Carter's Talk Received Four Standing Ovations

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA. Herald Reporter.

HARTFORD - Members of the conference of retired persons were seated one and one half hours before President Carter's scheduled arrival time, and during the course of his visit give four standing ovations.

While waiting for the president, the audience was entertained by the Coast Guard band. They heard an introduction by Gov. Ella Grasso in which she said Carter, "is committed to preventing the elderly and poor from having to choose whether to buy food, fuel or medicine this heating season."

A group of 2,600 heard Carter announce a $1.6 billion program to help the poor pay rising fuel bills. Carter declared, "We must protect the energy security of this country..."

Heating oil is currently being stockpiled. A heating oil management group composed of the departments of Energy, Transportation and the military will insure this oil is properly distributed.

Textao, said Carter, is freezing its prices of home heating oil for those unable to pay. The president called on other oil companies to give adequate credit and hold the line on prices.

Carter called on the conference attendees to work together to beat the energy problem. He called the elderly, "The best Americans to reach the rest of the country how to prevail and endure."

Declared the president as the audience gave a standing ovation. "We are entering a new era in medical care."

Two Persons Charged During Carter's Visit

HARTFORD (UPI) - A Connecticut man has been charged with allegedly impersonating a hotel security guard during President Carter's visit to Hartford and another was arrested for jumping a police barricade.

Pep Talk Was Low-Key

HARTFORD (UPI) - An insurance industry pep talk was low-key Carter's shtick with a half dozen industry leaders featured in a low-key pep talk for his energy plan, but the subject of national health insurance wasn't discussed in detail.

Runaways: Solution Aborning Emancipation Act Will Be a Beginning

By JAMES V. HEALON. MANCHESTER (UPI) - The runaway problem won't be solved when the Emancipation Act becomes law in October...

Under the act, a parent, or young adult who has reached 16, could petition the juvenile court for emancipation. The court would decide if the applicant was sufficiently mature, and decisions could be appealed.

She says her department's main concern is reducing the recidivism rate, "which is why the youth services bureau was initially started here - more as a preventive measure than as an investigative one though we obviously conduct both roles."

Everybody Lends a Hand. Everybody in the department from Chief Robert D. Laman on down - the patrolmen, detectives - lend a hand at one point or another.

Once a minor comes to the attention of the youth services unit in Manchester, a serious effort is made to determine the underlying problems.

Hardcore Runaways Referred. The unit refers hardcore runaways to juvenile court. Criminal violators could send a child to the state's Long Lane School in Middletown, which isn't conducive to rehabilitation in the view of some specialists.

Foster Parent Talks Set. VERNON - The Department of Children and Youth Services will sponsor a series of meetings for residents of Vernon and other areas towns who are interested in becoming foster parents.

Barbara Weinberg, Manchester resident and friend of President Carter from his campaign days, said, "The most important part of the day for me was to be greeted with a hug and kiss from my friend, Jimmy Carter, at the Air National Guard ramp in Windsor Locks."

Physicians charging higher amounts than the publicly set fee would be castigated as cheaters. Catastrophic medical bills will be covered for all Americans.

Declared the president as the audience gave a standing ovation. "We are entering a new era in medical care."

Things Go Better for Coke With Carter

WASHINGTON - Jimmy Carter believes things go better with Coke. As governor of Georgia, he made free use of Coca-Cola's corporate jet. Coke executives contributed to his presidential campaign and sponsored fund-raisers for him.

Last year, the Carter administration succeeded in blocking legislation that would have raised the tariffs on imported sugar. This held down sugar prices while most other commodities were soaring into orbit.

Now we have uncovered evidence that the president intervened personally to block higher price supports for sugar. The evidence is contained in the secret Cabinet minutes for Sept. 25, 1978.

It emerged as another victory for Coca-Cola worth millions to its stockholders, although the White House vigorously denied any "Coke connection."

Again last month, Jimmy Carter blocked the publicity was worth, except to admit it was "very significant."

Carters' riverboat adventure brought immediate results. Several Delta Queen officials said the phones "have been ringing off the hook" since the trip.

Pre-Election Summer Insanity

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The 1980 presidential election may be 14 months away, but the first returns already are being counted and analyzed - in the middle of the summer before the summer before the election.

In Pinellas County, which includes the city of St. Petersburg, the murky results of the August caucus indicated that Republican contenders Ronald W. Reagan and John B. Connolly were the apparent popularity leaders.

Even when the results are clarified at the state conventions this autumn they will have no binding influence, because Florida's delegates to the presidential nominating conventions won't be elected until a statewide primary is held next March 11.

Quiet House Contest

Richard E. Cohen WASHINGTON (NEA) - An undeclared but full-fledged race is heating up in the House of Representatives as Republicans prepare for the likely departure of their minority leader, Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona.

The contest would pit a colorful GOP partisan who has spent years of traveling across the country on behalf of Republican candidates against a steady but unimpressive veteran who has made his mark as an effective legislator. It would be the classic match of Mr. Outside versus Mr. Inside.

reporter that he thinks seven years is long enough for anyone to serve as minority leader; Rhodes, who looks the part when Gerald R. Ford became vice president in December 1973, will soon begin his seventh year.

His considerable support comes from both the recently elected Republicans because of the campaign help he gave them as well as the more conservative party activists, some of whom have been impressed by his fiery attacks on Democratic policies and proposals.

him as Vander Jagt begins to line up pledges of support for his candidacy while Michel continues to wait for Rhodes' official retirement statement. One Michel supporter said that if Michel does not soon discuss with Rhodes their respective plans, then he doesn't deserve to be minority leader.

The December 1980 race for party leadership could take on added importance if Republicans increase their House strength, as strategists in both parties believe could happen. Since their 159 seats leave them 59 short of a majority, a switch in party control of the House probably won't happen next year but it could transpire in the following four to six years.

Manchester To Open Bids For New Highway Equipment

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER - Bids to revamp the town's highway department equipment will be opened Wednesday at 9 a.m.
The town is seeking to purchase an asphalt recycler. It will be used to reprocess the bituminous material in roads and curbs that are torn up. The bituminous material will be heated by the recycler. Fluid will be added to replace the loss of moisture from years of exposure to the weather. While this soft tar is still hot, it will be transported to the site of potholes. In a soft stage, tar will stay in the road permanently. It will also cling to the sides of the hole, thereby allowing fewer cracks for moisture to seep in. It is the seeping in of rains and snow that freeze, expand, and cause the pavement to crack.

Director of Public Works Jay Giles said, "Companies making hot bituminous material close for the period from Thanksgiving to April 15. The town has been using cold patch tar to fill in potholes, which comes out when tires run over the hole."
Giles said the asphalt recycler is not the final answer to potholes, but it is better than the present system. Manchester is one of the first towns to invest in an asphalt recycler.
Funding for the innovative purchase is coming from the Highway Department's annual budget.

Danielson Points Booters for Title

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Writer

This is the last hurrah for veteran Manchester High Soccer Coach Dick Danielson, who'll be retiring after this his 33rd season at the controls.

His teams have won 22 CCIL and three state titles and 292 contests overall. His teams have accomplished plenty - but he does have one last wish for his final edition.

He'd like to see it realize its full potential.

Werner Casace's team in 1973 was the last one to realize its potential," states Danielson, "that's the last time to put it together."

The Indians, 12-5 and fourth in the league a year ago, kick off the 79 campaign Friday afternoon against dangerous Enfield High at Memorial Field at 3:30. And you get the feeling from Danielson this team has the potential to reach his high standards.

Manchester opens the campaign with goalies who haven't had a minute of varsity playing time. "But in the scrimmages everyone says how good they look. We have three guys and all are playing terrific," Danielson remarks.

Junior Marty Simon by an "eyeball" to reach the starting nod with junior Tim McCarthy and senior Matt Peterson ready and waiting.

up late last year and proved to be pluses. Seniors Rich Koepsel, Steve Mitchell and Bruce Schmidt also should see action at fullback. The latter has been slowed by injury and is working his way back into shape. He has caught the coach's eye.

Junior Alex Britnell has won the center halfback job. "He's looked tremendous (in the pre-season). I think he's ready to go," Danielson states. He'll be flanked by senior Tim O'Brien on the left and senior Mike Gallagher on the right. "He's over last year. He's hustling and he has a knack of being where the ball is. I feel we'll have a better midfield line than last year," Danielson states.

Juniors Bob Monaco and Scott

19-goal scorer last season, and sophomore Tommy Wood have been in trouble," Danielson cited. "If we can improve our level of skill we have a good shot at a great season. We're aiming for the league title," voiced the veteran coach aware the crown has gone elsewhere four consecutive campaigns.

"The team has to continue to improve. If it does just a little bit each year, if we do we will really be a tough club," he surmised.

The potential is there.

Meyers' Bid Ends For Place in NBA

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — There was no storybook ending for Ann Meyers, the first woman given a chance at making a National Basketball Association team.

Meyers was cut Wednesday night by the Indiana Pacers at the end of a three-day trial at a rookie-league agent camp.

"I'm very happy with myself," said Meyers. "I played to the best of my ability and I'm thrilled I had the opportunity to compete."

The 5-foot-9, 140-pound former All-America at UCLA will stay with Indiana in some administrative capacities, according to Bobby Leonard, the Pacers' coach and general manager.

"The guys all accepted and respected her," Leonard said. "She took her lumps like everyone else. She walked out of here with her head high and a smile on her face because she knew she did herself proud."

She was one of three players trimmed from the Indiana roster. Also cut were Neil Traub of the University of San Francisco and James Lee of Kentucky.

Not many observers had given Meyers a chance to make the cut.

"This thing with Ann to me was very successful," said Leonard. "I tell you one thing. From a fundamental standpoint she is excellent. Some of the guys in this camp had better thank God she doesn't have a little more height and 40 more pounds."

Meyers also said she might have set a precedent for other women.

"I hope this gets some more recognition for women's athletics. There are some really good women basketball players across the country."

Penney's Cross Country Runners Open Saturday

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Writer

Looking for a 500 season, the Penney High boys' cross country team opens its 1979 campaign Saturday morning participating in the Windham Invitational.

"We're aiming for 500," states Black Knight Coach Dick Brimley. "Last year we were 57 and to hit 500 we'll have to really put it together."

Top headlines are senior co-captains Mike Gatti and Ed Toran. Junior Mike Silvia has potential but "he's out of shape right now. The next two to three weeks will be crucial for him," Brimley asserts. He could prove to be a vital cog in the Penney picture.

Sophomores Mark Schultz, Ray Chartres and Greg Yanaras each show promise but "all three may be a year away," offers Brimley. Senior Paul Fleabear, a quarter-mile on the track team, could also show well if he adjusts to the longer distances stated the Black Knight coach.

Schedule: Sept. 15 Windham Invitational, 18 Hartford Public H, 21 at Enfield (with Hall, 25 West Hartford Field), 25 West Hartford A, 28 South Windsor A, Oct. 2 at Windham /with Ferni, 6 Greater Hartford Meet, 8 KFC Invitational at Holyoke, Mass., 12 Conard A, 16 Manchester /Simsbury H, 19 East Hartford H, 23 CCIL Field Day, 29 State Nationals, Nov. 2 Class 1 Meet at Timberlin, 9 State Open Meet at Edgewood.

Blackstone Says History Will Show He Was Good

By CHRIS BLAKE
Herald Reporter

EAST HARTFORD — Mayor Richard H. Blackstone, who lost his bid for a sixth term Tuesday to Democrat George A. Dagon, said Wednesday he believes history will show he was a good mayor.

"I've tried to be straightforward and honest and I believe I have," Blackstone said. "I know I made enemies, as every man does, but I know history will show that."

Blackstone said he is willing to sit down with Dagon and show him "some of the pitfalls" of being mayor. But he added, "There's no way one can provide a crash course on being mayor."

Dagon said Tuesday night he hopes to work closely with Blackstone during the next seven weeks because there's "much I have to learn about the Mayor's Office."

"I can't teach him how to be a mayor," Blackstone said. "I could show him the pitfalls and make him aware that this office is a very lonely place and you have a lot of difficult decisions to make."

Blackstone said the routine decisions become easy after years in office, because experience allows them to be made more quickly. But, he said it would be difficult for him to impart this experience on Dagon.

However, he said many decisions have unique circumstances, facts and effects. The role of the mayor is to gather the data, review the options and try to reach an objective conclusion based on the best interests of the community, he said.

Speculating on his own future, Blackstone said he will take a few months off in November and vacation with his wife, Terry. He said he will make a decision on his future plans "around the first of the year."

He did not rule out running for public office again or perhaps accepting or seeking a position with the state. He worked for the state Tax Department from 1947-61 as an accountant.

He said he may return to his accounting practice, which he operated from 1961 until he became mayor in 1969. But, he quickly added this is not a "fall back" position. Accounting is his field of expertise, he explained.

Meanwhile, town department heads lauded Blackstone and would not speculate on what changes, if any, might occur at Town Hall this

Technological Effects Aired at First Forum

MANCHESTER — The effects of technology on various aspects of society was discussed by four panelists at a public forum, "Technology on Trial," Wednesday night at Manchester Community College.

The forum, in conjunction with the current Course in Newspaper, "Connections: Technology and Change," also included a round table discussion by the panelists and questions from the audience.

The forum, co-sponsored by The Division of Community Services, the Cultural Programs Committee, the United Technologies Corporation and The Evening Connecticut Humanities Council, was held at the college.

Mary Ann Roy, associate professor of history at MCC, spoke on the effects of technology on change. The Director of the Mathematics, Science and Allied Health Division, at MCC, Dr. Mario Piondella spoke on technological innovations in science, Steve Cassano, assistant professor of sociology, spoke on the impact of technology on society and Thomas Furtado, coordinator of personnel development at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, spoke on the impact of technology on employment.

The panel probed such issues as when does technology move from a position, simply that it is an asset to one where it is a risk and how can technology be controlled.

The panel agreed much of the power which controls technological growth in our country remains with a very few and the "narrow elite."

The next forum will be held November 14 and will be on the topic, "The Imperatives of Engineering." The final forum on December 12 will cover "Technology and the Seamless Web: Ethical Dilemmas. The site and time of the forums will be determined at a later date.

For further information contact the Director of Community Forums, Charles Alan Piese or the coordinator, Mary Ann Roy at the Community Services Division, Manchester Community College, 646-2137.

Heating Oil Industry Cooperates in Probe

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's home heating oil industry will cooperate with a legislative committee's probe of the industry's pricing practices.

By Thomas B. Coates, executive director of the Connecticut Petroleum Council, Wednesday said he didn't think the probe should be allowed to weaken attempts to help needy families get enough fuel this winter.

The Legislature's Energy and Public Utilities Committee plans to subpoena 17 Connecticut-based fuel suppliers in its efforts to find out how they distribute and price home heating oil in the state.

Area Police Report

Vernon
 Everett H. Presley, 46, of 18 Raspberry Lane, Ellington, was arrested Wednesday on a warrant charging him with second degree assault.

The arrest was made in connection with the investigation of an incident that allegedly happened on Sept. 8 in which Presley allegedly sprayed an irritating substance in the face of another male. The victim required medical attention.

Presley was released on a $2,000 non-surety bond for appearance in court in Rockville on Sept. 18.

Norma J. Ellis, 20, of 133 West Main St., Rockville, was charged Wednesday with fourth-degree larceny shoplifting in connection with a complaint made by the Stop & Shop Market, Vernon Circle.

In connection with the investigation of the same incident, Karen Ellis, 17, of the same address, was charged with conspiracy to commit fourth-degree larceny.

Both were released on their promise to appear in court on Sept. 18.

Free Spirit on Kelley Road
 He was held in lieu of posting a $250 bond and was to be presented in court today.

Douglas Croft, 22, of Tolland Street, and Guy Bishop, 23, of Anchor Road, both of East Hartford, were charged early this morning with illegal possession of a narcotic substance.

Police said the pair was arrested in the parking lot to the rear of the Post Road Shopping Plaza, Route 30, in lieu of posting $1,000 bonds they were to be presented in court today.

South Methodist
 MANCHESTER — The Adult Prayer and Study Group of South United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 7:30 at 224 Indian Hill Trail, Glastonbury. To learn more, call the church office, 647-9141.

Volunteers Sought
 MANCHESTER — The volunteer companies of the Town of Manchester Fire Department are currently seeking active members. If you are physically fit, male or female, 18 years of age or older, and a Manchester resident, call 646-2008 for further information.

Denise Benoit, a citizen activist who campaigned for Dagon, said residents told her they felt 10 years was enough for a mayor to serve. Ms. Benoit said neighborhood canvasses showed residents wanted a change in leadership.

"The people wanted George in," she said.

Blackstone said the "basic theme" was that 10 years was enough.

"I'm in politics — which I consider a noble profession — it's a strange phenomenon that when a man is in office for any length of time, there is a desire to throw the rascals out," he said.

"People have apparently said 10 years is enough," he said. "I don't understand it. Perhaps I never will."

WITNESS IS OUR WAY OF LIFE

Since the doors are closed, very little of the heated room air is drawn back into the fireplace and up the chimney. And, if the doors are glass, the family can still enjoy the beauty of the flames. Those opting for metal doors will get even more heat from the insert, although they will not be able to watch the fire.

Another popular trend today are add-ons — which are exactly what their name implies. They are added-on to basement woodburning furnaces. Although the homeowner can't see the flames and it is more expensive than a woodburning stove or free-standing unit, it does provide a lot of heat to the house while using only renewable fuel. Since it has a bigger fire chamber than the traditional stove, the homeowner can put more wood into it at one time.

Save Energy MONEY AND TIME

The Businesses Listed Below can help your families during the months to come by showing them the best way and more important the most economical way to solve everyday energy needs.

September Proclaimed Wood Energy Month

Americans are rededicating wood. Today 65 percent of all new single family dwellings have at least one fireplace, and 50 percent of all higher priced homes ($100,000 or more) have more than one, according to the Fireplace Institute. In addition, wood stove sales have increased phenomenally since 1972. In fact, estimates now place the number of new wood stoves being added to the nation's supply at nearly a million a year.

There's no mystery as to why millions of consumers yearly are turning to wood energy for home heating. Since 1973 there's been an unprecedented rise in oil and gas prices, and a constant threat of a shortage. Unlike oil and electricity, wood is dependable. It is not affected by the world market or downed power lines during winter storms.

This, coupled with increasingly brutal winters nationwide, has caused millions of families to depend on woodburning appliances for supplemental and/or primary heat. Based on 1978 U.S. Census figures, there are now probably four to five million households equipped to derive all or part of their heat from wood.

As a result, manufacturers of woodburning appliances early as well as to stock up on their wood supply. In addition, consumer information will be provided on fireplace and/or stove care and safety, the correct way to start a fireplace fire, the types of wood to use, and money-saving tips on selecting fuelwood.

Wood Energy Month celebrates the many advantages of heating with wood. Some of these advantages are:

- Wood is the one energy resource in the United States that is renewable and largely nonpolluting. It contributes as much energy to the American economy as does nuclear power and has been used in one form or another by almost everyone. Our nation was built with wood, and was and is richly endowed with forests. They have not yet made their last contribution to our welfare.
- Wood is abundant in our country. There is enough surplus wood to heat nearly 40 million homes all winter. Of the 500 million acres of commercial forest in the United States, only about 200-250 million acres are actually in commercial use. This means that there is about one acre of woods for each American.
- Unlike fossil fuels, forests, once cut, can be replaced or regrown and cut again in 20 to 60 years time. Trees are no different than any other growing plant; they just take longer to grow.

Experts Caution Carter On Synthetic Fuels

By ROBERT WEBSTER

WASHINGTON — President Carter's proposed "Energy Security Corporation," which is intended to spur the development of synthetic fuels production in the United States, came under direct-line opposition by energy experts during a recent Senate Budget Subcommittee hearing.

Chaired by Sen. Gary Hart (D-Colo.), the Subcommittee on Synthetic Fuels was created in June to study the impact of Carter's proposed energy plan on the upcoming 1980 federal budget. At question is the program's timeliness and the distribution of $88 billion which is to be appropriated for the program.

Administration spokesman W. Bowman Cutler, an official at the Office of Management and Budget, stressed the need for a reassured approach should be taken," said Bruce A. Pasternack, Vice President of Booz, Allen & Hamilton, a Maryland-based national consulting firm.

Pasternack told the subcommittee the administration's plan would commit too much too soon, to the yet undeveloped synthetic fuel industry. Rather than rush into such a program, the energy consultants unanimously proposed a two-phased program consisting of "pilot" synthetic fuel plants to be completed during the mid-1980's. Data from these plants plus a variety of economic incentives would bolster private sector support for the construction of up to 10 synthetic fuel plants by the mid-1990's, Pasternack said.

Cutler disagreed, saying, "Any administration has to do more than look for information."

Fireplace Add-Ons Popular

The romance and beauty of an open fire is not to be denied. Homeowners wanted more heat from their woodburning appliances. Manufacturers complied and produced airtight stoves, but the popular pastime of watching the dance of a burning fire was lost. Manufacturers again complied to consumer demand and have produced what is called fireplace inserts or sliders. According to several of our dealers and distributors, they are tremendously popular, especially in the New England states where the traditional fireplace hearth exists in many homes. Three-fourths of the work is already done for the homeowner. The insert is a metal box with either glass or metal doors that is easily slid into the existing fireplace. Some of the models burn with the damper almost completely closed. When the box gets hot, the air around it becomes hot. The heated air rises and is deflected into the room, rather than up the chimney.

Bolton Show Offers Fall Flowers and Champagne

By FRANK ATWOOD

Fall flowers will be shown in profusion and champagne will be served at lunch in the "Nature's Beauty" autumn flower show Saturday, Sept. 22, at St. George's Episcopal Church in Bolton.

There are two other arrangements on Christmas themes, secular rather than religious. One is a centerpiece for a buffet party and the other is a Christmas wreath or hanging. There is a class for a bride's bouquet for a fall wedding and a class for pew hangings, also for a fall wedding. The schedule lists a table arrangement for a Halloween's supper. Classes in horticulture will send gardeners out to cut their finest asters, marigolds, zinnias, dahlias and fall-blossoming roses. There will be prizes for the best potted plants.

A junior division offers prizes in three groups, divided by age from the primary grades through high school. Boys and girls of high school age will compete with grown-ups.

No Chairman

Miss Millicent Jones of Bolton, who has helped to organize many flower shows at St. George's and has provided altar arrangements for many Sundays, was asked to take the chairmanship of a show committee but said she would like to have help. Dr. and Mrs. Edward G. Corbett of Coventry, relative newcomers at St. George's, agreed to work with Miss Jones and the committee has no chairman.

The luncheon chairman is Carol Little and the menu offers vegetarian dishes prepared with French gourmet recipes. Entries will be in place by 10 a.m. The judges will have two hours to make their awards. The show will be open and lunch will be served at noon.

Dr. and Mrs. Corbett came to this area when Dr. Corbett joined the Plant Science faculty of the University of Connecticut last year. Dr. Corbett grew up in the Panama Canal Zone, where his father was a marine electrician. I asked him what he thinks now, looking back, of the schools he attended in the Zone. He thinks they were definitely superior. Every teacher, he said, had a master's degree.

Ready for college, he came to the states and a bachelor's degree four years later at the University of Maine. He earned a doctor's degree at New Hampshire. He taught at Old Dominion College in Virginia and at Thiel College in western Pennsylvania.

Dr. Corbett then had the unusual experience of hunting for new plants in India and Korea for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Just before coming to Connecticut, Dr. Corbett worked for five years as manager of a private estate at Northeast Harbor, a community of wealthy families near Bar Harbor, Me.

Horticultural Society

The Connecticut Horticultural Society will hold its annual Harvest Show on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 15 and 16, at the Pond House in Ellsworth Park, West Hartford.

There will be special exhibits of gladiolus, orchids, bonset, St. Paulia and geraniads, begonias, cactus, chrysanthemums, rock garden plants, roses, dahlias, ferns and lilies, set up by both professionals and amateur growers.

Jessie Merritt of Manchester is organizing a junior show.

The two-day show is open without charge, on Saturday from 2 to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Apartment Tenants Group Voicing Complaints Again

By LANEY ZUBOFF, Herald Reporter. MANCHESTER - The Rachel Road Tenants Association Inc. is voicing complaints similar to those that were instrumental in ousting their first apartment complex manager, but the present manager says complaints are unfounded. The association has set a meeting for Monday inviting the Board of Directors of the Manchester Interfaith Social Action Council, (MISAC) the owners, to attend.

Over 160 residents belong to the tenants association which represents residents from the Beechwood Apartment complex and houses 191 units. Jean Marchuck, president of the association, and one of its founders two years ago, said Wednesday that although the new management, C. Arthur Boothby, president of the complex, and Marchuck said they are the major problems. Beechwood apartments were opened in 1970 with a mortgage from the federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and was managed by L.C. Greenough and Co. of Hartford before Housing Services took over 14 months ago.

Marchuck said a major bone of contention is a rent hike of $10 for a one bedroom, and $15 for two and three bedroom apartments. The rents were raised last March with costs now running $182 for a one bedroom, $212 for a two and $237 for three bedrooms. But it is partly because the tenants are unhappy with the management that they rebuke the rent hike. "The repairs haven't been kept up. They want a rent increase when nothing is done for the rent," said Marchuck. Marchuck said bug infestation is rampant in the complex, the ther-

Ludes Goes to Parents Board Rehears Three Teachers

By CHARLIE MAYNARD, Herald Reporter. MANCHESTER - One month after informing the press and the school board of the new attendance policy, Manchester High School Principal Jacob Ludes III took his case to the parents. The second-year administrator held court Wednesday night with over 60 parents, the first of a series of coffee hours he promised to have with them throughout the year. Ludes used the occasion to underscore what he dramatized at the Aug. 27 Board of Education meeting - that class cutting will not be tolerated at the high school. He said improving attendance is his "single highest priority" this year.

"The statistics offend me and they offend you," he said. "It affects faculty and student morale, as well as student achievements." Ludes also talked about the grading system and the physical plant, but spent most of the time discussing the attendance policy with the parents. Under the guidelines he revealed last month, students with seven unapproved absences from a class in any one semester will lose credit for the course. Each cut will be disciplined by detention, and the teacher will notify the parent after the second and third absences. Ludes said a total of 25 absences, approved or unapproved, will result in a loss of credit. Three instances of tardiness, he said, amount to one absence. However, a student may appear before appeals committee to restore the credit. But, Ludes said, that student would have to improve

MHS Review Planned

MANCHESTER - Manchester High School awaits the arrival of officials from the New England Association of Schools and Colleges this fall for a thorough review before accreditation. The board will also consider staff inservice program fee and approval of a policy relating to nurse's aide are included on the agenda. The board will also consider staff inservice programs. There will be an executive session to discuss a personnel matter and a meeting after regular meeting to discuss negotiations.

Panel Suggests Sewer Analysis

BOLTON - The Sewer Avoidance Study Committee has voted to recommend to the Board of Selectmen that it execute the assistance agreement with the Capitol Region Council of Government (CROCG) for technical work pertaining to sewer avoidance. James Klar, acting chairman of the committee, said CROCG will do an analysis of the soil structure, slopes, geographic configuration of the town to ascertain what areas will stand limitless development with septic systems and a study of failures with sewage disposal. Representatives of CROCG will also interview townpeople to determine how they feel about the future development of Bolton as well as their thoughts about waste disposal and the kinds of disposal preferred. Klar said there are a number of ways to dispose of liquid domestic waste other than individual septic systems and sewers. He said experience shows that rural towns with sewage systems have population explosions. Klar said the study will include the "whole ramifications of what the social aims of the community are." Public meetings will be scheduled in the future to get people informed of the progress of the study and to get citizen's input. The committee consists of representatives of various town organizations and citizens-at-large. Klar said, "I think we're off to a good start."

Only 10 Pupils Need Physicals

VERNON - As of Monday there were only 10 students in the entire Vernon school system who had not had the required physical exams. State law requires students to have a physical exam before entering kindergarten and every three years thereafter until graduation from high school. At the end of the first week of school, Sept. 7, Dr. Arthur Kerkin, assistant superintendent of schools, said there were 43 kindergarten students who needed physicals; three, fourth grade students; and nine, tenth grade students. Kerkin told the Board of Education Monday night that the number had been narrowed down to 10. He was asked if the administration carried out its ruling which calls for students to be excluded from school until they have the proper physical exam. Kerkin said this had been imposed in all cases except a few who were excused when they proved they did have doctor's appointments but the doctor couldn't schedule them before schools opened. Kerkin said parents were notified about the ruling throughout the last school year and on May 18 a letter went out to parents explaining that the child would be excluded from school this month unless they had the physical exam report filed in the nurse's office. Parents of pre-kindergarten students were told about the policy at the time the children were screened in May.

No Blood Found In Acquin's Car

WATERBURY (UPI) - There was no trace of blood found in a Lotus Acquin was said to have driven after he allegedly committed Connecticut's largest mass murder, a state trooper has testified. Trooper Robert Mills told a Waterbury Superior Court judge Wednesday he used chemical techniques to determine if there was any presence of blood in the car but that both sets were negative. Mills, who works at the state forensic laboratory, said he tested for blood on the inside and outside of the car as well as in the trunk. Acquin, 29, a Maine native, is charged with the slayings of his foster brother's wife Cheryl Beaudoin, her seven children and a young relative visiting their home in rural Prospect on July 22, 1977.

The state has claimed Acquin was wearing bloody clothing when he left the home after the killings. The other photos in the notebook of the victims' autopsy, but not admitted in evidence. When the panel was excused, Williams asked that each juror be called in and asked if they had seen the other photos while McDonald flipped through the notebook. Pickett rejected both requests, bringing sharp criticism from the defense. "If I did that you would have held me in contempt of court," Williams said. He told Pickett the decision wasn't in keeping with his high office.

Educators Meet Tonight

BOLTON - The Board of Education will meet tonight at 8 p.m. at Bolton Center School library. Approval of bus drivers, staff changes, milk contract, drivers' education program fee and approval of a policy relating to nurse's aide are included on the agenda. The board will also consider staff inservice programs. There will be an executive session to discuss a personnel matter and a meeting after regular meeting to discuss negotiations.

Board Rehears Three Teachers

SOUTH WINDSOR - Three of the six elementary teachers terminated at the close of the 1976 school year because of declining student enrollment have been rehired, according to School Superintendent Robert Goldman. Rehired for the present school year are Ms. Deborah Collins who is teaching grade two at Pleasant Valley School, Mrs. Florence Davies who is teaching grade four at Eli Terry and Mrs. Alice Vale who is teaching fourth grade at Orchard Hill School. Some of the teachers who were not rehired secured positions elsewhere. Mrs. Gail Beare has been rehired following a one year child rearing leave of absence and is teaching a half-day kindergarten at Eli Terry School, Goldman said. New to the South Windsor system is Ms. Susan Giardina, hired as a speech and hearing therapist. Mrs. Judith Koehnel for third grade at Pleasant Valley School and Frank Niederwerfer who will teach physical education at Orchard Hill School. Ms. Barbara Jean Burnham has been hired to teach special education at Ellsworth School and Glenn Carlson will teach mathematics at Timothy Edwards Middle School, Goldman said.

McDonald wanted state trooper David Faige to identify photos in the book that he took but Williams asserted the jury saw other pictures of the victims as well. The other photos in the notebook of the victims' autopsy, but not admitted in evidence. When the panel was excused, Williams asked that each juror be called in and asked if they had seen the other photos while McDonald flipped through the notebook. Pickett rejected both requests, bringing sharp criticism from the defense.

"If I did that you would have held me in contempt of court," Williams said. He told Pickett the decision wasn't in keeping with his high office.

Merit Demand Builds.

Low tar MERIT attracts increasing number of former high tar smokers.

A few years ago most smokers agreed: low tar meant low taste.

Then along came MERIT, packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco and taste-tested by thousands of smokers.

No other new cigarette in the last 20 years has attracted so many smokers as quickly as MERIT!

The demand continues to build—and among low tar smoking's toughest-to-please group: high tar smokers. In fact, over 70% of MERIT smokers are coming directly from high tar brands.

It's clear: MERIT taste is changing attitudes toward low tar smoking.

THURSDAY — SEPT. 13, 1979

Students are thoroughly instructed in all phases of skin and scuba diving. Here instructor Art Benson shows Ed Roldan of Vernon proper use of regulator.

Calm and confident, assistant instructor Gary Stafford watches over every student's move and offer help to correct mistakes before they become habits.

Art Benson, below was introduced to his partner Bill Paluska during a dive outing in 1968. Incorporated their ideas and combined 30 years of diving experience, now offer some of the finest instruction and knowledge available.

Waiting their turn on deck, students carefully analyze each other during pool sessions. Practice builds confidence.

Below the surface, learning to breath with scuba, students acquire proper buddy breathing techniques for safety, should one partner's air supply become depleted.

INTRODUCTION TO SCUBA DIVING

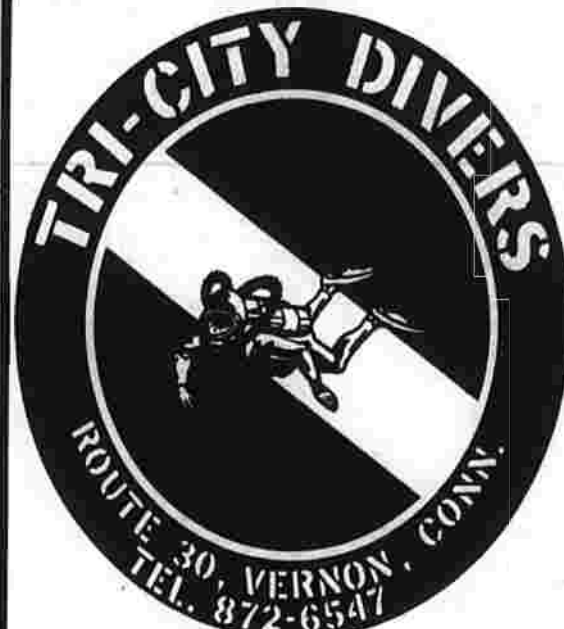

When I first donned SCUBA gear and stepped off the side of the boat, I felt mild apprehension. Part of it, of course, was the welcome, heightened excitement of trying something new. There is sheer delight in any venturesome sport, for you simply don't appreciate having a neck unless you stick it out once in awhile.

Part of my feeling may also have derived from the fact we were five miles off the Florida coast, and dry land — man's natural element — was a thin emudge on the distant horizon. This visit to a new environment began with a giant step.

I splashed into the gently heaving sea, rolling above the coral reefs of subtropical South Florida, and sank into a mass of bubbles dancing in a shimmering, emerald light. And the strangest thing happened: A wave of absolute delight washed every ounce of apprehension out of my system. With my very first breath underwater, I felt as if I had joined the fish in their strange world, had become one of them. The strange environment no longer seemed so strange.

The waters are astonishingly clear, and I could see for what seemed to be hundreds of feet in every direction, to a nearby horizon that blended almost imperceptibly with a translucent green wall. The diver dwells in a giant liquid bowl.

Beneath me, some 40 feet down, were rocky reef outcroppings scattered over dispersed beds of clean sand. I swam slowly downward, joining the others. Small fish, like puppies in a pet shop, came with tail wagging eagerness to investigate the visitor. They did everything a pup would do, too, except lick my glass-encased nose and sprinkle excited evidence of affection upon a leg. Smaller fish absolutely unafraid, swam before my mask to goggle large eyes at me.

Trim Fashions

There is a slogan which appears in all Trim Fashions ads... "Where Fashion is a Look, not a Size." And this year, that is even more appropriate than in past years. Eye-catching primary colors, jade, raspberry, turquoise, a rich vanilla shade, and red-white-navy combinations are out on the racks.

Women need not spend another Fall in only hot, heavy polyester. Fabrics include cotton, light polyester, silk and blends of the three fabrics, terry, and rayon blends. There are polka dots, horizontal stripes and tiny and large floral prints.

Dresses have sheer, shirred or draped casual overblouses with roll-up sleeves. Nancy Maulucci, manager of the Vernon Trim Fashions, says these styles as well as Jeans, Bathing Suits, Lingerie, and a Special Children's Department, are all available for the women or children with problem fit.

Trim Fashions, a Stratford-based company, has added about one store a year and now operates 15 in Connecticut and one in Springfield. The most recent opened in North Haven.

Nancy and her friendly staff will be happy to help you choose the fashions most becoming to your figure. Remember, it is a Look, not a Size.

Camera Kingdom

The "Camera Kingdom" is a unique store to the Vernon/Rockville area, in that it is the only complete photography store specializing in exclusively photographic equipment, supplies, darkroom equipment, accessories and even binoculars and telescopes.

If you're frustrated with department store photo departments that give little or no personalized, expert service, or advice, you'll find Camera Kingdom a refreshing change from all that. Because their reputation depends on your satisfaction, the salespeople will be eager to please.

A pleasant surprise in addition, will be the competitive prices found on the equipment on hand. If they don't have it in stock, don't hesitate to place a special order. No item is too small for them to obtain for you. Many items are available in one or two days.

Some special services available are: 2 Day Service on most films left for processing, rentals, old photos copied, Kodak processing, and custom enlargements with frames. Some repair work is also handled.

Frame Factory

Everyone's doing it themselves and you can, too, at the Frame Factory, Rt 83, Vernon. While you can let the Frame Factory's experts do your framing for you, it's more fun, economical, and informative to do it yourself. You can rely on the Frame Factory to help you do it correctly. Keep your memories preserved and remember "Together We Can Do It Yourself." The Frame Factory is two miles north of Vernon Circle on Rte. 83. 872-8022.

Tri-Town Paint & Decorating Center

Freedom Walk

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Alexander, 26, a native of Russia was not a person of renown — a physics teacher — but he was his personal freedom so badly walked, rowed and hitchhiked 500 miles, living off berries and wild mushrooms, to obtain it. He reached the U.S. Embassy in Stockholm Thursday and formally asked for political asylum. He left Moscow Aug. 19.

He asked that his last name withheld to protect his elderly mother in Moscow and told U.S. officials "I am not a radical, all I am interested in is my own freedom and my right to choose to do what I want." He said he chose to leave his native land because he was prevented from getting a job in his chosen profession because he refused to be a member of a Communist Party youth group.

Contract Talk

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers union, for the first time since Saturday discussed crucial economic demands after agreements on a number of complex non-economic contract terms were made. And it was learned the UAW was optimistic enough that it already had made contingency plans to convene local officers early next to begin the contract ratification process.

The negotiators are trying to beat a strike deadline and union President Douglas Fraser said "I'm guardedly optimistic and don't want to do anything that might upset that in any way." The UAW has said it will call selective strikes at 13 GM assembly plants, 32 parts warehouses and a diesel locomotive manufacturing facility if no agreement is reached by midnight tonight.

Secret Case

DESOTO, Texas (UPI) — Computer genius, James Dale Egbert III, 16, a Michigan State University student missing almost a month, has been found but there is such an air of secrecy about the incident even the location of the room in which he was found Thursday was not disclosed.

Egbert now is under a doctor's care in the Dallas area, although physically he is healthy, his family's private investigator told Dear told reporters Thursday. He added, "I don't know when, ever, the veil of secrecy will be lifted from this case. Perhaps the good of the boy it should ever be."

Birth Control

NORTHEAST HARBOR, Maine (UPI) — Dr. Kenneth Mcerns was interviewed Thursday at an International Society for Biochemical Endocrinology conference on "Reproductive Processes and Contraception," at which it was announced a long-term birth control method using injections and nose drops to regulate the menstrual cycles had been developed. The drops also may be used to inhibit the production of sperm in men, Mcerns said, adding that more research is needed before they can be used widely as a male contraceptive.

Mcerns said besides being more convenient, the injections are safer than birth-control pills.

McHenry OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday overwhelmingly approved the nomination of Donald McHenry to replace Andrew Young as ambassador to the United Nations.
