

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old high school junior. A year ago I was raped on my way to school. I believe I have dealt with the situation very well, but my problem is this: Am I still considered a virgin?

DEAR WONDERING: Putting the physical and technical aspects aside, you are as virtuous as a virgin. And you certainly may consider yourself a virgin.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman, expecting my first child in three months. Last month my husband's grandfather died. He was loved and respected by all who knew him. The entire family felt a tremendous loss.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday our 4-year-old daughter disappeared suddenly. One minute she was with me in the kitchen, and the next minute she was gone. I nearly went crazy looking for her in the yard, in and out of the neighbors' houses, searching frantically with tears in my eyes and a lump in my throat.

DEAR ABBY: I appreciate the timely reminder. Parents, please REMOVE the doors from stored refrigerators, cabinets or other potential "coffins" for curious and adventurous children.

Inflation Erodes Business Profits

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Profits earned by American business remained strong during the January-March quarter, but government and private economists claimed Friday that inflation eroded much of the benefits.

The Commerce Department also reported the nation's economy grew at an annual rate of just 0.4 percent during 1979's first quarter, while inflation spurred by 8.8 percent - the steepest quarterly rise since 1978's April-June period.

Stamp Prices Changing

By RUSS MACKENDRICK

The spring-summer edition of Harris has arrived - still in that frustrating stiff format devised to fit the wire racks of supermarket and drugstore dispensers. In order to catch a few stray browsers they have made it tough for a host of stamp people.

They report more than 11,000 price changes. There is a new feature called "US/BNA Premium Pricing Guide." It is meant to show what buyers should expect to pay for "fine," "very fine," and "extra fine" stamps both in hinged and unhinged conditions. It comes just before the "Stamp Identifier" section (pages 436-439).

This is useful and timely. Some local collectors and dealers, as seen at the recent MANPEX, have gone overboard with "conditionists" and seem to expect superb stamps at prices current for just plain good or average copies.

For one thing, there is too much griping over hinging. Harris pool-pools this as evidenced by the Black Jack listings. They have it that one of these in "fine and never hinged" should bring 2.2 times the average price, while the same stamp hinged is still good for 2 times.

Harris does not define the grades. Brookman gives a little more help by stating that on an average stamp of the 19th century the perforations will cut or touch the design. Their "unused average" stamp will have no gum, whereas "unused fine" means all or part gum. "If never hinged stamps are required, add 10 percent."

The next authority is Harmer's auction house of New York. Their "n.h." means "unused with original gum in Post Office state and unmounted." Lightly hinged, "l.h." means that there will be evidence of a hinge, present in part, or entirely removed. The meaning of their term "unused" is not what you would expect - it stands for an uncancelled no-gummer.

A few examples from a recent Harmer's auction show how less-than-pristine stamps can bring pretty good prices. A Scott no. 38, the 36-cent orange Franklin with no gum and a light vertical crease brought about a third of catalog ($120).

A No. 118 "landing of Columbus" 15-cent pictorial with small thin spots (a real horror for some local philatelists), brought $85 with a catalog listing of $130. The Commodore Perry 90-cent carmine, No. 155, with an actual tear, went to $50 as against a catalog of $80. Another 90-cent Perry, this time

Expansion Request Falls Within Rules

An industrial park is a place for an industry to set down roots and, if possible, to grow as big and strong as it can. When an industry locates in an industrial park it can expect to be welcome there and to remain welcome so long as it does not violate the regulations under which the park was set up in the first place.

Thus when a warehouse in Manchester Industrial Park wants to expand and to increase its capacity to ship goods, the town should not prevent it from doing so unless it threatens to become a nuisance. The warehouse is not in violation of any regulations. It does not propose to violate any regulations. It has asked the Planning and Zoning Commission to grant a special exception to permit the expansion. It must, by regulation, ask for that exception so that the commission can be sure it does not create some problem of excess noise or bad drainage.

When the PZC considers the warehouse application, it should set whatever reasonable conditions it feels are needed to make the building and its accessories as unobtrusive as possible. But in the absence of any clear nuisance, the PZC should not deny the exception merely because the warehouse does not grace the landscape as attractively as residents who live nearby would like it to. All uses should have equal protection under the zoning law.

Thought

Today I want to say a word about the Church. But I want to assure you that what you read here will be the best of almost any particular church. Sometimes someone will say "The Church is full of hypocrites, people who pretend they believe one way but live another."

There is no way to deny that accusation. It is true. I know of myself. Indeed, one might reckon among the chief of hypocrites: for week after week I preach about a Way of Life that I continually struggle and fail to live up to.

Jack Anderson Tracking Down a Rumor Source

WASHINGTON - The smear technique - spreading harmful and unsubstantiated gossip about a political enemy - has been a standard feature of Washington life since the early days of the Republic. In Jefferson's day, the practice was to slander an adversary in the public prints with a letter signed with a pseudonym. A century and a half later, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover smeared Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. with malicious reports on his sex life.

Fortunately, it's enough for a round trip to the end of the line and back to the pump.

Angle and Walters Takes More Than 'Trust Me'

WASHINGTON (NEA) - For better or for ill, the debate over the SALT II treaty continues to focus heavily on the verification issue - the ability of the United States to guard against Soviet cheating. Skeptics inside the Senate and outside have long recognized that neither the Senate nor the American public will buy an arms limitation pact that depends for its success upon trust in Soviet willingness to comply.

The Lighter Side Autos That Run On SALT

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) - After watching his standby gasoline rationing plan come up empty in the House, President Carter now is standing by to see what happens to the SALT II treaty in the Senate. Defeat of the rationing plan prompted the president to challenge Congress to devise its own allocation formula. Bad strategy, that. Congress has adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward rationing. Wait and see if the country runs completely out of gasoline. If the supply does dry up, then some sort of allocation system may be forthcoming.

Wings of Morning Pray for the Sick; It Is a Factor In Healing

By CLIFF SIMPSON
In the bright sunlight of noon-time as well as in the long dark watches of the night. We pray for healing of body, mind, and spirit that each of us may soon again return to the world of health. We rejoice to know that we belong to you, that we are here now working out your plan for us. Accept our prayer of gratitude for your healing that comes to us through the skill of the doctor, the diligence of the nurse, the ministry of the hospital, the healing power in our own bodies, our faith in our love, the effective working of drugs, the scalpel of the surgeon, the prayers and love of family and friends, and through the remembrances of letters, flowers, and visits. Thank you, Father, now for the process of healing, and thank you, Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

Managers Plan Whales Program

MANCHESTER - The Unitarian Universalist Society: East will present a program about whales Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Community Y, 78 N. Main St. Don Sinesi, co-founder and president of the Connecticut Cetacean Society, will speak and sing about protecting whales, dolphins and porpoises. He has performed in the U.S. and Canada on radio and television in concerts. AS a member of The Morgans, he has recorded two albums with a third in the works. The group has performed sea songs, Irish songs and North American folk songs at many save the whale concerts and rallies.

To Appear Sunday

Ted Pampeyan will accompany himself in an informal musical program Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at Trinity Covenant Church in Manchester. Pampeyan, a graduate of Fuller Theological Seminary, uses his "casual folk" style to communicate Christian truth. A serious throat operation several years ago left Pampeyan unable to speak or sing for more than a month. He says it was during that time that his life was changed when he realized his need of Christ. The public is invited.

Jubilee Sunday Slated

MANCHESTER - Center Congregational Church will observe Jubilee Sunday tomorrow morning giving 140 Jubilee Club members (persons who have been members of a Christian church for 10 years or more) an opportunity to be "pinned" with a white carnation. It is anticipated that 13 new members of the club will be among those pinned during the ceremony after worship. They are Roland Brandt, Katherine Burr, Richard Carpenter, Norman Clark, Alfred House, Jane Galeucia, Virginia House, Keith Leslie, Mac Morrison, Lillian Tedford, Elizabeth Thrall, Frederick Thrall and Emma Von Hone. In addition to celebrating a cumulative total of 7,850 years of church membership on Sunday, church members are looking forward to the 20th annual meeting of the entire membership of the church Tuesday at 7 p.m., following coffee and dessert.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

By Eugene Brewer
In view of the enormous issues at stake, the spiritual complacency of most "Christians" is appalling. By faith we understand that Jesus is finite and this world must ultimately disintegrate. 2 Peter 3:10-13. By faith (Romans 10:17) we understand that our existence does not cease with death, or even with the dissolution of this physical realm. This same faith has us of two eternal realities - with and without God. It further informs us that God has lovingly interposed his Son's life to remove the onus of sin, thus providing a way of being with him eternally. And that faith directs us to justification in Christ and service to God and man. How, then, can we be indifferent and unconcerned? Time is fleeting! Life is uncertain! Death is sure! Judgment is inevitable! Eternity is forever!

Water Flushing Slated

MANCHESTER - The town's Water Department will be flushing water mains in the East Center Street area next week.

Flushing will be done on East Center Street southwest between Boulder Road and Porter Street to Sleep Hollow Road.

The department then will flush mains on Wellman Road and Grandview Street.

There may be discoloration of water and reduced pressure during the flushing.

If water appears discolored, the homeowner should try to avoid using it until it clears. This will prevent rust and sediment from being brought into the home's system.

If sediment does get into a home's hot water tank, the homeowner should wait until the water clears and then open the faucet at the bottom of the tank to drain the collected material, which will settle at the bottom. Also, if a load of wash is done during the period of discolored water, the load should be done again after the water clears. Four ounces of cream of tartar should be added to help clean any discoloration of the clothing.

Ms. Leonard said she asked an English student who read the book about what impression it gave and the student said that despite all the pranks there was nothing wrong because "most people don't get caught anyway," she said.

She said she doesn't deny that circumstances depicted in this book exist.

But, she said young persons should not be subjected to this "degrading view of life, especially in our school system."

"This is the type of reading material that used to be read on the sly and if the teacher caught you at it, she would have confiscated such trash without question," she said.

EHHS Parent Seeks To Ban Three Books

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD - A local parent has asked the Board of Education to ban three high school English books which she said "belittle family life, parents and moral values of our society."

Camilie Leonard of 74 Arnold Drive said the board should ban the books "Go Ask Alice," "The Pigman" and "My Darling My Hamburger" from a high school English course.

Ms. Leonard also said courses such as the Living and Learning course at East Hartford High School use these books.

She said "My Darling My Hamburger" is a book about two sophomores who are dating each other and "neither boy nor girl has anything good to say about the parents; they drink beer and smoke throughout the story."

In the book, the girl becomes pregnant and gets an abortion after the boy refuses to marry her and "so on ad nauseum," she said.

She said "Go Ask Alice" depicts life "at its basest and is calculated to arouse sexuality."

"The Pigman" promotes vandalism and contains directions on how to make a bomb blow up the school bathroom, she said.

She said the book also promotes "extortion, lies, beer, smoking and name calling" and "displays adults in a negative way."

Ms. Leonard said she asked an English student who read the book about what impression it gave and the student said that despite all the pranks there was nothing wrong because "most people don't get caught anyway," she said.

She said she doesn't deny that circumstances depicted in this book exist.

If the Price Isn't Right

Build It Yourself

By BETTY RYDER

Lifestyle Editor

If you're window shopping and see something you want, but can't afford, do what Jim Varney did—build it.

Jim, who repairs computers for IBM in Hartford, was intrigued when he and his wife, Gail, saw a huge bedroom set in a furniture store.

"It was just great, but so was the price tag," he said.

"I looked it over carefully and later went back and took a couple of photographs of it, not leaving anymore to memory than necessary."

In his workshop at his home at 146 N. School St., Manchester, Jim spent more than 200 hours recreating the set he had seen.

The massive four poster bed is made of tulip wood. There are no nails except the brackets connecting the foot and headboards. The rest is glued piece by piece and sanded into shape.

Varney has also completed a night stand which took about 20 to 25 hours.

All the wood is with three coats of polyethylene.

Gail, a medical secretary for Dr. C. W. Wickerham in Manchester, lends a hand with some of the sanding.

"The dresser we are completing is 6 1/2 feet long and 7 feet tall," Jim said. "It will have a huge mirror attached to the poles on either side."

Woodworking comes naturally. His dad, Leslie Varney, 70, used to be a carpenter for Hartman Tobacco in the Varney's two-family house was built in 1897. Changes had been made through the years and now Jim has it about where he wants it—8 rooms with 2 baths plus a three-room apartment.

"Our bedroom was once two rooms, but I made it into one large one which, of course, can easily accommodate the huge bedroom set," he said.

Building furniture from your own patterns is quite a feat, but Jim spends many of his at-home hours in the workshop, calipers in hand.

"I'm doing it free hand all the way," he said.

In the family room, which the Varneys share with their two children, Lisa, 13, and James, 3, Jim has constructed a 10-foot long bar made from a 600 pound of pine wood. It is topped with silver dollars which are secured by many coats of varnish.

In the kitchen of the Varney home, Jim has constructed special cupboard shelves. "When you pull out a drawer, you can't always see everything it contains. So, I made vertical pull-out shelves so you can see just what you've got."

Viewing her "Paul Bunyon" bedroom set, Gail said, "I'm proud."

"He's a very talented man. He can do anything. He has the attitude 'if you try you can't go too far wrong.'"

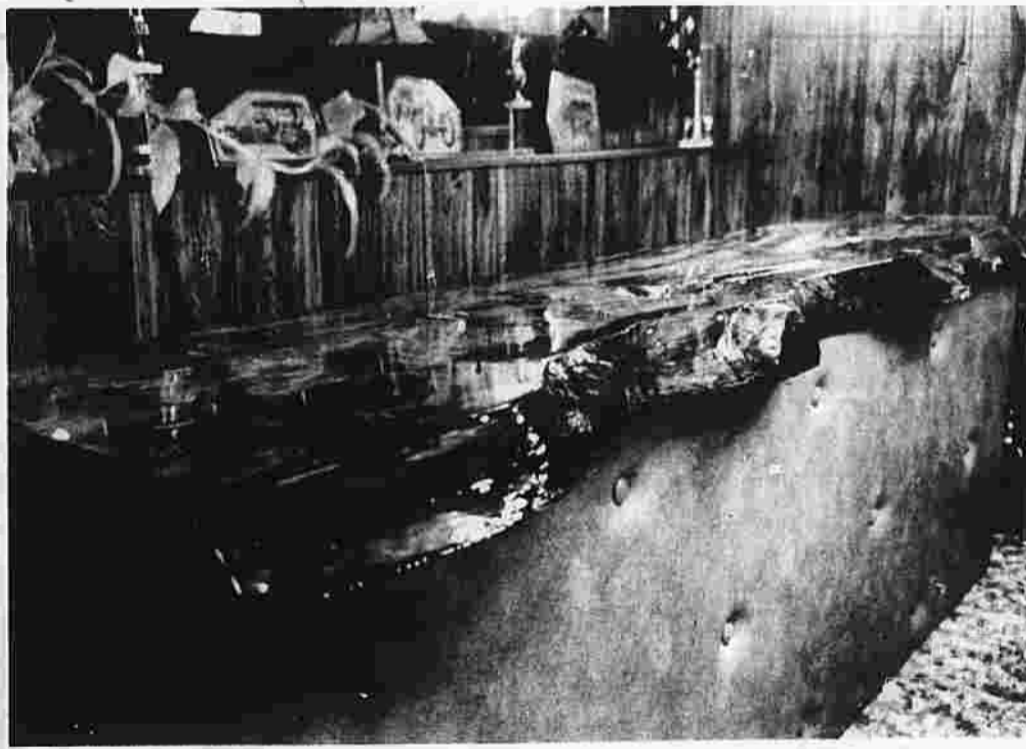

Gail's obviously right. The bedroom set they saw in the store cost $3,000. Jim figures his will cost him under $1,000.

Bill Sets Work Reforms

HARTFORD (UPI) - Mindful of one of the hotter issues of last year's gubernatorial campaign, the Democrat-controlled House Friday approved a bill to reform the selection of architects and engineers for state projects.

But Republicans, outnumbered more than 2-1 by Democrats in the lower chamber, said the measure which is headed for the governor's desk amounted to a whitewash.

State leasing and construction awards became an explosive issue during last year's campaign when Gov. Ella Grasso fired state Administrative Services Commissioner Daniel MacKinnon.

The bill approved by the House Friday sets up a "design professional services selection panel" within the DAS. Five members would be from within the department and the sixth member would come from the agency involved in the project.

After advertising for state project bids, the panel would recommend three firms to the commissioner for construction projects worth more than $100,000.

The commissioner would then decide what firm was the most qualified and negotiate a contract.

The Properties Review Board would have 30 days to review the commissioner's decision and could either approve or reject the contract.

Minimum Gas Buy Urged

HARTFORD (UPI) - Rep. Anthony Moffett, D-Conn., said Friday if he had Gov. Ella Grasso's job, he would immediately move to prevent long lines at gas pumps by forcing motorists to make minimum purchases.

"I would go for the minimum purchase immediately," Moffett said, adding that Mrs. Grasso should consider doing the same. "I think she should do anything she can to get the minimum purchase."

Moffett's unsolicited advice met a cool reception from the governor's office.

"She sees no need for mandatory measures at this time," Mrs. Grasso's press secretary Larry deBeauvoir said. "She's said that before."

Fresh from a nationally televised interview in Washington, Moffett met for more than an hour behind closed doors at the Capitol Friday morning with legislators, administration officials and gasoline industry representatives.

After the meeting, Moffett, who is contemplating a run for the U.S. Senate in 1980, told reporters the time has come to take the energy crisis seriously.

"I think we need to have a real sense of urgency," he said.

Moffett has proposed a federal plan that would require motorists to buy at least $5 worth of gas each time they stop at a gas station.

News For Senior Citizens

Hi! Well, while you're reading this column, our Big Week is over for another year... We begin on Tuesday, and in the afternoon about 60 members participated in our bowling tournament...

Wednesday was our Big Day, and we honored volunteers. Gloria praised them for all their wonderful help and told some 100 volunteers that next Wednesday they will be treated to a special dinner here at the center...

The afternoon ended on a super note with our very talented "Sunshiners" who put on one of their fabulous shows, and everyone enjoyed them immensely, and we thank them very much.

Thursday was the day of our trip to dogwood country for some, while others attended our lunch and played a few games of bingo.

Friday night was our setback and military whist games at St. Bridget's Hall, and we'll tell you how that went in Wednesday's column.

We keep reminding you folks about our need for donations for our furnishing and equipment fund, and although we are getting some very nice responses...

At this time we have organized a committee to plan various ways to produce more money, and have what they hope will be a super tag sale Saturday June 23 in the parking lot at the Green school.

Also, once again I could use more men to help us around the Green school. We're busy working both inside and out on the windows, so how about dropping by Monday morning around 9 a.m. and give us that much needed help.

Here's some news for you golfers. Joe has made arrangements for you to play along with seniors at the Manchester Country Club Wednesday, May 30. Check with Joe for more details.

This coming Monday is a busy one. At 8:15 a.m. we will have the Men's Senior Golf Tourney at the East Hartford course. Starting times will be the same as they would have been last Monday.

Don't forget that this Wednesday evening, parts of our "Hooray for Hollywood" will be shown on the Channel 3 P.M. Magazine Program at 7:30 p.m. They regret that because of some problems with one large roll of film that they will not be able to show as much as they wanted to.

Monday: Hot dog, baked beans, corned beef, gelatin, topping, beverage. Tuesday: minestrone, turkey salad sandwich, date muffin, beverage.

Sewer Contracts Signed

VERNON — Contracts for two sewer installation projects, long awaited by residents, were signed this week by Mayor Frank McCoy. Contract 20, for the Glenstone Drive and Evergreen Road areas, was signed with Glenn Construction Corp. of Manchester, in the amount of $1,194,173.50.

This contract covers Meadowlark Drive, Inland Drive, Temple Drive and also will include the elimination of an easement matter, Contract 19, which will sever the Troutstream Drive and Deerfield Drive areas, has been advertised for bid and the bids will be opened on June 15.

The mayor also said that with the signing of a license agreement with the State of Connecticut Department of Transportation, and the settlement of an easement matter, Contract 19, which will sever the Troutstream Drive and Deerfield Drive areas, has been advertised for bid and the bids will be opened on June 15.

Notes Off the Cuff
Forgotten man of baseball has to be Brian Doyle who filled in so admirably last season at second base for the New York Yankees when Willie Randolph was hurt and performed like a seasoned veteran, especially in the American League play-off against Boston and in the winning World Series against Los Angeles. Doyle, the younger brother of Denny, one-time second baseman with Boston, has yet to have his name appear in a Yankee boxscore this season in any capacity. All he's been doing waiting for a chance to play is picking up splinters on the bench. When substitute umpire Les Pratt lost his cool last Thursday night in Boston during the rhabarb with Rick Y. Burleson of the Red Sox he showed lack of the most important part of an umpire - his composure. Any time an ump goes after a player, or manager, or spectator, he loses much self respect. The man in blue should be able to handle situations and should never lower himself to the same level as an enraged player, coach or manager. It will be interesting to see how the American League office handles the incident which found Burleson bumping Pratt after a called strike. Welcome back to the striking umpires who got what they wanted in dollars and cents, vacation time and $87 daily living expenses.

Dave Koen of the New England Whalers did not repeat as the most gentlemanly award winner in the World Hockey Association but it wasn't because he didn't carry the proper credentials. The veteran center spent just two minutes in the penalty box and furthered his reputation as a "clean" player. Winnipeg's Kent Nilsson supplanted Koen as the WHA's most gentlemanly performer for 1978-79 in the eyes of the voters. Speaking of hockey, former Whaler Danny Bolduc did all right in his rookie year with Detroit in the National League. So impressed with his play this season that the Whalers signed a four-year pact last week. This is the same fellow the Whalers elected not to use his his composure. Jumps Agree to Play Ball

NEW YORK (UPI) - After a three-month test of wills and endurance, the umpires settled their differences with the major leagues Friday and agreed to "play ball," ending a strike that has caused mass confusion and cries of "foul" from managers and players.

The new three-year agreement affords the umpires, who hope to return to work Saturday, a pay scale ranging from $22,000 to $50,000, marking a $4,000 raise at the lowest level and a $10,000 increase at the top. All umpires will be paid retroactive to May 11, the date on which substantial agreement on bargaining issues was reached.

In addition, umpires will get one full year of service will be entitled to a two-week vacation during the regular season. Per diem allowances and expense monies were hiked from $51 per day to $57 per day, with $5 increases planned over the next two years. Both leagues have agreed there will be no restriction against any lines of the 52 umpires who walked out of the strike rapidly.

"We are glad this situation is resolved," said National League President Charles Feeney of the agreement which was signed at 1:40 a.m. on Friday. "We are appreciative of the generally fine job that the substitute umpires did in most areas around the country." American League President Lee MacPhail added that each league would hire four additional umpires, bringing the total for both leagues to 60. Feeney and MacPhail were the only officials at the press conference. To satisfy team owners and league officials, Richie Phillips, attorney negotiator for the umpires, agreed to the elimination of a rotation system used to select umpires for World Series, championship series and All-Star games after 1981. Major league umpires then began to select umpires for special events on merit.

Also, the umpires promised MacPhail and Feeney of the National League there would be no further demands in the "immediate future." In Philadelphia where he held his own press conference, Phillips said, "basically we got what we went in for."

American League Umpire Al Clark said in Philadelphia, "we put all our confidence in Richie; we're sure he made us the best deal possible and will go from there."

Actually, problems with salary demands and expenses were settled earlier in the week and the last few days have been spent ironing out differences over assignment procedures and other "minor points," according to Bob Fishel, an assistant to MacPhail.

While the umpires have been picketing select stadiums around the nation, sandlot and minor-league umpires have been working in their place, touching off many protests and arguments. Managers and players who once cursed the regular umpires publicly expressed a need to settle the strike rapidly.

Among some minor points settled were spring training and post-season conditions and the major league players' pension plan. Salaries, based on service, will commence with $22,000 for a second-year umpire and $50,000 for an umpire with 20 or more years of service.

In his fifth year, an umpire will receive $28,000. In his 10th year, $38,000. In his 15th year, $48,000. Men in their first year of umpiring service will only receive one week of vacation and all scheduling of vacation time will be at the discretion of the league presidents.

Early morning showers forced curtailment of the majority of Friday's schoolboy sports slate. The result is an extra heavy slate for diamond nines in the closing week of the regular season.

The Enfield at Manchester baseball clash yesterday was postponed and will be played Tuesday. The Indians, 8-10 and in need of four wins to clinch the American League Wild Card (Thursday). Thursday is the qualifying deadline.

Fennell's tilt at Concord was postponed and will be played today in West Hartford at 3:30. The East Hartford High home date against Wethersfield was delayed and will be played Tuesday. The Hornets, co-CCIL leaders at 11-4 with Windham, also face Hall (Monday) and Cromwell (Wednesday).

The Cheney Tech at Cromwell baseball game was postponed and will be played Wednesday. The tournament-bound Beavers, 11-7, also face Coventry at home Tuesday. The Enfield at Manchester boys' tennis match was postponed until Tuesday while the Manchester boys' track meet against Hall and Simsbury at Pete Wigren Track, 8-10, was postponed until Tuesday. The 8-10 Indian tracksters have a showdown Tuesday at Wigren Track against Windham High with the victor in the victor's seat for the CCIL championship.

The East Catholic girls' softball game at Mercy High in Middletown is to be rescheduled. The Manchester at Enfield girls' softball game was rescheduled this morning. A win by the Indians would clinch the CCIL title for them.

Shaun Stanton of Manchester has been an outstanding defenseman with the Avon Old Farms School lacrosse team this season. A junior, Stanton has scored four goals, a high number for his position. Avon compiled a perfect 16-0 win-loss record.

Moving its record to 8-3 yesterday was the East Catholic boys' tennis team with a 6-1 win at the Manchester Racquet Club. Dave Shinn, Matt Barone, Rick Canasta and Mike Rondonone swept the doubles. East under a no-doubt scoring system, Shinn trailed, 2-4, in the third set before rallying.

Results: Shinn (EC) def. Racicoff 4-6, 6-3; Barone (EC) def. Luzzi 6-2, 6-4; Canasta (EC) def. Sullivan 6-2, 6-3; Rondonone (EC) def. LaPenta 6-2, 6-3; Browne/Daigle (EC) def. Smith/Simone 6-2, 6-3; McCann-Carr (SPI) def. Karpe-Maccaroni 6-2, 6-3; White-Pizzio (EC) def. Sullivan/LaPenta 6-2, 6-3.

Manchester High girls' tennis team stopped a four-match losing skid yesterday with a 7-0 whitewashing of Enfield High yesterday in Enfield. The triumph ups the Indians' log to 3-6 for the season. Judy Stoker and Joanne Weiss combined for a 6-0, 6-0 victory in doubles to highlight the Indian performance.

Results: Roth (M) WBF, Valentine (M) def. T. Arrowsmith 7-6, 6-2; Ziebart (M) def. Kasevich/Hallenbeck 6-1, 6-0; McCann-Carr (SPI) def. Weiss-Stoker (M) def. Selsky-Norris 6-0, 6-0; Apter-Headland (M) def. Kasevich/Hallenbeck 6-1, 6-0; McCann-Carr (SPI) def. Peabody-DeGrig 6-1, 6-0.

The award, which carries with it a $1,000 check, is presented by the NHL Broadcasters' Association and is co-sponsored by the Detroit Red Wings in memory of their late long time coach and general manager.

Short successfully talked Williams into coming out of retirement to manage the Senators for him in 1989 and be hired Martin to handle the Rangers at the end of 1973.

One of the elements that causes Short to hesitate about getting back into baseball, or even basketball for that matter, is the contingent liabilities or the multi-year contracts as they are more commonly known. "I say give free agents whatever the hell they want," says Short. "That's your business if you're the owner. I have no quarrel with that. But when you sign players to multi-year contracts and guarantee them a stipulated amount in the future, these salaries are contingent liabilities against the club. If the club can't meet that obligation later on, it becomes a contingent liability against the entire league and that isn't right. I say when you promise a player money in the future, put it in escrow. But that's never done."

"The way the strike structure is set up now in baseball and basketball it is completely out of control," Short says. "Conny Werblin, has always been a great believer in the

Ford Tops NBA Rookies

NEW YORK (UPI) - When Phil Ford found out he'd been selected by the Kansas City Kings, he cursed his luck, publicly stated he'd never play basketball in Missouri and equated the whole draft process with slavery.

"I doubt you'll see me in a Kansas City uniform next season," Ford said last year at the time of his selection. "My happiness is important and I can't see myself being happy in Kansas City. Slavery went out of style 100 years ago and I don't like being told I can live and work where I want to."

Now, after a season of great accomplishment, Ford has been named NBA Rookie of the Year for leading the Kings to their first divisional championship in 27 years.

Ford, the 1978 player of the year at the college level, was selected by Kansas City as the second overall pick in the 1978 draft. The North Carolina graduate finally ended a three-month stalemate with the Kings in late September by signing a five-year, million-dollar contract.

The NBA media panel of 66 voters was almost unanimous in its choice as Ford got 62 votes. The remaining four went to Chicago's Reggie Theus.

"Winning the award is the biggest honor I've ever had in my life," said Ford. "It's an honor that the people of Kansas City have accepted me and they have despite all the things that went on last summer."

Ford scored an average of 15.9 points per game, finished fourth in the league in assists (61) and fifth in steals (174). His 681 assists were the most by a rookie since Oscar Robertson dished off 680 for the Cincinnati Royals in 1964-65.

Ford also played 34.5 minutes per game to rank second on the team to All-Star guard Otis Birdsong. He had high games of 33 points against the world," said Kansas City Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons, who just last week was named the NBA's Coach of the Year.

Ford thus becomes the club's fourth player to receive Rookie of the Year honors. Maurice Stokes won the award in 1965-66 when the team played in Rochester, N.Y., Oscar Robertson topped the honor in 1960-61 and Jerry Lucas in 1963-64 after the franchise was moved to Cincinnati.

Poachers Story

A group of us were talking about poachers the other day, and it reminded me of something that happened many years ago on Long Island.

There was a great game warden named Charlie Weinberg, who patrolled large sections of Long Island, where a very close friend of mine lived. Charlie has since gone to that Great Preserve that God game wardens go to, but in his heyday, and during the time of the poacher, he was an untrusting, able and just warden.

Along with Charlie's regular duties of patrolling the fresh water ponds, and checking clambers and lobstermen for underized harvest, he was responsible for netting and transporting the ponds around the county, breeding stocks of largemouth bass, that were raised in two of the local reservoirs.

State funds for conservation were miserly, and Charlie had to gather and transport the fish with a large net, (required 4 to 6 men to drag) an open truck to carry the fish, a driver for the truck and other labor.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After 51 years of marriage, our father has left our mother! They've had their fights over the years but we never thought it would come to this.

Dad left mother for a 48-year-old nurse he met six years ago when he was in the hospital for a prostate operation. Now that this has come out, everybody is saying they knew about dad and this nurse all along. Dad is 79 and mother is 77. Mother is so humiliated that she hasn't been out of the house since dad left.

What do you think of this mess? How can we get dad to come to his senses and come back to mother? It's the talk of the town.

DISGRACED IN LONG ISLAND

DEAR DISGRACED: Stay out of it. And you needn't feel "disgraced." A person can disgrace only himself.

DEAR ABBY: Do all marriages go stale after 25 years? Ours has. My husband and I don't seem to have much to talk to each other about anymore. We used to talk about our kids, but now that they're grown and gone, we're out of conversation.

I have no major complaints, Abby, but the old excitement is gone. We watch a lot of television and read, and we do have friends, but when we're alone together it's dull. We even sleep in separate bedrooms now.

Is there some way to recapture that old magic? I don't expect him to chase me around the bedroom like he did 20 years ago, but we're much too young for rocking chairs. We still love each other, but...

THE SONG HAS ENDED

DEAR SONG: I highly recommend MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER. It's a weekend course in how to revitalize a hum marriage. It first came to my attention when several enthusiastic readers (some married over 40 years!) wrote to tell me that the experience had improved their marriages enormously!

I checked it out and found it to be a legitimate, church-sponsored program. Nothing kinky or far out. For more information, inquire at your church or synagogue.

DEAR ABBY: Among my acquaintances is a 66-year-old widow who has suddenly announced that a "distant cousin" has come from Canada to live with her.

She claims he is her age (the looks much younger) and recently lost his wife.

This friend says she feels much more secure with a man in the house. She owns her own home, they drive her car, and all he seems to do is drive her around and help with the household chores. She claims they share expenses, but I heard from a reliable source that her bills are still paid by HER personal check.

Her home has only two bedrooms. One she had converted into a sewing room. After her "cousin" moved in, I noticed that the sewing room is still a sewing room, which means he both shares her bedroom.

When people ask if they have plans for marriage, she laughs and says, "We are cousins!"

What do you make of this setup?

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I think every 66-year-old widow should be so lucky. Now, what's YOUR problem?

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 152 Laaky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Your Birthday

May 20, 1979

This coming year, much could come your way with very little effort on your part. Put it to good use and don't make the mistake of thinking that the source is unlimited.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your quest to acquire things for yourself you may completely ignore what is considered good taste, and display a touch of ostentatiousness. Learn more about yourself by sending for your new Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Unfortunately, you may show little respect for something nice that came to you quite easily. Consequently, you'll be so wasteful you'll lose it all.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You need outside interests for a change of pace today, but make certain you can afford that which you choose to do, and with whom you choose to do it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Motives that are too self-seeking will backfire today. To make matters worse, you may blame everybody else for your failure.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Using flattery to achieve your ends won't work out at all for you today. In fact, it could even make you appear foolish and absurd.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For some reason, you could feel indebted to someone to whom you really owe nothing. Others may try to point this out, but I doubt if you'll listen.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's important that you have a good and honest opinion of yourself so that you won't be hurt by someone else's action, nor try to strike back.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Move cautiously if undertaking any hobbies or projects today. Even though you feel creative, things may not turn out as well as you envisioned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone with whom you have no business being involved may appear extremely alluring and attractive to you today. All indications point to trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Wishful thinking could prevail over common sense today, prompting you to make some pretty foolish moves. Don't daydream.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Instead of trying to force your desires into action today, flow with the tide of events. Things will run a lot smoother.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Better keep your extravagant whims under lock and key today. You're liable to go so far overboard that your budget won't be able to recover.

With five spades to the jack, a duck will hold the defense to four tricks. If he started with four to the jack, the hand is hopeless. If West had led from king-jack the play of the queen will let South make 11 tricks. The play of a low spade will lead to loss of game and rubber.

Percentage favors rasing with the queen, but let's go back to the story about the horse.

South thinks like East. If East had not been dealt the king of spades, he would surely have led back a spade when he got in with the king of diamonds. His play of the club just had to be an effort to get his partner on lead. So thinker South ducks the spade and makes his contract.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

One of the classic old stories concerned the expert in finding lost horses who said, "I just try to decide where I would go if I were a horse."

South plays a low spade from dummy at trick one. East plays the 10. South wins and promptly loses the diamond finesse.

East returns a club to West's ace and now West leads the jack of spades. South knows West is smart enough to lead the jack from king-jack and it is up to South to decide just what he has done. If West started

WATERGATE ERA

Rip Torn (seated) as Richard Nixon and Lawrence Pressman as H.R. Halderman confer in the White House Oval Office in "Blind Ambition," a major eight-hour dramatic special based on John Dean's best-seller of that title and his wife Maureen's book "Mo," May 20-23, on CBS.

TV Dial-ogue

KERWIN II — Is Brian Kerwin who played Gideon on "The Chisholms" an older brother of James Kerwin from "James at 16"? What will Brian be doing now that "The Chisholms" is off the air? — L.T. Krakow, Charles City, Iowa

The two Kerwins are unrelated. You can see Brian Kerwin in another CBS project, "Lahaina." The film, to be shot in Hawaii, stars Buddy Ebsen as a famous attorney with a reputation for defending a mob figure. He goes to Hawaii to find his son, who was believed to be involved in narcotics traffic. Kerwin plays the son. What would Barnaby Jones think of all this? Also, you may get to see

Brian in the role of Gideon Chisholm again. Since the miniseries did so well in the ratings, CBS is strongly considering making another batch of the oaters.

CONRAD CLAN — I know Robert Conrad has an older daughter who appeared with him on television several times. But how many kids does he have altogether? Also, I've seen him listed as 5-foot-10, but he can't be that tall? Is he? — Libby Loof, Hartford, Conn.

He has five children, ranging in age from 7 to 26. Conrad recently said, "my bio still lists me as 5-10 and 165 pounds, and if you believe that, you believe in Santa Claus." I'd say he's about 5-foot-6.

ABC Sportscaster Jackie Stewart, three-time World Driving Champion, has been renamed to drive the pace car for the start of this year's Indianapolis "500." Stewart will lead the 33-car field for the 63rd running of the race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

For the first time ever, a live electronic camera will be mounted in the pace car as Stewart leads the field through the parade lap in formation. The camera will focus on the field behind Stewart.

MASKS

By Peter Lehmann

Don't be fooled by me,
Don't be fooled by the face I wear
For I wear a thousand masks
That I am afraid to take off—
And none of them is me.

Pretending is an art
That is second nature with me,
For God's sake, don't be fooled.
I give the impression that I am secure
That all is sunny and unruffled with me
Within as well as without,
That confidence is my name
And coolness is my game.

That the water is calm and I am in command,
And that I need no one,
But don't believe me, please.
My surface may seem smooth
But my surface may seem smooth
But my surface is a mask.
Beneath this lies no complacency;
In this dwells the real me
In confusion, in fear, and aloneness.

But I hide this,
I don't want anyone to know it.
I panic at the thought of my weakness and the fear of being exposed.
That is why I frantically create a mask to hide behind—
A nonchalant, sophisticated facade

To help me pretend,
To shield me from the glance that knows.
But — such a glance is precisely my salvation,
My only salvation,
And I know it;

That is, if it is followed by acceptance, by love.
It is the only thing that will assure me
Of what I can't assure myself—
That I am worth something.
But I don't tell you this.

I don't dare.
I am afraid to.
I am afraid
That your glance
Will not be followed by acceptance and love.
I am afraid

That you will think less of me,
That you will laugh at me,
And your laugh will kill me.
I am afraid
That deep down I am nothing,
That I am no good,
And that you will see this and reject me.
So, I play my game, my desperate game,
With a facade of assurance without,
And a trembling child within.
And so begins the parade of masks.
And my life becomes a front.

I idly chatter to you
In the suave tones of surface talk.
I tell you everything of what is really nothing

And nothing of what is really everything,
Of what is crying within me.
So, when I am going through my routine,
Do not be fooled by what I am saying,
By what I would like to be able to say
What for survival I need to say
But what I can't say.
I dislike hiding, honestly.
I dislike the superficial game I play.
I like to be spontaneous and genuine, and me.
But you've got to help me.
You've got to hold out your hand
Even when it's the last thing that I seem to want.
Only you can wipe away from my eyes
The blank stare of breathing death.
Only you can call me into aliveness.
Each time you are kind and gentle and encouraging,
Each time you try to understand
Because you really care.
My heart begins to grow wings,
Very small wings,
Very feeble wings,
But wings.

With your sensitivity and sympathy
And power of understanding
You can breath life into me—
I want you to know that.
I want you to know how important you are to me,
How you can be the creator of this person
That is me
If you choose to.
Please choose to.
You alone can break down the wall behind which I tremble,
You alone
Can remove my mask.
You alone
Can release me
From my shadow world of panic and uncertainty,
From my lonely person.
Don't pass me by.
It will not be easy for you:
A long conviction of worthlessness builds strong walls.
The closer you come to me
The more blindly I strike back.
I fight the very thing
I cry out for,
But I am told that love is stronger than walls
And in this lies my hope.

Please try to beat down these walls with firm hands
But with gentle hands,
For I am very sensitive.
"Who am I?"
You may wonder.
I am someone you know very well
I am every man you meet,
I am every woman you meet.
I am — YOU.
