Energy
At a Glance

Washington: The Council on Wage and Price Stability said Wednesday gasoline prices have increased more than 18 cents a gallon this year and accused a major oil company — Amerada Hess of New York — of violating President Carter's price guidelines, adding that several other firms also appear to have exceeded the standards.

Washington: An Energy Department lawyer told a congressional hearing Wednesday his investigation and others into oil company price frauds were "sabotaged" by high energy officials.

Washington: Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Wednesday he will seek an extension of the mandatory allocation designed to give farmers all the diesel fuel they need after July 31.

Caracas, Venezuela: Venezuela's energy and mines minister said Wednesday OPEC may decide to return to a single price system for oil at its June ministerial meeting.

Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates: Abu Dhabi's oil minister said Wednesday major oil companies are manipulating the energy crisis to reap profits at the expense of developing nations, and raised the possibility such firms might be blacklisted.

Brussels: The European Common Market Wednesday lodged a protest with the United States against the U.S. decision to subsidize imports of refined oil products from May 1 to Sept. 1.

Economy
At a Glance

Washington: A key government index used to predict future trends in the economy plunged 3.3 percent in April, the biggest monthly drop ever, the Commerce Department announced today. It said a major cause of the sharp decline was an abnormally large drop in the average work week caused by the fact that Easter and Passover holidays and a trucking strike all fell during the April survey week.

New York: Announcement of an April trade deficit of $2.15 billion sent stock prices plunging Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange where the Dow Jones industrial average lost 10.39 points, to close at 822.16.

Washington: Higher oil prices and an increased demand for fuel-efficient foreign cars helped widen the U.S. foreign trade deficit to $2.15 billion in April, the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

Evanson, Ill.: An annual Northwestern University job survey Wednesday indicated the job market for college graduates this year is very good — especially for those with technical degrees — despite inflation and predictions of economic recession.

Detroit: United Auto Workers union officials and employees at Chrysler Corp.'s Hamtramck assembly plant Wednesday called plans to shut down the 69-year-old factory "short-sighted and unnecessary" and vowed to fight the move.

Washington: In a series of moves designed to help the small saver, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board Wednesday raised the maximum interest on passbook accounts in savings and loans associations from 5.25 to 5.5 percent and approved home mortgages with variable rates nationwide.

Women Finish
Tops at MCC

MANCHESTER — A Vernon woman and an Ellington woman have earned the top two positions in the 1979 graduating class at Manchester Community College, it was announced Wednesday.

Adella L. Ugolik of 4 John Drive, Vernon, is the valedictorian. Annette M. Ouellet of 93 Wapping Wood Road, Ellington, is the salutatorian. Both women earned 4.0, or "A," averages in their work at the college. Mrs. Ugolik was named valedictorian because she earned more of her credits at MCC than did Mrs. Ouellet.

Mrs. Ugolik began her studies at MCC in 1970 on a part-time basis. Family responsibilities and employment restricted the time she had for extracurricular activities at the college. However, she took part in a college-sponsored income tax clinic that held last semester to help individuals who could not pay for assistance.

Besides being named valedictorian, Mrs. Ugolik has received other recognition for her academic achievement. Recently, she was presented an award by the Social Science and Public Service Division of the College for earning the highest grades among all students taking social service courses at the college. She has also been accepted into Eta Mu Lambda Honors Fraternity, a college-sponsored group which bestows honors upon students and others who have made "significant or substantial contributions to the intellectual life or academic curriculum of the college."

She will be graduated from the General Studies program with an associate in science degree which she will receive in graduation ceremonies at 5:30 p.m. Friday. She plans to return to MCC for a few more courses next fall and, eventually, to continue her studies toward a baccalaureate degree.

Mrs. Ugolik and her husband, Richard, have three children. Mrs. Ouellet began her career at MCC in January, 1977 as a full-time student. Her only extra-curricular activity was membership in the Poetry Workshop, which gave her an opportunity to write poems and read them to others interested in poetry. Two of her poems were published in different issues of "Shapes," the College's literary magazine.

Mrs. Ouellet will receive an associate in science degree when she is graduated from the Liberal Arts and Science program Friday. Having completed her degree requirements last August, she already is taking courses at the University of Connecticut where she is majoring in English. After earning her bachelor's degree, she may continue her studies for an advanced degree in library science.

Mrs. Ouellet and her husband, Andre, have three children.

The commencement ceremonies for about 775 students will take place at the Band Shell on the main campus if the weather is favorable. In case of inclement weather, the ceremonies will be held at Clarke Arena of Manchester High School.

State Sen. Marcella Fahey, a 1975 graduate of MCC, will deliver the commencement address.

U.S. Judge Voids
Inflation Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge ruled today that President Carter has overstepped his constitutional powers by using economic sanctions to enforce his wage-price guidelines.

"President Carter has exceeded the authority conferred on him by the Constitution by seeking to control incomes and thereby prices through the procurement power," U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker said in a 24-page opinion.

He granted a motion by the AFL-CIO and 10 unions that the crucial part of Carter's anti-inflation program be voided.

Parker conceded in his ruling "that inflation is a vexing and festering domestic problem."

But he continued, "The efforts of the president, however well-intentioned and commendable they may be, must be predicated upon executive power conferred by the constitution or by a congressional enactment pursuant to the Constitution."

Under the Carter guidelines, companies that violate the 7 percent annual wage limit are barred from government contracts worth $5 million or more.

The AFL-CIO, and other unions, have maintained that the sanctions turned Carter's "voluntary" program into a mandatory set of controls, and Parker agreed.

"In summary, the defendant's (government) assertion that the guidelines are somehow voluntary has little merit and upon close analysis must fall," Parker said.

At his news conference Tuesday, Carter reaffirmed support for the program which limits annual increases in wages and benefits for workers to 7 percent, saying more than 85 percent of contracts negotiated since the guidelines were announced fell within the limits. Economic advisers say they believe, however, the recent pact between United Airlines and 18,500 striking Machinists and Aerospace Workers union members exceeded the guidelines.

Among other unions immediately affected by the outcome are the United Rubber Workers union, whose 8,200 members at Uniroyal have been on strike at 12 plants in a dispute based primarily on the company's insistence — under government pressure — that it adhere to the guidelines.

Under the president's program, companies that violate the 7 percent standards face being barred from all federal contracts worth $5 million or more.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has consistently called the guidelines unfair and the enforcement illegal.

Court Upholds Right
To Close Burnham St.

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Since Manchester has spent $2 million to build a road "infinitely better" than alternate routes in South Windsor, it has the right to dead-end Burnham Street.

That's what Superior Court Judge Mary Fitzgerald Aspell said in her decision issued Wednesday afternoon.

The case involved a suit by the Town of South Windsor to prevent the Town of Manchester from closing Burnham Street.

South Windsor Town Attorney Richard Rittenband said, "I think it was a bad decision." But, he said this morning that no decision has been made yet about whether to appeal. Rittenband represented South Windsor in the case. Manchester was represented by William Shea, assistant town attorney.

Manchester had sought to close the east-west street to through traffic as concession to residents on the street.

The concession was made during negotiations with the residents about the nearby Buckland Industrial Park, which includes the huge J.C. Penney Co.'s catalog distribution center.

Manchester town officials met several times with the future neighbors of the park to discuss what had to be done. The town agreed to close Burnham Street, a residential area, to through traffic by dead-ending it near its intersection with Croft Drive.

The town's plans for the industrial park included a new north-south road through the park. This route could accept some of the traffic that had used Burnham Street and would connect to Tolland Turnpike, another east-west route.

South Windsor, however, opposed the closing of Burnham Street. It said such a step would lead to increased traffic on some of its roads, especially Clark Street and Pleasant Valley Road.

These roads are not designed to handle the heavy traffic that might develop once Burnham Street closed. South Windsor said the closing of Burnham Street should not occur before the J.C. Penney Co.'s building opens in 1981.

Both towns presented their arguments during a seven-day trial that started in late March. The trial included much detailed, redundant and sometimes dull testimony about the effects of the proposed road closing.

Judge Aspell rejected South Windsor's arguments in her ruling. She said Manchester will spend about $2 million to build the road through the industrial park, and the road will be "infinitely better for traveling than Burnham Street. Clark Street and Pleasant Valley Road."

She said the road through the industrial park probably will get most of the traffic that now uses Burnham Street.

"It (Manchester) has considered the wishes of its residents and at the same time has presented South Windsor with a viable alternative to Burnham Street," she wrote.

She also said that South Windsor's concerns about traffic increases and safety hazards on its streets are "purely speculative."

Also, the closing of Burnham Street was part of the plan of development of the industrial park. If that is altered, the sale of bonds for the project could be jeopardized, she said. The town also could face suit from residents of the Burnham Street area, she said.

Jay Giles, Manchester's director of public works, said the town would not close Burnham Street until intersection work is completed for the road through the industrial park. That should take about a month, he said.

Plane Near Stall
When It Crashed

CHICAGO (UPI) — An American Airlines DC10 was approaching stall speed as it plunged to the ground near O'Hare International Airport in the worst airplane crash in the nation's history, federal investigators say.

In a related development, Cook County Medical Examiner Robert J. Stein said late Wednesday there were "definitely some infant remains" found at the crash site, raising the total number of victims to 274. An airspeed indicator recovered from the charred remains of Flight 191 showed the plane was approaching stall speed, between 127 and 147 knots, at the time it crashed. Bob Buckhorn, spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board, said Wednesday.

The NTSB likely will conclude today its witness interviews as well as the crash site phase of its investigation, Buckhorn said. About 150 interviews had been conducted by Wednesday.

Now, at Last, There Is Hope

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — David and Patricia Hansen now share tears of joy, just as they shared the long months of doubt and agony. Now, at last, there is hope.

The hope sprang Wednesday from a team of skilled surgeons at the University of Utah Medical Center. Their report was simple. The almost-magical words said the condition of the Hansen twins — Siamese twins who had been joined at the skull — were "critical, but stable."

In a terribly complicated, 16½-hour operation, the surgeons had separated the 18-month-old girls, Lisa and Elisa. For the first time, the infants slept in separate cribs.

They are frightening words, "critical but stable." In most cases, that's not now. Now those words meant "alive." They meant "bucking incredible odds." The chances of such a birth are one in every 2.5 million. The chance of both twins surviving separation, until now, has been nil. Social worker Erika Forte described Hansen, a 23-year-old Ogden, Utah, grocery clerk and his 21-year-old wife, when they heard the news:

"There were tears of laughter and joy," she said, "and words really can't describe it. They didn't say anything, but their faces said it all."

The doctors were cautious. "No one should believe that we're out of the woods," said Dr. G. Richard Lee, dean of the University of Utah Medical College. "The next several weeks are just as important as what happened up to now." There will be many, many more operations for the girls, doctors said, before they will be able to lead a normal life.

"We have only gone one step, and there are many more steps," Dr. Stephen Minton, a pediatrician who assisted in the operation that began Tuesday, said after surgery was completed Wednesday.

Minton said the girls had shared a small portion of their brains as well as a single skull and many blood vessels.

And, he said, it will be weeks before specialists know if the babies suffered any brain damage.

Minton said the team of doctors that has been treating the babies since they were born October 18, 1977, first believed the twins had separate brains. But the surgery showed a small joined area in the posterior part of the organs.

"The majority of the brain was relatively easy to separate. There was one area that was conjoined, but the surgeons were able to handle that," he said.

"There are several functions it affects. Some emotions, smell and so on, are located there. We don't know the effect yet."

"The girls tolerated the procedure well," Minton said of the operation. "However, we are realistic. We still have many problems to face in the post-operative period, and they are extremely critical right now."

And Minton expressed his own feelings: "I want them to be as normal as possible. That's our goal. I love them."

Bicyclist Reaches Colorado

MANCHESTER - Gary Marchuck of Eldridge Street is still making good progress in his bicycle trip across the country, his mother, who also lives in Manchester, reports. It will be four weeks ago Monday that Gary boarded his 10-speed bicycle and started out alone to keep a promise to himself. Gary was seriously injured in an automobile accident less than two years ago and one of his legs was broken in six places.

Masons for 50 Years

Jews To Observe Shavuot

MANCHESTER - The Jewish Holiday of Shavuot or Feast of Weeks will be observed today at sundown and continue tomorrow and Saturday. The holiday follows seven weeks after the first day of Passover. It is from this fact that the name Feast of Weeks is derived. It is also referred to as Pentecost, indicating 50 days after the first day of Passover. Shavuot is the anniversary of the giving of the Ten Commandments to the Israelites on Mount Sinai. This was the second most important event

Housing Code Panel Dusts Off Rulebook

MANCHESTER - It's time for the town's Housing Code Enforcement Committee to dust off its regulations and rulebook. The little-used committee will meet next week to hear an appeal filed by a Birch Street property owner. The owner, attorney Anthony Gryk, is appealing a Health Department order that new shingles be installed at 33 Birch St. The department, while doing routine housing inspections in the area last March, ordered new shingles for the Birch Street home. Gryk, however, has appealed that order, and the appeal will be heard when the committee meets next Thursday at 2 p.m. The Health Department said that the existing shingles are deteriorated and need to be replaced. Gryk said the need to replace shingles does not constitute a health code violation. He said the Health Department's order is unnecessary and the lack of new shingles does not affect the living condition within the home. The Housing Code Enforcement Committee hears appeals of proposed corrections of housing code violations. The committee meets only when such appeals are filed, and that occurs rarely. It last met during the summer of 1978 when several landlords opposed a Health Department order that screen doors and screen windows be installed. The committee ruled in favor of the landlords in that case because the apartments involved had air conditioning units.

President of MPOA Won't Run for Board

MANCHESTER - While one member of the Manchester Property Owners Association will run as an independent candidate for the Town Board of Directors, the group's president will not be running this year. Betty Sadoski, president of the MPOA, said Tuesday night that she will not be a candidate for a director's seat. She apparently had been approached by the Republican Party to run for the board, but she said she does not plan to. Mrs. Sadoski ran and lost two years ago for the town Treasurer's position. She frequently attends the Board of Directors meetings and often has criticized the board and the town administration. In the Synagogue, the book of Ruth is read in addition to the Ten Commandments. Ruth was a Moabite woman who accepted the Jewish faith and in time became the great-grandmother of King David. Holiday services will be held at Temple Beth Shalom tonight at 7:30, Friday at 10 a.m. and 8:15 p.m. (Confirmation Service), and Saturday at 10 a.m., at which time Yizkor (Memorial Prayers) will be recited.

School Repair Need High

VERNON - Noting there are a number of areas in the public schools that need repairing, Dr. George Prouty, chairman of the Board of Education's facilities committee, said Tuesday night that there is no money to do the work. "We're mighty concerned about all of the facilities," Dr. Prouty said. He suggested that the board target one school each year for repairs. Dr. Bernard Sidman, superintendent of schools, suggested that the committee go through each school and decide about how much it would cost to put each one in condition. He said some of the repairs are just cosmetic. Dr. Prouty then made a formal motion to ask the support of the concept of targeting schools for maintenance purposes and the board unanimously approved. Daniel Woodwich, board chairman, reminded the board that the townspeople had rejected referendum proposals for improvements to the auditorium. Fuel Conservation - Concerned about a predicted 20 percent cut in gasoline allocations for Vernon, Mason Thall, manager of Windsor Bus Service Inc., has asked the Board of Education to cut school bus mileage by 5 percent. Thall has the transportation contract for the Vernon schools. He said a 5 percent decrease in daily mileage would equal about 100 miles a day. He said this reduction would require drastic changes in bus routes and bus stops, and he offered several suggestions. He suggested increased walking distances, redistricting of schools, fewer bus stops, rescheduling

Second MAP Hearing Due

SOUTH WINDSOR - The Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing June 5 to continue consideration of the application of MAP Associates, developers of the Buckland Commons development, to commercial businesses and homes. The development, opposed by many residents at the first public hearing, would be built in Manchester and South Windsor. Because many persons wanted to speak at the first public hearing, PZC Chairman William Grace adjourned the meeting to a later date. Most residents felt the development would bring more problems than assets to the town. They asked the PZC to reject MAP's request for a zone change from RR to GC on property owned by Hartman Tobacco Co., George Gilbert and Leon and

Eileen Schweit

The zoning request is for two parcels of land. If approved, part of the commercial development would be located on 52.8 acres east of Wheeler Road and south of Smith Street, near the intersection of Wheeler and Smith roads. If approved, the housing portion would be on 126.63 acres, south of Deming Street and east of Ridge Road. The residential portions would require a zone change from AA-30 to A-30. Initially, MAP Associates - a Houston based firm - had proposed the commercial portion for Manchester and the residential portion for South Windsor. Some town officials, however, felt that South Windsor would get all of the problems from increased housing

Meeting Set on Bridge

COVENTRY - At the urging of the Coventry Town Council, the Columbia Board of Selectmen agreed Tuesday night to hold one more town meeting on a proposed appropriation for an engineering study for replacement of the Parker Street Bridge. The bridge, which links the two towns, collapsed nearly two years ago and has been the object of sharp conflict between Columbia and Coventry. Coventry residents who live in the Parker Street area have demanded that the bridge be replaced and that its capacity be increased. The Columbia residents would not approve the appropriation for a larger bridge because they don't want increased traffic and heavy trucks in the area. Columbia residents did vote to repair the bridge and to keep it at the five-lane limit. This is where the conflict has arisen. Engineering studies have stressed that repairing the bridge would mean a high liability. They recommend replacing it. Coventry officials have indicated they don't want to take the risk of repairing the bridge and have it collapse again. Columbia's first selectman, Joe Segda, said the bridge should be replaced but townspeople are worried about rising costs and are trying to save the town some

Goldman Tells Impact of South Windsor Budget Cut

SOUTH WINDSOR - The requested budget of $8,236,739 for 1979-80 must be adjusted before consideration is given to cuts necessary to meet the appropriation of $6,111,736. Dr. Robert W. Goldman, superintendent of schools, said in a memorandum to the Board of Education Tuesday. The proposed reduction amounts to $2,825,003. Dr. Goldman recommends reducing instructional programs for students by $13,624; complementary supportive services by $28,892; and operational functions by $45,737. To reach the $13,624 proposed reduction in instructional programs, Dr. Goldman is recommending a $5,550 cut in art; a $1,274 cut in music; and a $6,700 in other instructional programs. Cuts to reach the recommended $28,892 reduction in complementary supportive services are $300 in general education; $2,000 in educational media; $5,062 in athletics; $650 in improvement of instruction; and $1,000 in pupil services. Also, $12,000 in adult education; $500 in Board of Education; a total $9,400 in administration; and in the area of operational functions, $7,068 in interior maintenance and $413 in exterior maintenance, $2,426 in service supplies; $660 in security services; $7,470 in grounds and $27,700 in other services, a total of $68,523. Dr. Goldman said the reduction in the art department would mean elimination of a half-time position and a general cut in arts and supplies. In the music department it would mean a general reduction of $500, the elimination of musical instruments, and a cut of $2,000 in the audio-visual budget for the high school. In athletics the cut would mean that some equipment the board planned to buy would not be bought. In administration it would mean a cut in in-service programs, professional conferences, educational research, a reduction in community information publications, and supplies and equipment. The reduction in operational programs would stage curtains for Eli Terry and Ellsworth schools, tile for the Ellsworth School library and carpeting for the high school auditorium.

Other Editors Say

There are those in and out of the news media who feel, and with some justice, that the press has been getting its just desserts from the United States Supreme Court. Because the media has failed to clean its own house, the court has invoked stricter rules on the exercise of freedom of the press. The latest was a change in the libel laws to allow a complainant to inquire into a reporter's or editor's state of mind when preparing a story.
An example of irresponsible journalism which damages all the media took place in Wisconsin. A Milwaukee Sentinel published a two part story on the secrets of the hydro bomb, claiming to have secured its information from the public libraries. The stories were used despite the fact that the Justice Department prevented Progressive Magazine from using an article on the same subject, on national security grounds. The case remains in the courts.

Some would call the Sentinel's stories "enterprising journalism", more would call it irresponsible journalism. There are enough areas available to journalistic effort without chancing damage to our national security.

Nixon Could Have Curbed 1974 Oil Price Rise

WASHINGTON - Locked in the files of the Central Intelligence Agency is startling evidence that the Nixon administration could have stopped the disastrous oil price rise, which threw the Western world into an economic tailspin in 1974.
The secret papers identify the shah of Iran as the driving force behind the great oil gouge. Saudi Arabia repeatedly urged the Nixon administration to help persuade the shah to hold down oil prices.
Even after the increases had gone into effect, the Saudis offered to force prices back down by selling oil at public auction. Economists agree this would have broken the back of the international oil cartel.
Yet the Nixon crowd made no effort to bring the shah into line. This convinced the Saudis, according to the secret documentation, that the United States was conspiring with the shah to keep prices up.
The Saudi oil minister, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, complained in a secret message to Washington: "There are those among us who think that the U.S. administration does not really object to an increase in oil prices. There are even those who think that you encourage it for obvious political reasons and that any official position to the contrary is merely to cover that fact."
No one really doubted that the United States had the clout to stop the shah from pushing up oil prices. The shah not only depended upon the United States for military support, but he owed his very throne to the great oil obvious political reasons and that any official position to the contrary is merely to cover that fact."

No one really doubted that the United States had the clout to stop the shah from pushing up oil prices. The shah not only depended upon the United States for military support, but he owed his very throne to the great oil dollars in oil revenues and other funds through the Chase Manhattan bank. It was clearly the shah's favorite bank. When Kissinger was retired from government by the Democrats, he became a consultant to Chase Manhattan. He is also chairman of the bank's international advisory committee.

Kissinger told us that he was never involved in the Rockefeller's commercial activities until he left government and that his present services for the bank are purely advisory.
Kissinger acknowledged that he had not pressed the shah to lower oil prices at first and that the shah "talked a tough game." But Kissinger contended he tried to hold down prices by assuring that oil would be plentiful. "The shah kept his daily oil production at six million barrels. We never appreciated how important this was to us," said the former secretary of state.
At President Ford's behest, Kissinger urged the shah to join the Saudis in holding down prices. But this, he admitted, was long after prices already had quadrupled.
He confirmed that he had made "five or six" special trips to brief the shah and insisted his letters were not "obsequious" but merely "respectful."
In future columns, we will lay out the secret documentation.

Tsongas 'Mised' On Sanction Vote

WASHINGTON - Paul Tsongas had seemed a sensible fellow when he won that Senate seat from incumbent Ed Brooke in Massachusetts last November. He appeared aware of the facts of life, and there was a graciousness often lacking in politics in his generous view of Brooke's political problems.
So it just misses being incredible that the same Tsongas should have chosen to look ridiculous after the Senate voted, 75 to 19, to end economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

Tsongas, one of the leaders of the fight to keep sanctions, called the vote "misleading" because it "exaggerated" Senate sentiment on the issue. "Misleading" is "exaggerated" if Tsongas must have been mentally out to lunch when that landslide 75 to 19 tally was announced; he should live to see the day he could win an election by such an overwhelming margin.
In fact, the vote was a resounding defeat for the Carter administration, which insisted on ignoring the fact of life inherent in the tumult of 1,900,000 black and white Rhodesians to endorse the internal solution worked out by white Ian Smith and black leaders.
In his wisdom, the Senate declared in a "sense of the Congress" resolution that the Rhodesian elections were free and that the new multiracial government satisfied U.S. demands for black majority rules. Never mind Carter's plan to withhold recognition for the new government until it negotiated a settlement with the black terrorists of the "Patriotic Front." The Senate called on the president to report to Congress by June 30 on whether he found the elec-

Tsongas' objective is honorable. He wants blacks in South Africa to have the human and political rights now enjoyed only by whites. Perhaps he would press for legislation to bar American investment in that country. That would make a real statement. It also wouldn't have a chance of passage in Capitol Hill. Tsongas' only consolation would be that he tried, although he could find he'd lost some votes back home in the process.
I suggest that Tsongas revert to the cool objectivity of his election campaign. On Rhodesia and South Africa, he's preaching to the converted - the Andy Youngs of the country.

Amin's Gone, But Not Tyrants

By GERALD NADLER
Invasions have ended two of the world's most blatant tyrannies. Idi Amin in Uganda and Pol Pot in Cambodia, but bizarre one-man regimes still abound in the world.
The international world sat on its hands while a Tanzanian-led force drove Amin from power and a Vietnamese-led invasion booted out Communist Pol Pot. Only Libya aided Amin for a time and China has been sending help to the remnants of Pol Pot's forces.
That same international silence, however, allows other one-man rulers - even a self-declared emperor and at least one president-for-life - to lord it in a host of small nations, most of them in Africa.
The potatoes strut center stage in former colonial regions that are not exactly household names: the Central African Empire, Equatorial Guinea.
Although Uganda, with considerable help from Tanzania, has rid itself of "Field Marshal Amin," the Central African Empire is ruled by no less than Emperor Jean-Bedel Bokassa.

Bokassa, who proclaimed himself emperor in 1975 after ruling the French colony as president since 1965, emerged from the French army much as Amin passed through the British army.
A report by Amnesty International this month said Bokassa's troops killed between 80 and 100 schoolboys for rioting against a decree on wearing school uniforms.
But the heir to Amin, if wholesale killing of opponents is the criterion, may be President-for-life Nasie Nguema Bigoyo of Equatorial Guinea, a Maryland-ized former Spanish colony on Africa's west coast.
Most of Equatorial Guinea's 7,000 Europeans departed in the early 1970s, and there were charges of a reign of terror in which 30,000 independent people were murdered by government forces.

Summary justice is swift in Africa's largest nation, the Sudan, where President Gaafar Mohammed Numeiri once marched leaders of a coup attempt from the courtroom to a waiting gallows.
Ethiopia, which lost its emperor with the deethronement and then death of Haile Selassie, is ruled by a collective known as the "dirige" under the leadership of strongman Mengistu Haile Mariam. Its members are little known.
The dirige justifies draconian punishment in the name of the collective known as the Pol Pot Khmer Rouge clique's emptying the cities of Cambodia in brutalized marches to achieve a purer agrarian communism.
Iran this year lost its autocrat, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, who left in mid-February, unable to stem Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic revolution. But Khomeini's deceiving "revolutionary courts," decrying the shah's brutality, have summarily executed hundreds.

What keeps many admitted brutal rulers in place is "sovereignty" - the international principle of not disturbing another nation's territory.
Speaking in Hong Kong two weeks ago, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger summed it up, saying that while the Idi Amin and Pol Pot regimes were grotesque, their nations were sovereign.
"Idi was a monstrous creature," Kissinger said. "We should not do anything to support him. But for a foreign country to invade an independent nation is not acceptable."
Cambodia, he said, was governed by a "group of murderers, but this is not the reason they were attacked" by Vietnam.
"They were attacked because they were an independent nation and because of Vietnam's expansive intentions," Kissinger said.

Top Sleuth Will Attend FBI School

MANCHESTER - Detective Capt. Joseph Brooks of the Manchester Police Department will be attending the FBI National Academy from July 1 to Sept. 14 for an intensive management training course.

The course is one of 4 three-month sessions held each year at the school in Quantico, Va. Since it is affiliated with the University of Virginia, Brooks will receive college credits for his work.

The Manchester Police Department has had nine graduates from the course, Brooks said this morning, including Chief Robert Lannan.

Lottery

HARTFORD - The winning number drawn Wednesday in the Connecticut daily lottery was 174.

Town, Not 8th, Will Get Fees

MANCHESTER - The town, and not the Eighth Utilities District, would receive about $135,000 in sewer fees from the Buckland Commons project, Jay Giles, director of public works, said.

The Eighth District Board of Directors last week said it would act as the sewer authority for the installation of sewers to the project, which is expected to include residential units and a large shopping mall.

The town had applied to be the authority for the project, but the district had taken action on that request. Then, last week, on a separate request, the district agreed it would provide sewers for the project.

Even though the district is the sewer authority, the town still will receive the sewer fees from the project, Giles said. This is because of an agreement signed Jan. 4, 1978, by the town and district, he said.

That agreement says the town will receive such payments for any sewer installation that hooks into the New State Road-Adams Street or Bryan Farm sewer lines. This would include the lines to service Buckland Commons.

"I don't think he's right," District President Gordon Lassow said of Giles, but Lassow admitted he has not reviewed that agreement in detail.

"I know it," Giles said of the town's right to obtain the sewer fees, which still probably will not be paid for at least a few years.

"It's a legal agreement," he said of the 1978 pact.

Mette Won't Press Case

SOUTH WINDSOR - Robert Myette, deputy mayor, said this morning that he will not press charges against Republican Councilman Lincoln Streeter.

The two council members were involved in a "scuffle" Tuesday night at the Town Hall and Streeter allegedly struck Myette in the face. Myette filed a complaint with the police department and then went to Hartford Hospital to be checked.

Myette said this morning that he went back to the hospital for X-rays and they proved negative although the doctors did express concern about a possible hairline fracture.

Myette also said this morning that he has no intention right now of resigning from the council. Yesterday he indicated he might resign.

Police Report

MANCHESTER - Police charged a 21-year-old local man with criminal mischief in the third degree Wednesday afternoon after a feud with a neighbor.

Steven K. Bradford of 12B Ambassador Drive was released on a $100 non-surety bond for a June 11 appearance in East Hartford Superior Court.

Police arrived at the scene after being called by the neighbor, whose name was withheld, about a "feud" with Bradford. Police alleged Bradford kicked in the bottom door panel when told to leave.

Clarence Kinney, 20, of 49 Benton St., Manchester was arrested Wednesday evening on a warrant for third degree criminal mischief, police reported.

The arrest stems from an April 30 incident. Kinney was released on a $100 non-surety bond for a June 11 court appearance.

Lynwood Knowles, 34, of 20 Knox St., Manchester, was arrested Wednesday, charged with issuing a bad check, police said. He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for a June 11 court date.

Police reported the theft of a hitching post valued at $50 from a Laciun Street residence sometime Wednesday.

Police charged Edward F. Juselis, 20, of 319 Charter Oak St., Manchester, with tampering with a motor vehicle Wednesday. He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for a June 12 court appearance.

Report on Sykes Delayed

VERNON - The Board of Education agreed Tuesday night to delay a report from the Sykes School Study Committee until the fall.

The report from the study group was scheduled to be presented to the board on July 1 by the PTO Council, several PTO groups, and the Northwest Rockville Neighborhood Association asked for the delay.

Board member Robert Schwartz opted for the delay, saying he feels it is very important to the people of the community and he would like the report to be at the July meeting.

In making his recommendation, Dr. Sidman said the Grade 6 students can now be accommodated at the Middle School where they were in the first place. They were moved to Sykes when the Middle School became overcrowded a few years ago.

The Sykes building was bequeathed to the town by the late George Sykes who stipulated that it be used for manual training for boys. Over the years its use has changed to accommodate the times but industrial arts is still taught there. The town doesn't have to pay for maintenance of the building, just for staff and supplies.

Plans to keep the school open have been made by parents and students, some feeling that the Grade 6 students are too young to be at the Middle School.

Manchester CCIL Track Champion

Keep on trying something, and it can be accomplished. That has to be the sentiment for Manchester High boys track coach Dick Williams as he saw his charges for the first time in his 15-year tenure captaining the CCIL championship, sweeping past Hall High, 105-40, and Ferni High, 131-14, yesterday at Pete Wigren Track.

The Silk Towners went up 9-0 in the league, 11-0 overall, and accomplished two goals set - winning the CCIL title and going unbeaten.

"I knew we would be a contender but I never dreamed all variables would fall into place and bring my first championship in 15 years of coaching," voiced Williams, who has kids finish second seven times.

"I can't say enough about these kids. When we initiated this season, John Lahda and Gary Burby promised me the league championship. I knew they could if they wanted it. This isn't the strongest team I've ever fielded, but it's the hungriest one."

Manchester scored more points than any previous team in one season and broke the school dual meet scoring record three times.

High Getting, Jim DeValve and Burby led the Indians to the sweep with Lahda, John Kelley, and Jim Stanton in key supporting roles.

Mastery Continues For Texas over Sox

ARLINGTON, Texas (UPI) — Relief ace Jim Kern did not have his best stuff and Pat Corrales made a curious managerial decision, but the Texas Rangers continued their mastery over the Boston Red Sox Wednesday night, thanks to an unlikely hero — Richie Zisk.

Zisk has not been the player the Rangers have looked for key hits lately, but the normally hard-hitting right fielder came through with a single with one out in the 10th that drove in Al Oliver from second with the winning run in a 3-2 Texas decision.

It was the Rangers' fourth consecutive victory and their eighth straight win over Boston dating back to last year.

Kern pitched the final four innings, improved his record to 7-6 and reduced his earned run average to 1.08. He gave up three hits, walked three and worked his way out of two jams.

"For all I knew, Zisk was something up his sleeve when he

"I was light on equipment tonight," said Kern, "but heavy on guts."

One of the trouble spots Kern survived came in the top of the ninth when he retired Boston's Jerry Remy with the bases loaded. During that inning, Boston manager Don

Johnson Runs Over Umpire

NEW YORK (UPI) — Late reports of umpire Lou DiMuro, who was knocked to the ground violently and injured by New York Yankee base-runner Cliff Johnson Wednesday night, was not hurt badly.

A hospital spokesman said DiMuro "had no major injuries" and all X-rays for broken bones and a possible spinal fracture were negative. First reports said DiMuro had possibly suffered a fracture of his spine in the thoracic (upper back) area.

DiMuro was sent sprawling when the 5-foot, 212-pound Johnson scored on a sacrifice fly in the 11th inning of a 5-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Johnson, apparently attempting to throw home plate, did not see DiMuro and barreled into him.

Milwaukee manager George Bamberger said, "It's one of the worst (collisions) I've ever seen. It was terrible to see something happen like that."

Milwaukee catcher Charlie Moore said he saw Johnson career by him, beating the throw, "and the next thing I saw when I turned around was both of them on the ground. It's the first time I've ever seen an umpire get hit that hard."

With the Yankees leading the Brewers, 3-2, Bucky Dent lifted a fly ball to center field. Johnson, scoring easily after the catch, crossed home plate and his momentum carried him into DiMuro, who was stationed about 10 feet behind the plate.

The umpire lay on the ground surrounded by players, trainers and at least one doctor attending the game while they waited 30 minutes for an ambulance that took him to Mount

Pirates Finally At .500 Plateau

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates finally have made it over the 500 mark for the first time this year.

They got off to their annual horrendous start with a 12-18 mark, but now have captured 10 of their last 13 games, including Wednesday night's 9-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

National League

"We just want to be close by the All-Star break," said Pittsburgh's Bill Robinson, who socked a two-run pinch homer in a three-run seventh inning as the Pirates pounded out 17 hits off Chicago pitcher. "This way, we'll be in good position when we really start playing consistently well. We know what we have to do."

Right fielder Dave Parker, who contributed a sacrifice fly and a double, said, "We're a much better ballclub than we've demonstrated so far. Despite how well we're playing now, we can do better."

Jim Rooker, 2-0, who came off the disabled list two weeks ago after being injured in spring training, tossed a two-hitter to shut off the Cubs in pitching his first complete game of the year. He struck out five and walked three.

After the Cubs closed to within 4-2 with an unearned run caused by Dale Berra's error in the third and Dave Kingman's 15th homer in the fourth inning, Willie Stargel, who had three hits, made it 5-2 by leading off the fifth with his 10th homer of the year.

In other NL games, Montreal beat Philadelphia, 2-0. Houston got past Cincinnati, 6-3. St. Louis defeated New York, 7-3. Los Angeles edged San Francisco, 8-6, and San Diego pounded Atlanta, 10-2.

Bill Lee tossed a six-hitter and brought in Fisk," said Corrales. "It surprised me that Willie didn't steal," said Fisk. "Willie steals 50 bases a year against catchers who can throw."

The Rangers got a good 6-3 inning out of Dock Ellis, one of his better outings of the year, but the nicest surprise of the night for Corrales was the fact that Zisk came through with two hits — including the big one.

Zisk hit a line drive over the outstretched glove of Remy at second base.

"I was lucky to hit a line drive," Zisk said. "It could have gone right at somebody."

Fisk's good to finally contribute something. I need to hit for this team to win. I'm still staggering, but when you hit a few line drives, it begins to give you a little confidence.

"Everything is not on my shoulders, but I need to do my part."

Zisk was hitting 237 coming into the game and had been lowered to the No. 6 spot in the batting order after opening the year as the cleanup hitter.

As the dust cleared, Fred Lynn of the Boston Red Sox looks up to see Umpire Dale Ford call him out at home when Texas catcher Jim Sundberg applied tag, survived a collision and held onto ball. (UPI Photo)

Red Sox Runner Cut Down Moriarty's Winner In Twilight Debut

Rallying from a two-run deficit, Moriarty Bros. topped Hartford Jay-Alai, 4-2, last night at East Hartford's McAluffe Park in the Greater Hartford Twilight Baseball League opener for both clubs.

The Gas Housers made their home debut Friday night at 6 o'clock against Herb's Sports Shop at the Manchester Community College diamond.

Both Balesano and Ballard are two-run single scorers Jim Silva and Bill Chapulis, who both walked.

Balesano fanned five, walked two and retired the last 15 in a row. Ballard hurled a four-hitter but was wild, walking six, hitting two batters and unworking a wild pitch.

Steve Chotiner tied it for the Gas Housers in the third with a long two-run homer with the MBs scoring the winning runs off losing hurler Bruce Ballard in the fifth. Nick Fares' two-run single scored Jim Silva and Bill Chapulis, who both walked.

Harry Carr took first in the 300-yard intermediate hurdles, second in the 120-yard high hurdles and also qualified in the 200-yard dash. Kevin McGuffee and Jim Hartman qualified in the 200-yard dash and eighth in the 100-yard dash. Mark Fournier also qualified in the high jump.

Borg Works Hard Beating Gullikson

PARIS (UPI) — The chances of Sweden's Bjorn Borg winning the $25,000 French Open tennis championship for the third time took a dent Wednesday when he staggered into the third round with an unimpressive performance.

The No. 1 seed struggled to overcome Tom Gullikson, the powerful left-hander from Dayton, Ohio, 6-3, 7-6, 5-7, 6-4 but the crowd of 18,000 cheered every effort of the American.

Borg was bad, by his own standards. He has now lost two sets in this competition whereas last year he swept through the event without conceding one.

The Swede, also favored to win Wimbledon for a fourth time in five years, has been suffering from a damaged groin which kept him out of serious tennis last week.

But he said Wednesday that he didn't really notice his injury. He added, "I simply found it difficult to concentrate out there. I was also a bit tired."

None of the men's seeds have yet fallen. The United States' Vitas Gerulaitis, the recently-crowned Italian champion, began the day two sets to one down against fellow American Bruce Bittner. But he recovered solidly to win.

Another seed to come safely, if controversially through, is Spain's 18th-seeded Manuel Orantes. Romanian's Ili Nastase and he shared a full of disputed linecalls and an incident when the umpire insisted that "Nasty" serve more promptly.

Special Events Mark ERCC's 20th Birthday

Scene Repeated 20 Years Later

By BARBARA RICHMOND

In 1957 the Ellington Ridge Country Club was just a gleam in the eyes of a group of ambitious area businessmen. Two years later those people, and many others, were playing golf on the first nine holes. This week the club is celebrating its 20th anniversary.

The first of a series of special events, to mark the anniversary, started two weeks ago with a testimonial to Wally Cichon who has been the club's clubhouse since its 20th anniversary.

Over the holiday weekend, heavy rains Friday washed out the first of several scheduled events, a mixed scotchball and cookout. Saturday there were special tournament events and on Sunday there was a Mixed Four Ball.

For the Four Ball the course took on a festive look. Gas filled brightly colored balloons were tied to all golf carts and to flags on the greens, courtesy of Chris Scranton and Mickey Olander.

The event was followed by dinner and dancing.

On Monday, Memorial Day, some of the original foursomes which took off when the course officially opened 20 years ago on Memorial weekend, teed off again. And the weather was again uncooperative. Play had to be stopped for awhile due to a heavy rainstorm. The first foursome included Cichon, Fred McKone, the club's first president, and golf professionals Pat O'Sullivan (Lucy) and Jimmy Nichols, the familiar one-eyed golfer.

For the rest of the week plans include having professional golfer, Rod Curl, who is an honorary member of Ellington Ridge, put on a clinic and then play a round of golf with various members. Curl did his bit yesterday here.

Curl is married to the former Cichon.

The second nine holes were dedicated July 1, 1961.

After operating on a snack-bar-type basis for the first six years, a new addition was constructed and formally opened May 6, 1965.

The new addition, a second floor, included a formal dining room, the Ridge Room, a Board of Governor's room, a mixed grill, the Terrace Room, a large patio overlooking the pool, men's bar and card room, and a women's powder room, and an additional locker and office space.

Within the past year this area has been completely redecorated. The club has facilities for golf, swimming, and tennis.

Current officers are: Ed Keating, president; Ray Peracchio and Tony Roberto, vice presidents; LI Hunter, secretary, and Bill Munro treasurer.

ILLING GIRLS' softball team topped Kosciuszko of Enfield yesterday by a 5-4 count to move its record to 5-1. Janet Locke won the shut out, discussed and in the hurdles; Sue Green won the 440 and second in the 220; Donna Carrier won the 800; Sheri Robichaud took the mile; Mary Mullaney took the high jump; and Kristen Wait, Denise White, Tracy Sullins, Patricia Falkowski, Giselle Plante, Sandy Prior and Betsy Gleba did well for Illing.

BENNET BOYS' track team remained unbeaten at 6-0 with a 66-38 win over J.F. Kennedy yesterday at Enfield High.

Harry Veal won the mile, Peter Murphy the 400, Art Bruder the 200, James Mumley the 800, Don Hickey the long jump, Chris Carmel the high jump and Fred Lea the shot put for Bennett. Mike Roy, Dave McMahon, Ken Marshall, Mike Everett and Art Jasper also did well for the Bears.

A last-inning rally fell short as Bennett varsity baseball team bowed, 8-6, to St. James Deane of Westfield yesterday.

The Ellington Purchasing Company was formed by the land and Attorney Stephen Ketcham was named chairman of the Executive Committee and leader of the fund drive.

Peter Nakienis was the first president of the Purchasing Corporation and other officers were Ralph Gibson, Leon Brown, Andrew Ferreira, Marjorie Brady and James McCarthy.

Besides McKone, other officers on the first board were Lou Kelly, Al Grothier, and Paul Wiley Jr.

The pro shop was built shortly after the initial phase of the clubhouse was completed. About 10 years later the pro shop and all of its contents was destroyed by an early morning fire. The contents, besides new equipment and clothing, included the golf clubs stored there by members.

However, later that morning Cichon called a golf equipment firm and a trailerload of equipment arrived within a few hours and members were on the course without missing a round.

A new and larger pro shop was built in a different location on the grounds.

MANCHESTER - In conjunction with the Manchester Community College-New England Relays, June 23 and 24, the Manchester Arts Council and the MCC athletics office are co-sponsoring an "Art in Motion" contest with two categories of competition, one for photography and other for art and sculpture. All of the "Art in Motion" entries must be figure studies of running, high jump, pole vaulting and other events, as observed at the June 23 and 24 Relays. All entries will be considered for an exhibition in the fall. Members of the Manchester Arts Council will be the judges. They will base their decisions on originality of ideas, individual observation and expression, skill in use of media, and appropriate choices in size, media and idea. The winner of the first prize will receive a gold medal and $100 in cash. The prize for second place will be a silver medal and $50. For third place, the winner will receive a bronze medal and $25. Winners will be notified by letter at the beginning of August, with formal presentations to be held in September. Spring Gardening AND Home Improvement

Gardening Rainy Day Brings Out Dedicated Gardeners

By FRANK ATWOOD
Gardeners like to buy plants when the sun shines. On a rainy day, says Leon Zapadka of Woodland Gardens, Manchester, the people who come to buy are the "oldtimers," the dedicated gardeners. They know there is work to be done in the garden, regardless of the weather. When the sun shines, Mr. Zapadka adds, the young people come. If they are putting out plants for the first time around their new home, they start with annual flowers and some vegetables. Tomato plants are their first choice. John Zapadka, Leon's father and the founder of the company, says that winter injury was severe on peaches as well as roses, and leaf "burn" due to extreme cold weather has been apparent on Japanese yews and some other evergreens that normally are hardy here. The brown foliage should be pruned and the plants fertilized. Japanese beetle grubs, numerous last fall, have caused damage to law grass as they have fed on the roots. Root maggots have been active and there have been numerous losses to cutworms. Dithionone is the insecticide recommended for insects in the soil. Plants that set buds in mid-summer for next year's bloom, such as lilacs and peonies, should be given a feeding now, repeated in six to eight weeks. If the summer is dry these plants should be watered thoroughly once a week during dry times. There has been a change in management at Woodland Gardens in the past year, although there has been no public announcement. Leon Zapadka is now the president of the family-owned corporation, succeeding his father, John, who has become secretary. Mrs. John Zapadka is treasurer, continuing the work of keeping books that she has handled since her husband went into business in 1937. Phil Zapadka, younger brother of Leon, is left Manchester but remains vice-president of the company. He has moved with his wife and three children to Greensboro, N.C., and is working in a garden center there until he finds a business he can buy. He intends to have his own garden center. Fewer Pansies Woodland Gardens was one of my first sources of information when I started writing this column in December, 1970. One of my first pieces told about the 300,000 pansy plants grown annually by Woodland Gardens. That business has diminished drastically. Fewer people buy pansies now, so fewer pansies are grown. This year Leon Zapadka thinks no more than 2,000 baskets of pansy plants have been sold. Once, a thousand baskets were dug from the field for sale in a single day. He thinks there has been a shift to other flowers that people have learned they can buy and set out in early spring, including calendulas, alysium and snapdragons. Leon Zapadka lives in Bolton with his wife, the former Carol Knight of Manchester, and their four children, Anne, 11, Lauren, 7, Luke, 4, and Bethany, 2. Leon is vice-president, elected for two years, of the Connecticut Nurserymen's Association. His turn to be president will follow.

'Good Dog Neighbor' Suggested

MANCHESTER - The spring planting season is here and Dog Ward Richard Rand would like to remind Manchester citizens that it is especially important at this time of year to be a good dog neighbor. "Many people will be planting gardens and caring for shrubs and lawns after the long winter," Rand said. "Roaming dogs do a great deal of damage to home grounds and gardens every year. Your neighbor may be furious but he will seldom let you know about the trouble which your dog has caused. Nine out of ten people who call the dog warden ask if there is some way to keep the dog in question away from their property without doing anything which would strain relations with their neighbor, the dog owner. Obey the law and don't allow your dog to run free on other people's property. You can be sure that your neighbor will appreciate it."

Second Budget Meeting Slated Tonight in Hebron

HEBRON — The second town meeting to act on the proposed budget for the coming year, will be tonight at 8 at the Hebron Elementary School. Persons who objected to its approval before have again issued the same objections.

Joseph Pelletier, chairman of the Hebron Board of Education, in a letter dated Tuesday, May 29, and addressed to the parents and citizens of Hebron, again urged the defeat of the proposed budget.

Pelletier said, "The finance board has decided to turn a deaf ear to the 123-79 defeat of the proposed budget, which occurred a few weeks ago. Please attend the town meeting on Thursday, May 31, at 8 p.m., at the Hebron Elementary School and vote to reject the proposed Town of Hebron budget."

He added, "Education in Hebron is at a crossroad. We must decide how well our children will be prepared to compete in this world. We, your local officials, must be advised by you as to what extent this commitment is to be made. One cannot expect to do next year what he did this year with a four percent increase in revenue, considering the annual rate of inflation. Specifically, the Hebron school budget, as proposed by the Board of Finance, will stunt the quality of education in Hebron."

He urges the parents and other townspeople not to let this happen and to vote down the proposed budget.

The Board of Education budget, as recommended for adoption by the finance board, totals $1,142,879, an increase of $43,956 over the current budget, or four percent.

During a Board of Education meeting after the last town meeting, the board was presented with a list of areas for possible cuts, should the budget finally be adopted, but the board took no action on the proposal.

John Baron, a Hebron resident, Tuesday filed a fourth petition with the town clerk. It reads very similarly to the other petitions he filed before the last town meeting.

It reads: "We the undersigned voters and taxpayers of the Town of Hebron, will rescind all budget meetings, town meetings, and any other sort of meetings, until the town tax rate is set at 45 mills for the year 1979-80." The petition contained 109 signatures.

During the last budget meeting Baron allegedly attempted to stop the meeting by saying it was illegal for residents of Hebron to vote as he had rescinded the meeting.

Duane Totten, town attorney, has given an opinion to the selectmen in which he states that the petition filed is to be considered a "protest petition."

South Windsor Sets Sewer Job Info Line

SOUTH WINDSOR — Due to the amount of local sewer construction, Sewer Commission Chairman John Pitts has established a direct information line for those having questions concerning sewer construction or assessments. During the evening hours Pitts can be reached at 644-9985.

The Sewer Commission secretary can be reached in the afternoon at 289-5564. Names and telephone numbers of other Sewer Commission members may also be obtained from the secretary. Emergency calls should continue to go directly to the Pollution Control Facility, 289-1 289-0185.

The seven-member Sewer Commission meets the first and third Tuesday of each month, with special meetings called as required. Major topics under consideration are the six active sewer contracts, the treatment plant improvement program and problems concerning the Clerk Street pumping station. There has also been a problem with the infiltration of sewage into the storm drains in areas north of Dolly Kelly Road.

The commission has as part of its regular agenda, an item for correspondence and petitions from the public, as well as an opportunity for citizens present to comment on agenda items.

Vernon Won't Offer Summer Head Start

VERNON — The pre-school Head Start Program, funded with federal Title I money, will not be operated by Vernon this summer. Instead, the program will be administered by the Windham Area Community Action Program (WACAP).

The proposal to make the change was approved unanimously by the Board of Education Tuesday night on recommendation of the board's Curriculum Committee and Ronald Kozuch, director of continuing education.

Dr. Bernard Sidman, superintendent of schools, said the administration agreed with the proposal, based on needs assessment and better utilization of funds.

The board also approved a motion made by Robert Schwartz to approve restructuring the Title I staff at the Maple Street School and the services and to submit the proposal to the state Board of Education for its approval.

He said restructuring will allow the delivery of more services throughout the school system. It was noted that this will put the manpower where the need is.

Glastonbury Carpet Workshop

In 1973, Jim & Fran Nicol started the successful Carpet Workshop they operate at 192 Oak St. They personally install & service what they sell, which includes linoleum, carpets, hardwood floors, tiles, braided rugs & remnants. Cleaning, binding, fringing and repair work are among their services. Most recently they have branched into the cleaning, carpeting & redoing of Van & Camper interiors.

Craftsmanship In Wood

After 10 years, Leon Kassler gave up his career as a professor of Industrial Education to make furniture.

Located in Glastonbury, Leon is building fine furniture, selling domestic and imported hardwoods and teaching the art of building fine furniture in the evenings at his shop.

The evening night school classes are taught one night a week from 7-10 for 10 weeks. The classes are a very comprehensive course into the art of fine woodworking. Class size is limited to 10 people so that individual instruction and interrelation between student and teacher can take place.

Leon has an inventory of over 16 species of hardwoods and cabinet plywoods. He has full milling facilities to help the craftsman get started on any woodworking project.

His fine furniture ranges from contemporary to colonial with shaker reproductions being his favorite. His own designed tile tables of oak, walnut and cherry are sold in stores in the area.

His greatest enjoyment is to design and make that special furniture piece that a person cannot find anywhere else.

Decorum

Decorum is a new kind of interior decorating firm since it seeks to attract homeowners who are often leary of the high prices such firms usually charge for their services.

Although at Decorum you can choose from its myriad of fabrics for your reupholstering, slip covers, drapes and rugs, from the same manufacturer's sample books used by the high-priced decorators; because it is located in the Industrial Park on Commerce Street (off Oak Street), rents and other expenses are lower and, Betty Bernard, the owner, is the entire staff. Therefore, she can offer her clientele extremely favorable prices.

Mrs. Bernard is experienced and since this is her first venture on her own, she's excited about it, and will lavish her time and expertise on each customer.

The exact address is 27 Commerce Street and when you call 659-0787 if Betty is out on a call, you may have to leave a message and she will return you call promptly.

Sal's Evergreen Nursery

After spending fifteen years in business with his father, Sal and Carole Vullo opened their own business on Griswold Street, off Main Street, six years ago. They relocated some shrubs from their planted five acres and started a roadside stand selling what they grow.
The firm now offers a landscaping and foundation planting service; and in the autumn the stand is aglow with hardy field grown chrysanthemums, pumpkins, tulips, daffodils, apples, and cider.
There is always a good display of quality nursery stock; annuals, perennials and vegetable plants. Sal's Nursery grows fifteen hundred geraniums yearly, which are not only individually potted but in attractive displays with other spring blooms to make most desirable cemetery decorations.

There are usually over two hundred fascinating hanging plants on display. Loam and pine bark mulch is delivered by the truck load and the firm contracts for brick walk and patio building.
Its nursery stock consists of Japanese yews, rhododendron, azaleas, dwarf shrubs, enonymus, Jupiter holly, mugo pine and spruce. There are flowering trees, hemlock for hedging, Juniper for banks, and white pine. In addition, there are pine bark nuggets, mini diamond lawn edging, fertilizer, lime and insecticides. During the holiday season there is a wide choice of Christmas trees and plants.
Sal's Evergreen Nursery is open seven days a week during April, May and June. Tuesday through Thursdays from 8 to 8, remaining days from 8 to 5. During July and August Sal's is closed Sundays.

Glastonbury Sport Center

Dennie Weir bought his store in November of 1976. At that time, it was principally a hunting and fishing store. Since that time he and his staff have turned it into a full line sporting goods store. The guns have been eliminated, but the fishing selection of rods, reels, and lures have been largely increased. The Sport Center now offers live bait, including worms, crawlers and shiners.

Now in the store are items such as better tennis racquets, racquet-ball racquets, darts, running wear, warm-up suits, running shoes, Everlast exercise equipment, cross country skiing equipment and many other lines. Also offered are such services as racquet re-stringing, glove re-stringing and rod and reel repair. Stop in at the Sport Center for all your sporting needs.

Nap Bros. Furniture

Nap Bros. Furniture showroom is located on Naubuc Avenue about a quarter of a mile from Main Street, just south of the Putnam Bridge.

It's a furniture factory which manufactures all of its frames from hardwoods and does all of its own upholstery. Thus, the pieces on display in the showroom are guaranteed to be sturdy and of superior workmanship.

The customer may purchase the floor samples, many of which are one of a kind; or may order from a choice of fabrics, styles and sizes.

Although the factory has been in operation since 1945, the showroom is just over two years old. Since it is out of the high rent district, and there is no middleman's profit, the firm can offer discounts of from 40 percent to 60 percent off the customary retail price. There is a custom drapes department and some occasional furniture on sale.

The hours the showroom is open are Tuesday and Wednesday 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday 10 to 8, and Saturday 10 to 5. Closed Sundays and Mondays.

Choose from a wide selection of fine furniture for a comfortable and striking decorator combination. At reasonable prices.
