during opening cross-examination by Passman's defense attorney Camille Gravel.

Passman, 78, is accused of conspiring to receive $213,000 from Park and failing to pay income tax on part of it. The former congressman lost a 1976 bid for re-election after 30 years as Louisiana's 5th District representative.

Park, who told House investigators he gave $800,000 in cash and gifts to members of Congress, said he ultimately returned to the United States amid pressure from President Carter, the Internal Revenue Service and Congress. However, he said a personal wish to explain the situation also figured in his return.

It's Time to Plan Derby

MANCHESTER - When the days begin to lengthen and the sun gets warmer, it's time to make plans for those box cars that run in the town's annual Soap Box Derby.

The staff of "PM Magazine," the nightly show on WFSB-TV Channel 3, was at the Spruce Street firehouse Friday night dressed in their pit coveralls. They discussed the plans for their oil can car which they will build and Ann Butler, the program's hostess, will drive while the camera and sound crew zero in. The car will be driven in the Oil Can Derby, a special event held during intermission at the regular Soap Box Derby.

Miss Butler will race against another volunteer celebrity yet to be announced.

The Soap Box Derby promotion will be aired in two or three weeks, according to one of the PM Magazine crew members. PM will also cover

Ella Will Take on Feds

HARTFORD (UPI) - Gov. Ella Grasso said Friday she is willing to take on the federal government in the courtroom and petroleum selling "pirates" at sea if that's what it takes to get oil to Connecticut citizens and industries.

At her weekly news conference, the governor said the state will forge ahead with its policy of allowing companies who can't find low sulphur oil to burn "dirty" high sulphur oil even though the state will probably wind up in court.

State officials recently declared an energy emergency so United Illuminating Co. could burn the "dirty" oil in March and April. The state is considering granting clean air

Legislators Quiz Hudak

HARTFORD (UPI) - Lawmakers Friday grilled controversial Board of Education nominee Eva Hudak - a graduate of the "school of life" and an ardent foe of sex education, gay rights and abortion.

For two hours, lawmakers on the Executive Nominations Committee questioned the 62-year-old state bail commissioner, who dropped out of high school during the Depression but recently passed a high school equivalency test.

The hearing on Gov. Ella Grasso's nomination of Mrs. Hudak to the board drew an overflow crowd of 250 persons to the Senate chamber and galleries.

"I've never seen one (nomination hearing) this big," said Sen. Michael Morano, R-Greenwich.

The Connecticut Education Association and the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education have issued statements harshly criticizing the nomination and urging the governor to reconsider.

"We will not be held up by pirates. It is very dangerous for anybody to be held hostage to this sort of enterprise," she said.

Manchester Police Report

MANCHESTER - Police Friday were investigating some recent problems at Lydall Inc. and they ended up making a disorderly conduct arrest.

There has been a series of vandalism problems and suspicious fires at the manufacturing site. Police were at the scene Friday to investigate.

They saw a car near the site on private property and asked the persons to show some identification. One person refused and became disorderly, police said.

The person scuffled with Officer John Marvin, and the arrest followed, police said.

John P. Roach, 19, of 61 Tracy Drive was charged with disorderly conduct, police reported. Court date is April 2.

John Hodgdon, 26, of 147 Autumn St. was charged with third-degree assault, police said. The arrest was made on a warrant. Court date is March 26.

Two Hartford residents were arrested Thursday night in connection with a reported shoplifting incident at the Waterthorne.

Beatrice Williams and Rodney Rakestraw, both 24, of Hartford, were each charged with one count of third-degree larceny, police said. Court date is March 26.

Reno Daigle Jr., 25, of Stafford Springs was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended. Court date is March 27.

Milton Earlington, 28, of 50 Spencer St. was charged with misuse of registration plates, failure to obey a stop sign and failure to obey state traffic control signs and markings. Court date is March 27.

A Bretton Road resident was treated for minor injuries at Manchester Memorial Hospital after a Friday automobile accident.

Gertrude M. Pearson, 67, of 110 Bretton Road suffered a contusion of the forehead, a hospital spokeswoman said. She was treated and released.

The accident occurred at the Middle Turnpike and Hawthorne Street intersection, police said.

Ms. Pearson was operating one vehicle. The other was operated by Andre A. Thuerje, 17, of 22 Doane St., who was charged with failure to obey a stop sign, police said.

Police said a 1966 red Chevrolet was stolen from a Tolland Turnpike parking lot and an attempt was made to break into a Waranoke Road residence.

Thomas Mumford, 19, of 872 Vernon St. was charged with failure to obey a traffic signal Friday afternoon. Police said Mumford ran a red light at Green Manor Road and Broad Street and his school bus collided with a car driven by Anastasia Maciejko of 43 North St.

Police said the neither driver saw the other motor vehicle until the accident occurred and that neither driver could evade the other vehicle. There were six children on the school bus at the time, but no injuries were reported, police said. Neither vehicle had to be towed. Court date is April 3.

Area Police Report

VERNON - Police said a 16-year-old Rockville girl has been reported missing. Helen Frazier of 52 1/2 Hammond St. reportedly left sometime this past week and is going to a southern state with her boyfriend to get married, according to police.

Police arrested two men at Rockville High School Friday afternoon. Arrested were Scott Maxwell, 18, of 4 Willowstream Drive, Vernon, and Michael Lanzieri, 19, of 44 Susan Drive, Vernon, who were charged with first-degree criminal trespassing and possession of alcohol on school property, police said. They said the arrests were made upon complaint from the Rockville High School administration. Maxwell and Lanzieri were released on written promise to appear in court March 27.

Police also made the following arrests:

- Garry Elderkin, 23, of 38 Village St., Rockville, third-degree criminal mischief and first-degree trespassing. Released on promise to appear in court March 27.
- Jeffrey King, 19, of 227 Center Road, Vernon, operating without a motorcycle license and operating unregistered motor vehicle. Court date, March 30.

BOLTON - Kenneth B. Langille, 22, who was charged Thursday with third-degree burglary, lives on Webster Lane, Bolton, not in Hartford as reported in Friday's Herald.

Von Deck First Angered by CD

By GREG PEARSON

MANCHESTER - Robert Von Deck said he was the first one to get mad. That's why he is leading the opposition against town involvement in the Community Development program.

Von Deck heads the Concerned Citizens for Manchester group, which organized a petition drive for an ordinance that would establish a two-year ban on town participation in the program.

The program annually provides funding for communities, which are supposed to use the money primarily for projects to benefit low- and moderate-income residents.

Manchester has used the funds for such projects as playground and park improvements, site improvements at Spencer Village housing for the elderly, and conversion of Green School to a senior citizens center.

Von Deck's opposition is not to these uses of the money. He opposes some of the requirements the town has had to meet to receive the funding and some of the future requirements he expects.

Two of last year's requirements are singled out by Von Deck - the hiring of an equal opportunity coordinator and the distribution of a fair housing brochure.

He said neither of those steps taken by the town has benefited Manchester.

"I don't understand. People say HUD (the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, which oversees Community Development) hasn't harmed us in any way," Von Deck said. But, he feels those steps have been disruptive to the community.

He thinks two items he opposes - increased federal intervention and increased regionalism - will be part of future requirements for the program. Supporters of the program do not expect any such future changes to Community Development, though.

Von Deck sees the aim of the program as one to solve the city's problem, including development of more low-income housing in suburban towns.

"It doesn't solve the problems of the city, it just moves them around," he said.

The low-income housing topic has been much discussed in the Community Development issue. Supporters of Community Development say that the town never has used any of the program funds for low-income housing.

With or without Community Development, developers of such housing can build in town, the supporters have said.

Von Deck disagrees. He believes the establishment of Community Development makes it easier for such developers. The program includes Housing Assistance Plan reports, which lists goals for providing low- and moderate-income housing units.

Robert Von Deck

These goals can be met through rent subsidy and other existing programs, but Von Deck feels the town will be pressured to build new units.

He said Town Manager Robert Weiss and Alan Mason, Community Development coordinator, have worked to assist developers of such new units. The Planning and Zoning Commission also would feel pressured to approve any proposed development, he said.

He made his statements even though two recent projects - a low-income one on Spencer Street and an elderly one on Hartford Road - have been rejected.

Weiss said, "There's absolutely no substance to it (Von Deck's remarks)." He pointed out that two large moderate-income projects in town - Squire Village and Rachel Road - both developed before Community Development.

There also has been no low-income housing built in town since the Community Development program started five years ago, Weiss said.

Von Deck questions statements by Democratic members of the Board of Directors who have said they will stop involvement in the program if its requirements would hinder the town.

"In my mind, how much worse can it get than last year? I don't think they ever intend to get out," he said.

The Democrats have said, however, they feel the town has not had to meet any undue requirements, and they will abandon the program if that day comes.

Some of those who circulated petitions for the concerned citizens group have been accused of misrepresenting the idea when they obtained signatures. Some residents have said they were told signing the petitions would keep low-income or minority persons out of town.

"That wasn't our intent," he said. He explained that all the circulators were instructed about the purpose of the petition and were given copies of the federal regulations before they went out to obtain signatures.

Choice Is Tough: Budget or Booze

By GREG PEARSON

MANCHESTER - Some town residents will have to make a decision Monday night, April 2.

That's the night the town will conduct its annual public hearing about the manager's proposed budget for the upcoming fiscal year.

But, across town, the Planning and Zoning Commission will be holding a hearing of its own about a proposed change that would alter the existing laws for distance requirements between liquor-serving establishments.

Both hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The budget hearing is an annual event held soon after Town Manager Robert Weiss submits his budget request for the upcoming year. This year, some of the surprise of that request will be eliminated.

The Democratic members of the Town Board of Directors already have ordered that Weiss have no more than a six percent increase in his proposal. In past years, the manager's request has exceeded that figure.

Because the increase may not be as large as in the past, it might cut down some on the number of persons who might attend the hearing. But, the event annually is one of the largest meetings of the year in Manchester.

The budget hearing will be held at Wadwell School, 163 Broad St. Meanwhile, the PZC will be meeting at its regular meeting place, the Municipal Building's Hearing Room.

It has three public hearing times scheduled. Two are relatively minor, but the other one attracts a crowd.

It is a request by a group of restaurants in town to eliminate the 1,000-foot distance requirement for restaurants that serve liquor.

Town zoning regulations now establish a 1,000-foot minimum distance between any two establishments that sell or serve liquor.

The restaurants who filed the application want no such minimum distance limit for restaurants.

This would permit a restaurant to be located next to another liquor-serving establishment if zoning and other regulations permitted it. Presently, this is not permitted.

The only exception is in the Central Business District.

For residents who want to attend both hearings, the best bet probably would be to go to the PZC first.

The town budget hearing normally lasts about three hours. The liquor proposal will be the first hearing scheduled, and it is rare that a hearing before the PZC exceeds an hour.

Family Makes Easter Baskets

By BETTY RYDER, Lifestyle Editor

If you're looking for an unusual basket to hide your Easter eggs in, Barbara Brenckman has the answer. And, it all begins with a balloon.

Barbara, who resides at 34 Woodbridge St., Manchester, with her two children, Robert, 10, and Jennifer, 8, became interested in crafts while employed at Caldor's Department Store. She is now working in The Herald's Circulation Department.

"At Caldor's we used to have lots of books on handicrafts, kits and materials for making various items," she said.

Making the baskets is no easy feat, and your efforts may go POP, she said.

The first step, Barbara says, is to blow up the balloon. She advises using good quality balloons so as to lessen the risk of them popping.

"The balloon is then wrapped with colored cotton crochet thread - very carefully. When it is completely wrapped, I soak it in a liquid solution and let it dry completely. Sometimes it takes a few days," Barbara said.

Later, the oval-shaped hole is carefully cut out, and trim applied.

"There are a few trade 'secrets', which she is keeping to herself, and understandably so. Since she started making the baskets a few weeks ago, 50 in all, she has been swamped with orders for them.

"Currently, I have them at the 7-11 Food Store at 253 Main St., Manchester, the Carousel in Vernon Circle, and at a flower shop in the Fox Run Mall in Glastonbury," she said.

People evidently have found other uses for the baskets, and, according to Barbara, the flower shop sells them with arrangements of silk flowers.

"It's a good at-home activity," Barbara said. "The children help me. We trim them in a variety of faces, and bows and try to make each one more attractive than the other."

Barbara and her children are working on another project, this time it's using cookie cutter molds, filling them with plaster of Paris, and trimming them for wall hangings.

A very industrious young woman, she is also a seamstress and is making clothing for toddlers which she supplies to a store in Southwick, Mass.

"Right now I have a favorite pattern for overalls which I make up in a few sizes, but eventually I may turn to some other item of clothing," she said.

But, until then, the Brenckman family is busy with their basket project.

"It has become so popular, I have a hard time keeping up with the orders," she said. "But, it's something we can all do together."

Gently, she wraps the balloon with cotton thread.

Jim Rice Needles Ailing Pete Rose

Jim Rice

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) — Money goes to money, so maybe it was only natural that Jim ($5.4 million) Rice should mosey over to Pete ($3.3 million) Rose before Friday's Red Sox-Phillies exhibition contest and needle him about his awful start this spring.

"When you go on start earning all that money?" Boston's slugging outfielder greeted Philadelphia's horse-collared first baseman, who had gone without a hit in his first 12 at-bats during the exhibition season.

"Just as soon as the season starts," answered Rose laughing. "All this doesn't count anyway."

Rice, who was given a five-year extension on his contract by the Red Sox this winter, had 13 hits in 26 times up for a .500 figure with them before Friday's game. Among his hits were a home run, Rose, on the other hand, had failed to get even a single hit in the Phillies' first six contests.

"I was worried so much on my defense that I didn't have a chance to work on my hitting," explained Rose. "I'm not too worried about it, though. I've hit five balls right on the nose and I can catch up on my hitting anytime."

Rose remembered that he had collected only two hits in 22 times at bat during his first spring with the Cincinnati Reds in 1963 when he still impressed the late Freddie Hutchinson, then the Reds' manager, so much that he took the second base job away from Don Blasingame.

"I wouldn't be concerned if I didn't hit a ball spring and long as I'm seeing the ball well and not striking out," said Rose, who also collected all these guys (newsmen) congregated around as because they like to hear all this "money talk." Al Jackson, the Red Sox pitching coach, who also was listening, started to laugh and then took off for the Red Sox dugout.

"I can't take any more of this," he said. Rose noticed a rip in Rice's uniform a few inches below his right knee.

"You make six million bucks a year and you can't wear a uniform without holes in it?" he teased Rice. Looking down, the Boston outfielder noticed the rip and said:

"This is just my spring suit. When I put my other one on for the start of the season, they're won't be any holes in it at all. It'll be perfect. I like to dress nice."

"Yeah, I noticed that," Rose replied, grabbing a throw. "I also noticed all these guys (newsmen) congregated around as because they like to hear all this "money talk." Al Jackson, the Red Sox pitching coach, who also was listening, started to laugh and then took off for the Red Sox dugout.

Father-Son Entries

Two father and son teams and one sister act were among the successful qualifiers in the annual Tom Duckpin Bowling Tournaments which resumed today with head-to-head rolling at the Parkdale Lanes.

Leading a field of 34 male qualifiers was Carl Chapman, son of the reigning town champion, Ed Chapman. The latter was seeded in the 16-man championship field.

The second father and son combine consists of the Holmes family, father Howard and son Mickey.

Among the fairer sex, the top qualifier was Chickie Balesano. Her sister Sue Balesano was also one of the seven qualifiers. She and her husband, Ed Balesano, were seeded in the 16-man championship field.

Ex-East Cager

Eric Hall, the young man who won the Connecticut indoor archery championship earlier this month, is the former basketball player at East Catholic High. Annual meeting of the Neapic Tennis Club will be held Saturday night, March 24 at Willie's. One of the highlights will again be movies taken during the season by Bill Knight. Former Manchester High players outfielder Ray Gihia and shortstop Ray Sullivan are members of the Eastern Connecticut State College squad this spring. Four East Hartford athletes, pitcher Tom Dawson, third baseman Tom De Felice and hurlers Mike Moss and Greg McGowan are also with Eastern as well as catcher Burt Richardson from Coventry. Attendance for the four-day Aetna World Cup Tennis Tournament at New Haven was 29,927, an average of 7,482. When staged in Hartford, the cap drew 40,000 for the four days.

End of the Line

Sons of two former major league players are in spring training in Florida. Sandy Trout hopes to follow in the footsteps of his father as a pitcher. Young Trout is with the Chicago White Sox. The elder Trout burlied for Detroit. Vance LaRue, former Pittsburgh pitcher Vern Lae, is a shortstop candidate in the camp of the Pirates. Freshman Chris Laz, former Manchester High athlete, is wrestling in the pound class with the University of Connecticut varsity this season. Universal gym has been installed at Hilling Junior High athletic team coaches are now being familiarized with its operation before students become involved. The multi-station unit was purchased from funds realized from two donors — Merrill Whiston and Matt Moriarty Sr. — and a number of school promotions. Have a nice weekend.

Dual Champs

Hedwood Farms added the Division of the American Division volleyball championship to its regular season laurels while the Manchester Educational Association surprised by winning the National Division laurels over the North Enders. Cathy Dyak, former No. 1 high ranking duckpin average bowler in the National Bowling Congress membership, has joined the staff at the Holiday Lanes. Friday night traffic on Route 91 from Hartford to Springfield has been cut in half. England Whaler attendance since the skiing season started. Traffic along the route has nearly doubled on Friday nights when the Whalers are home in Springfield. G. Fox and Kodel will sponsor a Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament June 15-17 at Trinity College's clay courts which will include championship teams from 32 area clubs. Rec Departments and business firms. Winner will get a chance to play in the Nationals in New York in July with the overall champ advancing to the U.S. Open in Flushing, N.Y., in August.

Bill Hodges Tabbed UPI Coach of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Hodges, who was unexpectedly handed the coaching job at Indiana State at the start of the year and guided the Sycamores through a triumphant whirl of a season, was named Friday as United Press International's 1978-79 Coach of the Year.

In a nationwide polling of 214 sports writers and broadcasters, Hodges received 60 votes. Digger Phelps of Notre Dame was second with 49 and Late Olson of Iowa was third with 15.

Hodges took over as the Sycamores' coach six weeks before their first game and transformed Indiana State from an unknown on the nation's basketball capitals.

The unbeaten Sycamores captured a Missouri Valley Conference title, rejected a sting of 31 straight victories and won a berth in the NCAA tournament. Indiana State whipped Oklahoma 83-72 Thursday night to advance to the finals of the Midwest Regionals.

Not even Hodges — a 36-year-old native of Lebanon, Ind. — understood the full scope of Indiana State's success.

"I didn't expect this kind of year to start out with," he said. "I thought we'd have a good year and have a shot at winning the conference — because the players did. We were picked to finish fourth in the Valley by the coaches and third by the writers."

"On paper, that was a sound analysis. But our guys felt we could challenge for the title and that was our goal — to win the title. You don't

Female Reporters Find Doors Open

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies are now allowing female reporters into the team's locker room, ending a six-month battle by a freelance writer.

Theodore Martineau, an attorney for the Phillies, confirmed Thursday that the club would not continue legal efforts in federal court to bar women sportswriters from the locker room.

Samantha Stevenson, the freelance writer, had filed a suit in federal court when she was denied admission to the Phillies' locker room last October after the opening National League playoff game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Martineau said the Phillies are now allowing female reporters into the locker room at the club's training camp in Clearwater, Fla.

"The Samantha Stevenson case is now moot," he said.

Stevenson said "it was ridiculous from the beginning. But the real issue has always been closed by the fake issue of male nudity. The real issue has always been to give women writers the same access to information that male writers have always had."

She added that, "now we can get on with the reporting of baseball from the viewpoint of women. Now women reporters in Philadelphia can finally compete equally with men, and finally show what we can do."

Stevenson said she was pleased "to see the walls come down. When I put my other one on for the start of the season, they're won't be any holes in it at all. It'll be perfect. I like to dress nice."

bogeys came when he three-putted once and hit a 3-iron into the lake. Although Rogers' 68 was the best among the leaders, he also did the most complaining.

"It seemed like every hole was a cross word," Rogers said. "It's a different world than we are used to playing here and it's sure making it difficult."

Renner agreed mildly.

"It's tough to get the ball close to the pin on a day like this," he said.

A week ago, when Nicklaus also had barely made the cut, he said he would have just as soon missed it so he could go home and work on his game. But he said that was not the case at Doral.

"I'd just as soon play right now. My game is in pretty good shape and what I need right now is to post some good scores," he said. "The difference between my game this week and last week is like night and day."

'Boys' from Transylvania Sitting on Rival Benches

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dracula-type overtones may be present Monday night when the "boys" from Transylvania meet in a semifinal bracket of the National Invitation Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Actually, the only threat to peace probably will be some blood-curdling screams from Alabama Coach C.M. Newton and Purdue mentor Lee Rose, if the referees' calls go against them. Maybe they'll be eyeing the officials' throats, too, if the penalties are too severe.

Newtonson Rose formerly teamed up at Transylvania College (Kentucky) where he was captain of the 1957 basketball team.

The Big Ten is assured of a finalist in the Wednesday night championship game since Indiana and Ohio State play in the other half of the semifinal doubleheader Monday.

Purdue played its first three NIT rounds at home, and Rose says his squad is now excited over the prospect of playing in New York.

"We're really happy to be in the NIT," said Rose as an obvious second thought to having been overlooked by the NCAA selection committee in the "other tournament" now in progress.

"We'd like to play the rest of the games right here (Lafayette, Ind.), but we got to go to New York."

Alabama star Reggie King may make Rose wish he was back home in Indiana when the two teams clash at the Garden.

King played with the Crimson Tide squad that lost its bid to win the SEC title two years ago when he was injured. He would like to complete his New York visit as a winner.

Luzinski HR Beats Bosox

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) — Greg Luzinski hit a tape measure two-run homer and Manny Trillo collected three hits Friday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Philadelphia took a 2-0 lead in first inning when Larry Bowa doubled and Luzinski slammed a lowering home run over the left field wall.

Philadelphia made it 3-0 in the second inning when Gary Maddox singled, went to third on a double by Trillo and scored on an infield out by pitcher Jimmy Lomborg.

"Mark's coming along well but we're taking our time with him," says new manager, Les Moss. "If he's ready in June, fine; if he's ready in September, that's fine, too."

Staub is another story. He is not in camp and doesn't intend to be unless the Tigers extend his present contract, which expires in 1980, another three years. Staub, the AL's leading designated hitter a year ago, has threatened to quit and become a full-time restaurateur in New York unless the Tigers give in to his demands.

"We will not give in to him," says General Manager Jim Campbell. "He can sit out all season. He's important to our club but it's time someone took a stand against renegotiations. He signed a contract and he should stick by it. Right now we're not counting on him."

Without Fidirych, the Tigers' pitching staff is mediocre and certainly not good enough to challenge for the division title. Without Staub the Tigers' offense will still be potent but not as lethal as it was a year ago.

Marijuana Users in Baseball Could Be High as 25 Percent

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — One American League manager, commenting on the ongoing investigation of Bill Lee, says if Bowie Kuhn decides to take action against all the marijuana users in baseball he'd better bring his lunch because he's talking about 25 percent of the players in the big leagues.

"That figure could be conservative. Art Berke, one of Bowie Kuhn's aides, says the commissioner hasn't made any decision yet regarding his investigation of Lee's published statements pertaining to his use of marijuana."

When Kuhn does make his decision, Lee doesn't think he will see fit to punish Lee in any way, first because he thinks his investigation will show that the Montreal Left-hander was only guilty of an injudicious statement, and second because the commissioner would be putting himself in an almost indefensible position if he did take some form of punitive action. What about those others in baseball who have used marijuana? And isn't it illegal everywhere?

"I'm going to have a good year," said Lee, who didn't have an especially good one last year with the Red Sox, finishing 10 and 10. "I'm the best conditioned athlete in this camp. I don't smoke marijuana and I don't advocate anyone else's smoking it."

Fidrych and Staub Needed by Detroit

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — If Mark Fidirych comes back and flies like "The Bird" of three years ago and Rusty Staub decides that eating up enemy pitchers is more fun than running a gourmet restaurant, then the Detroit Tigers could leave some clam marks on their American League East opponents this year.

But don't bet on either event happening.

Fidirych, sidelined for most of the last two years with an assortment of injuries, is with the team in spring training and has been throwing daily. But the Tigers are bringing him along slowly and aren't counting on him despite Fidirych's high hopes of making it back to the starting rotation.

"Mark's coming along well but we're taking our time with him," says new manager, Les Moss. "If he's ready in June, fine; if he's ready in September, that's fine, too."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With only the Eastern Open remaining on the PGA's winter schedule, the race for the starting positions in the 1979 World Series of Golf — set for Sept. 27-30 — is still up for grabs.

Mets Offer Little, Last Place Club

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Times are lean for a pro baseball team when the cover of the club media guide features one of the coaches.

Willie Mays, a coach and good will ambassador for the New York Mets, somehow manages to smile on the cover of the guide, but the past two seasons have produced countless frowns on the faces of Met fans, players and management.

New York has finished in the National League East cellar for the past two seasons and the Mets are likely to be there again in 1979.

Met attendance has deteriorated as rapidly as the team's fortunes, barely clearing the one million mark each of the past two years. Manager Joe Torre, frustrated over management's inaction over the winter trading market, points instead for maturity for his young team.

"Most of the improvement has to come from consistency," says Torre. "Young players don't know how to be consistent."

The only constant on the 1978 New York Met squad was poor play. The team posted the league's worst record (66-96) and was near the bottom of the pack in both hitting and pitching. Despite these weaknesses, the Mets will field almost the same lineup in '79, adding only rookie Pete Falcone and possibly pitcher outfielder Bobby Brown.

The club's inertia during the off-season hasn't been forgotten by the players. Catcher John Stearns rapped at management and pitcher Craig Swan says players think the club has "gone dead" on them. "I just wish the owners would have done something," says Swan.

What the team did instead was change the chief operating officer, with Linda de Roulet replacing M. Donald Grant. The problems, however, remain fixed as the Mets begin a long rebuilding process.

STRENGTHS — Not many. Solid defense, particularly on right side of infield. budding All-Star catcher in Stearns; decent right-handed pitching.

WEAKNESSES — Mets need relief pitching badly. No power hitters. One proven left-handed pitcher; too many holes in lineup.

Weaver Not Conceding Anything to Yankees

MIAMI (UPI) — Earl Weaver feels fine. He gets awfully sick, though, every time somebody comes up and asks him whether he's doing what so many others are, conceding the whole thing to the Yankees.

"Concede, nothing," snorts the Orioles' little manager in that flinty, scratchy voice of his. "Doesn't anybody remember what happened last year?"

Sure they do. Earl. They remember how the Yankees knocked over the Kansas City Royals in four games for the American League pennant and how they took care of the Dodgers in six in the World Series. What's there to remember? No, no, no. Earl Weaver counters. He remembers something entirely different and that's why he isn't conceding anything. What he remembers is how close the Yankees came to not even making the playoffs last year.

"They were so strong that after 162 ball games they had to go into the ninth inning with Carl Yastrzemski at bat in Fenway Park and how they got out of there. I won it," Weaver says, a thin thread of sarcasm weaving clearly in his voice.

"I feel like we can," he answers, without flinching. "Look at our pitching staff. Jim Palmer won 21 games. Mike Flanagan won 18, and Dennis Martinez and Scott McGreggor, in their first year of ever starting in the major leagues, did one helluva job between them. Dennis winning 16 and Scott 15. All four of these fellows are completely capable of winning 20 games this year."

Joe's World

Joe's World
By Joe Garman
The Ides of March

The Ides of March ... A terrible time, fraught with danger, for the fisherman go crazy waiting for opening day; nature photographers bemoan the fact that this is the grey of winter; birders are disappointed (everything is monochromatic) hunting is over and done with until fall, and sportsmen all over have the blues.

Having the sportsman's "itch" is a terrible thing, and it manifests itself in numerous and in some instances, comical ways.

As a nature photographer, I am frustrated, because I have nothing to do to tramp the fields and woods looking for something to photograph. Everything is grey, brown, and I've shot it all, over the years. The first few years it was "arty," and interesting, but by the time I was in my late 20s, I was just plain bored.

So ... what happens in my house? Nobody is safe at home ... work either ... I'm sneaking around corners, camera in hand, taking pictures of everyone and everything, being "Joe Candid Photographer." I guess I make a general nuisance of myself.

There isn't a plant in the house that hasn't been photographed in every type of light, an African Violet or other flowering plant, whose flower buds are being shot with a macro lens or tubes, thus exposing it's innermost secrets to the camera.

There isn't a movable object in the house that hasn't been arranged to make the Still Life, to end all still life pictures.

Know I'm not nuts, because other outdoor photographers have told me they show the self same symptoms.

The fishermen this time of the year are really climbing the walls. Tackle has been checked, cleaned, inspected, gone over, checked again, inspected again, cleaned again, gone over again for the skagit-eight time.

Maps have been poured over, rivers and lakes have been graded and marked, plans for forthcoming fishing trips have been discussed ad nauseam, (the latter view held by non fishing wives) and there isn't a piece of water, within driving distance, that hasn't been figured out for the fisherman as if he were a fly tyer ... Heaven help the housewife. He's locked in his den, or has his fly tying materials and fly-dyeing apparatus scattered about anything left on the fly tying table. Classic patterns pour from his vise in a torrent. Newly begun patterns spring forth in all sizes ... and his creativity knows no bounds ... as his private "secret weapons" concocted by him, fall from the jaws of his vise.

The ice fisherman who has had his pretty good all winter, has cleaned his gear, put it away, and is now thinking of the forthcoming season with open water, and red and ice in mind. He is going through the same kind of pangs the rest of us are going through, plus he has withdrawal symptoms from leaving the ice ... or rather the ice leaving him.

The hunters, especially the bird, duck, and goose hunters, are now beginning to hit the trap and skeet fields. Where there has been one group of die hards, shooting all winter, new faces start to show up. These are the bird and duck hunters, having been cut off from hunting, can't stand the inactivity anymore, and now have to get out and start hunting themselves, shooting clay targets.

And all sportsmen, hunters, fishermen, photographers, etc., start spending more time in sporting goods stores. It's just like trout feeding during a hatch, or school fish feeding bait fish ... We all seem to flock to stores to look at new rods, gun cameras, camping equipment, etc. It's like some primitive instinct that turns us loose to window shop, and spend money on new equipment.

Wow ... toward the Ides of March ... They are deadly in more ways than I

Vitamin Therapy Advocated

HARTFORD (UPI) — Several people Friday asked the State of Connecticut to allow mental hospital patients the freedom to choose vitamin therapy to cure their emotional disturbances.

But a spokesman for the state Mental Health Department said it's never been clearly shown that the so-called orthomolecular therapy works and said mental patients should not have the right to request the treatment.

Mark Litchman, who identified himself as a lawyer from Olympia, Wash., told the Legislature's Human Services Committee that people who say there is no value to orthomolecular therapy "don't know what they're talking about."

"Many dread diseases are due to vitamin deficiencies," Litchman told the committee, which was hearing testimony on a bill to give patients at state mental hospitals the option of choosing vitamin treatments instead of drugs.

"Stress relieves your body of needed vitamins," he said. Litchman claimed that since he's been on vitamin therapy, he doesn't drink less alcohol, eat less, sleep less and feels better.

He said mental hospitals should regulate the sugar in their patients' diets and put them on vitamins instead of giving them powerful anti-psychotic drugs, such as thiorazine.

"The doctors in our state (Washington) who prescribe drugs for mental illness are very proud that they can get rid of 500 people in one year, but they don't tell you how many come back. Most of them do," Litchman said.

Ernst Engelbrecht, the legislative liaison for the state Mental Health Department, testified against the measure, saying research has not proven that vitamin therapy is effective in treating mental illness.

"They claim massive doses of certain vitamins can ameliorate schizophrenia," Engelbrecht said. "It has not been proven that this treatment, mega-vitamin therapy, is efficacious."

Ready for New Year

An armed guard of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini sweeps a sidewalk, as others pick up garbage from the street, at the start of a cleanliness campaign on the eve of Iran's New Year feast.

Cattanach Will Stay

HEBRON — David Cattanach, superintendent of schools for Regional District 8 and the elementary school districts of Hebron, Andover, and Marlborough, has been notified he was not awarded the position of superintendent of schools for Waterbury.

Cattanach was informed he was one of three finalists but that the position was awarded to Dr. Robert J. Lane of

Executive Session Set on Personnel

COVENTRY — Following the regular Town Council meeting Monday night, the council will meet in executive session to discuss appointment, employment, performance, evaluation, health or dismissal of a public officer or employee.

Also in executive session the council will discuss matters concerning security strategy or the deployment of security personnel.

In regular session the council will discuss a recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Commission that the town buy the Salvation Army land. The matter will be brought to a special town meeting scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Nathan Hale School.

Other items on the agenda include discussion of a drainage proposal from the Water Pollution Control Authority, charter revisions, appointment of an auditor, other appointments, a financial report, the report of the town manager and the fire marshal.

Also, a request from the police chief concerning the transporting of prisoners, a report from the Planning and Zoning Commission on the elderly housing site and one on utilization of common driveways, discussion on street numbering, and a report on Interstate 84.

Free Clinic Scheduled

COVENTRY — The Public Health Nursing Association Inc. will sponsor a free blood pressure screening clinic March 20 from 1 to 2 p.m. at Hill's Pharmacy.

Emanuel Preschool To Hold Fun Night

MANCHESTER — The Chestnut Hill Preschool at Emanuel Lutheran Church, 50 Church St., Manchester, will sponsor a Fun Night for the children currently attending the school and their families, those who will attend next year, and other interested parents and their children.

Because of the number of people involved, Fun Night will take place two nights, Tuesday, and Wednesday at 6:30.

The purpose of the program is to bring families together for a short evening of entertainment and allow the children to acquaint their families with what they are doing and where. There will be movies and popcorn.

For further information call Carol Mahstedt, the director, at 643-8882 or 643-1193, or the church office.

Gardeners Meet Today

MANCHESTER — A meeting of all participants in the Manchester Victory Gardens is scheduled for this morning at 10 at Mohr's Community Hall, 587 E. Middle Turnpike.

John L. Jewreik, co-chairman of the victory gardens, said the meeting is being called to discuss the gardens' water source for the season and to see if the gardeners want to order water from the town.

The group will also elect officers. The gardens are on Finley Street, off East Middle Turnpike.

Participants are urged to attend this first meeting, Jewreik said.

Bulletin Board

Exception Granted
ANDOVER — The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted Raymond Mittle and Frank D. Eichner a special exception for a used motor vehicle dealership and repair shop.

The business, called Heritage Auto Body, will be located in the Comtex Building on Route 6 and Bank Hill Road.

Registration Sessions
HEBRON — Registration sessions for Little League, Girls Softball, and Coit and Pony leagues, will be conducted Monday and Wednesday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Gilead Hill School and Hebron Elementary School.

The registration fee is $5 from a family; $5 for two from a family; and a maximum of $10 for three or more members of the same family.

Persons with questions concerning registration or eligibility should contact David Gunas, Little League chairman, or Edward Ely, chairman of the Girls Softball league.

Registration is from April 30 at 8 p.m. to explain the screening process and answer questions.

The preschool screening of children will be on May 1 and 2. The process allows for early identification of a student's educational needs in speech, vision, hearing, developmental growth and learning disabilities.

For further information call the school at 643-2411.

Easter Bazaar
HEBRON — The Hebron Junior Women's Club is sponsoring an Easter Bazaar March 31 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Phelps Hall.

Toys, decorations, plants, candy, and baked goods will be on sale. The

Dear Abby
 By Abigail Van Buren

At 13, Paternity Suit Doesn't Fit

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a 18-year-old boy to father a child? Our neighbor claims that our 13-year-old son, Vernon, got Cathy, their 15-year-old daughter, pregnant. Vernon has always been big for his age, but he never was a ringer, and his hardly ever looked at a girl. He has never been in any kind of trouble. He's a good student and an altar boy at church.

Vernon said he fooled around with Cathy "some," but he wasn't the only one. Cathy says she is sure Vernon is the one, but she admitted to having given in to three other boys. Cathy refuses to have an abortion because it's against her religion. She is very religious and always said she wanted to be a nun.

We don't know where to turn, Abby. If it's our son's baby, we want to do the right thing, but if it isn't, we don't see why we should be stuck with the responsibility, expense and so on.

Can you help us?
 MONTANA MESS

DEAR MESS: First, you need some expert legal advice. If you can't afford a lawyer, consult your local Legal Aid Society. Then get some counseling from your clergyman. Family Service and/or Planned Parenthood office. It is obvious that both Vernon and Cathy need to know a lot more about the birds and the bees and P.E.O.P.L.E. What kids don't know CAN hurt them.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and take piano lessons, but I hate it. My lessons are almost over for the year, but my Mom says I have to take piano lessons again next year, and I don't want to.

What should I do?
 PIANO LESSON HATER

DEAR HATER: Take your lessons and practice! Many adults have told me it is one of the biggest regrets of their lives in having quit music lessons. But not one who quit who said that he was glad he did.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and need some advice. My boyfriend (20) keeps asking me questions which are none of his business; such as, how many guys were there before him? He insists that the past should be forgotten, yet he keeps bugging me to tell him everything about mine. I never ask him any questions about his.

What should I do? I really love him, and I don't want to lose him.
 BUGGED IN GAINESVILLE

DEAR BUGGED: Tell your boyfriend he's absolutely right - he should be forgotten. And if he doesn't quit bugging you, it means HE doesn't love or trust YOU.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISCOURAGED IN DENVER: Try harder. Self-discipline can be just as satisfying as self-indulgence. And infinitely more rewarding.

Do you hate to write letters of condolence, congratulations, and thanks. It's not difficult when you let Abby guide you to see how to do it. "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (25 cent), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Safety play for contract

The actual hand shows East with three clubs to the queen. If he puts up his queen, South just plays his ace and gets four club tricks. If he holds the queen back, South gets only three clubs. But two spades and four diamonds get him to the magic total of nine.

If West has led from Q-10-9, South will play his ace of clubs next. East will show out and South will have a proven finesse.

And if West started with queen-ten, the queen would drop on the third lead. South would collect one less trick. But he can't have scored, but his contract would have been safe.

Ask the Experts

You hold: ♠ 3-7-8
 ♥ K x x x
 ♦ A x x x
 ♣ A x x

Opening lead: ♠ 10

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Bossard

A Wisconsin reader wants to know the correct response to partner's one-diamond opening.

The correct response is one spade. You plan to bid again.

Here is an old hand that is well worth study. You are in three notrump against a 10 of clubs lead. Can you play safe for your contract? You certainly can, unless that lead happened to be a singleton. Just duck in both hands!

March 18, 1979

This coming year you could be rather lucky at things you either create or imagine. Use your ambition and imagination to the fullest.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) Situations you do with the family will turn out to be the most pleasant today. It might be a crazy, but extremely fulfilling, day.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things you do with the family will turn out to be the most pleasant today. It might be a crazy, but extremely fulfilling, day.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) The more people you are around today the better you'll like it. If you don't have plans, make some which involve sharing in a group activity.

QUADRIGES (Jan. 28-Feb. 19) Your ingenuity can be put to very profitable use today, so be prepared to use it. Something beneficial could even develop as a social gathering.

AD GAME - I'm sure I've seen both Joel Higgins and Trish Stewart, on "Salvage 1," in TV commercials recently. He in Geritol and she for a beer commercial with James Coburn. Am I correct? Also, how is the series doing in the ratings? - Karen Glitchburn, Bellamy, Va.

Your eyes are not deceiving you. Both Higgins and Stewart have made pin money doing commercials while waiting for acting jobs. He indeed looks on approvingly at his Geritol-gulping spouse, as she shares a brew with James Coburn in another commercial. As for "Salvage 1," the two stars may find themselves out of steady work again soon, if the show's ratings don't pick up. They haven't been exactly sky-high, despite the rocket ship.

LORDED OVER - You answered a question a while back about Jared Martin who was on "How the West Was Won" as Frank Grayson. I realize he's not under contract, so when are we likely to see him again? - Catherine Carmichael, Castleton, Vt.

Jared Martin's wandering days are over. Jack Lord, who will stop chasing criminals after this season of "Hawaii Five-O," has signed Martin to play the lead in a series Lord is developing for CBS. It's another police-type drama, and will, of course, be filmed in Hawaii. Just stay tuned until the fall.

FRIDAY

COME ON

At a fraternity reception, Sam Alston (John Schuck) backs off from the advances of Glenda Alston (Candy Assara) — a woman who claims to be his wife — in "Crass Reunion" on NBC's comedy series, "Turnabout," Friday, March 23.

A part of NBC's Friday night comedy line-up, "Turnabout" is a half-hour series based on the Thorne Smith story about a husband and wife whose wish to trade places is magically granted.

Railroading onto the Screen

Robert Alda Administers TLC

By DAN LEWIS

HOLLYWOOD — The super-luxury train is outfitted with a swimming pool, saunas, discos and duplex suites. Robert Alda, a tall, handsome, gray-haired man leaning against the lounge bar, sticks out his hand to welcome a visitor.

"Hi," I say, "I'm Dan Lewis, television columnist."

"Hello," he responds, then, in a correcting tone, he declares, "No, I'm Dan Lewis, Dr. Dan Lewis."

There is an awkward moment, as I insist, "No, no, you've got it all wrong, I'm Dan Lewis."

Okay, so maybe we're both right. I've had that monicker a long, long time. Now, I discover with mixed emotion, the name is being circulated about as the lead, regular character on NBC's new mid-season series, "Supertrain" (Wednesday nights). That character is portrayed by Robert Alda, with whom I am conversing on the colossal, $7-million set.

"You can't be Dan Lewis," I told Alda, "you're really George Gershwin."

We laugh, but Alda doesn't always laugh at this reference to the role of Gershwin he assayed in his first feature film more than 30 years ago, a performance that was never to separate him from an image, which his contemporaries and late-night TV movie addicts seldom forget.

Alda found type-casting so oppressive, that he spent a good part of his career through the 1950s and '60s in Europe, based in Italy, busy in television as well as films.

That was 25 years ago. When he returned to the U.S. several years ago, he returned to the stage. Then he moved out to Hollywood, where he quickly picked up his career in television, in a number of guest roles.

His own credits notwithstanding, his stay in Hollywood has been made evident by the success of his oldest son, Alan, star of "M*A*S*H." Ironically, both portray doctors in their respective series.

"I've been more active in the last three years than ever before," Alda noted. "Supertrain" is NBC's extraordinary commitment to fantasy programming. It's set in this ultra-modern, atom-powered, cross-country train. Each week, guest stars bring new experiences to the mobile crew.

Asked if he wasn't concerned about starring in a new series in which the set would upstage him, Alda confidently replied: "I've been around a long time. Nobody, or thing, upstages me."

Alda refers to his new series as a "Borscht Belt on wheels," recalling his own show-business genesis in the Sullivan County area of New York State, populated by ethnic hotels where so many top names got their start.

Alda has always faced the problem of being typed throughout his career. After the Gershwin role, he found his film career didn't mount as he had anticipated. On Broadway, after appearing in "Guys and Dolls," he was regarded as "the Sky Masterson guy."

Now, he faces a new problem, not as serious as the others. He currently is referred to as "Alan Alda's father."

"That doesn't bother me," he says emphatically. "I was always Alan's father ... from the day he was born, I was Alan's father."

Robert Alda may have a new crisis to face in his career, along with No. 1 son Alan. There is another Alda male looming, the youngest son, 22-year-old Antony (cq), of whom, Robert says with fatherly pride, "he may be the most talented one in the family."

Robert Alda has been in show business now for 47 years, and he recalls that he got his start when he won a singing contest and was rewarded with $25. He gave up his job as a draftsman to concentrate on singing.

At one time, Robert Alda thought he would like to be a doctor, but the Depression years made that plan impossible. Years later, still feeling strongly about the medical profession, he convinced his son, Alan, to start medical school. Alan lasted only six months.

"He quit because he preferred writing," Robert Alda recalls. Alan still devotes a good deal of time to writing, and acting and directing. Robert, on the other hand, is very content to concentrate on acting.

Robert Alda's philosophy about acting is quite simple.

"When I first went to Italy, the people over there said I was 'sympatico.' They didn't care if I had talent. So I figured, people — audiences — have to like you first, as a person. That makes it much easier for you to entertain them."

That essentially will be the thrust of his role in "Supertrain." Each week, he'll mingle with the passengers.

"I'm supposed to make them happy as the house doctor — or is it train doctor?" Alda wondered aloud.

Why not send a happy thought to someone today!

FRANK ANSWER — I would like to know if William Kirby Cullen ("How the West Was Won") is the same person who played the Creature in "Frankenstein: the True Story"? My mom says he is, but I say he's too young. — Barbara Hayes, Vader, Wash.

Mom flunks her monster and movie star quiz this week. Michael Sarrazin was the creature in that 1973 TV version of the Mary Shelley classic. Cullen would have been a teenager when it was filmed.

SHORT SHORTS — Everyone is always making a big deal about Gary Coleman being short. Well what about Todd Bridges? He doesn't seem very tall either. Can you tell me how tall and how old he is? — Timmy Mitchell, Grand Forks, B.C.

The story of Todd Bridges is another short one. He stands 5 feet tall and is 13 years old. He'll be 14 in May.
