He's Depleting Her Trust Fund

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with Tony for two years. I'm 35 and divorced, and Tony is 34 and never been married. Tony has his pad and I have mine. He suggested giving up his place and moving in with me, but I told him nothing do-ing unless I get that ring on my linger. Now he's after me to marry him. I love him, Abby, but I can't trust him. When I'm at his place he always unplugs the telephone. I've also seen evidence of other women there. (Ladies clothes, cosmetics,

So what does a gal do when she loves a guy she can't trust? He says things could be different if we were married. What do you think?

DEAR HUNG UP: A gal who loves a guy she can't trust doesn't know what misery is until she marries him. Things could be different all right. They could be WORSE. Hang

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have each called our own natural parents "Mom and Dad" since childhood. We live near his parents and, after several years I finally feel comortable calling his parents "Mom and Dad," too. When my mother heard me call my in-laws "Mom and Dad," she became very upset and said, "WE are the only fom and Dad you will ever have, so please find some other names for your in-laws."

What is your advice, Abby?

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your mother that calling your in-laws "Mom and Dad" in no way diminishes the very special love you have for your own parents. And further-more, since YOU feel comfortable calling your in-laws "Mom and Dad," there is no reason to find other names for them.

DEAR ABBY: I have known this guy for two years, but we didn't get really serious about each other until seven months ago. I'm 18 and he's 19. He kept trying to get me to go to bed with him, and I kept saying no. Finally I gave in.
I really was in love with him, Abby. I'm no tramp. I hought it would bring us closer together. Maybe even get him to figure out some way we could get married. Well, I was wrong. After that evening I didn't hear one word from him. Finally I ran into him by accident three weeks later, and his attitude toward me was completely dif-I feel so cheap. If I had known then what I know now, I never would have given in. But there's nothing I can do

I wasted something very precious on someone who wasn't worth it and didn't appreciate it.

Please keep telling girls that the way to keep a guy is by NOT giving in to him. I wish I hadn't. SORRY IN W. VA

DEAR SORRY: I will. And maybe your experience will help some other girl when she has that decision to make.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

I am worried about them, Abby. What should I do? WORRIED MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: Get your daughters to a doctor! They could be suffering from "anorexia nervosa" (self-starvation). Your physician will probably recommend psychotherapy for the girls, as this condition involves psychological as well as ical problems. I urge you to act at once. They can be

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and respect I just learned that our 19-year-old daughter, a junior in Captain Easy — Crooks & Lawrence college, bought birth control pills. I am distressed and shock ed and wouldn't have believed it if I didn't have the facts. She will be home in a few weeks. Please tell me how to I can't give you my address because my husband opens the mail first. I haven't told him. He'd be heartbroken. I hope to read your answer in your column

HEARTSICK DEAR HEARTSICK: I can understand your disappointment, but there is nothing to handle now. Apparently your daughter is either considering having sex or she's already into it. However, she's over 18 and it's her decision. In any case, be grateful that your daughter is protecting herself against accidental pregnancy.

As for your husband's reaction, would be be less heartoroken to learn that his college daughter was pregnant in DEAR ABBY: A friend and I were recently discus pickups. Do you think it is all right for a woman (age 25) who s waiting for a bus to accept a ride from an attractive, polite man on a rainy evening I have always felt that if a woman accepts a ride with a stranger, he might get the idea that she was a pickup. My end says that anyone could tell by just looking at me that I am not the type, so it would be all right to accept the ride.

The highly acclaimed Scottish television serialization of Muriel Spark's extraordinary novel "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" premieres on public television hosted by Ju-lie Harris, Monday, May 7.

Check local listings for time and station.

This first television version was praised by British critics as the best treatment of Muriel Spark's work, including the theater version starring Zoe Caldwell in 1961 and the 1968 film starring Maggie Smith.

The talented and versatile Julie Harris, the only actress to receive five coveted Tony awards, will host the six one-hour programs, which star British actress Geraldine McEwan in the title role. The series chronicles the lives of the free-spirited Jean Brodie, a very pro-gressive school teacher, and a select group of pre-adolescent young ladies whom she befriends and

When Miss Brodie takes a post at the conservative Marcia Blaine School for Girls in Edinburgh in 1930, her unusual and sometimes eccentric approach to teaching strains her relationship with the Head-mistress, but "Brodie's girls" love her ways both in and out of the classroom.

"Give me a girl at an impressionable age and she is mine for life," declares Miss Brodie, long as the girls are equipped for the end of term examination, my methods cannot be condemned - unless they can be proved to be in any part improper or subversive."

But first, last and always. Miss Brodie is a teacher, and for all her failings, viewers will wish that they had been taught by such a woman.

Jay Presson Allen, au-thor of the stageplay and screenplay for the film which earned Maggie Smith an Oscar, was story consultant for the series.

The program will repeat Saturdays.

In the first episode of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," Jean Brodie (Geraldine McEwan) casts her enchanting spell over her girls and promises to make them "the creme de la creme."
