Inmates Release Hostages

WALPOLE, Mass. (UPI) — Walpole State Prison returned to a "normal" routine today, less than eight hours after inmates released five hostages they had held at knife point for more than 10 hours in reaction to living conditions and the treatment of visitors by prison officials.

A guard at the state's only maximum security prison said the facility had returned to a "normal routine" and no general lockup was in effect, but declined to elaborate further. Spokesmen at the state Corrections Department were not immediately available for comment.

The five hostages, including Superintendent Fred Butterworth, were released tired and shaken shortly after midnight from the prison's old death row cellblock where they had been held. None of the hostages were seriously injured, according to corrections spokesmen.

Butterworth had voluntarily exchanged himself for one of the hostages who had been overpowered during a scuffle with inmates inside the sweltering cellblock where temperatures were reported to be 95 degrees.

got them laying down now," said hospital spokeswoman Mary Hathaway. She said some of them complained of being kicked and punched.

"One man said he has pain where he was kicked. A couple of others said they were bruised and one said he has chest pains," she said.

Max Stern, an attorney who has represented some of the inmates, was called to the prison by the inmates to help in the negotiations.

"The inmates feel that this was at least a partial victory for them," he said.

"I was in there for most of the day. Luckily we were able to defuse the situation without any incident."

Walpole, the state's largest maximum security institution located about 25-miles south of Boston, has been the scene of riots several times during the past decade. Within the past few years more than 20 prisoners have been killed.

Stern said the inmates drew up a list of demands concerning visitation rights and prison conditions. Most of the prisoners involved are protective custody inmates.

About seven hours after the stand-off began the inmates demanded that a television camera crew be allowed inside the facility to "witness" the signing of an agreement.

Armed inmates at the maximum security Walpole, Mass., State Prison early Monday released the last of five hostage prison employees they had been held at knife point since Sunday afternoon inside the facility's old death row. Prison Warden Fred

Kennelly Quits

HARTFORD — Democrat James Kennelly, who served two terms as Speaker of the House, has resigned in the middle of a two-year term as a state representative from Hartford.

Kennelly, who represents the first district, has been a state representative since 1967.

He has served one term as Deputy Majority Leader and two terms as Speaker of the House, a position he lost to Democrat Ernest Abate earlier this year.

Kennelly is currently the Majority Leader At Large of the House of Representatives.

He is married to Barbara B. Kennelly, who is Secretary of State.

Kennelly is a practicing attorney in Hartford.

He made the announcement this morning at the State Capitol.

Carbone Backed

HARTFORD (UPI) — Hartford Deputy Mayor Nicholas Carbone has won a key endorsement from the Democratic Town Committee in the city's race for mayor.

The group's selection committee voted 7-2 Sunday to support Carbone over incumbent Democratic Mayor George Athanson.

Athanson, however, is still expected to win backing from Democratic Town Chairwoman Dorothy Quirk when the full town committee meets Wednesday to endorse a candidate.

A primary appears certain to determine the party's contender on the November ballot.

New Meeting

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso and others who met with President Carter during his Camp David sojourn flew to Washington today for a luncheon meeting with the president.

Mrs. Grasso said she expected the White House get together to last "for several hours." She said Carter wants to "review those actions he has taken and plans to take."

The governor met briefly with legislative leaders in her Capitol office before leaving for Washington. The Legislature reconvened in special session today.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened mixed today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which finished unchanged Friday, was off 1.53 points to 838.22 shortly after the opening. The closely watched average gained 11.69 points last week.

Advances led declines, 232 to 170, among the 629 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape at the outset.

Turnover in the early going amounted to about 1,130,000 shares.

The market was confronted with indications that interest rates would rise to record levels soon because of increased pressure on the Federal Reserve to tighten credit to combat soaring inflation and to support the dollar abroad.

The nation's major banks Friday raised their prime lending rate a quarter point to 11 3/4 percent. Most economists expect the prime to move over the all-time record of 12 percent within the next few months.

The Fed decided a week ago to raise the discount rate it charges member banks to a record 10 percent a week ago and to boost its targets for federal funds rates bank charge one another for overnight loans.

Town-District to Meet To Air Sewer Pact

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The town's director of public works will meet Wednesday with representatives of the Eighth Utilities District to discuss a sewer agreement that has been the cause of another Manchester-South Windsor dispute.

The two towns have worked out an agreement to accept sewage from each other in those areas where geography and topography make it easier to send sewage to the other town. If sewage has to travel uphill, it must be pumped, which is an expensive process.

South Windsor is concerned, however, because the Eighth District is the sewer authority for the Manchester property it would have to send sewage through.

The meeting is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Eighth District's firehouse, 32 Main St., Jay Giles, director of public works, said.

Giles will explain the sewer agreement between the two towns to district officials at the Wednesday session.

South Windsor fears that the Eighth District could prevent the installation of sewer lines in the area over which it maintains authority. This could disrupt the two-town sewer agreement that eventually could affect the pumping of sewage from the Buckland Industrial Park and the Buckland Commons project.

Giles, though, has maintained that the town still can install sewer lines in those areas where the Eighth District maintains authority. It would be in violation only if it attempted to provide service in the district's area, he said.

"He's just going to brief us on the sewer agreement," Gordon Lassow, district president, said of the meeting. "We don't know anything about it."

Lassow said he will invite the district's attorney and a couple of other members of the District Board of Directors to the meeting. He does not expect a quorum for the session, he said.

Information discussed at the session will be presented to the entire board August 20 at its regular meeting, Lassow said.

Lassow said he does not see any reason for the public or the press to attend Wednesday's session, but he does not expect to bar those who wish to attend.

Solons to Vote on Veto, Delay Contract Action

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Legislature convened a special session today, planning to vote on the governor's veto of a bill postponing the auto emissions law but delaying consideration of state contracts for two weeks.

Lawmakers returned to the Capitol for a trailer session to deal with vetoes and a special session for confirmation of the five-member Gaming Policy Board.

Senate President Joseph Faulso, D-Hartford, said after emerging from a huddle with House and Senate leaders that a timetable was decided on for legislative action on contracts with the state's 40,000 union employees.

He said the Legislature would recess today and return Aug. 13 to vote on all state employee contracts that are agreed upon by Aug. 3 and ratified by Aug. 10.

Several bargaining units already have ratified their contracts, including the clerical workers unit and the union covering administrators at the University of Connecticut. The 6,715-member health care union has reached a tentative agreement.

Senate Majority Leader Joseph Lieberman, D-New Haven, said the Aug. 13 session might last two days. But he said the Legislature would adjourn after completing action on all state employee contracts that are ready for a legislative vote.

Though the trailer and special sessions today looked like they would be short and sweet, the return engagement of the Legislature did carry a price tag.

David Ogle, executive director of the Legislative Management Committee, said each day of a special session costs about $6,000.

He said that included the 15-cent per mile traveling allowance for legislators; salaries for messengers, doorknockers, and transcriptionists; the journal and calendar printing costs; and other miscellaneous expenses.

Mrs. Grasso had brought down her executive branch ax on 19 bills approved during the regular legislative session. But the only one that lawmakers appeared willing to assert their last say on was a proposal to delay the starting date of Connecticut's new auto emissions testing

Body Identified As Missing Hiker

MANCHESTER — State police said today a body believed to be that of a local man missing since May 12 was found Sunday morning in a heavily wooded area one mile north of the Connecticut state line in southwestern Massachusetts.

The body, which was badly decomposed, was tentatively identified as Alexander Kochin, 34, of 298 Oak St. Kochin had been on a hiking trip in Salisbury, Conn. and was reported missing by his parents when he failed to arrive at a pre-arranged meeting place.

The body was discovered by a Manchester couple, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hardy of 74 Avondale Road. Mrs. Hardy said this morning she and her husband were on an overnight camping trip in the northwest corner of Connecticut in preparation for a Newfoundland trip.

She said they came down Mt. Frissell Saturday looking for water and decided to camp for the night. After breaking camp the following morning, she said, they headed out and noticed the body about 50 yards from the camping site.

"I looked back and saw what looked like a pair of hiking boots," said Mrs. Hardy. "Gerry saw some debris and said to me, 'Don't come any closer.' So I didn't come any closer."

She said they ripped up a neckerchief and tagged a tree near the body and also tagged a nearby trail leading out of the woods. They used their compass to get out of the woods and follow the trail. They tagged another road before finding their parked car along Route 41. In all, Mrs. Hardy said, they hiked between six and seven miles from the spot of the discovery to their car.

She said she notified state police in Salisbury, who went to the scene with the Hardys, Massachusetts state police and a Massachusetts medical examiner. They used four-wheel drive vehicles to get back to the body.

Upon discovering the body, Mrs. Hardy said, "we knew that this kid had been missing since May" and assumed it was Kochin.

In fact, she said, her husband had received several calls from Kochin's mother, Mayvon, since the man's disappearance and Mrs. Kochin asked them to be on the lookout for her son whenever they were hiking.

The Hardys are experienced hikers and Mr. Hardy is president of the Appalachian Mountain Club.

Kochin was reported missing after he went hiking on the Appalachian Trail in Salisbury. His parents, Alexander and Mayvon, had driven him there and waited for him while he climbed Brace Mountain.

When he didn't return on time, police ordered a search and volunteers combed the area. They ended the search after a few days, although the family continued to look two or three times each week.

Massachusetts State Trooper Peter Risatti said Sunday there were no signs of foul play.

Congress to Act On Gas Rationing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders will try again Tuesday to pass the volatile gasoline rationing bill, and in the final week before a month-long recess, the House also will consider the draft and censure of a colleague who padded his payroll.

In the Senate, the Finance Committee is continuing work on the proposed windfall profits tax on oil companies, but the staff does not expect the bill to be ready for the Senate until after Congress returns Sept. 4.

The House already has passed a windfall profits tax bill, and Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell Long, D-La., has pledged to have the legislation on President Carter's desk by Oct. 1.

House leaders plan a vote Tuesday on emergency gasoline rationing.

The standby measure was brought up on the floor last week, but a crippling amendment was added so leaders pulled it back to rally their troops before completing it.

The bill, which would give the president authority to design a rationing plan, also includes a controversial section forcing states to start their own energy-conservation programs or face a mandatory federal plan.

The schedule censure involves Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., who was convicted in federal court of padding his payroll and taking kickbacks from his employees.

The 13-term congressman avoided a hearing in the House ethics committee by agreeing to accept censure.

Modest Dance School Gains World Renown

WENDY LAVALLEE
BECKET, Mass. (UPI) — Jacob's Pillow — an unremarkable New England farm for almost 150 years — is now known worldwide as a unique nurturing place for dancers of all ages and talents.

The dance festival started in 1933 as a summer retreat for Ted Shawn, its founder.

Shawn brought a group of young men to his Berkshire hills refuge, housed them in cabins with no electricity, heat, or running water, and went on to restore masculine dancing to respectability.

Now two-thirds of the festival's students are women, living in modern cabins named after famous ballerinas.

Summer dance programs have boosted dancers such as Alexandra Danilova, Merce Cunningham, and Twyla Tharp.

There have been more than 300 world premieres presented by choreographers such as Alvin Ailey and Geoffrey Holder.

But the changes have only expanded on Shawn's initial belief that dance is "every day of the world's history have moved rhythmically to express themselves."

Shawn died in 1972. His ashes were scattered across Jacob's Pillow and a plaque in his memory was placed on a pillow-shaped boulder from which the festival's name is drawn. But his festival has continued to flourish.

"Jacob's Pillow is a nurturing place more than anything else for talent. Not just young talent, but experienced talent as well," says artistic director Norman Walker.

"The Pillow is unique in that it is small and it is going to stay small in a world where 'if it isn't big, it isn't good'."

In the beginning, Shawn's men dancers performed in Studio No. 1, a small rustic barn built in 1790.

Jess Meeker, 67, a pianist for Pillow dancers since the festival opened, remembers, "The first people who came were 60 or 70-year-old

MacArthur Will Resign As Assessor in Hebron

HEBRON — The Board of Selectmen received a letter from town assessor David MacArthur in which MacArthur will resign effective Aug. 31.

MacArthur stated in his letter to Reil that he is leaving Connecticut to become the assessor for the city of Concord, New Hampshire.

The Board of Selectmen voted unanimously to have Richard K. Reil, chairman of the Board of Finance to arrange a joint meeting of the selectmen and MacArthur in his letter to Reil as well as MacArthur said that Feege's concerning the matter as soon as possible.

When Grant was contacted he said that he had also received a copy of MacArthur's letter to Reil and that he is calling members of the board to arrange the special meeting. Also, Grant indicated that he had received a copy of a letter from Richard K. Reil of East Hampton to First Selectman Aaron Reid inquiring about the vacancy.

Grant said Feege was mentioned by MacArthur in his letter to Reil as well as MacArthur said that Feege's

Parties To Pick Town Candidates

HEBRON — Both the Democratic and Republican parties will conduct caucuses this week to endorse candidates for the municipal elections to be held in November.

The Democratic Caucus is scheduled for Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the town office building. A brief town committee meeting will precede the caucus, starting at 7:30 p.m. To date a slate of candidates for the election has not been officially released.

However, First Selectman Arron Steve Reid, announced approximately two months ago that he intended to seek re-election this fall.

The Republican Caucus is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 2, at the Hebron Elementary School at 8 p.m. The Republican Town Committee endorsed a slate of candidates for the November municipal elections during their regular meeting.

Roger Rowley, a long time resident of Hebron, was unanimously endorsed as a candidate for first selectman. Rowley has never participated in political activities prior to his endorsement. Raymond J. Bart, Jr., incumbent selectman was endorsed to seek re-election for his second term of office.

Marian Cole, independent, maintains the status of a unilateral party nomination and endorsement for the office of town clerk. Mrs. Celio is also seeking re-election for the position which she has held during the past two years.

Five Die, 113 Hurt, In Basque Bombings

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — The Basque terrorists who bombed Madrid Airport and two railroad stations, killing five persons and injuring 113 others, said today that lives were lost because Spanish authorities failed to heed their warning to evacuate the terminals before the blasts.

In a communique to Basque newspapers and radio stations, the Politico-Militar wing of ETA (Basque Homeland and Liberty) said it warned authorities one hour and five minutes before the three bombs, hidden in suitcases and placed in checkrooms, went off Sunday.

Police sources said authorities did not have sufficient time to clear the crowded terminals.

The explosions claimed a fifth victim today with the death of a critically injured Spaniard. The other dead were a West German girl, two Spaniards and one still unidentified person.

A number of tourists including Americans were among the injured. "I turned around to put my tickets in the bag and I just don't know what happened after that," Mrs. Teresa de Mateo, 61, of San Francisco, one of the injured in the midday blast at Madrid's Barajas Airport, said. "I found myself all covered with debris and glass."

"There was somebody dead by me and everything was blown all over the place... several people screaming, jumping about and blood everywhere."

Authorities said the airport explosions and two other blasts at the Atocha and Chamartin railroad stations Sunday, were set off by Basque terrorists seeking an independent socialist Basque homeland. The Spanish government described the bombings as the desperate action of "a small group of fanatics."

They said each bomb contained 11 to 13 pounds of high explosive packed into small suitcases and triggered by

Oil Supply Increase Foreseen by Moffett

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., says recent refinery production figures show an improved outlook for home heating oil supplies this winter.

But Moffett warned Sunday that although there may be enough heating oil to keep oil-dependent homes warm this winter, skyrocketing prices and problems between local fuel dealers and their suppliers still leave reason for concern.

"Our local Connecticut oil dealers are facing serious problems," said the 6th District Democrat. "Some are on the brink of economic collapse because of a lack of adequate credit. The oil companies that supply them are demanding full payment 10

Havens To Seek Re-election

SOUTH WINDSOR — Edward F. Havens, a Democrat, has announced he will seek re-election in November to the Town Council.

Havens will be seeking his fifth term on the council. His name will be placed in nomination when the Democratic Town Committee meets in caucus on July 31.

Havens said, in making his announcement, that he has a number of pressing areas that he is vitally interested in and seeks to be a member of the council in order to implement his ideas and suggestions.

He listed among the areas of his primary concern, the traffic problems confronting the town, namely at the planned Buckland Commons site and the on-going problems with the J.C. Penney construction.

He also said that he is most concerned with the Avery Brook Watershed project and wants to have a strong voice in its successful conclusion.

Also, as a member of the Committee on the Aging, he seeks to further improve the services to the aging and the implementation of bus service for the handicapped.

Havens lives at 25 Imperial Drive with his wife and three children. He is an active member of the South Windsor Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club and other civic and service groups.

Paper Firm Criticized In Spraying

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — The Maine Natural Resources Council says a St. Regis Paper Company project which accidentally blew denizens over the little town of Dennysville may not have been effective.

In a letter sent Sunday to Gov. Joseph E. Brennan, Robert H. Gardner Jr., council executive director, criticized the company's forestry practices.

He said the council "has inspected from the air and on foot the area recently sprayed by St. Regis" and his findings raise new questions about the company.

Chemical herbicides sprayed over forest land owned by St. Regis drifted over the Dennysville area last month, contaminating dozens of vegetable gardens and causing some pesticide mutations.

Pesticide Control Board Supervisor Donald Mairs has called the Dennysville incident the worst spray disaster he has seen in Maine.

Road Closing Vote Set

HEBRON — A special town meeting will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in Hebron Elementary School.

The electors and voters of the town of Hebron as well as any other persons entitled to vote upon any of the matters contained in the agenda are warned of this meeting.

The agenda includes action on an ordinance establishing a Water Pollution Control Authority; appointment of an historic district study committee; the easterly end of Kinsey Road, commencing at a point 100 feet easterly of the end of the present pavement and running easterly approximately fifteen hundred feet to the Hebron-Columbia line, be abandoned and discontinued; a road known as an Ancient Highway be abandoned and discontinued; that the road known as an old road running be abandoned and discontinued; to appoint a Town Office Building Addition Study Committee as recommended by the Board of Selectmen; and to act upon the Town Report for the fiscal year 1977-1978 as printed.

Final Film
HEBRON — The Walt Disney film "The Boatniks" will be the last in the summer film series sponsored by the Hebron Recreation Commission which is scheduled for Aug. 1.

McCoy Predicted to Face Herbst in Election

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

VERNON — The way it looks now, Mayor Frank McCoy will be seeking re-election on the Republican ticket in November and Councilwoman Marie Herbs will be seeking election on the Democratic ticket.

John Daigle, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, said that Mayor McCoy hasn't said he won't seek re-election so he is assuming this means he will.

Mrs. Herbst, finishing her second term on the Town Council, announced in March that she would seek the Democratic nomination for Mayor. She has also served for six and one-half years on the Board of Education as well as on several committees of each board. She is a teacher in the East Windsor Middle School.

Letter Baum, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, said Friday that no other Democrats have officially announced they will seek the nomination for mayor.

Baum said that all of the Democrats now serving on the Town Council, with the exception of Mrs. Herbst, will seek re-election to the council. And the two Democrats on the Board of Education, up for re-election, will also run again. They are Mrs. Devra Baum and George Prouty. Prouty is serving out the unexpired term created by the resignation of Edward Meyers.

Charter changes approved last fall will change the terms of school board members from the existing staggered terms to four-year terms. But until the existing terms are completed, board members will be elected on a revolving basis with three members to be elected for two years and three for four years.

Baum said the names of other persons who will be on the ballot won't be released officially until the night of the caucus which is scheduled for Aug. 2 at 8 p.m. at the Elks Carriage House, Park Place.

The Republican caucus is scheduled for July 31 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Building, Park Place.

John Daigle, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, said he expects that all of the Republicans now serving on the Town Council will seek re-election with the exception of perhaps one.

Daigle said that Carl Anderson hasn't definitely said he will run so he thinks he probably won't. School board member Jo Ann Worben, the only Republican coming up for re-election this year, will seek re-election.

There is a vacancy on the board now created by the recent resignation of Republican James Beattie. Daigle said he is not sure whether anyone will be appointed to fill the vacancy for the next few months or whether the Town Committee will wait until elections in November.

Achievers To Attend Seminar

MANCHESTER — Steven Sloan and his sister Pamela Sloan will be attending the National Junior Achievers Conference at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. from Aug. 3-10.

They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sloan of 95 Grissom Road. Steven won four major competitions; President of the Year Contest; Sales person of the year; outstanding young businessman; and his firm, Hi-Gio won the company of the year award in the regional competition which included 12 states from Virginia to Maine. There were 2,500 junior companies competing for the later award.

Steven also won a $400 achievement scholarship. Pamela won the vice president of personnel of the year award. This will be her first year attending the national conference. Steven won a $1,500 scholarship for being named the president of the year. He will enter his freshman year at Tulane University in New Orleans later next month. He will be attending on a full four-year naval ROTC scholarship.

He said his company, Hi-Gio, which manufactures auto trouble lights and small fire extinguishers for homes, ended the year with $3,614.02 in sales, a new record by more than $1,000 for this area. Pamela will be a senior at East Catholic High School in September.

Produce Market Planned

MANCHESTER — An open-air produce market is being planned for the St. James Church parking lot at Main Park streets. The Parking Authority has asked the Project Explore program of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches to handle the proposed market, according to Nancy Long, director of Project Explore.

The market, planned for one or two days a week, will only be established only if there is enough produce available to stock it, Ms. Long said.

She has also suggested that church groups, Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops as well as other organizations may conduct bake sales at the town-operated parking lot. Honey, jams and jellies and pickles also be sold at the site, she said.

Those interested in the project are asked to call Ms. Long at her office, 644-2803.

Film Set

MANCHESTER — The film "The Incredible Mr. Limpet" will be shown Thursday at 2 p.m. at South United Methodist Church, Main Street and Hartford Road. The public is invited.

Scott's World

Martha Raye is a Vietnam Casualty

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Martha Raye is the only Vietnam war casualty in Hollywood, surreptitiously blacklisted as a warmonger for devoting 10 years, off-and-on, to working with medics under fire in the field.
Her crime, apparently, is patriotism and compassion for wounded American GIs.

There aren't any more like them and I guess they'll never be replaced.
'It was a wonderful sensation working in pictures after so long. But my first day on the set of 'Concorde' was frightening. I was nervous about getting back into the routine.
The warmonger thing made me nervous. I wondered if people would accept me. But they were kind and considerate. The part is the story of my life. I play a lady with one kidney who spends most of the flight in the ladies room.

Shaw Talk Set Aug. 15 On Ceramics

AVON — Richard Shaw, a ceramic artist, will lecture and show slides Wednesday, Aug. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Farmington Valley Arts Center, Avon Park North.

Pregnancy Figures In Adoption Trial

VERNON (UPI) — Ten days of court hearings later, Michael and Wendy Lusa have learned that as far as the state of Connecticut is concerned, wanting to do something for mankind is no reason to adopt a child.
The young couple several weeks ago filed a court challenge to the state's unwritten policy forbidding interracial adoptions, claiming they were being prevented from adopting a 4-month-old black infant they've cared for since March 21.

Small Quake Hits Maine

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (UPI) — A minor earthquake registering 3.5 on the Richter scale jolted coastal residents of York County over the weekend. No injuries were reported from the quake — the second to hit the state in about four months.
The National Earthquake Information Center set the epicenter at 20 miles due east of York in the Atlantic. They said the effect of the quake was "more sound than vibration."

New Hampshire Tourism Shows Gains in South

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Some parking lots were once again filled with cars bearing out-of-state license plates in southern New Hampshire, and those who depend on them expressed optimism. Up north the tourist optimism is a new comer to the park.
The Nashua Humane Society won ownership of the park after taking his owners to court on abandonment charges. The owners settled the case by yielding ownership to the society, which arranged to house him at Benson's.

Twins' Parents Urged To Avoid Competition

HARTFORD (UPI) — Doctors Judy Hagedorn and Janet Kiziar were born the same day and grew up to pursue the same career — but the identical twin psychologists say twins' parents should still help them avoid competition between siblings, because that could cause problems.
"Parents who foster overly competitive situations may create an undesirable atmosphere later on," Dr. Kiziar said Saturday at the annual convention of the National Association of Mothers of Twin Children.

Anti-Apartheid Rally

Black American activist Rev. Jesse Jackson has been accused by the right wing press and politicians of inciting blacks to violence by his speeches.
The wallaroo — a cross between a kangaroo and wallaby, is named Roo. It came to the park recently after escaping from a traveling carnival.

Snelling Will Name Interim Safety Head

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — This weekend Vermont Gov. Richard Snelling said he would appoint an interim public safety chief. But ousted commissioner Francis Lynch denies he has given the governor any reason to fire him.
Lynch said he had not refused for more than a year to investigate alleged misconduct by the state police, as charged by Snelling.
No disciplinary action was taken against the officers in question, he said, because state officials — including Snelling — failed to give him a full report of evidence gathered in a year-long investigation.

Carly Wedding

PLAINS, Ga. (UPI) — President Carter's niece, Katherine Kim Carter, will be married Saturday to William Fuller, 24, son of retired Army Maj. Wayne R. Fuller of Columbus, to be held at the "pood house" of the bride's grandmother, Lillian Carter.
The ceremony for Miss Carter, 22, who teaches speech and drama at a Lee County high school, and Mr. Fuller, 24, son of retired Army Maj. Wayne R. Fuller of Columbus, is to be held at the "pood house" of the bride's grandmother, Lillian Carter.

Trouble Ahead For State In Views of Fiscal Experts

HARTFORD (UPI) — mittie co-chairman Rep. Gardner Wright, D-Bristol, said Connecticut is headed for an already strained budget in 1980.
Milano said the added money to cover state employee contracts could come from the 3 percent held in escrow and from the state surplus. There is no fat anywhere else in the budget.
"it's extremely tight and it's being made tighter," he said.
The Connecticut Public Expenditure Council, a private group that monitors the state budget, conceded state economists were being careful, but said they weren't looking far enough ahead.
Mark Goodrich, director of state research for CPEC, said the state employee contracts and the school equalization funding bill will wallop

Bush Gets Edge In GOP Poll

BOSTON (UPI) — Key Republican leaders nationwide continue to see Ronald Reagan as the front-runner for the 1980 presidential nomination — but they give George Bush an edge over Regan and John Connally when asked their preference for GOP standard-bearer next year.
The Monitor survey drew a response from 99 out of 103 of the GOP's chairmen and national committeemen, the newspaper reported today.
Twenty-seven said they wanted Bush to be their nominee; 24 said they preferred Regan, and 22 said they preferred Connally.
Senator Howard Baker of Tennessee was next with six "preference" votes.
Three other declared candidates — U.S. Reps. John Anderson and Philip Crane of Illinois, and U.S. Senator

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I was married for 45 years to a man who had an overly healthy appetite for sex. Then he died. At 51 married a man who told me that he had recently had mumps. Since I never had mumps, but since he stayed home that I married him thinking he was sexually disabled from mumps. Do I have grounds for divorce?

DEAR ABBY: A bride asked if it would be permissible to wear an heirloom veil to her wedding. No, perfunctory and oblige, please, as the mother of the groom is perfumery and highly allergic.
DEAR ABBY: I was planning on writing you about my new pet, a black and white cat. I have named her 'Flossy' because she is so fluffy. I am hoping you can help me find a name for her. I am also hoping you can help me find a name for her.

DEAR PHIL: You're right. I did. My nose was buried in my petticoat book and my brains were out to lunch when I answered that one.
DEAR PUT: The "matter with some folks" is that they need vision situations the same as any folks. It is also possible that unexpected "conversion and company" may be as fascinating to a surprised head as the television program he may have planned to watch.
