

New Service Proposed To Assist Government

MANCHESTER — Mrs. Weinberg, a Democratic candidate for the Board of Directors, has proposed the establishment of a volunteer service organization to assist the town government which she would call VIM, or "Volunteers in Manchester."

"I would like to tap that invaluable resource of the citizens in our town who could volunteer their services to assist the community," Weinberg said. "It would be one very good way to increase the town's ability to provide more comprehensive governmental services without any appreciable expenditures."

Mrs. Weinberg gave two examples of how volunteers could be used in local government. She said that Town Auditor Jerome I. Baskin recently recommended the compilation of policies and procedures in the accounting and finance operations of the various town agencies.

This could not be accomplished, however, because town employees were already fully occupied in the day-to-day activities of those offices. Mrs. Weinberg proposes that talented volunteers could be recruited to perform that service under the supervision of town employees.

Another area where Mrs. Weinberg feels that volunteers could be put to good use is in the teaching of English to non-English speaking children. She said that while area churches and the school system's own volunteer program have already made inroads in this area, there is a tremendous need for assistance in this regard.

Mrs. Weinberg added that she was certain that many of the town's agencies could benefit from the assistance of volunteers, and that she believed that an untapped pool of talent existed in town among its retirees, students, and housewives.

"I'm not talking about replacing regular employees with volunteers or eliminating paid town positions in favor of non-paid personnel," Mrs. Weinberg emphasized. "What I am suggesting, however, is that we extend the capabilities of our local government and perform that which otherwise would not be performed through the donated services of

Hillary J. Gallagher Zinsser Names Campaign Aide

MANCHESTER — Attorney Hillary J. Gallagher has been named principal campaign treasurer in the re-election campaign of Town Director Carl A. Zinsser. This will be the third election that he will have held that position. Gallagher, a former member of the Board of Directors and the most recent Charter Revision Commission. He is a member of the Republican Town Committee.

Others serving on Mr. Zinsser's campaign committee are deputy treasurers Ralph Gray and Ellen Zinsser. Campaign organizers include Marion Mercer, Neil and Pat Lawrence, Kathy Mitchell, Don and Ann Valente, Linda Gray, Art and Judy Pyka.

911 Getting Crank Calls
MANCHESTER — The new 911 emergency phone system has had its share of crank calls, according to the Manchester Police Department. Police reported several harassing phone calls over its emergency system Tuesday. The calls were traced to a pay telephone at East Catholic High School, police said. School officials were notified and they promised to monitor the area.

Zinsser Criticizes Brochure

MANCHESTER — Carl Zinsser, Republican candidate for re-election to the Board of Directors, said Wednesday that "the Democratic party is distributing a brochure which overstates their record over the past two years."

Zinsser said at the statement in the Democratic literature that states, "Forty more elderly housing apartments were constructed at Spencer Village and another forty units are on the way."

"With a waiting list of over 250, not only is this too little too late but because of ineffective leadership by a Democratic controlled Board of Directors and Housing Authority, the taxpayers have had to pay inflated prices."

Zinsser said a case in point is the 40 initial Spencer Village units. "On Sept. 28, 1978, on a motion by the Controller Nathan Agostinelli, the state bond commission awarded Manchester $940,000 to construct those units. It was not until June of 1977 that construction started. It took nearly four years and an additional $500,000 to get that project off the ground," he said.

Zinsser said he wrote a letter to then Mayor Matthew Morarity Jr. on Feb. 15, 1977 in which he stated, "I believe it is about time our Board of Directors started showing a little statesmanship and got this project off the ground. If the people on the Housing Authority can't get the job done then they should resign."

Zinsser said on Feb. 26 of 1977 he wrote to the Chairman of the Housing Authority informing him of additional funds available to build additional units for the people needing housing. "Once again, the housing authority wasted valuable time and it was months before the application was filed. More time was wasted during late 1978 and early 1979 as now we are told construction will not begin until 1980."

Zinsser said, "We can no longer allow delays like this to occur with the cost of living rising at a record 12 percent per year. The time has come to turn the reins over to a Republican majority that will get the job done."

Rham Math Team First
HEBRON — The Rham High School Math Team recently finished first in the Greater New London County Math League contest.

Scott Richards and Mark Reichelt, juniors, led the team finishing first and second respectively in the contest which involved 45 students. Other Rham team members are Sharon Reynolds, senior; Arvo Sismets, junior; and Mark Mastandrea, freshman.

New Charges
HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — New Britain Deputy Fire Chief Robert Hackett faces two additional charges stemming from his alleged role in the city's growing municipal corruption scandal.

Hackett, a New Britain firefighter for nearly three decades, Thursday was charged with first-degree larceny by extortion and conspiracy to commit first-degree larceny by extortion.

Hackett pleaded innocent in Hartford Superior Court to the two new counts and to five earlier charges, including larceny, bribery and forgery.

Oil Supply
NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Petroleum Institute says the nation's stocks of home heating oil and other distillate fuels reached 230 million barrels last week — less than 10 million barrels short of President Carter's 240 million barrel target for Oct. 31.

Other published reports said Energy Department statistics show the oil industry already has stockpiled 240 million barrels of distillate, used for home heating oil, diesel fuel and kerosene.

Oil industry analysts, however, said government statistics normally run higher than the API figures, which are based solely on supplies in primary storage before they move out to the distributor and the consumer.

The DOE calculates inventories by taking into account fuel in primary storage, the dealer's tank and the consumer's home, analysts said.

Castro Protest
NEW YORK (UPI) — Anti-Castro Cuban exiles promised massive demonstrations at the United Nations today during Cuban President Fidel Castro's address to the General Assembly.

About 75 members of the anti-Castro group known as Alpha-66 Thursday night carried placards outside the Cuban Mission to the United Nations reading, "Cuba is a Soviet satellite," and chanted, "Fidel, go to hell," and "Human Rights for Cuba."

Alpha-66 president, Nazario Sarjen, 59, of Miami, predicted up to 10,000 protesters will demonstrate outside the U.N. building today. "If they provoke us, we will retaliate with strength," he said.

Baez Visit
BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — American folk singer Joan Baez flew to the Cambodian border today with a film crew to dramatize the plight of thousands of "land people" who have fled Cambodia since the 1975 communist takeover.

The anti-war activist planned to helicopter to four refugee camps crowded with undernourished mothers and children and Khmer Rouge soldiers who dropped their arms and fled before Vietnamese troops led attacks on their hideouts.

She said that during her visit she wants to listen and record the refugees' stories on film for a half-hour documentary to be aired in the United States.

Energy Briefs
Washington: Despite premature cold and snow in some parts of the country, poor people will have to wait until at least January before receiving government aid for their soaring fuel bills, HEW officials said.

Doha, Qatar: Qatar's oil minister said Thursday Qatar will maintain the current price of its oil but will comply with any decision OPEC takes during its meeting in December, the Qatari news agency reported.

Top U.S., British Scientists Astonished at Winning Prize
STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Two scientists from the United States and Britain, who unknowingly worked toward the same goal, said they were astonished to win the 1979 Nobel Prize for medicine for a "breakthrough" X-ray technique that can be used to fight cancer.

Alan MacLeod, Cormack, 55, of Winchester, Mass., and Godfrey Newbold Hounsfield, 60, of Britain, were awarded the prize Thursday for their work on the X-ray scanner, a device that uses computers to enhance X-rays and produce photographs of unprecedented quality.

"It is the most important medical breakthrough since the discovery of penicillin," said Hounsfield. "It's fantastic — you've knocked me sideways. I didn't expect anything like that."

Grasso Schedules Energy Session

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso, after repeated calls from various groups for an immediate special session, is bringing the Legislature back Halloween day to find heat for Connecticut families this winter.

Mrs. Grasso said she has a "number" of proposals on the drawing board for the Oct. 31 session, including low interest loans for small oil dealers. She said she will go over them Wednesday with Democratic legislative leaders.

The governor, in a surprise news conference in the Capitol press room Thursday, said setting the date when she did had nothing to do with Republican moves hours earlier to try and call a session without her.

"I am responding to the ongoing work we've been developing over a period of time," said Mrs. Grasso. Earlier, the closest she came to naming a day was only to say the session would be held before the end of the year.

The House Republicans met earlier Thursday and signed letters which, if a majority of the Democrat-controlled Legislature had supported, would have forced the Legislature to State to call an immediate session.

"It's hard to say, isn't it?" asked House Minority Leader R.E. Van Norstrand, R-Durham, when asked whether he thought the governor's announcement was prompted by the Republican caucus. "Certainly the timing is there."

Van Norstrand and the other 23 Republicans at the caucus also had voted to demand Mrs. Grasso scutt her year's $2.4 billion budget and find $10 million for emergency fuel assistance.

There was a chorus of agreement when Rep. Eugene Migliari, R-Wolcott, claimed Grasso administration talk about a fat-free budget was "hogwash" and that her fiscal experts were squirreling away dollars for a 1980 surplus.

The governor said in announcing the special session the issues probably will be confined to fuel-related topics, but the Legislature also could take up outstanding state energy contracts.

Mrs. Grasso declined to say what her energy package contains, but did say it will have a low-interest loan program for smaller oil dealers who can't afford conventional bank credit.

Her plan, she said, is similar to a $60 million fund set up by the Carter administration and administered through the Small Business Administration. Dealers can obtain loans at 4.25 percent and have 30 years to pay them back.

The governor said she might use short term notes or bonding for the loans, but would not increase or raise taxes to find the estimated $10 million for emergency fuel aid.

The sum hinges on receiving $12 million in federal funds.

Mrs. Grasso was asked why she needed a special session if she only planned to raise the budget.

"There are areas where special legislation is needed to make them operative," she said. The governor clear whether the caller was mistaken in referring to a British diplomat or whether the gunman shot at the wrong car.

According to police, the ambassador's son, driving through The Hague, was shot at close range by a dark-skinned man with a handgun standing at an intersection. Eyewitnesses said the gunman fled on foot.

Police said the gunman fired four to six shots at the victim's car, and the vehicle rolled over a small bridge and came to rest against a parked car.

The Turkish Embassy refused to answer any questions about the incident and all calls to the ambassador's home were referred to the Dutch Foreign Office.

Officials Probe Four Day Week

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso today instructed officials to check with state employee unions and see which Connecticut agencies could convert to a four-day work week to conserve heating fuel.

The governor told Administrative Services Commissioner Elisha Freedman and personnel director Sandra Bilion "to begin conversations with representatives of state employee union groups to develop possible four-day work weeks for state employees in areas where it's feasible," spokesman Larry deBeauvoir said.

State departments that are unlikely to be able to change from a five-day to four-day work week, deBeauvoir said, are state police and employees in health-related areas, such as state hospitals.

"The purpose is to provide a fiscal response by the state to the increasing cost of energy in state facilities," deBeauvoir said. "They will be beginning these conversations post haste."

He said he had no idea when the four-day work week would be instituted or in what departments.

GOP Directors Cautions About Help in CD Suit

MANCHESTER — Republican Town Directors Peter DiRosa, William Diana and Carl Zinsser said today they were rather astonished by the recent proposal of Democratic Mayor Cassano concerning seeking assistance from CROCG, especially after Cassano had previously refused this same approach within the last couple of months.

On a prepared statement, the three directors said, "Our position has been and will continue to be that Manchester develop an aggressive posture rather than a defensive one. While we cautiously approved the Democratic proposal to discuss the financial aid from CROCG can be heard on October 24, and we have so notified Director Penny."

"It is obvious that the two persons most singly responsible for many of the complications in the HUD lawsuit are Directors Cassano and Penny. They were, after all, the staunchest supporters of HUD. They sponsored and passed through the Board of Directors the Housing Assistance Plan, to Housing Brochure, the Equal Housing Coordinator, Wilbur Smith, the Fifth Year CDA Grant Application, and rejected the HUD referendum in December, 1978.

"Further, it was the proponents of HUD who first brought the question of racism into this most complex question involving self-rule for the Town of Manchester."

"In conclusion, we feel that the HUD lawsuit must be fully controlled by the Town of Manchester and any outside influence. The political flip-flops such as reflected in Director Cassano's stand do not bring to this issue by the type of personal conviction and consistency required by the serious nature of the challenge."

He later received decision on a petition by the Justice Department to reinstate the freeing of Efran Caban, Pedro Rosado and Raymond B. Velez and ordered both sides to submit written briefs by Wednesday.

The treaty bars U.S. judges from voiding Mexican sentences. But Daly said he originally decided to release the men because evidence showed they were severely tortured and their lives endangered while in Mexican prisons.

U.S. Attorney Richard Blumenthal said Mexico's attorney general has told the highest officials in the State Department that Mexico will not renew the prisoner exchange pact which expires in December 1980 unless Daly's decision is reversed.

The amendment was offered to a bill authorizing $5.9 billion for the Department of Energy and various energy programs.

Moffett charged U.S. oil companies had taken advantage of world price increases to raise the price of oil already being pumped out of the ground from $6 to $23 a barrel. However, the cost of producing that oil has remained constant, he said.

However, opponents led by Rep. Timothy Wirth, D-Colo., said that the extra money is needed to spur domestic production.

"The era of cheap and abundant oil is over," Wirth said.

Clone Tone Marks Birthday

Omni magazine celebrated its first birthday Thursday with a party under the sky dome at New York's Hayden Planetarium, and Isaac Asimov was the star of the show. He crowned his "Clone Song" ("Oh give me a clone of my own flesh and bone, with its 'Y' chromosome changed to 'X'") to associate publisher Kathy Keeton who, in the role of his sex-changed clone, wore the Asimov trademark black horn-rims. Quipped Miss Keeton, "If you're going to continue singing like this, Frank Sinatra and Perry Como are going to start writing science fiction." Replied Asimov who cheerfully proclaimed himself unsettled by the extent of modeling. "They will never write science fiction as well as I sing."

Dreadful...George

Brian Aherne - movie star turned author - has just finished a book about his late friend George Sanders. He calls it "A Dreadful Man" - which he says Sanders was, even if lovable - and he'll promote it on PBS-TV's "Dick Cavett Show" Oct. 17-18. In taping the show, Aherne told Cavett an anecdote related to him by Zsa Zsa Gabor of her wedding night. She says she married Sanders at a Las Vegas wedding chapel under a sign offering "15 minutes for $25." Afterward, they checked into a cheap motel. Said Zsa Zsa, "He sat in the armchair and I sat on the bed. Neither of us spoke. George was thinking about his lost freedom and I was thinking about my lost alimony!"

Dog's Life

If you think Fidel Castro's visit Thursday to the quiet New York neighborhood around the Cuban mission upset the people there, consider the plight of Hayden. He's a Boston terrier who found his customary relief station commandeered by security forces out to protect Castro at all costs. Not even residents could enter the area without police escort - and then only if their names were on a list. Hayden's wasn't, but that didn't lessen his need. Said his master, Gary Stevens - pointing from the trembling dog to a burly security agent occupying the dog's favorite curb - "His whole modus operandi has been upset by this cigar smoker. He's unhappy and I'm unhappy by osmosis."

King Kaplan

The bigger they come, the harder they fall - especially across a poker table. Gabe Kaplan can't let it make it. In August, the star of television's "Welcome Back Kotter" challenged 1979 world poker champ Hal Fowler to a $200,000 winner-take-all game. In exactly three hours, Kaplan took all. Thursday, at the Silver Bird Hotel in Las Vegas, he did it again. His victim this time - 1978 champ Bobby Baldwin. Each put up a $100,000 stake for the game of five-card stud. Again it took Kaplan three hours to clean up - with nothing more than a pair of fours on the last hand, and $31,000 in the pot.

Quote of the Day

Fidel Castro, asked in New York about stories that he and his entourage plucked chickens in their hotel room during his 1960 visit to the United Nations: "I don't think anybody did that. At that time, we were not that organized to take chickens to New York. Now we are more organized and I can assure you that I am not taking any chickens with me."

Glimpses

Former first lady Betty Ford will make her first public appearance as a recovered alcoholic since she disclosed her treatment for the problem last year, when she represents the National Council on Alcoholism Oct. 16 at a meeting of about 100 national women's organizations in Washington... Ex-vampire Frank Langella has just finished principal shooting in California on United Artists' "Those Eyes," in which Glynnis O'Connor costars... Norman Jewison is in New York publicizing Columbia's new movie "And Justice for All," costarring Al Pacino and Lee Strasberg.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Friday, Oct. 12, the 285th day of 1979 with 80 to follow. Today actually is Columbus Day, although it was legally observed Monday Oct. 8. The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus. Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra. Elmer Sperry, American inventor and electrical engineer, was born Oct. 12, 1860. On this date in history: In 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered the new world known as "America." The first landing is believed to have been made in the Bahamas, southeast of what now is Florida. In 1960, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev removed one of his shoes and poked on his desk with it during a speech before the United Nations General Assembly. ### Marines Leave for Cuba In U.S. Show of Strength

MOREHEAD CITY (UPI) - About 1,800 Marines today were en route to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for a show of strength to answer the presence of Soviet troops on the Communist island. Loaded aboard three ships, the amphibious force has the trip to Cuba at 9:21 p.m. Thursday, after shifting military and high seas forces ordered military officials to delay a scheduled Wednesday afternoon departure. President Carter ordered the mission to demonstrate American military capabilities in the Caribbean after an impasse developed over the presence of Soviet troops in Cuba. The U.S. troops, most of them from the 2nd Marine Division's 6th Regiment, are to land at Guantanamo Bay Oct. 17 and conduct maneuvers for about a month on the 46-square mile facility on Cuban soil. Marine and Navy officials said they had been given no deadline for the exercise. "We are doing the best job we possibly can while insuring the safety of personnel and equipment," Lt. Cmdr. James Kraft, head of the Navy's port control office at Morehead City, said when asked if the loading could have been done faster in a wartime situation. Kraft said loading was slowed because one of the ships, the USS Nassau, was "a brand new class of ship" and the landing exercise ordered last week by Carter is the "first time she has been sent out on her primary mission function." The ship has been in service for less than three months and Kraft said its crew worked cautiously to load it. About 1,200 members of the 38th Marine Amphibious Unit were on board the Nassau, another 200 were on the USS Spartanburg County, which left Morehead City Wednesday to load additional landing craft at Camp Lejeune, and the rest were assigned to the USS Plymouth Rock, officials said. The Nassau is a "multi-function ship" that serves as a carrier for helicopters and a landing ship for landing barges. Kraft said it has a large gear in the stern that can be opened to permit amphibious vehicles to enter the water and head for a landing.

DiRosa for Consolidation If Eighth District Wants It

MANCHESTER - Peter DiRosa, Republican candidate for the Board of Directors said Tuesday his position on consolidation of the Eighth District is, "For consolidation, if it is what the Eighth District wants. If they don't want it, I don't believe in the consolidation." DiRosa made his remark after the Eighth Is Great committee endorsed three of the Republican candidates for the board. DiRosa was not endorsed or opposed. Robert Blechman, an attorney and member of the Eighth Is Great committee said, "I can only speak for myself and for the committee. I believe the committee would look favorably on DiRosa's candidacy if he comes forward publicly with the statement that the issue should be left to the voters of the Eighth District." In other remarks DiRosa attacked Democratic candidate for Board of Directors Francis A. Maffie Jr. Maffie had said Wednesday the Republicans did not place any questions on the November ballot out of ignorance of the law which set the deadline for placing questions on the ballot. DiRosa said, "Mr. Maffie's statement only serves to point out that he neither thinks or listens." "The Democratic slogan for this year's campaign is, 'We Listen... We Act. We Get Things Done!'" DiRosa said. "If there was no question of the law in the failure to place proposals on the Nov. 6 ballot it was on the part of the mayor, who has admitted that through oversight on his part, Republican proposals were not brought up in time for discussion."

Brown Says N-Addition Will Be Campaign Issue

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) - Bill Seabrook nuclear power plant - the scene last weekend of confrontation between anti-nuclear demonstrators and state troopers from five New England states. He said the nuclear issue should be a major point of debate during the 1980 campaign. On his first serious swing through the state with the first Democratic primary, Brown also called for a new "declaration of independence" to free the U.S. from its dependence on foreign oil. Brown, who espoused on the same theme earlier in this week and two days next week, said not since the War of 1812 has the United States been so vulnerable to the whims of foreign powers. "The country has lost control of energy and the economy," he said. "Foreigners are basically dictating economic policy." "I think the country is ready for an awakening," he added. Earlier, Brown told 700 students at Boston University that the nuclear industry is kicking off a $1.6 billion media blitz to convince Americans that radioactive wastes.

Optimistic About Hearing Meadows Chief Says Staff Shortage Is Problem

By LANEY ZUBOFF Herald Reporter MANCHESTER - William Fiochetta, administrator of Meadows Convalescent Home on Bidwell Street, said Thursday he is optimistic about the outcome of a closed door pre-hearing meeting scheduled Monday with officials from the state Department of Health Services at which charges against the nursing home must be answered or the license may be revoked. Meadows, the largest nursing home in the state, with 518 beds, is being charged with numerous nursing staff shortages, improper storage of potentially poisonous materials, such as disinfectants and cleaning fluids, and failure to submit accident and incident reports within three days of an occurrence. All of these violations have taken place over the last several months, according to George Allen, director of the department's hospital and medical care division. "The problem with all three (charges)," said Fiochetta, "is in documentation of care. This is a large place which is a contributing factor to our critical shortage of licenses staff," said Fiochetta who readily admits to a nursing staff shortage and continued difficulty in recruiting staff. But, says Fiochetta, "I don't feel the nursing shortage has a direct effect on patient care, though the paperwork has suffered. The documentation takes second priority," said Fiochetta. Fiochetta said his major concern with maintaining staff is low morale due to bad publicity about Meadows and the state health investigations. Another factor Fiochetta said was responsible for the staff shortage is temporary nursing services, which Meadows itself uses "abundantly" according to Fiochetta. "The nursing pools offer flexibility in hours and offer a higher wage dollar because they don't offer the benefits we do. This is attractive to many women who are already covered by their husband's insurance," said Fiochetta who said the pools are "killing quality care." Because the temporary help is moved around so frequently, "they can't get to know the patients and offer continuity in care," he said. Fiochetta said the home has tried to combat the nursing shortage by raising the pay scale and ironically, using the temporary nursing pools he says are helping to create the staffing shortage. We are forced to use the pools, said Fiochetta, even with the outside agencies' help Meadows is facing a shortage of licenses nursing staff. Concerning a specific incident where it is alleged that a man had not been fed fluids for several days before he died at Meadows, Fiochetta said the problem was with documentation of the case, intimating that the man did receive fluids but it wasn't recorded properly. This particular charge, which is currently being investigated by the state, will not be discussed at Monday's meeting, said Elizabeth Burns, assistant director of the hospital and medical care division of the State Department of Health Services. "We planned the meeting before we were aware of the second set of circumstances," said Ms. Burns. She said although the department has done some research into the death, that "we feel it needed more investigation." She would not comment about whether or not the department might agree with Fiochetta about the cause of the incident. Meadows has also been charged with improper storage of potentially poisonous materials as a result of the death of a patient who had injected cleaning chemicals. Fiochetta said the cleaning fluid is now kept under lock and key and is enclosed on a cart, with cleaning personnel use as they make cleaning rounds through the facility. "There is no reason to believe the woman died as a result of injection of the fluid. We feel had an autopsy been performed it would have shown this. She died at the hospital two weeks after she injected the fluid," said Fiochetta. He said the woman's condition had improved and she was scheduled to return back to the home before she died. Ronald Kraatz, assistant health director, said Thursday the town doesn't have plans to become involved directly with the nursing home probe but it is concerned about the situation because it involves Manchester residents and will be monitoring the state's investigation.

Aid Offered Air Museum

HARTFORD (UPI) - State economic development officials and the nation's largest air museum have moved to provide money and technical help for the rebuilding of the tornado-battered Bradley Air Museum in Windsor Locks. Economic Development Commissioner Edward J. Stockton said Thursday he will ask a state committee to appropriate $100,000 in grant funds to help rebuild the museum, which he called one of Connecticut's top tourist attractions. State tourism chief Barnett D. Laschever said the U.S. Air Force Museum in Ohio - the nation's largest - is willing to provide technical assistance in repair work to restore damaged aircraft and loan Bradley aircraft for its display. The 18-year-old Windsor Locks museum suffered an estimated $10 million loss when the twister whipped through three Connecticut River Valley towns last Wednesday, tipping its historic aircraft file toys and destroying more than 25 planes. Laschever said the Committee for the Restoration of Historic Assets in Connecticut will meet next Thursday to consider Stockton's request for the grant.

10 Workers Charged In Theft of Tools

NEW BRITAIN (UPI) - State police say they have broken up an alleged theft ring believed to have stolen several hundred thousand dollars worth of tools with the arrests of 10 employees of a tool-making firm. The 10 workers were charged with larceny Thursday in connection with the thefts at the New Britain Machine Tool Co., and another man was served a warrant in jail while being held on an unrelated case, state police said. Two other persons had been arrested on charged stemming from the thefts on Sept. 17. State police spokesman Joseph Crowley said the arrests came after a four-month investigation by a private security firm which was hired by the machine company and was later joined by the Statewide Organized Crime Investigative Task Force. The investigators and undercover state troopers had purchased about 12,000 stolen tools and a retail worth of more than $25,000 and a retail worth of $56,000 during the probe, Crowley said. He said company officials learned in June that tools were allegedly being stolen by employees and sold to outside buyers. The firm hired a private agency, Confidential Associates of Stamford, to investigate and asked for state police assistance in August. Company officials estimated 1978 losses due to thefts amounted to about $240,000 and that losses were even higher this year. There was an estimated daily loss of 700 to 800 tools, Crowley said.

Power Surge a Mystery

HARTFORD (UPI) - resume normal operations today. Officials say they haven't determined the cause of a power surge which blew out the electricity in Hartford National Bank's downtown computer center and left one man injured. The bank, which sent several hundred workers home early before it repaired the system, planned to Thursday. The injured man, Joseph Theroux, 47, of Voluntown, was in stable condition at Hartford Hospital with second and third-degree burns on his face, arms, neck and chest. A hospital spokesman said the man suffered burns on 25 percent of his body. Officials said Theroux was an electrician for a subcontractor and had been working on the system when the power surge occurred with a flash, making a loud noise and filling the basement of the 4-story building with acrid smoke.

Flushing of Mains Salted

MANCHESTER - The Water and Sewer Department will be flushing water mains next week in the following areas: Parker Street to North Elm Street and between Woodbridge and Henry Streets, including Mather, to the Northfield Street. The flushing will occur between Monday and Thursday. The department warns there may be a discoloration of water and reduced pressure during the flushing. If it appears discolored, the homeowner should try to avoid using the water until it clears. Any problems occur, call 647-3115.

Wants Curriculum Viewed

MANCHESTER - Democrat Carolyn Becker, a six-year veteran of the Board of Education, said recently she supports a re-examination of the Manchester school curriculum to prepare students for the 1980s.

Mrs. Becker is one of four Democrats vying for seats on the Board of Education next month.

"My goals for the Board of Education include the pursuit of excellence to prepare our students for the 1980s," she said. "I would support a re-examination of the total school curriculum in the light of these demands."

She said specific needs include increased physical education, art and music instruction for the elementary grades and a curriculum stressing good citizenship.

"I think the time has come," she declared, "to give special emphasis to the middle group of our students, the quiet ones who never cause trouble, who now need and deserve our attention to prepare them adequately for the 1980s."

Teacher Workshop Backed

MANCHESTER - The recent teacher in-service training workshops should be continued and expanded on a voluntary basis according to Democratic Board of Education candidate Joseph Camposse.

Camposse said that a workshop, which was held last week for Manchester teachers and those from four neighboring school districts, "contribute significantly to the needs of education locally."

"I believe these programs should be continued," he declared, "and expanded on a voluntary basis without deducting from students' classroom instructional time."

"Expanded in-service education could bring in expertise from the private business sector," he said, "from the schools' medical and behavioral staff and from special education personnel to share information with the regular classroom teachers and staff."

Camposse is one of four Democrats vying for seats on the Board of Education.

Over 1,300 teachers from five school districts participated in 23 simultaneous lectures and seminars on special education. The workshops were funded by a federal grant from the department of Health, Education and Welfare.

School Rolls Seen Stable

COVENTRY - Dr. Arnold Elman, superintendent of schools, said that predictions are for the number of students in the Coventry school district to remain stable over the next several years. He says it should remain in the 1980 to 1930 range.

Population trends are predicted every two years and Dr. Elman said he has met with the town planner and housing officials on the matter.

They say there are a number of large parcels of undeveloped land in the town and that there are no plans to build in the Coventry school district which would cause a sudden increase in the number of students in the district.

Dr. Elman also reported due to an increased interest in the Shared Time program at Windham Tech, the Board should come up with

Negro Declines Debate With His GOP Opponent

MANCHESTER - Town Treasurer Roger Negro has turned down his Republican challenger's request to debate, citing previous speaking commitments and the shortness of time prior to the election.

Negro also felt the debate would be a duplication of the public broadcasting of the League of Women Voters event. He said, "The public will have ample opportunity for questions at this forum."

Peter Sylvester, the Republican candidate for treasurer said, "There will be only five or six minutes for competitive bank bidding in Certificates of Deposits had netted income of $227,581 during fiscal 1978-79 for the town."

Sylvester said, "You can say you earn half a million dollars, but what percentage is that of what was invested? Talk percentages, not dollars."

Sylvester added, "Certainly, the townspeople expect the treasurer to be able to keep the money in a mattress, would they?"

Report Submitted On Home Economics

COVENTRY - Marybeth Leary, of the Jr. High School Home Economics department, and Harriet Cromie of the High School Home Economics Department, reported at last night's meeting of the School Board that the report on Home Economics at their schools are functioning well.

Harriet Cromie said there are two Home Economics teachers at the High School teaching semester long courses.

A meal management course is offered, where the students work in cooperation with the food services department. Three times per semester the students help in the preparation of food for the faculty at the Nathan Hale School in half days.

Dr. Smith Wins Support For Walkway Along I-86

MANCHESTER - The chairman of the linear walkway committee got all the support he needed.

The Conservation Commission Thursday night unanimously endorsed the efforts of the Hocham River Linear Park Committee to create an aesthetic walkway near the proposed Interstate 86 widening.

Dr. Douglas Smith, chairman of the linear committee, appeared before the commission to explain the project.

Commissioner John Fitzgerald moved to support the committee's attempt "to preserve a maximum amount of land as possible along the river during construction and create a walkway."

Smith said later he would seek support from two other town commissions this month, the Parks and Recreation Commission and the Planning and Zoning Commission. He said he hoped for a "unified front" to present the state Department of Transportation.

Smith said his committee has a general agreement with the department on the proposed walkway, including the relocation of fences and sedimentation pools. He said he would prefer to have fences 50 feet from the highway, but the department has suggested a distance of 15 feet.

"We want to preserve generally as much buffer of natural land as we can from the highway," Smith said.

Commissioner Fred Spaulding said the walkway was once a tri-union effort, including Vernon and East Hartford. However, Smith said Vernon will probably institute a committee once construction begins.

In other matters, the Commission received a reply from Public Works Director Jay Giles on the litter problem in Center Park.

The commission had asked for "greater attention of police enforcement of the drinking ordinances" in the park.

"O.K." was Giles' terse reply.

"What does that mean," asked one commissioner.

"It means I hear you," said Fitzgerald.

Bolton Makes Proposal On Willington Tuition

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

BOLTON - A 10-year contract and a tuition rate of $1,600 and $1,850 per student for the first two years of that contract, respectively, were offered to Willington students by the Bolton Board of Education recently.

Bolton High School is one of several schools the Willington School Board is considering sending its students in with its contract with Windham expires at the end of this school year.

Responding to a request for tuition projections from Willington School Superintendent Richard Vaillancourt, the Bolton school board met recently to discuss and decide the matter.

Bolton School Superintendent Raymond Allen, in an answering letter to Vaillancourt, said if Bolton were identified as having main school status and based on enrollment projections provided by Willington, Bolton is offering a definite tuition rate of $1,600 and $1,850 for the first two years of a contract and our actual per student cost as a tuition rate in subsequent years.

The enrollment projections provided by Willington for the 1980-1981 school year were for 41 freshmen and 86 freshmen and sophomores to attend Bolton High School; for the 1981-1982 for 86 freshmen and sophomores or 128 freshmen, sophomores and juniors to attend Bolton High; for 1982-1983 for 180 freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors to attend Bolton High.

Allen said the Bolton board is willing to negotiate a contract for a minimum of 10 years with a contract continuation clause calling for negotiations in the eighth year of the contract.

The Bolton board also provided Willington with figures for Bolton High School in an alternate school status.

Allen said, "Were Bolton High School to be identified as the alternate school to serve a limited number of Willington students, the estimated tuition rate for 1980-1981 school year will be $1,500."

The $1,500 figure is dependent upon no need for additional staffing.

Joseph Fleming, principal of Bolton High School, said a number of Willington students and their parents visited Bolton High during the week of Sept. 24 and also attended an open house there earlier this month.

Fleming said, "It was old hat for many of them because they were here earlier in the year but at least they showed an interest in coming back."

Fleming said a bus full of Willington students and their parents attended the open house.

Family's New Home Not Quite 'Homelike'

WINDSOR, Conn. (UPI) — The letters painted on the base of the mobile home read "Happy Homes," and though Dominic Dowgiewicz was quick to say there was no place like his own home, he was happy enough with his temporary one.

Dowgiewicz stood on the aluminum ladder that led into the mobile home Thursday and joked that when his house was built 20 years ago, plenty of trees were planted so there would be less lawn to mow.

The trees, however, were gone — reduced to firewood after being torn to kindling eight days earlier by a fierce tornado that ripped through the modest subdivision in Windsor's Pogonosek section.

The storm's fury had pushed Dowgiewicz's house slightly off its foundation and the ladder he stood on was almost left of his swimming pool.

"Don't get me wrong, there's nothing like your own home," he said as he looked into the trailer, "but there's plenty of room."

"It's better than living in a tent," his wife Pauline added of the trailer purchased by the state to house the couple and their two sons until their home is repaired.

"We thought it was something when you'd bump into each other," she said, referring to the mobile home as a "trailer."

The couple was pleased with the home, which one state worker noted had a larger kitchen than her apartment — but they were anxious to move back into their own house.

The Dowgiewiczs family received the last of the first five mobile homes which had been brought to the tornado-stricken area this week from New York state to house people who were unable to remain in their own property while their homes were rebuilt.

More than 60 houses in Windsor were destroyed and dozens more damaged last Wednesday night and the wind storm blew through the area injuring nearly 50 people and leaving two dead.

Thursday the cleanup continued with families and contractors stop homes and businesses in Windsor and neighboring Windsor Locks to clear away the destroyed roofs and begin putting on new ones.

More mobile homes were being towed into the area from a federal facility in Kentucky and state officials expected the first of the earlier ones completely hooked up by the same time.

Utility companies have waived service hookup costs for electricity and telephone service to the trailers and said crews were ready to do installations as soon as the homes arrived.

The Dowgiewiczs had nothing but praise for the efforts by volunteers and the state and federal disaster workers.

"It takes coordination," Dowgiewicz said. "You get 800 people and they have to know what to do."

"For something so unexpected I think they're doing a great job," his wife added.

They also remained thankful that so few people died in the storm. Their own sons had gone to the basement of the house when the twister struck.

"The Lord had to be looking," Dowgiewicz said. "We were so fortunate. If this had happened in the evening with all the people sleeping in their homes..."

Audit Report Figures Show Increased Surplus

MANCHESTER — The town audit report has revealed Manchester may have ended fiscal 1978-79 with $216,880 in unanticipated surplus funds.

Town Manager Robert Weiss said town officials expected a $675,000 surplus. The Board of Directors appropriated this money. The $216,880 is additional to the $675,000. It could not be anticipated.

The $216,880 was obtained from several sources. Town Treasurer Roger Negro said investments of town money earned more than anticipated and Collector of Revenue James Turek said his office received more than anticipated in tax revenue.

Other departments, through tight fiscal control, spent less than was allocated to them in the 1978-79 budget.

Weiss said the excess funds will be used to pay unanticipated costs. He said the rise in fuel costs was greater than that officials had expected, so if there is a severe winter, some excess funds may be spent in this area.

Weiss said it is impossible to predict what will happen. He said, for example, the money might not be used for fuel costs if the winter is light. He said if a bridge collapses or another unanticipated disaster strikes, the money will be spent in this area. Any unspent sums will be used in the next year's budget.

Lamson Suggests Plan To Expand Development

MANCHESTER — Town Planner Alan Lamson delivered a report to the Economic Development Commission Thursday on five ways to expand development of areas adjacent to the Buckland Industrial Park.

Lamson was asked to prepare the report last spring because only 17 acres of the land in the existing 303-acre park has not been committed to specific developers.

Commission Chairman James Quiley said, "The current park is being filled up faster than expected. Lamson's report is only a first step toward the expansion of the Buckland Industrial Park."

One of the sites Lamson's report suggested developing is bounded on the north by Burnham Street, on the east by East Hartford, on the south by Tolland Turnpike and on the west by the Buckland Industrial Park.

Lamson said it would cost nearly $7 million to buy the property, install utilities and prepare the property for a developer but the town could get a $2.2 million state grant to defray some of the cost. The balance of the cost could be obtained from the sale of the property.

Lamson said the town, "Has not approved the Department of Economic Development for state grants yet." He said if the land has been suggested for expansion it would be on the same basis as the Buckland Industrial Park was developed, then these projects are eligible for 50% of their cost from state grants.

Development of the first site would require relocation of 10 families, sewage would have to be pumped from the site and railroad access would have to be limited.

Lamson said it would cost the town about $2.2 million to develop a second 103-acre parcel south of West Windsor and west of the Pioneer Industrial Park and Slater Street.

If the town applied, he estimated $2.2 million could be obtained from state grants, while $2 million would be gained from the sale of the property.

The third parcel, located south of Tolland Turnpike, east of Wickham Park and north and west of 1-86 would be divided by the proposed 1-291 highway. Development would require the relocation of one single-family home.

A fourth site of 67 acres, including about 50 acres which could be developed, would cost about $7.5 million, the cost again being broken down between sale of the property and grants from the state.

It is located east of the industrial park and west of Buckland Street and its development would require the relocation of farm land.

A fifth site, which has well presenting a restriction to its development, would cost $2.2 million. $1.8 million could be gained from a state grant and $2.5 million would be gained from the sale of the property. It is a 175-acre site north of the Hockanum River.

Sanguillen Hit 'For Clemente'

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Eight years after the two of them helped win a world championship for Pittsburgh, Manny Sanguillen chose another dramatic occasion to remember his late friend Roberto Clemente.

"Anything we do is going to be for Clemente," Sanguillen said Thursday night after his two-out, pinch-hit single in the ninth inning gave the Pirates a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and evened the World Series at one victory apiece.

The series switches to Three Rivers Stadium tonight for Game 3 with left-hander Scott McGregor scheduled to pitch for Baltimore and lefty John Candelaria for the Pirates.

The weather forecast called for cloudy skies and a chance of snow flurries with temperatures in the 30s. Sanguillen, then the regular catcher, batted .379 in the 1975 series when the Pirates defeated the Orioles in seven games. Clemente batted .414 with two home runs to win the MVP award.

Clemente was killed in a plane crash off Nicaragua on New Year's Eve in 1972, and Sanguillen went to the plate with the intention of honoring his memory. He did a good job.

Batting for winning pitcher Don Robinson, he poked a pitch from reliever Don "Full Pack" Stanhouse single to score Ed Ott with the winning run. Kent Tekulve pitched the ninth for the save.

"I was just trying to make contact," Sanguillen said. "I was just trying to pull the ball. I was just trying to hit the ball up the middle."

The Pirates took a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Willie Stargell and John Miller opened with singles off a struggling Jim Palmer. Bill Madlock singled to score Stargell and sent Miller to third. Ott followed with a fly to deep center that scored Miller.

However, Pittsburgh starter Bert Elyman gave back half the lead within three pitches when Eddie Murray, hitting a 1-1 pitch, drove the ball deep into the right field bleachers for a home run.

Baltimore tied the score 2-2 in the sixth and gambled for more in an aggressive decision by third base coach Cal Ripken. The gamble failed.

Ken Singleton opened with a single and Eddie Murray doubled him home. Murray moved to third on an infield grounder by Doug DeCinces and, when John Lowenstein lined softly to right fielder Dave Parker, Ripken decided to test what is conceded to be the most intimidating arm in the National League. Parker's arm won.

"That's the kind of baseball we play," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "We were trying to force the play."

A throw from right field also worked against Baltimore on Sanguillen's hit.

With two out and none on, Ott received credit for a hit when second baseman Billy Smith could not handle his sharp grounder. Phil Garner walked and Sanguillen slapped his liner to right where Ken Singleton gloved it and threw home. First baseman Eddie Murray cut the throw, then relayed quickly to home, where he narrowly missed the sliding Ott.

"Of course I would rather he had let the throw go through," said Singleton. "But the decision had to be made in a split second and Eddie did what he thought he had to do."

Both managers said Murray had made no mistake. "The throw looked like it might have been dying," said Weaver. "Eddie made it close."

"I feel Murray made a good play," said Tanner. "You never know what the ball would have done. It might have stuck."

Cold Weather, Possible Rain
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — It looks like the National League's weatherman isn't going to cooperate either.

When the Baltimore Orioles and Pittsburgh Pirates take the field for Game 3 of the World Series at Three Rivers Stadium tonight, the elements that greet them should be quite familiar — wind, bone-chilling cold and possibly some rain and snow showers.

The National Weather Service forecast for today calls for variable cloudiness and windy with a few showers and a high in the low 30s. But the low tonight will be in the 30s. The high Saturday for Game 4 will be in the mid 40s. The chance of precipitation is 40 percent Friday and Friday night.

At 3:30, Sanguillen possesses the body of a man nearly 10 years younger. He keeps himself in kitted him when they were in their hotel room later. "They'll never use you again. You know they give you only one chance and you blew it."

She looked over to see what reaction that would evoke and discovered he was sound asleep.

However, summoned as a pinch hitter Thursday night in the ninth inning, he came in to hit for Don Robinson with Ott on second and Garner on first, two out and the score tied 2-2. Exactly as his wife had "broadcast" two days earlier.

Dramatic Victory
With the count 1-2, Sany went to right field with one of Don Stanhouse's sliders for a single that scored Ott with the run that gave the Pirates a dramatic 3-2 victory and evened the Series at one game apiece.

"When you don't play every day, it is difficult to adjust," Sanguillen told reporters afterward. "All I was trying to do was make contact."

Waiting for her husband after the game, Kathy Sanguillen talked about how difficult it was for him this season when he went to bat only 74 times, mostly as a pinch hitter and wound up with a .230 batting average that was far removed from the .379 he hit for the Pirates in helping them beat the Orioles in the 1971 World Series.

"Sany is the most giving man I have ever known," she said. "He is never so happy as when he is going to people or helping them, but this year he has been a broken man. You take a man's job away from him, something he loves, and it can't help but do something to his spirit. In his heart, he's still a kid and all he wants to do is play baseball."

The Pirates gave him that chance Thursday night and Sany came through for them brilliantly.

Irwin Reputation on Line
VIRGINIA WATER, England (UPI) — Hale Irwin's reputation as the fiercest competitor in match play golf went on the line today when he faced Bill Rogers in the quarter-finals of the $240,000 World Match Play Golf Championships.

Irwin has won this tournament twice and has been installed as the 4-1 favorite for the $68,000 first prize by British bookmakers.

"Irwin is the toughest competitor I've ever met in the game. There is no question about that," said Rogers, who beat Britain's Sandy Lyle 4 and 2 in Thursday's first round over 36 holes at Wentworth's 6,996-yard West Course.

But Rogers, an 8-1 bet, held on to line up against U.S. Open champion Irwin, who needed a first-round bye along with the other three seeded players — titleholder Isao Aoki of Japan, U.S. Masters champion Fuzzy Zoeller and British Open champion

Police Report

MANCHESTER — Police arrested a 38-year-old New Britain man in connection with alleged offenses which took place in August, 1978 and last February.

Raymond W. Bull was charged with first degree burglary, third degree larceny and threatening conduct. He was held in lieu of a $500 cash bond, police said, and presented in court Thursday.

A 53 North Street residence was burglarized Thursday by three teen-age youths, police said.

According to police, a 13-year-old boy came to the front door and asked the woman if she wanted to subscribe to a newspaper. While she was distracted, police said, two other youths entered the back door and stole her pocketbook, containing seven dollars in cash and later returned.

However, the pocketbook and cash was later returned, police said, as the family of the youths got involved.

A 37-year-old East Hartford man was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital for severe facial injuries after his car collided with a parked vehicle on Tolland Turnpike Thursday, police said.

According to police, Charles J. Mitchell of 9 Whitting Road was traveling west on Tolland Turnpike. Police said he drove to the "right of the hand lane" and struck the parked car belonging to Dean Gates, 16, 469 Spring St. Police said the Gates vehicle was legally parked along the road.

Police said Mitchell sustained his injuries after hitting the windshield of his car. The Eighth District Fire Department was summoned to extradite Mitchell from his vehicle and wash down a gas leak.

Mitchell was given a ticket after the incident, police said.

When is a tie like a loss?
When it costs you your place in the standings is one reply.

Manchester and Hall High battled to a 0-0 tie in girls' field hockey action yesterday in winter-like conditions with the deadlock by the home teaming Silk Towners pushing them out of the top spot in the CCIL.

Manchester held a territorial edge, particularly in the first half, but couldn't push one across. At one segment two Indians were left alone in front of the visitors cage, but the ball

Whalers Bow In First Test

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) - Both teams suffered season-opener jitters, but the Minnesota North Stars calmed down quickly and coasted to a 4-1 NHL triumph Thursday over the Hartford Whalers.

What I was most concerned about tonight happened - opening night jitters," said a disappointed Coach Don Blackburn in the Whalers dressing room at Metropolitan Sports Center.

Edwards made some great saves in the second period," conceded Bickburn. "I felt that if we could have had a goal then, it might have turned the game around. And of course, penalties hurt us, too."

Gordie Roberts spoiled Minnesota's shutout with just over five minutes to play. Shooting from right angles Roberts fired his puck past a screened Edwards, recording the former WHA club's first goal in the NHL.

Veteran Gordie Howe, 51, holder of 25 NHL records including most goals (814) and most assists (1,114), started his 33rd season of pro hockey and third with the Whalers.

Maxwell scored the North Stars first goal of their 12th season at 5:22 of the first, blasting a 60-footer past Garrett to give the Stars a 1-0 lead. After Smith's goal at 17:50, Payne upped the margin to 3-0 during a two-man power play advantage.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old divorcee with a 16-year-old son. I desperately want another child. I have noticed that in the last few years more single women are having and keeping their babies. I know I could manage another child myself. I have been the sole support of my son, who is a happy, well-adjusted child despite having no father in his life. I have saved enough money, so another child will not be a financial burden.

DEAR ABBY: I am having a friendly argument with someone and hope you can settle it. I say that, according to law, a male doctor may not give a female patient a complete physical examination unless there is a female nurse in the room. My friend says I am mistaken.

DEAR ABBY: This letter may be of interest to those who are constantly complaining about rising food costs. I am a clerk in a chain grocery. Yesterday I spent three hours picking up items of shelves where they didn't belong, because somebody decided they didn't want them after all and just put them down any old place.

DEAR FOR: It may NOT help. But it can't hurt.

Win at bridge

South's six-pipe bid was for overbid.
The combination of luck and skill had made up for the overbid.
Opening lead: ♠Q

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Solit.
The only real excuse for South's six-pipe bid was that Columbus had taken a chance and achieved success on October 12, 1492.
