Vernon Already Trying To Reduce Sewage Cost

By BARBARA RICHMOND, Herald Reporter. VERNON — The town's new $16 million sewage treatment plant isn't in full operation yet and already town officials are trying to think of ways to cut down on the cost of operating it. During a budget workshop session Monday night Mayor Frank Mc Coy told the Town Council members they would have to be looking to see if there are ways to cut the costs of treatment operation. He said maybe treatment would have to be reduced at certain periods of the day "or we'll have to go to the Department of Environmental Protection and ask it to reduce standards," he said.

Resident Concerned About Rogers' Plans

MANCHESTER — One resident did challenge part of the application submitted by the Rogers Corp. for a permit to install an incinerator at its Mill Street plant. Elmer Patten of 33 Mather St. said she feels the firm's application is invalid because of an estimate on the amount of fuel oil needed to operate the incinerator. Johnathan Clapp, the state Department of Environmental Protection's hearing officer for the case, has recommended that the permit be granted for the Rogers Corp. Stanley Pae, commissioner of DEP, has to grant final approval for the permit and he has not acted yet on the matter. Clapp has recommended a conditional permit, which would insure that the system works properly before a full permit is issued. Clapp had said earlier this month that no persons who became parties in the matter filed appeals concerning the Rogers Corp. Mrs. Patten, however, disputed this. She said she wrote to Clapp and asked that the Rogers Corp.'s application be declared invalid. She said the original application said the firm would use 15,000 gallons per year of fuel oil to operate the incinerator. Later, the firm indicated it probably would use only about half of that amount per year. Because of this, she feels the original application is not accurate and should be amended. Clapp said he received Mrs. Patten's letter, but he considered it a clarification rather than an appeal opposing the Rogers' application. The incinerator — also known as thermal oxidizer — would cut down the emissions of hydrocarbons that are created by a production process started last August at the plant, according to company officials who spoke at a March 12 hearing on the application. That hearing also was attended by a dozen residents who live near the Rogers plant, including Mrs. Patten. Most of these residents expressed concern about existing conditions — including odors and emissions — in the area.

Black Parent Of Some Town Teachers Critical

By SUSAN VAUGHN, Herald Reporter. MANCHESTER — A black parent told the Board of Education Monday night that he feels some teachers in the Manchester school system are not fit to socialize his children. John Honor of Kent Drive, who has two children in the public schools, said he was being critical because teachers' important roles in preparing children for life's endeavors. Noting that black persons are an obvious minority numerically in town, Honor told of an experience with his daughter who is in second grade. She came home from school and told her mother that "Buckley School is for white kids," Honor said. Asked how she felt about that, she responded that sometimes she feels uncomfortable but sometimes she thinks "I'll make it," he said. Honor used the experience as an example of the socialization process which goes on in the schools. The main thrust of Honor's comments was to endorse bringing more minority teachers into the Manchester schools. He said "It is difficult to perpetuate a school system that shares one ethnic spectrum." Honor commended the citizens committee which recently made recommendations for improving the racial climate at Manchester High School. He said white students are already starting to benefit from a wider variety of experiences being provided in the schools. In reference to the specific teachers Honor said he did not want to name any names, but told the board that if his children got any of those teachers, they would hear objections from him. Honor has recently resigned from the Human Relations Commission and is a former member of the Community Development Advisory Committee. There was limited response from the Board of Education to Honor's comments, but School Superintendent James P. Kennedy thanked him for coming, saying the board always benefits from thoughtful citizens who express their opinions. Board member Eleanor Colman told Honor, "It is every intention by the board to increase the appreciation of varied backgrounds and to increase good human relations. School board chairman John Vavis noted later in the meeting that one of three teachers whose layoffs were rescinded for the coming year is a black elementary school teacher, one of only two in the elementary schools. There is a very small number of black staff in the entire school system.

Two Policemen Resign

SOUTH WINDSOR — Two Police Department patrolmen have resigned, with their resignations followed by charges made by Police Union President Robert Hagedorn that the department is enforcing regulations not accepted by the union. Eight-year veteran Patrolman Stephen Farnham and three-year veteran Paula Odette have submitted resignations. Hagedorn said, however, that a problem exists within the department because of a manual of rules and regulations for officers, which the union has not accepted, is being enforced by department administrators. Hagedorn said that some of the rules were taken from manuals used by large cities such as Detroit and Los Angeles and do not apply to small town police forces. Some of the officers objected to such things as asking permission to come on headquarters from patrol, a ban on eating dinner out of the district being patrolled, grooming rules concerning mustaches, as well as rotating shifts which require officers to work a different shift each month. Hagedorn said that when an officer changes shifts, he suffers from a "jet-lag" syndrome. Acting Chief William Ryan said there has been a certain amount of unhappiness. He said he didn't receive any written resignation from Farnham, "he just quit." He said he received a one-line written resignation from Officer Odette saying she was resigning effective April 6. Center Church. MANCHESTER — Two meetings are scheduled for tonight at 7:30 at Center Congregational Church. The board of Christian concern will meet in the Robbins Room, and there will be a healing seminar in the Federation Room.

Blue Law Ruling Pleases Lawyer

HARTFORD (UPI) — The attorney who argued the challenge to Connecticut's Sunday closing law says his clients were pleased by the Connecticut Supreme Court's decision which declared the law unconstitutional. The ruling said the law allowed some items to be sold in one kind of store but not in another and concluded there was an "apparent absence of a rational connection between the items whose availability the legislature seemed appropriate of a day of rest and recreation and the business establishments permitted to offer them for sale." From this perspective, the finding of the trial court that two-thirds of the state's work force falls within one or another of the statutory exemptions lends weight to our conclusion that the present act is arbitrary and discriminatory," the Supreme Court said. Lawmakers, who wrote the latest Sunday closing statute only last year as a result of a law approved at the request of the legislature, said the Supreme Court decision probably came too late for a new law to be written this session. The justices' unanimous opinion agreed with a lower court ruling the common day of rest and recreation law was unconstitutional, but said they arrived at their conclusion based on different arguments than Superior Court Justice Nicholas Cloutier considered in November. "In our complex, modern society, it is difficult for legislatures to achieve consensus about rest and recreation without becoming enmeshed in distinctions and discriminations that unfairly impose penal sanctions on legitimate commercial enterprises," the Supreme Court concluded. The ruling marked the third time a blue law has been declared unconstitutional by a Connecticut court, but the first time the Supreme Court had taken such a stand. Cloutier had originally ruled the Legislature has the right to pass a Sunday closing law, but said the law passed last year did not accomplish what lawmakers wanted it to. He said legislators were trying to guarantee workers a common day of rest, but because of all the exemptions the law applied to only about one-third of the state's 1.4 million work force. Since those figures were not challenged in the appeal, the Supreme Court instead turned its attention to the arguments of equal protection and due process.

Math Team Places First

An all-in-one handclasp illustrates the mutual congratulations offered among the members of the Manchester High School Math Team which won first place recently in the final Capital Area Mathematics League meet at Plainville High School in Plainville, it is the first time Manchester has placed first during the eight years with coach Roberta Thompson. The team scored 97 points, ahead of Concord High (78 points), Hall (77 points) and Southington (52 points). The win clinched the Large School Division championship for MHS, which finished second last year. Contributing to the victory were seniors Ron Apter and Karen Johnson with perfect scores of 18 points, Steve Reich with 16 points, and Tim De'Alve and Courtland Sears with 15 points each. The team also scored a perfect 15 on the team questions. High scorers in the B-League individual competition were Scott Freedman, 15 points, and Bill Nighan, 12 points. The win is the fourth for MHS this year out of six regularly scheduled league meets. The team also tied for first one and placed second once. Manchester's performance has qualified the team for participation in the New England Association of Mathematics Leagues contest May 18 at Worcester, Mass. The MHS team also qualified to participate in the Connecticut State Math Meet held this past weekend at Danbury High School. Last year Manchester finished third in the state among the large schools.

School Drinking Prompted Solons

HARTFORD (UPI) — Drinking in Connecticut's schools has prompted a legislative committee to approve a bill raising the state's drinking age from 18 to 19. The measure, approved Monday by a 9-4 vote, now goes to the House where it is expected to face a stiff test. "I would hope this will alleviate the problem of drinking in the schools," said Rep. Andrew Grande, D-Bristol and the bill's architect. In the past, Grande and others have complained that 18-year-olds are buying liquor for their younger high school classmates during school hours. They feel the problem would be curtailed somewhat if the drinking age was raised one year because most 18-year-olds have left high school for college. The Massachusetts Legislature recently voted to raise that state's drinking age from 18 to 20, effective April 18, for similar reasons. But Rep. Robert Jaekle, R-Stratford, urged the committee to remedy Connecticut's problem in another way. He offered an amendment that would have prohibited the sale of alcohol to anyone under 19, but still allowed 18-year-olds to buy liquor in restaurants and bars. "You would be directly attacking the problem of 18-year-olds buying liquor for their younger friends," he said. Jaekle and other Fairfield County lawmakers said raising the drinking age to 19 would only force the state's teenagers to drive to New York and Rhode Island where the drinking age is still 18. This, the Fairfield County lawmakers said, would result in a huge increase in teen-age traffic fatalities. But Grande argued Jaekle's amendment would be unfair to both 18-year-olds and 19-year-olds. The amendment was defeated on a 10-4 vote. In 1972, the Legislature lowered Connecticut's drinking age from 21 to 18. In every year since, there have been attempts by some lawmakers to raise the drinking age.

Coventry Council Backs Numbering

COVENTRY — The Town Council voted last night to support the street numbering ordinance that requires residents to display assigned street numbers as they are clearly visible from the road. The Planning Commission is responsible for the distribution of the assigned numbers for every residential, commercial, and industrial structure located on land that borders public streets. The commission has put a considerable amount of time and effort into a logical plan for assigning numbers, officials said. They will notify each owner of the assigned number. Council Chairman Jack Myles said he "did not want this to be a forced or punitive action." Myles and other members of the council favor a voluntary procedure. Councilwoman Karen Nash proposed that the council seek to enlist public and civic support for the street numbers. The council asked Town Manager Frank Connolly to contact civic organizations, such as the Fire Department, to see if they would be interested in helping to raise money for the project. Concerning the Water Pollution Control Authority's drainage proposal, the council is going to see if Puss & O'Neil, engineers, can expand their study. The proposed project will study the areas where sewers will be put in and analyze a storm drainage system. The council will ask the firm, as part of the contract, to make suggestions for a new road pattern. "With every step we take with sewers and road repairs we perpetuate an existing road pattern," Chairman Myles said.

Board Amends Rules on Bus

VERNON — Amending its transportation policy, Monday night, the Board of Education added the words "physical security" to a list of reasons it would consider for providing bus transportation for students. However, in doing so, the board members voted against a proposal which would have designated certain areas of town as having a history of problems that might involve physical security. Board member Harold Cummings said he didn't feel that the board should assess moral degradation but rather just the physical security of a child. The board also heard a report by Dr. Albert J. Keekin Jr., assistant superintendent of schools, concerning a deficit in the "outside placements" account. He said new costs added since Jan. 4, 1979 total $3,920.40 and the total special education outside placement cost is $116,028.58. The amount budgeted for the current year was $90,000 so this leaves a deficit of $26,028.58. To Pay Respects. MANCHESTER — The Regina D'Italia Society will meet tonight at 7:30 at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., to pay their respects to the late Theresa Naretto, who was a member of the group. Other team members include Bill Hallidin and Michael Sarh. Dinner Canceled. MANCHESTER — The Gourmet Dinner sponsored by the Future Instructors of America Scholarship Foundation at Manchester Community College, scheduled for Wednesday evening at the Student Center has been canceled. Manager Steps Down. HARTFORD (UPI) — City Manager John A. Salkik has resigned the job he has held for seven months, citing health reasons. Salkik, who became city manager last September after James DeLeon resigned in the middle of a scandal involving the city's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program, said Monday he has suffered high blood pressure several years. He was hospitalized in January because of the illness and said he decided it would be best for himself and his family for him to return to his former post as deputy city manager. Corporation Council Hubert Santos will become acting city manager under the city's charter.

Betty's Notebook

By BETTY RYDER

Exciting things are happening. Tomorrow morning, we fly World Airways on its first transcontinental flight to Los Angeles and Oakland, Calif.

On the East Coast, World Airways will serve the Baltimore-Washington Airport and, through Newark Airport, the greater New York metropolitan area. On the West Coast, service will be provided to Los Angeles and through Oakland Airport, to the Oakland-San Francisco Bay area.

The super news is that it offers unrestricted one-way fare of under $100, plus taxes.

We'll pick up the flight in Newark following an inaugural buffet luncheon at which Brock Adams, secretary of the Department of Transportation, will be the guest speaker.

We will be staying at the Hilton Inn in Oakland with a sightseeing tour on Thursday and an inaugural dinner-dance that evening.

Would love to stay a few days longer, but duty calls, and I must get home and cook Easter dinner. (My children would never forgive me—actually they would, but I feel I should be home.)

Will probably arrive home weary, but I'm sure it will be fun. Besides, I've never been to California. Will tell you more about it upon my return.

Happy Easter!

Don't forget to watch the American Junior Miss competition on Saturday night at 8 over CBS. Pretty Sheryl L. Dunn of East Hartford, Connecticut's 1979 Junior Miss and the subject of a recent PEOPLE magazine will be competing for the title with 49 other state winners.

Hal Landen, one of television's brightest and most versatile stars will again host the show. You remember him. He's the star of "Barney Miller" and the Peabody Award winning children's telecast, "Animals, Animals, Animals."

America's Junior Miss is a nationwide program seeking the representative high school senior girl who typifies the best qualities of young womanhood and offers scholarships and other types of awards at local, state and national levels, totaling $1.5 million.

Scholastic achievement, physical fitness, poise, grace, grooming, appearance, creativity, perception and agility are all part of the mix that produces Junior Misses.

Hip Hugger

If tabulating the grocery items are a hassle, maybe you need the world's smallest hip hugger—a calculator which measures 2 1/2" by 1 1/2" by 1/4" and weighs only 1.2 ounces, including batteries.

It fits into a leatherette pouch and has a handy ring-type chain making it easily attachable to the belt loop. Manufactured by Casio, it performs all basic math functions, has a perfect seven-function percent key and one memory, plus an automatic power-off capability.

And, best of all this new wardrobe item sells for under $30.

Congratulations

Our best to the Manchester Police Department and the Eighth Utilities District Volunteer Fire Department for winning trophies in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Hartford.

The MPD won for the best marching unit and the Eighth for the best participation by a volunteer fire department. Capt. Henry Minor of the MPD and John Christensen, assistant chief of the Eighth, accepted for their respective units.

Manchester also won for the best town participation. South Windsor had its share of fame with their float "Finnegans Wake," which took second place in the Hartford parade and then went on to take second place in the Holyoke, Mass., parade.

Joined the award festivities Sunday night at the Irish-American Club in Glastonbury as the guest of Irislight Marceau of Manchester, reviewing stand and awards chairman.

The young men who filmed the parade for us to view via television did an admirable job considering it was a bleak, rainy day.

Signs of Season

While the weather hasn't been especially spring-like recently, there have been some signs of the season, like the street sweeping operation around town. The winter's debris is being removed from roads and curbs in that annual cycle of sand and sweep that characterizes this region. Here the machine is working on Summit Street. (Herald photo by Pinto)

SWHS Class Seeks June 16 Graduation

SOUTH WINDSOR—High school seniors will request Board of Education approval of June 16 for graduation ceremonies when the board meets tonight at 7:30 at Orchard Hill School.

The request is unusual in that approval of the date will mean that graduation will actually be held following the close of public schools in South Windsor. In past years the commencement ceremonies have been held before the end of the school year.

The class officers are making the request because they want the graduation to be held following the traditional senior dinner dance. The restaurant they wish to use for the dance, Chez Joseph, is available only on June 14.

The commencement exercises will be held outdoors, as in the past two years, with graduation held the same evening in the gym in case of rain.

School Superintendent Robert W. Goldman is also expected to recommend that a February vacation be included in next year's school calendar.

Goldman, who has opposed the inclusion of the winter break in this year's calendar, said that there appears to be an overwhelming support for the vacation.

"With reluctance, I will not oppose it and will recommend to the board its inclusion in the new calendar," said Goldman.

Goldman said however, that if any board members agree with his contention that the February vacation be eliminated again next year, he will also submit a calendar which will eliminate the vacation.

Also presented to the board will be a tentative calendar which will hold school during Columbus Day, Martin Luther King Day and Lincoln's birthday. Goldman said however, such a calendar which shows school in session during those traditional holidays is possible only if the state passes legislation, presently being considered, allowing school on those days.

"Prope observations would take place in school if this were the case," said Goldman.

If the February vacation were approved it would begin on February 16. An April vacation is scheduled for April 19-27. Assuming that there are no unusual school closings the 1979-80 school year would end on June 19.

Rham Events Boost Foreign Awareness

HEBRON—This week has been declared International Awareness Week at Rham High School and many activities have been planned to create an awareness of other cultures, countries and people.

Included for the junior high students is a schedule of activities such as ballet, tour De France, debates on the Middle East crisis and several others.

The senior high students will have an international festival of learning. This special program will be sponsored by the Rham Student-Faculty Senate under the direction of Ronald Ouellette, senate chairman. He is also a member of the school's social studies department.

Yale University, the State of Connecticut, the University of Connecticut and many community and school members have contributed to the program. The offerings range from an Oriental martial arts display, to a speaker from the Soviet Union who has been in this country for about a week.

Other program offerings include Israeli folk dancing, a special program on the Peoples Republic of China, Finland, Argentina, Panama, Taiwan, Nepal, and gourmet cooking.

Also to be offered will be an Italian pastry workshop, yoga demonstration, Armenian bread making, and a special session on Ukrainian Easter Egg decorating.

Students Suspended

HEBRON—Three students of the Rham Junior High have been suspended from school for a period of 10 days because of their alleged participation in making bomb threat telephone calls to the school, Diana Vecchiore, principal, said.

She said the calls have been made during the past few weeks and that the successful apprehension of the students, whose names haven't been released due to their age, was the result of cooperation between the school administration and the state police.

Secret Report Hints New Twist

WASHINGTON - Involvement of the Mafia and Cuban Premier Fidel Castro in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy has been given a new intriguing twist in a still unreleased report of the House Assassinations Committee. We broke the first version of the "Cuban connection" in 1967, as it was told to us by the late mobster John Roselli. While the committee doesn't buy his story in its entirety, our reports sparked an investigation that led to a variation of the Roselli theory as one of the possible scenarios of the Dallas assassination.

water drains by following as closely as possible that natural drainage occurred in it, and many little local ditches got wet in it the summer and skated on it in the winter. The pond was always an early freezer. The pond's source is from springs and from springs and drainage from the hill to the northeast. The pond's drainage course has to be the west. In my letter of March 13th to Walter Senkow, an engineer, I suggested that, from old maps and other documents, he confirm the pond's route of natural drainage. A serious situation may have developed for the town by permitting possible encroachment on a natural water flow from a pond when the land in and around that drainage course was developed.

Racism Claims Not Applicable

I urge the people of Manchester to consider this when they vote in the referendum. If we allow 'HUD' to continue, we will eventually lose control of the affairs of our town to the dictates of 'COORC' which is controlled by Boston, Regional Capital of Region 1, comprised of the New England states.

HUD is just one of the many federal agencies created to foster regionalism. We are fast losing our identity. The federal government has no money of its own, only that which it takes from the citizens. We are told that in order to receive a small percentage of our tax money back again, we still have to follow certain guidelines. The ultimate result will be the loss of our liberties and rights under the constitution. We've already lost too many.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 29, married and mixed up. All my life I was a fat girl with a pretty face, but a good man fell in love with me and married me. Two years ago I lost 55 pounds. I love myself thin, but now I've got problems I never had before.

DEAR THIN: You apparently still think of yourself as the "fat girl no man would want." You need to keep proving to yourself that you're desirable. Get some modeling and become acquainted with the real you. I think you'll like her. (A real "tramp" wouldn't feel guilty.)

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and have found just the place I want to get married. It's a beautiful empty field on the Pacific Coast Highway overlooking the ocean. Do I have to find out who owns that property and get permission to get married there? Or doesn't it matter?

DEAR GRANNY: Urge your daughter to see a psychiatrist. She may be suffering from a temporary depression which she will recover. However, should your daughter go through with the adoption, it will be final for her. Her real father is in the meantime, what a cruel ordeal for the adoptive parents!

Library Planning Book Sale

MANCHESTER — The library board will plan a book sale sometime in May.

Head librarian John Jackson told the board Monday night that between 3,000 and 4,000 books will be available for sale.

The sale will be held for one day, probably on a Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Mary Cheney Library. The proceeds from the book sale will go to the town's General Fund.

Jackson said work has begun on improving the ramp for the handicapped at a rear entrance to the Mary Cheney Library. It will be extended from the driveway to the driveway, and should be completed by next month, Jackson said. He said the project will cost about $2,000.

Jackson said he has put in a request for a full time clerical CETA position.

The board voted to empower board chairman Leo Diana and Jackson to transfer $3,572 from the salary account for necessary repairs at both libraries.

Diana asked the board's support tonight at a hearing on the proposed library budget after the town Board of Directors' regular meeting. The board is asking for $479,828, a 4.5 percent increase over last year's budget. Town Manager Robert Weiss is recommending a library budget of $477,000, which reflects a straight 4.5 percent increase, an increase Weiss has asked that all town departments observe in their budget preparations.

The board will ask to have two positions restored that are not included in the budget, but one of them may be filled by the requested CETA position, Diana said.

Jackson announced there are two more hearings with the State Labor Relations Board scheduled April 30 and May 10, both at 4:30 p.m. in Wetherfield. Town Library employees are seeking to form a bargaining unit, but there's a problem in determining who makes up the unit and whether certain library employees are administrators or supervisory workers, a status which would make them ineligible to join the bargaining unit.

Strike May Delay K Mart Reopening

MANCHESTER — A K Mart official said today that the department store on Spenser Street may not reopen next month as scheduled.

K Mart manager Jerry Smith said that the store isn't scheduled to receive merchandise until next Monday.

Much of it may be held up, however, unless a settlement is reached in the 10-day-old dispute between the Teamsters Union and the nation's trucking companies.

Smith said that a lot of the store's merchandise comes from the K Mart warehouses, and would not be affected by the truckers' strike.

If the store opens while the strike is still on, Smith said there might be some bare spaces on the sales floor. He said that most of the shelves and counters are already set in place, but much of the display layout depends on the merchandise that comes in. "I really don't know what's going to happen between now and next Monday," Smith said, and added that the final decision on the store's reopening will come from the department store chain's headquarters.

Smith said that he has begun accepting applications for about 150 full-time and part-time jobs. A few of the Teamsters' employees have returned, he said.

The K Mart has been closed since January 1978 when the roof collapsed under the weight of ice and snow. Reconstruction of the roof began last October. During the store shut down, owners of several businesses in the K Mart Shopping Plaza have complained that their businesses have suffered.

PTA, Nutrition Program Change School Lunches

MANCHESTER — Some changes in the school lunch menu have been made in response to recommendations by a PTA nutrition committee and a pilot nutrition program currently being conducted in the schools.

Assistant School Superintendent Wilson E. Deakin reported to the Board of Education Monday night.

The menu changes include more variety, greater use of fresh vegetables, a reduction in the use of chocolate and some new terms for food in the menu listings. Fresh fruit is also being offered as an alternate almost every day and sometimes the students have a choice of vegetables, although Deakin noted that sometimes offering too many choices to the young children poses problems in terms of time. Other foods being offered for the first time include brown rice and whole wheat bread. Low fat milk is also provided upon request. School board members asked Deakin to look into the possibility of providing low fat milk for everyone who would like to alternate. Deakin said he would check on the cost differences.

Colorful Series

There's nothing as colorful in New England football than the annual Yale-Harvard game either in New Haven or Cambridge — and I was on hand for 30 of these games, many susceptible to the final scores.

Yale football is still the biggest in the state and Eli squared the field on the day of Coaches Howie Odell, John Orlov and Johnny Pott to join Cord Zuzi provided many an afternoon of good, clean entertainment.

Besides the Yale-Harvard meetings, one game that can be recalled as matching any, including Dartmouth, was the last time Army invaded the bow and left a loser before a capacity crowd.

Pro football in the days when the Giants played before half empty houses to the glory days of Sam Huff, Charlie Conerly and Y. A. Tittle will never be forgotten, nor the years when the team trained at Fairfield University and attracted 10,000 fans for a scrimmage.

Excellent Source

The Hartford Civic Center Coliseum, before the roof cave in — provided countless hours of entertainment, starting with the Whalers in the World Hockey Association as well as NBA games featuring the Boston Celtics, World Team Tennis and Acta World Cup play which featured at times Jimmy Connors, Rod Laver, John Newcombe and Arthur Ashe.

University of Connecticut basketball has been "big league" in the state for some time, with Coach Coach Hugh Greer, and Dee Rowe, in particular, helped make the headlines.

Looking Back 35 Years

How time flies!

It was 35 years ago, the first Monday in April, that I joined The Herald family.

Tom Seaver Impresses Scoring First Decision

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds, who played like "The Bad News Bears" for Tom Seaver last Wednesday, suddenly look like grizzlies.

Seaver, who was knocked out in the second inning on opening day as the Reds made five errors against San Francisco, struck out 10 in eight innings Monday night and added a home run to pace Cincinnati to a 9-4 rout of winless Atlanta Braves.

I think the ballclub is much more relaxed," said Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench, who also hit a solo home run. "I think there was a tremendous amount of pressure on a lot of people in Cincinnati — pressure on the manager, people wondering how we would do without Pete Rose. I am glad we went on the road and didn't have a prolonged home stand."

The Reds scored runs in each of the first six innings and made only one error in coaxing to their second straight win after three opening home losses to the Giants. The Braves are winless in four games.

Seaver, who didn't win his first game last year until May 8, allowed only seven hits before retiring the eighth and yielding to Frank Pastore.

Ken Griffey and George Foster each pulled up three hits and drove in two runs. Griffey had a game-opening double and Foster followed with a home run.

Three batters later with a two-run threat to give the Reds a lead they never relinquished, Bench also drove in two runs and is now only two behind the all-time Reds' career record of 1,115 held by Tony Perez.

Seaver's only problems against the Braves came in the third inning when Gary Matthews slammed a three-run homer — to break a 23-inning scoreless streak for Atlanta — and in the seventh when Barry Bonnell hit a solo shot.

In the only other NL game, Los Angeles scored Houston, 2-1. Pittsburgh at Philadelphia and Montreal at New York were rained out. In the American League, Detroit beat Kansas City, 7-3, and Seattle won at Oakland, 5-2.

Dodgers 2, Astros 1

Hull Russell slammed a solo home run and Jerry Reuss, acquired by Los Angeles just two days ago, allowed only one hit over four innings of relief, landing Houston's first defeat.

Figures 7, Reds 4-3

Ron LeFlore drove in four runs with a double and single to lift Detroit past previously unbeaten Kansas City behind the combined eight-hit pitching of Mill Wilcox and John Hiller.

In the only other AL game, Los Angeles scored Houston, 2-1. Pittsburgh at Philadelphia and Montreal at New York were rained out. In the American League, Detroit beat Kansas City, 7-3, and Seattle won at Oakland, 5-2.

Brock to Retire After 17 Years

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal outfielder Lou Brock, baseball's all-time base-stealing king, will retire at the end of the 1979 season.

Brock, who will be 40 on June 18, made the surprise announcement Monday evening at a news conference attended by his family and Cardinals manager Billy Williams, 19-year-old chief executive.

"Just as one knows when to start the game — and to play with pride, feelings and honor — so most one knows when to quit the game with the same attitude," Brock said.

"I have one stolen base so far this season, bringing his career total to 918. In 1974, he stole 118 bases in 153 games, smashing Marty Williams' one-season mark of 104. He has stolen 50 or more bases in 11 consecutive seasons.

Although suffering through his worst season last year with a .221 batting average, Brock batted .272 this spring and was named as the Cardinals' lead runner going into the regular season. Brock is 100 hits short of reaching the coveted 3,000 mark.

With the spring he's had," said Cardinals manager Ken Boyer, who also attended the news conference, "he was playing right now. I can't even imagine him not reaching that 3,000 hit milestone."

Brock expressed the news conference by saying Lou Brock has informed him of his desire to retire at the end of the 1979 season. This announcement

Pete Rose's Debut As Phillie Delayed

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — W.C. Fields would have loved it. Pete Rose's first day on the job in Philadelphia would have enriched the late comedian's catalogue of jokes about his native city.

Rose was supposed to make his home debut at first base for the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night in a carnival-like atmosphere that perhaps would be better suited for the Fourth of July.

A fireworks display, the lighting of an American flag measuring 112 feet by 247 feet and U.S. Army brass bands delivering the first ball were all arranged as part of the pregame hoopla.

A crowd of 15,000 was expected to cheer and cheer the 34-year-old player heaped would lead them to the National League pennant. It would be the biggest celebration in Philadelphia since the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

But, as Fields might have predicted, it rained and the game was postponed. Now they'll try again tonight with the forecast for clear weather.

Rose got a clue this night out as an exciting day as he was expected to make his debut in the ballpark early in the afternoon.

"The rain driver didn't recognize me," he said. "He was a big Phillies fan, but he didn't know who I was. I told him who I was." —

Preliminary Series Launch Ice Playoffs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Home ice advantage is supposed to be sacred in the NHL, but Bob Berry, whose Los Angeles Kings open the playoffs at New York's Madison Square Garden tonight, has mixed feelings on the subject.

"The odds certainly aren't in our favor," said Berry, who played in the NHL from 1960 to 1974. "But we seem to play better on the road for some reason. We seem to be more together and defensively we've been more consistent."

Statistically, Berry is very wrong. The Kings were 20-37-7 at home during the regular season and 14-21-5 on the road. But the feeling around hockey circles is that this team is better off away from the Fabulous Forum. And victories on the road against Boston and Montreal seem to attest to that.

In tonight's other preliminary series, Vancouver is at Philadelphia, Toronto at Toronto and Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh. The second game of each series will be played Thursday night.

The first game ends because the playoffs are under way and the current pro-clerical calls for the second-place team from each division to qualify.

The Flames, who finished last in the tough Patrick Division, go in with a rested Dan Bouchard in goal. Reed LaRose is out with a broken leg and others are hanged up.

"We worked hard to get into second place," says Bobby Clarke, who adds, "I'm glad to play little playoff games."

But still to be there and we'll be ready," says Atlanta Coach Fred Clefworth. "We have some minor aches and pains to our penalty killers, but I will give Toronto all they can handle."

The Leafs have been up all down lately, losing Stukus night's finale in Boston after beating Buffalo Saturday night.

"I don't really feel we have any momentum going into the playoffs," says Coach Roger Nelson. "But it's a different game and it does make that much difference. It would be nice to have a week off, but we only have one day."

The Sabres, meanwhile, will have their hands full with the Penguins. Team files last to six times over the last three seasons.

"You can take the points they have and the points we have and throw them on the window," Buffalo Coach Barry Innes says. "It doesn't mean a darn thing now."

Glastonbury Is Waiting For Vote on Water Plan

By CHARLIE MAYNARD Herald Reporter

GLASTONBURY — There was more discussion on Manchester's water service to Glastonbury customers, but no decisions were made at an informational meeting held Monday night at the Glastonbury High School auditorium.

The next step to take, both the legislators and the water officials agreed, was to wait the results of next Tuesday's referendum in Manchester. Jay Giles, Manchester's director of public works, said he would try to come back with definite costs for Glastonbury users as soon as possible.

Manchester is to vote on a $39 million bond which would pay for a federally mandated improvement to the town's water system. Included in the bond is the $1.5 million needed to upgrade the system which supplies water to 247 customers in Glastonbury.

However, problems arose when the extra costs for the Glastonbury improvements were tentatively distributed among the 247 users. Giles said the charges amounted to $6,000 per user. The water and sewer officials admitted was prohibited to most customers.

Despite the lack of decisions, some new developments were revealed:

- Legislation by Rep. Francis Mahoney, D-Manchester, to assess Glastonbury residents or discontinue water service has been killed in committee, according to Rep. Nina Parker, R-Glastonbury.
- The potential Buckingham Village Center could be serviced by the Manchester utility, Giles said. The effect would be to include more users and reduce the costs for everyone, he said.
- Manchester's franchise boundary has not been clearly defined, Giles said, except that its charter allows servicing an area where no other water company exists. Mrs. Parker said she would investigate how the boundary can be defined and would ask the Metropolitan District Commission if it intended to service Buckingham Village.

The village center presented another wrinkle in the water service problem, Giles said he knew nothing of the proposed center until Councilor Ed Crow, who attended the meeting with four other council

HCC Tennis Loop Challenge to East

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sports Editor

Formation of a Hartford County Conference (HCC) tennis league for the first time in 1979 should add incentive for the East Catholic boys' team.

Xavier and Northwest Catholic will put on the court tennis squads for the first time making four HCC schools with teams. That makes the minimum requirement for a conference title to be awarded.

The new league should give us some incentive," voices Eagle Coach Jack Redmond. "It doesn't particularly help our schedule but I feel the league competition will make up for the disappointment of not playing top competitors."

The Eagles, 9-5 a year ago, swung into action Thursday against St. Bernard in Uncasville. It kicks off a 15-match slate.

Seniors Matt Barone and Rick Cannata, junior Dave Shinn and sophomores John Pizano and Mike White are contending for the four singles slots. What Redmond would like to see is some competition between teammates. "It could be a nice competitive year for the boys if they decide they can beat each other," he states.

"We don't have a superstar but a good depth thru five or six people," Redmond added.

Hockey Suspended

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — The University of Massachusetts has suspended senior's varsity hockey. It was announced Monday.

The decision was made reluctantly after experiences over the last few years indicated a competitive and recreational sound program could not be maintained without either a home ice facility or an athletic scholarship program, a spokesman said.

'Snow, rain, high winds, etc., have really put a damper on the start of the 1979 scholastic spring schedule. Yesterday's game was wiped out by a late snowfall and has been rescheduled after opening events. The East Catholic-Rockville baseball game slated Tuesday was rescheduled April 25. The Manchester Community College at Hillsdale Junior College title was cancelled. Also, the Cheney Tech at East Hampton tennis match has been rescheduled next Wednesday, April 18.

Today's Hall at Manchester High baseball game has already been postponed and has been rescheduled Wednesday. Other diamond action will probably be forced to postpone because of the white covering. Manchester boys' track teams was slated to open Wednesday at Sturbridge High but that date has been shifted to May 7. Today's East Catholic at Appapas baseball game in New Britain has also been called off. It's been rescheduled May 7.

Celts See Future More Rewarding

BOSTON (UPI) - With any dreams of respectability this season scuttled by a succession of trades, injuries and attitude problems, the Boston Celtics can only hope next year will be more rewarding. The season which had begun with promise and with thoughts of erasing the chaos and confusion of the previous year never materialized. The lambast new owner and the several new faces pledged a renewed zeal to greatness from the ashes of the 1977-78 season. But there was no rebirth, only a reaffirmation of defeat, led by a revolving door which never stopped. "It was basically a terrible year," "I couldn't even look," said Floyd Adams, Celtics coach at the end of the 29-53 season, the worst in three decades. "There were too many changes. We never could get our system down, and that's how you win. You can't play basketball with so many changes. We had something like 30 guys in a Celtics uniform this year. That's unbelievable," he said.

Bernstein, Sutor Direct NE Relays

Officials who will oversee the 1979 MCC New England Relays, June 23-24, have been chosen, according to Pat Mistretta, coordinator and director of athletics at Manchester Community College. The co-directors of the two-day meet are Barry Bernstein, coach of the girls' track team at Manchester High, and George Sutor, coach of the MHS cross-country team. Bob Haddad track coach at Windham High is assistant meet director. Greenboro winner Ray Floyd admits Player had him worried Sunday when he needed only a 5-foot birdie putt to force a sudden-death playoff. "I couldn't even look," said Floyd after Player's putt stopped a half-minute short of the hole. "Garry is a friend of mine and I didn't want to pull against him."

It was the earliest no-hitter in a season since Bob Feller's no-hitter on opening day in 1940.

Rick Waits - NEW YORK (UPI) - Cleveland's Rick Waits hurled a one-hit shutout over Boston in his first opening day assignment Saturday to earn opening week honors as the American League Player of the Week, it was announced Monday. Films on Vietnam War Take Home Top Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Jane Fonda and John Voight, lovers in the Vietnam War film "Coming Home," won the best actor and actress award in the 51st annual Oscar presentations. Another Vietnam War story, "The Deer Hunter," won the best picture of the year award.

At the same time Monday night outside the Los Angeles Music Center, 14 demonstrators protesting the nominations of "The Deer Hunter" for its allegedly racist nature were arrested shortly before the ceremony began.

The Oscar was the second for Miss Fonda, who won her first in 1971 for "Kluge." Voight, nominated in 1969 for "Midnight Cowboy," took home his first.

"The Deer Hunter" led all other films with five awards, including best director for Michael Cimri. "Coming Home" was second in popularity with the academy members winning three Oscars.

Maggie Smith won as best supporting actress for playing an actress who loses an Oscar in "Caliban on Set" and newcomer Christopher Walken won the award for best supporting actor as a self-destructive, shell-shocked Vietnam War veteran.

While dramatic pictures swept the awards, the real drama was provided by two veterans of Hollywood pictures who received standing ovations from the star-filled audience. John Wayne and Sir Laurence Olivier, both former Oscar winners, gave eloquent speeches of thanks to the academy and their fellow actors after being introduced to rousing applause. Both men, in their 70s, have survived brushes with death in the recent past.

Wayne, appearing gaunt but hearty of voice, presented the Oscar but picture. A bearded Sir Laurence was a recipient for his contributions to film throughout his career.

Best foreign-language film award went to France's "Get Out Your Handkerchiefs." Best song was won by "Last Dance" from the movie, "Thank God It's Friday."

In addition to best picture and best director, "The Deer Hunter" won six awards for best achievement in sound, best achievement in film editing and best supporting actor.

"Heaven Can Wait," for which Warren Beatty won four nominations, won only a single Oscar for best achievement in art direction. The Oscar for best cinematographer went to Nestor Almendros for his sweeping vistas of migrant workers in "Days of Heaven."

Musical Oscars went to "Midnight Express" for best musical score and "The Buddy Holly Story" for best adaptation score.

Special awards were presented to pioneer film cartoonist Walter Lantz, 84-year-old director King Vidor and the Museum of Modern Art.

Sewer Project Assessment Up

MANCHESTER - A proposed increase in town funding for a sewer project will boost the assessment charged property owners to the maximum the town had estimated. Also, in a change from standard policy, the property owners will be asked to pay immediately the $400 charge for hooking into the sewer system, Jay Giles, director of public works, said. Giles will attend the April 19 meeting of the Town Board of Directors to discuss an increase in town funding for the sewer work, which includes the Upper Hockanum trunk sewer and street sewers in the Bryan Farms area. The town's estimated share of the project originally had been $115,000. That has increased to $482,000, Giles said. Most of the cost of the work is being paid with federal funds, but the entire cost of the project now is more than originally anticipated.

The town pays its share of such sewer projects by assessing abutting property owners. That assessment previously had been estimated at about $15 per front foot. Giles last September had indicated the cost of the project would be higher than expected, and he estimated then that the assessment would increase to $20-$22 per front foot.

He said Monday the high estimate $22 appears accurate. He said here is about 20,000 feet of front footage that can be assessed for the sewer work. This means the town will receive $440,000 in assessment payments from abutting property owners.

But, the town's share has increased to $482,000. Thus, Giles is recommending that the 125 homeowners along the sewer lines also be charged now the $400 for hooking into the system. This would raise an additional $50,000. The hook-in charge normally is not levied until the homeowner decides to connect to the sewer system.

"I would be glad to explain his reason for the proposed immediate charge of the hook-in cost."

The trunk sewer runs from Union Pond to north of Tolland Turnpike. It will be the main line servicing the street sewers that will be installed to provide service for the homes in the Baldwin and Concord roads area. The property owners who abut the lines will be assessed for the project cost.

The trunk line, while lengthy, has relatively little assessable abutting property, Giles said. There is much pond property along the line as well as property owned by the town.

The town has to pay its assessment charge, but Giles feels this already has been covered because the town used $110,000 of its federal revenue sharing funding to pay for planning costs for the project.

Giles attributed the increase in the sewer project cost to a trend that massens the price for such work skyrocket in recent years.

"Bids on sewer work have gone up tremendously," he said.

"I suppose the engineers were a little too optimistic," he said of the original price estimates.

Police Proposal Received Coolly

By BARBARA RICHMOND Herald Reporter

VERNON — Mayor Frank McCoy received a cool reception Monday afternoon to his proposal for an overlapping police patrol with area towns. But he said he will continue to see if he can come up with some kind of pilot program anyway.

The proposal was the renewal of a suggestion the mayor made several years ago in an effort to improve patrolling techniques and coverage in areas of high crime activity. He suggested in an informal way, the police departments of Vernon, Ellington and Manchester initiate an overlapping of patrols in town-line areas but for various reasons the suggestion here no concrete results, the mayor said.

He said he feels that the records show that criminal activity on Route 83 in the Talcottville section of Vernon and over into Manchester areas, and along Route 83 into the growing business areas of Ellington, would benefit by increased and improved patrolling. This time around the mayor has included the towns of South Windsor and Tolland also.

Monday's meeting was attended by Robert Lannan, Manchester's chief of police, Charles McCarthy, Manchester's assistant town manager, John Kerrigan, South Windsor police chief, John Harkins, Tolland town manager and Stuart Joslin, Tolland's first selectman. Ellington's first selectman, Everett Falaska, and Trooper Anthony Marriano, Ellington's resident state trooper.

Bolton officials were unable to attend the meeting but the mayor said they indicated interest although the town is already involved in a Sector Police group with the State Police. The mayor said the proposal isn't an attempt to start a Tri-Town Police force or to diminish the abilities or capabilities of the police in the area towns. He said he is ready to say just how he would operate the program nor if it would solve all the problems. He said he didn't think the proposal would mean any additional costs to the towns.

The town expressed the fear that the proposal might tie up a Manchester police officer in another town, in some significant incident and keep that officer from his own area in his own town. "I think I would have a problem explaining that to our constituents," he said.

Harkins voiced concerns about the liabilities that might be involved in taking an officer out of his own area. He said there are times when Tolland officers have come on constable on the road and we can't afford to lose a man for a couple of hours," he said.

Paluska said he shared the same concerns as Harkins and he wondered how a constable could be deputized to serve in another town. He did admit that there are times when assistance could be used on Route 83.

LI Bird said that part-time constables do not take on investigations, only the full-time ones. Joslin said the visibility of an overlapping patrol would offer a lot of appeal. He did admit that there are times when assistance could be used on Route 83.

Lannan said that due to budget restrictions his department's 67 officers are spread pretty thin. "Our community is up in arms because they feel they aren't getting the degree of coverage they demand," he said.

Landfill Expansion Plan Said Not Hurting River

MANCHESTER — The town plans to expand the area now used for its landfill within the next couple of years, and a recent report says the expansion will not have an adverse effect on the nearby Hockanum River.

A section of the river would have to be relocated for the town's full expansion plan of the landfill. Presently, the town first expand into the area southwest of the area now used. Jay Giles, director of public works, said.

The firm did a study of the level of ammonia, iron and other elements that would leach through the ground because of the landfill expansion. The detailed study included analysis of monitor wells.

The results were sent to the state Department of Environmental Protection and the determination was made that the effect on the river would be within acceptable standards for the water body.

The present area the town can expand is under study. This permit will be required before any expansion of the landfill can be done, he said.

Officers will be elected. Officers are requested to wear their uniforms. The program is sponsored by U.S. Sen. Lowell Weicker and U.S. Rep. Stewart McKinney, the state's two Republican members in Congress.

Police said that a witness said that the vehicle ahead of her was signaling a left turn, so she passed the vehicle on the right, intending to go straight ahead.
