

Car Pooling Study Topic

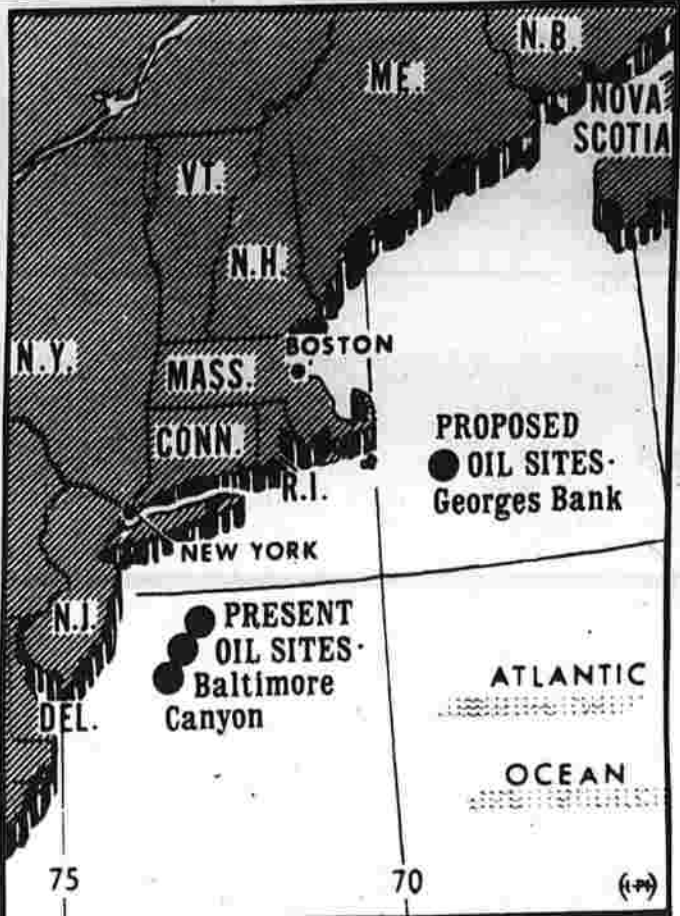

MANCHESTER - Ways to tie the state Department of Transportation car pooling program with town efforts are being prepared for the Transportation Advisory Commission by a CETA worker.

Steve Oshewski was originally hired as a management trainee, to put the town's annual report together. Since this job is completed, Oshewski is now working with DOT to make the Manchester segment of the ride sharing program efficient.

Between now and the Oct. 15 Transportation Advisory Commission meeting, Oshewski will confer with the Wetherfield DOT to see what kinds of services the town can provide to make a car pooling program succeed.

If a program is approved by the advisory commission and by the DOT, the town would compile information about those interested in participating in the plan, and then match persons together who have compatible schedules.

Assistant Town Manager Charles McCarthy said this was a sensitive area because there is already a computer program at DOT to handle this, and the town must discover ways to work with the state system.

Sites for Drilling

Oil and gas drilling on the Georges Bank off the shores of Massachusetts and Rhode Island - a shallow and immensely productive fishing ground - will be permitted, the Carter administration announced last week. The first sale of drilling rights for more than 660,000 acres available for lease is scheduled for Oct. 30. Present oil drilling sites are located on the Baltimore Canyon off the shores of New Jersey and Delaware. (UPI map)

Friendship Circle

MANCHESTER - Friendship Circle Salvation Army will meet Tuesday night at 8 p.m. at the Citadel for a worknight. Hostesses will be Mrs. Bessie Cole and Mrs. Ann Szymanski.

PWP To Meet

MANCHESTER - The Manchester Chapter, Parents Without Partners, will have a general meeting tonight at 8 at Community Baptist Church, 585 E. Center St.

The meeting is open to persons who are widowed, divorced, separated or never married and having at least one living child.

Health Testing

HEBRON - The Community Health Service Inc. will offer vision and hearing testing for children ages three and four, every fourth Thursday of the month from 9 a.m. to noon in the nursing office in Columbia. Appointments are necessary. The program will run from October through June.

The goal of the pre-school vision and hearing testing program is prevention of serious impairments through early detection and treatment. The service will be free. Parents interested in having their children participate should call the agency office, 228-9423.

Elected Treasurer

BOLTON - Lawrence Rampellini of Bolton, assistant vice president of Connecticut Bank & Trust Co., has been elected assistant treasurer of the University of Connecticut Foundation.

W. Lester Kissen, chairman of the board of Bristol Brass Corp., was elected president. John A. Solomon of Canton, vice president, and Peter N. Prior of Marlborough, treasurer. The foundation is a private organization dedicated to the advancement of the state university.

MANCHESTER - The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 47 pints of blood when it visited the Marine Club on Parker Street Friday.

A total of 57 persons appeared to give blood, but 10 were deferred to another time. There were 17 first-time donors at the Friday visit.

The Bloodmobile is scheduled to visit Congdon Lutheran Church, 40 Pitkin St., today from 12:30 to 3 p.m. There is a critical shortage of blood and walk-in donors are welcome.

Those donating blood at the Friday visit were:

John J. Hayes, Melvin R. Wettsell, Richard E. Tambling, Richard Warner, Arlene E. Elwell, Carl Beesten, Linda Ann Hietala, Eric Schaefer, Robert H. Sines, Philip Jaskolski.

HEBRON - The Rham Junior High School Building Committee will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Rham High School library to review equipment and furnishing proposals for the new school.

Originally the committee had authorized Peter Abel, project architect, to assist in the bidding process for a fee of 4.5 percent of the gross cost. Abel made a counter-offer to do the required work for a flat fee of $13,000 but Abel told committee members last Monday that he wouldn't accept the proposal. The committee subsequently agreed to prepare and bid on its own for the furnishings and equipment.

The committee has agreed to retain William Risley as a consultant for the project. Risley will provide a job scope and cost projections for the furnishings and equipment.

Bruce Gallant, building committee chairman, said that Jack Jackson, project representative, had said that the furnishings and equipment would be moved into the building in April or May.

Gallant also said he will talk with computer vendors concerning the proposed computer for the project. The annual sale and sale will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be a 4-H livestock banquet Oct. 13 at 6:30 p.m. at the Vernon Congregational Church. A program on improving com-

MANCHESTER - This year, 1979 or 1980 in the Hebrew calendar, marks the 70th anniversary of the organized Manchester Jewish Community is observing the High Holidays Season and the 40th consecutive year that it is observing it in its own synagogue.

Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, was observed last Saturday and Sunday. Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, will be observed next Sunday night and Monday. Kol Nidre, the most sacred prayer for all Jews, will be chanted Sunday night.

It all started back in 1910 (the year 5670 in the Hebrew calendar), when the dozen or so Jewish families then residing in Manchester formed the Manchester Hebrew Free Loan Association. Its formal purpose was to aid stranded Jews and to extend financial aid to needy Jewish residents.

But, it was much more than that. It was an embryo congregation which held High Holiday Services in rented halls on downtown Main Street, which utilized the services of itinerant rabbis and cantors, which saw to it that the children of the dozen or so families were taught the fundamentals of Judaism and which formed the nucleus of a social life for the Jewish community.

Twenty-five years later, in the year 1935 (the Hebrew year 5695), it found that facility and five years later, in 1940 (or 5701), it moved into Manchester's first Temple Beth Shalom, at Myrtle and Linden streets.

And 15 years later, in 1955 (or 5716), it began planning for the handling of a new synagogue on East Middle Turnpike, again Temple Beth Shalom, dedicated in 1964 (or 5725) and used ever since for religious, educational, and social community activities to its fullest.

And now, as Manchester Jews observe their 70th anniversary year as an organized community, they face the future with a bright and young new rabbi at the helm - Dr. Richard Plavin. The Jewish religion and Jewish communal life are never-ending and will be observed as long as there are Jews.

Indeed, the goals, the aspirations, the values expressed by Manchester Jewry aren't about to change. Rather, they will be expanded upon and continued by Rabbi Plavin, as he explains in his High Holiday message to the Manchester Jewish community, as follows:

"If I were compiling a list of resolutions to the average Jew in America, I think I would submit the following as the irreducible minimum:

"1) I resolve that in the coming year I shall attend services in the synagogue as often as I can, because I recognize that Judaism without the Sabbath, without Holy Days and without prayer is not the Judaism for which our people has sacrificed so much.

"2) I resolve that in the coming year I shall make my home Jewish by observing Jewish holidays there and by recognizing the many good things that come to me in life as the blessing of heaven, rather than as rewards for personal merit.

"3) I resolve that in the coming year I shall read at least several Jewish books and periodicals, and thus keep myself informed of the life of my people throughout the world.

"4) I resolve that in the coming year I shall take a vital interest in

Extension Service Schedules Events

VERNON - Several programs have been planned for the month of October by the Extension Service of the University of Connecticut Cooperative Extension Service.

The first will be Oct. 1 with a program on food processors and end of the season garden specialties. This will be presented at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. and unless otherwise noted all programs will be at the Tolland County Agricultural Center.

On Oct. 5 there will be a Hebron Achievement Program at 7:30 p.m. at the Hebron Elementary School.

From Oct. 7-13, National 4-H Week will be observed and those who are interested should start a new 4-H Club or enroll in 4-H during that week. Clover members are ages 7 and 8 and 4-H members are ages 9-19. New leaders are always needed. Call 875-3311 for more details.

On Oct. 11, the "movie," "The Throughbred," will be shown at 7:30 p.m.

From 10 a.m. to noon on Oct. 13 there will be the 4-H "Biggest Pumpkin and Recipe Contest." This is for any 4-H'er who has grown pumpkins or have favorite pumpkin pies, and for the swap and sale of small animals, cages and equipment.

The annual swap and sale will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be a 4-H livestock banquet Oct. 13 at 6:30 p.m. at the Vernon Congregational Church. A program on improving communications, designed for parents of children ages 6-12, will be presented on Oct. 16 through Nov. 20 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at the Storrs Congregational Church.

Bruce Wilbur, energy association from New Haven, will be the speaker at a program on "Solar Energy" on Oct. 16.

On Oct. 17 there will be a workshop on erosion and sediment control, for town officials, consulting engineers and developers. This will be sponsored by the Tolland County Soil and Water Conservation District. For more information call 875-3381.

Four area solar homes will be open for a tour on Oct. 29 from 1 to 4 p.m. The homes feature passive solar and solar hot water.

On Oct. 23, elected directors of the extension council will meet at 7:30 p.m. with staff to discuss how extension programs can best serve the needs of area residents.

The County 4-H achievement program will be conducted Oct. 25 at 6:30 at the Nathan Hale School. The meeting will start with a potluck supper.

The annual meeting of the Tolland County Soil and Water Conservation District will also be Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And starting Oct. 30 and going through to Nov. 27 a program entitled, "Beyond Crackers and Juice," will be presented for mothers and fathers of children ages 1-5.

SBM Opens New Branch

MANCHESTER - The Savings Bank of Manchester recently opened its newest branch at the Burr Corners Shopping Plaza. Opening day was Saturday, Sept. 15, with Mayor Stephen T. Penny on hand to assist John D. LaBelle, chairman of the board of SBM, and Aldona L. Alleva, branch manager of the new office, at the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

The Sphinx Temple Highlands were also present to provide musical entertainment for the festivities, and the new bank office opened its first savings account in the group's name for $200 in recognition of the Highlands' services on opening day.

The bank's grand opening celebration extends through September with promotional activities and get-acquainted offers planned for customers and visitors. During the Saturday morning gala, SBM's Savings Bank Life Insurance Department held a drawing for a free digital watch. The winner was Ken Walters of 30 Falkner Drive.

To its first 1,000 customers who deposited $100 or more to new or existing savings accounts, the bank is giving money saving coupon books to

Gas Released

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) - In the first known incident since the March accident at Pennsylvania's Three Mile Island nuclear plant, the No. 1 reactor at Virginia's sole nuclear plant, radioactive xenon gas was released into the atmosphere Tuesday. Nuclear Regulatory Commission and Vepco officials said the release posed no public health danger.

The Virginia Electric & Power Co.'s Louisa, Va., reactor was immediately shut down. Two inspectors and two health physicists were reported at the scene. The only residents within a mile radius were plant employees, Vepco said.

Access Ruling

BOSTON (UPI) - U.S. District Judge Walter J. Skinner issued a ruling Tuesday, saying the freedom-of-religion clause of the Constitution allows Roman Catholics to decide who will sit near the altar up on Boston Common where Pope John Paul II will celebrate mass next Monday.

A suit originally filed by abortion rights advocate William Baird, sought an injunction banning the mass because non-Catholics were being denied access to the 18,000 seats.

"Implicit in the grant of a permit for a papal mass is the right of the celebrants to have the appropriate officials attend the pope in the performance of his offices," Skinner ruled.

In Command

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter was easily in command at the "town meeting" at Queens College where a few noisy hecklers tried to shout him down on the question of the PLO and nuclear power. He told the crowd although Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has been in Congress for 16 years and is the chairman of the Health subcommittee in the Senate. "He's never gotten a comprehensive health bill out of his subcommittee. I'm determined to get national health insurance."

Blunt Speech

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) - In an unusually blunt and firm speech to the United Nations Tuesday, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko called the U.S. charges of a Soviet combat brigade in Cuba "falsehoods" and "propaganda," and appeared to set the stage for a general increase of tensions. The Soviet foreign minister said the troops were training and not combat units.

The speech was described as "surprising" by American officials. But the fact Gromyko took the controversy to the public forum is regarded by these officials as a form of escalation.

Energy Update

New York: President Carter said Tuesday he miscalculated the political cost of telling Americans they must give up cheap, abundant energy, but will still try to convince them to use buses and subways rather than cars.

Washington: General Motors said Tuesday it has developed a battery that will run an electric car for 100 miles on one eight-hour charge of house current, with mass production of such vehicles possible by 1985.

Washington: The Senate Finance Committee agreed unanimously Tuesday to exempt newly discovered oil from the administration's windfall oil profits tax.

Washington: Elderly and disabled food-stamp users with large medical bills and high rent and utility bills may be eligible for increased benefits Jan. 1.

Consumer Shakeup Scheduled

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter today ordered a shake-up of the federal consumer bureaucracy to coordinate it and make it more responsive to complaints from the public.

Among other things, the order will increase the powers of Carter's consumer assistant, Esther Peterson, giving her authority to review consumer-related budgets of all Cabinet departments and to oversee their consumer help programs.

Carter issued an executive order establishing a "Consumer Affairs Council," headed by Mrs. Peterson, which will consist of high-level representatives from the Cabinet departments.

Each department or agency was given 60 days to draft a consumer program and publish it for public comment. After the review period, they must submit complaint days to submit to Mrs. Peterson revised programs, based on the comments. She will have to approve them before they are published. They will go into effect 90 days later.

Mrs. Peterson told reporters one of the most significant aspects of the program is that the participants will have to submit their consumer expenditure budgets to her at the same time their money requests are made to the Office of Management and Budget.

She will analyze the budget exhibits and provide OMB with an evaluation.

The programs the departments must develop require them to create specific consumer affairs staffs. In addition, they must establish programs for consumer participation in their "decision-making, publish materials describing the services and establish formal complaint handling procedures.

GSA Ignores Audit Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Congressional investigators today produced evidence indicating the General Services Administration is ignoring its own auditors' findings that irregularities continue to plague the scandal-ridden agency.

Senate investigators who sifted through about 4,000 GSA audit reports said they turned up scores that showed the government was losing millions of dollars on contracts for purchases, leasing and construction.

The audit reports were presented to a Senate judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., at the start of two days of hearings in the GSA contracting procedures. The committee planned to question GSA officials on why the audit reports were not followed up.

Reports by GSA auditors indicated contracts continue to be awarded without competitive bidding even though some GSA officials have been found guilty of kickbacks and other irregularities.

An audit report dated Aug. 17, 1979, said GSA's controls on government warehouse purchases totaling $700 million a year could not even prevent payments to fictitious vendors.

The report said auditors submitted a false bill for $97,200 for tool kits supposedly delivered by a nonexistent firm. A Treasury check for $95,256 - the amount of the bill less a 2 percent discount - was routinely issued and sent to a post office box rented by the auditors in the name of the fictitious firm.

A report dated June 30, 1978, said GSA spent $2.5 million for a design for a new federal building in Anchorage, Alaska, and then discarded the plan. An additional $1 million in excessive costs was improperly paid in connection with construction of the building, the report said.

Another internal GSA audit report, dated July 10, 1979, said GSA underbilled by $1 million a company that bought tungsten from a government stockpile.

The company was billed $657,914.57 instead of $1,657,914.57, and the error was not caught in a routine review. After the underbills were found by auditors, GSA billed the firm for an additional $1 million and received a check for the full amount.

House Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House has taken the toughest and most painful action it may take all year: it has voted to give itself a pay raise.

If the Senate agrees, members of Congress would increase from the current $57,500 to $60,700, while pay for top federal workers, now frozen at $47,500, would go to a new ceiling of $59,100.

There was no recorded vote on the pay raise itself because opponents - mostly Republicans - could not convince the necessary 44 members to request one. Instead, an amendment by Rep. George O'Brien, R-Ill., to freeze salaries at current levels was defeated by a standing 155-72 vote.

State Board Speeds MCC Building Fund

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

HARTFORD - Under potent political pressure, the Board of High Education voted Tuesday not to delay the funding for the construction of new facilities at Manchester Community College.

The board overturned the central staff recommendation to postpone the funding until fiscal 1982 by an 8-2 vote. College officials, backed by local and state legislators, opposed the delay because of the potential double-digit inflation costs for stalled construction.

Under the board's proposal, $11,500,000 will be requested in the fiscal 1981 budget to construct 1,148,000 square foot building. Fiscal 1981 begins next July.

Central staff officials requested the delay because of the pressure for state revenues from other institutions.

However, Richard Berry, the Regional Community Colleges' representative to the BHE, amended the request to include the funding in the fiscal 1981 budget.

"I don't think there's much question that the funds will be authorized," Berry said. "I just think the plan should be on a timetable consistent with the pace of work."

He received some key support earlier in the meeting from local and state legislators. Sen. David Barry, D-4th, Sen. Marcella Fahay, D-3rd, Rep. Robert Walsh, D-53rd and Manchester Deputy Mayor Stephen Cassano, speaking on behalf of Mayor Stephen Penny, urged the board to appropriate the funding for this legislative session.

In fact, Walsh said it was imperative to have the appropriation included in this legislative session. He said the BHE had "its ducks on the pond" because committee chairmanships may change after the 1980 election and new legislators may delay it for even further study.

Preliminary plans for the building were approved Monday and college officials hope to have working drawings approved by the state at mid-winter. They hope to advertise bids next August and have a contract signed within three months.

Farmers Excited Grain Strike Ending

DULUTH, Minn. (UPI) - The end of an 11½-week, grain-handler strike in the Duluth-Superior Ports was greeted excitedly by a hard-hit union Midwest farm industry, anxious to salvage what remains of a fleeing grain-shipping season.

"Hot damn. Roll the boats in, clean the spoils and let's get going," yelled a spokesman for one overwintering elevator firm upon hearing union members voted to end the strike officials estimate cost the upper Midwest farm industry $1 billion.

The grain handlers, who rallied three-year contract agreements with elevator firms by a vote of 358 to 86 Tuesday, planned to resume work at 8 a.m. today and faced the big job of catching up in grain movement.

Ships dotting the harbor moved in to begin loading wheat and other grain.

"Everybody is going to be running full blast for the rest of the season," said an official for the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association, largest of the elevator firms. "We've got a third of a season to make up."

Superior Port Director James McCarville said he expects the ports to be "swamped until the end of the season," which now is scheduled for Dec. 14 with the closing of the St. Lawrence Seaway, the port's only artery to the open sea.

Wayne Horvitz, who has urged that President Carter intercede with the Canadian government to extend the seaway shipping season until mid-July, said, "I'm extremely pleased that a settlement has been reached." He said, "I want to commend those on both sides who helped bring an end to one of the state's most serious work stoppages."

In a move to expedite movement, McCarville asked the grain companies to provide a traffic director to help direct grain trucks in and out of the port area. He asked the city of Superior to turn some of the least-used city streets into parking lots for grain trucks.

The nation's chief mediator, Wayne Horvitz, intervened on orders from President Carter, leading to marathon talks in Minneapolis in recent weeks.

Union negotiators demanded a cost-of-living clause - which the companies rejected - and protection from potentially harmful, chemically treated grain.

The final agreements did not include a cost-of-living clause as such, but the union said the contracts include "wage increases and a supplemental earnings program with a $1,000 base above equal to cost to compensate for the rising cost of living."

The union said the agreements also provide "controversial testing of all incoming grain."

Attends Confab

EAST HARTFORD - Mrs. Stella Perham of East Hartford, unit sales manager for Stanley Home Products, attended the company's national convention in St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14 to 17.

Mrs. Perham was one of several delegates to receive a gold cup for sales achievement.

License Deadline

WETHERSFIELD - It's "last call" for gasoline station owners in Connecticut who have been slow in renewing their licenses, according to the chief of the Dealers and Repairers Division of the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

Edward L. Simmons said "a considerable number" of the 3,200 licensees had not paid their fee and renewed through last Saturday.

"Any station owner who has not renewed by Saturday, Sept. 23, may be subject to arrest."

Conference Set

STORRS - A six-day conference on industrial ventilation and air pollution will be presented Oct. 14 to 19 at the University of Connecticut's Merin D. Bishop Center.

The 12th annual Northeastern Ventilation and Air Pollution Control Conference is sponsored by UConn and the Connecticut chapter of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers.

It will be nostalgia time Friday in New York. The National Broadcasters Hall of Fame will induct five new members from the days when people listened instead of watching. They're Goodman Ace, of the venerable "Easy Aces"; Mel Allen, voice of the New York Yankees; Andre Baruch, the voice of just about everything, from "The Shadow" to "Your Hit Parade" and "The Kate Smith Hour"; Don McNeill who hosted "The Breakfast Club" and Frank Parker of the Jack Benny and Arthur Godfrey shows. Host for the event is a natural - the new Broadway musical, "The 1940s Radio Hour," which opens Oct. 7.

Heartbreak

Years ago, Joseph Hoffman ordered two special concert grand pianos from Steinway. They were the only ones of their kind, so Elren Zimbalist and jazz pianist Hazel Scott were lucky eventually to acquire them. Tuesday, Miss Scott's luck ran out. Her piano was stolen in Paris, but she finally found an apartment big enough to hold it and ordered it shipped to New York. It got as far as the dock - where handlers dropped it.

A fearful Miss Scott - who viewed the carriage with fellow pianists Billy Taylor and Don Shirley - fears it's totaled. Says she, "How can you put a value on such a thing? It was priceless."

Lack of Patients Threat To Dental Care Program

By LANEY ZUBOFF, Herald Reporter. MANCHESTER - If the town doesn't get more participants in its dental care program for the poor, given a year or so into the future, then it may be dropped, according to Assistant Health Director Ronald Kraatz. "If all we are dealing with is the present amount of patients we'll call some dentists and get them taken care of. If it continues at this pace we'll have to fold it up," Kraatz told the Advisory Board of Health at its Tuesday meeting. "Though the town Health Department has certified 58 families, or 193 individuals, into the town's dental care program for the poor only 26 families have participated since the program began operation in April and this low figure concerned some members of the Board. The Board will undertake a study to learn why families bother to apply to the program and then decline to use it.

Panel on Elderly Seeks Data on Housing Plans

MANCHESTER - The town Commission on Aging, concerned about the suggestion to turn the Senior Citizens Center at Myrtle and Linden streets into congregating housing for the elderly, will ask town Director Stephen Cassano to explain the proposal at the commission's October meeting. A committee of Board members, Cassano, William Diana and Elizabeth Intagliata, recommended the center be used for congregated housing at the Sept. 11 meeting of the board of Directors. The commission, Monday night,

Officials Plead Innocent

HARTFORD (UPI) - Four high-ranking New Britain officials have pleaded innocent for the second time to charges stemming from a state probe into alleged municipal corruption. Retired Fire Chief Raymond A. Galati, Deputy Fire Chief Robert J. Hackett, Police Detective Capt. Edward J. Kilduff and Detective Sgt. George F. Sahadi entered the pleas Tuesday in Hartford Superior Court. The four, who opted for trials before a six-member jury, were called to plead for the second time after special state prosecutor Glenn Coe met with defense attorneys in

But Case Should Stay Open Investigator Finds Little In Gibbons Death Case

By MARK A. DUPUIS. LITCHFIELD (UPI) - A special state investigator who spent nine months reviewing the brutal 1973 slaying of Barbara Gibbons says authorities are no closer to finding who killed Peter Reilly's mother. Attorney Paul J. McQuillan concluded in his report on the case that "at this time there is insufficient evidence to request the convening of a grand jury to seek the indictment of any person" in Miss Gibbons' murder. However, the New Britain lawyer said he had turned over evidence showing that some persons who testified before a one-man grand jury that also reviewed the case may have perjured themselves and he believed the case should remain open. "Again, as was done in the grand jury report, I would request that the investigation of the murder remain an open file and that any new information should be investigated and evaluated," his 14-page report said. McQuillan, who was named by Gov. Ella Grasso as a special assistant state's attorney in the case, said there was a possibility - but no assurance - that court action on the alleged perjury charges could lead to an arrest in Miss Gibbons' slaying on Sept. 28, 1973. "I think that's a possibility," he said, adding, however,

Santore In Same Position

LITCHFIELD (UPI) - The latest probe of the brutal 1973 murder of Barbara Gibbons has State's Attorney Dennis Santore in the same position from which he started - trying to find out who killed Peter Reilly's mother. A flock of reporters ventured to Santore's office in Litchfield Tuesday to hear the conclusion of that latest probe, a nine-month review of Miss Gibbons' death which was compiled by New Britain attorney Paul J. McQuillan. And after McQuillan announced that he had found insufficient evidence to seek murder indictments in the case "at this time," the reporters' eyes immediately turned to Santore. The question was the same Santore, who is heading the probe into the death as state's attorney in Litchfield County, said he had been asked time and time before: "Would there be an arrest in the case?"

The prosecutor agreed with McQuillan's finding and said it was "doubtful" that an arrest would be made as a result of the probe and the extensive review of the Sept. 28, 1973 slaying by a one-man grand jury. He also said the state would need to build a virtually fault-free case if it expected to get a conviction in the event of an arrest because of the vast amount of evidence and information in the case and the publicity it has drawn. Santore said testimony given to McQuillan - named a special state's attorney in the case by Gov. Ella Grasso - was "very helpful."

That information, from a woman who had heard two brothers were seen running from the Gibbons home on the night of the slaying, was reviewed by McQuillan who found it insufficient to warrant indictments. But Santore said the case will remain open and no arrest will be made until some "concrete, stable type of evidence" is uncovered. And he agreed with McQuillan that another Peter Reilly case was not what his office wanted and there would be no haste in making an arrest. "That's how this case got started, when Peter Reilly was treated unfairly," McQuillan said. "I want to see this doesn't happen to anyone else."

It was Santore who in 1976 released statements which tended to show that Reilly did not have the time to kill his mother. The statements were found in the case file kept by Santore's predecessor, John Bianchi, who died of a heart attack. Santore also requested the grand jury review of the way Reilly's case was handled to determine if any crimes had been committed and in 1977 refused to prosecute Reilly after a second state police investigation of the slaying concluded that Reilly was still the prime suspect.

MMH Seems Immune to Nurse Shortage

By LANEY ZUBOFF
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Manchester Memorial Hospital seems immune to the serious shortage in nurses that many other Connecticut and national hospitals are facing, though officials say an influx of trained nurses is not guaranteed. Some area convalescent homes are experiencing a shortage and business is on the increase for temporary nursing services.

Don Avery, personnel administrator, for Manchester Memorial, attributes some of the hospital's good fortune in recruiting to the gas crunch, which, he says, has had a "noticeable effect" by increasing applicants. "The market in nurses is a local one," said Avery, who said over half the nurses at the hospital live in the Manchester area.

Avery said although "there is no problem now," there is "always a need for highly experienced nurses, especially on the third shift."

If the trend for primary nursing, an increase in the ratio of RNs to patients, continues, said Avery, then the hospital could have a difficult time keeping pace with nursing needs.

But Sandra Muller, nursing director at the hospital, said very few hospitals can afford primary nursing and she doesn't expect a nursing shortage because of that factor. But, Muller said, there is no way to predict future trends in nursing.

Ms. Muller said she realizes they seem to have had enough help. "Nurses no longer are content to retain the Nightingale image. They are more selective. They want a freedom and a flexibility while being able to retain a profession," she said.

"They are far underpaid," said Ms. Girandola, who said a nurses education and the fact "she is involved in judgemental decisions about life and death" should earn her more money.

"There's no surplus (nurses), that's for sure," said Margaret Connor's director of nursing at Rockville General Hospital, said the hospital had four openings about six weeks ago.

Ms. Connors said, however, that this year's need "in total was about the same as other years. Though I'm positive," said Ms. Connors, "that there is a general shortage throughout Connecticut." Ms. Connors speculates that one reason for the shortage might be the phase out of three-year training programs. Training now takes five years to complete, leaving a longer gap of time without new graduate applicants.

Sue McCaffrey, director of nursing services for the Meadows Convalescent home, said there is a shortage "because nursing has become an all defensive 'profession.' You have to document everything to prevent a lawsuit. It's changed all around. It's not glamorous, it's paper oriented."

Ms. McCaffrey said because so many nursing schools have shut down, "I can't imagine (shortage)

getting any better."

The toughest slots to fill, said Ms. McCaffrey, are the second and third shifts. This is where the medical nursing pools usually subsidize the home's full time staff, said Ms. McCaffrey. The second shift runs from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. and the third from 11 p.m. to seven a.m.

The director of the Crestfield Convalescent Home, Mae Grant, said the home hadn't advertised for nursing aides in 20 years but recently was forced to.

"We don't have a large turnover here," said Ms. Grant, "people began to think we didn't need help," said Ms. Grant who agrees with Ms. McCaffrey that the day shift hours are easier to fill than the night hours. Though Ms. Grant said she filled the vacancies at Crestfield with ease, state wide reports show that the problem is so serious in Connecticut that some hospitals have offered a $500 bonus to nurses hired to work the night shift.

Connecticut is not in serious trouble, according to Robert Bergeron, vice president of Human Resources for the Connecticut Hospital Association. "Though there is always a chronic shortage of evening and weekend positions, in general there is no major nursing shortage in Connecticut," he said.

If the five hospital-associated schools that have remained open did close, said Bergeron, then the four-year colleges "may not be able to carry the load," said Bergeron who said one-third of the nurse work force

Connally Chairmen Named

HARTFORD (UPI) — Former state House Minority Leader Gerald F. Stevens and two other Connecticut Republicans have been named chairmen of the state committee backing GOP presidential hopeful John B. Connally.

Stevens said he was supporting Connally because the former Texas governor would be the most likely to defeat Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., in the 1980 presidential race — and Kennedy is the likely Democratic nominee.

Stevens of Milford, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination last year. Madden also named Francis J. Collins of Brookfield and Irwin Silver of Stamford as chairmen of the committee.

Area Pilots Invited To Traffic Seminar

EAST HARTFORD — All area pilots are invited to a free, four-day, pilot-controller seminar, sponsored by the Federal Aviation Administration and presented by the Air Traffic Control Specialists of the New England Region, to be held at East Hartford Holiday Inn 363 Roberts St. Oct. 15-18.

Guest speakers will be present from Windsor Locks Flight Service Station, Bradley Airport Traffic Control Tower, Branford Airport Traffic Control Tower, and Boston Air Route Traffic Control Center.

Topics to be presented will cover information on instrument and visual flight rules, local weather, operating procedures at local towers, approach controls, and flight service stations, equipment and procedures at the Boston Air Route Traffic Control Center, military procedures, aircraft performance, and safe operating practices.

The program will be open to discussion, questions, comments and criticism by both pilots and controllers. There will be individual subject presentations on each of the four nights, lasting approximately three hours, thus allowing for attendance on any or all of the nights.

Few Openings Left In MCC Programs

MANCHESTER — The Child Development Center of Manchester Community College is accepting registrations for a few remaining openings in the nursery school or day care program. Children two years and nine months, as of September 30, through five years of age are eligible and may be registered for two, three or five half or full day sessions.

The nonprofit center, which is staffed by professionally trained and experienced teachers, is located at Center Congregational Church.

A complete pre-school program is offered with emphasis on communication skills, self-expression, and independent problem solving in a warm and supportive atmosphere. Activities include art, music, natural food cooking projects, science, storytelling and dramatization, creative movement and development of learning skills.

Further information can be obtained from Susan Adamek, director of the Child Development Center, at the college or at the center.

ECHS Club Taps Officers

MANCHESTER — Linda Fink has been elected president of the Village of Charm Chapter, Future Secretaries Association, at East Catholic High School.

Other elected officers are Nadine Leone, vice president; Mona Doran, recording secretary; Rene Bouchard, corresponding secretary; and Jane Rissato, treasurer.

Peter Sylvester of 43 Scarborough Rd. is the Republican nominee for Town Treasurer in this fall's municipal election.

Sylvester, a lifelong Manchester resident, is actively involved in community affairs. He is a past chairman of the Manchester Heart Fund. Presently his time is devoted to serving on the Zoning Board of Appeals, the Board of Directors of the Manchester Chapter of Rotary International, and the Republican Town Committee.

A graduate of Manchester High School and Upper Iowa College, Sylvester is employed as a life underwriter for the Equitable Assurance Co. of East Hartford, where he is president of the Sales Leaders Club. The scope of his professional responsibilities include financial planning, investment and pension management.

Based on his experience in fiscal management, Sylvester will focus his campaign on developing a business-management approach to the Town Treasurer's office.

Grasso's Vehicle Is Being Recalled

HARTFORD (UPI) — One of the 225,000 X-cars being recalled by General Motors Corp. is used by Gov. Ella Grasso, who probably will be repaired in an alternate vehicle until repairs are made on the GM 1980 model.

GM recalled the cars when it found possible steering and transmission line defects that could cause a fire under the hood. A spokesman said nine related engine compartment fires have been reported, but no accidents or injuries.

Witness Access Sought

WATERBURY (UPI) — The attorney for one of four suspects charged with killing three security guards during a nearly $1.9 million robbery has filed a motion requesting that he be allowed to talk with a key prosecution witness.

Defense attorney John Williams Tuesday asked that the court allow him to interview the woman who reportedly supplied authorities with information which led to the four arrests.

In his Superior Court motion, Williams claimed federal authorities are cooperating with the state to hide the witness and "control her testimony."

Authorities have not released the name of the woman who reportedly gave them the tip.

Williams represents Donald Couture, 26, of Wallingford, Couture, his wife Donna, 23, Lawrence "Buddy" Pelletier Jr., 35, and his common-law wife Evelyn Vega, 26, both of Waterbury, were arrested the day after the April 16 slayings.

Quinn said Pelletier was being held in solitary confinement at the Somers prison where he was transferred after being recaptured.

Pelletier and Couture face a possible death sentence on a capital felony murder charge because one of the slain guards was an off-duty Hartford police officer.

Registrars Set Session For Changes

MANCHESTER - The registrars of voters will hold a session allowing the public to correct their standing on the registry list.

Frederick Peck, Republican registrar, explained, "Each time the public is to vote, our canvassers go to each voter's home, to insure that our lists reflect the actual residence of voters. If we do not make sure the lists are accurate, citizens could vote more than once."

As an example, Mary Green lived in the Vegetable voting district, moved to the Mineral voting district, and then to the Animal voting district during the time period between elections. The registry list must reflect the current address or Mary Green could vote in all three districts, which would undermine the democratic process.

If residents are not home when the canvassers come to their homes, notices are sent out. These notices explain that unless residents acknowledge the address where the notice is sent as their abode, they will be removed from the registrar's list.

This year, said Peck, 28,000 voters were checked. Notices of removal were sent to 2,600 people. The registrar's office has received only 600 responses. This means 2,000 people will be removed from the registrar's list if they do not respond to the notice of removal either by mail or by attending the correction session.

The session will be held Oct 2 at the Registrars Office, 41 Center St. from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

East Catholic Gets CG Aid

MANCHESTER - East Catholic High School is one of 48 schools in Connecticut receiving gifts this year under Connecticut General Life Insurance Corporation's aid to education program.

The gifts to the different post-secondary secondary and special institutions totaled $130,518. East Catholic was among 23 high schools which received funds. The exact amount was not disclosed.

Thomas K. Marshall, contributions officer, said the company "has made a strong corporate commitment to education in the United States and is supplying support in a variety of ways."

Kleinschmidt Says Many Want Pickup

MANCHESTER - A Democratic candidate for the Board of Directors who is not an incumbent, said he had heard many citizens during his campaign say they wanted the traditional lift pickup program reinstated.

Arnold Kleinschmidt said senior citizens are especially concerned they will be unable to bag leaves because of their age and because they are on a fixed income.

He said he is concerned about the issue and will present the opinions he has heard to the present Board of Directors.

Speeding Motorists Warned by Trooper

HARTFORD (UPI) - Speeding motorists who think a court ruling has given them the green light to use radar detectors may find blinking lights in the rear-view mirror and not only on the device, says the state's top traffic cop.

"By the time the driver hits his brakes to slow down, it's already too late," state police Capt. George Moore said Tuesday, explaining that by the time the device has detected a radar trap, the offending vehicle's speed has been logged.

Moore, who was reacting to a court ruling this week on the use of the devices, said he thought fewer motorists in Connecticut have been using them in recent years.

The captain, commander of the state police traffic division, attributed the decline to the ineffectiveness of the devices and to the fact that their use is illegal, but noted that their use "at one time" was "what you could call a very popular arrest."

The devices blink or buzz when radar is detected, tipping off the driver - and police, Moore said. The Appellate Session of the Superior Court ruled Monday that evidence presented when against one motorist who was tried in court for possessing a radar device was "inadequate to prove either that he had installed the device in the car or had used it."

Moore said that ruling won't change the way state police handle arrests for the devices.

Chamber Boosts Program

MANCHESTER - The Environment and Beautification Committee of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has announced plans for intensifying its programming through a process of goal setting, public awareness, and increased community participation.

One of the Chamber's most productive and active components, the Environment and Beautification Committee has been responsible for numerous projects throughout the community designed to improve the appearance and aesthetic quality of life in the Manchester area.

Several of the committee's efforts are well known, with the Memorial Tree Program perhaps the most visible and well supported. Through the Memorial Tree Program friends and relatives of deceased persons may contribute money to plant memorial trees in public areas. Planting takes place twice a year, in spring and autumn.

Report Says Budget Cuts Would Hurt

HARTFORD (UPI) - A new report by the state College Board of Trustees says proposed cuts in this year's budget would have a very serious effect on the quality of education and service at the state's four colleges.

The 4.2 percent cut recommended by Gov. Ella Grasso would result in "operational chaos" and the loss of about 578 classes affecting more than 13,000 students, said the report issued Tuesday.

"Student's educational objectives would be frustrated and enrollments reduced" if the cuts went through, the trustees' report said.

It said 307 courses now being taught to 7,000 students would have to be eliminated in mid-semester, or Oct. 1, if the budget reductions were implemented and another 271 courses would be dropped in the spring term.

All part-time faculty members would have to be laid off and there would be a loss of 42 part-time permanent and non-faculty positions which would "have a very serious effect upon the level of service rendered to students," the report said.

Earlier this year Mrs. Grasso recommended a 4 percent quarterly reduction in college budgets beginning Oct. 1 and 5 percent cuts for the following two quarters of the fiscal year ending June 30.

The proposed cuts are in addition to a 3 percent reduction in effect for the current fiscal quarter - for an overall 4.2 percent reduction.

Dr. Robert Nowland, academic vice president at Southern Connecticut State College, told a New Haven rally the reductions "will change the nature of this college drastically."

Abe Seeks Health Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., chief sponsor of the administration's national health insurance plan, is looking for a meeting of minds.

Ribicoff, who Tuesday introduced the long-awaited White House health insurance plan, said in an interview, "All the entrails indicate it's possible" to put together parts of the proposals offered by President Carter, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. Russell Long, D-La.

Ribicoff called the three "essential factors" in the fight for national health insurance. "I would say if you could work out a basic compromise, it would go through (the Senate) fairly easily," he added.

Chances of Senate action, he said, depend on how long the session lasts. There are a number of other pressing issues, like the SALT II treaty, that are taking precedence.

Ribicoff and others in Congress had been waiting for the administration bill for months. Finally, on Tuesday, the 161-page document was sent in legislative form to Congress.

It remains unchanged from the version outlined in June.

It is only a first phase. $24 billion proposal to provide health insurance protection for all Americans. Kennedy's plan would cover everyone. The starting date for both is 1983.

Long's bill is defined catastrophic in nature, but would begin sooner. The step-by-step administration bill calls on employers to provide coverage for all full-time workers and their families. Catastrophic coverage would apply after the first $2,500 in health care expenses.

Employers would have to pay at least 75 percent of the premium, and could pay more if so negotiated in contract bargaining.

The measure would also provide free care for pregnant women and their newborn children up to one year.

The plan would cost, according to figures compiled earlier this summer, $18.2 billion in new federal expenditures, and $6.1 billion in private money.

It would also combine Medicare - for the elderly - and Medicaid - for the poor - into an umbrella health care program financed with Social Security money, general revenues and state government funds. It would take care of the aged, blind, disabled, low-income and others unable to obtain private coverage at reasonable rates.

Mayor Sets Police Study

VERNON - As requested by three neighborhood associations in the Rockville area, Mayor Frank McCoy Tuesday appointed a nine-member Police Study Committee. The committee was charged with doing a complete study of the Vernon Police Department.

The study will include the operation of its department, equipment, manpower, deployment, supervision and personnel.

The mayor said that the committee isn't intended to be a civil review board. He said he didn't name anyone from the local police department to serve on the committee because he didn't want to put anyone on the spot.

But the committee does have on it two local people who work in the Hartford Police Department. Robert Casati is an officer in the Hartford Department and Robert Beltrandi is a detective.

Also named were three members of the Town Council, Robert Hurd, who will chair the committee, and Michael Catario and John Dross. Other members are Larry McCoy, a local car dealer, and a member of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce; Joseph B. Powers, a former member of the local Board of Education; James McCarthy, former council member, and a representative of the Talcoville Neighborhood Association; and representing the recreational aspect, Carlton Milanes.

The decision to appoint the study committee was made by Mayor McCoy a few weeks ago after he met with members of the Village Street Neighborhood Association, John Kaminski, head of that group, proposed the creation of such a committee after he had discussed police patrols in that area with Chief Herman Fritz.

The proposal was also endorsed by members of the North West Rockville Neighborhood Association and the Talcoville Association.

Although patrols in the Village Street area have been stepped up, association members feel there could be improvement. But Fritz has said that some of the problems are caused because of a manpower shortage in the department while the mayor blames them on deployment of the existing staff.

RGH Emergencies Rise

VERNON - Since Rockville General Hospital's expanded emergency department opened in July, the hospital has noted a substantial increase in its use.

Robert Boardman, administrator, said, "The decision to expand the emergency department was made in July 1978. 2,123 patients were treated in the emergency facility while 2,301 were treated in the 24 days in July during which the new facility was open."

Boardman said that the August figures show a sharper increase with 2,047 emergencies handled in that month in 1978 and 2,390 in August this year.

Boardman said that increased awareness of the recently opened Beiting Wing is cited as one reason for the rise in emergency visits. Publicity surrounding the campaign to raise funds for the wing, as well as the events leading up to the dedication, have raised the level of community interest in the hospital, Boardman said.

The new emergency department is both larger and more specialized than the previous facility. Boardman said that 12 patients can be treated simultaneously in rooms and facilities surrounding a central nurses station. There is a specially designed room for instant treatment of emergency cardiac problems. Two rooms are equipped for patients with conditions or injuries requiring orthopedic and/or surgical treatment.

Another room is set aside for eye, ear, nose, throat and dental problems. Emergency gynecological conditions are treated in the privacy of a special examining room. Seriously ill patients can be separated from patients with minor ailments and the emergency department is located within each of hospital services such as laboratory, radiology, respiratory care and the operating rooms.

Along with expansion of the facility itself, parking areas for emergency patients have also been expanded, Boardman said.

Food for Peace Notes Its 25th Anniversary

STORRS - The Food for Peace program, which has provided more than 270 million tons of U.S. food - valued at $28 billion - to people in some 100 countries, is marking its 25th year of existence this year.

During 1964, the first year of the program, commodities valued at $430.9 million were shipped to overseas recipients. By 1979, the program had increased to over $1.3 billion, according to Dr. Donald G. Stitts, extension marketing specialist in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources at the University of Connecticut.

Food for Peace has become a "significant force to U.S. foreign assistance to developing nations," Dr. Stitts said. He added, "An important objective of the program, however, is to strengthen low-income countries' long-term development policies."

Over the years, Dr. Stitts continued, one of the most valuable accomplishments of food aid has been to assist developing countries in making the transition from receiving donations or concessional financing to becoming commercial customers for U.S. agricultural exports.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, there are millions of people alive in this world today because America has lent a helping hand - providing nearly $39 billion in food aid to needy nations in the last quarter century. Our food programs have done more than help the hungry. They have extended this country's agricultural markets. They have been used by receiving nations to develop their own economies.

News For Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN
 This thing is a reminder to folks going on the Lake George trip, Oct. 25. You should report at the center by 7:30 a.m. because the bus will leave shortly after. It will return Friday about 4:30 p.m. We have a few openings. If interested, call our office before Friday.

I haven't anything to report on the Bermuda cruise scheduled for the week of Oct. 14. Maybe in this Saturday's column I'll be able to give you the word on our meeting to pass on all the necessary papers and information regarding the trip.

Next bit of news is about our Senior Golf League which officially ends next Monday. In the morning they will play and then that evening they will have their annual banquet. It will be held at the Army and Navy Club and along with a delicious buffet meal, prizes will be awarded.

The action here starts with last Friday afternoon's setback games with the following winners: Vincent Borrello, 135; Michael DeStimone, 130; Archie Houghtaling, 127; Mina Reuther, 122; Bob Schubert, 122; Ann Demko, 118; Bill Stone, 117; Paul Schuetz, 116; Martha LaBate, 115; Josephine Schuetz, 114.

By the way, October is the month of Halloween and so naturally we are having a big dance to celebrate. The dance is scheduled Thursday, Oct. 25, and along with dancing to Lou Joubert and his band we will be serving goodies to munch on and coffee to drink. Tickets are available at the office.

On Monday morning we had 70 playing our social bingo games. Then after a delicious shell and meat sauce lunch, the action moved upstairs.

We had 52 playing our shuffle games and the lucky winners were Mary Thrall, 81; Mabel Wilson, 81; Kitty Byrnes, 79;

George Last 780; Ed Scott, 764; Arthur Bouffard, 762; John Gally, 747; Ann Fisher, 739; Sam Schors, 736; Beatrice Mader, 731; Fritz Wilkinson, 729; Paul Schuetz, 720; Olive Houghtaling, 719.

Speaking of golf, Joe is planning a match between the seniors of East Hartford and our gang at Red Rock. More on this later.

Anthony Dollar Flops: Nobody's Choosin' Susan

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - The feminists' triumph in getting a woman's likeness on an American coin has turned to ashes. The Susan B. Anthony dollar is a costly fiasco, rejected by merchants, bankers and the public alike.

That the U.S. Treasury has laid another egg should come as no surprise in light of its earlier failure to change Americans' monetary habits by reissuing the two-dollar bill.

The only surprise in the flop of the Anthony dollar is the fact that Treasury officials appear to have been surprised.

For the sad truth is that the coin's doom was foretold as far back as the summer of 1978.

That's when the Treasury ordered its own internal market research on the chances for success of a new "silver" dollar roughly the size of a 25-cent piece. Sources told us the researchers saw no hope for such a coin unless its acceptance were forced by withdrawal of the paper dollar from circulation.

Ignoring this gloomy prediction, the Treasury pressed on with its new dollar program. It was approved by Congress and signed by President Carter on Oct. 10, 1978.

Meanwhile, the Detroit branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, more skeptical than the bureaucrats in Washington, commissioned an independent study of the dollar coin's potential. The $200,000 study, undertaken by the University of Michigan's business school in August of 1978, reached the same conclusion as the Treasury research team: As long as the paper dollar was available, the Anthony dollar didn't stand a chance of being used.

The Michigan report also found the public had deep misgivings about the supposedly handy size of the new coin. "The consumer perceives a confusion of the dollar coin with the quarter and there is some real fear concerning this aspect," the Michigan researchers reported, adding: "There is a major potential for non-acceptance on the part of the general public."

In addition, the study found resistance among retailers and fast-food chains, banks and armored-car companies. They were concerned about such everyday problems as handling coins, confusion with the two-bit piece and the "reconfiguration" of cash drawers that would be made necessary by the new coin.

The warnings, like those in 1976, were ignored by the Treasury. The reaction of Mint Director Stella Hackett to the Michigan report was to complain that the university had no business testing public acceptance of the Anthony dollar. It was, she said, only supposed to find the best ways to promote the new coin.

A meeting last February of Treasury and Federal Reserve officials became emotional and acrimonious, sources told our reporter Adam Pfeffer. The bureaucrats would hear no criticism of the Anthony dollar. Instead, they tried to blame the Fed for the failure of the two-dollar bill - not to mention the Eisenhower dollar and Kennedy half-dollar before that.

One Federal Reserve official came out of the meeting in a sour mood, with the impression that the Treasury people regarded the Fed as a "stodgy old bank that didn't know a damn about marketing."

The Treasury is stubbornly determined to make the Anthony dollar succeed, using promotional gimmicks to overcome the public's and the business community's hostility. So far, the Fed and the Treasury have spent about $300,000 each on this effort. But still no one is choosin' Susan.

Footnote: In a speech on Sept. 13 in New Orleans, Federal Reserve Governor Philip Caldwell suggested a way to help both the Anthony dollar and the two-dollar bill. It sounded familiar: Take the one-dollar bill out of circulation.

But it's the big companies that are behind the effort. Their lobbyists are roaming the corridors of the House and Senate, trying to gather support for additional hearings on special legislation that would give the soda corporations a better chance to hang onto their monopoly system.

Brazil Making Gas Substitute

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON - "I suppose," said the man at the Brazilian Embassy who calls his government's gasol program "a means of saving the automobile when the world's oil supplies run out, the car will be obsolete."

It is ironic that General Motors, that American giant, is playing a big role in the Brazilian program. GM already has produced the first 252 alcohol-powered vehicles at its Sao Paulo plant and will begin mass production early next year.

GM's new engine is "multifuel" - that is, it will run on gas, alcohol or a combination of both. The company will invest $500 million in its manufacture during the next four years. Yet, the news ticker the other day quoted a GM spokesman in Brazil as saying the company has "no plans at present" to manufacture the engine in the United States.

Why not? Are Americans, obsessed with chic, too proud to buy an alcohol-powered car? Maybe. But if you're suffering for rats in the white, Big Oil might be one of the villains. Obviously, a lot less gasoline would be sold as premium prices if the country's automobiles enjoyed an attack of alcoholism.

Meanwhile, Brazil is realistic, if not as "great and powerful" as the United States.

Its government has encouraged consumers to switch by cutting taxes and easing credit restrictions for folks who buy alcohol-fueled cars. It also has decreed a pump price of 87 cents a gallon for alcohol, compared with $1.86 a gallon for regular gas and $2.98 for high-test.

Americans can forget ideas like that. Everything Brazil is doing is too simple in an America locked into the sophisticated approach to its problems.

The diplomat was commenting proudly on the fact that his government started doing something about the OPEC-sponsored oil crisis back when the crisis was created - in 1973. As a result, ethyl alcohol output has increased from 169 million gallons in 1975 to an estimated 810 million gallons this year. That, he noted, "is more than total alcohol consumption in the whole rest of the world."

Gasohol? Brazilian cars already run on a mixture of 20 percent alcohol and gasoline, while Washington only talks about the hope that eventually American cars will be using a mixture of 10 percent alcohol to 90 percent gasoline. Brazil's aim now is to make pure ethyl alcohol the exclusive fuel for automobiles. It already has started to replace its official government fleet with alcohol-powered cars.

Meanwhile, in the proud United States, only a scattered few filling stations are selling gasohol. And those outlets may divide now to have ended.

Tests in Brazil have shown that automobile engines powered by pure alcohol perform better and - because the engine temperature is lower - last longer than conventional cars. As a bonus, alcohol produces a

Commentary

Kennedy and Chappaquiddick

By LEE RODERICK

WASHINGTON - July 18, a Wednesday this year, came and went with relatively little rehashing of the 10th anniversary it represented: the night Sen. Edward Kennedy drove his car off Dyke Bridge on Chappaquiddick Island in Massachusetts, escaping the watery death that claimed the life of Mary Jo Kopechne.

It seemed pointless on the anniversary to stir this kettle of fish, which has never lost its bad odor. But Kennedy's likely entry into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination makes it imperative that his fellow citizens understand what the weeks that followed - now, before the heat of the campaign when "smear tactics" will greet anyone who raises the issue.

But some will ask, is it or should it be an issue? The answer depends on whether questioners believe character and personal morality should be factors in choosing a president.

Whatever else resulted from Chappaquiddick, there is little dispute that it demonstrated a character lapse, if not flw, in Ted Kennedy of monumental proportions. Kennedy himself told the Boston Globe in 1974 that his actions had been "irrational and indefensible and inexcusable and inappreciable."

More recently, in July of this year, Kennedy granted the New York Times his first detailed interview since 1974 on the incident. He insisted, however, that he and his staff be given a look at the Time's questions in advance and that the interview not be electronically recorded.

Kennedy told the Times that since Chappaquiddick he had experienced "a great re-examination of my own life, my own values, the importance of family, faith, the question of continuation of involvement in public life."

"And through this," he added, "because of the tragedy, I reached the decision and determination that there was no turning back on life: There was really only the opportunity for continued involvement in some sort of constructive contribution to the lives of our fellow human beings."

That outlook has been put to the political test twice in Massachusetts since Miss Kopechne's death, with citizens returning him to the Senate in 1970 with 63 percent of the vote, and again in 1976 with 70 percent. A New York Times CBS News national poll this summer showed that 80 percent of respondents remembered Chappaquiddick and 23 percent of them were "less likely to vote" for Kennedy as president as a result.

If his own constituents and, apparently, most other voters are willing to forget or forgive Miss Kopechne's death, why hasn't the issue been put to rest with her? The reason, in the recent words of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Swiftwater, Pa., is that even 10 years later "we don't know the whole story." They have, incidentally, received over $140,000 from Kennedy and an insurance company since their daughter's death.

What is indisputable about the night of July 18, 1969 is that six married men, including Kennedy, and six single young women, including Miss Kopechne, were at a cottage party together on the island that is near the main island of Martha's Vineyard. Before the night was over, Miss Kopechne was dead and Kennedy's presidential ambitions derailed.

Not many independent investigators believe Kennedy's account of what happened in between. Here it is abbreviated:

Around 11:30 p.m. he left the party to return by ferry to Martha's Vineyard. Miss Kopechne asked if she could hitch a ride with him and he agreed. But instead of taking the main road toward the ferry landing, he accidentally took a wrong turn and ended up on the road to the beach. The car flipped off the wooden bridge, landing on its top in six to eight feet of water. He escaped from it - how he doesn't know - then dove back down repeatedly in a vain attempt to save Mary Jo.

Kennedy says he returned to the cottage and got two friends, Paul F. Markham and cousin Joseph F. Gargan, cautioning them not to tell the others what had happened. They drove to the accident site and also tried but failed to reach Miss Kopechne. Kennedy then dove in the water, swam to Martha's Vineyard, and went to sleep in his motel.

No one bothered to phone the police or make any further rescue attempt until Kennedy reported the accident the next morning - about nine hours after his car went off the bridge.

Liberal journalist Robert Sherrill, who wrote a book about Chappaquiddick called "The Last Kennedy," more recently wrote that the troubling questions remaining unanswered from that night include these:

"Why did Mr. Kennedy delay for so long before notifying police? Was he drunk when he drove Miss Kopechne off the bridge and did he use the lapse of time for sobering up? (At an inquest, all who attended the party testified that no one had had more than two drinks. But doctors found the equivalent of five or six drinks in Miss Kopechne's bloodstream.)"

Thoughts

How dare we loudly complain about the cost of food when others have no food at all?

How dare we loudly complain about the size of income tax bills when so much of the world has no income to tax?

How dare we loudly complain about the quality of education in our schools when so many have never had the opportunity even to learn to read or write?

How dare we loudly complain about poor workmanship in automobiles and the high price of gasoline when most of the world walks?

How dare we loudly complain about the cost of our homes when so many live two or three families to the room?

How dare we loudly complain about some doctors' treatment when so many in the world have no doctors?

How dare we feel abused by economic pressures when even the poorest among us has so much more than we need as necessities of life?

Let us work to change what should do not pass through life without recognizing the real abundance of our blessings and the equally real inadequacy of our gratitude before Almighty God.

Boston Had Long Wait But Yaz Came Through

For some long days Boston waited. For Fred Sox fans, it seemed an eternity. Finally, in the eighth inning on a crisp, cool September night, "Yaz" came through. After 18 years of swinging a bat, Carl Yastrzemski hit a simple grounder past second base and lit up the sky. Thus Yaz became the first American League player ever to have 3,000 hits and 400 home runs. Lou Brock earlier this season became the first National League player to join the exclusive 3,000-hit club. How Yaz did it may not make the record books, but this ought to be remembered as much as the achievement itself.

Division Title First for Angels

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I've seen some rough days in my life," California owner Gene Autry said Tuesday night after left-hander Frank Tanana pitched the Angels to a 4-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals to clinch their first-division title. "This makes up for all of the bad times."

The victory put California five games ahead of Kansas City in the AL West with four games to go for both clubs.

A sellout crowd of 40,631, including former President Richard Nixon, watched several standing ovations to their heroes throughout the contest and many of them jumped onto the field as the game ended and began ripping the turf for souvenirs.

Brian Downing drove in two runs with a pair of singles and Rod Carew and Rick Miller had three hits to pace the California attack.

"After six years of frustration, for me to pitch the clincher is just too nice," the 26-year-old Tanana said.

"This is what I've dreamed of all about," Kansas City Manager White Herzog congratulated the Angels.

"The Angels had it all together at the right time," he said. "They will be the best representative of the American League West."

In other games, Chicago topped Minnesota, 9-3. Detroit edged Baltimore, 3-2. New York beat Cleveland, 7-5. Toronto defeated Boston, 3-1. Milwaukee edged Seattle, 7-6, and Texas downed Oakland, 5-3.

White Sox 9, Twins 3. Claudell Washington had three singles and two RBI and Alan Bannister slugged two doubles. The loss, combined with California's victory, eliminated stubborn Minnesota from contention in the West.

Tigers 3, Orioles 2.

Run-scoring singles by pinch hitter Lynn Jones and Hon-Leflore in the ninth gave Detroit a victory over the East Division champion.

Yankees 7, Indians 5.

A wild pitch by starter Rick Wise with two out and the bases loaded in the fourth paved the way for three New York runs that sparked their win.

Brewers 6, Mariners 6.

Sixto Larciano reached the 100 RBI plateau with a two-run double in the eighth to give Milwaukee its victory.

Rangers 5, A's 3.

Mickey Rivers raced home from third base on a Brian Kingman wild pitch in the seventh with the tie-breaking run.

Astros Hopes Revived

NEW YORK (UPI) — J.R. Richard has given the Houston Astros a temporary reprieve from the gallows.

Dismayed after dropping a doubleheader to Atlanta Monday night that left them practically dead in the National League West pennant race, the Astros were at least smiling a bit today after Richard overpowered the Braves, 8-0, Tuesday night with a four-hit, 13-strikeout performance.

The victory, coupled with San Diego's 8-2 triumph over Cincinnati, enabled the Astros to move to within 1 1/2 games of the first-place Reds in the NL West.

Richard, 17-13, allowed only four singles and surpassed the 300-strikeout plateau for the second straight year. He is the only right-hander in NL history to strike out 300 or more batters in a season.

"The strikeouts are okay, but the win was more so," said Richard. "Winning is what really counts."

The Astros supported Richard with 19 hits — a rare treat for the 6-foot-8 right-hander with Luis Pujols and Ruppert Jones leading in three runs apiece.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh whipped Montreal, 10-4. St. Louis beat Philadelphia, 4-1.

Angels crushed San Francisco, 11-2, and Chicago belted New York, 11-3, then lost, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Padres 8, Reds 2.

The Reds ran into a well-pitched game, as Bob Shirley stopped them on seven hits.

Pirates 10, Expos 4.

Willie Stargell belted a pair of homers to drive in three runs and Ed Ott also knocked in three runs in helping the Pirates regain first place in the NL East by a half-game over the Expos.

Cardinals 4, Phillies 1.

Garry Templeton hit his ninth home run then ignited a two-run sixth inning with his 19th triple to lead the Cardinals to victory.

Dodgers 11, Giants 2.

Rookie Rick Sutcliffe won his 17th game and Ron Cey hit a grand slam to spark the Dodgers.

Cubs 11-3, Mets 3-4.

Larry Bittner and Tim Lincecum each drove in two runs to lead the Cubs to their win over the Mets.

Steve Henderson's run-scoring pinch single in the 10th inning enabled the Mets to salvage a split.

Passed Ball Helps Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI) — At this time of year, with pennant hopes gone and team spirit seemingly pointless, a lot of baseball players start worrying about their personal statistics.

Cleveland pitcher Rick Wise was doing just that Tuesday night after a wild pitch that he thought was a passed ball produced three runs, helping the New York Yankees to a 7-5 victory over the Indians.

"I really thought the ball should have been handled," Wise said. "I'm not trying to make my catcher look bad, but I'm going to speak to the official score about it."

Maybe he will look at the replay or something.

Wise, 15-10, had the bases loaded and also thought he had Jerry Narzo struck out to end the fourth inning. But catcher Ron Hassey was unable to hold the third strike, a run scored and then Damaso Garcia singled home two more to make a four-run inning.

Ron Davis, 13-2, tied an American League record for relief wins by a rookie but needed help from Rich Gossage, who recorded his 18th save before the Yankees nailed down the win.

"I'm happy with my record," said Davis, adding, "but I would feel better if it was reversed with more saves than wins. My job is to save games, not win them."

Still, his 13 wins are the most by a rookie reliever since 1927, when a Yankee's Wiley Moore won 13 in relief.

Vinal Tops Cheney

Getting on the scoreboard for the first time this season wasn't enough as Cheney Tech bowed, 3-1, to Vinal Tech in COC soccer action yesterday in Middletown.

The victory evened the Hawks' conference mark at 1-1 and overall standard at 2-2 while Cheney is now 0-2 in the conference and 0-2-0 overall.

Vinal took a 1-0 lead at the half on John Listro's tally, a 20-yard boot, at the 35-minute mark.

Tony Pizzato ricocheted a drive of a Beaver defender for a 2-0 Vinal lead 18 minutes into the second half. Cheney finally got its first goal of the campaign home at the 25-minute mark with Chris Vann scoring assisted by Tom Falon.

Pizzato closed out the Vinal scoring with five minutes left.

Cheney outshot Vinal, 18-11, with Vann accumulating seven shots in a stellar performance. Sweeper Dave Novak also played well for Cheney.

Next action for Cheney is Friday at home against Bacon Academy at 7:30.

Bennet Wins Opener

Opening its season on a winning note yesterday was the Bennet soccer team with a 2-1 win over the Glastonbury High freshmen.

Bob Goldman and Greg Shriver tallied for the Bears with Bill Pescke picking up an assist on the latter's score. Mark Coulter, Myles McCurry and Tom Cannon also played well for Bennet.

Area Schools

Area soccer action yesterday saw Raham High overpowered Bacon Academy, 4-0. South Windsor High split Newington, 3-2. Coventry High beat Portland, 4-2, and East Hartford High beat Wethersfield, 2-0.

Tom Gardiner and Scott Cahill each tallied twice for the powerful Sachems, unbeaten in four starts.

Bob Goldman, Paul Hartan and Steve Brazier each scored once as South Windsor won for the fourth time in five outings. The Bobcats are 2-1 in CVC play. Newington went to 2-1 overall with the setback.

Kevin Green scored twice and Dave MacVane and Gary Turn each for Coventry, now 3-2 overall. The Patriots are 2-0 in CVC play. Portland dropped its fourth in five outings.

East Hartford after an opening win suffered its second straight loss in Wethersfield, which is 3-1 in CCLL play.

Bolton High battled hard but Rocky Hill had too many answers as the Terriers remained unbeaten with a 2-0 triumph. The Terriers are 5-0, Bolton 0-2-2 after the decision.

PPK Contest Set Saturday

Tom Conran will supervise the competition which starts at 10 o'clock.

Awards will be made in the various age categories.

Islanders Triumph

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Mike Bossy and Hector Marini scored three-period goals Tuesday night, to give the New York Islanders a 2-1 victory over the Buffalo Sabres in an NHL preseason game.

Buffalo's Danny Gare best goalie Glenn Resch 18 seconds into the first period but Bossy and Marini scored to lift the Islanders before a crowd of 10,253.

Celts' Roster Intact

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Celtics Coach Bill Fitch announced Tuesday he would keep his 15-man roster intact for the team's entire eight-game exhibition schedule.

The Celtics open the exhibition season Thursday night in New York against the Philadelphia 76ers. The final exhibition game is Oct. 7 against the New York Knicks in Columbus, Ohio. The Celtics are scheduled to finish practice this morning.

Penney Stops Ferni

With Archie Laura getting the game-winner at the 9-minute mark of the second quarter, Penney High downed Ferni, 2-1, in CCLL soccer action yesterday in East Hartford.

The Black Knights are now 1-2-1 in league play while Ferni is 0-4, 0-5 overall.

Earl Browne converted a penalty kick to give Penney a 1-0 lead at the 12-minute mark of the first quarter. Mark Bukowski drew Ferni even at 1-20 of the second period before Laura's game-winner, assisted by Ken D'Alitto.

Penney outshot the Falcons, 22-18, with Black Knight keepers Mike Conforto and Rich McCarthy combining on nine saves. McCarthy replaced Conforto in the second quarter and made six stops, including a breakaway Ferni keeper Dave Galo had 13 saves.

Next action for Penney is Thursday at Simsbury High.

Glastonbury in Triumph

Two first-half goals by Tom Cromwell powered unbeaten Glastonbury High past CVC foe Rockville High, 3-1, yesterday in soccer action in Glastonbury.

Toby Knight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks Tuesday announced they have guaranteed forward Toby Knight's contract through the 1979-80 season.

The decision was made by Knicks' Coach Red Holzman. President Mike Burke and General Manager Eddie Donovan following a meeting with Knight.

"Toby has done everything we've asked of him and it's important that he wants to remain a Knickerbocker," said Donovan.

Record NFL Attendance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The crowd of 80,123 at the Cleveland Browns' Monday night game with the Dallas Cowboys established the National Football League to establish a single weekend attendance record of 81,723.

The NFL said that, an average of 60,837, surpassed the previous high of 87,776 established on this season's Sept. 1-2 opening program. The NFL's total attendance of 3,106,418 this season is 98,720 ahead of the total for four weeks and 56 games of last season.

Ken Norton

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Grief-stricken by the death of his manager, Ken Norton has hung up his boxing gloves, ending a career highlighted by his jaw-breaking victory over Muhammad Ali in 1973 and a brief reign as heavyweight champion of the World Boxing Council.

Norton's manager, Robert Biron, who never had fully recovered from brain surgery for a tumor last December, died Sunday night at his home in Rancho Santa Fe. He was 67.

Happy Man

Lynn Swann

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers announced Tuesday wide receiver Lynn Swann will definitely be out of Sunday's game against the Eagles in Philadelphia and three other regulars were doubtful for the game.

Swann played a hamstring muscle in last Sunday's game against the Baltimore Colts and will be out indefinitely, a team spokesman said. Doubtful for the game were: guard Gerry Mullins; cornerback Ron Johnson; and defensive tackle Steve Furness.

Bill Ward

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI) — Bill Ward, Whakotane, New Zealand, who traveled more than 8,000 miles to race his 1930 Model A Ford on the famed Salt Flats, said he hopes to break the California D-Street Roadster record of 187 mph set earlier this month by a California team.

Ward pushed his light-blue "Kiwi-A-Salt" to 159 mph on his third attempt to qualify for a run at the record Monday. But the antique car beat a front axle in the run, forcing a temporary postponement of his racing plans. He hopes to try for the record Wednesday. "It's a real thrill to be at Bonneville," the 42-year-old enthusiast said.

Hitter Turned Pitcher Stops RSox for Jays

BOSTON (UPI) — It was back in Carondelet, Ill., when Dave Stieb was approached by his college coach to see if he would mind giving pitching a try.

Stieb, a 300 hitter as an outfielder, shrugged his shoulders and agreed. Ever since then, he's been throwing to the catcher instead of infielders and is the only member of the Toronto Blue Jays pitching staff with a winning record.

The 22-year-old California native spaced eight hits Tuesday night to pitch the Jays to a 5-3 win over the Boston Red Sox. The victory was his first for Toronto in Fenway Park since Aug. 30, 1978.

"I signed with Toronto out of Southern Illinois because I figured it was the best opportunity," said Stieb, 8-7. "Toronto scouted me as a pitcher. I thought it would help to be a hitter but it really hasn't. They hit a little different up here. Every game is a learning experience. You gotta throw strikes."

Stieb allowed one run in the first on an RBI double by Ted Sizemore, surrendered Butch Hobson's 27th homer in the fourth, and yielded a pinch-hit RBI single by Carlton Fisk in the ninth. He fanned two and walked three in pitching his seventh complete game of the year.

"I felt in better control in the middle innings. I found my rhythm and got out of everything. I've thrown 226 innings so my arm has taken a bit. But it's all right, there hasn't been the old snap there anymore," Stieb said.

"He's got a lot of poise and doesn't give into the hitters," said Toronto Manager Roy Hartsfield. "He can go a long way. If he can master his motion and control, there's no telling what he can do."

Top Four Teams Intact In Latest Gridiron Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — The UPI Board of Coaches showed the residents of the "Show Me" state plenty in the third weekly college football ratings, which were announced today.

The unbeaten Missouri Tigers, who broke open a tight game in the second half and pulled away to a 35-7 victory over Mississippi Saturday, vaulted into the No. 7 spot.

Southern California, Alabama, Oklahoma and Texas all won Saturday to retain their top four spots in voting by 38 of the 42 coaches on the Board. Nebraska replaced Notre Dame in fifth place after the Fighting Irish dropped a 28-22 decision to Purdue.

Michigan State assumed the No. 6 spot vacated when Penn State lost to Texas A&M, 27-14, and idle Houston is eighth-ranked, followed by Washington and Florida State, which moved up four notches to No. 10.

Missouri, 3-0, will have to put together four solid quarters this Saturday if they want to continue its climb up the ratings ladder: the Tigers, who received 340 points, are home against Texas.

Southern Cal, 3-0, which trounced Minnesota, 48-14, behind Charles White's 153 rushing yards, retained its No. 1 ranking with 32 first-place votes and 564 overall points. Alabama, 2-0, picked up four first-place votes and 529 points after a 45-0 triumph over Tulsa, received 485 points. Texas, 1-0, picked up the remaining two first-place votes and 415 points to stay fourth and Nebraska, 2-0, nipped Iowa, 24-21, to move into fifth with 320 points.

The Spartans, unbeaten in three games following a 24-21 triumph over Miami (Ohio), moved up two spots to sixth with 316 points and idle Houston, 2-0, picked up 286 points for No. 8.

Washington, 3-0, beat Oregon 21-7 and received 201 points to move up a notch into ninth and the Seminoles, unbeaten in three games, posted a 40-23 triumph over Miami (Fla.) 1 to round out the top 10 with 174 points.

Names in the News

Homer Rice

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Even though the Cincinnati Bengals are 0-4, don't look for any head coaching change in the near future. Bengals' General Manager Paul Brown says Homer Rice will stay.

"I'm not a musical chairs coach man," said Brown, after watching films of his team's loss to Houston in overtime. "I think talking about votes of confidence is not only unkind, it's uncalled for. I know what Homer's going through and I'm sticking right with him."

Gene Autry

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — In all of Gene Autry's horse operas, he never experienced a sad ending. But as the owner of the Los Angeles and California Angels for 18 seasons, he experienced nothing but sad endings.

Tuesday night his losing streak stopped and the former singing cowboy was bursting with happiness. The Angels defeated Kansas City, 4-1, to clinch their first title, snapping the Royals' three-year reign as American League West champions. "I've seen a lot of bad days in my life," the 73-year-old Autry said. "This makes up for all of the bad times."

Billy Williams

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Umpire Billy Williams said Tuesday night he will file a formal complaint against Lou Brock as a result of remarks he claims were made by the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder. Williams ejected Brock from Monday's game between the Philadelphia Phillies and Cardinals.

Williams said Brock came on the field Tuesday night and hollered at him: "I hope you got your cookies off last night, throwing a racial epithet out of the game." The umpire said he ignored the remark, but at the end of the game he said Brock chased him half way up the runway, repeating the same comments.

Mike Caldwell

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Milwaukee Brewer left-hander Mike Caldwell, who has won 37 games the past two seasons, Tuesday spurned the lure of the free-agent market and signed a multi-year contract with the club. The details were not released.

"I never intended to be a free agent," he said. "I did not want to leave Milwaukee. These people here are the ones who helped me get where I wanted to. I want to repay them for what they did."

White Sox File Suit

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox filed a $3.8 million damage suit against California Jam Inc., promoter of rock concerts held at Comiskey Park in August, in Circuit Court Monday by Artrell Co., the White Sox parent company.

It charged damage to the rescheduled portions of the field during California Jam-arranged concerts Aug. 18 and 19 forced the Sox to cancel three games. The cancellations, it said, caused loss of revenue. It also charged California Jam failed to provide Artrell with a statement setting forth the gross receipts from the two concerts and the payment due the White Sox organization, which was to receive $10,000 a performance or 10 percent of the revenue.

Danny Lopez

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Danny "Little Red" Lopez, defending his WBC featherweight title successfully for the eighth time, knocked out young Jose Caba of the Dominican Republic in the third round of a scheduled 15-rounder at the Sports Arena Tuesday night.

Lopez, 27, improved his record to 41-3 with 39 knockouts. The Alhambra, Calif., titleholder has knocked out every foe who challenged him for his crown. The inexperienced Caba, 21, now has a 12-1 record. He was outclassed and the referee stopped the fight in the third round to save him from further punishment.

Records Fall

MANCHESTER, Vt. (UPI) — Three American records and one world distance mark were broken Sunday at the second annual Mapleleaf half marathon.

Paul Lyons of Boston's West Roxbury section set a world's record of 1:13:36 in the 13.1-mile marathon.

10 Monogram Winners With Eagle Tankers

By LEN AUSTER

Ten letter winners will lead the East Catholic girls' swimming team when it opens its '79 campaign Tuesday on the road against Windsor Locks High.

The Eaglette tankers wound up 7-3 a year ago and Coach Ralph Viola sees a similar or possible better outcome this season.

"The general outlook is a team similar to last year with one solid entry in every event, a few solid second entries but a lack of quality, experienced third entries," Viola remarked. "Our versatility is much improved with the addition of (Joanne) Swanson as we now have five girls who can swim many different events."

"Opponents will have much more trouble trying to determine who we will swim in many of the events." East is led by senior tri-captains Kelli Dakin (IM and breaststroke), Karen McCaffrey (100-200 free), and Jane Price (50-100 free). Other letterman and sophomore expected to score well include junior Claire Viola, a threat in almost any event who holds three school records, sophomore Lynne Dakin (100-yard breaststroke) taking home individual titles along with the 200-yard medley relay quartet. "There is no reason to believe we cannot achieve the same spot or possibly second place this year," the Eaglette coach concluded.

Sophomore Mary Mayhew, defending state open gymnastics champion, has joined the squad and along with improved sophomore Rose Lenares gives the Eaglettes a strong diving contingent. Swanson is a freshman with a wealth of age group swimming experience who can fit well in any of six events, notes Viola.

Non-letter winning returnees expected to help are juniors Erin

Shaffner and Beth Negri and sophomore Kathy Patria. Newcomers who have shown promise include freshmen Mary Senerech, Stefanie Greenwald, Carolyn Tuller and Mary Beth Millstein and sophomore Mary Beth Cavallo.

East garnered third place in Class M a year ago with Viola (100-yard butterfly) and Lynn Dakin (100-yard breaststroke) taking home individual titles along with the 200-yard medley relay quartet. "There is no reason to believe we cannot achieve the same spot or possibly second place this year," the Eaglette coach concluded.

Schedule: Oct. 2 Windsor Locks, 4 Windham A 7 p.m., 19 Wethersfield, 12 Newtoning A, 16 Glastonbury A, 19 Hamden H, 24 Manchester A, 25 Bulkeley A, 31 Maloney A. Nov. 2 Windsor A, 7 Class M Sectional at Woodrow Wilson High in Middletown, 10 Class M Meet at Wilson, 17 State Open Meet at SSC. Home meet at East Hartford High's pool. Dual meets at 3:30 p.m.

Bolton Seeks Hoop Coach

Bolton High is in the market for a varsity boys' basketball coach, it was announced by Director of Athletics Mike Landolph.

Requirements include a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university and either college or high school coaching experience.

Salary ranges is from $1,022 to $1,200. Closing date for applicants is Oct. 10. Applications must include a resume and letters of reference and should be addressed to Landolph, c/o Bolton High School, 72 Brandy St., Bolton, Conn., 06040.

Week to Listen

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago White Sox owner Bill Veck says if someone would come along with the "right offer" to buy the club, he might agree to sell the team he purchased five years ago.

There has been reports that Detroit oilman Marvin Davis is interested in purchasing the White Sox. The Chicago Tribune Sunday quoted one key team stockholder as saying the deal is being discussed. A great deal of Veck's dissatisfaction has stemmed from the problems with the Detroit system at Comiskey Park and an ill-fated anti-disco night promotion in mid-July.

Chamber Orchestra Sets Four Concerts

HARTFORD - Now in its seventh season, the Hartford Chamber Orchestra's woodwind series will conclude with the New 18 program. The third concert, scheduled for Feb. 10, is entitled Duo Recital, featuring violin and piano. The series will conclude with the Wenlock Quartet, composed of members of the string family, on April 13.

The Hartford Chamber Orchestra's upcoming season will also include "Live at Lincoln Theater," a series of three concerts conducted by Music Director Daniel Parker at the University of Hartford, and a continuation and expansion of the highly successful series at Avon Old Farms School entitled "Classics by Candlelight" with Principal Guest Conductor Edwin Merck.

Series tickets are available by calling the Hartford Chamber Orchestra office at 247-6042. Single tickets for the Oct. 14 concert can be obtained by calling the office or at the door the day of the performance.

'Pot Pourri' Scheduled

HARTFORD - More than one hundred Hart College musicians and as many volunteers are in preparation for the ninth annual "Pot Pourri" sponsored by the Women's Association of the University of Hartford.

Mahe Paronov will conduct the Hart Symphony Orchestra.

The traditional sing-along which annually concludes the evening's festivities will feature songs from "Showboat."

Over the past 16 years, the association has raised over $100,000 earmarked for the improvement of library collections and the scholarship program. The money has been raised through membership dues, special events such as the popular performance of New York City Opera baritone William Metcalfe performing as soloist with the Hart Symphony Orchestra in the Oct. 12 at the University's Physical Education Center.

Donald A. Matran, director of Hart College, will serve as master of ceremonies, introducing three of the college's major performing organizations.

The Hart Symphony Wind Ensemble, conducted by Douglas Jackson will provide a rousing opening for the Dance Series Expands

HARTFORD - A greatly expanded dance series will be offered this year at Bushnell Memorial Hall. A third performance has been added to each of the five events on the Hartford Ballet 1979-80 dance series, and the company has announced that season ticket sales will continue into October.

The series opens Oct. 47 with an encore of "Carmina Burana." Three sold-out performances of Carmina Burana last year were in large part responsible for the decision to expand this year's series offerings.

Other company performances include a 16 work Rep-Fest slated for February and the world premier of Ballet 1979-80 dance series, and the company has announced that season ticket sales will continue into October.

The series opens Oct. 47 with an encore of "Carmina Burana." Three sold-out performances of Carmina Burana last year were in large part

CCSC Sets Theater Season

NEW BRITAIN - The Department of Theater at Central Connecticut State College has announced its 1979-80 season of productions and the opening of its season ticket campaign.

Managing Director Ed Lange said, "The department is very enthusiastic about the season. The four main productions are in preparation for something for everyone: musical comedy, tragedy, comedy and drama - from family entertainment to a production for mature audiences."

Two highly popular productions, a comedy and a second musical will be presented in the Studio Theater.

Concluding the main season, which begins Oct. 23, is "Something's Afoot," a musical comedy-mystery based on Agatha Christie's "Ten Lit-

HARTFORD - The Photographic Society of America will hold its first New England International Convention in 24 years at the Hartford Civic Center, Oct. 2 to 6.

Offering a variety of programs with nationally known speakers, slide and print exhibitions and photographic activities to its 1500 delegates, the society will seek to promote the arts and science of photography and further the public education of its craft.

In honor of the International Convention, Gov. Ella Grasso and Mayor George A. Athanas have joined in declaring the week of Oct. 1 "Photography Week." Athanas will be on hand for the opening ceremonies to welcome the group to Hartford.

Turkey Shoots Planned

EAST HARTFORD - The East Hartford Sportsmen's Club has announced that its annual series of fall turkey shoots will start Sept. 30 with lucky target and trap shooting beginning at noon every Sunday and continuing until finish, usually at dusk at the north meadow's grounds.

Shoots are held rain or shine.

The public is invited to the shoots are held at the club grounds in the north meadows, section of town. Directional signs will be posted in the area around north Main Street.

Seasonal Brochure Free

HARTFORD - The best of Connecticut's fall and winter offerings are highlighted in a free brochure available from the state Department of Economic Development.

Fall listings include three suggested loop drives through scenic areas where autumn foliage watching is especially rewarding.

On the winter side, the folder lists downhill and cross-country ski areas, year-round campgrounds, stables that offer sleighrides, and nature

Old Gun Show Set at School

GLASTONBURY - Ve Connecticut Gun Guild of Hartford will sponsor its "Thirteenth Annual Hartford Antique Gun Show" Sept. 29 and 30 at Glastonbury High School. The show hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $1.50 for adults (children under 16 free when with adults).

This show is one of the premier gun shows in the country and draws exhibitors and guests from nearly every state. The non-profit Guild donates a major portion of the proceeds from its efforts, to the "Newington Children's Hospital." Other beneficiaries are various historical societies and youth organizations.

The theme of this year's show will be Colt Firearms.

Auxiliary Fair Slated Oct. 6

VERNON - The Auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War will have its annual Fall Oct. 6 from 1:30 to 5 p.m. in the GAR Hall in the Memorial Building, Park Place.

Handmade articles, homemade baked goods, tag sale articles, and plants will be on sale.

The fair will be open to the public and it will be an opportunity for newcomers to the area to see one of the seldom-publicized historical attractions of the town, the memorial to the Veterans of the Civil War. Mrs. Alice Mallow is chairman of the Fair Committee.

Unsuccessful Serenade

First Jorgensen Drama Shows Attitude Changes

STORRS - "Emigres," the contemporary Polish play that leads off this season's main-stage productions at the University of Connecticut's Harriet S. Jorgensen Theater, heralds a new attitude in the UConn drama department.

The show, which will play nightly at 8:15 p.m. from Sept. 28 through Oct. 6, was transferred to the Jorgensen stage from the smaller Studio Theater in place of the scheduled visit by Steve Berkoff and the London Theatre group.

What was to have been that controversial ensemble's first and only American appearance had to be cancelled when American visas could not be obtained in time.

Under the leadership of its new head, Professor Jerry Rojo, the UConn Department of Dramatic Arts is stressing increased faculty involvement and faculty on-stage performance both here and on stages around the State and region.

Associate Professor Valerie Schor's recent one-woman show, "Women - Center Stage" is another example.

Accordingly, this revival of Slawomir Mrozek's black-humored play will be performed by a faculty cast of two of the department's leading actors - professor John Herr as "AA" and Assistant Professor Jaroslav Strzemen as "XX."

Strzemen also is co-directing the play, along with Rojo, who also is doing the scenic design.

Last November's small scale production of "Emigres" in the Studio Theater was done with student actors and Strzemen's direction.

The department's new attitude not only gives its faculty members more opportunity to hone their art by performance, but gives the students the experience of learning, sharing, and benefiting from working interaction with their teachers and advisers.

"Emigres," too, represents a commitment by the department to bring

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Her 'In-Law' Is an Outlaw

DEAR ABBY: I was married last week, and just prior to the wedding I was introduced to a cousin of my soon-to-be husband. Was a shock I couldn't believe it. This cousin was the SAME man who, a year ago, tied me up and robbed the gift shop where I worked. I spent 90 minutes bound and gagged by this man, and now he is a relative. I am not guessing. I am absolutely positive!

"Cousin" gave me an indication that he had ever seen me before, and I said nothing. So, Dear Abby, if you were in my place, would you tell your husband, or remain...
FOREVER GAGGED.

DEAR GAGGED: I would tell my husband first. Then I would tell the police.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl, writing this letter at 9:45 on a Sunday morning. I have been awake since 6:30 a.m. and am very tired. The reason? The dog next door has been barking loudly and nonstop since 5:30 a.m. This is nothing new. Our neighbors put their Doberman pinscher out on their tiny back porch, which is very close to my bedroom window, and when the dog is out there he barks incessantly!

Yesterday I was awakened at 7 a.m., not by the dog. This time it was the entire family (mother and three kids) having one of their knockdown, drag-out, screaming arguments. There is yelling, slapping, cursing, crying and door slamming very often over there.

My mother talked to the lady next door about all the noise, but it did no good. Please let me know to do before I get put away for poisoning a dog.

READY TO KILL

DEAR READY: There are laws against disturbing the peace. Call the police. And keep calling them until you get some action. Neighbors and barking dogs are low on the list of law-enforcer priorities, but if at first you don't succeed, try, try again. And don't give up.

DEAR ABBY: I was battered by your column devoted to the many virtues of walking. As you pointed out, walking aids in weight loss, improves health and conserves gasoline. But bicycling has the following added advantages over walking:

- It takes less time.
- It does not cause blisters, aching arches or other foot problems.
- It saves one's travel range. Not many people live within walking distance of their jobs, but one can easily bicycle 5 to 10 miles a day.
- The bicycle carries loads too heavy to carry while walking.

With so many advantages, bicycling can become an effective alternative to automobile travel.

Yesterday I was awakened at 7 a.m., not by the dog. This time it was the entire family (mother and three kids) having one of their knockdown, drag-out, screaming arguments. There is yelling, slapping, cursing, crying and door slamming very often over there.

My mother talked to the lady next door about all the noise, but it did no good. Please let me know to do before I get put away for poisoning a dog.

READY TO KILL

DEAR READY: There are laws against disturbing the peace. Call the police. And keep calling them until you get some action. Neighbors and barking dogs are low on the list of law-enforcer priorities, but if at first you don't succeed, try, try again. And don't give up.

DEAR ABBY: I was battered by your column devoted to the many virtues of walking. As you pointed out, walking aids in weight loss, improves health and conserves gasoline. But bicycling has the following added advantages over walking:

- It takes less time.
- It does not cause blisters, aching arches or other foot problems.
- It saves one's travel range. Not many people live within walking distance of their jobs, but one can easily bicycle 5 to 10 miles a day.
- The bicycle carries loads too heavy to carry while walking.

With so many advantages, bicycling can become an effective alternative to automobile travel.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Her 'In-Law' Is an Outlaw

DEAR ABBY: I was married last week, and just prior to the wedding I was introduced to a cousin of my soon-to-be husband. Was a shock I couldn't believe it. This cousin was the SAME man who, a year ago, tied me up and robbed the gift shop where I worked. I spent 90 minutes bound and gagged by this man, and now he is a relative. I am not guessing. I am absolutely positive!

"Cousin" gave me an indication that he had ever seen me before, and I said nothing. So, Dear Abby, if you were in my place, would you tell your husband, or remain...
FOREVER GAGGED.

DEAR GAGGED: I would tell my husband first. Then I would tell the police.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl, writing this letter at 9:45 on a Sunday morning. I have been awake since 6:30 a.m. and am very tired. The reason? The dog next door has been barking loudly and nonstop since 5:30 a.m. This is nothing new. Our neighbors put their Doberman pinscher out on their tiny back porch, which is very close to my bedroom window, and when the dog is out there he barks incessantly!

Board Revises Policies

VERNON — The latest revisions to the Board of Education's Policy book modify the section on testing on religious holidays, the section concerning police questioning of students, and the kindergarten philosophy.

The Board of Education approved the latest revisions Monday night, as part of an on-going program to revise the policy book. The revisions were recommended by the board's General Policies Committee.

Just a slight change was made to the section on testing on religious holidays. Teachers aren't allowed to give mid-term or final exams or standardized tests on religious holidays. But in order to maintain the educational continuity of the curriculum, classroom tests can be given by individual teachers. If a classroom test is missed by a student, because of such a holiday, it may be made up without penalty. The present policy on students being questioned by police allows principals to make students available to the police, for questioning, only for good reason and with the knowledge of a parent or guardian.

Incorporated in the policy book is the new philosophy on kindergarten grouping. It calls for heterogeneous grouping with emphasis on economics and socialization.

Up to this year, and for some years past, the kindergarten children have been grouped homogeneously on three levels. A policy that was set by the board some time ago, but wasn't incorporated in the policy book, sets rules concerning student records, minutes of meetings, and such.

The schools are allowed to charge a parent or guardian if they wish to have their child's records sent to private parties and such.

That the designated official of the school will maintain an informal record of the interview showing the time, place, persons, and a summary of discussions and findings.

Drost Criticizes McCoy

VERNON — Democratic Councilman John Drost charges Republican Mayor Frank McCoy with "trying to cure the patient (sewerage treatment plant) with aspirin when it needs radical surgery."

Both men are seeking re-election in the November elections. Drost was referring to the mayor's request that treatment plant officials report to him the actual operating costs of the plant from July 1 to Sept. 22.

The mayor said, last week, that the figures would be used to develop cost saving measures for the treatment plant.

Drost accused the mayor of "reacting again to a problem which has been around a long time." Drost said that on Jan. 22, at a council meeting, he asked that a special panel be appointed to determine the costs per day, per month, and per hour, if necessary, to operate the new $16 million treatment plant. He said nothing was done.

Drost said that in May the high cost of the operation of the plant was again brought to the attention of the council and two things were noted: That all costs, no matter how high, would have to be borne by the users; and that the incinerator was not to be used in order to save costs.

He said that the studge would continue to be dumped at the Ellington Refuse Gardens at a cost of $24 per day.

Drost said the Democrats on the council have also asked the administration to call for talks with federal and state officials but, "Again, no move was made by the mayor."

"Now, one month before election and three months before new bills go out, he is trying to cure the patient (sewer plant) with aspirin when it needs radical surgery and immediate attention," Drost said.

He added, "Once more the Democrats have taken the initiative and contacted federal officials to get relief from this 'energy guzzling dinosaur'."

When budgets for the current fiscal year were prepared, the budget for the operation of the treatment plant was set at $804,808 and this cost is paid for by the users who are building along with their regular tax bills.

Eventually the entire town will have sewer service, but homeowners still have the prerogative of hooking in or not hooking in depending on the state of their private septic systems.

Rev-Share Use Approved

COVENTRY — Revenue Sharing funds, totaling $122,360, were approved for use by the Board of Education, the general government, the library and the Fire Department, at a special town meeting Monday night.

The brief meeting drew few comments from the some 40 residents in attendance.

The Board of Education is to receive $37,450 and it will be used to buy a wide variety of equipment and for some needed repairs.

Audio-visual equipment, such as headsets, a listening center, microphone with stand, projector, cassette recorders, and projection screen, will be bought with $1,000. Another $18,000 will be spent on such items as a copier, duplicators, fire extinguishers, garbage barrels, gas outlets, soccer goal, range hood and other such items.

The board will also buy bookcases, fire extinguishers, cabinets and tables. Under major repairs two catch basins will be rebuilt, one school chimney will be repaired and have new flashing on the roof. Major repairs will cost some $37,460.

The listed items for equipment and repairs were not included in the current education budget which was adopted last May in the amount of $3.2 million.

The general government plans to use the $94,900 it has been allocated to buy a diesel highway dump truck with plow and hitch, for $34,000; for the town's revaluation program, $10,000; for a fire truck, $10,000; and several other pieces of equipment including some equipment for the fire department and the Booth-Dimock Library.

The $122,360 is in addition to Revenue Sharing appropriations of $59,074 approved at the annual town meeting in May as part of the 1979-80 fiscal year budget. This was applied to the budget to keep the mill rate from increasing.

Dump Issue Resurfaces In Vernon

VERNON — An issue that has cropped up in every election campaign for several years, is no exception in this year's election campaign. It's the issue of a dumping area for the Town of Vernon.

Joseph Merluzzo, Democratic candidate for the Town Council, brought the matter up in a statement issued Tuesday. He noted that it has been indicated that the thrust of Republican Mayor Frank McCoy's re-election campaign "would be his cost-saving and forward thinking approach to government."

Merluzzo who has previously served on the council but was defeated two years ago in his bid for re-election, said that in 1974 the council directed Mayor McCoy to buy the Ellington dump area for $175,000.

"He ignored those directions and Vernon's taxpayers saved one mill in taxes," he said. But he added that in the five years since that time, the town has spent $350,000 in rental fees for the dump the town should have owned. He said this represents two mills in taxes.

He said the dump is used by many towns and may be full by 1982 and that by then, the town will have paid one more mill in rental fees and it will then be necessary to find a new dump site the approximate cost of which will be two mills in tax dollars.

"Cost savings, five mills spent and one mill saved? Forward thinking? Where will we deposit our trash in the future, Merluzzo asked, saying that Vernon can't afford this kind of government."

"Additionally, during the past four years, many businesses in Vernon have had to pay thousands of dollars in fees to dump material which the Ellington Refuse Gardens will not accept. Those costs would have been unnecessary if Vernon had owned the dump," he said.

Crackerjack Sale

Bernard Lozier, left, and John Bilow, members of the Manchester Lion's Club, will be among the participants in the club's annual crackerjack sale. The service club members will be in the Main Street shopping area and other local shopping areas, Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m. and again on Oct. 4 the same time and areas. Profits from the sale are returned to the community in the form of Lions' projects for the blind, for youth and the elderly, scholarships, and charitable contributions.

Elm City Police Hunt Stolen Toxic Powder

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Police

today searched for a canister of calcium cyanide, a highly toxic chemical which can cause death if inhaled, which was missing from a stolen commercial van recovered in the city.

Police said the firm which owned the van Tuesday reported the 5-by-9 inch container holding the substance, labeled with "Cyno Gas Type A Dust" in green letters, was missing.

The vehicle was stolen Monday in Middletown and later recovered in New Haven. A police spokesman said the van was owned by a pest control company but declined to identify the firm. Police said the Office of State Toxicology and the distributor of the powder which can cause death if inhaled, which was missing from a stolen commercial van recovered in the city.

Dr. Vernon Nelson, professor of biology at Southern Connecticut State College, said cyno gas is a brand name for calcium cyanide, which when mixed with water releases a gas similar to that used in gas chambers.

Police today planned to search in North Front Street near the Quinnipiac River, where the van was recovered.

People/Food

BACKYARD AND BEYOND

Parties are fun anytime, of course — they keep you in the social swing, give you a chance to be and feel creative, let you catch up on the current goings-on. But outdoor parties have a special spirit of their own. Just being outside helps guests feel free and easy, more relaxed. Usually there's more room, which is a help, and no worries about extra housecleaning!

Outdoor eating doesn't have to mean charred hot dogs, hamburgers and sticky fingers. Sumptuous as it looks, this delectable meal is a snap to assemble and the work involved is done ahead of time in the cool of the day. Crispy-Coated Tortilla Chicken calls for Shake 'n Bake seasoned coating mix for chicken — original flavor — added to crushed tortilla chips for a zesty-flavored coating that stays crispy when cold and lets the good chicken taste come through — moist and tender. To serve cold, cool the chicken for about one hour at room temperature. Then, cover loosely with paper towels and chill until ready to serve. Crispy, cold chicken for a hot summer evening. Since a touch of Mexico accents the chicken, colorful table settings are very much in order.

Complementing the chicken with both a color and taste point of view is Red Bean Salad which has marinated in prepared Good Seasons salad dressing for at least three hours and is served well chilled.

Take advantage of summer's bounty with Mixed Fruit Melange. Fresh melon, peaches, strawberries and cherries show off to best advantage with prepared Tang instant breakfast drink served from a scalloped watermelon shell. Delightful to see, refreshing to taste.

Whether you move to the backyard, the terrace, the patio or beyond, summer is for outdoor living and the happiest, friendliest climate for entertaining family and friends.

Crispy-Coated Tortilla Chicken, Red Bean Salad and Mixed Fruit Melange are a trio of make-ahead treats to grace an outdoor meal.

- Crispy-Coated Tortilla Chicken
- 1 cup tortilla chips, regular or taco flavor
 - 1 envelope seasoned coating mix for chicken — original flavor
 - 2-1/2 pounds cut-up chicken
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
- Place tortilla chips in plastic shaker bag and crush finely; mix in seasoned coating mix. Moisten chicken pieces with egg; then shake 1 piece at a time in the bag until evenly coated. Arrange in single layer in ungreased shallow baking pan. Bake at 400° for 40 to 50 minutes or until tender. Remove from pan and serve warm or cold. Cover and refrigerate any leftovers. Makes 4 servings. To serve cold, cool about 1 hour, then cover loosely with paper towels and chill about 3 or 4 hours.
- Red Bean Salad
- 1 can (20 oz.) red kidney beans
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 cup thinly sliced celery
 - 1 small onion, thinly sliced
 - 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1/4 cup chopped dill pickle
 - 1/2 cup prepared Italian or mild Italian salad dressing
 - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- Sprinkle beans with salt; let stand about 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill at least 3 hours to marinate. Serve on crisp salad greens, if desired. Makes 3-1/2 cups or 4 servings.
- Mixed Fruit Melange
- 1 quart sliced or diced fresh fruits (melon, peaches, strawberries and cherries)
 - Sugar (optional)
 - 2 cups prepared orange flavor instant breakfast drink
- Sweeten fruits with sugar, if desired. Add prepared drink and chill well. Spoon into dishes or watermelon shell, if desired. Makes 1 quart or 8 servings.

Chinese Chicken with Peanuts is an economical way to serve a crowd, just what today's budgets need. It's also a storehouse of nutrition.

Chicken - Oriental-Style

Special occasions - birthdays, anniversaries and other celebrations are festive excuses for a dinner party. Choose the reason for celebrating and then plan for ease in carrying it out. Chinese Chicken with Peanuts makes a great main dish choice.

Like the Chinese, make preparation and cooking two different procedures. Get the chopping and measuring done in advance, then cooking only takes a very few minutes. Peanuts are easily and uniformly chopped in an expensive nut chopper found in the housewares section of most department and grocery stores or they may be tossed a few at a time into the blender.

Serve Chinese Chicken with Peanuts on a bed of steamed rice or for greatest ease on Chinese noodles. For fun, furnish guests chopsticks. Team this astonishingly easy chicken peanut combination with a crisp green salad and you have a complete, easy to make, company meal with plenty of time for enjoying your guests.

Brown-Baggers Bread

Brown-bagging is a way of life for many families these days. Packing a lunch is convenient as well as economical - and offers a welcome change from the fare at luncheonette or company cafeteria.

A good bread always perks up the brown-bag menu. This pear-cheese bread complements such fillings as ham, salami or cream cheese. Or you may eat it as dessert.

Youngsters will also enjoy this bread. Pack a few slices into their lunch boxes along with cheese, cold cuts and fruit.

Pear-Cheese Bread
 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
 2/3 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 2 cups flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup peeled, coarsely grated fresh Western Anjou pears
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1/2 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
 Cream butter or margarine with sugar. Add eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Combine flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add half of dry ingredients to creamed mixture, stirring until moistened. Repeat with remaining ingredients. Combine grated pears and lemon juice. Gently stir into batter along with cheese, mixing only until completely blended. Turn into greased 8-1/2 by 5 inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 55 minutes, until toothpick inserted into center comes out clean. Cool pan on wire rack 10 minutes. Remove bread from pan and continue cooling on rack. Wrap in plastic wrap or foil to store. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 loaf.

Schools Receive Cookbooks

One hundred and fifty copies of the American Heart Association Cook Book have been distributed to the school systems of 36 towns in the greater Hartford area. The soft-cover edition was given to the Home Economics Department of Junior and senior high schools by the Greater Hartford Chapter of the Association. The cookbook, which is available in most book stores, features fat-controlled, low cholesterol recipes which are one means of reducing the risk of heart attack. Learning the basics of proper diet early in life can be a major factor in improved health.

In addition to the school program, the Association has also provided area libraries with bibliographies listing popular books on heart disease and stroke. Information about these and other publications concerning health and the heart can be had by contacting the American Heart Association of Greater Hartford, at 210 Collins St., Hartford, 06105.

Start The Day Royally

Whoever it was that said "Breakfast like a King, lunch like a prince and dine like a pauper" may have had this motto in mind. Familiar Log Cabin syrup and its partner, Log Cabin pancake and waffle mix, combine talents in such a way as to make breakfast a feast. Syrup, shortening, milk, egg and rolled oats are added to the pancake and waffle mix and the resulting golden brown pancakes are light and lovely. Creamy peanut butter is added to more syrup for a smooth, well-blended oopping also provides an alternate topping that starts everyone's day right.

OATMEAL PANCAKES
 1/3 cup pancake and waffle syrup
 1 cup milk
 1 egg, lightly beaten
 1 cup regular pancake and waffle mix
 2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening
 1/2 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
 Peanut Butter Topping or Jiffy Peach Sauce
 Add 1/2 cup syrup to milk and egg. Stir in pancake and waffle mix, shortening and oats. Stir with a fork just until pancake mix is moistened. Bake as directed on package. Top with butter, if desired, and Peanut Butter Topping. Serve with grilled sausage, if desired. Makes about 14 four-inch pancakes or 6 servings.

Peanut Butter Topping
 Add 1/2 cup syrup to milk and egg. Stir in 1 cup pancake and waffle syrup with 2/3 to 3/4 cup dried minced canned peaches. Mix well and serve. Makes about 1 cup, but the recipe may be doubled.

Consumer News For September

WASHINGTON — If you're interested in beating the high cost of home heating fuels, try a wood burning stove to keep warm this winter. Here are a few tips on purchasing and installing a stove from the White House's September Consumer Bulletin.

— Before you buy, ask your local building inspector or fire department about any requirements for wood burning equipment.

— Look for models that have been approved by a nationally recognized testing laboratory.

— There's a large variety of wood burning equipment available, including prefabricated recirculating fireplace, airtight wood stoves that fit into existing fireplaces, free standing wood stoves and multi-fuel furnaces that burn wood.

— If you're interested in a stove, ask the dealer if it's designed for complete combustion of its fuel? Ask if the stove is airtight to allow greater control over the rate of burning and can be vented outside?

— If you're considering a fireplace, ask if it's combustion air is drawn from outside? If it's equipped with a glass screen to prevent heat loss and reduce efficiency. Does the fireplace recirculate warmed room air instead of letting it escape through the chimney?

— Wood may not be as expensive as home heating oil, but it's no longer dirt cheap, especially in urban areas. Lumber yards sometime offer slab wood at affordable prices. Or try asking a building contractor for permission to pick up scrap wood from construction sites.

— For the more ambitious, wood is often free from public lands. But you have to cut it. Contact your state or county forester. Stoves may be relatively inexpensive, but they are of no value unless properly installed. If there's no proper ventilation, carbon monoxide poisoning may occur. Keep a three-foot clearance on all sides of the stove. Stove and flues get very hot and can start fires on nearby walls, floors or furniture.

— To avoid explosions, don't use flammable liquids to start the fire. Use a screen to prevent sparks from escaping.

— For more free information on wood burning equipment, write for fact sheet No. 2 "Wood and Coal Burning Heating Stoves." U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

Other buying tips for September include: Wholesale pork and beef prices rose during August suggesting higher retail pork and beef prices for this month. However, retail beef prices are expected to level off for the rest of the fall. Poultry and turkey production are at least 10 percent higher than last September.

— This month's egg production should be 2 to 3 percent higher than last September while milk production will continue to decline until November, when it hits a seasonal low.

— This month is the peak time for grapes. Bartlett pears and purple plums at the grocery store. Early shipments of apples should now be reaching stores in greater supply. But plentiful supplies from what is likely to be the largest harvest in history will begin arriving in October.

— If you're in the market for a brand new house, be sure to ask the builder about warranties on workmanship and structural defects. Most builders during the first year of the warranty program developed by the National Association of Home Builders in 1973. The Home Owners Warranty (HOW) program now covers about 25 percent of all new houses nationwide. There are some 600,000 houses now enrolled in the program.

— Under HOW, the builder warrants the house to be free from defects arising from non-compliance with HOW's approved building standards during the first year. The first two years the builder also warrants the house to be free from major structural defects and that the plumbing, heating and cooling and electrical systems will perform according to approved standards.

— Warranties are available for 10 years of coverage on single family houses, condominiums and townhouses. Builders pay $2 per $1,000 of the house's cost for coverage. The warranty automatically transfers to the next owner during the 10-year period.

— September bargains — end-of-the-year cars, outdoor furniture, garden supplies. Look for sales on rugs, carpets, fabrics, china, glass ware, silver, hosiery, and housewares.

Teaching Kids to Manage Money

Julie Steffens, 9, and Drew Steffens, 10, each own a piece of Disney World.

Their father bought each child a share of stock in Walt Disney Productions after the family vacationed at the theme park in Florida.

To John L. Steffens, stock ownership at a tender age is among several effective ways of teaching children to manage money.

"They get annual reports and some dividends," Steffens said in a telephone interview. As director of investor services for a leading investment firm in New York City, he sees these things as teaching tools.

He said he has also charged Julie and Drew interest when they borrowed money for specific purposes. That's another learning experience, Steffens said. "You're not actually taking money away from the children if you put the interest charged into the children's savings accounts, he added.

"It's all right to open accounts for young children, he said, but he recommends that parents retain control of the accounts until the children are in high school.

"I'm not so sure I want them to control the account at that 10 or 12," Steffens said. "They might spend it all on the latest fad."

Not every parent can afford to buy securities for their children, the Merril-Lynch executive added, and it's not legal in all states.

But there are many other ways of teaching money management to children, he said, starting as early as age 5.

An allowance of a dime three or four times a week is enough at first, he said. "There's not much you can buy for a dime today," he conceded, but if you give that young child 30 or 40 cents at a time, the child is quite likely to spend it all at once at the supermarket or drugstore.

"The best you can hope for at that age is for a child to learn the difference between denominations, that two nickels make a dime."

If you spread the allowance out over the period of days, at first, then later give a lump sum once a week and then once a month, he said, it should help children learn they about the need to budget over an extended period.

Once a week is about right for elementary school students's allowances, and once a month, for high schoolers, he said.

Whatever the amount, it should be realistic and determined by mutual agreement, Steffens said. If children regularly overspend and ask for more money, parents should look for the cause and try to explain the importance of buying within one's means, he said.

The size of an allowance should depend "on what you're going to ask the kids to pay for, Steffens added. If you expect them to pay for school lunches, there should be something left over to spend as they please.

He considers it important for a child's allowance to be about the same as his schoolmates, but "you have to be careful about peer pressure.

Some children have a tendency to exaggerate the size of their friends' allowances in an effort to boost their own.

A child whose allowance is considerably higher than his or hers may feel guilty, waste the money and never really learn to handle it responsibly, Steffens said.

If it is considerably lower, your child may feel deprived.

Taylor is vice president of Leeb Riboades, Hornblower's La Jolla, Calif. office, co-author with Ben Davis of Kids & Cash (Oak Tree Publications $8.95), the father of three grown children and stepfather of one. He believes in making rules about allowances and sticking to them.

— Establish amounts to be paid;
 — Pay on schedule;
 — No advances. If a child runs out of money before the next pay period, don't bail the child out — and don't let indulgent grandparents do it either. If the child wants to work to earn money, that's okay — earning helps develop self-reliance.

"You have to enlist the cooperation of grand-parents," Taylor said. "Let them know how the money situation works in your family. Ask them not to give money to kids under 13 for Christmas and birthdays. That can destroy the allowance system, he said.

"By 14 or 16," he said, "we presume kids have learned to handle money." Allowances and other money issues involving stepchildren and those in single parent families pose special problems, Taylor said.

"The main one is the word 'favoritism,' he said.

Right from the start, he said, a stepfather or single parent should tell the children what they earn and show them what they (the children) represent in the family budget.

He said recent figures estimate the total cost of raising a child to age 18 is $58,000 in a family of four with annual income of $16,000 to 20,000.

In these times of high divorce and remarriage rates, many families have two different — and unequal — sets of child support payments, Taylor said. It's important to let the children know the discrepancies don't reflect the paying parents' situation of their children's worth.

Enjoy a Brunchfest!

Breakfast plus lunch equals brunch. So, why not combine the best of both when you serve Sunny Brunch Sandwiches and have a brunchfest! Favorite breakfast and lunch ingredients are used in this easy-to-prepare sandwich. Begin with Miracle Whip salad dressing and eggs, mixed with bacon, milk, and seasonings. Place green pepper rings on top and bake. When ready, cut into squares and set each one on an English Muffin half for an open-face sandwich along with lettuce and tomato. Serve with a pitcher of juice. Make your brunchfest complete with family and friends gathered to celebrate the mid-morning meal together.

Sunny Brunch Sandwich
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup cheddar cheese
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 green onions, sliced
Creamy Soy Dressing
3 Hawaiian papayas, halved and seeded
3 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds

Hawaiian Papaya Slaw

3 cups lightly packed shredded cabbage
1 cup cubed pineapple
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 green onions, sliced
Creamy Soy Dressing
3 Hawaiian papayas, halved and seeded
3 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds

In large bowl, combine cabbage, pineapple, celery, pepper, onions and Creamy Soy Dressing. Toss. Chill 1 hour. Arrange papaya halves on platter or individual serving plates. Fill with slaw. Sprinkle with sesame seeds. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Consumer Report

DEAR CONSUMER REPORTS - Why don't beer cans carry information on carbohydrates, calories, caloricity, etc.?

DEAR READER - While the U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms regulates alcoholic beverages, a spokesman says it isn't empowered to require the kind of labeling that you asked about.

DEAR CONSUMER REPORTS - In shopping for a new car, I've had a number of dealers offer me optional factory undercoating. How much should it cost and just what does it do?

DEAR READER - Factory-applied undercoating, which generally costs about $30, is offered as part of a sound-deadening package. We've found that it does insulate the car's interior from road noise.

Some dealers, however, will tell you the undercoating also acts as a rust protector. We can't support that claim.

DEAR CONSUMER REPORTS - I purchased a Bradford clothes dryer from W.T. Grant before that dry-goods chain went out of business in 1976.

The dryer still works fine but it needs a new lint filter. Neighborhood appliance and fix-it shops say Bradford isn't on the market any more.

How can I replace the lint filter?

DEAR READER - Jacoby purchased the entire Bradford line of washer, dryer, refrigerator and dishwasher parts when W.T. Grant went out of business. If you can supply a model number, a Jacoby employee says, they probably can supply the lint filter.

DEAR CONSUMER REPORTS - What's the difference between "light" and "albacore" tuna?

DEAR READER - The power line empire, had its seat at Cuzco in the Andes, and covered most of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador, as well as parts of Columbia, Chile and Argentina. Building on the achievements of 800 years of Andean civilization, the Incas had a high level of skill in architecture, engineering, textiles and social organization.

Casablanca Honey Cake
1 (6-ounce) can frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
1 cup honey
1 cup strong black coffee
4 eggs
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup sugar
3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Honey-orange Sauce
Combine orange-juice concentrate, honey and coffee.
Beat eggs until light and lemon colored. Gradually add oil then gradually beat in sugar.
Sift together remaining dry ingredients. Add to egg mixture alternately with orange mixture, about 1/2 of each at a time. Mix until smooth.
Pour into 2 greased 9-by-5-by-3 inch loaf pans. Bake in 325-degree oven 1 hour, 10 minutes or until done. Cool before removing from pans.

MVD Info
Q. Could you wrap up the new state laws affecting the motorist public?
A. Over the past five weeks, I've pointed out a number of changes in the law affecting drivers and their vehicles. Three varied laws passed by the 1979 General Assembly which take effect Oct. 1 are:
* P.A. 78-7 (Concerning Behind-the-Wheel Driver Training) - (1) Allows driver education behind-the-wheel instruction (driving) to be given credit even though such driving was done on highways outside of Connecticut. Law formerly required instruction on highways of this state.
(2) Allows home training instruction to be given by grandparents.
* P.A. 79-244 (Concerning Motor Vehicles in Van Pool Service) - Defines "vanpool vehicle" as having a seating capacity of 7 to 15, used primarily for home to and from work transport on a non-profit basis. Establishes new registration classification for vanpool vehicles. Requires financial responsibility filing of $30,000 with 20-day notice of cancellation with liability extending beyond such 20 days for a period of up to 10 more days in the event registration has not been surrendered. Registration fee of $20,000. Exempts vanpool vehicles from public utility control.
* P.A. 79-302 (Concerning the Reporting of Motor Vehicle Accidents Involving School Buses) - Requires accidents reports from the owner and police when school bus is involved in any accident on a highway in this state.
Questions may be sent to MVD INFO, Department of Motor Vehicles, 60 State St., Waterbury, Conn. - 06109. Motor Vehicle Department offices are open Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.; and Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

What to Feed The Back-to-School Set

At last! The children are back in school. Now another problem looms. What to feed the growing youngsters - for breakfasts, after-school snacks and easy suppers.

Many youngsters who refuse to eat eggs or cereal will down a tasty drink in the morning. So, put the blender to work by whipping up combinations of fruit and milk for their breakfasts.

You may add wheat germ, yogurt or even ice cream to entice them. After all, any breakfast is better than none to launch an active day of school and play. Of course, the drinks are also good after school.

If you're watching diets, you can prepare the drinks with skim milk and low-fat yogurt.

Another treat is stuffed pocket bread. This handy style of sandwich from the Middle East has recently been adopted by Americans.

You can fill the bread with almost any combination of meats, cheese, fruits or vegetables to eat hot or cold.

Don't forget the snacks. Nutritionists advise that carbohydrates - even sweets, within reach - are essential to healthy growth.

It's a wise parent who keeps the refrigerator stocked with fresh fruits and vegetables. When readily available, these healthy snacks quickly become part of children's eating habits, that means they will consume less candy and soda pop.

Peachy Grapefruit
1 cup grapefruit juice, chilled
1 1/2 cup diced peaches with syrup
Combine ingredients in blender. Whirl at top speed until smooth. Sprinkle with nutmeg. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 serving.

Grapefruit Fruit Drink
1 cup grapefruit juice, chilled
4 water-pack apricot halves, drained
4 fresh hulled strawberries
1/2 large ripe banana
1/2 cup raisens
Combine all ingredients in blender. Whirl until smooth. Pour into glasses and serve at once. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 servings.

Item of the Week!
From the wonderful Finger Lakes Region of New York State, there is the Concord Grapes. 2 quart handle basket 99c

105 to 115 degrees)
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup vacuum-packed wheat germ, regular
1/4 teaspoon salt
Cooking oil
2 1/2-3 cups flour
Sesame seeds (optional)
In large bowl, mix yeast with water until dissolved. Stir in sugar. Let stand 5 minutes.
Add wheat germ, salt and 1/4 teaspoon oil. Beat in enough flour with wooden spoon to make soft dough that leaves sides of bowl. Turn out onto lightly floured surface.
Knead about 5 minutes until smooth and elastic. Cut into 10 equal pieces. Shape each portion into smooth ball. Flatten slightly, then roll into 5/16- to 6-inch rounds. Sprinkle with additional wheat germ and sesame seeds before rolling if desired.
Place rounds on greased and floured baking sheet. Brush lightly with oil. Do not cover. Let rise in warm, draft-free place until puffy, 1 to 1 1/2 hours.
Bake in 475-degree oven 5 to 7 minutes or until bottoms are golden. Remove from baking sheets and cool on rack. If rounds don't open completely, cut open with tip of sharp knife. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 rounds.
Beef in Pocket-Bread
4 pocket bread rounds, halved
1/2 pound lean ground beef
1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
2 large cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 cup vacuum-packed wheat germ, regular
2 (8-ounce) cartons plain yogurt
1 1/2 teaspoons dried mint leaves, crushed
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup minced parsley
teaspoon salt
Chopped tomatoes
Romaine lettuce, shredded
Cook over low heat a few minutes, stirring gently until heated through. Spoon into pocket bread.
Pass tomatoes, lettuce, cucumbers and remaining yogurt to add to pockets as desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Home cooking. It means a lot of different things to different people.
To a Bostonian, home cooking might be an old-fashioned boiled dinner combining zesty corned beef with hearty chunks of potatoes, carrots, parsnips and, of course, cabbage.
Or it might be a crock of slow-cooked baked beans bubbling over with brown sugar goodness.
In New York, the term home cooking could be used to describe anything from a hearty Jewish-style sweet and sour beef brisket to a Polish stuffed cabbage, a soulful barbecue sauce for ribs or chicken, or even a Chinese sweet and sour pork combination.
No matter what your home is, you'll find that most of these "ethnic" dishes have one thing in common. They're all relatively inexpensive.
That's what home cooking really is all about - a magical way of turning economical ingredients into something memorable.
The New England tradition of boiled dinners harkens back to Pilgrim days when fresh meat wasn't available during the winter and preserved meats were provided early settlers with a thrifty way of stretching a bit of salt pork with protein-rich dried beans.
New York became a melting pot of cultures - and cuisines - as immigrants from throughout the world settled there, each bringing along a tradition of ethnic dishes.

Home cooking. It means a lot of different things to different people.
One ingredient often called for in home-cooked dishes is brown sugar. Old-fashioned cooks knew how flavorful and delicious it was in many of their recipes.
This may have been a bother when brown sugar almost always turned hard and lumpy before the package was half-used, but not today.
Now brown sugar can be considered a thrifty buy because it's all usable - down to the last teaspoonful - if you purchase the new granulated kind. This innovative product pours easily from its own spout and needs no packing or re-measuring.
Both New England boiled dinner and Polish stuffed cabbage are inexpensive one-pot meals that are typical of old-fashioned goodness.
Stuffed Cabbage (about 3 pounds)
2 pounds ground round
1/2 cup uncooked rice
2 eggs
1 large onion, minced
2 eggs
1 large onion, minced
1/2 cup onion, minced
1/2 cup tomato sauce
1/2 cup Domino® Brand Brown Sugar
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup raisins
Water
Remove core from cabbage and remove tough outer leaves. Carefully remove 18 whole leaves, one at a time. In small amount of boiling salted water in large skillet, steam cabbage about 15 minutes or just until limp. Drain well.
In large bowl, combine beef, rice, eggs, onions and

Social Security

Q: I've decided I'd like to have my Social Security check deposited directly into my checking account. It would be much more convenient than having to stand in line at the bank every month. How do I arrange for direct deposit?
 A: All you have to do is complete a direct deposit form SF-1199. You can get the form at your financial organization and the people there will help you fill it out. Direct deposit of your checks will start about several months after you submit the form. In the meantime you'll continue to get your Social Security checks at home.
 Q: I just got married a few weeks ago. Does my marriage have any effect on my Social Security?
 A: A change in your marital status could affect the amount of payments due you and your husband or wife. You should notify the Social Security office promptly. The people there will tell you how marriage affects your payments.
 Q: I'm trying to decide whether to enroll in the medical insurance part of Medicare. I'll be eligible for Medicare in a few months. I already have health insurance through my union, so I can't see paying a monthly premium for Medicare medical insurance if I don't need it. Can you give me any information to help me decide?
 A: Many private health insurance companies point out that their policies are designed only to supplement Medicare. They recommend that their policyholders sign up every month. How do I get part of Medicare to get full protection. Your private insurance may not pay for some medical services that are covered by Medicare. You should contact your insurance agent or the office where you pay health insurance premiums to find out what your private insurance will cover after you become eligible for Medicare.
 Q: I have to go into the hospital next week. I don't know how long I'll be there. Can you tell me the amounts that Medicare does not pay?
 A: From the 1st day through the 60th day in each benefit period, Medicare hospital insurance pays for all covered services except the first $160. This is the hospital insured deductible. From the 61st through the 90th day in a benefit period, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $40 a day. For more information about Medicare coverage of inpatient hospital care, read "You Medicare Handbook." If you don't have a handbook, you can get one at any Social Security office.

Friendship Force Ambassadors Visit Berlin Zoo

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Thibau of 158 Grandview St., Manchester, hold two young lion cubs during their recent visit to the Berlin Zoo. The Thibeaus joined 250 other area residents who served as Friendship Force ambassadors to West Berlin in August.

You Ask

Question: I have several serving pieces that I would like to wash in my dishwasher, but I'm afraid to take the chance. Can you give me an idea of what can and can't be washed in a dishwasher?
 Answer: Most pans, casseroles, glasses, vintiles and fine china can be safely washed in a dishwasher. Some items such as hand-painted china, cast iron, wood or pewter should be hand washed to avoid fading of hand-painted designs, rusting of iron, drying out of wood, or darkening of pewter.

Tips for a Successful Party

1. A good host or hostess knows not only how to entertain but how to entertain wisely. The secret to success is to plan ahead. Think twice about the guests, the food, the beverage service.
 2. Here are some helpful suggestions from the United States Brewers Association to insure not only the success of the party, but also the safety of the partygoers especially those who will be driving home afterward:
 1. Serve appetizers before drinks.
 2. Don't serve salty foods - they increase beverages 45 minutes before end of party.
 3. Have a variety of alternative drinks for guests who do not want alcohol.
 4. As the host or hostess, you have a responsibility to set the mood of the party, particularly in the moderate, proper use of alcohol beverages at all times.
 5. Plan a party theme around, for example, backgammon, cards, or chess that share the spotlight with your food and beverage service.
 6. Stop serving drinks, don't let them drive home. If necessary, put them in a cab.
 7. Serve hearty appetizers such as French bread with cheese, deviled eggs, finger sandwiches, cocktail meatballs and frankies.
 8. Have alcohol beverages out of guests' sight and don't let them serve themselves.
 9. Don't push drinks on your guests.
