South Windsor Lists School Bus Guidelines

SOUTH WINDSOR - The school bus schedules, which have already been published in The Herald, were set with the state and local Boards of Education guidelines in mind. Robert Goldman, superintendent of schools said.

The state board's minimum guidelines say that students in kindergarten to third grade can walk up to one mile to school, those in Grades 4-8, up to one and one-half mile, and Grades 9-12, up to two miles.

Goldman said that these guidelines are for distances that students can be made to walk either to school or to a bus stop.

He said that the local board, in developing the 1979-80 guidelines, did not add any new areas for which children are being asked to walk to school.

He said students must be required to walk more than one-half mile to be required to walk to school, and that most students will be walking merely from their home to a corner or to an intersection.

Students who live more than one mile from school, regardless of their grade placement, are to be provided with bus transportation and those having less than one mile will be required to walk.

Economy Glance

Washington: New orders received by the nation's factories fell 2 percent last month, a clear signal of economic sluggishness, the Commerce Department said Thursday. The automobile and aircraft industries were major contributors.

New York: The stock market did little Thursday for the ninth straight session as investors awaited the Federal Reserve Board's report on the nation's money supply. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.20 points to 883.70.

New York: The Federal Reserve report Thursday showed a $1.3 billion decline in the nation's money supply, but the growth rate over the past month exceeded Fed guidelines.

Washington: Nearly 6 million Americans took advantage of the energy conservation tax credit allowed for the first time on 1978 returns, and saved themselves $555 million, federal tax collectors reported Thursday.

Ottawa, Ontario: Canada's GNP recorded its first decline since mid-1978 in the second quarter of 1979, slipping 0.7 percent as a result of the weakening U.S. economy, Statistics Canada reported Thursday.

Tokyo: The American dollar sustained a staggering setback against the Japanese yen for the first decline in five sessions in Tokyo today, closing the week off 1.55 points at 229.05 yen in very nervous trade.

Washington: Gasoline will be plentiful this Labor Day weekend, with more service stations open than at any time since early June, the American Automobile Association said Thursday.

Washington: Government pressure on oil companies to hold down inflationary spot market purchases cut U.S. gasoline imports at the start of last spring's gasoline shortage, the Energy Department conceded Thursday.

Philadelphia: Sun Co. announced Thursday it will increase its gasoline sales in September from August levels in an industry-wide trend that means better availability at the pump for the U.S. motorist.

Washington: The reef Mexico is using as a huge off-shore oil field also may prove fertile ground for U.S. drilling because it runs into American territory along the Atlantic Coast, the Interior Department said Thursday.

Corpus Christi, Texas: The Texas coast was free of major oil washups for the third consecutive day Thursday and Coast Guard officials were optimistic a tropical storm more than 400 miles away would help hold off more oil.

White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.: The United States can run the gamut from feast to famine and back again in its oil situation, the senior vice president of the American Petroleum Institute said Thursday.

Washington: The Energy Department has declassified a secret Cabinet memorandum in which former Energy Secretary James Schlesinger proposed a U.S. oil sale to Iran, partly to help protect supplies for the oil company, Amersals Hess.

No Conflict In Zinsser Case

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - There would be no conflict if Republican Director Carl Zinsser's real estate agency decides that a commission on the sale of U.S. drilling because it runs into American territory along the Atlantic Coast, the Interior Department said Thursday.

That was the unanimous opinion of the Ethics Commission Thursday night, the first time the commission heard requests for opinions since the seven-member body was formed after revisions to the Town Charter last year.

The commission will formally adopt a written opinion on the Zinsser matter at its next meeting in September. However, during its brief deliberations on the case, the commissioners saw no problem because town rules and regulations govern a director's role in grey matters.

Commissioner Sol Cohen said any town official "who has a financial interest distinct from the general public" should disqualify himself at the beginning of deliberations.

Zinsser has said he would abstain from a vote and not participate in any discussion. The controversy stems from the sale of a half-acre parcel at the corner of Oak and Cottage streets to the Manchester Parking Authority for additional downtown parking space.

The Board of Directors has to approve the purchase. Zinsser's agency has exclusive rights to sell the property and he would profit from the sale.

The agency had been trying to secure a buyer since December, 1976. The Parking Authority first made overtures to buy the property last May.

On another matter involving rezoning in general, the commission decided that there is no conflict of interest if rezoners serve on the Board of Directors.

"There's always the danger of capable people not serving on the board," Cohen said. "We should definitely show people from all walks of life that there's room for them in government."

As well as ruling on the Zinsser question, the commission reviewed two other matters.

There was no conflict, they ruled, if Attorney Richard Woodhouse and Jon Norris, an insurance broker, served on the Pension Board.

Chairman William Fitzgerald said it would be difficult for a person of the five-member board to be as persuasive enough to profit from any action.

Woodhouse had questioned his role if an application for a disability pension was filed by a town official whom he might have appeared before while representing a client.

When questioned by the commissioners, Woodhouse said he could recall not such incident during his 12 years on the Pension Board.

The chairman also announced he would write a letter to Rep. Walter Joyce, R-12 District, and explain there would be no conflict by his membership on the board of the River East Homecare and Home Health Aide Services.

David Threatens Isle With Death

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) - Hurricane David, a killer storm generating 150-mph winds, torrential rain and heavy seas, lurched toward the Dominican Republic and Haiti today, threatening more death and destruction.

The storm has left a trail of floods and looting in its rampage through Caribbean islands, killed at least 100 people and flattened thousands of homes. A state of emergency was declared today in Puerto Rico after David passed.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami said the southern portion of the Dominican Republic began feeling the first gusts of David's fury about 8 a.m. DT. The mighty storm should march by Haiti in 24 hours, continuing its northeast trek and probably slam into Cuba, said forecaster John Lawrence.

Lawrence said Florida, however, appears for the time being to be in the clear.

Hurricane David was centered near latitude 17.3 north and longitude 69.2 west at 6 a.m. today, about 95 miles southeast of Santo Domingo and 125 southwest of Cabo Roque, Puerto Rico. It was moving west-northwest at 13 mph and expected to maintain that speed and direction.

Civil defense workers and police evacuated thousands of residents from low-lying areas near the Ozama River that winds through Santo Domingo. Red Cross workers in neighboring Haiti shipped relief supplies into the southern port of Janel before roads wash out.

Dominican Republic President Antonio Guzman broadcast radio bulletins Thursday telling government workers to stay home, the Army was put on alert in its barracks and stores were packed with customers buying hurricane supplies.

Puerto Rican Gov. Carlos Romero Barcelo declared a state of emergency to mobilize disaster relief for the victims of David. The governor said he ordered aides to assess the damage and the number of victims.

Union Selects GM As Strike Target

DETROIT (UPI) - General Motors Corp., which considers its workers the elite of the industry in wages and benefits, has been selected as the center of intensive negotiations with the UAW Workers Union.

The UAW, which considers GM the elite of the industry in earnings, Thursday singled out the No. 1 auto company for a possible walkout in its effort to negotiate new contracts for 750,000 U.S. auto workers.

Concentrated bargaining now will begin at GM on a pattern settlement for the industry. A GM strike is possible if agreements are not reached before the old contracts expire at midnight Sept. 14.

The executive board's decision was cheered and applauded when it was communicated to the UAW negotiating team at GM, but there was little saber-rattling from either side.

UAW officers expressed hopes for a peaceful settlement.

"Hopefully, we can do it by Sept. 14 without the necessity of a strike," said UAW President Fraser said. "That's our first wish."

Irving Bluestone, the union's chief negotiator at GM, said he has "realistic expectations" that there can be a settlement without a strike.

"As far as we are concerned they are in a flexible position and are ready to bargain on all issues," Bluestone said.

If there is a strike, Fraser said, it may be directed at specific GM operations - such as small-car production - rather than a nationwide walkout.

The union is armed with a $290 million strike fund to provide benefits to approximately 450,000 GM hourly employees in the event of a walkout.

GM Industrial Relations Vice President George B. Morris, who has frequently denounced union demands in the past six weeks of bargaining, said the company is "prepared to enter intensive negotiations with the UAW aimed at reaching a contract settlement before the Sept. 14 strike deadline."

Morris repeated the company's position that its hourly workers have not suffered a decrease in earning power despite raging inflation.

The UAW is seeking substantial wage hikes, more paid time off and pension increases tied to the cost of living.

GM on Tuesday offered the union a 3 percent per year salary hike in a three-year pact. Together with cost-of-living adjustments, GM said the contract would boost hourly wages by an average $2.50.

The initial proposal also would increase paid personal holidays from 12 to 15. It was rejected by the union.

Civil Liberties Union Considers Sexism Suit

The American Civil Liberties Union may use a Wyoming county attorney who will not prosecute some rape victims' complaints unless they first take a lie detector test.

The ACLU in Washington says rape complaints have dropped 43 percent since a similar policy was instituted in that state's Yakima County.

And the use of a lie detector test by Maine's governor to "clear" a state government appointee of charges he discriminated against three women who resisted his sexual advances has also stirred controversy.

"As far as I know, the use of lie detectors in rape and sex discrimination cases is a recent phenomenon," Diana Steele, staff attorney on the ACLU National Women's Rights Project, said Thursday.

"We're contemplating filing suit in the Wyoming case, and there's a good chance we'll do it if the prosecutor doesn't stop what we consider an outrageous policy," she said.

Sweetwater County (Wyo.) Attorney Jere Ryckman said this week he has ordered polygraph tests in seven of 14 rape cases he has prosecuted since taking office in January. He has defended their use as a useful investigative tool, since he said many cases involve the word of one person against another.

"What the prosecutor is doing is taking a certain class of people - women - and presuming they are liars," Ms. Steele said. "It's hard enough for a woman to bring a rape case, and the use of lie detectors will discourage them even more."

"We thought we were making headway against the stereotype of women fabricating sex crimes. It's really outrageous to require lie detector tests since they're inadmissible in court," she added.

Ron Rowan, deputy El Paso County (Colo.) attorney, defended polygraph use by his office, saying "We have a lot of uncorroborated rape reports. We don't have a lot of uncorroborated reports of other crimes."

But Denver ACLU attorney Stephen Pevar said "I suppose most crimes they get - such as stolen cars - are uncorroborated, and are really one person's word against another."

The controversy in Maine stems from Gov. Joseph E. Brennan's use of a lie detector test given to Androscoggin County Sheriff Lionel Cote - which Brennan said "completely and totally and unequivocally exonerated" the sheriff. He then appointed Cote to head Maine's Bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness.

The Maine Women's Lobby said it was "dismayed" by Brennan's actions, which they said would have a "chilling effect" on women bringing sex discrimination complaints.

The three women were not offered tests to verify their complaints, which they stood behind.

ZBA Denies Chinese Cooking Request

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD - Citing concerns about a potential fire hazard, the Zoning Board of Appeals late Thursday denied a variance that would have permitted six Chinese airline officials - who will be visiting Pratt & Whitney Aircraft next month - to cook their own meals in a room at a local hotel.

Before unanimously denying the application, ZBA commissioners quizzed Charles Opitz, general manager of the Ramada Inn, 100 East River Drive, at length about the method the Chinese would use to prepare the food.

The Chinese would prepare the food on a bowl-shaped cooking utensil called a "wok," he said. A light coat of grease is spread on the wok before the food is cooked, Opitz explained.

The Chinese visitors will be here from September until the end of July, 1980. They are learning how to operate and maintain three JTD engines which will be installed in 747SPS planes they are purchasing from Boeing.

The aircraft has reached an agreement with the Chinese government to sell the JTD engines for "in excess of $25 million," Nigel Muir, public relations manager for P&WA said this morning.

The aircraft had been asked to provide cooking accommodations because the visitors prefer Chinese cuisine to American food. The hotel had planned to convert one of its 220 rooms into a kitchen equipped with a work table, refrigerator and coffee percolator, Opitz said.

But, ZBA members assailed the plan because the hotel could not assure them there would be no fire hazard.

ZBA member Mary Hickey said there was "no way" she could support the application.

"Cooking oil is a terrific fire hazard," Mrs. Hickey said. "If they (P&WA) wanted the contract had enough, they should have made other arrangements."

"We're talking about the Peoples' Republic of China - our new allies," said ZBA member Robert W. Burns. "And they have difficulty eating our food."

"But, we have building codes and they are designed to prevent the downgrading on properties. If we make this exception, we're adding fuel to the fire," he said.

ZBA member Robert Damaschi added he is concerned about ventilation and possible inconvenience to other patrons of the hotel.

Damaschi said the application was "vague and not very well prepared."

The ZBA denied the application on the grounds the Ramada Inn did not prove hardship under the law.

Muir said today he is checking with the Ramada Inn to see if other arrangements could be made that do not require a variance.

If the Ramada Inn cannot provide suitable arrangements, P & WA will look for other accommodations, he said.

"We don't expect any difficulty in providing suitable arrangements," he said.

The flat, straight roads leading to the Atlantic Ocean beaches are a temptation that can be costly.

the weekend Showbiz Bastion For Individualism

By ALLEN M. WIDEM

Half a century ago, when the parents of Samuel Mostel were trying to eke out a living with a dairy farm atop a picturesque rise in downstate Missouri — as he would be today as it was then — chances are no one in the village part of the town of East Haddam predicted international stardom for the kid later to be called Zero.

They years ago, when the then newly-established "team" of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis began trekking into what amounted to the "last" of America's huge vaudeville palaces, accompanied by a "pair" of one-line gagsmen — Hartford's Normal Lear and Lear's cousin, Ed Simmons of New York — chances are no one on those particular tours openly predicted that Lear would surface as a super producer among Hollywood super-duper television comedies — "All in the Family," "Maude," plus, plus.

And, closer to this decade, who in New York theatre shouted to everybody within listening distance that one Henry Winkler as The Fonz on ABC-TV's "Happy Days" would become a fleeting figure of fame for young America?

Space, the final frontier, as the researchers, education is for the law-enforcement people. And show business, as only America can slip it, continues as a major bastion for individualism — one of the few remaining places in which untold talents, with experience, can literally catapult to acclaim and applause.

Jack Banner, Zero Mostel's first cousin and presently chief honcho of the Banner family-operated Banner Lodge, a summer resort hotel on the same site once containing the ill-fated Mostel family dairy farm, is himself a former Connecticut state legislator. He is among those very much instrumental in helping to restore the long-gone Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam.

"When I was a kid," Jack Banner was recalling the other day, "the biggest thing in Mostel was trying, along with the other kids in the village, to climb into the old Indian caves dotting the hills.

It was a very venturesome, but, then, when you're a kid and you hear of 'The Mudds' as a kid you're bound to make yourself burrow deep into the caves. And looking back now, I tend to think that burrowing into a hillside cave, with an objective, is something akin to searching for a career for a lot of young people today, in Connecticut and anywhere else."

The legends of Broadway Hollywood — the stories insisting that Lana Turner was "discovered" in Schwab's Drug Store in H-O-H-x-w-o-o-d, and that this "name" surfaced a famed figure on the strength of people competing — if anything contribute to the illusion of entertainment.

Behind the glitter glamor is the kid, from Manchester, from Hartford, from everywhere else, knocking on doors, writing letters, phoning, cajoling, pleading, seeking the big break. Yet, in truth, the big break is the end result of countless hours of dedicated preparation, study, observation.

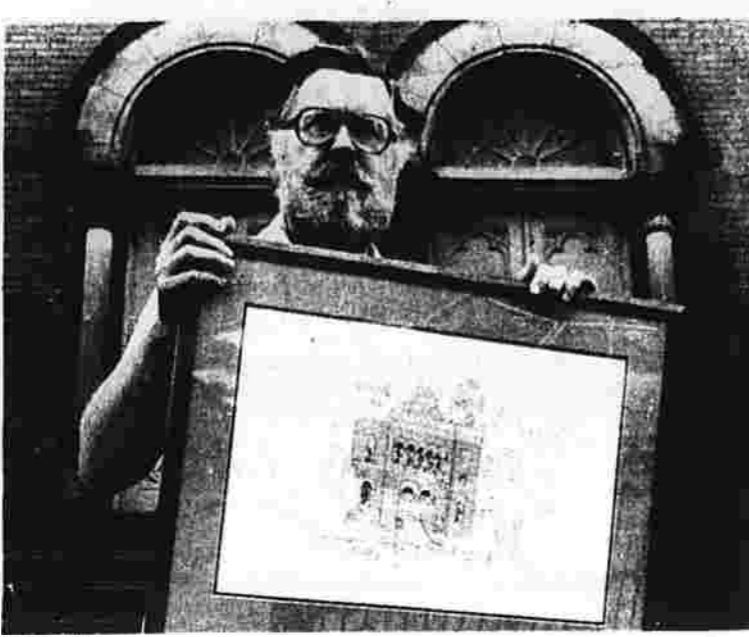

There are no short cuts, per se, to Instant Success. The illusion says this can happen. The reality of the situation, just about any situation applicable to the entertainment field, is to plead to young America, in Manchester, in Hartford, and everywhere else, not to listen to fabricated legend. Rather, to study as if tomorrow's promise of something fine and good and finding the rainbow in the sky after a zero mostel kind of day.

A Zero Mostel seeking that first break could cite chapter-and-verse of the meaning of study, of application of experience, of using observation. The same philosophy in the instances of Norman Lear, a Henry Winkler, can emphasize the value, the very vitality, of the most important word in a youngster's future. Five letters. They spell study.

Hartford artist Richard Welling shows his new drawing of the 103-year-old Charter Oak Temple in Hartford, recently enrolled in the National Register of Historic Places.

Artist Sketches Temple

HARTFORD — The 103-year-old Charter Oak Temple, recently enrolled in the National Register of Historic Places, is the subject of a new drawing by Richard Welling.

Welling, a prominent Hartford artist, is best known for his drawings of New York City and Connecticut buildings, many of which appear in his Hartford Sketchbook. This new black and white line drawing has recently been reproduced by Fox Press in a limited edition of 150, each print signed and numbered by the artist.

The Charter Oak Temple has important historical and architectural significance in Hartford. The first structure in Connecticut to be planned and built for a Jewish congregation, the building was the home of Congregation Beth Israel from 1876 to 1936, when the congregation outgrew the facility and moved to its present site on Farmington Avenue in West Hartford. It is architecturally unique as an example of the early work of George Keller, a leading 19th century Hartford architect.

A red brick building, the temple is designed in the high Victorian Romanesque idiom. Its front is dominated by two square towers capped with octagonal domed cupolas at the corners. Double wooden doors are framed by round stone arches.

The building is located near the center of three National Register districts, Buckingham Square, Charter Oak Place and South Green, where extensive restoration has begun to take place and where significant numbers of people are moving to as part of a national back-to-the-city living trend.

Connecticut Entertains In Building at 'Big E'

Did you know there's a place in Massachusetts where you can find exciting and informative displays about Connecticut? It's the Connecticut Building at the Eastern States Exposition (The 'Big E'), West Springfield, Sept. 12 to 23.

Nine state agencies are among the 21 exhibitors in the Connecticut Building this year. As in past years, state agency exhibits deal with important issues affecting people today.

The Department of Transportation will have a display on car and van pooling. Visitors will be able to pick up free literature and get tips on how to save gas. Saving money and fuel through energy conservation at home: that's the theme of the display by the Energy Division of the Office of Policy and Management.

The Department of Agriculture's exhibit is a salute to the egg industry in Connecticut. Over one billion eggs are produced in Connecticut each year, so there's a lot to salute. The unique display will feature a map of Connecticut outlined in eggs, and a motorized presentation on the nutritional benefits of eggs.

The star of the display from the Department of Environmental Protection will be swimming around in a tank. A large salmon will be on view to represent the Department's program to bring salmon back to the Connecticut River. There'll also be a display on how undeveloped land in the state has been transformed into recreational areas.

Information on recreational facilities, tourist attractions, and exciting things to see and do will be available at the booth run by the Department of Economic Development.

You'll see part of the Department of Motor Vehicles' display before you enter the Connecticut Building. Outside, there'll be demonstrations of a car equipped with an air bag. Inside, the Department will feature a van for the handicapped and a film on the experimental research safety vehicle.

Ever wonder what the training program is like for Connecticut State Police troopers? A slide and videotape presentation from the Department of Public Safety will show you. There'll also be applications for those interested in joining.

The Board of Education and Services for the Blind's exhibit will feature descriptive photographs of services for the blind and products created by the blind.

"Eat for health" is the theme of the Department of Health's exhibit. This game wheel to present important facts about good eating habits.

The Connecticut Building, managed by the Department of Economic Development, will be open throughout the fair from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Admission to the building is free.

There is no entrance fee to the Lions Gallery of the Arts. Visitors may use the Atheneum's Avery Entrance opposite the Travelers Rotunda. The gallery is open Tuesday, Wednesday 11-3, Thursday 11-8, Friday 11-3, Saturday, Sunday 11-5.

Thursday Evening Hours
The Wadsworth Atheneum will remain open to the public Thursday evenings until 8:30 p.m. This schedule will be in effect from Thursday, June 1989.

For the past year and a half the museum had remained open on Friday evenings. A questionnaire requesting a choice of either Thursday or Friday evening preference was sent to Atheneum members this spring. The response was equally divided. Museum administrators are grateful for a willingness to accommodate downtown business people, shoppers and weekend gasoline consumers. Friday religious observances and the great availability of museum programs were also listed as important reasons for the change.

The Atheneum's EAT Restaurant will be introducing its popular evening buffet on Sept. 27 from 5 to 7. A series of special programs, to be announced at a later date, will also begin on the 27th.

New additions to the curriculum include interior design, rubberstamps, fiber, sewing, op art, aquatint, pen making, modern photo history, many different media are now open for application, rag dolls, batik, aluminum casting, macramé, decorative earthenware colors, and needlepoint.

Classes are open to anyone with an interest in pursuing an art form. The Arts Center is located in a scenic wooded park with a peaceful natural surroundings conducive to artistic study. All classes are taught by professional working artists, both local and visiting, some of whom have their studios at the center.

For further information on class schedules and registration, call the Farmington Valley Arts Center office at 678-1887, or stop by the Arts Center in Avon Park North, off Route 41 in the center of Avon.

FILMETER

NEW RELEASE
APOCALYPSE NOW (R) — Martin Scorsese, Marlon Brando, Robert DeNiro (Drama) This is Francis Coppola's long-awaited and very expensive epic — and worth the wait and the cost. It is a study of the madness of war, and Coppola has created a procession of insane images of Vietnam and that terrible war to make his point. It is long and flawed, but must be rated an American classic. GRADE: A-plus

SUNBEAM (PG) — Farrar Fawcett, Charles Grodin, Art Carney (Comedy-drama) Obviously designed as a showcase for Farrar, nobody paid much attention to story, acting, direction or editing in this sorry film. It's about an insurance detective and the lady he tries to make like his wife, and all the alleged jokes are about as flat as level. It makes "Charlie's Angels" look good. GRADE: C-minus

AMERICAN PATRIOT (PG) — John Ritter, Harvey Korman, Fred Willard (Farce) It's 30 years in the future and the country is broke. A 30-day election is expected to put the U.S. back on its feet. This is a case of stretching a funny-seeming idea too thin. As the film sinks ever more into plodding or offensive pags, the audience grows more restless. Try to be another "Grove Tube" and fail. Skip it. GRADE: D (Byrne-Daugh)

BREAKING AWAY (PG) — Dennis Christopher, Dennis Quaid, Daniel Stern, Jackie Earle Haley (Romantic comedy) This is the kind of film the French do so well, funny, a little romantic, tied up just right. It's set in Bloomington, Ind., a college town, the summer the local boys finally realize they don't mind being "townies." Briefly, it's the "Rocky" of bicycle racing — but so much better. A line job by these four young actors. GRADE: A (Byrne-Daugh)

MORE AMERICAN GRAFFITI (PG) — Ron Howard, Cindy Williams, Candy Clark, Paul Leeson (Comedy-drama) We've seen a lot of the original "Graffiti" people several years later, to see what happened to them. A neat idea, and it works well as they're tricked in with a self-conscious camera about the good old paper but is very disappointing to the audience. It's like a visit with old friends who live in a house with purple and green wallpaper. GRADE: B (Film grading: A — superb; B — good; C — average; D — poor; F — awful)

REST PERIOD: I-Ic Nastase lies on court during match against John McEnroe. His show of tantrums and temper finally caused umpire to declare a forfeit. Decision was overruled and McEnroe went on to win. (UPI Photo)

Rhubarb Spices U.S. Tennis Play

NEW YORK (UPI) — John McEnroe and I-Ic Nastase played some tennis Thursday night, and some of it was pretty good, but you'd never know it. The headliner in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships surpassed all expectations, as McEnroe managed to win the match — twice. The final score was 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. When Nastase, who like McEnroe had been sparring with hecklers all evening, started his delaying tactics once again with McEnroe up, 2-1, in sets and games and Grand Prix supervisor Frank Smith decided replacing Hammond would solve the problem. "I did not hear Frank award the match," said Talbert. "I would not allow an umpire to be overruled." Smith and Bianchi also were vague, but the result was that McEnroe advanced to the third round. Nastase retained his title as "uncourt outrage" and Frank Hammond lost. "I suppose it was the only way the match could continue," said Hammond, visibly shaken by the ordeal. "This is the most devastating thing that could have happened to me."

Practice Scrimmages For Silk Town Elevens

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Writer
The first full week of practice with the pads is coming to a close in a hurry and already both East Catholic and Manchester High football squads have a scrimmage under their belts. The Eagle gridlers took on Windsor Wednesday morning while the Indians visited South Windsor. Both head coaches, East's Jude Kelly and Manchester's Jack Holik, were generally pleased with what they saw. "I was pleased with a lot of little things," voiced the rookie Eagle coach. "They were executing the techniques taught. And I thought the enthusiasm and intensity was where it should be. "The effort from everybody was good," offered Holik. "Defensively, I thought we did well. The guys did make mistakes but those are techniques. "It was a typical first scrimmage," the fourth-year Indian leader stated. "A lot of it (mistakes) was timing, alignment stuff. That will come with practice, with repetition. Kelly was encouraged by the passing game strategically speaking, citing the play of wide receiver Mike Freiheit and quarterback Tony Pacheco. "He (Pacheco) showed some line leadership qualities. He has made an excellent commitment to this team," Kelly remarked. Others who stood out for East in the opening scrimmage included linebacker Dave Bottaro, offensive guard John Alosky and Mike Giliberto at fullback. "Right now, he has won the job," Kelly spoke of Giliberto. Bottaro and John Karzar were elected co-captains for the 1979 campaign by their teammates Thursday afternoon. "There are little techniques which still need improvements. The timing in the offensive backfield still

Strange Out Front By Shot over Tapie

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (UPI) — Curtis Strange's position on the pro tour is much more secure than Alan Tapie's, but only one shot separates them after the opening round of the $275,000 B.C. Open Golf Tournament. Strange's near-record 7-under-par 64 on the light Es-Joe Club was just one stroke ahead of Tapie and two in front of Larry Webb and Gil Morgan heading into today's second round. "This is definitely the best position I've been in after the first round of any tournament," he said. "The key today was my driving. I go through stages where I can hit the ball off the earth — and that's what I did today."

PGA

The top 60 money winners on the PGA golf tour are exempt from having to qualify for any tournaments the following year — a cherished position in the ultra-competitive world of pro golf. Strange, who earned $57,000 over his first two years on the tour, has ranked nearly $90,000 this season — good for 30th position on the money list. "The exemption is so important that I make the whole thing a goal," said Strange, who finished at 70 and former U.S. Open winner Jerry Pate at 72. The 156-player field was cut to the low 70s and ties after Sunday's second round, with the survivors returning on Saturday and Sunday in quest of the $49,500 first prize. "This is a good time for me. I seem to play like in the fall."

Cut in Salary
NEW YORK (UPI) — For all he knows, Sam Mele may have been the only major league manager ever asked to take a cut in salary. He hit the roof at the time. When he came down, he accepted it. Calvin Griffith, Mele's boss with the Minnesota Twins, wanted to slice him $2,500, and you know how you always keep hearing it wasn't the money, it was the principle, well, in this case it was indeed the principle. Looking back on that phase of his life, the white-haired 57-year-old Mele says he's infinitely happier now as special assignments scout for the Red Sox. "It was World Series time and we were in a hotel room right here in New York when Calvin asked me to take the cut," said the Twins' former manager at Shea Stadium. "I stormed out of the room, went to my wife, Connie, and told her I was going to quit. She said, 'You're going to lose your job if you do that.' She's right. I'm going to give up the job, I told her. She told me to calm down and think it over, pointing out there were only so many major league managing jobs and that the man had given me my chance to manage in the first place. Eventually, Mele and Griffith got together. "Later, Mele led the Twins to a pennant. That was in 1965. He not only got the cut back from Griffith but a new two-year contract, and a nice raise along with it. He also was named the American League Manager of the Year at the same time. Two years after that, in June of 1967, Mele was fired after having managed Minnesota six-and-a-half seasons. He hasn't managed since and insists he doesn't ever want to manage again. A lot of managers say the same thing. Mele sounds as if he means it. "One of the reasons I won't manage again is because I enjoy the job. I'm doing more work and I'm having a fantastic organization," Mele said. "I could've managed again if I wanted. When I was fired by Minnesota, I was offered two major league managing jobs (with the A's and Washington). "Mele has been scouting for the past 12 years and acts as if he'd be perfectly happy to do the rest of his life. "During the early part of the year, I direct our minor league clubs in

Violence in Hockey Blasted

NEW WESTMINSTER, British Columbia (UPI) — A provincial court judge blasted "the entire system of hockey" and in particular the coaches for violence on the ice, but the only coach in his courtroom Wednesday disagreed. "That's his opinion... my style of coaching is going to remain the same," said New Westminster Bruins' Coach Ernie McLean after seven of his players were granted conditional discharges on assault charges. The entire system of hockey as it exists in North America today, from the NHL to the minor leagues, the coaches, must bear a large share of the responsibility. "These young men are manipulated, apparently happily by the owners and coaches to do exactly what they are told. McLean had no comment other than to say he would not change his approach to hockey. Boris Fricke, 18, William Hobbins, 19, Bruce Howes, 19, and Rob Hittorp, 17, all pleaded guilty to assaulting Portland player Trevor Westy. Fricke and Bruins captain John Paul Kelly, 19, admitted assaulting Portland coach Ken Hodge during the brawl, which erupted with only four seconds remaining in the game, won 4-1 by Portland. Howes, Terry Kirkham, 20, and Richard Amman, 18, had entered guilty pleas for assaulting Portland player Jim Dobson.

DETROIT LIONS

Would you believe this team, which hasn't topped .500 record in six seasons, could be seriously thinking division title? It is Coach Monte Clark has them firmly thinking positive. That's not to intimidate Lions don't mind deficiencies. But all are soluble if pieces Clark has assembled fit together. It's also predictable on fact that division is wide open.

OFFENSE

After years of waiting for Greg Landry to lead 'em, Lions are now firmly committed to Gary Danielson, free agent revelation, as field general. Had premier '78 campaign. Three knee operations later, Lawrence Gaines might finally give team big fullback if needs. Dexter Bussey is in 1,000-yard class at runner. Horace King, Rick Kane are serviceable backs. Line, rebuilt last year, is young and ready to go. augmented this year by Ross Bolinger (off injury list) at guard, top draftee Keith Dorney at tackle. Wide receivers OK if Gene Washington comes around. Tight end David Hill superb. Benny Ricardo is tackle/cicker. Rating: B+.

DEFENSE

Tough up front where Al Baker was pass-rushing rookie who, got unexpected hit from Dave Purley and Don English excelled at tackle. Bill Gay, converted to defensive end, will help. Linebacking more of question mark, with Paul Nease retired. Maybe rookie Kenton Keith (off injury list) in alongside holdovers Ed O'Neill in middle, Charlie Weaver outside. There's also Dave Washington, shade slower but smart. Secondary has potential as pro in cornerback Luther Bradley and James Hunter, moved to free safety, with good depth through Tom Skladany has had back but punts ball for msk. Rating: B+.

PREDICTION

Team won't make it all way to Super Bowl because it's in middle of building program. But there's enough class on hand, they're dedicated, to warrant pick as first AFC Central. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

CLEVELAND BROWNS

Faithfully Gregg Starns stirred up troops when he said Browns couldn't win with Brian Sipe at QB, raised couple of linemen. Club was erratic last year after good start. Sam Rutigliano impressed as first-year coach. Now they're relying too much on immediate play from several rookies but serious division threat. But they'll spring few upsets, maybe average 500 gain.

OFFENSE

Pruitt tandem — Greg at halfback, Mike at fullback — has to carry ball. Little Greg is always capable of gaining 1,000 yards. Mike is a good blocker. They should only be 78 of game. The key, he's Eddie Stanky type; without impressive skills, but lots of competitive heart. For targets, he'll have Dave Logan, capable tackle Willie Adams instead of Reggie Rucker. Ozzie Newsome is good one at tight end. Line, already fairly set, gets youth injection from tackle Matt Miller. No one complains about Don Cockroft's placements. Rating: C+.

DEFENSE

Could be quite a bit of recasting up front where rookie James Ramsey is carving himself job at end, leaving Mike St. Clair, Mack Mitchell to battle for other terminal. Earl Edwards is gone at tackle. Jerry Shek is showing up. But linebacking couldn't be better. Kroe finally healed. Robert Taylor is a good one in middle. Clay Matthews threatens to supplant Gerald Irons on outside. Pair of impressive rookie cornerbacks, Lawrence Johnson and Clinton Barbee, could also edge in as regulars. Al Thom Darden set at one safety. Reserve Ed Johnny Evans was mediocre in punting debut. Rating: C+.

PREDICTION

Too many "ifs" enter play in Browns division and it's not team that can overcome injuries. I pick them last in AFC Central. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Missouri Midland Power

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — People think of Missouri football in terms of upsets, not championships. The Tigers topple one and sometimes two national powers per year to cause annual chaos in the UPI coaches ratings. It all began in 1973 with Missouri's stunning 30-26 victory over No. 7-ranked Notre Dame in South Bend. Then came thumpings of Nebraska in 1973, 1974 and 1976, a 20-7 thrashing of No. 2 Alabama in Birmingham in 1975, a 46-25 whipping of No. 2 Southern Cal. in Los Angeles plus a 22-21 triumph over No. 5 Ohio State in Columbus in 1976. Last year, in Warren Powers' first season as head coach, the Tigers continued their upset magic with a 3-0 triumph over national champion Notre Dame in their opener at South Bend and then a 35-31 shocker of the No. 2-ranked Nebraska in the season finale in Lincoln. "We're going to have to be better because we aren't going to surprise anybody this time around," said Powers. "I know our fans are excited; they're expecting a good team. I'm glad to see that. I want our players coming back here thinking they can win the Big Eight and finish high in the Top 10. We're not a No. 1 national finisher." Bradley shared All-Big Eight honors at quarterback as a sophomore last season with senior Thomas Lott of Oklahoma after leading the conference in both passing and total offense. He hit 60 percent of his passes for 1,700 yards and 12 touchdowns. "Wilder rushed for 873 yards and finished fourth in the league in scoring with 12 touchdowns, including four in the finale against Nebraska. Richards, at 6-5 and 252 pounds, could be Missouri's best offensive lineman since Russ Washington in 1967. Missouri returns five defensive starters, including three along the front line, and has the added advantage of playing both Oklahoma and Nebraska at home on the only grass field in the Big Event. Overhauling Oklahoma will be no easy chore. The Sooners have captured at least a share of first place in each of Barry Switzer's six seasons as head coach. Oklahoma, in fact, was the only school in the country to beat every team on its schedule last year but was relegated to a No. 3 national finish. The Sooners return Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims, who led the nation in rushing with 1,762 yards. But Oklahoma lost a great star after a six-year stint at Oklahoma under Americas Reggie Kinlaw. Daryl Hunt and Outland Trophy winner Greg Roberts. "There's no way we can replace that type of talent," said Switzer. "Our losses were greater than that of anyone else in the league."

PoeTourney Set Sept. 19

Michael Albert, The Vernon Police Department's first full-time mechanic, looks over one of the cruisers in the service area of the new police station. Before the new station was built there was no area where a mechanic could work on the cruisers. Chief Herman Fritz said it is hoped that Albert will pay his own way in money saved the department because of his knowing how to buy parts and a program of preventive maintenance. Investments Earn Money

MANCHESTER—As a result of innovative investments, the Town of Manchester has earned more than $1.6 million on life funds during the 1978-79 fiscal year.
Interest on investment of General Fund monies generated $582,709, while the total of investment earnings was $1,589,166.
A bank bidding for town investments, called Competitive Bidding on Bank Deposits, netted the town $287,561.
A savings account program that utilized passbook accounts and wire transfer accounts earned $43,034. This approach provided investment of idle funds, while allowing access to the monies when the need arose.
In his report, Roger M. Negro, town treasurer said, that while many Connecticut towns have had their bond rating lowered, Manchester's "consistent budget surplus, outstanding tax collection record, aggressive investment program and history of stringent budgets" have resulted in an upgrading of this town's bond rating.
Because of the AA ratings, the town can borrow money at a lower interest rate than other towns. This means that the town can save money because of having achieved the rating. Manchester will pay an interest rate of 5.5-5.7 percent as opposed to a possible interest rate of 8 percent if the AA ratings had not been achieved.

MANCHESTER—Theresa Varney, 270 Charter Oak St., immediate past president of the Department of Connecticut Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, returned recently from the national convention with many awards. She was chosen to be guard at the convention.
Connecticut took first place in Americanism, first place in rehabilitation, second place in hospital and legislative, and received four awards for cancer aid and research.
Monetary awards were received for publicity, best newsletters and membership. Citations for National Home, Buddy Poppy and Safety and Drug Abuse were received.
Mrs. Varney, a delegate to the national convention was accompanied by Dorothy and Joanne Wohlgenuth, all delegates from the auxiliary to Post 9046 in Manchester. Past Commander Frank Wohlgenuth represented the local post.

Dismissal Is Reversed For Rockville Teacher

VERNON—A Rockville High School French teacher, who had been told that his services would be terminated, along with those of 10 other teachers, now has been told that his dismissal will not be carried out.
The Vernon Education Association challenged the Board of Education's decision to terminate John Brodeur's services because he was the only one of the 11 who had tenure.
Dr. Bernard Sidman, superintendent of schools, said the decision to terminate the positions wasn't made lightly. The teachers who were let go were in the business education and foreign language departments of the high school, because of decreasing enrollments in both departments.
Brodeur's termination was considered along with those of the other teachers who were not tenured because he was certified to teach only one language. All of the teachers, except Brodeur, were put on notice last winter that their contracts might not be renewed.
Brodeur didn't gain all of his years for tenure in Vernon. He had worked for another school system but state law allowed him to receive tenure in Vernon, after 18 months of teaching.
His dismissal caused a lot of concern to members of the Vernon Education Association and the association was challenging the action.
Meanwhile, Brodeur has gained a provisional one-year Spanish certification from the state Department of Education and will probably be teaching Spanish and French and a mentored teacher in that department. The first of three refresher workshops will be held, Tuesday, September 11, at the Waddell School, Broad St. from 7:30 to 10:00.
Plans are to build a 750-square-foot mall. Plans have been in the works for about five years and if the Town of South Windsor denies the zone change, plans are to build the entire mall in the Town of Manchester.

Zoning Action Delayed

SOUTH WINDSOR—The deadline for taking action on a proposal concerning a zone change in connection with the proposed Backland Commons shopping mall, has been changed from Sept. 1 to Oct. 1 by the Planning and Zoning Commission.
The zone change will allow the proposed mall to be built on the Manchester-South Windsor town line. A letter from an attorney represent-

These ratings affect the amount the community must pay to borrow money. Because of having achieved the rating, Manchester will pay an interest rate of 5.5-5.7 percent as opposed to a possible interest rate of 8 percent if the AA ratings had not been achieved.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How about equal time to respond to that narrow-minded prelate in Alaska who wrote, "Couples who have been living together neither need nor deserve wedding gifts?" She further stated that the purpose of wedding gifts is to set the couple up in housekeeping, and couples who are already keeping house already have a toaster, dishes, pots and pans, etc.

Well, I have been living with my boyfriend for two years, and we still have no definite plans to marry. One day, if I marry, I would like to have all appliances, a complete set of nice dishes, matched silverware and glasses, etc. In the meantime, we're using my mother's old pots and pans, secondhand dishes, and whatever else we could scrape together. We didn't go out and buy new things to set ourselves up in housekeeping.

And as for not "deserving" wedding gifts because we've been living together, that's a laugh. If relatives and friends gave wedding gifts only to bona fide virgins, the jewelry and housewares merchants would starve to death during the month of June!

MAD IN MANHATTAN

DEAR MAD: One live-in wife wrote to ask the letter from Alaska. But a reader in Shaker Heights took me to task for my lukewarm reply.

Read on:

DEAR ABBY: So you think the parents of the kids who live together are so "horrified" when the live-iners finally "make it legal," that they gladly kick in with the wedding gifts? No way, Abigail! When our daughter, who is living on a very generous trust fund from her grandparents, finally married her freeloading, live-in lover, all we gave them was our best wishes.

Had she married a more decent man, we would have gladly given her a beautiful gift.

NO GIFTS IN OHIO

DEAR ABBY: This is for the 35-year-old married woman who could leave after her freshman year, registered drug addict, but thought she was old to go back to earn a degree.

You're never too old!

I started college at 37 and graduated the same year my oldest daughter graduated from high school. Three years later I took up skiing. Two years after that I started taking piano lessons.

I've been teaching physical education in high school for the last six years and love it!

There are still many other things I would like to do before I settle down in a rocking chair with a pair of knitting needles.

J. IN GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

DEAR J: Congratulations. In no way do I mean to minimize your accomplishments, but I'll wager there are many readers out there who have returned to college, taken up a sport and begun music lessons much later than you. Readers?

CONFIDENTIAL - "FLAT AS A BOARD IN NINTH GRADE": Save your money, Honey. No creams, lotions or special exercises will increase the size of your chest. At age 45 the only options are padding and prayer but there's a lot to be said for accepting yourself as you are.

Gettling married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-it-yourself ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Abby: 123 Lady Luck, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Super Tag Sale

There are tag sales and there are tag sales — like the one at the 75-year-old Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids, Mich., offering more than three million items. Inspecting some of the hundreds of folding beds tagged for sale is prospective buyer Mary Weir. Other bargains available during the next several weeks include thousands of lamps, ashtrays, bathtubs, cash registers and bed linens. The $10 million hotel restoration by its new owner, Amway Corp., is part of a major downtown redevelopment effort for Grand Rapids. (UPI photo)

Coventry Council Backs Combining Two Posts

COVENTRY — Reversing its vote of a previous meeting, the Town Council has approved a plan to make John Willnauer, the town's building official, a half-time sanitarian.

At the Aug. 13 meeting of the council, three representatives from the Board of Health were in attendance to discuss the position of the sanitarian and they objected to the suggestion made by the town manager that the work be divided among three people.

For the past year the duties of the sanitarian have been handled by a consultant but that contract is running out, Donald Holmes, who was town engineer and sanitarian, was made a full-time engineer, thus leaving the town without a sanitarian.

The Board of Health suggested, to the council, that the town either contract out the position again, hire a three-quarter time sanitarian, or join a health district.

Dr. Robert Bowen, the town's health officer, in a memo to the council, has suggested that he favors a full-time sanitarian and asked that provisions for this be made in the 1980-81 budget. He said that one of his greatest concerns is that the restaurant inspections be met.

Council member Karen Nash, expressed concern that the manager's proposal would not give enough time for the sanitarian to do an adequate job. She said she would favor hiring a three-quarter time sanitarian now rather than to have to review the problem again in six months. Council member Douglas Whipple agreed with Ms. Nash noting that he didn't feel that one man could do both jobs.

At that time, council member Mrs. Joyce Carilli moved transferring funds and the hiring of an assistant building official and called for the review of the combination position when next year's budget is being prepared. The motion failed.

The council, this week, voted to appoint Willnauer as half-time sanitarian for the current fiscal year, subject to the approval of Dr. Bowen, with most council members feeling they had no alternative at this time.

Rham School District Sets Policy on Lunch

HEBRON — A policy for free and reduced priced meals for school children in Regional District 8 which covers the towns of Hebron, Andover, and Marlborough, has been set by school officials.

Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent of the district, said school officials have adopted family size and income criteria for determining eligibility for the program.

Families meeting the income requirements are eligible for free or reduced price meals and milk served under the national school lunch and special milk programs.

Applications are being sent out to all homes and additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided in the application will be kept confidential and applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has a foster child living with it and wishes to apply, they should contact the school office.

Under the provisions of the policy the principal in each school will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he or she may ask to discuss the decision with the principal on an informal basis.

To make a formal appeal a request may be made either orally or in writing, to Dr. Cattanch. His office is in the Gilead Hill School.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for the reduced priced meals or for free meals, if the family income falls at or below the guideline levels.

A copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party, is on file at each school, in the office of the food service director, and in the office of the superintendent of schools.
