

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm divorced and miserable. Even though I was the one who asked for the divorce, it was a terrible mistake. I know there must be thousands of divorced people (men as well as women) who would give anything to get back with No. 1, but they don't know how to go about it. Abby, will you please ask readers who were divorced, regretted it and got back with No. 1 again to write and tell you how they accomplished it? I'll do anything!

SORRY IN ST. JO, MO.

DEAR SORRY: All right, Readers? And please let me know how it was the second time around with No. 1.

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old daughter has graduated from high school and has steady employment, so now she says she can do as she pleases. She is living at home free, but she doesn't care what anybody thinks about her actions. Her "old-fashioned" parents want to know if we have the right to set some rules for her. We have asked her to be home by 1 a.m. when she goes out on a date. (She's been coming home anywhere from 2 a.m. to 4:30.) When we object to her going to her boyfriend's apartment to watch TV for an evening she says we have "dirty minds."

DEAR BEWILDERED: Tell your daughter to sit down with a pencil and paper and figure out how "independent" she is. Advise her that when she is able to support herself entirely—and that means pay for her room, board, clothes, transportation, entertainment, doctor, dentist, and insurance—then she may live where she chooses, and by her own rules. But as long as she lives with you, she will have to live by yours.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been making an issue out of our 5-year-old grandson's choice of toys. He enjoys playing with his sister's dolls and his mother's shoes. My husband says this is an indication that the boy has homosexual tendencies.

Could my husband's suspicions about his grandson be a reflection of his OWN repressed homosexual desires? I wonder because he seems to hate women—particularly me. He attacks me as though I were a contess. When it's over, he is surly and mean. No love, no tenderness or closeness. I submit but I don't enjoy it. I am not worried about my grandson, but I am worried about my husband.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Only a trained psychotherapist would be able to determine whether your husband is projecting his own "homosexual tendencies" to his grandson. His attitude about women and love-making is no more conclusive proof of homosexual tendencies than your grandson's choice of toys.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (20 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

The odds are that Terence Reese made up today's hand in any event, North and South overbid a trick to reach six spades after East's ace and queen and a psychic bid of one diamond. Not that there isn't a pretty good play for the slam, assuming that West's diamond lead was a singleton. All South needs is a 5-2 break in trumps or failing that to have the club queen drop under the ace-king. South takes the first diamond and leads out the ace and king of trumps to find that the suit breaks 5-1.

WHAT'S NEWS

Lule Sworn In

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI) — Scholar Youssef Lule was sworn into office as president to replace Idi Amin Friday as undercover commando squads combed Uganda to seek out the deposed ruler for a trial sure to end at the gallows.

Commando Raid

LUSAKA, Zambia (UPI) — Rhodesian commandos, attacking in camouflage jeeps under cover of darkness, Friday struck inside the Zambian capital of Lusaka for the first time, burning to the ground the home of black guerrilla leader Joshua Nkomo.

Final Process

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The final process to bring the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant to a safe, cold shutdown was started Friday. Federal nuclear experts said they did not know how long it would take.

Spring Floods

Spring torrents gusted rivers and drove hundreds of people from their homes Friday in low lying areas of central Alabama. Flooding closed numerous roads across the state and contributed to at least three deaths.

Rebound Boosts Business Output

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's industrial output advanced 0.8 percent last month for the strongest gain of 1979, but much of the increase was attributed to a rebound from harsh winter weather.

Christians Ready for Easter

By United Press-International
Christian pilgrims crowded the narrow streets of old Jerusalem Friday on the path Jesus Christ took to his crucifixion 2,000 years ago. A U.S. procession followed a modern-day Way of the Cross — through a crime-blighted New Jersey community.

Christians the world over held Good Friday observances, mourning the crucifixion of Christ in preparation for Easter's celebration of his resurrection.

Collectors' Corner U.N. Stamps Hot Issue

By RUSS MACKENDRICK This happy little critter will be seen in multicolor on 15-cent and 21-cent stamps from the United Nations on 4th of May. The stamps will come 20 to a sheet instead of the usual 50.

What has really thrown the local car-to-the-grinders into a tizzy is the souvenir card due out the same day. The print run is announced to be only 225,000 pieces.

Investor-collectors expect this to be a hot issue. The most recent miniature sheets like these came out for the 25th anniversary of the U.N. Postal Administration in 1976.

Already they are listed in Scott at $22.50 and $30 for the New York sheets and $120, $130 for the Geneva.

Order blanks and information may be obtained from UNPA, P.O. Box 5000, Grand Central Station, New York, NY 10017.

If you are wondering if the Geneva Stamps can be ordered from New York - the answer is yes.

Legislators' Amendments Make Measure Useless

HARTFORD (UPI) - The sponsor of a bill to protect the aged from Medicare insurance fraud said Friday his measure has been amended so much it's now a "worthless piece of legislation."

The bill was designed to limit profits and require insurance companies to spell out in detail the benefits of policies advertised as supplemental Medicare insurance, also known as "Medigap" policies.

Rep. Paul Gionfriddo, D-Middletown, said Friday the original wording of the bill was designed to protect the elderly against unscrupulous insurance agents who try to force senior citizens to buy policies they don't need.

But, he said, the protection "was ripped out" of the bill by substitute language placed in the measure just before it was approved last week on a 9-1 vote by the Legislature's Insurance and Real Estate Committee.

Thoughts

Saturday, Black Saturday, of that first Holy Week was a day of sorrow and defeat. Three crosses stood on Golgotha. Two of them hung two men, their bodies experiencing excruciating pain. They were paying with their lives for the crime of theft. But the central cross was empty. Jesus had died before sundown and His body had been taken down by Joseph of Arimathea. Joseph, who was a disciple of Jesus, had gone to Pilate and requested that he be given permission to remove Jesus' corpse before the Sabbath began. (Mark 15:42-46) Permission granted, Jesus' body was placed in Joseph's own new tomb.

Approved, much of the work will be done by the summer of 1981. That's over two years away, and translated this means improved water to Manchester users is at least five years away. So we continue to suffer. Also, a 20 million bond issue will cost the taxpayers over the life of the bond with interest and costs, at least 37 million. Our officials have publicly stated that our water bills will be doubled or tripled.

Manchester has used CD funds in the past few years for projects which benefit everyone in this town - such as renovations to our public parks and swimming pools. (If you don't have a pool or a park in your backyard, you can appreciate that.) The funds have also been used for programs to help those in our community who are most in need - especially the elderly and handicapped. The CD funds also provide assistance for lighting the deterioration of Manchester's commercial and residential neighborhoods, housing code enforcement, loans for housing rehabilitation, and funds to help develop our downtown and historic Cheney Mills area. If the so-called "Concerned Citizens" succeed in their attempt to stop Manchester from getting CD funds, their benefits will either be stopped or will have to be paid for with local taxes. As property owners and taxpayers, the "concerned citizens" will have cut off their noses to spite their faces.

Opposition to the CD program has centered on federal rules requiring the receiving town to plan for additional housing opportunities for non-affluent households. I, as one of the town's many non-affluent household heads, fully support these federal guidelines. With today's scarcity of adequate housing of moderate cost, where are we, the not-so-wealthy people, supposed to live? Even the slums of the central cities are disappearing, demolished or renovated for luxury housing. Don't we have a right to live, too, in decent quarters for which we don't have to pay over half our wages?

Those who say that regional housing goals are a threat to the town do not seem to fully understand the problem and the solutions proposed, for example, by the Capitol Region Council of Governments, the regional body to which Manchester belongs. The concentration of thousands of units of lower cost but substandard housing in a few urban areas, in our case some neighborhoods of Hartford, creates various economic and social problems for which we all pay and which the non-wealthy, especially the nonwhite, suffer the most. They are forced to live in the slums because there is not much other low cost housing, almost none for families, outside of Hartford in the Hartford region. The economic and social problems resulting from the concentration of poverty in a few urban neighborhoods are paid for through our state and federal taxes (although Hartford taxpayers have an unfair share of the burden, through their higher property taxes, insurance costs, and losses due to the consequences of the concentration of poverty).

The partial deconcentration and elimination of poverty (by getting more of the poor into jobs) could be accomplished if each of the twenty or so towns in the Hartford region pooled space for two or three hundred units of low and moderate cost family housing. Such small numbers, scattered in different locations, would have little or no impact on the taxes or property values of the suburban property owners. It is not a matter of moving Hartford's problem to the suburbs, but of eliminating the problem altogether. Nevertheless, this modest proposal, arranged by the members of the Biting the Bullet Celebration under the direction of Bob Richardson Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Community Y, 78 N. Main St., has not yet been realized.

Many non-wealthy households, especially Black and Hispanic, may prefer to live in the city, to be near friends and relatives and special services, such as bilingual education. However, their preference should be one of free choice and not one which is dictated by the lack of any other alternative. I moved not long ago from Hartford to Manchester to be near relatives who live in Manchester. Although I have a moderate income, my wife does not work full time and we are therefore unable to buy a house at the current high prices, or even to rent an adequate apartment in Manchester, with the exception of Hartford taxpayers have an unfair share of the burden, through their higher property taxes, insurance costs, and losses due to the consequences of the concentration of poverty.

We need additional adequate housing in all towns, and the city, which doesn't cost an arm and a leg. The rising costs of energy to heat homes and of other factors needed to build and maintain housing force us to provide alternatives to the single family house on a large lot. I hope that all Manchester citizens who are truly concerned not only with their own self-interest but also the quality of life in our town and region will vote to continue the town's participation in the Community Development program and the promotion of a housing policy which will provide some housing in all parts of the region for families of all races and income levels.

Water Quality at Low Cost

Approved, much of the work will be done by the summer of 1981. That's over two years away, and translated this means improved water to Manchester users is at least five years away. So we continue to suffer. Also, a 20 million bond issue will cost the taxpayers over the life of the bond with interest and costs, at least 37 million. Our officials have publicly stated that our water bills will be doubled or tripled.

Manchester has used CD funds in the past few years for projects which benefit everyone in this town - such as renovations to our public parks and swimming pools. (If you don't have a pool or a park in your backyard, you can appreciate that.) The funds have also been used for programs to help those in our community who are most in need - especially the elderly and handicapped. The CD funds also provide assistance for lighting the deterioration of Manchester's commercial and residential neighborhoods, housing code enforcement, loans for housing rehabilitation, and funds to help develop our downtown and historic Cheney Mills area. If the so-called "Concerned Citizens" succeed in their attempt to stop Manchester from getting CD funds, their benefits will either be stopped or will have to be paid for with local taxes. Dear Bill: Somewhere in this pile is the answer. I couldn't find it. Maybe you can. It's not your fault. You did your best, but I just can't seem to find a good fit. I especially regret that my best was not done by me. I'm sure you'll find it as soon as possible and try to understand. I'll love you forever. - Diane.

This article, written recently by a 25-year-old woman, leaves us puzzled. It does not tell us what we want to know. And even when a suicide note gives some specific precipitating reasons - such as ill health or financial loss - that still does not explain why that particular person committed suicide, because we all know someone who has suffered similar reverses and is still alive and well.

We tentatively conclude that there must be something more involved than just this "last stage" but what? Our ability to prevent suicides depends on finding the answer to that question. The explanations of suicide - self-inflicted, self-intentioned cessation of life - have been debated for centuries, with some blame placed on individuals and others blaming society. The ancient Greeks and Romans apparently cared less about how long one lived and more about how well one lived and did not condemn suicide.

Today, the question is less one of blame or guilt for the victim and more a question of stigma and adjustment for the survivors. We have begun to move out from under the shadow of stigma. Contrary to popular misconceptions, 8 out of every 10 people who commit suicide have given prior verbal or behavioral clues of their intentions. Furthermore, the danger of suicide is not past once the suicidal crisis has apparently been "deek," called "damp and dry" and finally in my "soul." For that is what suicide seems to be: a dreary and dismal victory of the vital decision being debated.

Next Week: Robert Jay Lifton, Yale University professor of psychiatry, discusses holocausts and the psychological effects of the possibility of nuclear war.

1. Does a suicide note "explain" a suicide?
2. How did Saint Augustine evaluate the act of suicide?
3. When does "anomic" suicide occur?
4. Do most suicidal persons give prior clues as to their intentions?
5. How should the suicidal gesture be viewed by one who wishes to help?

1. No. It only hints at precipitating circumstances.
2. As the greatest sin of all.
3. When the accustomed relationship between an individual and his society is shattered.
4. Yes, approximately 8 out of 10 give such clues.
5. As an individual effort to relieve unbearable anguish or pain.

Taxpayers Waiting Until Last Minute

HARTFORD (UPI) - A lot of Connecticut taxpayers appear to be waiting until the last minute to make that long, painful trek down to the mailbox to give Uncle Sam his due, an Internal Revenue Service spokeswoman said Friday.
 "I think more people are procrastinating this year. The figures bear that out," said Carolyn Hammond, public affairs officer for the IRS Hartford District Office.
 And this year, procrastinators face an extra temptation. They get two more days to file because the April 15 filing deadline falls on a Sunday when post offices are closed and Monday is Patriots Day in Massachusetts to the regional IRS office won't be open.
 Mrs. Hammond said it's pretty easy to tell who's going to file early. About 65 percent of those who have filed already will be getting money back, she said.
 "And people who owe money wait longer to hold onto their funds," she added.
 Mrs. Hammond said 879,458 individual tax forms - both the 1040a short form and the 1040 long form - were filed in the Hartford district as of April 9. Last year, 907,355 forms had been filed by the same date, she said.
 "Tax forms doesn't spell bad news for everyone."
 So far, 574,577 residents have qualified for refunds and the average refund is $456.49, the IRS spokeswoman said.
 Mrs. Hammond also said more people are learning to take advantage of the IRS toll-free information line. The Hartford IRS received 200,024 toll-free calls between Jan. 2 and April 6 this year compared to 162,765 during the same time in 1978.
 She said the toll-free line and IRS offices in Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury, New and New London would be open Saturday.
 "The IRS is not in competition with private preparers," she said. "Our basic mission is taxpayer education and taxpayer assistance."
 Does the IRS get a lot of angry customers?
 "Of course people do utter their complaints by phone or walk in to say what their problems are. They're still understand it (tax forms) and that creates frustrations. Many times a simple explanation will suffice," she said.
 "Only a small percentage of the people are irate," Mrs. Hammond added.
 The IRS offices heed up their staffs through the January to mid-April filing season, but the work doesn't end on the 17th, she said.
 There are late claims, amended returns and checks on returns, Mrs. Hammond said.
 "People who file late can request an extension by filing on form 4868. When you complete it, you're still required to submit a payment. But it's important to register the fact you are filing," she said.
 Tax returns dating back to three years can be amended if you suddenly realize you overlooked a deduction you were entitled to, she said.

Race Bias Probe Routine

HARTFORD (UPI) - At this stage, the Justice Department investigation of alleged racial discrimination in Hartford area housing and hiring is "very routine," U.S. District Attorney Richard Blumenthal said Friday.
 "It's in a very, very preliminary stage," Blumenthal said.
 The district attorney said the Justice Department is looking at the concentration of minorities in the Greater Hartford area with any eye toward "any possible violations" of the civil rights statutes.
 "It's very routine," he said, noting that similar investigations are under way in other parts of the country.
 Justice Department spokesman John Wilson said Thursday his agency is conducting "very preliminary" interviews in Connecticut that could lead to civil litigation and recommendations that federal funds be denied to any municipalities found guilty of discrimination.
 The Hartford-based civil rights organization, Education Instruction said it urged the department to look into bias in several areas.

Police Report

MANCHESTER - Police arrested two Manchester residents Friday afternoon following a motor vehicle stop incident on Broad Street.
 Paul J. Krimjak, 19, of 63 Clinton St. was charged with resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer, police said.
 David J. Constantino, 17, of 174 Oak St. was charged with assaulting a police officer and interfering with a police officer, police said.
 Court date for both is April 30.
 Krimjak suffered a laceration of the head during the reported scuffle with a police officer. He was treated and discharged from Manchester Memorial Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.
 Police also arrested Victor Felix, 31, of 713 E. Middle Turnpike and charged him with evading response.

Capt. Cramer To Visit

MANCHESTER - Captain William P. Cramer of Chicago, Ill., a former commander in Anti-Tank Co., 169th Infantry of Manchester, in World War II, will be visiting in town on May 10.
 Captain Cramer was the only officer with the Manchester group who was not a Manchester resident.
 All former members of the 169th are invited to attend a dinner in his honor May 10 at 7 p.m. at Willies Steak House.
 For more information or to make reservations call Pat Devorio, 649-6841 or George Birge, 647-1036.

A. Boyd Hinds, a Democratic state representative from Hartford and director of the organization, said he has asked the government to check such areas as racial steering in housing and minority hiring by local governments in the Hartford area.
 In 1974, the justice department sued seven Hartford area Realtors. The matter was settled out of court with the Realtors' promise not to discriminate in the future.

New Hope Is Ladies' Topic

MANCHESTER - Jerry Webber, director of New Hope Manor, will speak about the rehabilitation center for young women Monday at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary at the American Legion Home.
 The Auxiliary will meet first at 2:30 p.m. The occasion is in observance of Children and Youth Month during April when emphasis is placed on the work all the American Legion units do to benefit the youth.
 One program that has been an ongoing project locally is the assistance given to New Hope Manor, a center for young women 12 through 18 years of age. The project has been part of the local unit's program on children and youth since it started. Each year donations of money and gifts have been made in addition to saving soup labels.
 About three years ago, the Department of Connecticut Ladies Auxiliary adopted New Hope Manor and each auxiliary in the state has supported it.
 The children and youth program covers many facets. This year the national organizations are sponsoring and assisting in the special olympics, and will sponsor athletes at the olympic games in August 1979 in Brockport, N.Y.
 It takes $200 to sponsor one athlete. The local AL unit along with others in the state are raising money to assist in this project.
 Other projects include immunization programs, child abuse, disruptive youth, children's heart fund, scholarships, Girls' State, and the sponsorship of youth groups.
 In charge of the program are Mary Leduc, children and youth chairman, and Mrs. Laura Freeman, auxiliary president.

FACTS ON COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FUNDS

1. HUD has never required changes of zoning laws in order to get C.D. funds.
2. Fair housing requirements come not from HUD but from the federal civil rights act of 1964. Fair housing doesn't build or rent housing for anyone; it deals only with the equal rights. Discrimination in housing is not only a violation of federal civil rights laws, but of democracy and Judeo-Christian ethics. Pulling out of C.D. funds will not repeal the federal civil rights act.
3. Town C.D. funds cannot be used to subsidize new and existing moderate and low income housing. Separate Section 8 funds used for this purpose are administered by HUD and local housing authorities and will continue even if Manchester pulls out of C.D.
4. Town C.D. funds are used for services for senior citizens, children and the handicapped, for streets and sidewalks, and for rehabilitation of homes occupied by local residents, that save local taxes. All this will end if Manchester pulls out of C.D.

Law Student Advises IOH

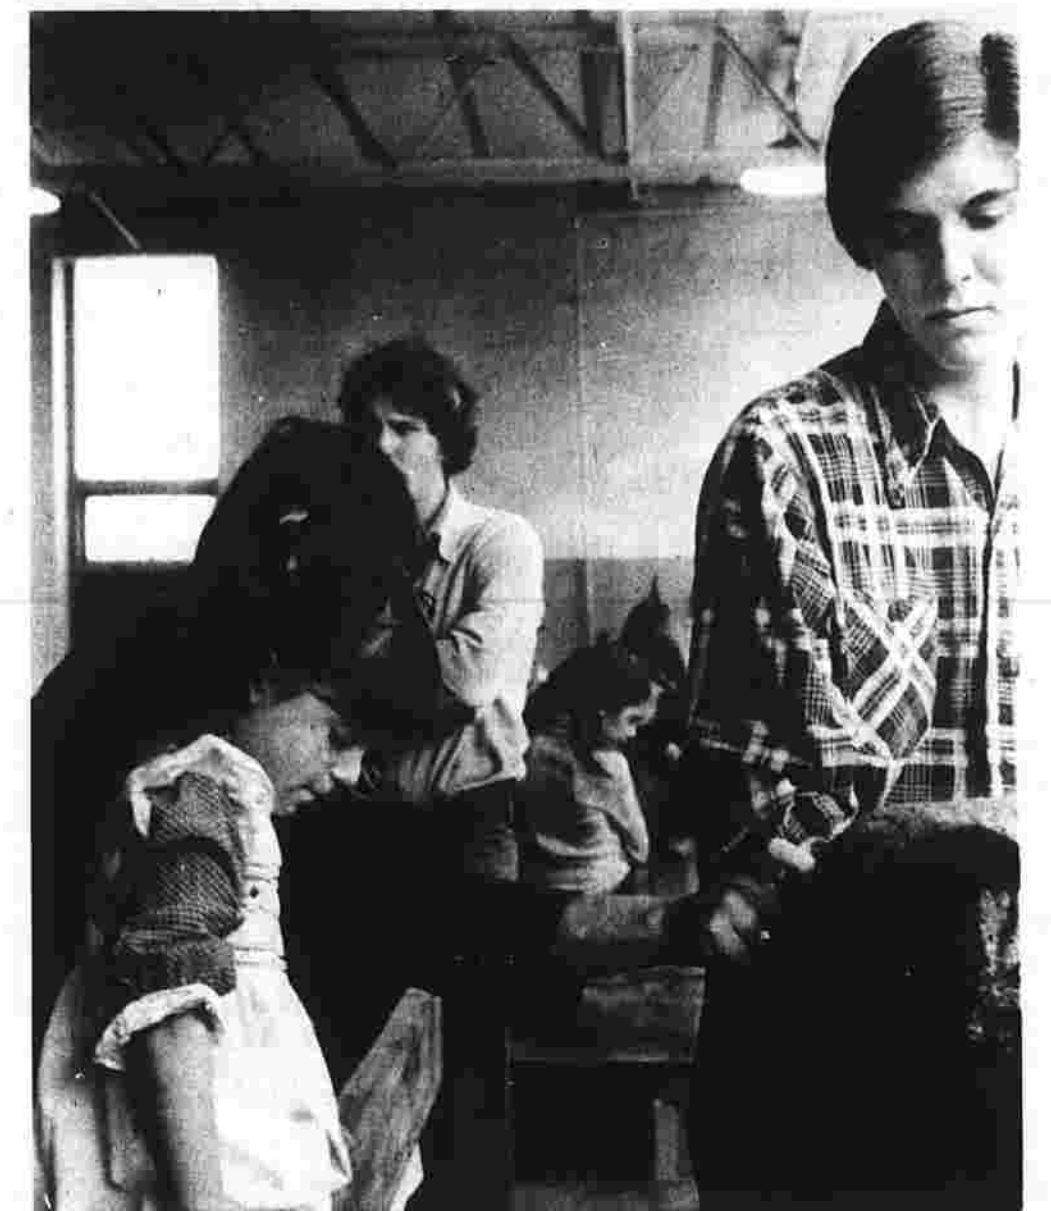

MANCHESTER - Rick Conti, a third-year law student at the University of Connecticut, will be the new advisor for the Instructors of the Handicapped, a successful David C. Moyer who has served as advisor for seven years.
 Conti, 25, will graduate from UConn in May and will begin his position with IOH in October. He lives in Manchester and plans to work for a law firm in either Manchester or Hartford. He is a graduate of East Catholic High School and Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass.
 Conti was active in IOH from 1968 to 1971, and was the group's former treasurer.
 Conti hopes to expand the IOH program to other towns, a project he has worked on in college.

Thousands View Animals, Crafts

It was really Jessica's day to visit with all the little animals. Here she looks down in the pen at a baby lamb as her mother scratches the ear of a little brown, not black sheep, held by its owner, Daniel Graves, a vo-ag freshman.

Little pigs, greased or not, are slippery things to handle and Jerry Santos of Vernon, a Vo-Ag junior heard a lot of squealing in the process. Little Jessica Lawrence, 3 1/2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Lawrence of Duncan Road, Manchester, looks on as her mother, Ellen, pets little porky.

Krista Limberger of Ellington, a freshman at Vo-Ag, takes time out from grooming her horse to toss at hat at a friend.

People/Places

The first annual Spring Festival and Crafts Exhibition presented by the students at Rockville High School and its Vo-Ag Department recently drew some 8,000 to 9,000 people.
 School officials termed the event a big success and the some 400 students and 90 teachers who participated felt all of the hard work was worthwhile. The amount of money realized by the event hasn't been computed yet, school officials said.
 Besides the many vo-ag events pictured on this page, there were exhibits of crafts made by students plus 47 local and regional professional crafters also participated.
 There were movies, clowns, lollipops and all kinds of food, a gymnastics exhibition by some students, a professional yo-yo expert, a demonstration by State Police dogs, and a performance by the Center Ballet Theater of East Hartford.
 Brian McCartney, principal of the school, said one of the primary purposes of the festival and craft show was to consolidate the talents, enthusiasm and efforts of the entire student body into one major fund raising activity for the year. In past years only the vo-ag department conducted an open house.
 McCartney said if the event turns out to be financially successful it would alleviate the need to have additional fund raisers during the year, provide sufficient monies to maintain present extracurricular activities, support new clubs and activities, fund class projects and afford more opportunities for the members of the student body to participate in school related activities.
 The entire event was sponsored by the members of the senior class and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nalley were given a special thanks for their assistance in helping coordinate the event.
 Bill Fox was senior president show chairman and Jill Spencer, junior president co-chairman. Peter Micari was advisor; Mike Nalley, advertising book chairman; Janet Williams, welcome chairman; and Gary Parents had charge of floor plans.

Emerson Named Truman Scholar

MANCHESTER — Ms. Betty Emerson, a full-time student at Manchester Community College, has been named the 1979 Truman Scholar from Connecticut.

Ms. Emerson was informed of the award this week by John W. Snyder, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation. She said she was very surprised and thrilled by the honor which carries with it a $5,000 scholarship annually for as many as four years.

Ms. Emerson said she is delighted to know that she will be able to continue with her education. She has applied to Wesleyan University for her junior year of studies, but will not know if she has been accepted until mid-May.

Ms. Emerson commented that she is especially thrilled by the honor because it indicates that public higher education, and particularly community colleges, turn out top flight students. She noted against four other students from Connecticut, for whom she described as a tough testing and interview process. Last year a winner from Connecticut was from Yale University.

The Truman Scholarships are awarded to one student from each state and two in the territories of the United States. They are awarded on the basis of merit to college juniors who have shown outstanding potential for leadership in government.

What 'Yes,' 'No' Votes Mean

MANCHESTER — Voters will have to be careful when casting their votes Tuesday on the Community Development question.

The question, number two of four on the ballot, asks voters if they support an ordinance that would establish a two-year ban on town participation in Community Development.

A "yes" vote will mean the voters favor the ordinance and wants the town to drop out of the program.

A "no" vote will mean the voters oppose the ordinance and supports continued town participation in the Community Development program.

The question, as it appears on the ballot, reads: "Shall the town adopt the following ordinance: That from the effective date of this ordinance until Jan. 1, 1981 said town and its officers and agents be and they hereby are MANCHESTER — Ms. Emerson has been actively involved for many years in both town and college government and politics. Her activities have included memberships in the Democratic Women's Federation and the Democratic Club of Manchester. She was coordinator in Manchester for Horner Babidge's bid for the gubernatorial nomination in 1974 and was a member of the mayor's Blue Ribbon Committee to investigate improvements to the system of sewers in Manchester.

She is currently chairwoman of the Jury Committee in Manchester and of the Speaker's Bureau of JODN, a local organization that supports the town's involvement with HUD.

For the past year and a half, Ms. Emerson has been a student member of the Board of Trustees of Regional Community Colleges. She is also a member of the board's task force on day care.

At MCC, Ms. Emerson is a member of the Student Senate and of the staff of the Women's Center.

She has maintained a grade point average of 3.8 at MCC.

Ms. Emerson lives at 95A Swamore Lane with her son and daughter, both of whom attend MCC.

State College Join For Job Training

MANCHESTER — Manchester Community College and the Apprentice Training Division of the Connecticut Labor Department are cooperating for the second year in offering a pre-apprenticeship training course for CETA-eligible youth in the Hartford area.

Twenty-four unemployed, or under employed, and economically disadvantaged youth will attend this eight-week course that is intended to lead to employment. Candidates for the program should be high school graduates or have general education diplomas. As part of the Governor's Demonstration Manpower Training program, students will attend school 35 hours a week and will receive allowances while in the program. Basic training will be provided in writing, reading and mathematics.

An important part of the course will be counseling in methods for securing a job and for surviving in the job market. Tours of companies will be arranged.

Applications may be obtained by phoning the college at 646-3977. Deadline is April 30. Interviews will be scheduled during the week of May 7. Classes will start June 4 and will end July 27.

Dear Abby

Adultery: Eight-Letter Word That Means Sordid. DEAR ABBY: Is adultery always wrong? I have a married friend I'll call Jim who has a girlfriend I'll call Joyce.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-year-old girl who was grounded for three weeks. I couldn't even have my friends over. I was very angry, but my parents really did me a favor, and I'd like to tell other kids about it, and maybe it will help them.

DEAR ABBY: I cheated a little on my income tax and haven't been able to sleep very well lately. Any suggestions?

DEAR T and F: Yes. Send the IRS $500. And if you still can't sleep, send them the balance.

getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-church ceremony, get Abby's new book, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding."

MARIJUANA STUDY

TV Dial-ogue

HORSE'S MOUTH — Do you remember "Fury"? It was my favorite show as a kid, with Peter Graves and Bobby Diamond. But my question is about the beautiful stallion. Was his real name Fury? — Andy Funsbe, Knoxville, Tenn.

Sure I remember Fury, and Joey, and Packy and the whole gang. As for Fury, his real name was Gypsy.

MORE BARRY — Can you tell me what TV series Gene Barry starred in besides "Bat Masterson," "Burke's Law" and "The Name of the Game"? It had something to do with Wilders, Gastonia, N.C.

The real Laura Ingalls was married at age 15, Gilbert's age, so the plan was to stick to the facts as they've done before, in the case of Mary's blindness and marriage. But, the plan's been stalled for another year. This year they're will be lots of courtin' and kissin', but Laura won't get married until the following fall.

TALL TALE — Can you tell me how tall Susan Anton is? I've heard she's 6-foot-6. Also is she available? — Mark Gittney, Palo Alto, Calif.

Someone has been feeding you a tall tale. Ms. Anton is 5-foot-11, not short by any means, but not likely to get near a job as forward for the Lakers either. Available for what? If you mean romance, I'm afraid she's spoken for. If you care, her husband, Jack Stein, is 5-foot-10.

HELP! — I am desperate. No one will believe me that Bea Benaderet played Jethro's (Max Baer, Jr.) mother on "The Beverly Hillbillies" before going on to do "Petticoat Junction." Tell them I'm right. — Florence Russel, Milwaukee, Wis.

Flo's right, gang. The late actress played Pearl Beaudine on "The Beverly Hillbillies" before becoming the proprietor of the Shady Rest Hotel. An extra bit of information is that her son, Jack Bannon, plays Art Donovan on "Lou Grant."

WILD BILL — Can you tell me the name of the program in which Guy Madison played Wild Bill Hickok? It has worried me. — Mrs. Jack Skukan, Jacobsburg, Ohio

You've worried in vain, since you already know the answer. It was called "Wild Bill Hickok."
