

Rec Director Suggests Buses to Beach, Shops

SOUTH WINDSOR—A proposal for various bus services to beaches and shopping areas, in each individual case, has been prepared by James Snow, recreation director, and now needs the approval of the Town Council.

Snow proposes on each Wednesday during the summer months, a bus leave from the Wapping Community Center parking lot and go to either Hammamasset, Rocky Neck or Ocean Beach on a predetermined schedule.

The bus would leave South Windsor at 9 a.m. and arrive at one of the beaches about 10:15. It would leave at 3:30 p.m. and arrive back in town about 5 p.m.

Snow said if a school bus is used it carries 40 passengers and the cost of each trip would be $120. If a coach is rented they carry 45 people and the cost would be $150.

Hammamasset and Rocky Neck are state beaches but Ocean Beach is owned by the City of New London.

The bus charges for Ocean Beach would be the same but there would be an additional charge of 50 cents per person for entrance into the park, pool and bathhouse area. For an additional charge of $2.50 per person each individual may also gain entrance to the park, bathhouse and pool as well as rides on all amusements and the next to Enfield, and the next to West Farms and the next to West Windsor.

Snow said the cost for this trip would be $65 and the bus would carry 40 persons with advance registration required. He suggests a fee of $1.75 for this service. The cost of this program would be $455 and the council would also have to underwrite it with fees to go back to the general fund.

Snow suggests, as an alternate method of funding the programs, to make them self-supporting, and if the capacity of the bus isn't met one week before the scheduled trip, then the trip would be cancelled.

Ag Leaders Eye Transit

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (UPI)—State agricultural leaders from nine Northeastern states have agreed to hammer out a regional policy statement on transportation and bring it both to Congress and the Coalition of Northeast Governors.

The Northeast Association of State Departments of Agriculture, meeting in this Warren County city Wednesday, urged the "revitalization of rail, waterways and port facilities in the Northeast and a non-discriminating, flexible rail rate structure for the region," a statement said.

As another means of raising distribution techniques, the group encouraged a nationwide raising of state truck weight limits to 80,000 pounds.

The group also agreed that governments should work to guarantee that farmers would be used for agriculture, that tax policies should keep present farmland in production and that institutions of higher education give greater priority to rural needs.

"Bolstering the region's farm economy will also help lower the transportation cost factor in retail food prices," the statement said.

The group also approved a $97,000 budget for the 1979-80 program of the Eastern United States Agriculture and Food Export Council.

Attending the meeting were Association President J. Roger Barber, New York; Vice President Leonard Krogh, Connecticut; Secretary-Treasurer Howard Townsend, New Hampshire; Stuart Smith, Maine; Frederic Wintrop Jr., Massachusetts; Phillip Alapi, New Jersey; Penrose Hallowell, Rhode Island; W. Edward Wood, Pennsylvania; and William Darrow, Vermont.

State and Union Reach Accord

HARTFORD (UPI)—Negotiators for the state and Connecticut's largest state employees union Friday agreed on a tentative contract covering 8,500 clerical workers, the largest single state bargaining unit.

Meanwhile, a federal judge denied the Connecticut State Employees Association's first attempt to overturn a court order barring 1,300 judicial workers from staging a job action, and state data processing employees staged a wildcat picket to protest their stalled contract talks.

Details of the agreement with CSEA's Clerical Council were withheld pending ratification by the union rank-and-file. A CSEA spokesman said the contract was unanimously approved by the union bargaining team.

Agreements have now been reached with four bargaining units representing a total of about 12,500 of the 40,000 union state employees. The state has about 22 different contracts with bargaining units from seven unions.

Earlier in the day, Senior U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal denied the CSEA's motion seeking to nullify a state court's restraining order prohibiting the judicial workers' job action.

The CSEA said it will study the decision over the weekend and its attorneys will announce their next move Monday.

Blumenthal said he found no evidence that the restraining order issued Thursday by Hartford Superior Court Judge Leo Parkey violated union members' constitutional rights as the CSEA had argued.

However, the union's request was kept alive as Blumenthal ordered the state to respond to the motion, meaning a further hearing will be held where both sides will argue their positions.

"This case has just begun, it is not over," CSEA attorney Donald Weisman said as he announced the judicial workers' job action.

slowly business in some courts. State officials said Thursday workers who were known to have participated will not be paid for the day.

The court order barring the judicial workers' job action didn't stop data processing employees in the Department of Administrative Services from staging a wildcat picket.

"It was a total surprise to the state, it was a total surprise to us," said CSEA Executive Director Edward Caffrey, who added that while the union hadn't called the job action it will support the workers.

Although figures on how many computer workers called in sick weren't available, Caffrey said none of the workers in the comptroller's office had turned up for work.

He's Staying?
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Energy Secretary James Schlesinger Friday sidestepped reports he is about to be forced out of office by saying President Carter has supported him "in the past" and adding, "I plan to stay around as long as it is useful."

Schlesinger confirmed he has made Carter "a continuing offer" to resign should the president find the growing clamor for the secretary's ouster a serious political liability.

Schlesinger then cut off that line of questioning by reporters who were pressing him for information on the rumors, rifle in Washington, that Carter might dump him in an effort to whip up public support for the revamped energy policies he is expected to announce Sunday.

Economy Slides
But Don't Panic
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although the economy has slid into the recession of 1979, the administration Friday told Congress it had no intention of "pushing the panic button" by cutting taxes or increasing spending.

"It would make no sense at this stage to rush in with a program to pump up the economy by either a new tax cut or spending programs or by an easing of monetary restraint," said Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal.

As Blumenthal and other top officials were making this point on Capitol Hill, House Republicans called a news conference to outline an exact opposite approach.

The GOP urged passage of a $36 billion tax cut, $28 billion of which would be earmarked for individuals, in order to combat the "Democrat recession."

The conflicting advice came one day after the White House acknowledged for the first time the United States is sliding into a mild recession.

The downturn could cost up to 1 million American jobs and inflation will probably soar to its second highest yearly level since the end of World War II, the White House forecast said.

"There is not a sufficient body of consistent evidence to justify pushing the panic button on macro-economic policies," Blumenthal told the Senate Budget Committee.

Blumenthal said the administration wants it understood "we are not wavering in our dedication to the fight on inflation" despite negative economic growth.

"There could be no credibility—at home or abroad—in our dedication to conquer inflation if we were to switch policies with each swing in the economic statistics," he added.

The Republican plan urged: —A permanent reduction in personal income tax rates of at least 10 percent, resulting in an individual tax reduction of $28 billion. —Adjusting personal income tax rates to offset inflation, which automatically pushes many taxpayers into higher tax brackets. —Freezing Social Security taxes at their present levels. —Stimulating capital investment and productivity by allowing a speed-up in depreciation rates for buildings, equipment and vehicles, saving $5 billion in taxes.

DC-10s Return
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal Aviation Administrator Langhorne Bond Friday approved the return of the DC-10 to the nation's airways, with orders for frequent inspections and some modifications.

"Today, I am returning the DC-10 to the air," said Bond. "We have restored to my satisfaction the safety questions raised by the tragic crash of flight 191 in Chicago and we have worked out strict measures to assure that such a crash will not occur again."

LeBeau: Officials Gambled at Party
Blackstone, LeBeau asked the mayor if he has cited Police Chief Clarence Drumm, who attended the party, for "dereliction of duty."

LeBeau said Drumm should have reported the incident to the state Liquor Control Commission.

The party, which town officials commonly call the "town fathers' dinner," was held May 10 at the Riverside Fore Restaurant. The restaurant is partly owned by Public Works Director Arthur J. Mulligan and Francis P. Murphy, a housing inspector for the town.

Pratt & Whitney sponsors a cocktail hour and dinner for town officials each year. Invited guests include town department heads, political party officials, elected and appointed representatives and members of advisory boards and commissions.

LeBeau said Drumm "is not doing his job" as police chief by not reporting the incident to the Liquor Control Commission.

Drumm could not be reached by The Herald for comment on LeBeau's charges.

Mayor Blackstone acknowledged that he saw others playing cards at the dinner, but did not participate himself.

Blackstone said he left the dinner early—about 9 or 9:30 p.m.—but admitted he saw other town officials participating.

He said it would not be fair to name the officials who were participating, because he does not know the name of every participant.

Blackstone called LeBeau's letter, which he received Friday, a politically motivated letter. "It's a lot of nothing. It's politically motivated, but I don't know its purpose."

Blackstone said the Pratt & Whitney affair is "a fine social event, a time to get together and say, 'Hello!'"

He said the dinner is arranged each year by the aircraft and about 60 or 70 town officials attended.

"The mayor said he wasn't 'paying too much attention' to the card game."

LeBeau said he has nothing against social gambling. "It's fun," he said.

SUMMER YOUTH SCENE

Compiled and Written By Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM).

Was Audience Satisfied?

The question on poses after experiencing the first of SAM's summer concerts is this: Does the rowdiness of an audience necessarily reflect its satisfaction?

The complacent, diverse, and larger-than-average crowd filling up Nebo Saturday seems to suggest it doesn't. Tiger Eye serenaded the sunset with fast-paced, hard rock and roll, and ushered in the latter hours with softer, lilting tunes of love and lusty yearning.

Despite the band's versatility and audience seemed

Horton will discuss the characteristics of the animals, their environment, and how to take care of them as pets.

Older Buses Offered For Vernon Commuters

VERNON—In answer to a request made by Mayor Frank McCoy, the state Office of Policy and Management has offered to let the town use two older buses for its commuter service to Hartford.

However, McCoy said that the owner of the Collins Bus Service, which runs the commuter bus program, went to look at the buses and said that he wasn't pleased with the quality of them, but he did pick one he feels he can use.

The mayor said Department of Transportation officials said the buses offered had been on regular runs up to a few weeks ago. He said

Auction Planned

HEBRON—The Men's Planning group of the First Congregational Church of Hebron is making plans for its annual "Red Barn Auction," scheduled for Sept. 15.

The men are gathering and soliciting donations for the auction which will be at the church at Routes 66 and 85. Profits are used to buy items for the church.

Bob Hendrickson of Columbia will be the auctioneer. The men's group needs such items as furniture, appliances, dishes, clocks, and antiques.

Women of the church will conduct a raffle with the first prize to be a handmade quilt and the second prize a handmade aligan.

There will also be a food booth, homemade cider, baked goods and popcorn.

Anyone having items to donate to the auction should contact Emery Taylor, Bass Lake Road, Armon, or Albert Coolidge, Church Street.

Small Crowd Sees 'Phantom' Disaster

The silent classic "The Phantom of the Opera" was viewed in part last week at Nebo by a disappointingly small crowd. A comfortable evening turned into chaos as heavy winds cracked rickety screen support and sent movie screen and all crashing to the earth.

The climax of the little-appreciated movie was, due to expediency, also its finale, and the dwindling number of watchers were forced to guess at its true ending.

SAM's next film will be "Red Sky at Morning" at Nebo around 8:30 p.m. This film is an enduring, moving story depicting Richard Thomas as a 17-year-old waiting out World War II in Mexico with his mother. It is a story of growth and maturation and should not be missed. Best Arnez Jr. and Catherine Burns are featured.

SAM aides are working extra hard at rebuilding screen supports. This fact, teamed with the sound and color of "Red Sky," should be enough incentive to spend a relaxing summer evening Tuesday, July 17, at Nebo.

LeBeau: Officials Gambled at Party

EAST HARTFORD—Town officials gambled during a card party at a dinner here last night in May by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group, Democratic mayor candidate Gary D. LeBeau charged Friday.

Dealers Protest Gas Allocations
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Hundreds of Pennsylvania and Delaware independent gasoline dealers kept their pumps locked Friday in protest to the federal gas allocation system and low profits.

Despite the strike by most of the 700 members of the Pennsylvania-Delaware Service Station Dealers Association, there was little evidence of the long gas lines and panic buying that prevailed throughout Pennsylvania before the odd-even rationing system began two weeks ago.

Gov. Dick Thornburgh said Friday he was working on contingency plans in case the strike provokes a severe gasoline shortage, but refused to say what they were.

Thornburgh also stated President Carter for making an unannounced "public relations" visit to Pittsburgh Thursday night and refusing to help resolve the strike.

There were reports that gasoline pump hoses were slashed at stations ignoring the strike in the Pittsburgh and Uniontown areas in the southwestern corner of the state, and also in Wilmington, Del.

The independent dealers began their shutdown Thursday night. Their stations make up less than half of the retail gasoline business.

Dealers in New Jersey threatened to close down at the end of business Friday. But a judge in Trenton, N.J., late Thursday granted the state a restraining order against the action by the New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association.

The Pennsylvania-Delaware shutdown first was planned for June 28 but was postponed after the association met with Carter administration officials.

Tom Anderson, executive director of the dealers association, predicted "public relations" visit to Pittsburgh Thursday night and refusing to help resolve the strike.

"because people became frustrated, which turns to anger and then violence."

Red Book Here Again

By RUSS MACKENDRICK Welcome things, in the cycle of the seasons, are garden peas, ripe raspberries — and Yeoman's Red Book. It is here again, now in the 3rd edition (1980), on sale at our Main Street coin shop. The price has held, miraculously, at $3.95.

It is not awaited as eagerly for pricing information as in years past. The coin market has become so fickle that now if you go in with a good item to sell, the proprietor will turn to something called the "Grey Sheet," (The Coin Dealer Newsletter). This appears weekly with columns of bid-and-asked quotations and a dissertation on the market in depth.

This year's edition, edited by Ken Bressett, reports on a newly discovered Mint error. Prizes will be awarded the one shown here (which auctioned for $210 at a 1977 Bowers & Ruddy sale), except that some of the blundered coins and their subdivisions are spelled out by the authors as applied to the whole gamut of U.S. mintages together with suggested prices — which are much lower than you might think.

Australia Welcomes Big Hunk of Skylab

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — A bit belatedly, Skylab — or at least a big hunk of it — was given a royal red carpet welcome Friday.

The town council of Kalgoorlie, 400 miles east of Perth, literally rolled out the red carpet as a 6 1/2 by 3 1/2 foot chunk of Skylab junk was pushed, pulled, shoved and squeezed into Kalgoorlie's town hall.

The San Francisco Examiner offered a $10,000 reward to the first person to deliver a piece of Skylab to its offices before 10:30 a.m. PDT Saturday — 72 hours after the space station's fiery crash over the Indian Ocean and parts of western Australia.

Feds Join in Manhunt For Mobster's Killers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal agents joined New York City detectives Friday in a manhunt for two henchmen of Carmine "Lilo" Galante who may have set up the aging Mafia don for his bloody execution in the sunlight glare of a small Italian restaurant in Brooklyn.

The 69-year-old "godfather" of the Joseph Bonanno crime family, his cousin Giuseppe Turano, 47, who owned the restaurant, and Nino Coppola, a Galante associate, were cut down in a fusillade of shotgun and sub-machinegun fire Thursday as they slipped wine on the back patio. Turano's son was wounded.

Speculation about the motive for the two men arrived at Joe and Mary's Italian Restaurant in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn about 1:45 p.m. — about an hour after Galante's death.

Police said the two men, each of whom had previously been arrested on weapons charges, were driving a 1977 blue Lincoln

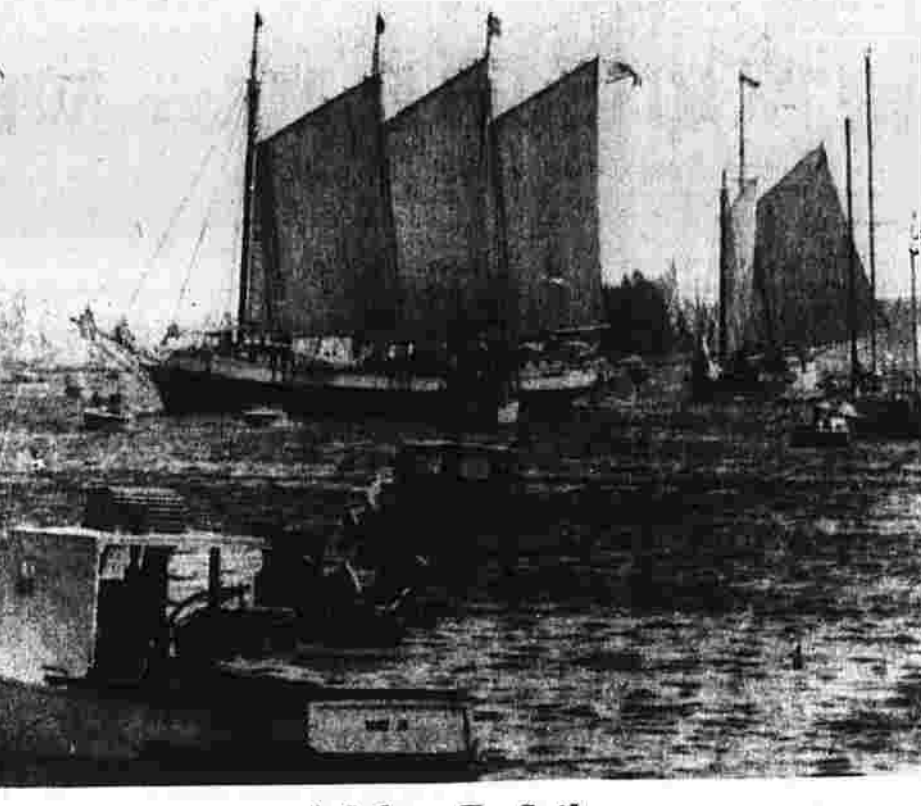

East Hartford Escapee Arrested in Rocky Hill

EAST HARTFORD — A Hartford man who escaped from the custody of local police last May, by dragging an officer into flames, was held on charges of escapee on Tuesday by Rocky Hill police.

Van Harris, 25, of 76 Niles St., was arrested Friday as he was entering the car of an acquaintance at the Century Hills apartment complex in Rocky Hill, police said.

East Hartford police have charged him on warrants with interfering with and assaulting a police officer. Harris was held on the custody of Officer Paul Lakenbach on May 25. As he drove away, Lakenbach held onto his car door and was dragged several feet.

Harris then drove to Orchard Street and got into another car with two companions. Police chased them on Interstate 84 into

Gas Shutdown Breaking Laws, Bozzuto Says

HARTFORD (UPI) — A shutdown by gasoline stations would violate Connecticut's Anti-trust Act so the state should be armed with an injunction to block a possible boycott, Sen. Richard Bozzuto, R-Waterbury, said Friday.

Bozzuto, in a letter to Gov. Ella Grasso, said the act prohibits any group from acting together to discountinue the sale "of any part of trade or commerce." He said the attorney general should prepare to seek a court order.

"The people of our state cannot tolerate even one day of such severe disruption of normal gasoline distribution," Bozzuto said in the letter to the governor.

"We must be prepared for this action by the gasoline retailers and either seek an injunction immediately or have the court papers ready for service instantly if this threat becomes a reality," he said. Wayne Kontishek, president of the 1,200-member Connecticut Gasoline Retailers Association, said this week pumps in the state would shutdown next Monday unless the federal government allows owners a 30 percent profit margin.

Joys of Today Missed in Living for Tomorrow

By CLIFF SIMPSON

Some live so much for tomorrow that they miss some of the joys of today. During my active ministry in Center Church, I had conversations with some who it seemed to me were just marking time until "after Christmas," when the summer ends and the children go back to school.

Conversely, I have heard words of Jesus quoted "take no thought for the morrow" to justify a grasshopper philosophy of life. These words are used in the King James version of the Bible, but we must remember the word "thought" in 1911 meant "anxious thought."

Manchester Vacations Include Church Visits

Whichever, while on vacation in Manchester from year to year, I appreciate worshipping in the town's various churches - both Protestant and Roman Catholic as well as the synagogues.

Senior Citizens

By Wally Fortin
 HI! Without a column on Wednesday for a few weeks, news really creeps up. For instance, this coming Monday, July 16th, we will start signing up for another afternoon at the dog track. Last time it was $5.00, this time it will be $10.00. $7.00 will go to the track and $3.00 will go to our furnishing fund. Where else today, can you get a bus ride, program, a meal, a drink and a chance to win a few bucks as well as give your center a helping hand? We will be limited to 2 buses for this trip which is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 9th so we start registering around 9 a.m. Monday morning.

Now on the following Monday, July 23rd, we will sign up for a Polka Festival located in Hunter Mountain, N.Y. for Tuesday, August 14th. Bus ride and admission will be $14.00. You'll spend the day browsing around, dancing lots of Polkas and plenty of places for us to eat. While on trips, it is a reminder that we now have filled the third bus to our setback games and are asking you folks who are signed up to come in as soon as possible and no later than this coming week to pay for the trip. By the way, we have one bus going on Manhattan boat ride this coming Tuesday and we will be leaving the center here at 8 a.m. so all you folks who are going, should arrive around 7:30 a.m. Here are some of the happenings that went on this past week here at the center.

Last Friday afternoon we had 40 players for our setback games and the winners were: Paul Schuetz, 135; Arthur Bouffard, 123; Archie Houghtaling, 122; John Phelps, 122; John Gally, 122; Gladys Seelert, 121; Martin Bakstan, 120; Francis File, 119; Ann Fisher, 118; Josephine Schuetz, 117.

USA-Puerto Rico in Hoop Feature

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) - The United States got its way in a low court Friday morning when Bobby Knight's assault case was postponed to Aug. 2. But things weren't expected to be as easy Friday night for Uncle Sam's men and women on the basketball court at the Pan American Games.

The U.S. basketball team came out after the gold medal Friday night with the women taking on Cuba in the first game of a double-header at Roberto Clemente Coliseum and the men facing Puerto Rico in the nightcap.

A standing room only crowd was expected for the second game, and the enthusiasm the local people have for their basketball team borders on insanity. For Knight, who coaches at Indiana University, it will be similar to taking his team to play Kentucky at Lexington, Ky.

Look Of Loser

Gerulaitis Upset By Wojtek Fibak

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) - Wojtek Fibak advanced to the semifinals of the $300,000 Forest Hills Invitational for the second straight year Friday when he upset defending champion Vitas Gerulaitis 7-6, 7-6 in the 12-man round robin event.

In earlier matches, Gene Mayer beat Raul Ramirez, 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, and Sandy and Gene Mayer won by default over Fibak and Ramirez in doubles competition.

In evening matches, Peter Fleming and Harold Solomon and John Alexander went against John McEnroe to determine the wild-card berth in Saturday's semifinals.

Fibak, who is from Poland, joined Solomon and Victor Pecc at winners in their respective four-man groups. First prize in the WCT tournament is $10,000.

The 27-year old Fibak, who lost to Gerulaitis in last year's semifinals, took the second set tie-breaker 8-6 when Gerulaitis netted an easy forehand return to end the two-hour match.

Fibak reeled off the final five 1-2, putting away the set with a superb backhand winner after a strong approach shot.

Fibak, ranked 41st in the world, had lost his last three matches to Gerulaitis, who is from Kings Point, N.Y., including the finals of the WCT championship in 1977.

The final set saw Fibak jump to a 3-0 lead before Gerulaitis fought back to take a 6-5 lead with a forehand crosscourt winner. But Gerulaitis, who reached set point in the 12th game, could not tie the match and Fibak rifled a backhand cross-court winner to force the tie-breaker.

Following the match Gerulaitis left the court without the traditional handshake to the referee and Fibak made a point of criticizing his opponent's sportsmanship.

"I never said it before but it's happened too many times," said Fibak. "Young sportsmen in America don't act like gentlemen or even humans - they're just like machines. They have to win all the time. They never know how to lose."

"I won my match and I deserve to have it end like the others. I didn't expect it to end like this."

Top Seed Gullikson In Upset to Pfister

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) - Sixth seeded Hank Pfister upset top seeded Tim Gullikson of La Crosse, Wisc. 6-4, 6-2 and third seeded Stan Smith ousted No. 7 seed Geoff Masters of Brisbane, Australia, 6-3, 6-7, 6-3 in quarterfinal play Friday at the $100,000 Hall of Fame tennis championship.

Pfister, of Los Gatos, Calif., will face Smith of Pasadena, Calif., in semifinal action Saturday when Tim Wilkison of Shelby, N.C. will meet Brian Teacher of Los Angeles in other side of the draw.

Pfister convincingly angled his championship match loss to Gullikson here two years ago by breaking Gullikson's serve in the third game of the match - the only break he needed in the first set.

He then started the second set at the Newport Casino, breaking service in the first game when Gullikson netted the second of two break points while Smith escaped from four set points.

The difference in the decisive set was Smith's breaking Masters in the sixth game.

"I don't think it was one of the best matches either of us has played," Smith said. "It wasn't consistent tennis."

in seven games and is very quick with fine outside shooters.

How hostile the local crowds can be was evident in the afternoon's tennis finals when Mel Purcell of Murray, Ky., was heckled unmercifully by the fans in his match with Chile's Ricardo Acuna. Purcell, however, used the crowds' jeers to his advantage and played inspired tennis in dominating Chile 6-4, 7-5 to win the gold medal.

"It got me all fired up and all I knew after that was that I wanted to make every point," Purcell said of the rowdies.

The women's basketball team also was expected to have a difficult time against Cuba. Both teams entered the game untested and both favored the fastbreak style.

Whereas the men's team was going to be the enemy of the crowd, it was to be the friend of the press.

"This team has a court personality that people like to see," said Head Coach Joe Kramer. "I don't like to think I coach a run-and-gun style. I prefer to call it a controlled fastbreak. But we do turn on the crowd."

PM-AM GAMES

The U.S. picked up another gold medal in tennis later in the afternoon with Susan Hagey, a Stanford University graduate, team with Ann Hendrickson of Mahomet, Minn., to easily beat Canada's Nicole Marois and Helene Pelletier, 6-0, 6-2.

Hagey had earlier won the gold in women's singles.

Purcell and his Tennessee University teammate Andy Kohlborg of Larchmont, N.Y., earned the U.S. its fifth gold medal in six tennis events by defeating Acuna and Hector Perez of Chile, 6-3, 6-1, in men's doubles.

The men's softball team also tried to wrap up a gold medal Friday night. Ty Stofflet, the premier outfielder in fastpitch softball, was scheduled to pitch the winner.

Early Friday, the women's softball squad advanced to the semifinals by hitting him on the jaw, allegedly "as a reflex action," when Silva allegedly poked him in the eye.

Knights' "approximately" seven witnesses, including members and assistant coaches of the team, will return to San Juan for the trial, according to Gonzalez Correa. He promised the judge that Knight would not jump his $100 bail.

"I played Raul before so I know his pattern," said Mayer. "His backhand is a little weak so I tried serving and volleying to that and attacking his second serve. Then my serve was really good in the last set."

In a late afternoon match, Pecci defeated Vijay Amritraj, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, to finish at 3-0 in the preliminary round.

Dixon Injured

HOUSTON (UPI) - Houston Astros relief pitcher Tom Dixon suffered a fracture of a bone above his left wrist in a batting practice accident Thursday night.

British Grand Prix Pole to Alan Jones

SILVERSTONE, England (UPI) - Alan Jones of Australia, a winner just once in 60 races, will start from pole position Saturday in the British Grand Prix after unofficially shaving more than six seconds off the lap record and leaving his rivals dispirited in his wake.

"My engine was off a little bit today but I've got a new one for tomorrow," said Jones, who is hoping his Friday test drive proves more reliable than in previous races.

"It's looking too good. That's why I'm not saying much," Frenchman Jean-Pierre Jabouille, winner of the French grand prix at Dijon two weeks ago, will start alongside Jones on the front row for the 80-lap race after clocking 1:12.48 in his Renault-Turbo.

"I can ever remember on Thursday," said Berning, "who won the Open in less time on the golf course 1969, 1972 and 1973."

Curiously, her first round 79 was the same score she recorded at Winged Foot in 1972 when she won her second major title by one shot over Judy Rankin, Kathy Ahern and Pam Barnett.

She did not complete in the last two Opens, her game taking a back seat to her family life. She has two daughters aged 8 and 20 months.

"I like to devote more than half of my time to my family," Berning said. "This is my eleventh tournament in this year. That's more than I've played in either of the last two years."

More than one third of the field failed to break 100 and the cut was expected to be in the low 100s.

Berning, Penny Pulz, Laura Baugh and Kathy Heigt were in at 145. Leading money winner Nancy Lopez headed a group of six at 146.

Dougherty in Lead In Milwaukee Open

FRANKLIN, Wis. (UPI) Ed Dougherty, who claims a hand-urpury accounted for his nightmarish 1978 season, shot a 6-under par 66 to take sole possession of first place Friday after two rounds of the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

Dougherty, seeking his first major victory, had a 133 total for 11-under par. Vic Regalado, who shared the first-round lead with three others, shot a 68 despite a double bogey on No. 41 and was one stroke back.

David Graham, who insisted the course was tougher than it looked, was among six golfers tied for third at 138.

Eight others, including former U.S. Open champion Andy North of Madison, were at 138 as the pros continued to attack the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course in muggy, 90-degree weather.

Dougherty champion Lee Elder, one of the few pros playing poorly, complained of pain in his right leg and withdrew after seven holes.

Lee Trevino, who again had the largest gallery, rallied for a 68 and was at 138.

Seventy-nine golfers advanced to the third round, but some big names were not included in the cut-off mark of 143. They included defending PGA champion John Mahaffey, Frank Beard, and Miller Barber, all at 144, and Masters champion Fuzzy Zoeller, who was at 145.

Dougherty, who clipped in for an eagle on the 57-yard second hole, said he was amazed by his putting. He sank a 30-footer on the seventh hole, a 18-footer on the eighth and a twisting 30-foot downhill putt on the ninth.

His only bogey came when he three-putted the par-3 17th.

"I'm very pleased with my two rounds. It's not an easy course," he said. "I think there is a misconception about that because pros are shooting such low scores. Maybe the scores being shot here are due to the excellent condition the course is in."

Johnny Miller, who was paired with Graham and shot a second straight 68, agreed.

"If this keeps up I wouldn't be surprised if it took 16 under to win here," he said. "If you don't believe me, go out there and check some of the pin placements."

But Fernán Zetzer, who was tied with Graham and shot the most courses on the tour.

"It's got a lot of wide open spaces," he said.

Berning Fires 66

FAIRFIELD (UPI) - She hasn't won since 1976 - a dry spell incurred in part by a decision to spend more time with her family and less time on the golf course.

Curiously, her first round 79 was the same score she recorded at Winged Foot in 1972 when she won her second major title by one shot over Judy Rankin, Kathy Ahern and Pam Barnett.

Knights' Trial Date Changed

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) - Bobby Knight's trial on charges of assaulting a local policeman was postponed Friday after the U.S. basketball coach's lawyers claimed he was under "extraordinary pressures" hours before his undefeated team was to play Puerto Rico for the gold medal at the Pan American Games.

San Juan District Court Judge George Lopez Keelan accepted the motion to postpone the trial until Aug. 22, presented by Luis Fernin Gonzalez Correa, one of Knight's five lawyers, after District Attorney Juan Brunet said he had no objection.

Knights' own lawyer cited a curious reason for the postponement - he wants the Puerto Rican basketball team, which like the U.S. is undefeated, to win the game.

"It is the responsibility of all of us to be prepared for tonight's game - so that Puerto Rico will win," Gonzalez Correa said.

"All day yesterday, Mr. Knight, the players and lawyers met to discuss the case and because of the extraordinary circumstances, we have found it physically impossible to prepare for the trial."

Last Wednesday, Knight had been ordered to appear in San Juan District Court on Aug. 3 but he requested that the date be moved up to Friday.

The 38-year-old Indiana University coach, who is making a name for himself as basketball's equivalent of Woody Hayes, refused to talk to reporters before and after Friday's court session.

Angel David Gonzalez, president of the Puerto Rican policeman's association, said he backs Silva's right to press charges as a private citizen.

Gonzalez said the policeman's association will legally and morally support Silva against "that bully and troublemaker."

Britz Forges into Lead Second Straight 70

FAIRFIELD (UPI) - Jerilyn Britz, reeling off 5 birdies on the front nine, edged away from the pack Friday with her second straight 70 to take a two-shot lead over three others after two rounds of the $125,000 U.S. Women's Open.

Britz' two-day total of 140, two under par, made her the only player in the field to better par over 36 holes.

Debbie Massey, a first round co-leader with Britz, birdied 11 to salvage a one over 72. She was tied by Sally Little who had a second straight 71 and Sandra Palmer, who had a 69, the third best round of the day, to go with her first round 73.

Britz' incredible front nine was tempered by two bogeys and just one par. She finished the nine at three under, giving her a three shot lead over the field. However, she bogied 14 to inch back to the field.

"I don't ever remember having a front nine like that. Thank God for the birdies. I don't mind making bogey if I can make birdies the next hole," Britz said.

Britz, who has never won on the LPGA tour, has placed in the top 10 in four of her last five starts. She said she felt more confident now than at any time in the past and predicted she would hold up to the pressure.

All alone at 145 was Pam Higgins, who posted a 72 to go with her first round 71. At 144 were Judy Rankin, who had five birdies and a 68, Mary Dwyer (73-71), Jane Blalock (73-71).

That beautiful country of Montana, half a million dollars a big - and everything about it is big! The mountains are big; the trees are big; the sky is big; the rivers are big; the fields are big; the flies are big; (both real and artificial), everything is big, including the fish.

During our float trip with Val Schreiber down the Madison, he kept mentioning people he had guided, who had been "broken off" while fishing with him. I also heard the expression quite often at Henry's Lake Lodge, the fishing camp we stayed at.

It didn't take me too long to realize that the expression meant having a fish break off your line once you'd hooked it. This is not an uncommon experience when fishing with very small flies, and an exceptionally light leader, or again not uncommon, if a hook is not set into a fish in the proper manner.

When I threw my interpretation at Val, he smiled and said, "That may be the way you figure it back east, but out here we mean that a hook is not set into a fish in the proper manner."

Well, I did get to find out what he meant, a week after we had our first float trip with him. We stopped in to see Bill Berndt, at Jim Danksin's Tackle Shop and arranged another trip for us down the Madison. And he used the same expression: "I hope you get a chance to see what it's like to get 'broken off'."

The next day found us floating down the Madison again, and this time I was doing much better. Had had time to practice and I caught and released a few really good size rainbows, browns and whitefish. I was into the new (to me) system of fishing.

Swedish Visitor

Roi Mattson, a Swedish visitor to the U.S., sits in the driver's seat with Jane Wlochowski of 54 Cambridge St., Manchester, his hostess. He cleaned and polished Mrs. Wlochowski's

Positive Attitude of U.S. Attraction For Visitor

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — Roi Mattson was born in and spent all his life in Sweden, and has the looks of a typical Scandinavian. But he speaks excellent British English.

"At home, we are taught by British teachers to speak English correctly," he says as he continues in his nearly flawless precise speech. Only rarely, for want of the correct word, does he pause in his conversation. For if he were at home, in Goteborg, also Goteberg, he would be speaking in his native tongue, or German, which he teaches in school on a substitute basis.

Mattson is visiting with the Michael Wlochowski family who have been participants in the American Host Foundation program four years.

"We have had wonderful luck with our four foreign guests," Jane Wlochowski said, "and each year we wonder if our good fortune will continue."

Their first guest was a building contractor from Wales. Since then, there has been a school teacher from London (who Jane and a girlfriend plan to visit this summer), a school teacher from Germany, and now Roi.

"We find it so interesting and our two boys learn so much," Jane said about her hosting experiences. In August, the Wlochowski's will be hosts to a visitor from West Berlin as part of the Friendship Force program.

The best way to see ourselves as others see us, perhaps, is through the eyes of a foreign visitor.

"Americans are spoiled people. You don't know how well you are," Roi says. "You have everything and everything is in easy reach. America is a country of waste."

Speaking of the gasoline problem, and the energy situation, Roi says, "If things get really bad here economically, your society will really go down because you have built it (the economy) on the car. Back home, our shops are closer together."

Despite Roi's comments, he finds America a fascinating country. He says he would consider coming here work.

"Everything here is on a positive note. At home, there's too much greed and jealousy. A person has more incentive here," he says.

He blew a gourmet kiss to Jane as he complimented her on her "fantastic" culinary talent.

He will spend a week each in Wayland and Belchertown, Mass., with host families before returning home.

One effect Roi will try on his friends when he returns home is America's open friendliness. "I would like to try to apply the generous way people meet each other here."

Hot racer

When John Bennett Perry, star of ABC's new "240 Robert," jumps into the driver's seat of the 240 team's customized four-wheel drive wagon, he should feel right at home. John used to be the hottest thing on wheels in his hometown of Williamstown, Mass. He bought his first car at age 14 - a customized '32 Ford coupe powered by a '56 Thunderbird engine. He raced as a B-altered coupe drag racer until a 125-m.p.h. scare convinced him to leave the track behind.

Moonlighter

Don Stewart, who plays the popular role of lawyer Mike Bauer during the day on CBS's "Guiding Light," is also starring in "The Music Man" during the evening this summer. Stewart is playing Harold Hill in the musical which runs through Sept. 2 at the Jones Beach Theater in Wantagh, at the Long Island State Park. Stewart has played lawyer Bauer on the daytime serial since 1968.

A LITTLE ROMANCE

Guest stars Ray Bolger and Eileen Heckart portray an unemployed, hard-drinking visitor to Walnut Grove, and an independent prудish resident who are maneuvered into a romance by the Ingalls children, in "Dance With Me," a special 90-minute episode of NBC's "Little House on the Prairie," Monday, July 16.

Film clips

Mel Brooks, whose comedy films have included "Blazing Saddles" and "Young Frankenstein," will star in his first TV special in the fall of 1980 on NBC. "The First Mel Brooks Special" will feature segments from his films never seen before on commercial TV, including scenes from his next movie, "The History of the World, Part I." Stars from his past movies will participate as will "Today" co-host Gene Shalit, whom Brooks refers to as "my favorite cinema critic-personality."

Pitcher's arm

Ten years ago, the brilliant pitching career of ABC Sports expert commentator Don Drysdale came to an abrupt halt because of a torn rotator cuff in his right shoulder. There was no cure.

On June 8, Kansas City pitcher Steve Busby held the Boston Red Sox to two hits and no runs over the first nine innings of a scoreless tie. Busby, like Drysdale, tore up the same rotator cuff. Medical science, however, has now developed surgery for that type of injury.

Rod's special

Rock superstar Rod Stewart and the magazine with the world's largest circulation, TV Guide, will be the focus of two specials to be presented on NBC during the 1979-80 season.

Rod Stewart will star in a one-hour special to be taped at the Forum in Inglewood, Calif. "25 Years of TV Guide," a two-hour special covering the history of television as seen through the eyes of the editors of TV Guide, will be hosted by a top TV personality.

TV Dial-ogue

LOST WEST — Could you tell me what has happened to "How the West Was Won"? It is my favorite show and it's one of the few shows that kids can watch. — S.W., Longview, Texas

I guess you kids in Texas are really into all that Jim Arness cussin' and killin', huh? Sorry to throw cold water on your fun, but "How the West Was Won" died a dusty death in the desert of cancellation. It's off now because it only serves as a limited-run fill-in for Monday Night Football and Baseball. According to ABC's current plans, it won't be back next year.

BRAINY BIKER — What ever happened to William Smith who played Falconetti on "Rich Man, Poor Man"? I used to see him in motorcycle movies, too, but not lately. I used to like him on "Laredo." — Audrey Lyons, Santa Rosa, Calif.

Smith gets to play a good guy for a change on "Hawaii Five-O" next season, when he becomes a cast regular. Not many TV viewers and movie goers know it, but the brawny star of all the biker movies has brains to match. Smith is a linguist and is currently a Ph.D. candidate.

A hopeful Miss USA, Tyger Friel (left), looks to Miss Universe 1978, Margaret Gardner, to pass on her crown when CBS broadcasts "The Miss Universe Pageant," on Thursday, July 19.

Crown Contender

Some of the most beautiful women in the world will vie for the title of Miss Universe 1979 on "The Miss Universe Pageant," to air live via satellite from Perth, Australia, Thursday, July 19, on CBS.

For the 13th consecutive year, television personality Bob Barker will be master of ceremonies and Helen O'Connell will be television hostess for the pageant.

Composer-lyricist-singer-actor Anthony Newley will be special guest star of the ceremonies which will be highlighted by the announcement of 12 semi-finalists and the crowning of Miss Universe 1979 by Margaret Gardner, Miss Universe 1978.

For the second year, an on-screen electronically computed tally of the judges' votes will be shown to the at-home audience. Jayne Kennedy, hostess of "The NFL Today," will serve as television analyst of on-screen computerized results.

Representing the United States is Mary Therese "Tyger" Friel, who was crowned Miss USA on April 30 in Biloxi, Miss. It wouldn't be much of a miracle if Tyger traded in her Miss USA crown for the Miss Universe title. She is, to put it mildly, a looker. She stands 5'7½" tall and weighs in at a trifling 115 pounds.

Tyger hails from a little place outside Rochester, N.Y., called Pittsford, which she describes as "a very conservative community." Her father is an engineer; her mom's an executive secretary. They both like the fact that she wins beauty contests. "My first was Miss Finger Lakes," she says. Tyger. Her next was the new Miss New York, her father cried and her mother fainted.

None of which deterred her from going on to try for the big one — Miss USA. "I've been interested in beauty contests since I was eight," she says. (And since she's only 20, she hasn't done badly.) "I'm interested in the financial rewards," she continues, "and in the fact that you get to meet people you'd never be exposed to otherwise."

The young lady has always thrived on competition. She's a pro horse-woman and a pro disco dancer. She's also very bright, always hitting the honor role at her college (St. John Fisher) in upstate New York.

Before she became Miss New York, Tyger had never set foot in the Big Apple. Once she did, she was hooked. "It's the most exciting place in the world," she says. She plans one day to live in Manhattan — "with my German shepherd, Shadow."

Of course, all of that has to wait until she goes back to school to get her degree in law. And after she's made some points in show business.

FOSTER SISTER — Can you tell me if the little boy who used to be on "Maberry R.F.D." is Jodie Foster's brother? — J. Lucas, Springfield, Pa.

The "little" boy is little no more, in fact Buddy Foster is Jodie's older brother.

Bill Boggs Enjoys New York Success

By JOAN GEOGHEGAN

As emcee of the zany syndicated game show "All-Star Anything Goes," Bill Boggs's athletic all-American appeal reached viewers across America. Ironically, the game show in which groups of television celebrities displayed their prowess at three-legged races, blind driving and equally outrageous contests is a far cry from the urbane talk show host's usual beat.

Boggs says he did the 24 episodes of "All-Star" in 1976 because "I saw it as a comedy-sports show. In three weeks I made three-times the money I make all year."

As host of "Midday Live," a local talk show on New York City's WNEW-TV, the energetic Boggs helps produce and anchors the 90-minute daily show.

He categorizes "Midday" as "a magazine with a certain amount of realism. The network magazines can be over-produced. We're able to sit back and have people in real conversations. I talk to a person and have a sense of what the audience wants to hear. I really listen to the person."

Indeed, all three networks are cranking out magazine shows; some crumble before they acquire audiences.

CBS's "60 Minutes" garners much of its audience from the rambunctious interviewing styles of correspondents Dan

Bill Boggs characterizes his 90-minute weekday talk show, "Midday Live," as more of a magazine than a traditional talk show.

Rather and Mike Wallace. NBC has moved flamboyant Tom Snyder into "Prime Time Sunday" to see what sort of ratings he'll rack up.

As Boggs concludes, "There's a tremendous appeal in being obnoxious... challenging the guests. Being purposely controversial creates conflict, which is the essence of drama."

Bill Boggs doesn't worry about national prime time ratings. As host of a New York area show, he draws from the same talent pool as the big networks, but avoids their ratings pressures. He aims to be relaxed with his guests, to get them talking and revealing things to the audience. Instead of worrying about his star status, Boggs tries to give his audience a good show and maintain his unique humorous style.

Phil Donahue started with a local talk show which now reaches an enormous syndicated market. Is the talented young Boggs looking for the same opportunities?

Not really. Since "Midday" is associated with a local station it can't be syndicated. True, cable TV is extending Boggs's audience further and further out of the New York area. True, a national audience would mean a larger paycheck. But, for now, Boggs is concentrating on building up "Midday," acting and writing a book.

Boggs is reading two scripts - one for a play, another for a film with Allan Carr. His novel, "At First Sight," will be published by Grosset & Dunlap this January. Right now, the book has all his attention. "I wrote it because I got a great idea. It's a terrific story: love, romance, intrigue, mystery, glamour - and sexy."

With "At First Sight," the New York area talk show host will be reaching a national audience again - in print.

"I have no real frustration with life," Boggs says. "The good feedback we get from the audience indicates there are people who don't want to watch soap operas and game shows in the middle of the day."

COMEDY CLASSIC

The antic capers of the Marx Brothers (left to right, Chico, Groucho, Harpo and Zeppo) drive a group of millionaires nuts, in "Animal Crackers." The comedy classic will be broadcast for the first time on television on "The CBS Saturday Night Movies," July 21.

BUDDY'S BABY - I have seen "The Buddy Holley Story" twice and I have had the same questions on my mind each time, but nobody I know knows the answers. What happened to his wife? Did she have a boy or a girl? What did she name the child?

Holly's (he dropped the "e" from Holley for professional reasons) wife is the executor of his estate and worked with the makers of the film. She suffered a miscarriage, so Buddy left no heirs.

MAN'S WORLD - I think I have a hard one, but maybe you can help me. What was the cast of an early '60s series "It's a Man's World"? - Haverhill, Mass.

The footloose fellows aboard that ill-fated houseboat (ABC sunk it after three months) were Glenn Corbett, Mike Burns, Ted Bessel and Randy Boone.
