

Who's Under the Cap

There's no doubt he's a baseball fan. But at the moment he's very busy trying to decorate his tricycle for May Day festivities at the Hockanum Valley Day Care Center in Vernon.

Heads up ... and up

His identification becomes a little clearer in the photo above but still he struggles to wrap ribbons around his tricycle so he can ride in the parade.

The Mystery is Solved

It's me ... Timmy Little and I finally finished my decorating job and am about ready to take off. Tim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Little of South Street, Rockville. (Herald photos by Pinto)

Vitamins in Sprouts

LINDOLN, Neb. (UPI)— Horticulturist Don Steingeger of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln says the usable vitamins, minerals and proteins in some seeds are increased by sprouting. Such sprouts are especially high in vitamins C and B2, he adds.

No special equipment is needed, he says. A wide-mouth quart jar is adequate for sprouting two to three tablespoons of fresh, clean seed that has not been chemically treated against insect or plant diseases.

Place seeds in the jar, add three cups of water, cover the mouth with a doubled piece of cheesecloth or a fine plastic mesh screen held tightly with strong rubber bands. Soak the seeds overnight, drain the water and rinse the seeds at least twice daily by running lukewarm water through the cheesecloth or screen and draining. In between these steps, store the jar in a warm spot (65-75 degrees F) slanted downward to drain excess water.

When the seeds begin to sprout, and before they become mature and stringy, place the jar near a window or in indirect sunlight 2 to 8 hours to turn them green, he said. To use them in hot dishes, he suggests adding the sprouts only during the last 3 to 5 minutes of cooking to retain some of the vitamins.

The Treaty At a Glance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here are the major provisions of the SALT II treaty at a glance: A ceiling of 2,500 strategic missiles or bombers for each side by the end of 1981. Both nations must be down to 2,400 within six months of the treaty going into effect.

Within the ceiling, no more than 1,300 missiles and bombers may be equipped with multiple warheads or cruise missiles, and of those there must be no more than 1,200 land-based, sea-based, or air-to-surface missiles and no more than 800 land-based ICBMs with multiple warheads.

Soviets to stop production and deployment of the SS-16 strategic missile.

Both sides may construct and deploy a single new type of strategic missile.

Both sides accept limits on the number of warheads on that new missile: no more than 10 on a land-based missile or 14 on a sea-based missile.

Cruise missiles carried by bombers limited to a range of 1,500 miles; other cruise missiles limited to a range of 366 miles.

A separate 1972 treaty banning anti-ballistic missile systems remains in effect.

A protocol to the main agreement restricts both sides from deploying land-based mobile ICBMs, sea-launched and ground-launched strategic cruise missiles and ICBMs carried in aircraft until after Dec. 31, 1981.

The agreement to be monitored by Soviet and U.S. spy satellites and other intelligence means.

A letter in which the Soviets agree not to deploy the swiveling Backfire bomber against the United States at Arctic bases nor increase production beyond the current rate, judged by the United States to be 30 per year.

Washington: Rising food costs and increases in the number of Americans receiving food stamps forced the Agriculture Department to ask Congress Wednesday for up to $674 million more in funds to prevent cutbacks in benefits.

New York: A published report that sales of GM's new and smaller Citation model have been strong drove the company's stock up 14 to 59%.

Washington: The Council on Wage and Price Stability said today it has made a finding for the first time that a company, a major cement manufacturer, is out of compliance with President Carter's voluntary price guidelines.

Los Angeles: The influential Mexican-American Political Association Wednesday called off an 11-year boycott of Coors beer, saying the brewing company had developed an effective program for hiring minorities.

He earlier had bargained senators with assurances to that effect and succeeded in turning around what only hours before the vote had appeared to be a losing cause.

I urge the House to recognize the national interest and to send a message to the country and the rest of the world that this country will not be helpless if an unexpected shortage develops, Carter said.

Manchester Woman Leads State Religious Fight

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Katherine Coolidge of Manchester was recently one of 19 state coordinators for the National Religious Coalition for Abortion Rights who lobbied Congressmen on the issue of religious freedom and the right to choose.

The Religious Coalition for Abortion Rights is composed of 27 national religious organizations, including Jewish, Protestant, Catholic and others. There are currently seven religious organizations in Connecticut which have joined the Coalition since it came to Connecticut.

Those organizations, which also are represented on the policy board of RCAR, include the National Council of Jewish Women, the Committee on Women's Concerns of the Presbyterian Church, the Connecticut Valley District of the Unitarian Universalist Association, the Connecticut Board of Church and Society and the United Church of Christ, the Board of Church and Society of the United Methodist Church and another Methodist organization, the Unitarian Women's Alliance of the Hartford Unitarian Society.

Comic Strip Kidnapped

Zonker kidnapped? Uncle Duke missing? Ambassador Phred absent from the General Assembly? Well might Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Gary Trudeau call the cops. The 29 missing panels of his famed comic strip "Doonesbury" are valued at $5,000 and he's posted a $500 reward for information leading to their return.

The framed originals of the strip disappeared April 29 when an attempt was made to deliver them to Trudeau's New Haven home. He wasn't there, so they were sent to his service, but he answering service Trudeau has called in the New Haven police.

A group of town residents, borrowing a motto and symbol used in Colonial America, have printed 250 of the stickers.

The program is administered by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, and many opponents said the department was placing too many requirements on the town to receive the funds.

Rose Time Coming at Park

By FRANK ATWOOD
The Friends of Elizabeth Park, holding an annual meeting recently, looked back over two years of accomplishment.

Their task of restoring the roses in Hartford's famous but badly neglected rose garden was almost completed.

The Friends had collected $27,770 in gifts and had spent $10,000 to buy 3,000 rose bushes. When I visited the park a few days later I found many beds that were empty a year ago are now filled with flourishing rose plants.

It was possible to find empty beds, but this is still the rose planting season and a crew of park workers was setting new plants in one of them. These were New Day hybrid tea roses. The foreman said there were 10 beds, where the soil had been prepared, waiting to be planted. Thirty plants were being set in each bed.

There were beds of healthy plants that still need weeding. Some beds where weeds had been dug out were waiting for spring pruning. Anyone who has grown roses knows there is a lot of work to be done in spring. Some bushes were dead, killed by winter weather, and the foreman said that the remaining live plants would be moved so that beds would be filled with mixed varieties. Where the upper part of a cane had been killed it would be cut back to the first live bud. Side branches would grow from the live buds and new roses would appear on the side branches.

Target date for 1979 bloom, with all weeds out of the beds and all pruning and new planting finished, is June 27. That will be Rose Time and there will be a reception at the gazebo in the center of the garden between 2 and 4 p.m. The Friends will serve refreshments.

Purchased in Manchester
Mrs. Anne Pinto of Bloomfield, who was elected president of the Friends this year, said that the Friends, in addition to buying rose plants, had spent $3,000 last summer for perennial plants and $1,743 for spring flowering bulbs. They also had given $4,000 to the City of Hartford to hire extra labor for the rose garden.

The perennial plants were purchased at Woodland Gardens in Manchester and most of them will bloom this year. Leon Zapadka at Woodland Gardens gave me some of the names. There were primroses, Shasta daisies, Pyrethrum or painted daisies, gloriosa daisies, columbine, lupine, delphinium, basket of gold, sedum and ground-cover ajuga, as a partial list.

Across the park road from the rose garden, the spring flowering bulbs have bloomed in recent week. They were planted in masses, with tulips most conspicuous.

The Friends will continue to buy rose plants, spring bulbs and perennial plants as they are needed, and the next big project will be restoration of the rock garden. This area, laid out years ago with narrow footpaths between large boulders, will need a lot of hand weeding. Rock garden plants are generally long-lived, but weeds have come in, and where grass is growing in crevices between the rocks it may be difficult to dig out the grass roots without digging up some flowering plants.

"The whole park will be our project now," Mrs. Pinto said. "This has to be an ongoing project." A leaflet sent to members of the Friends, asking for more contributions, said that restoration of the roses will continue for at least three more years if necessary.

Stupendous
The director of Hartford Parks and Recreation, Victor Jarm, told the Friends that what they have accomplished up to now is "stupendous." It would have taken the city 10 to 15 years, he said, to make the same improvements.

Mr. Jarm gave the Friends credit for "a remarkable change in the greater Hartford community." Donations have come from people living in many towns, and most notably from West Hartford. In the most recent tally there were 59 donations from West Hartford compared with 25 from Hartford.

Manchester is well represented among the donors. A gift of more than $1,000 worth of rose plants was made to the Friends last year in the name of the Town of Manchester, although the plants came from Conard-Pyle Star Roses of West Grove, Pa. They were donated at the request of Charles S. Burr of Manchester, whose firm, C.R. Burr & Co., once handled thousands of rose plants as a wholesale grower and dealer.

Mr. Burr has now been elected one of the directors of the Friends.

Windbreaks Save Energy

STORRS - Increased interest in energy conservation has led many homeowners to consider use of windbreaks to reduce the amount of air moving past their homes.

Following are some guidelines for developing windbreaks on your property as suggested by Dr. Edwin D. Carpenter, extension consumer horticulturist at the University of Connecticut.

The first question you should ask: "Is there enough space on the lot to develop an effective windbreak?" The wider and taller a group of plants are the more effective they will be in reducing the velocity of the winds across ground.

Full plants, located too close to the house, may actually cast too much shade in the winter. This results in increased heating costs because of lost solar radiation falling on the house. A planting which reduces wind velocity but does not shade the house will provide the greatest energy savings during winters.

To be effective, a windbreak planting should be located on the side of the property from which winter prevailing winds come and right angles to the wind. In most sections of Connecticut this direction is westerly or northwesterly.

Plants should also be located between four to six times their mature height away from the structure being protected.

In some areas of heavy snow drifting, locate the planting at least 50 feet from the home, drive, walks, or road.

In addition, the planting should extend outward about 30 feet on either side of the area to be protected so the wind does not come in around the ends of the planting.

Where space does permit the establishment of a windbreak, give some thought to its composition.

Where there is very limited space, a single row of spruce trees will do some good. However, an ideal windbreak development would have five rows planted with trees and lower-growing plants.

Evergreen trees might be planted with either White, Colorado or Norway Spruce as the outer rows, since they keep a dense cover of foliage close to the ground. The inner rows of trees might be Scott, White, or Austrian Pine which are tall but frequently shed lower branches as they mature.

For additional density you also can use shrub plantings along with evergreen trees. Plant shrubs to the outside edges of the trees. Slagger all plants used in the windbreaks to permit a better development of each plant.

Space between individual plants is very important and depends on how many rows of plants are used. When one to three rows of trees are used, set the rows six to eight feet apart and the plants six feet apart in the row. With a planting of four or more rows, space the rows 10 to 12 feet apart with individual plants slaggered in the rows.

How soon a windbreak becomes effective is directly related to the size of plants used, planting techniques, soil conditions and subsequent care after planting. Balled and burlapped or container-grown plants will establish much faster than bare root plants. Use the largest possible plant you can afford, keeping in mind that cost increase with plant size.

Rooted cutting or one to two-year old seedlings of evergreen trees also can be used. However, they are very small and often take two or three times longer to establish into an effective barrier.

Crockett's Corner

Editor's Note: This column is based on mail to "Crockett's Victory Garden," a public television program.

By JAMES U. CROCKETT

Q: If one weeds with a hoe or a cultivator, are the weeds which are cut down likely to root and be a future problem?

A: No. If you cultivate and cut the weeds off, the chances are that they are not going to re-root. If there was a rainstorm right afterwards, you might have one or two that would root in. But for the most part, the roots will be knocked down and eliminated and that will be it.

Q: How do I propagate my white and pink dictamnus?

A: Dictamnus is also called gas plant, because the plant emits ignitable gas. These plants are propagated from little black seeds. It takes three to four years for the plants to reach blossoming size. Don't try to divide the plants. Also, these plants, especially the seed pods, are poisonous.

Q: I followed your instructions for pruning back an old grape vine. The foliage and vines have grown, but as the grapes started to form, they would dry up and disappear. Why?

A: Your grapes have been infested by a fungus disease. You could refer to my book, "Vegetables and Fruits," or you could go to a county agent and learn when to spray and what to use.

Q: Can you suggest a fast-growing vine to cover a fence we have that gets a lot of sun and is located in sandy soil? We live in Florida.

A: You might want to consider three evergreen vines: the Carolina Jasmine, the star jasmine, and bougainvillea. A deciduous vine that we have grown here in the Victory Garden would be the silver fleecy vine. Any of these are reasonably fast-growing and should work very well for you.

Q: What is the best procedure, and how often, should flowering shrubs be fertilized?

A: Flowering shrubs like a mixture of 5-10-5 and use about a quarter- to a half-cup per 45-foot shrub. Don't overfeed it, do it in early spring for flowering shrubs. Bone meal could also be used; because it is slow-acting, it could be used in the late fall or again in early spring.

Q: Why do I get so much weed growth when I top-dress my lawn?

A: The compost pile will eventually get so hot, if it's properly prepared, that the weeds will be eliminated. The pile should be four feet high, of mixed composition, moist, and turned two to three times. Also, it should pass through at least two months of summer weather, as the warm weather will speed decomposition.

Q: I have a schefflera that is almost seven feet tall and very lanky. It has few leaves. Can I air-layer it, as you have demonstrated with a rubber tree?

A: If you did, you'd end up with sort of a monstrosity, because you'd have great large leaves on a very short plant. It would look like something that belonged in the circus. I would suggest buying a young plant for yourself and starting over, or else cut this one back and see how well it does for you.

Q: A few weeks ago on your program you showed a cigar plant. Where can you get them?

A: Also called cuphea ignea, you can get them from almost any seed catalog, and grow them from seed. And they are the easiest plant to root. In college we had a course in plant propagation, and the professor wanted us to have a bit of encouragement. So he gave us these cigar plants to root, and of course everyone had a 100 percent success and had straight A's.

Checking Balloon Travels

Alicia Warner, left, 10, and Tanya Warner, 8, students at Bentley School, look for map location of Paramus, N.J., which was the launching place for a balloon which landed in the Warners' backyard on Elro Street recently. Alicia holds the attached postcard which reads, "This balloon was released at the intersection of Routes 17 and 4 in Paramus, N.J., in order to gauge the airborne spread of radioactive pollution, such as might be released in the event of a transportation accident. We need to know how far this card has traveled. Please return it noting the town in which it was found." The card is signed, "Bergen Energy Action Network." (Herald photo by Pinto)

McCoy Mulls Walk Ordinance

VERNON — While Mayor Frank McCoy thinks residents do need to be allowed eight hours to clear their walks after a winter storm he is eyeing the ordinance to change it as far as violation is concerned.

The PTO Council has asked the Town Council to strictly enforce the town's snow removal ordinance because sidewalks covered with snow are a detriment to children walking to school.

The ordinance allows residents eight hours to clear their walks of ice and snow. The mayor said, "We have to be reasonable. I don't think we can cut that time, especially if a storm occurs late at night."

He added, "One of the things we are looking at is to change the violation from an infraction to some sort of ticket that can be issued on the spot."

Councilman Robert Ward criticized the schools for not shoveling the walks around their property when schools are not in session. He said they should be told about that. He said the schools seem to think that because children are out of school that the sidewalks don't have to be cleared.

"We have to worry about older people who are walking," he added.

Mayor McCoy said he is a little reluctant to have people arrested if they don't shovel their walks as soon as they are told to.

Museum To Revive Cheney Mill Stroll

MANCHESTER - The Lutz Junior Museum wants to revive an old-fashioned pastime - a Saturday afternoon stroll through the Cheney Mill District. Just such a walk was popular back when the district was a tight-knit village and something of a model industrial community. Mills, mansions, and mill-workers' houses will be viewed on Saturday, May 19, 2 p.m., when the historical tour focuses on the lives of the workers who settled here by the thousands. This walk is the first public activity of the museum's Pastfinders Project - an effort to get town students involved in the study of Cheney history through photographs, tours, classroom loan kits, and interviews with district residents. The project is sponsored by a grant from the Connecticut Humanities Council, the state committee of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

200 Athletes Expected For Special Olympics

VERNON - Some 200 athletes are expected to participate in this year's Tolland County Special Olympics activities scheduled for this coming Saturday at Rockville High School's track and field. A parade of athletes is scheduled to start at 9 a.m. and events are planned for throughout the day. Special Olympics, created and sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation, is an international sports and recreation program for the mentally retarded, with competitive divisions based on age and actual performance. The program reaches out to all retarded persons regardless of their level of disability. The local program is sponsored by the Greater Vernon Jaycees. This year the Sunburian Women's Club has also joined the effort and will be providing entertainment for participants and spectators. ## State Won't Get Chance To Vote on Sunday Closings

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut residents may have an opinion on whether businesses should be closed one day a week, but they won't get a chance to vote on it. The Senate Wednesday voted 19-15 to kill a bill that would have asked voters whether they think businesses should be closed one day a week. The bill would have put the question on the November 1980 ballot in the form of a non-binding referendum. Those voting against the bill included architects of the Sunday closing law recently ruled unconstitutional by the state Supreme Court. Senate President Pro Tem Joseph Faulio, D-Hartford, and Senate Majority Leader Joseph Lieberman, D-New Haven, said it was up to the Legislature to decide what kind of bill would pass a court test. Lieberman said he did not think it was a good idea to have "advisory referendums" such as the bill proposed by Sen. Byron Ballen, R-Fairfield.

Lieberman has sponsored legislation that would create indirect initiatives, a process that would allow voters to petition for a bill and then vote on it if the Legislature failed to approve it. The bill was killed in committee but Lieberman has petitioned it out for action on the Senate floor. Faulio said in view of two "blue law" court reversals, the Legislature must deal with complicated legal restrictions and not solely "with what the people want."

Ballen said it wasn't the concept of a day of rest legislation that Connecticut courts objected to, "but only the way it was written." He noted that several states, including Massachusetts, have had their Sunday closing laws upheld by the courts. Ballen argued the referendum was only a guide and something that could be very helpful to lawmakers. He said it would "allow the people to give a clear message to the lawmakers of just how they feel on the issue." Son Eugene Skowronski, D-Derby, said the question posed to voters was more complicated "than could be explained with one line on the ballot." He said such referendums could lead to an erosion of the representative form of government.

Angle & Walters GOP Woos Ethnic

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The Republican Party, which needs all the friends it can find, has now added white ethnics to the list of groups it has targeted for special wooing. For the moment, the GOP seduction effort will be focused primarily on ethnic voters in New Jersey, since that state will be electing members of its state legislature this year and a pickup of 15 seats would give the Republicans control of the state senate.

Bill Brock, an ardent advocate of outreach programs to broaden the base of the Republican Party, the national GOP is already pouring a small fortune into political programs targeted on blacks and Hispanic-Americans. With the addition of white ethnics to the list, about the only group omitted from priority treatment is the WASPs, while Anglo-Saxon Protestants.

MANCHESTER - In 1975, people asked "Jimmy Who?" when told about the peanut farmer who hoped to become the 55th president. Now, everyone knows who Jimmy Carter is and most have some comment about his service as President of the United States.

In 1979, Richard Kay - this year's version of "Jimmy Who?" - is hoping for a similar change in his fame in the next 18 months. Kay - "Richard Who?" you might ask - is an attorney from Cleveland who is seeking the Democratic nomination for President.

Foreign Fishermen Net Billions

WASHINGTON - Alaskan fishermen can be excused if they think the Japanese won World War II. As in so many other commercial areas, our erstwhile enemy has undercut American fishermen in the lucrative harvest of pollock, cod and bait fish from Alaska's coastal waters.

The icy waters of the Gulf of Alaska each year yield up more than 5 billion pounds of these so-called bottom fish - those that feed in vast schools on the ocean floor and are scooped up by the ton in huge trawling nets.

Despite the financial rewards possible in crabbing - a crewman willing to risk his life in the treacherous Alaska seas can earn as much as $100,000 in a single winter crab season - there are still skippers willing to struggle for a living as bottom fishermen. One of these, a former Montana miner named Oral Burch who first came to Alaska in a troop transport in World War II, invited Berton along as a crew member on a two-day fishing expedition.

Hearing on MCC Head Scheduled for May 21

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER - A public hearing to weigh evidence related to alleged misconduct charges by Manchester Community College President Ronald H. Denison has been scheduled for May 21. The reappointment of Denison was delayed Monday by the Board of Trustees of the Regional Community Colleges to allow the public hearing at Denison's request. The hearing will be open for public observation, but only persons selected by the attorneys on both sides will be allowed to testify. Dr. Searle F. Charles, executive director of the Regional Colleges, said today. Charles said this is the first full-fledged public hearing for a college president in the Community College system. A private hearing was conducted for a college president in 1970 and others have been held for other staff through the years, Charles said. Dominic J. Squaritto, a Manchester attorney, will represent Denison in the hearing. A Robert E. Walsh, an assistant attorney general, will represent the state college administration. Charles has limited his comments on the allegations which came to light earlier this week that he is confident the public hearing will produce evidence which will exonerate him. He is allegedly charged with accepting an overpayment on a paycheck last summer. The mistake was noted only later in the year and was eventually repaid. The May 21 hearing will be at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium. He has not been selected, Charles said.

Water Hike Is Proposed

much of an increase he will recommend to the board, but he said it probably will be more than the 15 percent minimum and less than the 18 percent figure. He also has to establish a rate schedule for how much the rates of different volume users will be affected. Water Department officials have expressed support for a system that would result in larger users paying more of the increase than smaller users. Advertising for the proposed new rates has to be done in about two weeks, Giles said. He said the town may advertise a doubling of the rates. This would then give the board enough leeway to do as much as double the rates. It could do anything less than double the rates without re-advertising, he said.

Rosary Society Sets Holy Hour

MANCHESTER - St. Bridget's Rosary Society will hold its annual May Holy Hour Monday starting with a mass at 8:30 p.m. The guest speaker and celebrant of the mass will be the Rev. William Crane. Rev. Mr. Crane has been pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Hartford and Our Lady of the Sacred Heart in Hartford. He is also director of the LaSalette Seminary in Brooklyn, Conn. He also served as director of the LaSalette Seminary in Hartford. He is now assigned to special ministries and at the LaSalette Missionary, West Hartford. The mass will be followed by a roast beef dinner at 7:30 p.m. All women are invited. For reservations, call Mary Cosgrove, 644-1379; Mary Cullen, 646-9696; or Mary Hogan, 643-8196. Reservations close today.

League Sets Meeting

VERNON - The League of Women Voters will meet as a group to attend the annual town meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Vernon Center Middle School. After the meeting the members will go to the home of Dorothea Peabody, 46 Sunnyside Drive, to discuss the meeting. If the town meeting lasts after 9:30 p.m., then the league will meet at the Peabody home on Wednesday at 8 p.m. All league members and their guests are invited to attend. For more information call Joan Inguanti, 84 Merline Road.

Sewer Design Fee Eyed

MANCHESTER - State and federal officials are studying a proposed $1.2 million design fee for expansion of the town's sewage treatment plant. The town has expected to pay the $1.2 million fee to Metcalf & Eddy, a Boston engineering firm. A total of 90 percent of that cost is paid with state and federal funds while the town pays 10 percent. The state and federal officials, however, apparently feel the price tag for the design work is higher than normal, so they plan to take a close look at it. Jay Giles, director of public works for the town, said the review by the state and federal officials is not unusual. He said the price for the design work is set by the engineering firm, which provides documentation about the number of employees and work hours involved. This information is used to support the recommended price. The federal Environmental Protection Agency uses as a guide a scale developed by the American Society of Civil Engineers. That scale estimates a price tag of about $700,000 for the work being done for the town by Metcalf & Eddy. Giles said the $1.2 million figure is a maximum price set for the design fee. He said design work for an addition sometimes is higher than for a new plant because there are existing barriers and operational problems that have to be designed around.

Feds Say Bias Resolved

MANCHESTER - The federal government has told the town it is satisfied that a sex discrimination charge involving a volunteer fire company has been resolved. The case involved a complaint filed by Barbara Demers, a former town resident, who said she was denied a job with the company because she was a woman. She filed her charge in January 1978 and since has moved from the area. The state Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities dismissed the discrimination charge, although the volunteer fire company was required to make some changes in its bylaws and its advertising procedures. The town had withheld its annual contribution to the volunteer company while the case was pending. It feared a finding of discrimination could lead to the loss of federal funds, such as Revenue Sharing. If the town had supported the company. Treadwell O. Phillips, manager of the Civil Rights Division of the Office of Revenue Sharing, wrote to the town to say his office is satisfied the matter has been resolved.

One more victory and Cheney Tech will have accomplished what it's never done before - qualify for the State Baseball Tournament. The Techmen moved one step away from their season-long goal yesterday with a 6-0 whitewashing of East Hampton High at the Beavers' diamond behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Chuck Dumez. Cheney stands 7-6 in the COC, 9-6 overall, and has five games remaining. First opportunity is Friday at Rocky Hill at 3:15. "It wasn't a must but if we didn't win today we'd be in a lot of trouble because of the schedule we have left," emphasized Cheney Coach Aaron Silvia. "If we didn't beat these guys, who we felt we could beat, then the kids might've started asking 'who could we beat?' It could've made the rest of the year disastrous," the second-year leader cited. Rich Tamiso got the Beavers on the scoreboard in the second inning with a gift homer. He lofted a fly to centerfield which John Boutillier misjudged in the tricky wind, and circled the bases as the ball rolled left. Cheney made it 2-0 in the third as Dave Gustasichko walked, stole second and scored on Chris Vann's dump single to left. East Hampton, 4-9 in the COC and overall, was hitless thru three innings. Greg Johnson broke Dumez's string with a two-out double to right in the fourth. Mark Bear followed with opposite field single to left but Johnson, trying to score, was gunned down by Tamiso's one-bounce pop catcher Randy Lanzano who applied the tag. "That definitely was a key play," Silvia agreed. "Tamiso has a good arm, is a good defensive outfielder. I knew he was out."

Thoughts ApLEnty

By Len Auster
Minor Surprize
While Manchester High boys' track coach Dick Williams felt he had the talent, he wasn't sure what would develop. What has developed to date for the Indian triathlons is an unbeaten record and a legitimate shot at the CCIL title. Strength up and down the line has been exhibited by Manchester. Rich Geising and Jim Stanton are a solid 1-2 punch in the intermediate and high hurdles and the brothers DeValve, Jim and Tim, have been a formidable pair. The Beavers added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth innings. A mis-cue yielded the fifth frame markers while Lanzano belted a two-run homer in the sixth to aid his batterymate. Dumez walked four and fanned three in upping his record to 2-1. He was assisted by his teammates who turned over two doubleplays, including a game-ending two-killing. Russ Pekari, 0-4, went the route for the Bellingers. He walked four while striking out one.

Catholic Linksmen Triumph

East Catholic's golf team ran its winning streak to 13 in a tallied yesterday with a pair of wins at Woodstock Country Club. The Eagle linksmen nipped Ellington High, 3-2, and St. Bernard, 5-2, to run their record to 14-1 for the season. Ellington is 2-11, St. Bernard 11-3. St. Bernard's Dan Hendrickson took medalist honors with a fine one-over par 71. His round included four birdies and 13 pars. East freshman Terry O'Donnell fired a career-best 5-over par 77. East faces Bulkeley High today at Goodwin Park in a makeup match. Brendan Fitzgerald and Paul Peracchio each carded 80s for the Eagles and Kevin Ovan fired an 81. Results: East vs Ellington - Scott (E) def. Smith 5-4, Peracchio (E) def. Cichon 5-4, Duffel (E) def. Crouchley 4-2, O'Donnell (E) def. Randazzo 10-8. East won medal point, 334-333; East vs St. Bernard - Hendrickson (SB) def. Smith 7-4, Peracchio (E) def. Gambeski 2-1, Selvidio (SB) def. Crouchley 1-0, O'Donnell (E) def. Narducci 6-4, Ovan (E) def. Duffly 1-0, Fitzgerald (E) def. Gregoire 5-4, East won medal point, 405-300.

NBA Playoff

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) - The San Antonio Spurs did their '14' in a 14-point lead slide down the drain and make things exciting in the final minutes of their Wednesday night game against the Los Angeles Lakers. "We had a leadout," said Spurs forward Larry Kenon in a bit of an understatement. "But I never thought we'd lose the game." There were others who were not so positive, but sure enough, the upstart Spurs knocked off the defending NBA champion Washington Bullets 116-114 Wednesday night and assumed a 2-1 lead in their Eastern Conference playoffs series.

Eagle Bats Explode Paced by Pete Kiro

Continuing its assault on the baseball, East Catholic straddled three leadyard pitchers for 17 hits en route to a 14-2 non-conference triumph yesterday at Eagle Field. The victory was the Eagles' ninth in a row and improves their overall standard to 11-1. Leadyard goes to 6-9 with the setback. East resumes action today against cross-town rival Manchester High at Eagle Field at 3:15. The Eagles scored twice in the opening inning as Brad Cabral walked and Pete Kiro crouched a two-run homer, the first of two, four-baggers he doubled for, over the leftfield fence. Dave Bittaro connected and Mike Gilbertro singled to make it 3-1 after two innings, the visitors scoring once in their half. East started to pull away in the third. Kiro deposited a 360-foot homer over the centerfield fence leading off. Howie Furlong walked, swiped second and scored on Bottaro's single. Mike Daly singled and Gilbertro and Cabral stroked consecutive RBI blows. "It was rope city here today," beamed East Coach Jim Penders, "We hit the ball every time. Bottaro hit the ball hard every time and Kiro got the two home runs in succession," he cited. "The thing is everyone is pitching in from the top of the order. It is not a one-man show." Penders added.

Catholic Girls Outduel South, 8-6

Barry swiped second and both runners came across as Trish O'Connell's grounder was thrown away. The Eaglesletts added four markers in the fourth with hits by Jane Price, Denise Bottieri and Kathy Shekan key blows. Price singled and scored on Bottieri's RBI triple. Shekan also tripled followed by walks to Pekaitis and Fiona Campbell. Barry walked forcing in a run and a squeeze bunt scored Pekaitis. Campbell knocked in a run and another scored on a miscue as East made it 8-0 in the fifth. South did all its scoring in the sixth inning on four hits, three walks and three Eaglelets miscues. Sophomore Laci Hurst was the winning pitcher. She went six innings, gave up five hits and walked six. Reliever Peg Laneri yielded one safety and issued two free passes. Price and Bottieri each had two hits for East.

Wethersfield Stops Indians

By MIKE WILSON

Leigh Stanton rapped two hits and drove in a run and Ed Rizzo pitched a complete game as Wethersfield rolled past Manchester High, 5-2, in CCIL baseball play yesterday in Wethersfield. The win ups the Eagles' record to 4-5 while the Silk Towers dropped their fourth straight to fall to 5-7. The Indians are slated to face cross-town East Catholic today at Eagle Field at 3:15. Things looked bad for the Indians in the error-filled contest. Manchester committing six and Wethersfield four, from the outset. Rizzo's outburst reached on an error leading off but was gunned down stealing. Rizzo followed with a single and fanned one. Parks and Ogden each got a pair of insurance markers. Fitzsimmons, who doubled in the third, started the rally with a one-out single and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Tabbsy. Stanton lined a single scoring Fitzsimmons and he eventually scored on a miscue. Spears walked none and fanned three while Rizzo walked four and fanned one. Parks and Ogden each had two hits for Manchester.

Indian Girls Avenge Loss

Avenaging the only blemish on its record, league-leading Manchester High scored a come-from-behind 11-6 win over Wethersfield High in CCIL girls' softball action yesterday at Fitzgerald Field. The Indians scored seven times on seven hits in the bottom of the sixth inning to erase a 4-4 deficit and score their 11th win in 12 outings. The Eagles go to 7-5 with the setback. Shirley Adams then insured the triumph by retiring Wethersfield in order in the seventh for her fifth win against one loss. Lynn Wright hurled the first five innings, giving up four hits, walking six and striking out two. She was charged with five Eagle runs. "We had a slickout at the plate going 1-0 with an RBI. Manchester took a 4-0 lead in the first as Lisa Tilden walked, Lisa Schwartz was hit by a pitch and the bases were loaded. Lynn Wright struck Liz Neubelt walking forcing in a run followed by Lauri Turkington's two-run single. Game manager Ebersold's single made it 4-0. Wethersfield got three runs in the second one in the third to tie it and two in the top of the sixth to move in front. The Silk Towers retaliated quickly. Wright started it with a single followed by an Adams single. Tilden grounded out into a force but Cathy Cooney singled, scoring Adams and Schwartz's perfect suicide squeeze tied it. Warren drew a free pass jamming the sock and Neubelt slammed a two-run double to center for the lead. Turkington singled in the fifth run, the sixth came on an infield grounder and Wright's second single of the inning made it 11-6. Neubelt had three RBIs as did Turkington, who singled and doubled. Ebersold singled and doubled and knocked in two runs while Schwartz and Cooney also chipped in two safeties for Manchester.

Penney Achieves Cherished Victory

By KEVIN CASEY

Penney High's baseball team got a much needed win yesterday as it topped Fermi High, 7-1, in CCIL play in Enfield. The Black Knights broke out of a four-game losing streak behind the strong pitching of junior right-hander Paul Pires, 3-1, who scattered six hits while striking out 10. Penney is now 6-6 in the league, 7-6 overall. Penney earned goes to 10-10 with the setback. The Black Knights started out as they did prior to a mid-season slump as Mark Anderson ripped a leadoff single. Dino Perucio reached on a fielder's choice and on a double steal the throw went into centerfield. Anderson scoring. Penney pitched the winning runs in the sixth inning. Frank Bennetieri reached on an error and Bob Linnell walked. Tim Just in his first start singled home Bennetieri with Linnell advancing to third. John Alquist's sacrifice fly made it 7-0. The Knights got four insurance markers in the ninth on RBI blows by Pete Care, Carl Schultz and Bennetieri.

Battle of Pitching Gained by Hornets

Stingy Tom Guidotti limited Concord High to two singles in leading East Hartford High to a 3-0 whitewashing of the Chieftans in CCIL baseball play yesterday at the Hornets' field. Guidotti, who twirled a one-hitter home. Kevin Hickey walked and at cross-town play in his last outing, yielded only fourth and ninth-inning singles by Peter McGagbin in registering his fourth win against Concord. He walked none and struckout eight. The Hornets, 8-4 in the league and 9-4 overall, who trailed 3-0 in the fifth inning on Tyler Durler's sacrifice. Stone stole third but held as Mike Hardy grounded out. But Joe Kohler produced what proved to be the game-winning hit as he singled Jones 3-30.

Course Helps Relatives To Cope with Alcoholism

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The problems of the alcoholic have become well known through education in recent years, but the effects on the persons closest to the problem drinker can be just as damaging and far-reaching.

The drinking problem becomes all-encompassing for a family, or the "significant others," as they are called in a new program recently introduced in the Manchester area.

The family of the problem drinker can be on a continual downhill course, losing self-identity, becoming depressed, guilty, physically tired and unhappy in all areas of life, said Lois Ann Beckwith, one of the instructors in the Family Forum course.

The new course is offered specifically for those persons who are dealing with a problem drinker in their daily lives. The four-week course has been offered three times recently in Manchester under joint sponsorship of the Rockville General Hospital Department of Human Services and Alcohol Care in cooperation with Manchester Memorial Hospital and the Manchester Health Department. Mrs. Beckwith is a staff member of the Health Department.

The Family Forum is taught in a personal, non-threatening manner by Mrs. Beckwith and other co-workers who have been trained in counseling and alcoholism. The personalization comes partly from the fact that the course was designed by a couple who dealt with the drinking problem in their family. The couple, Don and Nancy Howard, wrote the guide book which is used in the course. It is written in the first person and candidly describes the feelings of each spouse through the phases of the husband's drinking problem and subsequent recovery.

The classes are limited to small groups to promote discussion and sharing. At first, the participants may seem nervous and reluctant to share the very personal "problem" of alcoholism in a family with strangers. But under the encouragement and informal atmosphere over cups of coffee, the group members soon find themselves nodding in agreement with the facts and problems related to problem drinking as outlined by the facilitators.

They soon find that their experiences in dealing with the drinking problem with their family member or friend are very similar. They find that they are not alone. They also start to feel some glimmer of hope, that perhaps there is a way to deal with this very difficult problem, which has been made more difficult because of the stigmas placed by society.

The persons who attend Family Forum are there because they want to face a difficult problem and more important they are there because they care about their family and their relationship with the problem drinker. Mrs. Beckwith said, "I try to enhance the concern," she said.

The focus of the program is on self-awareness and education about the alcoholism. It's not an attack on the problem drinker, said Mrs. Beckwith.

The participants have come saying, "What can I do about this problem?"

The stress of the program is on improving the awareness and restoring a positive self-image for the "significant other."

Several techniques are used to promote this goal. Communications techniques are taught and the use of them with the problem drinker is encouraged.

Lois Ann Beckwith, a nurse in the Manchester Health Department and Steve Carter from the Social Services office discuss the course guidelines for the Family Forum classes which they teach. The classes are provided for individuals who deal with a problem drinker in their daily lives. (Herald photo by Strempler)

Board Avoids Pool Vote

SOUTH WINDSOR — The Board of Education has agreed not to take a firm position on the proposed construction of an indoor pool at this time.

Although most Board of Education members appeared to be in favor of the proposal, they agreed that the town should concentrate on more recreational activities for its young people.

School Superintendent Robert Goldman told the Board of Education that a committee set up to study the proposal seemed to feel that the pool should be built near the high school. Goldman said, however, that the committee would recommend several sites.

Funds for the pool could be financed through school construction funds or recreation funds, both of which could come from the state.

Money could also be appropriated by the Town Council through the general government's capital improvements account, Goldman said.

Construction of an indoor pool was suggested by the Town Council's five Republican members in response to suggestions by many residents that the town should concentrate on more recreational activities for its young people.

The Republican Party caucus will be held in August, and it will be wide open to those interested in serving the town in an elected position of trust. At this time the recruitment committee is looking for interested persons," Marsh said.

People interested in becoming a candidate for the Republican Party may call Marsh at 644-2427.

Selectmen Eye School

BOLTON — The Board of Selectmen is seeking an immediate answer to the Board of Education's plans for Bolton Center School.

Following a special selectmen's meeting Wednesday, First Selectman Henry Ryba planned to hand carry a letter to Joseph Halaburdo, school board chairman, today asking whether or not the school will be available for general community use.

The school board meets tonight at 8 at Bolton Center School.

The selectmen were discussing their five-year plan of capital purchases and improvements and Ryba said, "Not knowing the answer is holding us back."

Selectman Ernest Shepherd said, "A whole series of things revolves around that unanswered question."

Shepherd suggested the school board be asked for a "time frame as to the availability or unavailability of the middle school" and if it did not indicate such a time frame, the school board should be asked "the specific reasons why it needs so much time to make important decisions for the future development of the school system."

Ryba said he requested that information from the school board in February but he never received an answer from them. He said the school board said it wanted to make the decision about the high school first.

Ryba said, "That decision has been made and I still haven't gotten an answer."

The school board will be asked for an answer to the letter by June 5.

During 1979-1980 the selectmen's five-year plan calls for the purchase of a central site for a public safety complex, pursuing a waste disposal system and continuing the development of Herrick Memorial Park.

The planned police vehicle and copier are included in the 1979-80 budget.

Commission To Probe Church Sink Useability

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The Commission on the Handicapped will inspect the sinks in the restrooms at the new Faith Baptist Church tonight to determine if they are useable by handicapped persons.

Francis Conti, chief town building inspector, has asked the commission for a recommendation on the new facilities because they were built 36 inches high, or at the same level as the regular sinks. The sinks are not in violation of the letter of the law, commission member Richard Lawrence said at Wednesday night's meeting of the commission, however, he noted that the state code sets a minimum height for the lavatories but not a maximum height.

Commission members will accompany Conti on the inspection and test the usability of the sinks with a person sitting in a wheelchair.

If the commission determines that the sinks are still useable, Conti could recommend they remain as a condition of the final Certificate of occupancy. Conti has granted a temporary certificate of occupancy to the new church on Lake Street. It is the first church in town which has accessibility to the handicapped in every facet of the building, Roger Quillette, chairman of the commission, said.

The commission also inspected a sign with raised lettering for blind persons. Such signs are being considered for use in the Manchester public schools, according to Margaret Churchill, commission member. Gert DeLeo, a blind member of the commission, inspected the signs and said that it would be a good kind to use.

Commission members praised the school system for its efforts to provide facilities for the handicapped in the schools.

Mrs. Churchill also reported to the commission that she and another member of the commission went on record in behalf of the commission at Monday's Planning and Zoning Commission hearing in support of a zoning regulation amendment which would allow group homes for mentally retarded persons to be located in the commission also plans to get more information from the Police Department on the possibility of installing special buzzers on stop lights which would aid blind persons in crossing streets.

The Commission met Wednesday at the Pumpnickel Pub on Oakland Street because it is a new business which was built with full accessibility for the handicapped persons.

Two Programs Aid Impaired

The state has announced a couple of programs that will help handicapped and hearing-impaired persons. Gov. Ella Grasso announced that a teleprinter unit for hearing-impaired persons will be installed in the governor's office. The unit allows the caller to attach a telephone handset to the machine, and the person then can type a message, which is printed on a similar machine at the other end of the line. About 500 of the teleprinter units now are in use in the state. The governor also announced that the state has received a $26,530 grant that will enable the state Department of Motor Vehicles to train and license an additional 100 physically handicapped drivers annually.

Three Appointed To Planning Unit

Gov. Ella Grasso has appointed three area persons to the state Development Disabilities Planning Council. The event, organized by the Cooperative Occupational Educational Program department, featured an award winning film, "On the Track," which showed vocational training of students in the COEP program and was filmed locally in Manchester in 1978. Also, there were demonstrations from the various business, industrial arts, home economics, art, social studies and COEP nursing programs. There were exhibits of yeast breads, home hobbies and clothing from the home economics department; free blood pressure testing and free lung checks from the COEP nursing program, and demonstrations of powerstitching, silversmithing and ceramics from the art department. The industrial arts demonstrations featured automotive, graphic arts, electronics, drafting and machine shop. Clerical, secretarial and accounting careers were presented by the business department. Students in the various department participated in the presentations. According to Greg Kane, COEP coordinator and career education consultant for the town, the event was a success because it gave the students a chance to be seen doing things that create a positive image and it showed the public some of the things the high school does. The Voc-A-Rama was preceded by a chicken dinner prepared and served by the MHS home economics and COEP departments to about 40 invited guests including town and school officials and parent representatives. Kane said that COEP is considering another similar event next year.

Fire Chief Is Key Issue In Vernon Consolidation

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter.
VERNON - The establishing of qualifications for a chief for the proposed consolidated fire department for the town appears to be one of the members of the Vernon Fire Department. The matter was brought up at a public hearing, conducted Wednesday night by the Charter Revision Commission, by Arthur Petrone Jr., speaking for the Vernon Department. The proposed charter revision states there shall be a town fire department consisting of the fire chief and such other officers and employees as authorized by the Town Council. It also sets forth the functions of the department and provides for the fire chief to be appointed by the mayor, with the approval of a majority of the Town Council, and also states that the mayor would have the authority to remove the chief subject to provisions of the state statutes. Petrone said none of the firefighters are against the charter revisions but would oppose the revisions when voting on them in November if the council doesn't set forth more specific details concerning the duties of the chief, before a vote is taken. Recommendations set forth by a Fire Study Committee, which made the recommendation for the consolidation, called for the chief to have had at least eight years of experience in one of the departments, to be a resident of Vernon, and to have attained at least the rank of captain in one of the town fire departments. Petrone said that what is missing is input from the firefighters themselves. He said he thinks the firemen could assist the commission in putting together the necessary credentials toward the decision. Petrone was chairman of a four-member bylaws committee which put together an organizational chart for the proposed department. Robert Kelly, who was a member of the study committee and the revision commission, and also is a member of the Rockville Fire Department, said in February when the organizational chart was presented, that the bylaws committee had agreed to wait until after the referendum to continue its work. Petrone didn't agree, noting that the committee was just awaiting further direction from the council. Petrone said most of the men are reluctant to speak out at an open meeting and he said he would like the men of both departments to meet in closed session with the council and the revision commission, to air their views. Only a handful of firemen attended the public hearing and only a written statement submitted by the League of Women Voters. The league, which has been very instrumental in pushing for the consolidated department, again said it feels that for the basic good of the town the two fire departments should be merged, with one paid full-time chief. "The Town Council should establish the specific structure of the merged department," the league said. It noted that the main reasons for supporting this position are: The advantages outlined in the fire study report of May, 1975 and its stated need for a full-time fire marshal. The league said that the main objection the firefighters and some others expressed about the proposed consolidation, that the morale of the departments would be lowered, would be short term with new identities and a healthy competition between companies quickly re-established. "Any transient negative effects will be compensated by the increased safety of the community," the league said. Following the hearing the revision commission said that the possibility of having a paid, full-time chief had been discussed at length by the study committee and it was decided not to take that direction at this time. The committee also noted, in reference to Petrone's comments, that there is a provision for the chief to solicit input from department members. The commission then voted, unanimously, to present the proposed revision to the Town Council. If the council approves it will then go to another public hearing within 30 days after being presented.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST CALLS FOR FAIR TO PARTLY CLOUDY, WITH OCCASIONAL SURPRISES...

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

She's a Stogie For a Scrooge

Dear Abby: My husband is a jerk. I've worked alongside him in our own business for 30 years and I've never had a dime I could call my own. If I want to buy something for myself or our children, I have to ask him for the money. Afterward, I have to show him the sales slip and give him back the exact change.

I don't drink or smoke. He does both. I've never been extravagant. If my husband had to pay someone to take my place it would cost him plenty. I do all my own housework, too, including the laundry. Don't you think I deserve a few dollars to do with as I please?

I am so disgusted I could scream. Print this. The jerk reads your column. Maybe this will wake him up.

HAD IT

Dear Abby: For years my husband and I and our 14-year-old son Brian (only child) have had Sunday dinner out. Brian has done this when we've had others eating with us. I think it's rude, but my husband says that if he prefers to sit alone in the car and listen to the radio, we shouldn't insist that he stay with us.

I know my husband is hurt, as am I, but we're not sure what to do about it. What do you think?

DEAR MOTHER: Brian is trying to tell you he is bored. Have you tried drawing him into the conversation - directing questions to him - listening to his responses? Try it next Sunday and I'll bet Brian stays through dessert!

Dear Abby: How about starting a campaign to get restaurants to offer children's portions at reduced prices? I'm over 65 and can't eat a regular-size meal in a restaurant, but I'm not allowed to order a child's meal. I just have to see all that good food go to waste. Abby, please see what you can do for our older folks.

SMALL EATER IN ILLINOIS

Dear Small Eater: It's a lovely idea, but unless a restaurant shows a profit it can't offer a reduced price on the average eatery, but if it became too popular it might.

Better ask for a doggie bag and take home your leftovers.

Dear Abby: What do you say to a niece who has blond hair and blue eyes and is married to a man with brown hair and blue eyes and just gave birth to a baby with blond hair and coal black hair?

UNCLE EDDIE

Dear Uncle: "Congratulations."

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

She's a Stogie For a Scrooge

Dear Abby: My husband is a jerk. I've worked alongside him in our own business for 30 years and I've never had a dime I could call my own. If I want to buy something for myself or our children, I have to ask him for the money. Afterward, I have to show him the sales slip and give him back the exact change.

I don't drink or smoke. He does both. I've never been extravagant. If my husband had to pay someone to take my place it would cost him plenty. I do all my own housework, too, including the laundry. Don't you think I deserve a few dollars to do with as I please?

I am so disgusted I could scream. Print this. The jerk reads your column. Maybe this will wake him up.

HAD IT

Dear Abby: For years my husband and I and our 14-year-old son Brian (only child) have had Sunday dinner out. Brian has done this when we've had others eating with us. I think it's rude, but my husband says that if he prefers to sit alone in the car and listen to the radio, we shouldn't insist that he stay with us.

I know my husband is hurt, as am I, but we're not sure what to do about it. What do you think?
