Hitting Comes Natural For Eagles' Bottaro

He was the leading hitter, with a .333 batting average, last spring on the East Catholic baseball team. And Dave Bottaro again this fall is the leading hitter for the Eagles, but this time he's doing it on the gridiron from his linebacking post.

"I like to hit people," states the 6foot, 205-pound senior co-captain, who has been backing up the line since his days in midgets. "I liked that - that and fullback - that's where all the action is. A linebacker should be involved in almost every play." Bottaro believes.

'I'm certainly biased working with him on a day-to-day basis," states East first-year Coach Jude Kelly, who was impressed by South Catholic's Andy Sanzaro, "but Dave is the best linebacker we've played against or on our team."

There are three qualities you look for in a linebacker, Kelly states. One is strength to take on and shed blockers. A second is quickness in order to pursue to the outside. And the third is a feel for the game, to know where the ball is. "Dave has all the qualities. That's

Our guests use a sola-bed in the library where all our Several days ago my husband and I were discussing a certain book, so I went to get it. It was gone. In fact, on the same shelf I saw four 'holes' where four other books had een. I hate to think that one of our houseguests had taken these books, but there is no other explanation have made a practice of writing my name on the flyleaf of all my books, but, of course, the flyleaf could have easily

My question: If I should visit the home of one of these guests and see a book I'm sure is mine, should I ignore it, or ay something! And if you think I should say something.

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Don't ignore it. Say, "I see you were so fascinated with my book that you took it home to finish it. May I have it now?"
