A Bad Start

ATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — The mountain climbing season in the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Nepal is off to a disastrous start with five deaths, three of them Americans.

An American mountain guide and a West German woman froze to death last week on the slopes of Mount Everest, the second time within a month climbers died in attempts to conquer the towering peaks of the Himalayas, the highest mountain range in the world.

The latest victims, Raymond Genet, 45, of Talkeetna, Alaska, and Hannel Greesch Schmatz, 39, of Neu Ulm, West Germany, had both successfully climbed the world's highest mountain.

They froze to death, however, while making their way down the slopes of the 29,028-foot Mount Everest, the Ministry of Tourism announced Sunday.

Big Setback

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Masaoyoshi Ohira today took personal responsibility for the election setback suffered by his ruling Liberal Democratic Party.

"It's very tough and severe," Ohira said. "I calmly accept the outcome of the elections." Although Ohira's Liberal Democrats retained their status as Japan's largest political party, they failed to win a simple majority in the lower house of the Diet, the Japanese parliament.

With all 511 seats at stake decided, unofficial tabulations gave the ruling LDP 248 seats — far short of the 271 seats Ohira predicted it would win — and 8 short of a simple majority.

The result also represented a slight decline in the power of the party, which had held 249 seats in the old parliament.

In sharp contrast, the Communist Party made a spectacular comeback from its poor showing in the 1976 elections and captured 39 seats, a gain of 22.

TLC Works

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Tender loving care works.

Skeptical Ohio State University researchers have found good, old-fashioned TLC may be one of the best treatments for preventing atherosclerosis, the buildup of cholesterol in the body's arteries.

The researchers stumbled onto the find as they were studying the effects of certain diets in laboratory rabbits.

Two groups of rabbits were fed the same high-cholesterol diets, but the group which was cuddled, individually fed and talked to, fared much better.

At least 14 rabbits that received TLC showed only half the evidences of lesions, or injuries, in the aorta, which are considered to be the forerunner of heart disease. Startled by their findings, the researchers tried the experiments again several times, with identical results.

No Catch-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential adviser Alfred Kahn believes American wages are unlikely to catch up with rising prices in the coming year even if the administration's 7 percent wage guideline is raised. Under an agreement with the AFL-CIO, the administration is forming an advisory committee to recommend a new guideline for the program's second year which began Oct. 1.

"While I don't doubt the committee may be permitting wage increases of 7, 8, or 8.5 percent," Kahn said in an interview, "there's no concealing the fact that it's unlikely to keep up with the consumer price index."

His eyes reddened with fatigue, Pope John Paul II stands in his open car and waves at crowds as he arrives at Rome's Leonardo DaVinci airport this morning concluding a triumphant pilgrimage of peace to the United States and Ireland. (UPI photo)

Pope Ends Pilgrimage

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II, his face and eyes reddened with fatigue, returned from his pilgrimage of peace to the United States and Ireland Monday to a heroes welcome.

More than 5,000 people thronged St. Peter's Square, waving banners, cheering and applauding as the papal helicopter hovered over the tiny city-state.

Some Roman teen-agers who cut morning classes to see the pope, decided to skip the whole day after John Paul's arrival was delayed by airport ceremonies.

When the church is involved, our teachers are less scolding, said one 15-year-old boy. Anyway, by now they are used to it.

John Paul's TWA 747 jetliner Shepherd I touched down at Leonardo da Vinci airport in Rome at 9:31 a.m. (4:31 a.m. EDT) after a seven-hour, 39-minute flight from Washington.

"In this moment, after the unforgettable emotions of more than a week of liturgical celebrations and talks, I put my feet once again on the soil of beloved Italy, a sentiment of deep gratitude, joy and emotion raises my spirit towards the Lord," John Paul said in an arrival statement to the more than 500 people awaiting him.

Although aides said the 59-year-old pontiff slept through most of the flight, he appeared tired and ruddy-faced and rubbed his eyes several times during his brief statement.

The pontiff said he had spent several days in the United States at the request of President Carter and members of the Episcopate.

"That country has a great task and a great responsibility before it — precisely because of its high level of affluence and technical and social knowhow — to help build of a better world and a world more dignified for mankind," the pope said.

Italian Prime Minister Francesco Cossiga and Rome's new Communist Mayor Luigi Petroselli were among those on hand to cheer and welcome the pontiff home. The crowd included many travelers straining for a glimpse of the pope before their flights were called.

"I changed my flight to a later one to see him," said young Mary Blake of Rochester, N.Y. "After all, I missed him in the States and this may be my only chance ever."

Among members of the Vatican staff and diplomatic corps was Sister Maria-Teresa Balini.

"He was splendid, especially in Ireland," the tiny nun said. "We came with all our hearts to welcome him back. He will be one of the truly great popes."

An Italian helicopter took the pontiff on the brief flight to Vatican City. The pontiff ended his trans-Atlantic voyage, during which he was seen by more than 10 million people, with the ringing farewell: God Bless America. God Bless America.

His nine-day, 9,200-mile odyssey took him near bloody Ulster and to the marble splendor of the United Nations; from the squalid ghetto of Harlem to 1.5 million adoring pilgrims in Chicago; from the fertile farmlands of Iowa to the Oval Office of Jimmy Carter.

To every stop he carried his supplications for love and peace and begged America to help improve the lives of mankind's wretched.

More than 8 million Americans flocked to see him in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Des Moines, Chicago and Washington. Tens of millions of television viewers grew to admire the sturdy Pole with the benevolent, pacific countenance.

Sunday, at the magnificent National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, a lovefest occurred between a pope and a crowd that perhaps most eloquently but most simply symbolized the strength of feeling John Paul elicited.

"I love you," he said.

"We love you, we love you, we love you," they shouted back.

"Perhaps I love you more," he declared as the crowd went wild. "I love you more."

At Andrews Air Force Base, under an orange harvest moon hanging low in the western sky, Vice President Walter Mondale offered the nations official goodbye, calling John Paul a great poet who sings a hymn to life.

The pope responded with:

"My final prayer is this: that God will bless America so that she may increasingly become, and truly be and long remain, one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Olin Strikers Stop Management Convoy

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Striking workers at the Olin Corp. early today prevented a convoy of cars carrying salaried employees and management personnel from entering the main gate of the gun manufacturing facility.

Some of the vehicles got through. A woman reported she was struck on the leg by a passing automobile.

Negotiations aimed at averting a showdown at the plant broke off late Sunday night after a 5 1/2-hour meeting in Mayor Frank Logue's office.

Olin officials had said the plant would open today. The 1,350-member production workers union which struck July 15 pledged not to let scabs cross its picket lines.

But Logue said Olin agreed to postpone hiring replacements until Tuesday morning. He said said today he would try to have that deadline extended.

About 75 union members were meeting at an intersection a block from the main entrance today when they noticed cars entering the complex. About 20 employees rushed down the street to block any more cars from going through.

Earlier, a woman identified as Maja Krickler told police she was hit on the leg by a car that rushed past on its way to the main gate. A Yale-New Haven Hospital spokesman said she was treated and released.

Logue met in an impromptu session at dawn outside the plant with John Palmieri, business manager of Victory Lodge 609, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers. "We didn't say we settled the strike or won the ball game," Logue said. "We said we bought another day."

Palmieri argued the membership had not voted on the truce and it was therefore not effective.

Logue, who has been trying to get the warring sides to reach a settlement or a compromise, said neither side seems willing to take a risk on a contract.

They seem to prefer to take the risk in the streets, he said.

Logue ordered Olin's gates locked last Monday, when the striking employees set up picket lines to block the replacement workers hired by Olin. The union had scoffed at a back-to-work ultimatum issued by the company.

The mayor ordered the shutdown for four consecutive days, saying it was necessary to maintain peace in the community because he was sure there would be violence.

But New Haven Superior Court Judge Donald Dorsey ruled Thursday Logue didn't have the authority to order the plant virtually locked. Olin had filed a request before Dorsey for the injunction to set aside Logue's order.

Futile Attempt

Anti-nuclear protestors attempt to pull down, cut through and go over a chain-link fence around the Seabrook, N.H., nuclear power project Sunday, in a continuing attempt at occupying the project. Nineteen have been arrested by police for criminal trespass of the atomic power generating station under construction. (UPI photo)

Diehards Stay Near Seabrook

SEABROOK, N.H. (UPI) — With their ranks dwindling by the hour, the ragtag remnant of an anti-nuclear army today picketed outside the Seabrook nuclear power plant they had tried and failed to storm for two days.

Chill sea winds pushed temperatures into the 40s overnight. The discomfort, when combined with an increasing sense of disillusionment and frustration, sent all but a few hundred protesters packing their sleeping bags. More were expected to leave today. At the high point Saturday, some 2,000 demonstrators were at the site in this coastal New Hampshire town.

The diehards who stayed behind chanted and sang at the main gate of the plant, and begged their departing comrades to leave clothing behind.

For two days, the protesters tried to storm the unfinished Seabrook complex and turn it into a vegetable-growing commune. But each time they approached the barbed wire-topped fence around the plant, hundreds of helmeted state troopers from five New England states turned them back with Mace, clubs, fire hoses and attack dogs.

Twenty demonstrators were arrested.

We didn't have enough people to do an occupation, admitted Roxanne Elder, 23, an Austin, Texas, social worker who quit her job to come to Seabrook.

Some of the more militant wouldn't admit defeat, puzzling other demonstrators.

Some of these people are crazy, one protest leader said. They're saying Lets go after the fences again. But no one wants to get gassed, Maced or hit with clubs again.

Weariness had set in on both sides.

"I think everyone is tired," New Hampshire Attorney General Thomas Rath said Sunday after about 500 riot-equipped New England state troopers and National Guardsmen had successfully defended Seabrook a second day.

Throughout the weekend, disillusionment and desertion whittled away at the ranks of the anti-nuclear demonstrators who had vowed to capture the 120-acre Seabrook construction complex and turn it into an anti-nuclear village with vegetable victory gardens.

They began their protest Saturday 2,000 strong. But by nightfall Sunday, only a couple hundred stood chanting outside the main gate of the plant. Many had left to set up camp on private property. But most had gone home to California in some cases.

"Let's face it. We're not going to occupy the plant. They've just got too many troopers in there," said one of the protesters, who refused to give his name.

Leaders of the Boston-based Coalition for Direct Action, the militant anti-nuclear clique that organized the weekend protest, had hoped to lure 10,000 demonstrators to the site

Betty Says No

Betty Ford says don't look for her husband to be a candidate for the White House in the 1980 presidential nomination. Mrs. Ford was asked by reporters at a weekend fund-raising dinner at a private home in Riverside, Calif., if she would support her husband's bid for the White House. "I'm not sure," she said. "I'm not sure I'm not going to be a candidate."

Jumping the Snake

Remember the futile 1976 attempt of Evel Knievel to jump the Snake River Canyon in a rocket? It lingers in the courts. Knievel has been ordered by a judge in Twin Falls, Idaho to pay $75,000 to the owner of the property the daredevil used in the jump attempt. Knievel and the company formed to plan the ill-fated jump, Snake River Enterprises Inc., leased chemical toilets and other equipment from property owner O.K. Swenson. The items were destroyed by rioters who set them on fire after Knievel's attempt failed.

Hitler's Speech

Brands University has acquired a rare copy of a top-secret speech by Adolf Hitler in which he bragged he removed the Jews. Hitler delivered the speech to his top generals on June 22, 1944 - 16 days after the Normandy invasion. Only four copies of the 70-page speech were printed. The speech is part of a collection of more than 100 rare Nazi-era articles recently acquired by Brands.

Russian Leader Details Soviet Arms Reduction

BERLIN (UPI) - East Germany rolled out its latest weapons for celebratory marking 30 years as a communist-ruled state and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev used the occasion to announce a reduction in manpower and arms in central Europe. The unilateral cutback of ground forces planned by Brezhnev drew cautious reactions from NATO and White House officials, who noted it comes with conditions and may not be all it seems. North Atlantic Treaty Organization observers saw Brezhnev's speech as an attempt to stop a NATO-backed U.S. plan to deploy 572 nuclear-armed missiles in Western Europe to counter the Soviet medium-range missiles to which Brezhnev referred. In this way, Brezhnev could discourage European acceptance of the missiles without the Soviet Union signing a formal agreement limiting them. In Washington, Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, said there were some positive elements in the speech, referring to the troop reduction. "We have to recognize that the Soviet Union has an interest in forestalling Western efforts to upgrade our conventional and theater nuclear forces in order to achieve equality," he said Sunday on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers."

Castro Will Visit U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The State Department says Fidel Castro will visit the United Nations this week. His first such trip in almost 20 years - amid continuing tension over the stationing of Soviet troops in Cuba. We understand he will be coming in the middle of the week, a department spokesman said Sunday. But we don't have a precise date yet. It is not sure if that has been set by the State Department. The United States first learned of Castro's plans to attend the current U.N. General Assembly session when the Cuban government applied for a visa at the U.S. interests section in the Swiss Embassy in Havana, the spokesman said. A U.S. spokesman in New York said Cuban Ambassador Raul Roa Ruiz told Secretary General Kurt Waldheim Castro would attend the 39th annual session of the 93 nation bloc of non-aligned nations. It will be Castro's first trip to the United Nations since his celebrated 1960 trip shook up security men and angered U.S. diplomats. That week he visited the United Nations in Manhattan and the two communist leaders visited Harlem for a harangue against the United States. Relations between the two nations had warmed somewhat in recent years, but took a turn for the worse recently with the debate over Soviet troops in Cuba.

Raises, Abortion Costs Face House and Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House and Senate will try to resolve their differences this week on two controversial issues - pay raises for members of Congress and federal funding of abortions. Disagreement on the two issues has bogged down appropriations bills needed to keep a number of large government agencies from running out of money. The House meets Tuesday, ending a 10-day recess it began after rejecting a compromise funding plan offered by the Senate. The rejection left the federal agencies without funding for the fiscal year that began Oct. 1. The agencies have been able to coast for a few days, but the crunch is expected to be felt about midweek when the government gets ready to meet payroll and other obligations. Failure to pass a bill before the House could force the Carter administration to raise the federal automatic 12.9 percent pay increase to go into effect for members of Congress and top government officials. Funds for the increase, however, have not been appropriated and Congress is expected to roll back the anything from gases and liquids made of coal, to oil from shale, to fuels from wastes. The Senate Finance Committee members of Congress except when the life of the mother is endangered by pregnancy. The Senate opposes the move and wants to maintain the current provisions which allow Medicaid funds to pay for abortions if the mother would suffer severe and long-lasting health damage from childbirth, or in cases of promptly reported rape or incest. The abortion issue has proved the most difficult to resolve for the House. The first step in attempting to end the dispute will be up to the House Appropriations Committee, which is expected to be held about midweek. Walker, director of the colleges Afro-American Studies Program and one of those three black faculty members. At Colby College in this central Maine city of 18,000, there are only about a dozen blacks among the 1,700-member student body and English professor Debra McDowell, hired this year, is the only black on the 120-member faculty. The number of blacks at Bowdoin College in Brunswick is only slightly higher - 27 blacks among 3,500 students, down from 100 five years ago, and only three black professors.

Fourteen Die in Jet Crash

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) - A Swissair DC-8 jet with 154 people aboard overshot the runway at Athens airport and burst into flames on a golf course Sunday night, killing 14 people, police said today. Officials said the planes was carrying radioactive isotopes in its cargo. An airport spokesman said a seven-man team from the Greek nuclear research establishment Democritus had arrived to advise rescue workers on procedures for the removal of the isotopes. Police and investigators today removed the charred remains of the 14 passengers from the fuselage and began identification of the dead. A Swissair spokesman said it would confirm the figure of 14 dead only when identification had been completed. But a police spokesman said all 14 missing people had been accounted for with the removal of their bodies from the wreckage. The jetliner was carrying 142 passengers and 12 crew members. The plane ran off the end of the Hellenikon airport runway, next to the Glyfada golf course, where it crashed to a smoldering halt. In Geneva, the Swiss News Agency quoted the DC-8's captain, Georg Schmitz, as saying the condition of the runway was responsible for the accident. The aircraft was in good condition, he was quoted as saying. It is my opinion that the accident was caused by the condition of the runway. I did everything I could. I was unable to keep the aircraft on the runway. It skidded and refused to obey the brakes. The entire thing lasted only a few seconds. An airport worker said the victims may have been unable to get out of the plane because one of the emergency exit doors had failed to open. An airline spokeswoman said 14 persons were hospitalized with burns and shock, but none were critically injured. She said all crew members escaped injury. There was some confusion because some of the emergency exits wouldn't open, but they got the exits working and everyone was very orderly, said Guy Stafford, a journalist from Portsmouth, England. Some of the passengers were injured when one of the emergency chutes collapsed, officials said. Professor A.J. Zuckermann, a Swiss doctor on the staff of London University, criticized the emergency services for the passengers, saying in dealing with the injured at the airport, there was a disorganization of a magnitude I would not have thought possible. Minister of Communications Alexander Papadongonas said in an official statement that an investigating committee had started to examine the cause of the disaster, but did not expect any immediate results. The plane, Flight 318 bound for Bombay and Peking, flew in from Zurich and Geneva on schedule and made a normal landing approach at 10:16 p.m. an Athens control tower spokesman said.

Tornado Victims Gather For Ecumenical Service

WINDSOR (UPI) - Their neighborhood had been battered and lashed by a savage tornado which left two people dead and hundreds injured. But they still gathered together and gave thanks to God that it wasn't worse. They sang rousing choruses of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and were urged to emphasize hopes for the future, which had to be rebuilt upon pieces of rubble and debris left in the tornado's path. The special ecumenical service was held at St. Joseph's Church Sunday afternoon to give thanks that so few died in the storm, one church member said. About 400 people attended the service at the stately church in the Windsor Locks section of Windsor, one of the areas hit hardest by the fierce tornado which struck the town and Windsor Locks without warning Wednesday. Their neighbor, Gov. Ella Grasso told them the healing will be slow. But the healing has already begun. It was Frank Matthews, whose home was leveled by the storm, the focus of the service on optimism was what the people needed. The service could have dwelt on the death of two people and on the destruction, but it didn't. It left an upbeat attitude, something that was needed here, he said. The Rev. Steven McKinley of Christ the King Lutheran Church said the two deaths fill us all with unspeakable sorrow but said the people must be thankful that more lives weren't lost when the tornado hit. Meanwhile, state crews and National Guardsmen continued to clear roads in the two towns and Suffolk which were littered with brush and parts of buildings. Construction workers and heavy equipment were expected to move into the towns today to clean up mountains of debris piled up on roadsides and private property. Mrs. Grasso held a briefing with state and local officials before driving through the towns to check on cleanup work. Spokesman Larry DeBear said almost all power and telephone service had been restored in the area, with about 100 homes still without electricity. "We've reached a level of restoration that we wouldn't have dreamed of two days ago, Mrs. Grasso said. DeBear said 75 to 80 percent of the street-clearing work was completed by midday Sunday and the remainder was expected to be finished by evening. A crew of 225 state employees and 254 National Guardsmen were working on the roads. By late Sunday morning, 251 homeowners and 192 businessmen in the towns had applied for federal assistance, DeBear said. The cleanup operation today was being coordinated by the Connecticut Construction Industries Association in cooperation with operating engineers and several unions. State police spokesman John McLeod said traffic in the towns to area drivers and emergency services while the cleanup crews were working.

Lesniaski started teaching in Bolton in September, 1951, and was teaching Grade 6 students at the time of his retirement. The dinner is to thank him for his many years of service. Friends, former students, and townspeople are invited to attend.

Reservations must be made by Oct. 15 and may be made by calling Maureen Robenhymer at 649-0866; Marge Anderson, 742-6076; or Bolton Center School, 843-5186.

Lesniaski and his wife Alma have a son David who is currently working on his doctorate at the University of Minnesota.

Lesniaski served as acting principal, when necessary, under former Bolton principals John Senteo and George Petros.

He served on teacher negotiations committees, as science curriculum coordinator, student council advisor, on the drug advisory council, and on a committee for reading grants.

He was responsible for starting the science fair in Bolton and ran it from 1955 through 1970. He was also one of the ones who instituted the Field Day program in town now known as Athletic Day.

Property Must Be Declared

SOUTH WINDSOR - Tax Assessor Bert McNamara reminds residents that Oct. 1 was the town's assessment date and all personal property, with the exception of registered motor vehicles, should have been declared by that date.

Taxpayers on the 1978 Grand List were mailed personal property cards, McNamara said. Personal property owners who were not on the 1978 Grand List should pick up necessary papers at the assessor's office in Town Hall or phone to request mailing.

Personal property consists of such items as unregistered motor vehicles, snowmobiles, aircraft, machinery, horses, cattle, poultry, commercial furniture, boats, farming tools, fixtures and goods of traders. It is not necessary to declare real estate or registered motor vehicles.

New applications for Public Act 690 for preferential land assessment on farm and forest land must be made during the month of October. Annual filing is no longer required and owners need to file new applications only if there is a change in title or use of the land. During October, farmers may apply for exemption for livestock, poultry and machinery.

Candidate Meetings Planned

SOUTH WINDSOR - The South Windsor League of Women Voters will sponsor a meeting on Oct. 16 and another on Oct. 30 to give residents an opportunity to meet and question the candidates for the November election.

On Oct. 16 the Board of Education candidates will be the invited guests and on the 30th, the Town Council candidates. Both programs will be held in the council chambers of the Town Hall at 8 p.m.

The league is seeking relevant questions from the town residents and question boxes have been placed in various stores, businesses and public buildings throughout the town. Those who prefer to mail their questions to Dorothea Smith, League of Women Voters Service, 135 Scenic Meadow Road, Questions may be addressed to one or more specific candidates or the questions may be of a general nature. And questions may identify themselves, or not, as they wish. Questions from the floor will also be accepted at each meeting.

In addition to the question and answer period each candidate will be given time to summarize his or her position. At the close of the formal part of the program there will be an opportunity to meet the candidates in a non-structured situation.

Need Seen for Town Emergency Energy Account

By JOANNE MIKOLAIT
I strongly feel there is a need for town-funded Emergency Energy Account because many of our citizens, while exhibiting a documented need, do not qualify for any of the existing programs. The structure of the existing programs is inadequate to meet the need to provide a present due to conflicting legal programmatic boundaries.

State and federal energy programs have in the past assisted families whose income is at or below 125 percent of poverty. This ranges from $3,825 for a family of one to $10,300 for a family of six. Our concern is not only for those at or below the federal poverty guidelines but also for those included among the working poor and others on fixed incomes particularly the elderly. Often we find that their income is just a few dollars above poverty guidelines used in existing programs and they do not qualify for a new existing state or federal program.

In conjunction with the problem of aging and poverty lies a citizen's reluctance to ask for aid. Last winter the Manchester Area Conference of Churches assisted 25 families by guaranteeing payment for delivered and in the end had to help only 38 families pay for an oil delivery. This cost was $2,200. Given the increase in the price of oil and the fact that with C.O.D. deliveries we will not be able to use the guarantee system we have a real concern as to the number of people the Conference will be able to assist this winter given the need.

Between March and June 1979 I took 73 applications for the federal energy program. These applications represented a total of $8,300 for gas and lights. True, the utility companies will have a moratorium on shut-offs between Nov. 15 and March 31; these services will continue during the coldest months but spring comes and the moratorium is lifted and shut-offs occur rapidly. We went through the effects of this process last winter and some of those families are without service to this day.

We also filed 77,226 in oil bills which $6,465 was paid through the federal energy program. Due to the increase in the price of oil from about 60 cents to 90 cents a gallon this winter we would be looking at $9,700 to pay these same bills. As we look at the need for money, remember these were all people who qualified at or below 125 percent of poverty. What about those in need who will not qualify for the federal program? Also, because many oil dealers will not be allowing customers to charge their oil they are faced with having to pay for each delivery.

The MACC office has received 25 requests in the past two months totalling $5,500. This represents money owed from last winter to utility and oil companies. In Manchester we have had families go without hot water and in some cases without cooking facilities for the entire summer. As our greatest concern has been for the cold months ahead we have refused the majority of these requests, paying only $350 in cases where there was a health problem or very young children. We have in cases arranged to maintain utility service or a turn on of service without money payment but as we look at the need for this winter one should realize that last year's need has been met to date.

The overall need for an emergency energy fund is very complex with many variables. I would say that the need for money will be at least $10,000 and possibly $20,000 to $25,000.

In summary:
1. People above the 125 percent of poverty are going to need fuel assistance due to rising costs.
2. Because of the way the state and federal programs are structured and the timing of them, people at or below 125 percent of poverty will need assistance.

3. This is a community problem. The Conference of Churches will continue its fuel bank but we do not envision having the funds to meet the need.
4. Because of oil dealers require cash on delivery people will be short the necessary dollars.
5. We presently have 25 requests from families and since the majority of these are new families to use there is no way for us to provide the funds to totally meet the need for help with utility and oil bills.
6. In conjunction with town staff and other community agencies the Conference has given this issue many hours of study. Now is the time to act so that we go into the winter knowing that all available resources (state, federal, town and community) have been explored and coordinated to meet needs as efficiently and humanely as possible.
What we as citizens of Manchester can do is make every effort we can to conserve. Conservation, be it winterization efforts or turning the thermostat down, will save dollars.
The other way people can help is to send a contribution to the fuel bank. This will allow us to assist those in greatest need. Checks can be sent to MACC Fuel Bank, P.O. Box 772, Manchester. Thank you to those who have contributed in the past.

Famous Brand Children's Clothing for Less.

Once upon a time, Moms used to dress their little girls and boys up in beautiful playthings and dress clothes. But times passed, costs went up, and Mom had to start buying less clothing, and couldn't afford real good quality anymore. We think little boys and girls deserve to wear nice clothing, so we're helping Moms buy them more easily.

You see, at Children's Wear-House, Moms find the children's and pre-teens' brands they love to buy and prices that can easily afford. We thought children's clothing cost too much... so we brought the prices down. So now, little girls and boys can play together happily ever after in good, old fashioned quality clothing at old fashioned prices.

Lawrence Archambault of Nathan Hale Road, Coventry, was killed early Saturday morning as fire destroyed his home.

Fire Kills Coventry Man

COVENTRY - A fire, reported shortly after midnight Sunday, took the life of Lawrence Archambault, 72, of Nathan Hale Road and also seven of his dogs. Local and state fire officials have traced the cause of the fire to a kerosene space heater which was apparently placed too close to combustible materials.

Archambault was pronounced dead on arrival at Windham Community Memorial Hospital and his four-room house was extensively damaged. Authorities said...

Castro Kneels To U.S.S.R., Cuba is Soviet Beachhead

WASHINGTON — Scarcely a decade ago, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was portrayed in intelligence reports as an undisciplined, flamboyant firebrand who sought to stir up revolutions throughout Latin America.

But the process has been so gradual that, though it hasn't gone unnoticed, it has not alarmed the surrounding governments. Cuba was even accepted last month as the host for a gathering of non-aligned nations.

Now he is described as a subdued old fox who has completely sold out to the Soviets. He still has flashes of what one report calls a "tropical temper." But he submits to the Kremlin with "a careful mixture of adulation, confidence and ostensible humility."

This dramatic change in Castro may help explain what is happening in Cuba today. The Caribbean country has come under the Soviet thumb: the secret dispatches are explicit about that. Indeed, the Russians are transforming Cuba into a Soviet beachhead in the Western Hemisphere.

Newspapers Compared To Cafeteria Menu

By JERRY ZUBROD, President, Newspaper Association Managers

This year's theme for National Newspaper Week — "Your Newspapers — Something for Everyone" — is somewhat like the menu in a food cafeteria.

"I was wondering if we could just skip the pension plan and take it all out in gold watches?"

Congressional Quarterly Formidable Obstacles For Third Parties

By RHODES COOK

WASHINGTON — Although the Democratic and Republican parties are apparent decline, efforts by ambitious third parties to fill the vacuum in the American political scene probably will be unsuccessful in 1980.

Thoughts

"I find then a law, that, when I would do good, evil is present with me. For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from the body of this death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin."

Conservation Seen as Key to Energy Future

DellaFera Questions Role of Cummings

MANCHESTER - Gloria DellaFera, Republican candidate for the Board of Directors for the first time, has asked why Ted Cummings, Democratic Town Committee chairman, seems to be, in her opinion, the spokesman for the mayor, deputy mayor, and the rest of the party. "Why does such a man find it necessary," she said, "to appoint himself solely responsible for running this town and all of its departments and political subdivisions opposed without challenge or disagreement in principle by the other members of the Democratic Party? Surely, they must disagree with some of his dictates."

Mrs. DellaFera's statement does not mention Cummings by name. "When he does run up against disagreement, he either resorts to forming non-profit political committees, launches savage attacks against his own party members, or, most famous of all, institutes suits within the various areas of the town," she said. "I implore the voters of Manchester to exercise the most precious right you have and, when this opportunity presents itself on Nov. 6th, give serious consideration to the genuine issues at hand, which have been so glaringly apparent." Mrs. DellaFera charged.

"One is the failure of the Democratic Town Chairman and the Democratic majority of the Board of Directors to recognize the desires of the people they serve and the second is their pretentious attitude toward the electorate as typified by the mayor's comment following the voters' majority ruling on the April 17th Referendum. They made a mistake."

Vernon Cops Probe Death - VERNON - The Special Services Unit of the Vernon Police Department is investigating the death of Timothy L. Miller, 25, of Morrison St., Rockville.

Police said they were called Friday by Phillip Cormier, also of 13 Morrison St., who reported finding his roommate had died sometime during the night, in his bed.

The medical examiner ordered the body removed to Rockville General Hospital for an autopsy, police said.

GOP Suggests Cable TV Broadcast League Event

MANCHESTER - Republican Town Chairman Richard Weinstein has suggested a Cable TV broadcast of the League of Women Voters Meet the Candidates event, and while Communication Co-ordinator Jay April believes the idea is good he also believes the town's cable equipment is such that a technically superior program would be achieved if done in the studio.

Weinstein sent his suggestion in a letter to April late last week, in an effort to put a stop to charges by the Democratic town chairman that Republicans are being selective in their efforts to acquaint voters with the candidates and the issues. When April approached both party leaders with his plan for a live call-in program with municipal candidates the Democratic chairman backed the plan, while the Republican chairman did not.

The rejection by the Republicans prompted Ted Cummings, Democratic Chairman to accuse the program with municipal candidates the Democratic chairman backed the plan, while the Republican chairman did not.

Hornets Whip Penalty-Plagued Manchester

Manchester Coach Jim Dakin said, "I don't know, I don't know what the problem is," voiced puzzled Manchester Coach Jack Holk about his club's troubles with penalties. "We stressed all week we had them running. We went over the staff countless, countless times. We have our best people in there but they're not doing the job," he added in frustration.

A two-point safety with 4:49 left in the third stanza brought the Silk Towners within a touchdown at 13:8. Manchester nose guard Don Beckman crashed into Hornet signal-caller Peter Mott who lost control but running back Scott Plenske alertly fell on it in the end zone to preserve East Hartford's lead.

"After the safety, the game was in doubt," Dakin agreed. The Indians received the free kick sent by Coach Tom Nebo. It took setting them up at the midfield stripe. A Paul McCluskey to Tom McCluskey screen pass on third-and-10 appeared to give the locals a big first down but holding, a six-time violation in the 6-0 loss to Penney, set them back 23 yards. They never recovered.

"We didn't take advantage of our opportunities," Holk stated. "The holding—that was the big play of the game. That was the turning point in the fourth quarter they owned us." East Hartford, indeed, in the final quarter behind the line of Frank Jones, Ken Kasavage, Scott Cormier, Tom Tuller and Rich Coburn controlled the line of scrimmage. It put together a 73-yard, 14-play drive and 43-yard march following an interception. Scott Chadwick, who rushed 32 times for 120 yards, capped both with TD runs of 1 and 3 yards.

"On the long drive we tried everything to stop them but..." Holk offered. "We started a crusade to get in the best condition we can. We know we don't have the size to slug it out. We are trying to be a fourth quarter team," Dakin related. "Two mistakes on the kicking game" enabled the Hornets to hold a 13-4 halftime lead. A fumbled punt was recovered by Hornet Ted Marsh at the Manchester 32 and that was converted into a 10-yard Mott to Terry Earle TD on a flanker screen. Mott fired quickly to Earle in the left flat, and the latter allowed his wave of blockers to clear a path to the end zone. Dan Pandiccia added the first of two PAT boots for a 7-0 lead when he hit the first stanza remaining.

Ray Tilden's 19-yard interception return in the second quarter set up Manchester's lone touchdown. The Indians, behind two key 14-yard runs by Paul McCluskey, drove 51 yards with the junior signal-caller tossing 6 yards to Jim Groh. The extra point, try, however, was wide to the left leaving East Hartford in front.

The Indians, after regaining possession, had a fourth-and-one at the Hornet 44 but elected to punt. That decision turned out to be disaster as the snap flew over Shawn Spears' fingertips with his knee touching down on his own 32. It took the Hornets five plays to score with John Barlie on a crossback goal aggressive. It's getting more confidence back there." The Indians behind pint-sized reserve sophomore quarterback John Haggarty, who hit 3 of 4 tries averaged the shutout but Milligan scored from 4 yards out with less than four minutes remaining against East's reserves.

"The seniors were disappointed I put the youngsters in so soon. They wanted the shutout but I felt it was time to put them in. They work hard. The seniors are probably mad at me," Kelly grumbled. "The youngsters were coming with eight people who we had to pass," Kelly explained. "That was the thing to do. You try to run your offense with what they're giving you."

We're getting better balance offenses. They're doubling on Freehite so we went to Tully trying to catch for 31 yards. We're (two) to get a total offense. The execution on offense is getting better so we're getting to a point where we can do what we want." More-and more is being added. Just like the architect marked on the blueprint.

Tough Chieftains Rough Up Penney

Conard High forced seven Penney High turnovers, four which resulted in touchdowns, as the Chieftains smothered the Black Knights, 48-6, in CCHL football action Saturday in West Hartford.

Penney slipped out of first place in the league and stands 2-1, in a six-way tie for the second spot, and is 3-1 overall. Conard is 2-1 in the CCHL and overall.

The Chieftains' first score was set up by a Knight fumble with Mike Jones scoring on a 3-yard run and Carl Jackson adding the first of seven PATs.

On their next possession, it took the Chieftains four plays to score with quarterback Ron Morander, who received good pass protection from his line all day, rifling an 18-yard pass to Mike Thompson.

"We can run and pass because we have a good passer in Morander," praised Conard Coach Bob McKee. Morander proved that as he was 11-for-18 for 151 yards and three TDs. His chief receivers were Thompson and Kirk Schroll, the latter catching three passes for 37 yards. Thompson also had three receptions for 39 yards.

Conard added two scores in the second period as Morander connected with flanker Jones on an 11-yard pass and senior tailback Cliff O'Brien scored on a 7-yard run. The latter TD was set up by a Cubby Martin interception.

Penney's lone score, right before the halftime break, was on a 9-play, 59-yard, 55-second march. Senior quarterback Dino Peruccio hit senior halfback Mark Anderson for a 9-yard

"Our team unity won the game for us today," McKee interjected. "If we don't bounce back, we will not win another game this year." Penney Coach Ted Kurek stated. "The Knights' next outing is against Permi High Saturday in Eastford at 1:30.

Offensive plays 65, First downs 11, Yds. rushing 253, Yds. passing 153, Total yards 406, Passing 12-20, Interceptions by 5, Fumbles lost 0, Yds. penalized 85.

Tomahawks Bounce Back with Victory - Glastonbury High bounced back from last week's shutout loss to Bloomfield with a 17-6 victory over Windsor Locks in CVC football action Saturday in Windsor Locks.

The victory evened the Tomahawks' conference mark at 1-1 and overall standard at 2-2 while the Raiders, who got on the scoreboard for the first time this year, now stand 0-2 in the CVC and 0-4 overall. Glastonbury opened the scoring midway through the first quarter on a drive which consumed 80 yards. It was capped by quarterback D.J. Patenaude's 1-yard plunge and the PAT made it 7-0.

The Tomahawks added a second score in the second quarter on a 35-yard Patenaude to Brad Barlow air strike.

Windsor Locks fought back in the third stanza as it put together a 71-yard scoring drive that was completed by Brian Claffey's 1-yard drive. Jim Delamastro's 25-yard field goal in the final cant completed the scoring for Glastonbury.

"Our offensive line showed us something today," Glastonbury Coach Ray Nicoletta stated. "They

Area Elevens Suffer Losses

It was not a good afternoon Saturday for area gridiron elevens as South Windsor High found itself on the short end of a 52-20 score to powerful Newington High while Rocky Hill was bumped by Bloomfield High, 28-14, in Central Valley Conference play.

Quarterback Todd Picard completed 10 of 26 passes for 123 yards and scored twice and Larry Stellman tallied on a 5-yard run to lead the South Windsor effort. The Bobcats started 1-1 in the conference and 2-2 overall. It was the conference opener for Newington, which is 3-0 overall. The Indians rolled up 617 yards including 404 on the ground while the Bobcats had 391 total yards in the wide-open affair.

Russ Oeser and Rich Niemczyk tallied TDs for Rockville, which fell to 0-1 in the CVC and 1-2-1 overall with the setback. Bloomfield, led by quarterback Mark Morawski's two TD passes, is atop the CVC standings at 2-0 and is 2-2 overall. Morawski added a third six-pointer on a 1-yard plunge.

Pair Just Miss - AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI) - Tire failures prevented two motor racing giants of the past 25 years, Stirling Moss and Denny Hulme, from winning the 5 1/2-hour saloon car race at the Pakoake circuit Sunday.

After blowing two tires, their VW Golf GTI finished 12 feet behind the winning team, local drivers Rod Cooper and Jerry Clayton. Moss and Hulme have occasionally come out of retirement to race in selected events.

Borg in Exhibition - HONG KONG (UPI) - Wimbledon singles finalist Bjorn Borg will play an exhibition match in Canton next month, a local newspaper said Sunday.

The Swedish tennis star is making the Chinese trip at the invitation of an international sporting goods manufacturer, said the Chinese language Wen Wei Pao.

Monday SOCCER - MCC at Brown, 1:30 - CROSS COUNTRY - Manchester / East Catholic / Manchester girls at Koff.

Lectures Set On PBS Plays

STORRS - The two Shakespeare plays to be broadcast this fall by the Public Broadcasting System will be analyzed in four lectures by a University of Connecticut English professor as part of a non-credit course.

The series will begin on Oct. 17, from 7 to 9 p.m., and run four consecutive Wednesday evenings through Nov. 7, under the auspices of UConn's Office of Non-Credit Programs.

The lecturer will be Professor Charles A. Owen Jr., a member of the UConn English department since 1946, and chairman of the Medieval Studies Program since 1975.

His first lecture, a general introduction, will discuss Elizabethan theater, and Shakespeare's career as an actor, dramatist, and poet. He will preview the first play, "Romeo and Juliet," written during Shakespeare's first period of success as a playwright.

The second lecture will discuss highlights of "Romeo and Juliet," including how the elements of chance add up to fate, the primacy of women, and the play's relationship to "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The following lecture will introduce "Julius Caesar," the importance of Roman plays to Shakespeare's development, the Roman world as presented by the play, whether the drama is history or tragedy, and whether Caesar's murder is assassination or tyrannicide.

The final lecture will discuss highlights of "Julius Caesar," Shakespeare's use of verse as a dramatic vehicle, his use of prose, and the importance of conflict between the characters. He also will talk about thematic concerns and the imagery that expresses them, and the relation of the two plays to Shakespeare's great tragedies.

The plays will be broadcast by PBS on Oct. 20 and Nov. 3.

Registration and fee information is available by calling 486-2324 or by writing to the UConn Office of Non-Credit Programs, Box U-56D, Storrs 06268.

Sturbridge Has Openings

STURBRIDGE, Mass. - Opportunities in museum teaching, archaeology, library science, textile care and public information are among the new volunteer positions now available at Old Sturbridge Village, the living history center announced today.

At Old Sturbridge Village, which authentically recreates the everyday lives of rural New Englanders of the early 19th century, historically-costumed interpreters use the tools and techniques of 150 years ago. Visitors can see the on-going everyday life of the men and women who lived and worked when America was young.

The museum houses extensive collections of early New England artifacts and operates an active museum education program serving more than 100,000 students each year.

Individuals with specific skills are invited to volunteer at Old Sturbridge Village. For example, sewing or clerical experience, or command of a foreign language can always be put to use.

Volunteer work can be used to acquire new skills as well. Each applicant's skills and interests are matched, as closely as possible, with positions available at the village. Each volunteer receives appropriate training and works closely with museum staff.

White learning new skills and participating in village activities, volunteers enjoy special privileges. A volunteer may tour the village without charge during regular hours and receive a yearly pass for three

University of Hartford Plans Historical Drama

WEST HARTFORD - Elizabeth I, Paul Foster's historical drama set to contemporary form and style, will be presented at the University of Hartford Thursday through Sunday, Oct. 18 to 21, in the Lincoln Theater.

Performances Thursday through Saturday will be at 8 p.m., while Sunday's show is at 2 p.m. The drama is being presented by the University Players, student theater company.

"Elizabeth I" will open the University Players' 1979-80 season. Other productions will include Beckett's "Waiting for Godot," Dec. 6 to 9; "Man of La Mancha," March 6 to 9, and "Waltz of the Toreadors," by Jean Anouilh, April 24 to 27. Two of the productions will be staged at the Lincoln Theater and two others will be presented at the Auerbach Auditorium, also on the university campus.

Society Sets Antique Show

COVENTRY - The Coventry Historical Society will sponsor its 11th annual antique show and sale on Oct. 27 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the library of the Middle School, The Monday meeting date was changed because of the holiday.

The board will be asked to approve the appointment of Miss Karen Colgan of Winsted as vocal music teacher at the Maple Street School. She will replace Christine Bendaralis who resigned.

The board will also hear reports regarding the activities of the Rockville High School Vocational Agricultural Center and one on the safety patrol program.

The board will also discuss the evaluation of the superintendent and the board members, review and update the board calendar; and then go into executive session to take action on a report of the Personnel Policies Committee.

The public is allowed to ask questions or comment on any agenda item during the citizens forum portion of the meeting.

Musical To Premiere

NEW HAVEN - Mike Nichols will direct and Tommy Tune choreograph a new four-character musical, "Partners," as the third production of Long Wharf Theatre's season.

Book, music and lyrics for "Partners" are by Jeffrey Moss, an award-winning composer and lyricist who was one of the originators of "Sesame Street."

"Partners" begins performances Nov. 21 and will play through Dec. 23, replacing the presently announced "Romeo and Juliet."

The Long Wharf season began Oct. 4 with Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine," and continues with the American premiere of "Jitters" by David French opening in Stage II on Oct. 16.

Lambert Joins Hub Orchestra

VERNON - Dennis Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Lambert of Homelock Drive, Vernon, a junior at Boston University, has been selected as principal trombonist with the Boston Civic Orchestra.

Lambert, a graduate of Rockville High School, was a recipient of a scholarship from Boston University, to study at Tanglewood this past summer. At Tanglewood he studied with the principal members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and performed in "Tanglewood on Parade."

Before going to Tanglewood Lambert performed with the Boston Pop Orchestra.

He is active in the music programs at the university where he is majoring in music performance. He is one of the principal trombonists with the Boston University Symphony Orchestra. While at Rockville High School he was also a member of that school's band.

The Commonwealth Brass Quintet, formed by Lambert in his freshman year at the university, is very active performing professionally throughout the Greater Boston area.

'Twelfth Night'

Shakespeare's comedy of mistaken identities, "Twelfth Night," as played by the National Players, will be performed Tuesday at Welles Auditorium at Central Connecticut State College, New Britain. For tickets, call the Student Center Box Office at 827-7335. Pictured are Ellen Dorscher as Viola and Tom Aldridge as Malvolvo.

Square Dance Set Wednesday Night

SOUTH WINDSOR - The South Windsor Square Dance Club is inviting all of those who were unable to attend last Wednesday's square dance last night, because of the severe storm, to a repeat invitation for this Wednesday.

The affair will be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Wapping Community Center.

Fellowships Offered

HARTFORD - For the first time in its history, the Connecticut Commission on the Arts will pilot a three-year fellowship program enabling a limited number of artists of outstanding talent to set aside up to a year and to obtain up to $10,000 each in order to pursue their careers as artists.

Eligible in year one of the pilot are visual artists (painters, sculptors, photographers and graphic artists) who have
