$222 Needed For Uniforms

MANCHESTER - The Bennett Junior High School Band Fund has only $222 left to raise for the 73 new band uniforms which arrived recently.

Allan Cole, principal of Bennett, reported to the Board of Education Monday night that the fund-raising efforts have brought in $2,498.

That total in receipts includes $5,068 in contributions from 60 local businesses, more than 40 individuals, five elementary school PTAs and the Bennett PTO. Additional monies were earned through a candy sale, $878; a concert, $634; and other receipts, $633.

The Band Fund of Education budget included $2,000 for the uniforms. The remaining money will be paid from an old Bennett Board of Education budget.

One explained that 73 band uniforms that were ordered will not accommodate all 86 band members and because of an expected 100-piece band next year, the band will be run as an "A" and "B" band with the "A" band limited to 75.

There are six siblings on the uniforms which were designed by Mrs. Dorothy Anthony, art teacher.

Peopletalk

Flat Road Section Named for Parton

Tennessee Rep. Bill Atchley figured his proposal was going to bring leers, guffaws and wisecracks from his fellow Nashville legislators, and he was right.

He had just proposed a stretch of state highway be named for curly country music queen Dolly Parton when Rep. Clifford "Bo" Henry started it.

Said he, "This 2.6 miles is just about the straightest and most level section of road in Sevier County, isn't it? Don't you think it would be more appropriate to have something mountains?"

The guffaws followed, but so did an affirmative vote. The flat stretch of highway now - somewhat incongruously - is the "Dolly Parton Parkway."

Private Party
President Carter is a born-again Christian, but he says the matter of prayer lies "between a person and God" - and that means it ought to be conducted outside the classroom.

In his Washington press conference, he came down on the side of opponents of a measure proposed by North Carolina Sen. Jesse Helms to overturn the Supreme Court ruling banning prayer in public schools.

Says Carter, "My preference is that Congress not get involved in the question of mandating prayers in the schools."

Fun Aloft
Edward J. Daly always was a maverick, and he's spending $2.7 million to maintain the reputation.

The multimillionaire owner of World Airways gained fame in Vietnam when he personally supervised the evacuation of refugees during the American pullout.

Tuesday, at a San Francisco auction, he bought two luxury cruise ships idled last year when Pacific Far East Lines went bankrupt.

Meeting To Delay Start Of Proposed Dental Plan

By GREG PEARSON
Herald reporter

MANCHESTER - Representatives of a group of dentists opposed to the proposed low-cost dental service plan want to meet with attorney Malcolm Barlow, who last week issued an opinion that the proposed service is proper.

The town's Health Department would be in charge of processing and screening applications for the program. Weiss has delayed any of this work until at least next week. Koff did not comment on any further action the dentists might take in connection with the proposed program.

Passover Begins Tonight

The Jewish Holiday of Passover will begin tonight and will continue through Thursday, April 15. Of these eight days only the first two and the last two are observed as full holidays.

Passover commemorates the Exodus of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage under the leadership of Moses as told in the Biblical Book of Exodus.

The story of the redemption of the Israelites is re-told each year on the first two nights of Passover. Families and friends gather around their festively decorated dinner tables and before the meal begins they read the story from a special book called Haggadah which contains Biblical and Rabbinical passages dealing with the ancient Exodus.

This family gathering is known as the Seder which is one of the most inspiring home observances in Judaism.

Throughout the entire holiday no leavened bread and leavened products are to be found in the Jewish home. Foods purchased at stores must be properly certified that it was prepared for the holiday.

Passover marks the first emancipation of slaves from the hands of oppressors and it has served as a source of hope and faith to all oppressed people in the world.

Destiny has willed it that Israel and Egypt should once again confront each other on the arena of history and for over thirty years the two have been locked in mortal conflict until the recent signing of the peace treaty. It is the hope of all peace-loving people that this treaty will endure and that it will ultimately lead to general peace and security in the Middle East.

Temple Beth Shalom will have services tonight at 6 and Thursday and Friday at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Science Winners Listed

The 30th Connecticut Science Fair April 5-7 at Norwich State Technical College, was offered free to 7 to 12th grade students through the state.

It offered an opportunity for students to learn the art of accomplishment through science, and an opportunity for academic and industrial organizations to combine their efforts in a program which will ultimately help to insure each with interested and well-trained scientists in future years.

Area winners are:

Mary Holt of 176 Parker St., Manchester, a medalist in the Senior Biological Division (one of top 10 projects). She also received a plaque from the U.S. Air Force. Her project was entitled "Do Pollutants Affect the Population Growth of Robbers?" She is in Grade 10 at Manchester High School.

Keith A. White of 48 Crest Drive, Rockville won second place in the Senior Physical Division, a five-week extended study scholarship from Talcott Mountain Science Center, an award from the Society of Manufacturing Engineers and a certificate from the U.S. Navy. His project was entitled "Updating Theoretical Models of Architecture Aerodynamics." White is in the Grade 11 at Rockville High School.

Susan Chmiel of 30 Tracy Drive, Manchester, teamed up with Karen O'Toole of 7 Candlelight Drive, Glastonbury, to capture the first place trophy for Junior Biological Team Division. They also received a certificate from the U.S. Air Force.

Their project was entitled "Animal Behavior."

Both Miss Chmiel and Miss O'Toole are in Grade 8 at St. James School in Manchester.

Michelle Heardon of 125 Tripp Road, Ellington, won a medal placing in the top 10 in the Junior Biological Division for her model treatment plant "How To Wash Your Water."

She is a Grade 7 student at St. Joseph's School in Rockville.

Jill Fyler of 30 Delmont St., Manchester, placed in the top 10 in the Junior Biological Division and was awarded a medal. She also received an award from the American Cancer Society and a five-week extended scholarship for study at Talcott Mountain Science Center.

She is in the Grade 7 at St. James School in Manchester.

Beth Coffey of 33 Linmore Drive and Lisa McIntyre, of 27 Winter St., both of Manchester, presented a project entitled "The Eye."

Program Provides Jobs, Training Enrichment

By SUSAN VAUGHN Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - An innovative pilot program called Positive Youth Development, is providing special enrichment, jobs, teacher and parent training in four school districts in the town.

The program is being coordinated by Jean Zurbrigen through the Youth Services Department and has been funded for one year under a Connecticut Justice Commission $300,000 grant.

The program is for all the students in Grades 4 through 6 at Robertson, Wadwell, Verplanck and Keeney elementary schools.

The theory behind the program, said Mrs. Zurbrigen, is to provide possible reinforcement for the children in hopes of eliminating any future difficulties they might encounter during the critical teen years.

The four phases of the program include teacher inservice training, parenting classes, a job bank and enrichment activities.

The inservice training attempts to provide concrete techniques for the teachers and social workers on how to improve students' self concepts.

The parenting classes have had a "terrific response," Mrs. Zurbrigen said. About 80 parents have been enrolled in four groups in the various school districts, including one at the Squire Village complex. A fifth session is about to begin also.

About 25 junior high youth who live in the target areas are employed in public agencies, such as the Recreation Department, the Housing Authority, the Senior Citizens Center. The goal in the job program is to impress upon the youth the responsibility of work, develop important habits which will serve them in later work and provide good role models, said Mrs. Zurbrigen.

The fourth aspect of the program includes special activities, such as non-competitive recreation in the schools after school hours. Field trips are also planned to help broaden the children's horizons. The recreation sessions will be three afternoons a week from 3 to 5 p.m. at Verplanck School.

The difference in this program from other juvenile programs is that it does not focus on the so-called "problem kids," which can often result in labeling and stigmatizing programs, Mrs. Zurbrigen noted. The criteria for this program is that all children will be provided the same opportunities.

One of the goals is to provide community education for the students by maintaining them in the mainstream of the community and giving them access to positive models within the community.

It is a means of helping them "stay in touch," said Mrs. Zurbrigen, who said she had found that so many teens felt they belonged to nothing. The Community Services Council in developing a direction in dealing with patterns, such as frequent absenteeism from school, can develop and then become hard to break.

Mrs. Zurbrigen has had extensive experience working with young people. She has worked within the Manchester school system previously as a supervisor for the learning disabilities program, and as a special education consultant for the secondary schools in the Archdiocese of Hartford. Most recently she was assistant coordinator and in charge of the education program for Project Open Door in Manchester.

Mrs. Zurbrigen added that her other main goal is the youth programs is to work with the Community Services Council in developing a direction in dealing with youth problems throughout the community, so that there will not be any gaps in services for youth.

Mrs. Zurbrigen works out of the Youth Services Department in Lincoln Center. She has four college students who work with her two half-days a week for their field work training.

The grant extends from last December through this December and has an option for second-year funding.

Yavis, Coltman, Favor CD

MANCHESTER - Two members of the Board of Education have taken an individual stand in favor of the continuation of the Community Development program.

Acting on their own and not as school board members, John Yavis, chairman of the board, and Eleanor D. Coltman, chairman of the board's personnel and finance committee, are urging residents to vote "no" in next week's referendum. A "no" vote would be against a ban on use of the CD grants and in favor of the CD program.

Yavis and Mrs. Coltman said they decided to make a statement to help voters know what educational uses the CF funds have been applied to in the past. They cited the conversion of Green School to a senior citizens center, the day care programs at Wadwell and Robertson schools and the rebuilding of the Nathan Hale School playground.

They said that the three programs, without federal funds, would either have been made with state or local resources, or "more likely, would not have been made at all."

They noted that town funds had not been available for several years for the playground, despite its deplorable condition, but Community Development funds were made available and the project was finished last year.

In noting the benefit of the day care programs, Yavis and Mrs. Coltman said they are directly assisting working parents for whom opportunities for employment otherwise might not be possible.

The prepared statement also said, "While we cannot identify specific future programs related to education which would be supported by future Community Development funds, we are confident that as townwide priorities are assessed, educational priorities will be addressed and met in their fair share. In other words, we reasonably can expect more good things benefiting our school system from the wise application of future funds."

Mandatory Sentences Said Fairer

HARTFORD (UPI) - A Fairfield County prosecutor says mandatory sentences would be fairer to everyone involved and act as a deterrent to crime.

State's Attorney Donald Brown told the Legislature's Judiciary Committee Tuesday that a determined sentence, for example a flat five-year prison term instead of two to eight years in jail, would be "fairer to everyone involved."

Brown and Corrections Commissioner John Manson appeared at a public hearing to urge the committee to support a draft proposal which would set fixed sentences established by a guideline commission. The measure would also abolish parole.

"The victim would know exactly what sentence to expect," said Brown, a prosecutor in Fairfield County Superior Court. "It would be fairer to the defendant because when he goes off to a corrections institution he knows how long he's going to be there."

Brown said he talked to police officers, law professors, legislators and the general public and they were "almost unanimously" in favor of determined sentencing.

Brown said he would not concede that disparity in sentencing exists but said the concept was wrong and "it should not exist."

He said people who commit the same crime should receive the same, basic sentence.

"And in any opinion, mandatory sentencing will have a deterrent effect on the commission of crime," Brown said.

Radiation Check

Dairy farmer Chris Becker is reassured by technicians with Helgeson Nuclear Services as he receives a scan from this "whole body counter" device in Middletown, Pa., Tuesday. # Coliseum Completion Is Certain HARTFORD (UPI) - Completion of the new Center Coliseum is certain now that low bids on three major contracts have come in below estimates and within the budget, city officials say.

The revised bids for electrical, mechanical and general contract work were opened Tuesday at City Hall. The city had advertised contracts after the first round of bids came in $5 million over the $27.5 million allotted for the projects.

The new bids separated out base bids and options, city officials said, but left little room for unexpected expenditures. "We're not out dancing in the streets right now, but at this point it appears we're going to be able to do the job," Deputy City Manager John A. Sulli said.

The apparent low bidders are Fishback and Natini of Hartford for mechanical work, $1.99 million; OAG Industries of Torrington for the general contract, $2.64 million, and Port Chester Electric Co. of Port Chester, N.Y., for the electrical, $2.5 million.

Officials predict the bids will be evaluated within two days.

Christian Science

MANCHESTER - The First Church of Christ, Scientist, will have its regular meeting, including testimonies of healing, tonight at 8 at the church, 447 N. Main St.

The Christian Science Reading Room, 57 E. Center St., is open to the public Mondays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and the first and third Thursdays of each month from 7 to 9 p.m., except on holidays.

Loyalty Oaths Retained

HARTFORD (UPI) - Even though Uncle Sam says he isn't care about loyal oaths anymore, the Connecticut House apparently does.

The House Tuesday gave final approval to a bill requiring state civil preparation workers to pledge their allegiance.

The lower chamber also approved a measure requiring municipal authorities considering tax increases to hold their meetings in the open. But the House delayed action on a controversial bill allowing towns to dispose of billboards that violate their zoning laws.

The House killed a bill that would have allowed all state employees to run for municipal office.

The Federal Civil Preparedness Agency recently informed state civil preparedness directors that loyalty oaths are no longer enforceable. The federal agency said it is a state wanted to keep the loyalty oaths "it will do so under its own authority."

He left the state's existing loyalty oath was a little too severe, but that a civil preparedness employee still has some commitment to the state.

Under the bill approved by the House on a 93-55 vote and sent Gov. Ella Grasso, a civil preparedness worker will no longer have to swear that he is not trying to overthrow the government.

Nor will he have to pledge that he is not a member of "any organization, group or combination of persons which is totalitarian, fascist, communist or subversive."

But the civil preparedness workers will have to continue to swear that they will freely support and defend the U.S. and Connecticut constitutions and will carry out their duties faithfully.

Rep. Alysius Allcorn, D-Bolton, who opposed the bill, said loyalty oaths impose upon sincere people "and only the traitor isn't worried about lying."

"Loyalty oaths are a misguided sense of patriotism," he added.

In other action, the House approved 138-8 and sent to the Senate a measure requiring town boards of finance to open all their meetings dealing with taxes to the public.

House leaders attempted to seattle a bill that would allow communities to remove billboards, signs and buildings that do not conform with their zoning ordinances.

But the move failed when Rep. Dorothy Barnes, R-Farmington, convinced enough of her colleagues that the bill should be kept alive for consideration on another day.

Mrs. Barnes said the issue "is one of the most hotly lobbied items in the state" and she accused the leaders of giving into the outside pressure.

As it now stands, a town cannot remove a billboard if it was there before the ordinance was adopted. Under the bill before the House, the community could remove the sign immediately if it provided just compensation to the sign's owner and after four years if no compensation was offered.

The House killed a bill that would have allowed any state employee to run for municipal office. The measure was sent to a committee whose deadline has passed.

Manes Head Squadron

MANCHESTER - David T. Bane and Lottie Bane of 47 Shennist Lake Road, Tolland, were installed recently as commander of the Manchester Power Squadron and commander of the Ensignettes, respectively, at a change-of-watch ceremony held at the Manchester Country Club. Commander Bane succeeds Linwood B. Sawyer.

District Commander Robert L. O'Brien of Glastonbury officiated. Other squadron officers installed are William Howes, lieutenant commander, executive, Albert C. Chang, lieutenant commander, educational; Charles M. Sullivan, lieutenant commander, administrative, Paul A. Emerson, lieutenant commander, secretary; George A. Krivickas, lieutenant commander, treasurer.

Other officers of the Ensignettes are Mrs. Kaye Ford, lieutenant commander; Mrs. Claudia Sullivan, secretary; Mrs. Joan Jansen, treasurer.

The Banes, an active boating family, have restored their classic 1938 year-old 1938 Matthews sedan cruiser. This project by Mr. and Mrs. Bane and their six children resulted in entering their boat, the Ningrel in the Mystic antique boat parade last summer.

AARP Sets Garden Trip

MANCHESTER - The Manchester Green Chapter 2399 of the American Association of Retired Persons will go to the Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania Friday, June 1.

All AARP and National Retired Teachers Association members are invited.

The bus will leave June 1 at 7:45 a.m. from the Community Baptist Church parking lot, 585 E. Center St. The gardens have more than 300 acres of flowers and shrubs. Other attractions to be visited during the three-day trip are the Brandywine River Museum and the Colonial Village of New Castle, Delaware. Accommodations for two nights will be at the Hotel Dupont.

Reservations close April 27. Anyone interested should call Lillian Juneau at 643-0661 or Janet Phillips Church parking lot, 585 E. Center St. at 649-0624.

Police Probe Area Crimes

BOLTON - The North Sector Police of the Colchester State Police barracks investigated 68 reported crimes in Bolton and Andover during the first quarter of 1979 and cleared 45 of the cases.

The sector police cleared 68 percent of all criminal complaints for the first quarter. The north sector consists of 106 towns of Bolton, Andover, Columbia and Hebron.

In Hebron of 65 crimes were cleared and in Andover 28 were committed and 17 cleared. Columbia, 34 committed and 19 cleared. During the first quarter 23 suspected arson were reported in Bolton and all were cleared. There were 15 burglaries reported and eight cleared and seven larcenies with four cleared.

In Andover 13 burglaries with four cleared. Hebron 33 burglaries with 26 cleared and 16 larcenies with two cleared. Columbia, nine burglaries, four cleared and six larcenies with two cleared.

Officials Set

News for Senior Citizens

BY WALLY FORTIN
Hi, everyone! How did you like waking up to that white stuff Monday? Sure was a surprise, but then again we're in New England where anything can happen and usually does.

Despite the crazy morning, we had enough loyal members show up to register for a day trip to dogwood land. The trip is scheduled May 17 as part of our Big Week. We managed to fill the first bus by early afternoon and now have started a waiting list. If we get enough names we will take a second bus. If you're interested, call our office.

Speaking of trips, we will head for the dog track Thursday, April 19. We have three buses going and could have filled a fourth, but the track only allowed us to take three. Buses will leave the center at 10:15 a.m., so you should be here at 10.

We still have a few openings for the Coachlight trip. You have until Monday noon to sign up. If we don't get at least six more people, we won't take the third bus.

We remind you folks who signed up to go to Washington, D.C., that the final payment is due. We would appreciate it if you would come in next week. We have been talking right along about our variety show and believe me, things are really shaping up. The cast, producers and directors, and scenery people have been working long and hard for this show. Now, it's your turn. We still have a number of tickets for both nights and I hope you won't let us down. We need you to buy and sell tickets for your sons, daughters, neighbors, relatives and the lay on the street.

We are also accepting donations from all Gold Card Holders and anyone else for our Furnishing and Equipment Fund.

This past week we received $300 from Willie's Steakhouse. Some of our members have come up with $100, $50, and $25 donations. Also, many are giving one or two dollars. We know these people would have given more if they could, but we're just as grateful for their donation as any of the rest because every little bit helps. Right now, we have $1,500.

AA Group
MANCHESTER — The Day by Day group of Alcoholics Anonymous will meet tonight at 8 at Center Congregational Church. AA contact is available 24 hours daily by calling 646-2355.

Pentecostal Church
MANCHESTER — The United Pentecostal Church will have its regular service and Bible study tonight at 7:30 at the church, 387 Woodbridge St. Everyone is welcome.

Presbyterian Church
MANCHESTER — A prayer meeting is scheduled for tonight at 7 at the Presbyterian Church, 41 Spruce St. The Christian Brigade and Pioneer Girls will also meet at 7 at the church.

Your donation is tax deductible. Send in or drop by with your donation and if you can send a check, make it out to Manchester Senior Center with a note telling you what it's for. Last week we said Joe Dominico was looking to start a ladies golf league and would start first by giving some free lessons. So far, six ladies have signed up and we need a few more. Joe is also taking names to help him with a vegetable and flower garden. Even though the weather isn't ready yet to do any planting, it won't be too long. So call in your name or better yet, stop by and meet Joe. Here's a bit of information for your scheduling book. Mark down Wednesday, May 2, because we will be heading for the ROTC building for a buffet dinner. Students from Manchester Community College will prepare and serve the food. The students from ROTC will entertain us. The cost is $3.25 and we are limited to 175 tickets. Next Monday morning, we will be signing up for the Wildwood trip. The five-day trip will include one at Atlantic City. You'll have full course breakfasts as well as dinners with a light lunch. Lots of time to spend at the beach and some sight-seeing, plus some evening entertainment. Complete package will be $115 per person, double occupancy. We will take only two buses for the week of June 4. If we have enough for a third and even a fourth bus, those will go the following week.

A reminder to you folks going to Hawaii: There will be a short but important briefing at the center Thursday, April 26, at 1:30 p.m. Tomorrow, because it is boy season, we will not have an official meeting. Our buses will not be running. However, we are planning a nice macaroni and cheese lunch for 75 cents. We will be open for business and visiting. Next Thursday, because some 147 members will be headed for the dog track, we will not have a meeting. We will serve a kitchen surprise lunch between noon and 12:30 p.m. Last Friday, we had 40 setback players and the winners were Joseph Peretto, 136; Violet Dion, 130; Floyd Post, 127; John Klein, 125; Anna Demko, 125; Joseph Martino, 124; Al Gates, 121; Bernice Martin, 118; Maud White, 115; Arthur Bouffard, 115. Then on Monday it was pinocle with 50 players and the winners were: Felix Jesanis, 89; Rene Maire, 85; Helen Silver, 83; Al Gates, 79; Leon Fallot, 79; Robina Carroll, 78; Mary Hill, 75; Violet Dion, 74; Audrey Durey, 74; Bill Stone, 74; Ann Fisher, 74; Sam Schors, 73; George Last, 73.

One big reminder to you folks going on the fishing trip Saturday: You should report to the center by 9:45 a.m. Also you should bring along some goodies to munch on as it could be a busy day and you might not be near any food for a while.

Board To Provide College Quarters

Ready for Egg Hunt

The candy, the organizers and the Easter bunny all are set for Saturday's Easter egg hunt at Center Springs Park sponsored by the Manchester Jaycees. Joe Stack, left, of the Jaycees, meets with the bunny (Helen Nikodemski) and Steve Nikodemski, owner of the Center Street Burger King, which has donated items for the hunt, which starts at 10 a.m. at the Valley Street side of the Park. ### Cassano Talks Monday

MANCHESTER — Stephen T. Cassano has been on the staff at MCC full time since 1969. He received an associate's degree in sociology at Manchester Community College and a bachelor's degree from Boston State College, a master's degree at State University of New York and a master in social work degree from the University of Connecticut.

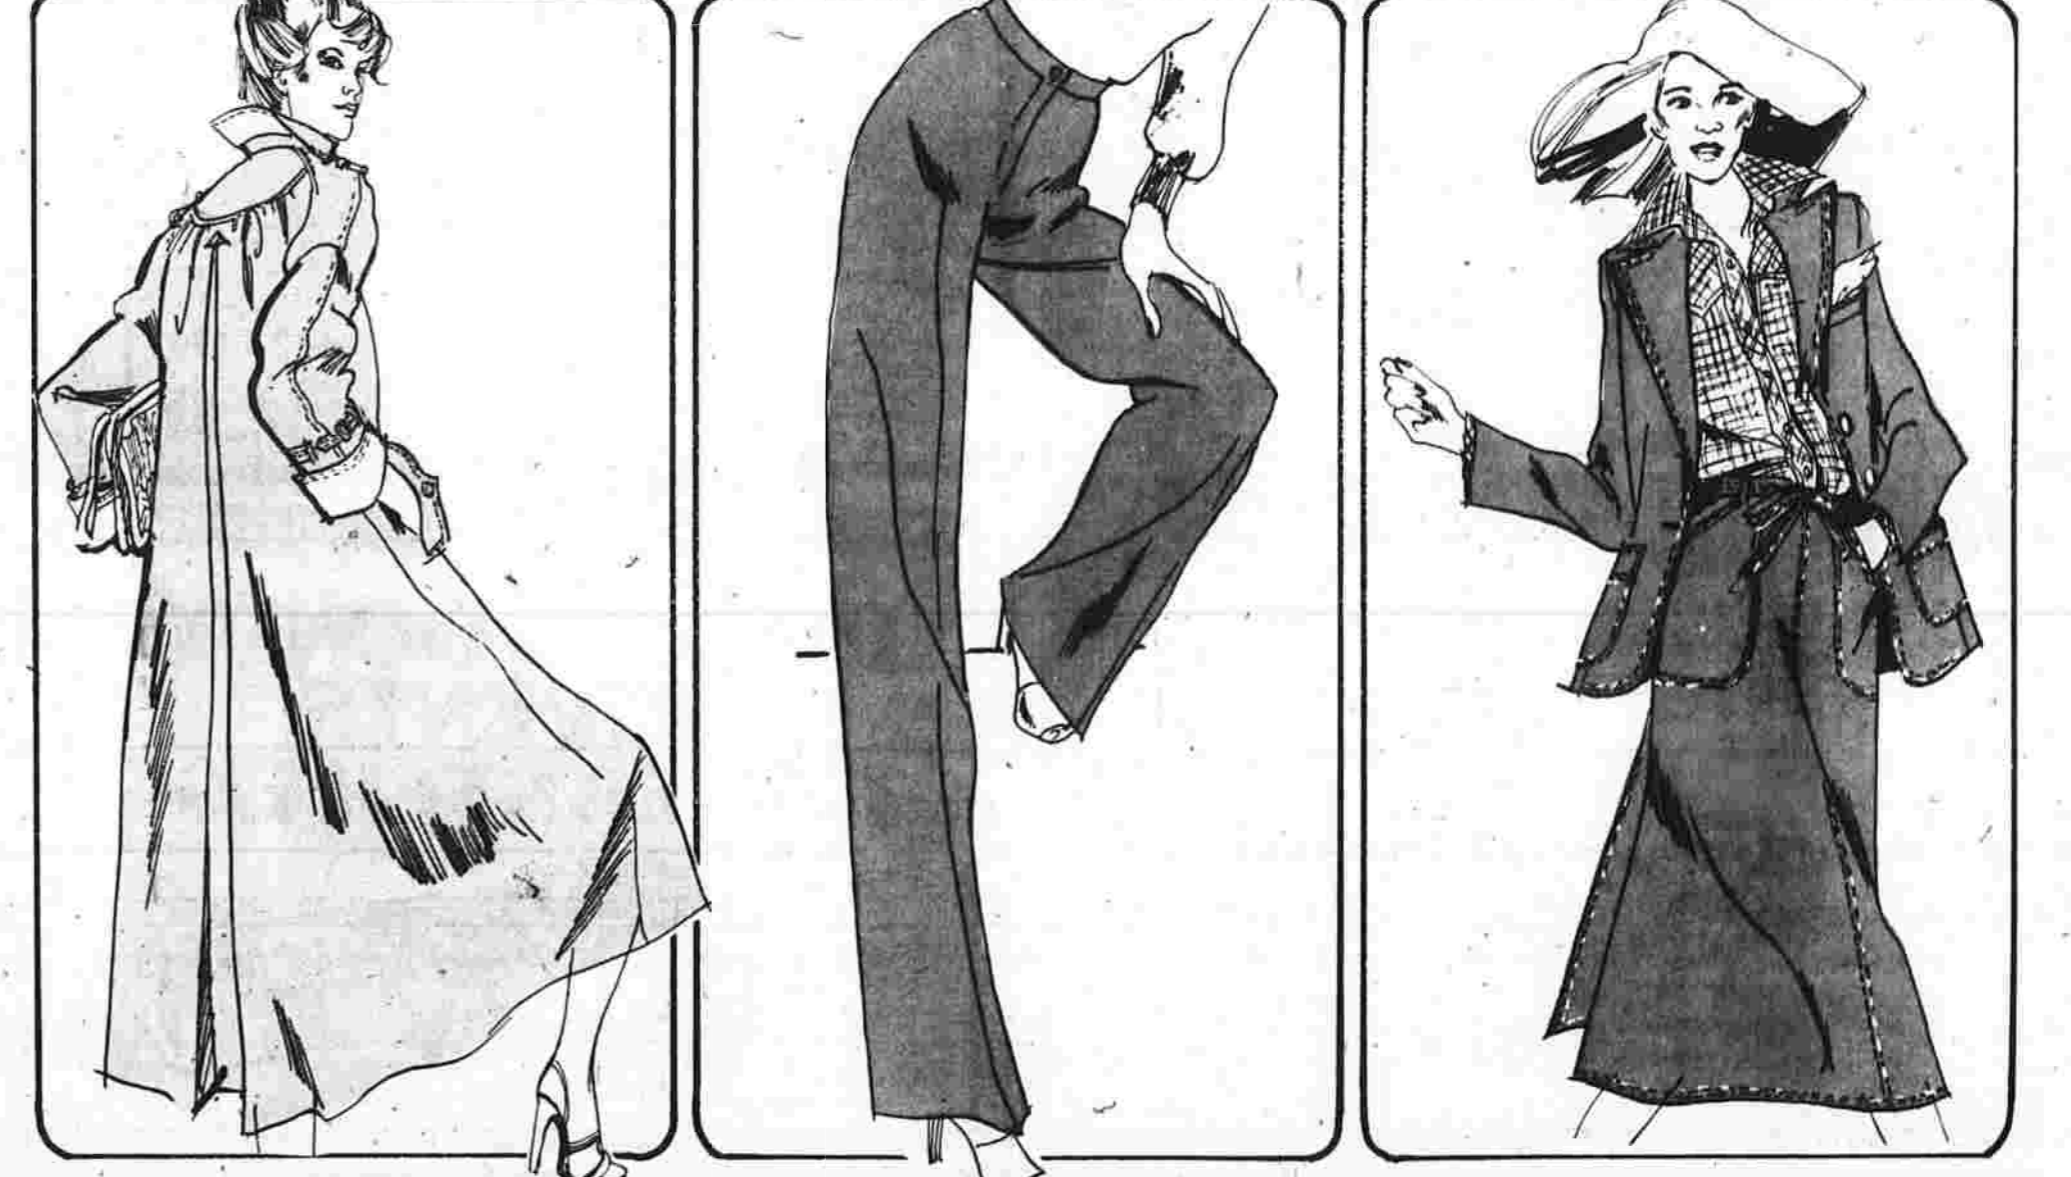

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Board of Education will cooperate with Manchester Community College in providing temporary facilities to replace those that were lost in Saturday's fire at the MCC Student Center. School Superintendent James P. Kennedy told the school board Monday night that he has indicated to MCC through Norman Fendell, director of the Regional Occupational Training Center, that the college may use that school building. He referred to the long-term relationship the college has had with the ROTC with many cooperative programs. The training center for handicapped is located on the southwest corner of the MCC campus which donated the land to ROTC. Kennedy said the priority for use of space will go first to the ROTC programs, but that the college food service program can use the kitchen and other facilities when they are available. The Board of Education will not charge rental for space, and the only charges will be for extra custodial fees or extended hours. The only problem with the college's use of the facilities will be the serving of wine at their gourmet dinners. Serving of any alcoholic beverages in any school building is against police, Kennedy said. Fendell was also present at Monday's board meeting with Donna Blanchard, vocational consultant at the ROTC, to give the board an overview of the programs at the regional center. Fendell said that the center now serves 45 Manchester students and 56 out-of-town students from 17 towns. There are 10 physically handicapped students presently enrolled in the school. Expansion plans for the ROTC include a new greenhouse and a larger garden, an ecology program, more programs with the elderly, such as dinner theaters and more home and shopping aides and expanded cooperative programs with MCC. Ms. Blanchard said that 99 percent of the students at the ROTC are in work programs either within or outside the school. In other board action Monday, the rescindments of three non-renewal contracts were approved. Of the 14 teachers who were given lay-off notices earlier this year, a total of six have now been rescinded, according to Wilson E. Deakin, assistant superintendent for personnel. The newest rescindments include Shirley Adams and Rhoda Senteio, both elementary school teachers and Nancy Davis, a math teacher. A leave of absence for the 1979-80 school year was approved for Jacquelyn Anderson, speech and language clinician. The board also authorized the superintendent to enter into a contract with the Connecticut Teachers Center to provide a small office space in the Board of Education office building on North School Street. The new statewide organization will be funded by a federal grant which will provide in-service training to the staffs of Manchester and other area towns. There will be six area centers in the state. Contest Winner MANCHESTER — Eric Bard has been named the winner of the annual fair contest sponsored by the Andover Elementary School PTA. Bard submitted the name, "The Big A," for the fair that will be held May 12. The fair will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will feature an arts and crafts section and plant booth as well as a variety of other booths and games. It will be at the school. General Clinic MANCHESTER — A general disease clinic, which is completely confidential and free, will be held Wednesday from 6 to 7:30 p.m. in the emergency department at Manchester Memorial Hospital. No appointment is needed for this service, which is available to anyone, regardless of age. Center Congregational MANCHESTER — The personnel committee of Center Congregational Church will meet tonight at 7:30 in the church library. Thursday, the prudential board will meet at 7:30 in the Robbins Room.

There are about 1,784 people per square mile. So that is why some people in Manchester think we should buy 184 acres for open space.

Residents Not in Tune To Song of the Rails

By GREG PEARSON
MANCHESTER — Johnny Cash and other country singers probably would welcome the news of a new rail line running near their back yard.

But, the idea isn't exactly music to the ears of Grissom Road residents. While the railroad still is viewed as majestic and glamorous by many country crooners, the Grissom Road residents would prefer not to have a freight rail line from Manchester to Willimantic.

Such a line would run behind their homes, within 40-60 feet of some of their swimming pools and residences, Noah Starkey of 117 Grissom Road said.

Other residents also mentioned concern about the safety factor that would develop with trains running so near the homes. There are many children in the neighborhood.

They questioned this since the proposed line is expected soon. Sweeney and Diana both live on Kennedy Road near Grissom Road. Cassano is the board's liaison member for transportation matters.

Area Police Report

"For the run at the playoffs, the Whalers Tuesday called up free agent Pierre Roy from the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League.

Roy, 25, a veteran defenseman, has spent the last two seasons in the AHL. He also played in the WHA from 1972 until 1977 with Quebec and Cincinnati.

Roy began the season with Nova Scotia and was acquired by the Indians in December.

His totals from both teams gave him an AHL record for penalty minutes with 416 in 72 games, surpassing the old record of 392 set by Dave Schultz.

Roy had two goals and 17 assists in 72 games for the Indians.

"I had some second thoughts about that play after Kelvin missed it, but I just didn't turn out well. It's easier to hurt than to hit swinging away and I felt it was a good time to try the squeeze."

MANCHESTER — A total of 13,135 informational packets about Tuesday's townwide vote have been shipped to the post office and should be received by residents by the end of the week.

About 30 town employees spent Tuesday afternoon applying mailing labels to the packets, which include information about the proposed ordinance that would place a two-year ban on town participation in Community Development.

Town voters Tuesday will decide on both those questions. The Town Board of Directors approved the mailing of an informational sheet on each topic to provide voters with details about the proposals.

One such packet will be mailed to each household in Manchester that has a registered voter. To have the packets mailed in time for next Tuesday's vote, applicants should have their names on the town's voter list by noon.

Applicants should have their names on the town's voter list by noon. The town's director of general services said.

"If we didn't get excellent service from everybody, we never would have done it," Maurice Pass, the town's director of general services said.

Bacon Checks Tech Win Skein

By LENA AUSTRER
Herald Sports Writer

There would have been a time when Cheney Tech would've been satisfied with yesterday's well-played 3-1 setback to co-COC favorite Bacon Academy at the Beavers' field.

"Respectability is not alright," views Tech Coach Aaron Silvia. "We're seniors, not juniors. We got to win."

The Techmen, 2-1, seem to have made the quantum leap from the ranks of also-ran to that of contender.

What cost us the game was mistakes (mental and physical). We missed the cutoff man on (Ron) Wotus' hit and he goes to second. Next guy singles and that's two runs," voiced Silvia.

The Bobcats, 1-1, took the lead in the third. Mark Judge singled and moved up on a sacrifice. He got a bad jump as Wotus tomahawked a single up the middle and had to stop at third. The latter took second as the catcher, Steve Tallman, however, threw went in the clutch with a two-out, two-run bloop single to right just past the outstretched glove of Tech second baseman Lew LaBrec.

Cheney got a tally back in its half of the third. Dave Gustamachio stroked a one-out single just inside the third base sack, stole second and advanced to third on an infield groundout. He scored on LaBrec's double to left centerfield.

Bacon plated the final run in the fourth. Greg Updon doubled, took third on a passed ball and scored on Steve Davis' sacrifice fly.

The Beavers had a potentially tallied outturn in their fourth frame. Chuck Durice singled and was waved to second on a balk. He was called, however, at home trying to score on Rich Tamisno's short single to center. Shortstop Wotus ran down the ball and pegged perfectly to home where catcher Updon had the plate completely blocked.

"This team has the best talent I've ever coached," stated Bacon Coach Frank Aloia, who returned to the ranks after being away two years.

"We're just a step or two away in our hitting."

"Cheney has a good ball club," he responded. "I was impressed by its fielding. That doubleplay I turned over was very impressive. I was apprehensive going in because I knew Cheney was off to a good start."

showed me they're a good club."

Winning hurler Dave Morgan scattered six hits, walking none and striking out seven. Cheney's Bob Pomeroy, 1-1, pitched well in defeat. He, too, yielded six hits, fanning one and walking one.

The Beavers return to action Thursday hosting COC foe Vinal Tech at 3:15.

Nuggets Winners Minus Key Players

NEW YORK (UPI) — Denver played without its leading rebounder and second-leading scorer Tuesday night, but don't waste any tears on them.

With power forward George McGinias out with torn ankle ligaments, the Nuggets still beat the Los Angeles Lakers off the boards in a 110-105 home triumph that gives them a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three Western Conference preliminary series. The second game is Friday night in Los Angeles, where the Lakers have posted a 31-10 record.

"We played a very good all-around game tonight," said jubilant Denver Coach Donnie Walsh. "We beat them 45-37 on the boards, and I'd say if we had one key statistic that was it, (Tom) Boswell and (Dan) Issel played great."

Issel outscored rival center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, 30-23, and Boswell — filling in for McGinias — added 19 points, seven rebounds and 35 assists.

Denver led throughout and was able to take over from George, but it wasn't too bad," said Boswell. "Dan was shooting so well it brought me away from the basket and I got a lot of open shots."

Another teammate led a hand — and a pair of aerodynamic legs — was Akeles guard David Thompson, who added 27 points.

"We got the ball off the boards and were really pushing it up-court hard," Thompson said. "We knew if we had it will tire Kareem out, but then we got tired and that's how they got back in the game."

Denver led throughout and was up, 87-89, with 4:31 left in the third quarter before the Lakers rallied and pulled within 93-90 with 9:55 to go. Issel hit two key baskets in the final minutes to defeat the Laker comeback bid. Jamaal Wilkes added 17 points for Los Angeles.

In the only other playoff game last night, Phoenix beat Portland, 107-103. In tonight's Eastern Conference preliminary round, New Jersey is at Philadelphia and Atlanta travels to Houston.

Paul Westphal and Walter Davis combined for 53 points and took command down the stretch to lead the Suns past the gritty Trail Blazers, who rallied from 10 points down midway through the final period to pull within one with 90 seconds left.

Phoenix managed only four offensive rebounds but one locked up the victory.

"Obviously that offensive rebound was a big play," said Suns Coach John MacLeod, referring to Alvan Adams' rebound with three seconds left and the Suns leading, 105-102. Adams tossed the ball to Davis, who made a jumper at the buzzer for the final margin.

Westphal scored 28 points and led All-Star David Addiss to 25 to offset Portland's rocky attack of Ron Brewer and Michael Thompson. Brewer pumped in 25 points and Thompson added 23.

The Trail Blazers fought back within 102-101 with 90 seconds left before they were stymied by an unusual three-point play. As Westphal connected on an outside jumper, a foul was called against Portland and Davis added a free-throw to put the Suns back up by four.

Perez Favorite Player With Manager, Mates

By MILT RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — The last thing a manager ordinarily will admit is that he has a particular favorite among his players. That goes for most managers. The late Gil Hodges was different. He had a favorite and didn't mind admitting it.

"Who is it?" I asked him the second year he was running the Mets. "Al Weis," he answered, naming the club's unassuming, unobtrusive utilityman, who hit something like 175 the season before.

"Why is he your favorite?" was my next question. "Because," Gil Hodges replied, "he'll play anywhere I ask him to, even base, shortstop, third or second outfield. So many of these fellows give you an argument if you ask them to play another position. Al Weis never does. He'll play wherever he's needed and he'll always to the best he can."

What brings all this to mind is the way Dick Williams talks about Tony Perez. "The Montreal Expos' manager doesn't come right out and say the 36-year-old Cuban first baseman is his favorite player but you get a pretty good idea of how he feels about him by the way he says, 'You'd love to have 25 Tony Perezes on your ball club.'"

Funny thing, but Sparky Anderson, Perez' previous manager with Cincinnati, said the same thing about him. "His managers aren't the only ones who have this kind of exceptional appreciation for the Expos' big, affable, right-handed hitting slugger, starting on his 15th season in the majors and his third with Montreal. Perez' fellow players feel essentially the same way about him. Tony Perez has one of the most important faculties in the world, making friends and keeping them. You never saw such general unhappiness as resulted among players who were left behind with the Expos when they traded him to the Expos in the winter of 1976.

Pete Rose and Johnny Bench were only two of many who were left behind with the Cardinals when they traded him to the Expos. But he's not a terrible deal, and they turned out to be absolutely right because, in addition to his playing, he was such a unique instrument in that he worked with anyone. We used to have a lot of kidding in the clubhouse. Good kidding."

"I didn't think I was so important," he says, minimizing the enormity of the praise made to the Reds off the field as well as on it. "I liked everybody there and felt they liked everybody and that was that."

"Doggie," as they called him, because they respected him for his good nature, doesn't have a bit of pride about himself. "You have to be a little more careful," he says. "I like it here. I have no complaints, but it's not like being in the same place more than 12 years."

Perez, who has been in four World Series, five playoffs and seven All-Star games, doesn't have a bit of prima donna in him. Maybe that's why everyone likes him so much. Dick Williams tells about a trip he and club President Johnny McAlle took this past January to San Juan, Puerto Rico. They went to look over Tony Bernazero, one of their young infielders, playing in the Puerto Rican Winter League.

"Tony (Perez) lived down the street from the hotel where we were staying," Williams says. "I think everybody in the whole city knows Tony. When we got to the ball park, he was there with me. 'Do you think Mr. McAlle would mind if I play in a few games to help Santurce get in the playoffs?'

Well Prepared
MADRID (UPI) — The president of the organizing committee for the 1980 Moscow Olympics said Tuesday the Soviet Union would guard against terrorist attempts to disrupt the games.

"We know that there are terrorists who are preparing to prevent the Moscow Olympic Games," said Ignaty Novikov. "We won't permit them to enter the Soviet Union, much less to carry out their criminal plans." In response to a question, Novikov also said any country which maintained sports relations with South Africa and Rhodesia would be excluded from the games.

Indian Girls Win First Softball Test

Daring base running, timely hits and shoddy fielding by the opposition were factors as Manchester High girls' softball team opened its 1979 campaign with a 12-7 decision over host Hall High in West Hartford.

Manchester scored twice in the opening frame. Lisa Tilden bunted for a single and swiped second and third scoring on a throwing error on Kathy Conroy's hit back to the box. Conroy stole third and came home on a wild pitch.

The Six Towners added five tallies in the second on two hits, three walks and several stolen bases. Three more markers were plated in the third on two walks, a hit and throwing errors by the Hall infield on a diamond marred by mud and water puddles.

Manchester capped its scoring in the sixth on a walk, line drive single Thursday at East Hartford High at 3:30.

By Warren and sacrifice fly by Kathy McCarthy.

Hall scored twice in the fourth frame and five times in the sixth, all the latter tallies unearned.

Senior Shirley Adams was the winning hurler, striking out five and walking six. Tilden and Conroy each collected two of the Indians' five hits with the latter driving in two runs and Tilden one. Manchester capitalized on 10 bases on balls and loose ball fielding.

Next action for Manchester is Thursday at East Hartford High at 3:30.

Baltovick Gymnastic Winner

Thirteen-year-old Gayle Baltovick of the Manchester Gymnastics School took all-around honors in a Class III USGF-sanctioned meet last Saturday at Gymnastics' Gallery in East Hartford.

Baltovick, a student at Benet Junior High, took top honors by scoring first in vaulting, bars and balance beam and a third in floor exercise. She scored 8.1 in the vault, 8.25 on the bars, 7.5 on the beam and 8.15 in floor exercise.

Class III is a beginner's level. Baltovick is coached by Lee Sullivan.

South Africans Barred From Running Marathon

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Celtics forward Cedric Maxwell will not run the NBA field goal percentage title with a .584 average to beat out Wes Unseld of the Washington Bullets with a .577 average.

Maxwell, who hit 472 shots from the floor out of 888 attempts, also set a Celtics season record in both free throws made (.774) and free throws attempted (.716) to break John Hancock's marks of .761 and .697.

Maxwell will not run the Boston Marathon because he is barred from participating in next week's race, the Boston Globe reported today.

Cloney, who said he reluctantly complied with the request, said he was advised Monday morning "not to permit five South African runners to compete in the race under the penalty of disqualifying all the competitors from future international events."

It is believed the South Africans are training in Atlanta, the Globe said, but an acquaintance says the athletes would rather not comment.

"They don't want to talk to newspapermen," Georgetown Heji Barson told the Globe Tuesday. "They feel they're responsible for what has happened. This wouldn't have happened if the Rand Daily Mail of South Africa hadn't publicized that they were coming here for the marathon."

VOTE NO! on Question #2 Referendum is April 17 12 noon to 8 p.m. Fiction: HUD is trying to run our town. Fact: The Fair Housing requirement comes from Title 8 of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 and requires owners to take action to "affirmatively further fair housing" in the sale and rental of housing. Fiction: HUD is forcing us to change our zoning laws. Fact: HUD has not demanded any changes in our zoning laws. Fiction: Section 8 rent subsidies are part of the CD program. Fact: Section 8 funds are separate from CD funds and are administered by the Manchester Housing Authority. Fiction: My vote won't really count. Fact: This is a crucial issue. Community Development funds will enhance the quality of life in Manchester in the future. Fiction: If you defeat CD funds you will keep out low cost housing. Fact: CD allocations to the town may not be used for construction of housing. A private developer and housing authorities would still be able to build low and moderate income housing projects with other federal funds. Fiction: Accepting CD money will raise our taxes. Fact: If we had not participated in the CD program in the past, the nearly $1,500,000 worth of community improvements could only have been financed by higher taxes. # Lundberg To Head Theatre

MACHESTER - The Little Theatre of Manchester has elected Betty Lundberg as president for the 1979 season. She succeeds David Newirth.

Mrs. Lundberg, one of the founders of the group, has been an active member of the organization for 19 years. She has served as president on two other occasions and has been the business manager for the past eight years.

She has also worked both on and off the stage. She was last seen in the role of Birdie Hubbard in "The Little Foxes." She has also played major roles for LTM in such plays as "The Subject Was Roses," "Janus," "Solitaire/Double Solitaire," "Night Watch," "Plaza Suite," and "The Women." Mrs. Lundberg has also been the stage manager for all of the LTM musicals.

Lectures Set At Southern

NEW HAVEN - Dr. Ken W. Gatzke, associate professor of philosophy at Southern Connecticut State College, will present a lecture and slide presentation dealing with two prominent architects, Frank Lloyd Wright and Charles Sanders Peirce, on April 19 at 3:15 p.m. in Englewood 6.

On Wednesday, April 23, Dr. Michael Vena, chairman of SSC's foreign language dept., will discuss "Is there an Italian-American Language?" and Mrs. Janice Samsel, assistant professor of foreign languages, will lecture on "Code Switching: Control Through Language." That program will be in the College Union Alumni Room at 3:30 p.m.

On Thursday, May 3, Dr. Kenneth Flory, chairman of SSC's English department, will discuss "Black and White in American Literature." His talk will be in the College Union Alumni Room at 3:30 p.m.

All lectures are free.

Seaport Head Will Lecture

J. Havel Carr, director of the Mystic Seaport Museum, will be the guest speaker at the last lecture-lunch of the season, sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Wadsworth Athenaeum, on Monday, April 20 at the Athenaeum in Hartford. Carr is a former naval officer, archaeologist, researcher, lecturer, writer, authority on ships, arts and crafts. Carr will speak on ships, a subject which coordinates with the present exhibit "Visions of the Sea" at the Athenaeum.

Carr has had professional experience in other facets of art. He organized and hung a Japanese print show at the Philadelphia Museum of Art, served on the Faculty of Seminars on American Folk Culture, Cooperstown, N.Y., and was a delegate to the International Congress of Maritime Museums, Greenwich, England, Oslo, Norway, and Mystic.

Besides lecturing to historical societies and museum groups, he has been guest curator for the Bicentennial Ship Portrait Exhibit at the Altoner Museum in Hamburg, Germany, and has been consultant to the U.S. Naval War College Museum in Newport, R.I.

For further information call co-chairspersons, Mrs. A. Lane Tryon Jr., 238-5722 or Mrs. B.R. Talcott, 233-9775.

Executive Board

ANDOVER - The Executive Board of the Andover Elementary School PTA will meet April 24 at 7 p.m. at the school.

Anyone having requests to submit for the 1979-80 PTA budget should submit them in writing to Maria Tulman, president, or present them at the meeting.

Labels Help

COVENTRY - The PTO of the Robertson School reports it was able to buy a tape recorder cassette and a record player for the school, because of all of the can labels donated by residents.

Reunited at Oscars

Church Presents Mime

HARTFORD - On April 18 at noon, Wednesday Noon Repertory at Center Church House, 60 Gold St., will present Peter Driscoll, mime. Originally from Minnesota, Driscoll came to New England to study at Middlebury College in Vermont with a major in drama-English and teacher education. Long intrigued and delighted by pantomime, Driscoll began the study and training of this ancient art.

In his own words, "Mime is not the imitation of life; it captures the essence of life." Mime or pantomime is an ancient form of acting which uses no words.

Driscoll began the study and training of this ancient art after being intrigued and delighted by pantomime. He is completely self-taught, having used only a textbook, mirror, and perseverance. The result is a unique style of mime with one's self as life.

Since 1972, Driscoll has performed for hundreds of audiences throughout New England. He has often given extensive workshops in schools. Please call the Church House before Tuesday at 4 p.m. at 249-5631 for reservations for lunch and program. Bring your own lunch and come without reservation for coffee and performance.

College Hosts Columnist

HARTFORD - With the morning headlines as his guide, Pulitzer Prize-winning columnist George F. Will will present "A Perspective on Current Events" in Hartford on April 17 at 8 p.m. in the Goodwin Theatre of the Austin Arts Center. The event is sponsored by Trinity's Hartner Center of Italian Studies. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

The program will consist of a concert and slide lecture about Renaissance music and musical instruments. Examples of painting and sculpture in which these instruments are represented, or which are contemporary to the music, will be shown.

Armonia Antiqua, four musicians and a vocalist, performs on a variety of instruments, including the recorder, crumhorn, viola rancetta, and sackbut. They have played to wide acclaim in Italy and Austria since 1975. The lecture portion of the program will be provided by Franca Camiz, a director of the Forum School in Rome and a member of the faculty at Trinity's Barberi Center in Rome.

Art-Music Event Slated

HARTFORD - Armonia Antiqua, an Italian musical group, will give a performance entitled "Minstrels, Musicians" at Trinity College on April 17 at 8 p.m. in the Goodwin Theatre of the Austin Arts Center. The event is sponsored by Trinity's Hartner Center of Italian Studies. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Put Zing Into Spring

Spring is the fresh, lively season of budding trees, blossoming flowers, soaring spirits, and the joyous Easter celebration. To make this year's observance of Easter as engaging as springtime itself, plan a festive meal featuring ham and a parade of colorful accompaniments.

For the ham, a spring feast tradition, select an impressive bone-in cut such as a shank or rump half. Or if you prefer a boneless ham, choose one to fit your needs from the many varieties at the meat counter, or select a canned ham. No matter what your choice, preparation is simple for the ham bakes unattended. To determine the degree of doneness, required, it is important to note if the ham is fully-cooked, like most on the market, or if it is a cook-before-eating type.

Serve the ham in style for the holiday with a sunny menu partner—Spicy Peaches. Convenient canned cling peach slices are delicious in a refreshing minty sauce made with the peach syrup, apple jelly and accents of lemon and allspice. The spicy sauce also serves as a golden glaze for the ham.

Spring Fantasy Salad offers cool contrast to the main course. Asparagus spears and pimiento strips, rest on crisp rafts of California iceberg lettuce for attractive individual salads that are topped with grated egg yolk and an expertly-seasoned creamy dressing. Crisp iceberg lettuce brings the freshness of spring to your salads year round.

Easter Baked Smoked Ham
 5 to 7-pound smoked half ham
 Syrup from Spicy Peaches

Place ham, fat side up, on rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Be careful that bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F) until the meat thermometer registers 140°F to 145°F for "fully-cooked" half ham (18 to 24 minutes per pound); 160°F for a "cook-before-eating" half ham (22 to 25 minutes per pound). Brush ham with syrup from Spicy Peaches for last 20 minutes of baking time.

Spicy Peaches

1 can (29 ounces) cling peach slices	1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup apple jelly	1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1 tablespoon lemon juice	1/4 teaspoon mint extract

Drain peaches, saving syrup. Combine syrup with apple jelly, lemon juice, lemon rind, allspice and mint extract. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and continue cooking for 20 minutes or until mixture is reduced to 1 1/2 cups. Add peaches, simmer 10 minutes. Remove from heat and when cool refrigerate several hours or overnight. Serve peaches hot or cold. Yield: 2-4 cups sauce.

Spring Fantasy Salad

Salad:	Dressing:
2 medium to large heads California iceberg lettuce	1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 jar (4 ounces) whole pimiento, cut into strips	1 teaspoon onion salt
Cooked asparagus spears	1 tablespoon capers
3 hard-cooked eggs	1/4 cup chopped parsley
	3 cloves garlic, crushed

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill in plastic bag. Cut each head of lettuce crosswise into "rafts" and place on 6 salad plates. Place 2 to 3 strips of pimiento vertically on lettuce. Place 3 to 5 spears asparagus horizontally across the pimiento. Grate egg yolk over asparagus. Combine sour cream, mayonnaise, onion salt, capers, parsley and garlic in blender or food processor. Whirl until smoothly blended. Serve over salad. 8 servings.

Give a touch of glamor to any party with festive decorations, table accents and dessert garnishes created easily and inexpensively with ingredients from the supermarket. For instance, there are many ways that versatile marshmallows can be transformed into charming decorations, fitting almost any party theme.

The technique is so simple that it makes a perfect rainy day project. You'll find that a pair of scissors, dipped in water, makes cutting the petals easy. And since the cut sides adhere to each other, and to other uncut marshmallows, there's no messy clean up afterwards!

The blossoms are amazingly versatile decorations. For instance, go with a "springtime" theme at a party, and glamorize your table with a flowering tree centerpiece. An attractive tree branch from the backyard is transformed into a coming-of-spring table accent, using marshmallow creme to stick blossoms onto the twigs.

To make a sweet sixteen party girl feel special, surprise her with a gala Brownie-Mint Alaska dessert that looks like it took hours to prepare. Convenient products—brownie mix, marshmallow creme and ice cream—make this deluxe dessert easy, and the petite blossoms made from miniature marshmallows add the crowning touch.

For a luncheon or shower, put down placecards accented with a marshmallow daisy in one corner. A store-bought frosted cake gets an individual touch if you place colorful flowers around its edge. In fact, use your imagination, and with these delightful marshmallow blossoms you can add excitement to just about any occasion!

Brownie-Mint Alaska
 1 quart peppermint ice cream, softened
 1 1/2 oz. pkg. brownie mix
 3 egg whites
 1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
 Petite marshmallow flowers
 Press ice cream into a 1-qt. mixing bowl lined with aluminum foil; cover and freeze until firm. Prepare brownie mix as directed on package; bake in greased 8-inch layer pan. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add marshmallow creme, beating until stiff peaks form. Place brownie on cookie sheet. Unmold ice cream onto brownie; remove foil. Completely cover ice cream and brownie with meringue. Bake at 475° 3 minutes or until lightly browned. Garnish with petite marshmallow flowers.

Marshmallow Flowers
 Materials to make four flowers:
 5 standardsize marshmallows
 2 miniature marshmallows
 Colored sugar
 Waxed paper
 Scissors
 Water
 1. Using scissors dipped in water, cut 4 crosswise slices from each

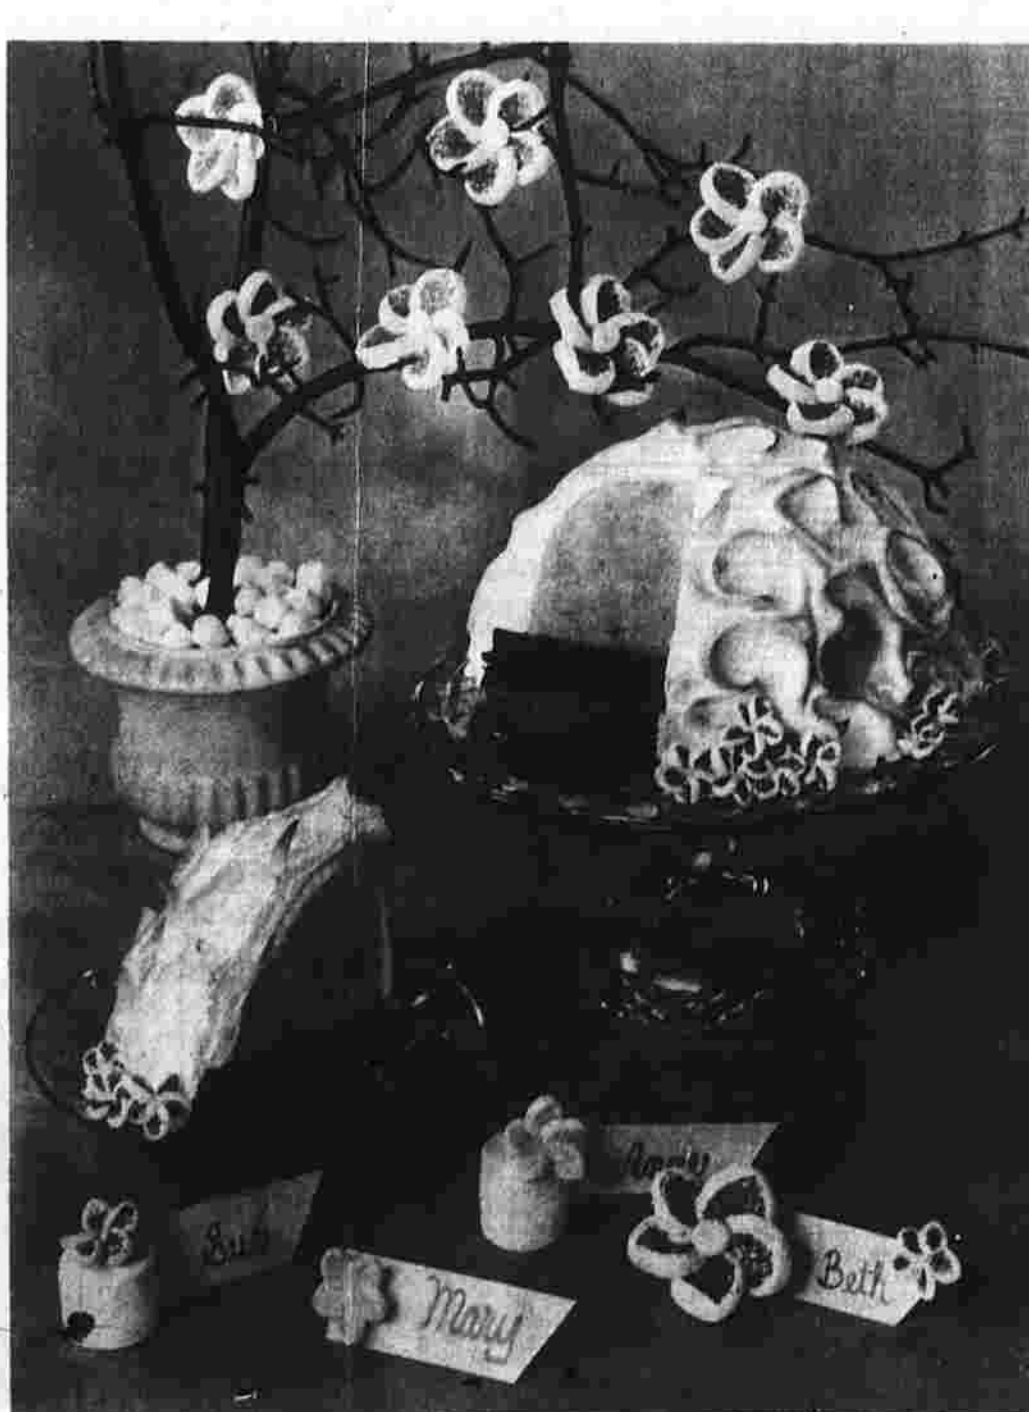

MATCH THE MOOD OF SPRING with a gala meal for friends centered around Pork a la Popovers, an impressive yet easy-to-prepare entree using economical pork blade steaks. For a springtime-fresh salad, accent crunchy chunks of iceberg lettuce with sliced vegetables and serve with a tasty homemade vinegar and oil dressing. Dessert will be irresistible when it's picture-pretty ice cream pie, topped with a luscious chocolate sauce and crowned with jewels of fruit cocktail.

Frozen Dessert Pie

Filling:	Crust:
1 can (17 ounces) fruit cocktail	1 pkg. (9-1/2 ounces) crisp chocolate cookies
1/4 cup butter	1/4 cup butter, melted
1/4 cup cocoa
2 cups confectioners' sugar	2 tablespoons chocolate liqueur
1 can (5.33 ounces) evaporated milk	1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 tablespoons chocolate liqueur

Drain fruit cocktail, set aside. In small saucepan, melt butter. Add cocoa, mixing well. Alternately add sugar and evaporated milk. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add liqueur, remove from heat. Chill. Sauce will thicken as it cools. Crush cookies, stir in melted butter, press into 9-inch pie pan, covering bottom and sides. Drizzle with 2 tablespoons chocolate liqueur. Spoon ice cream onto shell. Freeze 1 hour. Spoon chocolate sauce over ice cream. Spoon fruit cocktail over chocolate and drizzle more chocolate sauce over fruit. Return to freezer at least 1 hour or until ready to serve. 8 servings.

Spring marshmallow blossoms add an elegant touch to a party.

Chances Increased for Drug Withdrawal Babies

ELLEN L. SLOTT
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The tiny baby, his body blotched and bruised, was sweating profusely and jerking uncontrollably. He sucked his fist as though he were starving. He scratched his face until it was chafed.

The newborn infant was withdrawing from drugs. His mother is a drug addict, a sickness he inherited from her while growing in her womb.

During his period of withdrawal, which can last from a week to two or three months, he must be carefully monitored on life support systems.

In Philadelphia, the chance that a baby undergoing neonatal narcotic withdrawal will develop as a normal child has been greatly increased by treatment given at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital's Family Center.

The center, the only one of its kind in the Philadelphia area and one of three in the country funded by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, provides addicts with free medical, obstetrical and psychiatric care, family and individual counseling. It removes the pregnant woman from the addictive narcotic and stabilizes her on methadone.

Dr. Loretta P. Finnegan, the center's director, said the three centers, in Philadelphia, New York and Detroit, treat a total of about 400 pregnant addicts a year "but there are many more out there."

Dr. Finnegan said the addicts are divided almost equally among black and white women and are drawn from all economic classes. They include daughters of professionals, traditional housewives and women who are hustling or shoplifting in order to support their drug habit.

The pregnant addict first spends a few days in the hospital where she undergoes tests and is stabilized on methadone. Every day during her pregnancy she is given a free dose of the drug.

Although methadone is not the answer, said Dr. Finnegan, the center's clinical coordinator, "it's legal, its longacting, it's paid for by public assistance and it's better than heroin."

A baby will undergo withdrawal whether the mother has been on a drug such as heroin or valium or has been stabilized on methadone during her pregnancy. But Dr. Finnegan said methadone withdrawal is not nearly as severe and only 18-20 percent of methadone-addicted babies — as compared to 50 percent of heroin-addicted — are born prematurely.

She said a woman who uses the addictive narcotics other than methadone during her pregnancy runs a great risk of giving birth to a growth retarded baby. In that case, the fetus just stops growing, for example, at about 40 weeks, even though the pregnancy continues.

"The placenta which feeds the child becomes small and does not nourish the child well," Dr. critical difference between a 3 1/2 pound premature baby and a 3 1/2 growth retarded infant.

The growth retarded will look like old man and old woman, all shriveled up. Plus there are complications; there's a 33 percent chance of having neurological effect. In contrast, the 3 1/2 pound premature baby might have anemia, jaundice. But this baby has a chance of catching up in development.

Dr. Finnegan said the drugs most frequently used are methamphetamines, barbiturates, heroin and opiates. The most commonly used is valium, which sells for about $1 or $2 a pill on the street.

"More women are put on valium," Ms. Regan said. "It's easier to give a prescription than to sit down and say, 'What's going on in your life?'"

It takes a certain amount of time to do that. I think probably doctors prescribe it because they don't know what else to do. I think they think people won't abuse it.

Only in rare instances, will the center agree to take a pregnant woman off the methadone. According to Dr. Finnegan, if a woman is detoxified during the first trimester of pregnancy, there's, too great a risk the fetus will abort, and if she stops using drugs during the last trimester, the baby could be born premature.

Most of the babies who go through the center recover with swaddling and forced feeding, according to Dr. Finnegan, but those who do not, must be treated with other drugs such as phenobarbital and paregoric.

After the baby is born, the center will discuss possible withdrawal from drugs with the mother but they don't push it. Dr. Finnegan said more than 50 percent of the women do not want to get off drugs, preferring to stay on methadone while handling the stress of a new baby.

Stomp, Glitter and Glow

More Light on Disco Gyration

By FRED T. FERGUSON

NEW YORK (UPI) — Disco dancers, who customarily have basked in the glow of kaleidoscopic lighting, will soon be glowing like fireflies themselves.

Among disco aficionados, getting a glow on, without necessarily drinking a drop, is the newest step to ever more outrageous costumes.

It may be a rage, or at least a trend, or what a half dozen entrepreneurs would like to see become one.

At any rate, disco dancing costumes that light up in tune to the music are showing up among the stomping gyrators of disco mania.

Introduced here in the past few weeks was an attractive line of women's high-heeled strap sandals with little lights that flash on and off in heel and sole to every step.

Then came the hair stylists' revenge — outdoor dish hairdos that light up like Christmas trees.

There is a line of jewelry with built-in lights and batteries. By fall, at least one firm plans to market light-up belts, vests and jackets.

A cosmetics firm is pushing rouges, lipsticks and beauty stars and other war paint designed to turn the girls' faces into mirrors — or at least make them glow eerily along with the rest of the get-up.

First, some rather buxom dance instructors hustled the light-up discotheques on dance floors suspended between floors in a place called Adams Apple, then, at New York, New York, a half dozen outlandishly costumed amateur models from Connecticut showed up in hairdos built to scare a dragon.

Whole strings of little multicolored lights blinked busily amid their curls, leaves, primps and jiggles.

Pushing his Discotheque was Al Dana, a Floridian come north bent on making a fortune. "They're the chickiest, the bitchiest, as they say in the trade," he said and showed how they have an on-off switch in the inset and are plug-in rechargeable.

At 25, Dana dresses to personally the showman — expensive gold neckties, bracelet, watch, black velvet jacket, white scarf. A promoter of rock groups in Florida, he designed his Discotheques on the floor of his condominium living room in Tampa. He has the Arthur Murray style studios introducing them across the country.

Light-up Hairdos — James Miller, a conservatively dressed operator of beauty shops in Milford and Orange, Conn., with his hair stylists sketched the light-up hairdos for the International Beauty Show here. They got electrician Frank Cylvick to rig the lights, complete with in-hair, rechargeable battery packs in his Connamack, N.Y., shop.

and said nothing doing, or more precisely, "not to my hair, you don't."

"We really had a lot of trouble convincing them to let us cut it. But, actually, you can comb out each of these styles and they look just fine in the daytime — very conservative."

Only the day before, they had been asked to show their high-stacked, frizzy gloom of discos darkened to enhance the eerie effects of their weird lighting systems.

"I'm from New Haven," said Marie Accrino, 25, whose hairdo was entitled "sky high" and almost was.

In a town like New Haven, where Yalies come from, "You get a bizarre reaction," she said. But she declared her hairdo is "in, in New York," adding that, if she folks back home don't like it, "Too bad I'm going to wear it. It's about time a little style was brought to New Haven."

So far, both the hairdos and the lights to go in them are custom made and there's no set price on them, Miller said.

Julienne Palinko, 19, an Orange, Conn., receptionist in a hairdo called "Discochic," wore a large silver star painted on her right cheek as part of the iridescent La Maar makeup. Kent Martin of La Maar Corp. said it was designed to complement the "freaky, far-out effect."

He showed off various paints and rouges ranging from white to orange to whatnot and enhancing the girls' jungle look.

Fluorec's specializes in light-up jewelry including pleglass bracelets with multicolor lights, $20, pins in the shape of clown faces with eyes that light, $15-$25, and neckties that have alternating lights, $25.

"They're pretty much unisex," said Lorraine Glinsky. "Some men wear them too."

Ed Gifford, whose firm, Electro-Harmonics, makes the necklaces, said one called "The Domino Theory" is sound sensitive. It has lights in pleglass that go through various patterns to the beat of the music.

Musical Clothes — Suzanne Chan, like Gifford a specialist in electronic music synthesizers in the recording industry, is a partner in the Electronic Clothing Co. which presently markets a light-up, sound-sensitive pin called "the heart that listens" and has prototypes of light-up, sound-sensitive vests, body wrap belts, waist belts and jackets it hopes to market this fall.

Of the jacket, Suzanne said, "I've worn it very cautiously. I've found it creates such excitement." She's had it on when hustling at Studio 54 where "everybody stared," and says, "I wore the vest into a bar once. When I lighted up, everything stopped. There was this sudden silence."

Her firm is developing a new touch, a light-up "message belt."

"Like, for example," she said, "it will spell out a message, say, 'Want to dance?' or maybe just your name. It's an answer to the need to communicate amid the roar of disco music amplified to preclude talk."

Dana says he got the idea for the shoes because "the fancy footwear was being missed in the sometimes miss of the disco darkened to enhance the eerie effects of their weird lighting systems."

"Until now, all the attention has been on the lighting and the music. Now we make the dancer the attraction," said Dana. "She is spotlighted. She experiences a tangible high."

"And besides, they help her dancing. She can see what she's doing. Within three months we'll have men's shoes too," he said.

In fact, he made his first pair for himself and walked into a Fort Lauderdale disco to test reaction.

"This guy offered me $5,000 for them then and there if I'd turn them over to him and walk out of the place in my stocking feet. But I didn't expect to get my patent for two days and I had to turn him down."

His shoes retail for $100 a pair. Expensive? "You take a guy," said Dana — who explained first that he drives a triple white Eldorado Biarritz Cadillac, having given up his midnight blue Mercedes 450 SCA — "he works in a car wash. Makes $80 per week."

"He saves up for the big night. Spends $15 to $20 for tickets, buys new clothes — a new silk shirt, maybe. He's going to be willing to spend a lot for something special like this — it adds to his ego trip."

"It's an ice breaker. The old way was, you said, 'what are you doing in a place like this?' That corny old line. The new way, you say, 'what is that fire I see coming from your feet?'"

New Diet Book With Bronx Cheer

'To Reduce, Eat Less; To Gain Eat More'

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON - It may be poor form to explain a joke, but some lightweight readers probably don't keep abreast of the latest reducing plans. Unless they are aware that a book called "The Complete Scarsdale Medical Diet" now ranks second on the national best seller list, they cannot fully appreciate a new serious spoof called "The Bronx Diet" (Workman $2.95).

When his utterances are measured against his actual regimen, however, he comes off as a bit of an imposter. A man who claims to have become "a confirmed glutton at the age of 5," a man who identifies the leading cause of overweight as "licking plates that don't belong to you" - such a man is expected to be somewhat lacking in will power. That hardly squares with a man who jogs 25 miles a week, who walked more than 20 blocks in downtown Washington to keep an appointment and who has lost 65 pounds by eating only one meal a day. In short, Smith's lifestyle is pretty stern stuff, although some of the weight he lost might have been hair, which has all but disappeared from his scalp. "Your eating habits are genetically determined," he says in elaboration of the above. "If your grandfather had an ice cream gene, you will have an ice cream gene." He may or may not appreciate a newspaper that tusses down asparagus ferns.

Smith said these things, and more, during a recent interview arranged as part of a 25-city tour he was making to promote his book, called "The Diet Sensation of an Entire Borough."

When his utterances are measured against his actual regimen, however, he comes off as a bit of an imposter. A man who claims to have become "a confirmed glutton at the age of 5," a man who identifies the leading cause of overweight as "licking plates that don't belong to you" - such a man is expected to be somewhat lacking in will power. That hardly squares with a man who jogs 25 miles a week, who walked more than 20 blocks in downtown Washington to keep an appointment and who has lost 65 pounds by eating only one meal a day. In short, Smith's lifestyle is pretty stern stuff, although some of the weight he lost might have been hair, which has all but disappeared from his scalp. Radiotherapy is added at the beginning of the third week of treatment. Following radiotherapy, patients went on a maintenance schedule of chemotherapy for two years. This included daily oral 6-Mercaptopurine, weekly oral Methotrexate, and monthly doses of Vincristine, Cyclophosphamide and Prednisone.

Brecher said the outlook for children with this kind of cancer has been poor with only from 5 to 21 percent surviving five years or more. Most victims were felled within a couple of years.

In the report, Brecher said results so far indicate the treatment regimen is well tolerated and provides an excellent chance for cure in children with stage I, II, and III of the disease. The stages are various levels of cancer intensity with stage I being the lowest level of involvement.

Brecher said three of the four stage I patients are alive and without evidence of disease for periods ranging from 24 to 26 months following diagnosis. One in this group succumbed to viral pneumonia. However, the drugs used in the first stages of treatment are Prednisone and Vincristine, along with Methotrexate.
