

Funding CD Jobs On Board Agenda

MANCHESTER - The Town Board of Directors tonight may consider requests for providing town funds to complete projects that had been expected to receive Community Development funds.
Town voters April 17 approved a two-year withdrawal from the Community Development program, which provided federal funds annually to the community.
The money was used for a number of projects.
The directors now are being asked to provide town funds to complete some of those projects that had been slated to receive the Community Development money. These include completion of the senior citizens center, completion of housing for the elderly, hiring a planner for the downtown improvement programs, and hiring of a consultant to upgrade the Comprehensive Plan of Development.
The board met last week with the Manchester Housing Authority and said it would have strong concerns about using town funds to complete the housing for the elderly. This is because town voters April 17 also indicated they would not want town funds to complete any Community Development funded work.
The directors also will consider a resolution about the oil crisis. Such a resolution, which includes opposition to decontrol of fuel prices, was proposed by Robert Faucher, a Laurel Street resident.
The board will conduct one public hearing at tonight's meeting, which begins at 8 o'clock in the Municipal Building's Hearing Room.
That hearing will be for the appropriation of a federal grant and town funding to continue financing for the transportation system for the elderly and handicapped. Other hearing items were heard last week.

There also are two recreation-related requests - repair of the track at the East Side Rec and the hiring of an aide, funded through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, who could work with handicapped persons.
Slimnastics Class Starts Wednesday
MANCHESTER - The Recreation Department is offering slimnastics classes for women beginning Wednesday from 9 to 10:30 a.m.
Registration will be conducted during the first class. A $5 per year recreation membership or $5 non-residence fee is required to take the class. Women interested may bring their children to the classes. Please come prepared to exercise.
Further information is available at the Arts Building between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, 647-3689.

Marine Corps League
MANCHESTER - The Frank J. Mansfield Detachment of the Marine Corps League will have a social meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Mott Community Hall, 537 E. Middle Turnpike.

Board Hears Request For Education Basics

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER - School board members once again have a plan for basic education as one resident questioned the need for a "values clarification" course.
John Tucci of 30 Castle Road asked the board Monday night who originated this program and why was it included in the curriculum.
"At public hearings," he said, "the aim seems to be basic education, that's what the people want. I particularly don't like the course," he said.
The course, which is offered in the junior high school, is on moral and ethical choices facing modern society. It is also offered as part of the evening program in the high school. Superintendent James Kennedy said.
Tucci asked why the citizens didn't participate in discussion of the program when it was introduced. He said the course represents "a fundamental shift in education."
J. Gerald Fitzgibbon, assistant superintendent for curriculum, provided a list of persons who were invited to attend a meeting when the program was first considered in 1968.
Board member Eleanor Colman said the course was tried as a pilot program and was part of the morals program in the school. When asked if citizens might have more information on it, Mrs. Colman said a meeting with Fitzgibbon could be arranged and more data on the course could be provided.
During the public session, Thomas Alexander of 20 Kensington St. asked for more information on the proposal to merge the third and fourth grades at the Highland Park school.
He presented a poll of 100 residents who wanted a "better explanation" of the proposal asked for a meeting with the administration.
Wilson Deakin, assistant superintendent for personnel, said the PFA meeting tonight will focus on the topic and he has also scheduled a meeting this morning with concerned parents.

Manchester To Host Handicapped Program

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER - Manchester will be the host school for the summer program for handicapped children, it was reported at Monday night's school board meeting.
Melvin L. Reich, associate professor and co-director of the summer program, said it will maintain the skills of handicapped youngsters during the summer and offer in-service training to the graduate school's special education teachers.
The program is for the "severely retarded to the mildly Learning Disability children," he said. "It's a unique program to train special education teachers to deal with diverse segments" of the handicapped student population.
According to a memorandum Reich presented to the Board of Education, the program will be at the Verplanck Elementary School from June 25 to Aug. 2. The hours are 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday and Thursday.
There is no fee for the course. Most of the pupils are preschoolers up to 13 years of age, although students up to 21 years with dire needs are accommodated.
The program is staffed by master's level students from UConn's graduate program, Reich said, who pay for the credit courses. There will be approximately 120 students from the Manchester school system, which Reich said is over two-thirds of the total enrollment. The other students are from 12 or 13 surrounding towns.
"The main objective is to maintain educational gains accomplished over the course of their academic year," Reich said. "It is believed they will start the forthcoming school year with previously learned skills in better place."

BOLTON - A letter of interest stating that the Board of Selectmen looks favorably upon the prospect of participating in the proposed Town of Windham's Solid Waste Recovery Facility, pending consideration of specific contract negotiations and other related matters the town must consider, will be sent to Windham officials.
The letter will include an outline of the items Bolton must consider such as the acquisition and cost of sites for a transfer station and bulky waste disposal, construction costs, operating costs and costs to transfer trash from Bolton to Windham.
The board also voted to have itself act as a task force to consider the Windham proposal.
Last week a group from Windham attended the selectmen's meeting to explain the project. The group hoped to

Somoza Won't Resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) - "The Republicans can pick their best man and we'll beat him, whoever he is," President Carter's top aide Hamilton Jordan predicted today.
Jordan, in an interview with UPI, did not underestimate the problems Carter faces in winning re-election, but said, "The obstacles of getting here were more formidable than slaying here."
"Look how we got here," he explained, referring to the days when an obscure former Georgia governor was "Jimmy Who?" to the nation.
Jordan appeared wholly confident about Carter's future despite falling popularity polls and a push in some quarters for Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., to depose him.

Oil Pipeline Flow Is Normal Again

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) - The flow of oil was returning to normal along the 800-mile Trans-Alaska pipeline today after welders sealed a 5-inch crack that forced a two-day shutdown of the $9 billion system.
The "black gold" surged up a steep mountainside late in the day and flowed without problems past the hastily welded crack through which 1,500 barrels of crude had leaked, a spokesman for Alyeska Pipeline Services said late Tuesday.
As pumping resumed in stages and the pressures increased inside the 4-foot-diameter pipe, the oil moved to the summit of 4,500-foot Antigun Pass, the site of the rupture, and gushed through the pipe down the south side.
"The pressure will be built up gradually," said Alyeska's Lyle Vonderhagen, adding, "we will reach 1.2 million barrels a day sometime today - the average daily rate of flow. We're just basically filling the line again, getting the pressure built up."
The welding operation was done in a "relatively dry" hole dug 12 feet into the ground around the leaking pipe near the 4,000-foot summit of the Brooks Range, about 160 miles south of the Prudhoe Bay oil fields.
As the well continued to hold, pumping stations to the south began "coming on line," pushing the black crude toward waiting tankers at the pipeline's southern terminus in Valdez.
Cleanup crews were able to recover roughly a third of the spilled oil that had seeped through the ground from the break.

Water Rate Hike Means $19 Boost

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER - A one-third increase in water rates for 1979-80 will boost the annual water bill for the average customer about $19.
The Town Board of Directors Tuesday night approved a 33% increase in the town water rates.
Such an increase will pay for operation of the Water Department during 1979-80 and also will provide enough funding for the town to begin paying off part of the $20 million in improvements to the water system.
Town voters April 17 approved a $20 million bond issue for the water improvements, which include construction of a treatment plant and upgrading of the system lines.
Town officials had recommended a 100 percent increase, or doubling, of the water rates. This would have paid for the department's operations and also would have raised an additional $1 million to begin paying for the system improvements.
The more money that is raised now to pay for the improvements will result in less future borrowing for the traditional custom model.
"There is no change in the total cost to the town."
The board felt the 100 percent increase would be too high, but it agreed by a 6-3 vote to the 33% increase. The three Republican directors voted against the increase while the Democrats supported it.
The average water customer, one who uses 2,000 cubic feet of water per quarter, now pays $142.27 per quarter. That quarterly bill will be boosted to slightly more than $19 per quarter, Jay Giles, director of public works, said. This will result in the average water user paying about $19 more next year than he or she paid this year.
The minimum rate will increase from $8.75 per quarter to about $9 per quarter, Giles said.
A 16 percent increase was needed to pay the cost of department operations next year, Giles has said. He said officials plan to start paying for the improvements, will be raised with the 33% percent increase, he said.
Democratic directors criticized the Republicans, who voted against the increase but offered no alternative proposal.
"I'm rather dismayed that we had no proposal from the minority," Stephen Penny, chairman of the

Pupil Grouping No Big Change

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER - School personnel moved swiftly Tuesday morning to quash rumors and allay fears about the "multi-age" grouping of students next year at the Highland Park school.
The proposed combining of third and fourth graders at the school this fall brought outrage to some parents and skepticism to others. But school officials said there was no fundamental change in this method from the traditional classroom model.
"There is no change in the teachers," said Principal Gail Rowe.
"There is no change in the curriculum materials or books," she said. She said its most appealing feature is that it eliminates the movement of children from classroom to classroom and provides better organization throughout the day.
The proposal, which was developed by the Highland Park School faculty, takes the 123 students from the two grades and combines them into five classes. The best way to eliminate the movement, Dr. Rowe said, is to group children according to their reading group. There would be three such groups within each of the five classes and one teacher would be responsible for reading, handwriting, language arts and spelling.
Dr. Rowe also said the proposed program allows more individual instruction of the individual and lets the teacher concentrate on a student's weak areas.
Cassano said at least some increase is needed now to meet budget obligations, and the increase also should help reduce future bonding costs.
The water bill is just one of several increasing bills the homeowner has to pay.

Forty-Three Get Diplomas at Bolton High School

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

BOLTON — Following traditional commencement exercises of past years, 43 young men and women were graduated from Bolton High School Tuesday.

Kowalyszyn said, "Tonight we seal the doorways of the past and unlock the gateways of our future."

"Our class has had to learn how to adjust to its small size, to present day financial difficulties and to learn how to deal with the looming spectre of the possibility of shutting down our school doors."

He said, "But, alas, these problems are all but over for us now. Even though our class is small, as is evidenced here tonight, we have overcome our size and found a truly close knit group for this important evening."

Kowalyszyn ended the welcome by saying, "Finally, as most of us know, the Board of Education and the people of Bolton have decided that Bolton High School will remain an institution of quality education for years to come. For this we are truly grateful."

The welcome was followed by the invocation given by The Rev. Marjorie Hiles, pastor of United Methodist Church.

The five leading students were presented. They are Anne Stoppeworth, valedictorian, Carole Rose, salutatorian, and Katherine Nielsen, Tamara Roberts and Cheryl Garzo.

The senior address was delivered by Janet Kurys and Janina Ryba.

Ms. Kurys said, "Today is the last time we will all be together as a class. When commencement closes tonight we will go our separate ways, but what will always hold us together will be the memories of what we have shared and what we have become."

She said, "Over the past 12 years — and many of us have been together that long — we have laughed, cried, worked, grown and experienced some of the most memorable times of our lives."

Ms. Kurys said, "Some people think that high school is a waste of time but that's not true. It serves as a beginning for the future, we were able to choose our friends, and our own classes. It is a necessity we should all complete if we plan on making it in the outside world."

Ms. Ryba said, "We have been under the supervision of our parents and teachers who have helped us develop in many ways. One gift they have attempted to provide is how to assume responsibility and another gift they have passed down to our generation is determination and perseverance."

Ms. Ryba said, "We should remember that there will often be failures in our endeavors; that everything does not always turn out as we expect. If we do fail we should learn to benefit from our errors. For every mistake we commit, there is a lesson to be learned."

Ms. Ryba said, "The knowledge we have in us is only as good as we make it to be. We can allow ourselves to let this knowledge become useless, or we can use it to its full potential, the choice is ours..."

Ms. Ryba told her fellow students, "We have set our goals and are determined to meet them despite whatever obstacles we may encounter."

Scholarships and awards totaling $5,400 were presented by Robert Murdock, president of the Bolton Scholarship Fund, Inc.

The graduation address was given by Joseph Haloburdo, chairman of the Board of Education.

Haloburdo said, "One might think I feel honored to

Summer Program Canceled

VERNON — Students who have participated in a special education program for summer maintenance of skills will have to go to Manchester this summer to continue participation.

The program has been conducted in the Vernon Elementary School but that school will be undergoing extensive repairs this summer. It has been supervised by Dr. Melvyn Reich of the University of Connecticut and the town furnished the facility and transportation.

The town has still offered use of the Center Road School but can no longer provide the transportation due to budgetary restrictions. The Vernon Elementary School has a low swimming pool on the property but there is no pool near Center Road School.

Dr. Reich said attendance in Vernon would be very small because of lack of transportation.

Reich said there may not be a sufficient number of handicapped pupils available to allow the planned scope of teacher training.

Dr. Reich said the program originated and operated, from his perspective, as a "realistic opportunity to train teachers."

Cattanech Explains His Stand

HEBRON - David Cattanech is taking exception to statements made by Richard M. Grant, chairman of the Board of Finance, and attributed to him.

Grant, at a joint meeting of the finance board, and the Board of Education, called to discuss the education budget, said the superintendent said the school board could "live with" the proposed budget.

Cattanech said he recognized that, as he does now, that he has no authority to commit the Board of Education to a position on its budget proposal, nor does the board have the authority to decide for the public what is acceptable.

He said his major concern was and is that programs are lost because of budget cuts. He said that administratively it is his responsibility to do the best possible job of living within whatever budget is approved at a town meeting.

The third town meeting scheduled for June 18 at 8 p.m. at the Hebron Elementary School.

Cattanech said just because it is his responsibility to do the best possible job within the approved budget it doesn't mean that he is unable or unwilling to express a point of view, or to discuss issues to facilitate communications which benefit the educational system in Hebron.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Ex-Rated Marriage

DEAR ABBY: A reader asks, "How do I get back with No. 17? Here's how I did it. My wife and I had been divorced for three months.

I missed her like crazy, so I sent flowers with a note, "I miss you, Baby, Love, Allen."

She phoned to thank me, and asked if I wanted to stop by that evening. I went. We talked and cried and hugged and kissed. Then I asked if I could spend the night. She said, "Not tonight. I have a headache." We both had a good laugh because that was a private joke between us.

We admitted that we still loved each other, and decided to try again. It was 11 years and we're still in love.

Treat Dad to a Beef Cookout

Father's Day — It's a special day to honor that extra-special Dad. To pamper him, put on your chef's hat and prepare a meal featuring his favorite meat — beef steak, broiled just the way he likes it.

Are you wondering if the budget will permit a steak choice in these days of higher prices? There is a solution. Steaks for broiling do come at economical prices, though they may be less familiar than the popular Porterhouse, T-Bone, rib eye, sirloin or tenderloin. Top round steak and chuck blade steak are most eligible for broiling, especially when they are marinated — a way of tenderizing and at the same time supplying extra flavor.

Providing that flavor bonus is easy with an envelope of soup mix — onion, beefy onion or onion-mushroom. Any one of these convenient all-in-one seasoning mixes can be blended with lemon juice and oil to create a flavorful marinade.

You'll be pleasantly surprised by the number of generous servings a top round steak provides. You'll also be satisfied with the tenderness of this lean, waste-free steak when it's marinated and broiled only to rare or medium and carved in very thin slices across the grain of the meat. The top round is truly a family steak since servings can be sized to match all appetites.

For something different and delicious serve the juicy steak slices sandwich-style in pita bread pockets with crisp and crunchy vegetables. For the crowning touch, add a flavorful onion-yogurt sauce. The sauce is quickly and easily made with convenient onion soup mix and shredded cucumber. It's so delicious you'll want to serve any extra sauce as a dip or salad dressing!

Beef blade steaks, cut from the beef chuck, are another economical family choice. Although containing more bone and fat, a considerably lower price tag and higher flavor potential make these meaty steaks a top value buy. They are particularly man-pleasing when marinated in a zesty sauce made with hearty beefy onion soup mix. The marinade, blended with tomato sauce and spiced with chili powder, is also used as a brush-on sauce while barbecuing.

Not quite steak, but also popular is ground beef, especially when seasoned with onion soup mix and chili sauce before forming into plump patties for the grill. These piquant burgers are sure to win family acclaim.

On Father's Day or any day, use one of these recipes for a Beef Cookout the whole family will enjoy. It's a delicious way to show Dad just how special he is.

One lean and waste-free beef top round steak makes many super sandwiches when carved into thin, juicy slices and tucked into pita bread pockets along with sliced crisp vegetables and a very special onion-yogurt sauce.

High in flavor, but comparatively low in cost, are these beef chuck steaks that are marinated before and brushed during broiling with a zesty sauce easily made with an envelope of beefy onion soup mix.

Steak and Sauce Pocket Pleasers

- 1 broiled beef top round steak*
- 4 leaves pita bread
- 2 cups finely shredded cabbage
- 1 medium green pepper, cut in thin strips
- 1 large tomato, cut in thin wedges

Carve steak in very thin slices across the grain of the meat. Cut loaves in half crosswise and enlarge pockets when necessary. Place cabbage, green pepper and tomato wedges in each pocket using half the vegetables. Add 1 tablespoon onion-yogurt sauce to each. Place 6 to 8 slices of meat in each pocket on top of vegetables and sauce. Place an equal amount of remaining vegetables in pockets. Add additional sauce as desired. 8 servings.

*Broiled Top Round Steak

- 1 beef top round steak, cut 1 1/4 inches thick (2 1/2 to 3 pounds)
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground pepper

Combine lemon juice, water, salad oil, salt and pepper. Place steak in utility dish or plastic bag; add marinade, turning to coat. Cover dish or tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight), turning at least once.

Place steaks on grill top so surface of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat and broil at moderate temperature to rare or medium (25 to 35 minutes), turning and brushing with marinade occasionally.

Onion-Yogurt Sauce

- 1 envelope Lipton Onion Soup Mix
- 1 carton (16 ounces) plain yogurt
- 1 cup shredded cucumber

Combine onion soup mix, yogurt and cucumber, mixing thoroughly. Cover and chill. Yield: 3 cups.

Cookout Chuck Steak

- 2 beef chuck blade steaks, cut 3/4 inch thick (approximately 4 pounds)
- 1 envelope Lipton Beefy Onion Soup Mix
- 1/2 cup dry red wine
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1/4 teaspoon cumin, if desired

Combine beefy onion soup mix, wine, vinegar and Worcestershire sauce. Place steaks in utility dish or plastic bag; add marinade, turning to coat steaks. Cover dish or tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight), turning at least once. Drain marinade from meat and combine with tomato sauce, brown sugar, chili powder and cumin, if desired, in small saucepan; cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Place steaks on grill so surface of meat is 4 inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 7 to 10 minutes on each side, depending upon degree of doneness desired (rare or medium). Brush steaks with sauce occasionally while broiling. 6 to 8 servings.

Onion Chiliburgers

- 2-1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1 envelope Lipton Onion or Beefy Onion Soup Mix
- 1/3 cup water
- 1/3 cup chili sauce
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine ground beef, onion soup mix, water, chili sauce, green pepper and pepper, mixing lightly until ingredients are evenly distributed. Shape into 8 patties 3/4 inch thick. Place on grill or on rack in broiler pan 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil 7 to 8 minutes on first side, turn and broil 6 to 8 minutes, to degree of doneness desired. Serve on split Kaiser rolls or hamburger buns. 8 servings.

Designer Decorates Home With Secondhand Items

Designer Leslie Linsley is dedicating her secondhand stores and specialty shops, she said. Not that she uses them to cook in. Smaller pans become ash trays or serving dishes. Spray-painted, the kidney-shaped field cup from a mess ket becomes a vase or a handy holder for cosmetics, toothbrushes and toothpaste.

"I brushed aluminum paint bucket makes a good ice bucket," she said, and when it frosts up, that adds to its charm. To make ice last longer in it, she suggests a cheap plastic foam ice bucket as a liner. "We're very visually oriented," Ms. Linsley said of herself and her husband, Jon Aron, a designer and photographer.

"This is our way of living, using space creatively without spending a lot of money. We often can't afford what we want to buy."

"I think today people will spend money on a comfortable couch but they might not spend money on accessories—ash trays, a candy dish, a fruit bowl."

"People should look more closely at ordinary things. Right now places like Brompton's (a trendy New York department store) carry in-painted, bright red and marked each pan with press-on letters from an art supply house. She uses it in her Nantucket, Mass., kitchen to hold table knives, forks, spoons, and napkins and miscellaneous articles."

Suppliers are surprising, she said. "They're fascinated by someone walking in off the street to buy their merchandise."
