

Slim-down Chicken Salad is only 220 and calls for one can of chunk white chicken and fresh vegetables.

Slim-down Chicken Salad

Americans are becoming more conscious of the foods they eat and how their eating patterns affect pounds gained or lost. For some, watching calories to lose or maintain weight becomes a perpetual pattern. Others diet periodically to lose just a few pounds, especially after the holidays or vacation. Many select salads because it is a popular idea that they are low in calories. This, as in any diet, depends on the ingredients and size of portion.

Counting calories can be an opportunity for adventures with food. It also is a way to re-educate tastes and attitudes. Canned chunk white chicken is perfect to include in a weight-loss or maintenance program. It has no carbohydrates, very little fat and is high in protein.

Slim-Down Chicken Salad is a snap to put together and is only 220 calories for a 2 1/2-cup serving. It calls for one can of chunk white chicken and fresh vegetables — cherry tomatoes, sliced zucchini and red onion plus lettuce. It is tossed with an unusual tangy, sweet-and-sour dressing made from "V-8" Cocktail Vegetable Juice, just a little salad oil and vinegar and an interesting combination of seasonings, dry mustard, crushed basil and a touch of honey.

This salad is so good, it can easily be a year-round favorite. In summer, it goes well with fresh fruits; in winter, with chicken broth and light soups. For variety, a number of low-calorie breads can be served with the salad. The dressing is a particularly good one for salads because it has less oil than usual, hence is lower in calories than many dressings.

In salads, as in all food on a weight-loss diet, be sure to keep the calorie count down.

Slim-Down Chicken Salad
13 cup "V-8" Cocktail Vegetable Juice
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon honey
1/4 teaspoon basil leaves,

Don't Be Stung

The Chief State's Attorney's Office can help you avoid becoming the victim of six common consumer frauds.

As a public service the Economic Crime Unit and the Victim Assistance Unit are working together to make six free brochures available to warn consumers of several schemes to defraud and advising them what to do if "stung."

1. "Auto Sales and Repair Frauds" explains common terminology that may save some money on auto repairs.
2. "Business Opportunity Frauds" may stop an investor from putting money into so-called "opportunities of a lifetime."
3. "Charity Frauds" may help insure that your charity dollar doesn't end up in the hands of a swindler.
4. "Home Improvement" may avoid making your home improvement an economic nightmare.
5. "Merchandising Fraud" will alert customers to the most widely used types of false advertising found in the marketplace.
6. "Senior Citizens Protect Yourself from Economic Crime" may stop unscrupulous businessmen from profiting at the expense of the elderly.

More than 300 formal complaints of alleged fraud every year are received by the Economic Crime Unit. These cases are investigated and where appropriate arrests are made. Because of its efficient and effective operation the Unit was recently awarded "Exemplary Status" by the Law Enforcement Assistant Administration.

In Criminal Justice circles, receipt of such an award is indicative of a job well done.

"Despite these efforts," said Unit Chief Steven Solomon, "too many people are being ripped off." The unit's motto is "We'll have one born every minute" leads them to lie, exaggerate and outright steal people's money away from them. By distributing the anti-crime literature the Unit hopes to force the men to seek their victims elsewhere.

If people are victimized, however, they are helped through the Criminal Justice System by the Victim Witness Assistance Unit. Designed to help with the myriad of problems

Stir-Fry Stew is Speedy

Stir-fry is often the answer for those who are watching calories or the clock.

This stir-fry stew, for example, can be made in 20 to 30 minutes, depending upon how much help you can get for slicing some of the ingredients.

This is a good party dish and one that a bachelor can easily add to his repertoire.

New Grant Sought for Center

MANCHESTER — While a decision on $200,000 in federal funds to complete the renovation of the new Senior Citizens Center has been delayed until mid-November, the Hartford Foundation for Giving has received an application for a $20,000 grant to renovate the center, and a decision on that grant is expected next week.

Wally Fortin, center director, said he expects to hear from the Hartford Foundation by next week but, Thursday, he is afraid the grant could be lost due to publicity.

"There's been so much talk about the other $200,000 grant, the foundation may be thinking, 'why should we give them the money?' because, said Fortin, the foundation could think the center doesn't require double funding."

"But," said Fortin, "we could use both grants." Fortin said the $20,000 grant from the Capitol Region council on Aging would be used to do basic renovating to allow the seniors to use the building at the former Green School. The other grant would be used, said Fortin, for such items as storm windows, roof repairs, and other repair work. "We could do a lot more," with the second grant, said Fortin.

A decision on the $20,000 grant from the council on Aging was expected by Nov. 21, said Deputy Mayor Stephen T. Cassano said because the council "is backlogged with a large number of grants" the decision won't be made until Nov. 21. Cassano said the council's entire regional advisory board will meet at that time and a subcommittee, which handles grants for the aged, will make their recommendation to the full committee. "If it's approved on the 21st, the funds will be available mid-December," Cassano said.

Cassano has said competition for the grant is intense because $100,000 is being sought beyond the amount available.

"I am really concerned the decision is put off," said Cassano, "but I don't believe it's an indication we won't get the grant. It still looks good," he said. "Whatever happens," said Cassano, "the money is coming from somewhere."

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has partially refurbished the Green School with $200,000 in federal Community Development money from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. When the town voted to withdraw from the HUD program in April, money to finish refurbishing the building was lost.

A Day Makes A Difference

Gas Control Will Remain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What a difference a day makes at least when it comes to gasoline price controls.

On Friday, Oct. 12, the House passed by three votes — 218-188 — a proposal by Rep. James Courter, R-N.J., to end all price controls immediately on gasoline and also end most of the government's power to allocate gasoline from one area to another in time of shortages.

But on Wednesday, the House overwhelmingly reversed itself, 225-189 — and allowed current price and allocation powers to remain. They will end anyway two years from now, under current law.

What made the difference? To begin with, this reversal reinforced an old rule: don't consider important legislation in the House on either a Friday or a Monday. Too many members will be absent.

When shocked House Democratic leaders saw what had happened to them on a Friday, they managed to schedule a reconsideration of the action for midweek, when they could be certain most of their troops would be there.

The reversal was a victory for the White House and Democratic

The Economy

New York: Stocks without late and heavy selling Wednesday to register their second gain in 13 sessions. But trading was only moderate, indicating Wall Street still was uncertain about the outlook for interest rates.

Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker cautioned bank executives Wednesday against raising lending rates unnecessarily. He also said banks should take care not to freeze out small businesses, consumers, home buyers and farmers from loan funds.

Madison, Wis.: Economist John Kenneth Galbraith advocated Wednesday a return to mandatory wage and price controls as a means of harnessing inflation, and suggested they be imposed permanently.

Washington: The Treasury said Wednesday it will raise $1.4 billion in new cash through the sale next week of $4.75 billion worth of notes and bonds to help cover federal expenses during the fourth quarter.

Energy Update

New York: Mobil Corp., the nation's second largest refiner, reported Wednesday its third-quarter profits rose 130 percent, and Standard Oil of Ohio said its earnings nearly tripled — the largest percentage gain of any oil company yet.

San Francisco: Chevron U.S.A., the nation's seventh largest gasoline marketer, said Wednesday it was lowering its wholesale prices for gasoline, diesel fuel and home-heating oil by 3 cents a gallon.

Radnor, Pa.: Sun Co. reported Wednesday third-quarter profits of $74 million — a 45 percent over the same period in 1978 when earnings totaled $106 million.

Washington: House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., said Wednesday the latest oil company profits are "sinful," and urged Congress to pass "a good strong windfall profits tax."

Los Angeles: A petroleum analyst said the American motorist would be paying even more to fill his tank if the services stations had been able to make the maximum profit margin allowed under gasoline price controls.

Washington: The Senate Energy Committee approved Wednesday legislation designed to kick off a synthetic fuel and home conservation program that it is estimated will cost about $30 billion over five years.

Washington: The House Interior Committee voted Wednesday for legislation paying the way for construction of pipelines to carry Western coal to the East.

Cambodia Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, calling the rescue of 2.5 million starving Cambodians "too important to be left to government alone," is urging U.S. religious leaders to match the U.S. assistance of $69 million.

He called on all Americans Wednesday to "match the government effort," asking churches and synagogues to set aside each weekend in November for collections "to give generously to meet this suffering."

Paris Bombs

PARIS (UPI) — Five terrorist bomb explosions set by Corsican nationalists rocked Paris early today, causing heavy damage to government buildings and sparking a giant blaze in an army gasoline dump.

Interior Minister Jean Bonnet ordered hundreds of extra policemen into service. Roadblocks were set up throughout the Paris region to trap the nationalists, slowing the usual heavy morning traffic.

President Appealing For SALT Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter appeals for widespread support for SALT II by the American people — and hopes for it closer to home, from Democratic Leader Robert Byrd in the Senate.

Calling the fate of the arms limitation treaty in doubt, Carter spoke Wednesday to about 400 community leaders invited to a White House briefing on SALT II.

He urged the Senate to televise its debate so the people may participate more closely and influence their senators' votes in favor of the pact.

Byrd, meanwhile, scheduled a news conference today, apparently to make a carefully worded announcement of support for the treaty.

Knowledgeable sources said Byrd has no plans to comment on televising the debate. Both he and Republican Leader Howard Baker lean toward favoring television if a time limit on debate can be arranged. But a time limit requires the consent of all senators.

Byrd has declined to take a public position on the treaty until he has had a chance to study the committee hearing record carefully.

But he has appeared to favor the pact, and visited Moscow during the summer to explain to Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev how the Senate ratification process works.

What remained to be seen is whether Byrd will work as hard for SALT II as he did for the Panama Canal treaties last year.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee resumes its work on the treaty today, considering several amendments by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, relating to U.S. ability to monitor Soviet compliance.

The panel Wednesday defeated, 9-6, two "killer" amendments offered by Baker, on requiring the Soviets to reduce their force of superheavy SS-18 missiles — a move that probably would have forced the treaty back into renegotiation.

Carter described the SALT II treaty as "the most important issue in Congress" during his administration.

"The issue in the Senate is in doubt. It is going to take the influence of the American people to prevail," he said.

Carter cited the possibility "the nuclear genie" would be out of the bottle and as many as 10 or 12 nations, which now have the ability, would move ahead with their own nuclear weapons if the treaty is not ratified.

Shah Diagnosis Due

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors for the exiled Shah of Iran hoped to learn today the extent of his lymphatic cancer and whether he can survive the disease he has suffered for six years.

While anti-shah protesters marched outside, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi underwent 2 1/2 hours of surgery Wednesday at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center for removal of his gall bladder to relieve painful jaundice that has worsened in recent weeks.

Surgeons also removed tissue samples from lymph nodes in his neck to determine the extent of the spread of lymphoma, a form of cancer that attacks the lymph system, the body's disease-fighting network.

Robert Armao, a spokesman for the shah, said the doctors hoped for a final diagnosis today.

Armao said the shah should completely recover from the gall bladder removal in two to three weeks and added, "We are very optimistic. Recovery is anticipated if there are no complications."

While the deposed monarch was in surgery, about 40 anti-shah demonstrators marched outside the hospital carrying signs and chanting, "People of U.S. Will Not Support the Vampire" and "Long Live to Khomeini."

Palm Wants to Leave Innocent Man

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state plans to show John J. Palm the gate to freedom next April after 42 years of confinement, but Connecticut's longest serving inmate says he won't leave until he's declared innocent of a holdup murder.

Palm, 68, has been incarcerated since 1937 for the killing of a deputy sheriff. Last week, the state Board of Pardons decided to commute his life sentence on grounds of mercy.

But Palm is balking and corrections officials are scratching their heads.

Palm said he couldn't accept the pardon for the same reasons he had turned down a chance to apply for parole 20 years ago.

He wants to leave prison an innocent man. He also said he wanted to sue the state.

Pardons Board Secretary Burton S. Yaffie said Wednesday the board had not been notified about Palm's refusal to be released.

"We thought he'd be delighted. We weren't told he was dissatisfied," Yaffie said.

Yaffie said the board won't meet again until Nov. 19 and anything is to be done about Palm it won't happen before then.

"If something isn't done, Corrections Commissioner John R. Manson said the inmate will be escorted to the prison door and released next April 1. "I have no authority to keep him after that date," he said.

"This is a very unusual case," Assistant Corrections Commissioner Raymond Lopes said. "To my knowledge, and I've been with the department for 10 years, we've never had anyone who refused to be released before."

Palm has spent more than half his confinement in a mental hospital.

He was originally sentenced to death in the electric chair for shooting Deputy Sheriff Peter Kaminski during a New Milford holdup. But he suffered a mental breakdown on Death Row in 1938 and was sent to Norwich State Hospital. He was returned to prison in 1963.

At last week's hearing, Palm complained of being placed before a kangaroo court and given "a bad rap."

He was convicted mainly on the testimony of two women who identified him as the robber although the man who shot Kaminski wore a mask that covered half his face.

"When asked if he wanted out, Palm replied, 'Not on parole.'"

"On Tuesday, the inmate wrote to a newspaper stating he won't accept the commutation."

"I am not taking that sort of pardon. I am innocent and I'm not going to sell myself out after suffering all these years," Palm told the Hartford Courant.

"I wanted an unconditional pardon. I wanted to sue the state for every day I was in prison. They can't give my life back, but they could make my last years easy with the money I should have from the suit," Palm wrote.

Lopes said the Connecticut Prison Association already has assigned a staff member to help prepare Palm for his release.

The association, a private group, primarily does work with ex-convicts in finding them jobs and helping them adjust to life "on the outside," Lopes said.

State correction officials refused Wednesday to grant requests to interview Palm, saying recent publicity about his case has caused him "emotional strain."

A spokeswoman for the state Corrections Department said Somers Warden Carl Robinson was advised by a prison physician to refuse to allow Palm to be interviewed because "it wouldn't be in his best medical interests."

First Theater for OTB Will Boost State Action

By ARTHUR P. BUSHNELL. NEW HAVEN (UPI) - The world's only off-track betting theater, complete with "rail birds," is off and running and officials expect it to add about $7 million to Connecticut's gambling industry. Teletrack, the newest addition to the state's OTB string which debuted Wednesday, is a large screen off-track betting parlor that can seat up to 2,300 persons. Gaming officials, legislators, reporters and spectators along local dignitaries joined bettors and the curious for the opening performance in the building expected to boost Connecticut's total horse action to more than $150 million this year.

Official Suggests Ways To Deal with Rest Homes

HARTFORD (UPI) - A federal official has suggested limiting patients and withholding payment rather than pulling licenses of nursing homes that violate safety and health regulations. Sidney Kaplan of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, suggested Wednesday Connecticut might want to enact the sanctions less serious than decertification to straighten out problem homes. Kaplan told a legislative subcommittee investigating the nursing home industry by restricting new admissions to existing facilities. He also said his office had mandated follow-up reviews within 30 days of a patient's transfer from a state hospital to a nursing home since the Lorraine Manor controversy.

Patient Increase Due to Economy

HARTFORD (UPI) - The inability to cope economically "on the outside" is a chief reason for the increase in patients at large mental health facilities, according to state mental health chief Dr. Eric Plant. Plant said Wednesday families are unable to take care of patients and some former patients fail to "make it on the outside" because of higher costs brought on by the nation's economic situation, particularly inflation.

SNET To Seek Rate Increases

Van Sinderen also announced a decrease in earnings per common share for the third quarter of the year.

Ella Offers Energy Bills; Lobbyists Planning Push

HARTFORD (UPI) - Gov. Ella Grasso has put her winter energy program into a package of eight proposed bills, and groups that didn't get what they wanted from the governor will now take their case to the Legislature. The $16 million package sent to lawmakers Wednesday put into legislative form the program Mrs. Grasso announced earlier this month, but included none of the additional proposals suggested by the lobbying groups.

The eight bills will be taken up by lawmakers in special session Oct. 31 and at least two of the lobbying groups vowed to be there to make a push for their programs. Mrs. Grasso submitted bills calling for $16 million in state funds for programs ranging from outright fuel assistance grants to the needy to establishing procedures for testing the safety of energy saving devices. The program relies heavily on bond funds, with $2 million of the total money slated to come from general fund revenues.

Mrs. Grasso, who has predicted the cost of assistance programs could be higher, apparently decided to bank on still-uncertain federal approval of additional aid. The program calls for no additional or increased taxes, a position the legislature's controlling Democratic leadership has already taken. However, the Connecticut Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition said it will take its request for a special tax on oil companies to the Legislature and will bring out supporters for a special "Lobby Day" the day of the session. The coalition wants a 1.5 percent tax levied on major oil companies' gross petroleum revenues which it estimated would bring in $19 million for energy assistance. Coalition members met with the governor and said they came away with the impression that while she will not actively work for the tax, she believed they could legally ask lawmakers to consider it under the call for the session.

Under state law, only issues listed on the call for a special session can be taken up. The coalition and the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities raised concerns that their proposals may thus be barred from consideration.

Ella Boosts Big Oil Tax

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso has given a citizens energy group moral support in its effort to sock big oil in the state with a special tax to pay for heating fuel assistance.

Mrs. Grasso told representatives of the Connecticut Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition she won't actively work for the tax but she gave the group her blessings to seek approval for the levy from the Legislature.

The representatives met with Mrs. Grasso for about an hour Wednesday and came away with the impression she "left the door open" for them to take their tax proposal to lawmakers.

But the coalition, which believes Mrs. Grasso's proposed winter assistance programs were inadequate, said the governor did not agree to actively support the taxing proposal.

"The only criteria is need," he said of Mrs. Grasso's plans for the special session. "She's concerned about revenue."

The coalition wants lawmakers who will meet in the special energy session Oct. 31 to enact a 1.5 percent tax on major oil companies' gross revenues. The measure would generate $19 million in funds for winter heating assistance programs for the working poor, the coalition estimated.

Spokesman Lou Kiefer said although the governor believed the "criteria has been set for the special session," the group got the impression she felt the tax proposal could be taken up under the call of the session.

Under state law, lawmakers in special session can only deal with issues posted in advance on the call for the session.

Furnace Switch Advances

MANCHESTER — The school department is proceeding with plans to convert one of the three fuel oil burners at Manchester High School to natural gas, Superintendent James Kennedy said this morning.

The administration has been soliciting sealed bids and will continue to receive them until Oct. 30, Kennedy said the conversion would give the high school flexible heating capabilities. Particularly when power is out and the school can't run the oil furnace.

Both he and Wilfred Dion, building and grounds superintendent, said natural gas is less expensive than oil

Anti-Shah Protest

Demonstrators protesting against the Shah of Iran sit on sidewalk outside the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center in New York City Wednesday, where the 59-year-old shah is recovering from surgery. Earlier Wednesday, the shah underwent surgery for removal of his gall bladder and simultaneously had tests taken to determine the spread of cancer from which he has suffered for six years. (UPI photo)

By making the conversion now, they said the district would save all the money it spent this year for the boiler conversion.

Dion said a similar conversion for Bannett Junior High School seems distant.

"We don't anticipate a conversion this year," he said, "because the gas company tells us the nearest supply for our type of gas is on Park Street. We would have to extend a line from Park Street down to the junior high school."

Dion said the high school has its own main under the auditorium wing. The school can either run a line beneath the faculty parking lot to the boiler room or come up along Summer Street and Perrell Place, would not run concurrently, he said, because the oil burns hotter alongside the gas and is less economical. Dion said he has been with the district for seven years and the school has never had to run all three burners at once.

Dion said it's possible the district may convert another oil burner to natural gas next year. Both he and Kennedy warned about "putting all our energy eggs into one basket," but said the cheaper gas would realize a savings this year.

Troopers Plan March

HARTFORD (UPI) — State police, angry over stalled contract talks, have voted to stage a march and possible job action on the heels of the suspension of five troopers who called in sick.

More than 300 troopers approved the moves at a union meeting in Meriden Wednesday night after word of the suspensions were announced by Public Safety Commissioner Donald J. Long.

But union officers said a possible job action was to emphasize the need for a settlement on a new contract. They wouldn't discuss the suspensions except to say the union would provide the suspended troopers with any help necessary.

The troopers said no decision to carry out a job action would be made until after their march on the Capitol Oct. 31, the day the Legislature convenes in special session to discuss the heating fuel situation.

State Agency Allows More Turns on Red

HARTFORD (UPI) — Motorists' frustrations should ease up with the removal of 228 signs prohibiting right turns on red at intersections across the state.

The state Traffic Commission Wednesday also gave the communities of West Hartford, New Canaan and Darien permission to place signals on blinking modes at night. The sign removals leave 4,653 intersection approaches in the state that still bar right turns on red. When the law took effect July 1, rights turns on red were prohibited at 5,148 approaches.

West Hartford was given permission to remove another 26 prohibition signs, leaving only 19 intersections where motorists can't turn right on red.

William W. Stockert, executive secretary of the commission, said the signs were being removed because of relaxed federal guidelines.

He said all requests for removal of prohibition signs were being carefully studied.

A state police spokesman said the five troopers, suspended without pay Tuesday night, had called in sick last Saturday, leaving only one person in the Bethany barracks for about an hour.

The spokesman said the men were suspended pending an investigation into their alleged "unauthorized absence."

Union leaders discounted speculation the five troopers called in sick to protest manpower shortages and delays in contract talks with the state.

Trooper Michael Ruffino, head of the state police union, denied there was any sickout. He said he understood the troopers had certificates from doctors verifying they were ill.

Ruffino said Long overreacted in suspending the five policemen who were identified as Charles Peters, James Dwyer, Warren Hyatt, Ronald Mezerecki and James Hamrahon Jr.

Long, possibly in an attempt to head off any further complications, has scheduled a meeting Tuesday with all 880 members of the state police department.

Ryan Favors Improvements To Veterans Park

SOUTH WINDSOR — Richard Ryan, seeking reelection to the Town Council on the Republican ticket, is urging support for improvements to Veterans Memorial Park.

"In light of problems encountered this past summer, it is clear that improvements are needed at Spring Pond in order for local residents to enjoy using it next summer, without any health problems," Ryan said.

Noting that this is the only town-owned swimming facility, and the only swimming area available to many residents, Ryan said they are entitled to have it work properly.

Ryan said that under a Republican majority council, improvements were made to the parking area, a basketball court was designated, a baseball field was installed, and picnic areas were developed at the park.

He said now improvements must be made to Spring Pond itself so that such problems as excessive algae buildups can be eliminated. He said new filtration and vacuuming systems would be necessary, as well as a new chlorination system.

He also said there should be a permanent connection to the Metropolitan District system, which would provide a better water source than the operation which has been previously used.

He said that the council had recently authorized the town manager to contract the engineering services to provide cost estimates for needed improvements and termed this "a good first step." He added that the new council should make sure that the necessary improvements are implemented in a timely manner so that residents will be able to have uninterrupted enjoyment of the pond next summer.

Paper, Aluminum To Be Collected

SOUTH WINDSOR — The South Windsor Recycling Committee, in conjunction with the South Windsor Friends of Football, will be collecting recyclable paper and aluminum this coming weekend at the Community Center parking lot, Ayer's Road.

Materials should be delivered to the site between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Sunday or Monday. All proceeds, after expenses, will go to the Friends of Football for use to buy equipment for the weight room at South Windsor High School.

The Recycling Committee is soliciting local groups to sponsor and man future Resource Recycle Drives. According to the plans of the committee, any local group wanting to raise funds and willing to provide the labor to man the collection site for one weekend, is welcome to co-sponsor a drive with the Recycling Committee.

The committee, through the Public Works Department, provides the containers in which to collect the materials and hauls the materials away.

The committee will act as a buyer for the collected materials, passing through most of the funds to the sponsoring group. Any group interested in sponsoring such a drive should contact the South Windsor Public Works Department.

Flower Show Set

COVENTRY — In celebration of its 40th anniversary, the Coventry Garden Club will hold an open house and flower show Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. at the Booth-Dimock Library on Main Street.

The theme of the flower show will be "Forty Years of Growing." Club members have been invited to participate in five design classes and the general public, in four horticulture classes.

Mrs. Joseph Fowler will prepare a display on club memorabilia and Mrs. Emil Mamet and Mrs. Arthur Ferrell will be in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Gertrude Noren will be in charge of the club's guest book; posters are being made by Mrs. Arthur McKay; and coordinating the event are Mrs. Peter Thomas, Mrs. Ronald Baker, and Mrs. Laurier DeMars.

Christmas Fair

BOLTON — The annual Christmas fair of the Bolton Congregational Church will be Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the church.

A snack bar will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and luncheon will be served from noon to 1:30 p.m. Tickets may be bought in advance or at the door.

Donations of attic treasures, aprons, good used toys and games for the children's booth, homemade stuffed animals, tree ornaments, craft items for the boutique booth, homemade wooden items, and homemade canned and baked items are being accepted. Sue Biske is chairman of the fair.

Topiary Plant Forms Highlight Gardens

A giraffe, formed by pruning California privet shrubs, towers over the garden at Green Animals, in Portsmouth, R.I. (Photo by Atwood)

By FRANK ATWOOD

Green Animals is the name of a garden on the shore of Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island which has the country's greatest collection of topiary plant forms. It is open to the public and you pay $1.50 to see it. The garden is a few miles from Newport, once the summer playground of the very rich, where six great mansions with views of the bay or the Atlantic Ocean have been preserved. A band of Connecticut Horticultural Society members, including several from this area, spent an interesting day there recently. In the morning our group visited Roscliffe, one of the mansions, built in 1902 and designed in the style of the Grand Trianon palace at Versailles. After lunch at a seafood restaurant on the Newport waterfront we went to the Green Animals at Portsmouth.

Two guides, one the head gardener and the other his young assistant, one year out of high school, showed us around. Here was an unmistakable giraffe, perhaps half life-size. The animal had been formed from four California privet plants, each pruned to form a leg, and then all four plants trained together to make the trunk, the long neck and the head. At the other end, one branch had been allowed to drop toward the ground as a tail.

The giraffe has been standing there six years. If I remember what we were told, and pruned several times each summer. Electric pruners have never been used; all pruning has been done with hand shears.

Elephant and Donkey

The garden, seven acres in extent, was established in 1872, more than 100 years ago, by Thomas E. Brayton, who made his money in a Massachusetts cotton mill. After his death, the property was left to his son and daughter, Edward and Alice FitzGerald, who made his money in a Massachusetts cotton mill. After his death, the property was left to his son and daughter, Edward and Alice FitzGerald, who made his money in a Massachusetts cotton mill.

death at age 94 in 1972. In her will she left Green Animals to the Preservation Society of Newport County, the same organization that owns the summer homes of the millionaires.

Mrs. Brayton was a horticulturalist and it was she who gave the garden its name, Green Animals. Most of the topiary sculptures had been created by her father and his gardener, and the work was carried on by a young man who became the gardener's son-in-law.

There is an elephant, on a somewhat smaller scale than the giraffe, with one plant for each leg and a fifth plant to form the trunk. There are suitably large flat ears and a suitable small tail.

There is a donkey. Our guide said that, several years ago, a group of politicians viewed the garden and the Democrats made such a clamor because there was no donkey that the gardeners set about creating one immediately. There is an ostrich, not standing on slender legs, but apparently sitting on the ground, or perhaps on an ostrich egg.

There is a camel with two humps, which the dictionary says is a Bactrian and not a Dromedary camel. There is a peacock with a fan-shaped tail, a horse and rider, a lion, a bear, a rooster and a swan.

Squares and Circles

Besides the animals and birds, there are many geometric figures, a huge vase that holds a pot of flowers, a huge archway, pyramids, globes and arches. Privet is used because of its tiny leaves, its dense habit of growth and its ability to continue in good health in spite of frequent clipping. Abundant water and adequate fertilizer are required also.

The name topiary, we learned, is credited to Toparius, who introduced this kind of gardening to Rome about 30 B.C. Much later it flourished in the Italian Renaissance and in the great gardens of nobility in France and England.

The favorite shrub for topiary work at that time was the yew, which grows slowly, is long-lived and can be closely pruned. Privet grows rapidly and must be sheared more often. Boxwood has been used extensively and Green Animals has many small, low-growing borders of boxwood, squares and circles, marking off beds of various kinds of herbs. There is an extensive and well-kept herb garden.

Coventry Flower Show

This coming Sunday, Oct. 28, marks the 40th anniversary of the Coventry Garden Club. The club will have an anniversary flower show at the Booth and Dimock Library on Main Street from noon to 5 p.m.

Change Approved

HEBRON - The Rham Junior High Building Committee has approved a change order concerning the application of insulation to muller pipes in the new building. It will increase the building cost by $704. Peter Abel, architect for the project, said that the change order had originated in August when it was learned that the exhaust pipes from the generator must be insulated as they are accessible areas to humans. The committee also approved payment of an invoice totaling $13,385 as the seventh installment to Fort Hill Builders. Abel also told the committee that installation of the roof of the school should start about the middle of November. In other action the committee voted to pay an invoice of $3,527 for builder's risk insurance for the Fort Hill Company. This action had been discussed at a previous meeting at which time the committee learned that insurance of this type had to be provided by the committee, as agreed to in the building specifications.

Bubble Burst

A large immigration to Louisiana occurred in the early 18th century after exaggerated stories of gold discoveries in the New World territory reached France. The stories were also responsible for the "Mississippi Bubble," when the comptroller of finance issued paper currency without security to back commercial development of Louisiana. The shares reached $4,000 before the scheme collapsed.

Board Hopeful Promises Ban

MANCHESTER — Does the Board of Education sanction student smoking? Democrat Carolyn Becker thinks so, and she said she would move for complete prohibition of smoking on school property if she is re-elected to the school board. Mrs. Becker, a six-year veteran of the board, is one of four Democrats seeking re-election. In a prepared statement, she said designated smoking areas outside the school buildings and at school dances make students "hooked on" cigarettes. She said the smoking policy will be reviewed next June by the school board. "At that time," she said, "if I am re-elected to the Manchester school board I intend to move for prohibition of student smoking anywhere in or on school property." She said both Commissioner of Education Mark Shedd and Commissioner of Health Service Douglas Lloyd cited it as a hazard to smokers and non-smokers.

Crafts Course

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Recreation Department's cultural program is offering four week mini-courses in Christmas crafts and patchwork wreath workshops. Registration for the classes is weekdays from 9 to 1:30 at the Arts Building. Christmas crafts will cost $2 and will meet on either Tuesday or Thursday from 9:30-11:30. Tuesdays projects will be a calico wreath and a tree skirt. Thursdays class will be making ornaments for the tree. Patchwork wreath workshops will meet on Wednesday from 10:11-30 or from 1:2-3:30 and will cost $4. A patchwork wreath will be completed within the four weeks. Further information is available by contacting the Arts Building, 647-3089.

Halloween Care Urged

MANCHESTER — The Safety Committee of the Manchester Junior Women's Club reminds all parents of children who will be out trick-or-treating on Halloween, that they should caution the children for a safe and happy Halloween. The committee asks parents to review basic pedestrian safety with their children, such as cautioning them to walk toward oncoming traffic and to make sure that the children are accompanied, after dark, by a responsible adult or teen.

Parking Curbed

VERNON — Police Chief Herman Fritz reminds residents that there is a town ordinance in effect year-round and it prohibits the parking of vehicles on the streets and highways in Vernon between the hours of 2 a.m. and 5 p.m., for a period of time in excess of 120 minutes. Chief Fritz said the ordinance was adopted, in part, to aid the town employees in keeping the streets plowed after winter storms. The chief said that vehicle owners in violation of the ordinance will be ticketed and in the event of snow storms, those vehicles in violation will be towed away at the owner's expense.

Prize Winners

HEBRON — Winners of the drawing, sponsored recently by the Republican Town Committee, were: Jeff Adams, Hebron, first prize of two cords of wood; Bea McConville, Ellington, second prize a chain saw; and James Derby, Hebron, third prize, a splitting maul.

Singles Group

HEBRON — The Single Parent Support Group will meet tonight at 8 in the parish house of Gilead Congregational Church. The meeting is open to all single parents who are residents of Hebron.

Education Program

VERNON — "Focus on Education" program series which is presented Saturday mornings at 9:10 a.m. on WHP, sponsored by the Vernon School System, will feature a discussion on public education in the next decade, on Oct. 27. The program is co-hosted by Dr. Bernard Sidman, superintendent of schools, and Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent. Guests for the program will be Eugene Scalin, deputy secretary from the state Department of Education and P. Steven Mansfield, director of communications of the Connecticut Association of Board of Education (CABE).

Nominated

VERNON — Mrs. Claire Albom, supervisor of physical education in the Vernon School System, has been nominated for the Woman of the Year Award to be made Oct. 31 at the Hilton Hotel in Hartford. Gloria Steinen, editor of Ms. Magazine, will be making the presentation which is the women in leadership award sponsored by the YWCA.

The Greeting of America

One out of every four U.S. households will be making $25,000 or more a year by 1990. The Conference Board reports. By 1990, the $25,000-plus income bracket will contain one out of three American homes.

Thousands of children go blind each year because their diet lacks sufficient Vitamin A. UNICEF has developed a high-dose Vitamin A capsule which, when taken twice a year at a cost of 2 cents, will prevent this needless catastrophe. The lifetime vision of hundreds of children will be saved by the funds collected for UNICEF in Manchester this Halloween. Be generous when young UNICEF volunteers come to your door.

Now You Know

Over the course of one mile, a 150-pound person with a three foot stride places a total load of 165 tons on his feet when jogging and 109 tons while running.

UNICEF Says Kids Need More Things Than Love

How fortunate for any child—rich or poor, anywhere in the world—to have a parent's loving tender care when he is sick. Unfortunately, love is not enough to care a seriously ill child. He probably needs an antibiotic drug or other therapeutic medicines or treatment. Nor is love enough to prevent a child from getting sick. He also needs to be immunized against childhood disease; to live in an environment which promotes his well-being; parents who know some simple facts about hygiene and nutrition; and, most important of all, easy access to health services—modest or even rudimentary ones—for preventive care and curative treatment when needed. For the first time in history, the world has the knowledge and the resources to achieve great improvements in the health of all humanity. Yet today, only one out of five people has any access to such health care. In most of the world, the major causes of serious illness and death are related directly to poverty, ignorance about the causes of disease and a squalid environment. To help change these conditions and thereby improve children's lives, UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, is assisting health care programs in the developing world with an approach called primary health care. Its aim is to bring simple, low-cost basic health services to the largest number of people, with communities selecting their own health workers... immunization, prevention and control of disease... treatment for common injuries and illness... simple sanitation with an adequate supply of safe water... proper nutrition... health education... and—ultimately—healthy lives for all children of the world. It seems, admittedly, an overwhelming task. But with the support of concerned people in the United States and other nations, UNICEF is tackling the problem through this innovative approach, with promising results. In one year alone, UNICEF has cooperated in child health programs in 103 countries, provided technical supplies and equipment for 40,700 health centers of various kinds, especially those in rural areas; supplied medicines and vaccines for tuberculosis, diphtheria, tetanus, smallpox, measles, whooping cough, and other diseases to protect and treat millions of children around the world. But this vital work cannot go on or be expanded without our help. October 31, National UNICEF Day by presidential proclamation, offers all Americans the chance to take a personal part in this effort to bring basic health services and new hope for productive lives to the world's most vulnerable children and their families. The door-to-door "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" is traditional at Halloween, and the easiest way to support UNICEF's important work is by being generous when UNICEF volunteers carrying the official UNICEF cartons come to your door this year. Love is not enough to keep children alive and healthy, but it is a strong incentive to everyone who cares about the well-being of the world's children and who wants to participate in the task of helping to provide health care for all of them.

IN A WORLD OF CHANGING PRICES, SINGER PRICES HAVE CHANGED TOO.

While the cost of almost everything keeps getting higher, the cost of sewing with Singer is lower. Earlier this year, we dropped the regular price of this Stylist* machine $30. Now we're reducing it $40 more. So, for a limited time, you can buy it for $70 less than you could last year.

It has a free-arm, 6 built-in stitches, a built-in buttonholer and a front drop-in bobbin—features that help make sewing easier on a Singer* machine.

And today, with the price of clothing skyrocketing, sewing makes more sense than ever. Because for less than half the cost of ready-to-wear, you can stay in style with Singer. *A trademark of The Singer Company.

7 POINT TUNE-UP ONLY $9.95
Make sure your machine is in top working order. Bring it to the Singer Store* along with this coupon, before November 3rd. Parts aren't included in this special offer, but all these services are:

Braithwaite Favors New Rec Facilities

SOUTH WINDSOR — Bruce Braithwaite, Republican candidate for Town Council, has proposed the development of additional recreational facilities and programs through volunteer efforts. "We have seen what volunteers can do in South Windsor. They built the high school football field and the lighted softball field at Rye Street Park, and made improvements to the Padm property for winter sports activity. A coordinated effort of more citizen involvement can produce additional recreational facilities," Braithwaite said. He said that with volunteers doing the work the cost to the town would be minimal. As part of this volunteer program Braithwaite proposes additional improvements to existing softball fields, a jogging trail to be cut through the wooded area of Rye Street Park, and a physical fitness trail. He said the physical fitness trail is commonly known as parcourse and consists of some 12 to 20 stations along the route which would have such facilities as pull up bars, parallel bars, and a balance beam, at which residents could gradually increase their physical exercise. He suggested that the exercise equipment could be bought through contributions and installed by volunteers noting that such an arrangement has worked successfully in other towns. Braithwaite, who is presently vice chairman of the town's Park and Recreation Commission, also suggested that a program be developed for residents to take advantage of skiing facilities in the area. He said volunteer groups could organize bus trips to ski areas such as Mt. Tom in Holyoke, Mass. Braithwaite cited his extensive involvement with local volunteer groups, such as the Jaycees, the Wapping Fair Association and several athletic tournament committees, as evidence that, as a councilman, he would be in a good position to generate volunteer activity and support for such projects. "There is a lot of community spirit in South Windsor and we should harness this energy to produce better recreation for our people," Braithwaite said.

Shaskin-Kreucher

Melissa Kreucher of Manchester and Richard Shaskin of East Hartford were married Oct. 21 at St. Mark's Episcopal Chapel in Storrs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kreucher of Manchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Shaskin of East Hartford.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Debi Kreucher of Manchester was her sister's maid of honor.

Gary Shaskin of Glastonbury, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Ushers were David Gudunas of South Windsor, Howard Kraft of Wallingford, N.J., and William Meredith of Enfield, the bridegroom's nieces, as flower girls.

A reception was held at Rosal's Restaurant in Mansfield, after which the couple left on a motor trip to Virginia. They will reside in East Hartford.

Mrs. Shaskin is employed by Connecticut Bank & Trust Co. in Hartford. Mr. Shaskin is employed by CBT in East Hartford. (Flaum photo)

Improve Body and Mind: Exercises for Infants

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—Edwin Paget, 78, a retired speech professor whose idea of a glorious summer vacation has been running up and down Pike's Peak 41 times, believes it is never too soon to improve body and mind.

"Soon after birth, the child should put them on some kind of exercise program. Paget, who lives in Raleigh, N.C., when he isn't running up the Rockies, is now at home working out the details of the concept. Reached there via telephone, he seemed a little vague as to how anyone who hadn't even learned to walk and talk, much less do push-ups, could be motivated for strenuous regimens.

Women's Business Seminar Set Oct. 30 in Hartford

True to the same original thinking that put the first complimentary "tasting" spoons into ice cream stores 34 years ago, Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Company has launched a nationwide public service effort to explain the in's and out's of franchising to women seeking entrepreneurship.

Marilyn Novak

A free career seminar geared to counseling women who seek career changes or entrepreneurial opportunities has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 30 at the Sheraton Hartford Hotel in Hartford.

The Baskin-Robbins franchise system is one of inter-dependence, where a woman is not suddenly on her own in the business world, as she would be with a boutique or other small business, but she has the back-up of major national advertising and marketing assistance plus a product that's well-loved by the public.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—We have warned in past columns that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is working with his Soviet mentors to undermine neighboring regimes throughout Latin America.

Now State Department experts have seen evidence of precisely this danger in the sun-blessed, troubled island of Jamaica, just south of Cuba.

This follows leftists gains in nearby Grenada and Nicaragua. U.S. intelligence sources report that Jamaican Prime Minister Michael Manley has been making use of Soviet and Cuban intelligence agents.

The disturbing results: He has moved his government sharply to the left in the past year. The possible tilt toward another communist triumph in the Caribbean has caused a major brouhaha at Foggy Bottom.

It is the subject of a series of secret memos to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

One confidential memo warns that Manley has "fairly well-established record of increasingly intimate contact with Soviet KGB personnel in Jamaica."

A possible innocent reason for Manley's ties to the Soviet secret police is suggested in another State Department memo: He may be using the KGB as a counterweight to the real or fancied operations of our Central Intelligence Agency.

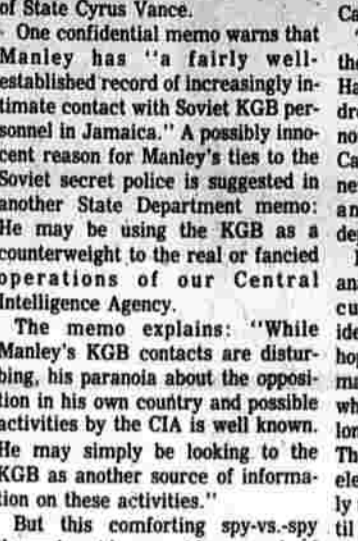

The memo explains: "While Manley's KGB contacts are disturbing, his paranoia about the opposition in his own country and possible activities by the CIA is well known. He may simply be looking to the KGB as another source of information on these activities."

But this comforting spy-vs-spy theory is not borne out by a couple of recent developments. One was a visit to Cuba by Manley's foreign minister, P.J. Patterson, in the course of which he endorsed Castro's positions on everything from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo to the Camp David accord.

Then Manley himself appeared at the meeting of non-aligned nations in Havana a few weeks ago. In his address, the Jamaican prime minister not only paid elaborate tribute to Castro, but spoke favorably of the new leftist government in Grenada and of the Puerto Rican independence movement.

In other words, State Department analysts fear that Manley may be ceding up to the KGB for ideological reasons. They have one hope for the situation — that Manley may have left his supporters behind when he turned left, and may no longer be in control of his own party.

Richard Schweiker

Congress, and Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., has asked for a General Accounting Office audit of the grants given to Jamaica.

If the administration decides on the drastic step of aid cutoff, it would reverse the position laid down by the State Department in an economic report just one year ago.

Meanwhile, the Jamaican question and the way it is handled may provide a clue to the winner of the long-smoldering policy feud between the present economic crisis, correct structural weaknesses that contributed to that crisis and continue its economic and social development line in the Caribbean, while Vance, the classified report advised.

Lee Roderick Cuba: Watermark of American Power

WASHINGTON—... Historians of the future will be hard pressed to explain how it was that the United States in the 1970's permitted a tiny hostile nation 90 miles from its own shores to assume the role of a superpower, at least in terms of its influence on military events in the non-industrial world.

That lament by Sen. Sam Nunn (D-Ga.) came the day after his fellow Georgian, President Carter, said before a national television audience to outline his response — or lack thereof — to the Soviet combat troops in Cuba.

Carter tried to put the best face possible on what was simply a failure of U.S. policy to force the Soviets to remove the estimated 2,600 troops. He even invoked the name of John F. Kennedy, saying the moves he is making are a "reaffirmation" of Kennedy's declaration in 1963 "that we would not permit any troops from Cuba to move off the island of Cuba in any offensive action against any neighboring countries."

But the contrast between Kennedy's handling of the Russians in Cuba and Carter's handling of them this time around could not be more stark. Confronted with the reality of superior American power, in 1962, it was the Soviets who blinked. This time, the United States blinked.

American power vis-a-vis the Soviet Union has declined drastically in the 17 years since the Cuba missile crisis. Future historians may well point to Cuba and 1979 as the watermark that confirmed the reality of that decline.

To be sure, the threats of 1962 and 1979 are vastly different. Armageddon indeed was at the door after President Kennedy ordered the blockade of Cuba in the fall of 1962 to force the removal of Soviet missiles.

This time it is a combat brigade and the United States in the words of the State Department, has "forces which to this are as a giant to an ant."

Except for a few semi-paramilitary State Department spokesman Hodding Carter testily told reporters, "no one believes 2,500 troops constitutes a threat to American security."

Why then all the fuss? Was this crisis on a par with President Carter's response to it, as described by Utah Sen. Orrin Hatch: "... full of sound, but lacking the fury, and signifying nothing."

The real point, it seems to me, is that whatever the severity of the threat, the Carter administration chose to directly confront Russia on it, and then was forced back down. Both Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and the president himself insisted that the United States would not accept the "status quo" of the Russian combat soldiers in Cuba.

Any reasonable interpretation of that statement surely must mean that the United States would allow combat troops to remain in Cuban soil.

But the administration, in a flight of verbal gymnastics, said it had indeed succeeded in changing the status quo. "First, very clearly," said the State Department, "the president has outlined a number of steps that are going to be taken to protect our interests; and secondly, the Soviets have made certain statements."

Ah yes, those statements. President Carter also mentioned them in his speech the other night. "They (the Russians) have said that the Soviet personnel in Cuba are not and will not be a threat to the United States or to any other nation... the Soviet statements about the future non-combat status of the unit are significant."

And who communicated those assurances to us? The same Andrei Gromyko who, on Oct. 17, 1962, sat opposite President Kennedy in the White House and lied through his teeth in pledging that there were no offensive missiles in Cuba.

For not at least, it looks as if Brzezinski has President Carter's ear. The author of the memos on Jamaica, Undersecretary of State for Inter-American Affairs Viron Vaky, has quietly resigned. William Bowdler, a Brzezinski protégé, will replace him.

Borne's Boonboggle An unpublished General Accounting Office report tips into a provision in Medicare-Medicaid legislation pending in the Senate, charging that it would strip the federal government of controls it now has over U.S. funds used to reimburse nursing home operators.

The measure is being pushed by Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., as a way of saving money. But the GAO auditors found that the savings would be minimal at best.

What really bothers the GAO is that the Boren provision would allow states to revert to variations of the old system that paid nursing home proprietors a flat fee for services to Medicare patients. This let unscrupulous operators spend as little as they could get away with on their patients, and pocket the money they saved by shortchanging their patients.

Such shenanigans are often curtailed by federal regulations requiring nursing home operators to file detailed cost reports with the state agencies that disburse Medicare funds before they could get their money.

The Boren measure, the GAO warns: "It appears that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would not have authority to disapprove state nursing home payment methods and standards... Enforcement would appear to effectively remove HEW from the rate-setting process."

In other words, Uncle Sam would be handing out the money without any say in the way it was spent — or misspent.

Boren, incidentally, received 116,450 in campaign contributions from nursing home operators in his state last year.

Thoughts Prayer is to one's spirit what breathing is to one's lungs. Faith in God puts into the atmosphere of life what is vital to one's soul as is oxygen to one's body. Many of us become at times peevish, ill at ease, peevish depressed.

It is because we have not realized that communion with God through Christ is the most important phase of our lives. Religion is not an extra. It is a deep necessity for living life to the fullest.

It makes the seemingly trivial act of duty or service a stone in God's eternal building. It opens into our love a perennial spring that nothing can dry up.

The high moments of life are those in which the Spirit of Christ impels us into some act of human service.

At the opening of this month of November — a month when the theme of our lives should be thankfulness — we ought to thank God for the gift of each day in which we can exemplify what our faith means to us by pouring out our concerns for those less fortunate than ourselves. In many occasions for service to others, a sense of true gratitude and thanksgiving will automatically result.

Leadership Districts Concerns To the editor: Election time is getting close. Nov. 6 is only a few short weeks away. Do the residents of the Eighth District remember what happened back in March of 1978? Will we allow these same people a second chance to threaten our existence?

Nov. 6, let the politicians of our town know that we, the people, are united. They have proved to us it's time for a change of leadership. They have tried to force issues upon us. They were elected to serve the people. We are still known as Manchester. Manchester has paid fire department and a volunteer fire department. The volunteer fire department exists in the Eighth District.

The consolidation issue is not the only proof of how our present politicians have shown their lack of concern for the wishes of the people. Let the people of Manchester, all the people, stop and think, "Are politicians supposed to listen to us? Or are the people supposed to listen to the politicians?" The residents of the Eighth District have always considered themselves as a part of Manchester. Will the people of Manchester help the Eighth District keep its existence?

The Eighth District is an added bonus to this town. We have a volunteer fire department consisting of 80 members, with the latest fire fighting equipment, ready to help the paid fire department in any way possible to insure the safety of the residents of Manchester. In reality, Manchester has an additional fire department of 80 members without having to pay the higher taxes that would be needed to pay the salaries since we are volunteers. Please help us keep our existence by giving us proper leadership this Nov. 6.

All that I am saying is the people of Manchester stop and think before they vote as to who will serve them the best. Clancy Allan 47 E. Middle Turnpike Manchester Chairman Eighth is Great Committee

Funding Questioned proceeding against the voters' HUD referendum result? I would not call that action a "charitable deed." I would call it a political deed. I don't believe the United Way of Greater Hartford should expect one penny from Manchester's citizens while they support the Legal Aid Society's political ideologies. Burton D. Pearl, 489 Main St., Manchester.

Thoughts ApLENTY

By Len Auster - "I love to score. I've been a forward since day one," relates Jeff Lombardo, the new all-time leading career scorer in Manchester High school history.

"He is a terrific offensive player. He's a great one-on-one player," votes veteran Indian Coach Dick Danielson.

Lombardo notched his 48th, 49th and 50th goals of his varsity career Tuesday in a 6-1 romp over Fernal to assume ownership of the school record.

"It is important to me," Lombardo spoke Monday of the record, "but my dream is to make the state finals. I remember when (older brother) Mike was a junior and I was like the team mascot. I remember how great it was, getting to the final in the ultimate goal."

"It seems like when he started he was told he was a scorer. And he has been an offensive threat," Danielson states. "He has the ability to be in the right place at the right time," he adds of his left-footed left wing, "and he has put some shots into the net from impossible angles."

Lombardo, closing in on the single season mark, also holds the school mark for goals in a game. He drilled five home in an 8-4 win over Windham after the Whippets had taken a quick 3-0 lead.

"When he sets his mind to something, he will do it. He showed it in the Windham game," recalls Danielson of the stellar performer.

East has gone from a pass-pass-pass team to a run-run-run team and that leaves me wondering... Coach Jack Holik's gridders hurt themselves in losses to Penney and East Hartford with penalties. The infractions were minimized, improvement was seen, but a missed extra point and a fumble cost the team.

Artistic Runner Breaks Tradition

By EARL YOST - Once again the most unique and original envelope containing a signed entry blank for the 1979 Five Mile Road Race in Manchester Thanksgiving morning arrived from David Low.

The entry list now numbers better than 1,000 for the race four weeks from today. Just as he has been doing for the last eight years, the 25-year-old Low used his artistic talents in printing the words in Old English on both his entry and the envelope to the sponsoring Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

For the first time ever, the one-time Bennet Junior High student in Manchester, who now resides in Brookline, Mass., featured a member of the opposite sex in the stamps used on the envelope... "It was a pleasure to enter this race each year."

The captain on the envelope reads, "It's getting tougher and tougher to keep up with these women runners!"

Viridon Celebrates Managerial Honor

NEW YORK (UPI) - Recognizing that past accomplishments will not help him win future games, the Houston Astros' Bill Viridon celebrated his selection as the 1979 UPI National League's Manager of the Year by looking ahead.

"Well, '79 is over and '80 is coming up," Viridon said Tuesday after learning the result of the vote. "We are planning, we're thinking about the new season. We think last season was a good step in the direction of becoming a strong club. But we have to improve."

Viridon, 48, has managed the Astros for the past five seasons and 1979 was the most successful by far. Houston, despite league-low totals of runs (583) and home runs (49), remained in contention in the NL West until the last week of the season.

That performance made Viridon an easy winner in a balloting of 30 UPI baseball correspondents throughout the country. He received 16 first-place votes compared to seven for runner-up Dick Williams of Montreal. Williams managed Montreal to a second-place finish behind the eventual World Series champion Pittsburgh Pirates, in the East.

John McNamara, whose Cincinnati Reds beat the Astros for the NL West title, was third with six votes and Chuck Tanner, manager of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, received only one mention.

In 1978, the Astros finished in fifth place in the division with a 74-88 record. During the 1979 season, however, the Astros became a respected team. "People suddenly became more aware that we were for real," Viridon said.

Whalers Deadlock Nordiques

QUEBEC (UPI) - The Quebec Nordiques were looking for their first win against the Hartford Whalers since last March, but Al Sims was not going to let the Nordiques get 10-445 spectators that pleasure.

With 1:20 left in the game Wednesday night, Sims fired a shot past Quebec netminder Michel Dion to tie the match 2-2.

Quebec Coach Jacques Demers attributed the tie to Hartford goalie John Garrett.

"I'm disappointed we lost our lead," said Demers. "We were beaten by a better goaltender. We dominated them the first 10 minutes of play, but Garrett kept them in there save after save."

In the first period, the Nordiques outshot the Whalers 11-8 but they were unable to beat Garrett until the 13:39 mark when Gordie Roberts coughed up the puck in his own zone allowing Paul Baxter an unassisted goal.

Demers noted that superstar Marc Tardif and Alain Cole were missing from his lineup - and it hurt.

He also felt the game itself paled beside a 3-0 win over the Black Hawks last Sunday. "It was perhaps a letdown after our victory in Chicago," he said.

The legendary Gordie Howe, entering his 31st year of professional hockey, summarized the game succinctly. "A hockey game is a hockey game. You're never out of it until you're out of it."

Howe, who left the NHL in 1972 to go to the now-defunct World Hockey Association, said the NHL game hasn't changed much. "The game is what I'm a little slower."

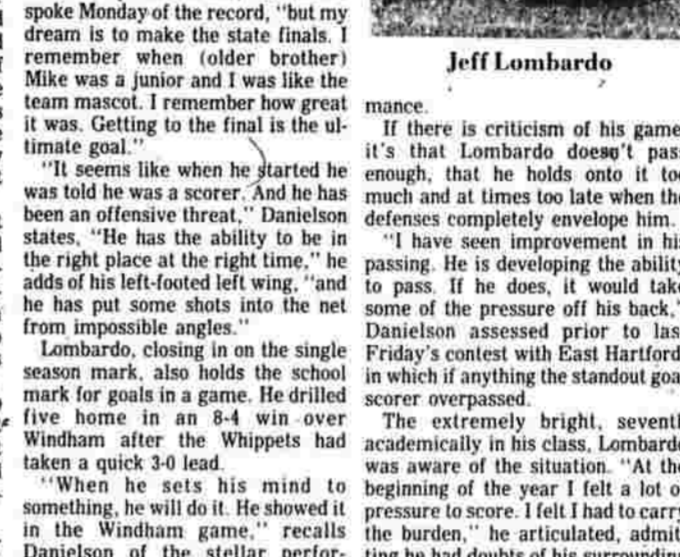

Whaler Coach Don Blackburn said his team is playing differently than last year in the WHA. "Both Quebec and ourselves have altered our style for the NHL. We play a much tighter game now than we used to."

Money Not Only Reason

NEW YORK (UPI) — Money alone wasn't the only reason Ducky Dent decided to become a free agent. Last year's Yankee hero says this past season was the most ungratifying one he has put in since he began playing ball. Too much hubbub, too much hassle, too much hating. If the Yanks don't succeed in signing him again, and they're trying, look for Dent to wind up with the California Angels. He likes them and they like him ...

Raymond Clayborn, the New England Patriots' defensive back who was fined $2,000 by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for hitting a sports writer, seems to be having some trouble making up his mind what to do about it. First, he said he'd appeal and now he says he won't ...

Mets' catcher John Stearns is telling all his bachelor buddies goodbye. He'll be married in Boulder, Colo., Saturday, and he and his bride, Martha Jo, will honeymoon in Japan where he will be among a touring group of big league All-Stars ...

Bud Selig, the boss of the Milwaukee Brewers, has a strong complaint regarding the makeup of UPI's American League All-Star team. He's burned up because not a single member of the Brewers was named to the team. "It's outrageous," Selig says. "We had four guys who hit .300 and three with over 100 runs batted in. The team we had on the field was as good, if not better, as any other in baseball. We won 66 games, and you mean to tell me one of our players rates being on your All-Star team? You'll never get me to accept that."

San Francisco Giants Manager Dave Bristol says Pittsburgh Pirates' Manager Chuck Tanner should be given more credit for their success. "He's in the prime of his management," he knows enough to stay in the background and the thing that impresses me so much about him is he isn't afraid to do something

Rangers' Spree Routs Edmonton

NEW YORK (UPI) — After it was over, the New York Rangers' goalie John Davidson Wednesday night, when the Rangers skated over, around and through the Edmonton Oilers' defense en route to a 10-2 rout.

The first five shots and two goals were fired at goalie Dave Dryden, who was replaced just 4:31 into the game. The next 42 shots and eight goals went in the direction of Ed Mio. "The team was standing still," said Oilers' Coach Glen Sather, "so I figured I might as well get Dryden out of there and see if the guys would play for Eddie."

Portland Record Remains Spotless

NEW YORK (UPI) — Denver's David Thompson scored 19 points, but the two that got away hurt the most. "I came down to the basket and got bumped around by two or three guys," Thompson said Wednesday night, after missing a last-second shot that enabled the Portland Trail Blazers to hold on for an 88-87 victory over the Denver Nuggets.

Tribe Tankers Win, Controversy Reigns

There was a sense of emptiness and a touch of controversy, as Manchester High outpointed crossstown East Catholic, 90-82, in girls swimming action yesterday at the Indians' pool.

Empiness because East senior tri-captain Karin McCaffrey, swimming the leadoff leg for the No. 1 400-yard relay quartet, suffered a dizzy spell and was forced to stop. Swimmers were churning on each side of her in the day's final event, but the action became secondary.

Controversy because scoring in the No. 5 event, was in error and in fact the Eagleslet led going into the final relay, 90-78, instead of trailing by that margin.

"I can understand why he's angry," stated Manchester Coach Dave Frost, acknowledging the displeasure of East Coach Ralph Viola over the mix-up in the scoring.

Now that the television money to be distributed is running into tens of millions of dollars for the 1980 Olympics in Moscow, it's no surprise the 21 international governing bodies for each sport, are battling among themselves to get as much of it as they can. Which only goes to prove that all that greed isn't restricted to professional sports ...

Collegians, UConns Tie

Manchester Community College battled the University of Connecticut jayvees to a 1-1 tie in collegiate soccer action yesterday at Cougar Field.

The deadlock leaves the Cougars 7-2-1, the young Huskies 6-1-1. It was a scoreless first half with UConn getting on the board at the 32-minute mark of the second half on a goal by Domingos Carlos.

Bird Reminds Harris Of Young Rick Barry

HOUSTON (UPI) — Larry Bird reminds Coach Del Harris of a young mobile Rick Barry, but just barely. "It's logical to compare the two," said the Houston Rockets' head coach, "because they are both outstanding passing forwards."

But the comparison ended there as Harris saw it. Apparently, he didn't like to talk about a rookie in the same breath as a 14-year veteran guard-guarding Dave (Cowens), Maxwell said.

They are different type players. In Rick's heyday, he was a super driver and a really prolific scorer. "He's got a lot of range," Maxwell said. "They are different type players. In Rick's heyday, he was a super driver and a really prolific scorer."

In two games against the Rockets this season, Bird hasn't shown the dominating scoring ability he possesses as a collegian at Indiana State last year.

Brown Looks For Ivy Help

BOSTON (UPI) — He's one point away from an unbeaten football season, but all Brown football coach John Anderson can hope for is someone can stop the steamrolling Yale Bulldogs.

Costly Improvements
BALTIMORE (UPI) — It would cost about $38 million to make the improvements at Memorial Stadium requested by Baltimore Colts' owner Robert Irsay, a consultant has reported. The price tag, reported Monday by consultant Howard S. Downing Jr., is far higher than Irsay, city or state officials had expected.

Holtz Coach of Week

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — If there's a person who can coach a football team to beat Texas, it's Lou Holtz. He probably could sell refrigerators to Eskimos.

Holtz spreads the praise around when his Razorbacks win, accepts the blame when they lose, and jokes away the importance of the coach.

"Coaching is nothing more than eliminating mistakes before you get fired," he says.

In his third year at Arkansas, Holtz, 42, has eliminated enough to have lost only three games and last Saturday knocked off No. 2 Texas to remain undefeated this season and earn United Press International's national coach of the week award.

"I think it's tremendous to get an award like that," Holtz said. "I feel honored and flattered."

"But you know I don't want anybody to think I won this game with coaching because when fans start thinking we won because I did a great job of coaching, then they are going to say well, gee, he must have lost the last two (because of bad coaching)," he said. "In other words, if people start thinking you win a game with coaching, then they are obviously going to think you lose from coaching. You can lose with coaching, but you don't win with coaching."

It is hard for Arkansas fans to buy his downplay of his coaching abilities. His hard by graduation, the Razorbacks were picked no better than sixth in the Southwest Conference in some preseason rankings. They are now 6-0 and ranked No. 5 in the nation.

"You don't know," Holtz said, "we still might end up sixth in the conference. We have five more conference games to go, but at the beginning of the season, I thought we had a chance to be better than people thought but I thought (running back) Thomas Brown was going to be a great back and in the first two games we lost him (to shoulder surgery) and sort of had to start over."

"Now (running backs) Gary Anderson and Mark Douglas have started coming along and our defense has started to come along. Early in the year, we weren't a good football team but I thought if some good things happened to us and we got good senior leadership, which we obviously have, then we have a chance to be a competitive football team. The more this team wins, the more they believe, the tougher they are to beat."

Holtz would like to see removal of opposition to playoffs for a national championship.

"I definitely think it would be the greatest thing in the world if we had national playoffs," he said. "Even if we had to play Texas again, or Houston or whatever the case should be, I think the championship should be determined on the field."

Pats' Punter Off the Mark

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — It is a position which seemingly breeds loneliness. There is just one punter on each team — and when called upon, he stands 15 yards away from everyone else.

It is a pressure-packed task. Every time a punter is in, all eyes in the stadium are glued on the erect figure with arms forward in anticipation. The same eyes follow the football as it leaves his foot for its suborbital trip downfield.

In the 19-year history of the New England Patriots, only five times has a punter averaged better than 40 yards per boot over a season. With that in mind, New England made Eddie Hare of Tulsa the first punter ever drafted by the team.

Hare impressed the bosses in training camp, beating out veteran Mike Patrick, and becoming the 11th regular punter in team history. But so far this season, he has averaged just 35.8 yards a kick, the only blemish on a team which leads the AFC East with a 6-2 record.

The loneliness of the short-distance punter.

"Punters get about four or five chances in a game so you've got to perform," said the 6-foot-4 Hare, the team's fourth-round draft selection. "Linemen might be able to mull two or three plays in a game and no one notices. But that's one of the hazards of the trade. You can be the hero, or the bum."

Hare, an outstanding baseball pitcher and a two-handicap golfer, averaged 41.9 yards a kick in his three seasons at Tulsa. He was the

Greg Fenton Paces Bolton

Midget football action last weekend saw the Bolton "A" Tigers whip the Hebron Rams, 46-6, and the Bolton "B" squad also trounce Hebron, 38-0.

Greg Fenton led the Bolton "A" squad with five touchdowns on runs of 35, 42, 61, 81, 81 and 52 yards. He rushed for 220 yards and has a total of 1,279 yards in six games. Richard Rose tallied on a 1-yard run. Rose, Ted Brown and Mike Fenton accounted for extra point runs.

Jeff Blach, Chris Mulcahy, Wayne Polansky and Bill Chabot also played well for the "A" team.

Mike McKay tallied on a 3-yard run for Hebron.

Clarence Zachery scored four TDs to pace the Bolton "B" team. He scored on runs of 21, 62 and 61 yards, the 62-yarder the second-half kickoff.

He also tallied on a 40-yard pass from Dave Boiseman. Billy Sheetz scored on a 51-yard run and added three, two-point conversions. Boiseman added a fourth.

Zachery rushed for 218 yards and Sheetz 115. David Curry, Joe Hoffmann and Dave Janton also played well.

Spartans Picked to Upset Buckeyes

By Major Ames B. Hoople
Spartans are picked to upset the Buckeyes.

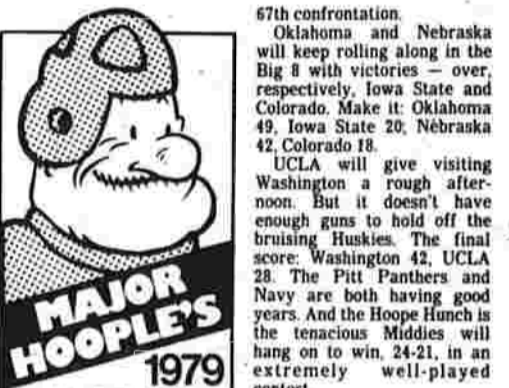

Egal, friends, here we are again to follow the lead of the Hoople appraisal of the Saturday's games. Look for the hoo-bloobies, who frolic at this time of the year, to have some sinner pranks in store for some high-rated teams.

Yes, dear friends, you can expect to see the mischievous gobblins splashing the upset bucket willy-nilly over the beautiful autumnal landscape.

Um-kungah!

The most amazing result forecast by our computers will — half-kaff — come at Columbus, Ohio, where the home-field Ohio State Buckeyes will fall before the determined onslaught of the invading Michigan State Spartans.

Darryl Rogers' Spartans view this game as a chance to live up to their pre-season promise and to move up in the Big 10 standings as well as in the national rankings. In a very interesting afternoon of football, your sage of the side-

Save Energy MONEY AND TIME

The Businesses Listed Below can help your families during the months to come by showing them the best way and more important the most economical way to solve everyday energy needs.

Members of the team designed to show Connecticut residents how to save energy include Don Ed. Lawrence Greene, executive vice president, Savings and Loan League; Don Eden, Savings Banks Association of Connecticut; and Thomas H. Fitzpatrick, undersecretary for energy, Office of Police and Management. The group reviews one of the state energy division's useful booklets.

Energy Packet Available

"Now is the time to weatherize," said Thomas H. Fitzpatrick, undersecretary for energy, State Office of Police and Management.

He added, "About a new conference of the Hartford-Sheraton, 'Less than 30 percent of the homes in Connecticut are adequately insulated. No matter what your financial level, you'll feel the pinch of rising fuel costs this winter.'"

The one major way to help Connecticut residents cope with rising heating fuel costs is to provide them with information on energy conservation.

"About 1 million households in the state can now be reached through the addition of public libraries and member banks of the Savings and Loan League, the Connecticut Bankers Association and the Savings Bank Association of Connecticut to an existing network consisting of 169 town energy coordinators and 10 energy associates."

U.S. Coal Industry Cries for Deregulation

DEBORAH BAKER CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Americans fed up with gasoline lines and oil embargoes are beginning to hear a message from the nation's coalfields.

For years, industry leaders, coal region politicians and miners themselves have been trying to convince the public that the answer to the energy dilemma is to dig more coal.

Over and over, they repeat their message: coal is America's most plentiful domestic energy source and there is enough of it to provide the country with needed energy well into the 21st century.

For years, however, not many people have been listening. While coal is a way of life in some parts of the country, particularly Appalachia, it is little more than a dirty word to other Americans. Oil and natural gas aren't as messy as coal to heat homes, and neither require shoveling of coal on ashes.

But this summer — while thousands waited in line to get gasoline or stayed at home because they couldn't or began to worry about the supply and cost of heating oil this winter — things changed. People began to wonder if coal really could come to the rescue.

The coal industry is ready to respond to its sympathetic audience.

Smarting from 10 years of unprecedented regulation, mainly environmental, the industry wants to hear a message from the nation's coalfields.

But this summer — while thousands waited in line to get gasoline or stayed at home because they couldn't or began to worry about the supply and cost of heating oil this winter — things changed. People began to wonder if coal really could come to the rescue.

The coal industry is ready to respond to its sympathetic audience.

Smarting from 10 years of unprecedented regulation, mainly environmental, the industry wants to hear a message from the nation's coalfields.

For years, industry leaders, coal region politicians and miners themselves have been trying to convince the public that the answer to the energy dilemma is to dig more coal.

Over and over, they repeat their message: coal is America's most plentiful domestic energy source and there is enough of it to provide the country with needed energy well into the 21st century.

For years, however, not many people have been listening. While coal is a way of life in some parts of the country, particularly Appalachia, it is little more than a dirty word to other Americans. Oil and natural gas aren't as messy as coal to heat homes, and neither require shoveling of coal on ashes.

Members Showing At Asylum Hill

HARTFORD—Photography... fiberworks... ceramics... paintings... mixed-media... illustrations... assemblage and other contemporary art works are all part of the "Third Annual Members Show" of the Asylum Hill Artists Cooperative.

Artworks, the gallery of the Cooperative, is showing now through Nov. 11 the works of over fifty member artists, this annual group exhibition celebrates the broadest variety of art forms, while offering the public the opportunity to appreciate the artistic development of area artists united by a mutually supportive environment.

During the past year over 1/5 of the members were awarded individual artists grants, exemplifying the professionalism and dedication of the following member artists: Seigfried Halus, Angelina DeLuca, Karen Pomp, Francine and John Gintoff, Peter Jodanis, Gail Edmonds, Tim Keating, and Irene Reed.

Recognition of the organization's importance in the community is evidenced by grants awarded from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Connecticut Commission on the Arts, the Greater Hartford Arts Council, several foundations, and a major gift of $10,000 in matching funds from the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving.

To capitalize on their own skills and talents the membership selected in addition to more traditional fund-raising efforts to offer the public the opportunity to purchase, from a selection of four, "Patron Prints." Each art work is a limited edition and these works are presently on view at the gallery where further information is available to the community. These works include: "Untitled," photography by Seigfried Halus; "Untitled," photography by Marla Clarke; "Evening of Great Birth," etching by Phil Kaslin; and "A Variation on Black's," collage by Angelina DeLuca.

Although the gallery is open Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., the membership is hosting a special "open house" on Nov. 9 from 4 to 8:30 p.m. at this time the public is invited to meet and chat casually with member artists.

Town Sponsors Explorer Post

MANCHESTER — General Manager Robert B. Weiss, has announced that the Town of Manchester will sponsor a Community Service Explorer Post in conjunction with the Office of Civil Preparedness.

Exploring is a program for young adults, both male and female between the ages of 15 and 20. Developed by Boy Scouts of America, "Exploring" provides an opportunity to nurture and develop the interests of young adults through the resources of the town government.

"I believe that the hope and future of Manchester will be well served by our interested and talented young people," said Weiss. "The Explorer Program will enable us to offer growth and experience in the areas of social activity, vocational and service experience, citizenship and personal fitness," he said.

"Operating as an integral part of the Civil Preparedness Office, the Post will play a key part in Manchester Memorial Hospital staffs that recently got certified by the American Heart Association. ### Students Plan Protest Rally

MANCHESTER — Manchester Community College students are expected to be among the estimated 3,000 to 4,000 students protesting Gov. Grasso's overall 4.2 percent budget cut for state departments.

The students will hold a rally in Bushnell Park today at 1 p.m. and then march on the State Capitol, where four student representatives are hoping to present a petition to the governor.

Bustards of students are expected from the four state colleges and four community colleges besides Manchester. Education officials have warned of dire consequences to their institutions if the budget reductions are approved.

It will be the second march for MCC students this year. Last March, they protested similar cutbacks for the community colleges.

Vernon Leaf Collection Begins in Some Areas

VERNON — The Public Works Department is presently picking up leaves with two leaf vacuum machines in the normally high density areas of leaf fall. The first major leaf pickup will start Nov. 13, Ronald Hine, director of public works said.

Hine said the department is operating at a great disadvantage this year because of the loss of all CETA workers, and the fact that the department has been working on emergency drainage projects.

Starting Nov. 13 the department will be using the leaf vacuum and Hine said it is hoped that the leaf cleanup job will be finished in a week or two. It is a holiday and Hine said this will give residents a long weekend to get the leaves raked for the start of the pickup.

Hine said that after the major pickup the department will continue with two machines right through the first week of December but another major pickup may be necessary then.

Residents are asked to rake leaves to the edge of their property. Hine said that under no circumstances are they to be raked onto pedestrian walks or into the street, as this presents a safety hazard to children and also hinders traffic.

Since most of the pickup is done by vacuum, sticks, stones and dirt should not be mixed with the leaves as they could damage the machine or injure the workers.

For those who do not want to wait for the leaf pickup, leaf bins have been set up but residents should note that the leaf bins previously set up on Chamberlain Street and Walker Terrace have been removed and two others have been added, one on the edge of Werner Drive and one on Valerie Drive.

Other bins are located at the following places: Route 30, across from Hillside Avenue; Taylor Street, at the railroad right-of-way; Church Street, along the railroad right-of-way; the glass recycling center on West Street; Hale Street near the Pulling School; Werner Drive; and Valerie Drive near the intersection with Cathy Drive.

Contractors tend to rake leaves and make deposits at the glass recycling center bin or on Route 30, opposite Hillside Avenue.

Leaves in plastic bags will also be collected. Up to five bags will be taken by the regular refuse collection. Those having more than five bags will have to wait for a special truck, Hine said.

Anyone who would like leaves to be used as compost or ground cover should call the public works department, 875-5072.

Hine also reminds residents that because the trucks and equipment are needed to carry out the leaf program and snow operations in the winter, the monthly pickup of large items has been discontinued until spring. This includes brush pickup also but brush will be picked up by the regular refuse crew if collected in bundles of no more than three feet in length and placed at the curbside with the regular refuse.

Meetings Set on Reuse Of Historical Buildings

MANCHESTER — The Cheney National Historic District Commission and its Boston consultant will hold a series of meetings next week to discuss the reuse of the district's major industrial and non-residential buildings.

Once the brainstorming sessions are completed, the information will be incorporated in a development plan for the district. The study is scheduled for completion by Jan. 1.

"These sessions are extremely important as a means for our community to provide the consultant with the needs, interests and direction to be taken in reusing the district in the future so that the district will again become a vital part of Manchester's fabric," said William Fitzgerald, vice chairman of the Cheney Commission.

The consultant from Anderson Nutter Fineman Inc. of Boston will make an initial presentation in the Municipal Building Monday at 4 p.m. The consultant will meet with the Board of Directors, town manager, Planning & Zoning Commission and the Cheney Commission at 7:30 p.m. Sessions will be held throughout the day Tuesday at Lincoln Center and Bennet Junior High School with the Town staff and owners of the district buildings.

On Wednesday, at 8:30 a.m., the consultant will hold a final session with representatives from the two political parties, the Manchester Housing Authority and various civic groups" in the Municipal Building's hearing room.

During the first phase of the project, the consultant collected information of each building and studied the economic market for some commercial and residential uses.

The study has been funded with the assistance of a matching grant-in-aid from the U.S. Department of the Interior, Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, through the Connecticut Historical Commission, under provisions of the National Historical Preservation Act of 1966.

Higher Interest Rates Mean Profit for Town

MANCHESTER — Town Treasurer Roger M. Negro said Wednesday that due to higher than expected interest rates, the town will profit by a possible $300,000 in additional revenue.

Negro said banks find competitive bidding on town deposits and repurchase agreements more financially rewarding now. He said this has helped the town's financial picture.

The due date is the date the money is released to the town. Negro said low bid was 13 percent with the high bid being 13.52 percent. He said the town's deposit.

Negro said he initiated the investment technique for the town's money. He said, "A total of $1,093,000 was put out to bid. The due date was 35-49 days."

Favors Two Tax Payments

SOUTH WINDSOR — Stating that his philosophy has always been that government shouldn't tax citizens until that tax is necessary for the vital running of government, Ed Havens, Democratic candidate for re-election to the Town Council, said he would like the two-payment car tax implemented in South Windsor.

He said that with the high cost of living today it would be easier for a resident or businessman to make these payments in two installments.

"We have residents in town who are on fixed incomes and businesses, which operate many vehicles, which would benefit from this two-payment system without adversely affecting the high prime rates means greater income."

Parking Ban Due Nov. 1

MANCHESTER — A local ordinance prohibits overnight parking on public highways from Nov. 1 until Dec. 31, the Manchester Police Department pointed out today.

The statute bans parking "on any public highway or designated municipally-owned, leased or operated off-street parking area or lot in the Town of Manchester" between 2 and 6 a.m.

The ban is enforced during the winter months to speed snow removal operations. A violation carries a $5 fine, the department said.

Police Report

VERNON — Vernon Police are investigating the report of an armed robbery Wednesday at the Mt. Vernon Dairy Store in the Post Road Plaza, Route 30.

Police said the female clerk in the store said a lone white male, brandished a pocket knife and demanded the money from the cash register and left in what was believed to be a brown sedan.

The bandit was described as wearing a knitted ski mask over his head and face, about five-foot eleven inches tall, and 20 to 25 years of age.

Police said an undetermined amount of money was taken. No injuries were reported.

Douglas Milanese, 35, of Eastford, was charged Wednesday with first-degree criminal trespassing in connection with the investigation of a complaint that he refused to leave a home on Grove Street.

He was released on his promise to appear in court in Rockville on Oct. 30.

Donald Collins, 20, of 52 Hammond St., Rockville, was charged Wednesday with reckless driving, misuse of registration plates and driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Police said the alleged violations occurred on Union Street. His court answer date is Oct. 30.

Rec Director Opposes Combining Departments

BOLTON — Gil Boisoneau, recreation director, said at this time he is against combining the rec and park departments.

Boisoneau said the two groups have different budgets and different problems and he doesn't think combining them into one group would be in the best interest of the rec department.

The Board of Selectmen held a special meeting Tuesday to discuss the possibility of combining the two departments. The meeting was attended by two people, Stanley Bates, park director, and Ernest Shepperd, former selectman.

Boisoneau said he was not notified of the meeting either by phone or by letter. He said, "If I had known about it I would have been there."

The supper will be preceded by a First Degree installation of new members.

Italian Night

BOLTON — The Knights of Columbus of St. Maurice Church will have its annual Italian Night supper Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the church parish center.

The supper will be preceded by a First Degree installation of new members.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is for HURT MOTHER, who did so much for her daughter while father did nothing. And now father is respected and adored.

For the first 25 years of our marriage, my husband was either working, sleeping or in taverns, so I was both mother and father to our children. I was the one who made them wash the dishes, from their clothes and do their homework. I also punished them when necessary, so of course, I was the "mean" one. The children grew up to adore their father, but they had many harsh words for me.

Our children are now married, with children of their own. They have just begun to realize that their father did nothing that fathers are supposed to do, so when they telephone us, they ask, "Is Mom there?"

My husband asks me, "How come they never ask for ME?" I'm reminded of the old saying, "The only ones who don't make any mistakes are the ones who don't do anything."

Some day your daughter will realize that.

NOT HURT ANMORE

DEAR ABBY: The letter from HURT MOTHER jogged my memory. She said she had done everything for her children who had had nothing.

Well, if I may be permitted my 2 cents worth. My mother also did a lot for us children, but she spent twice as much time reminding us of it.

She also spent a lot of time comparing her children. Poor dad didn't have time to barge on his sacrifices or make comparisons because he was too busy busting his butt to feed us. He did, however, let us know he loved his one of us for what we were.

I took me a long time to come to terms with my feelings for my mother. I've tried time and time again to tell her about it, but she always ended in an argument, so I finally gave up.

I am now the mother of two daughters. I do a lot for them, but I don't think I must be a "good mother," but because I enjoy it. I hope that when my daughters have children of their own, their childhood memories of "mother" will be ones of security and love - not guilt and disapproval.

BEEN THERE BUT NOT GOING BACK

DEAR ABBY: HURT MOTHER complained because her college-age daughter knocked herself out showing respect and love for her father (he was never around when she was growing up), but had very little consideration for her mother, who did everything for her. Daughter gave father a beautiful, expensive gift for Father's Day, but on Mother's Day, it was "Sorry, Mom, I never got around to getting you anything."

You explained it by saying that daughter was probably so accustomed to seeing her mother around that she was taken for granted, but she saw so little of dad that he was a "special treat."

That's no doubt true, but I think there's another angle. Fred was right when he said there is always a special attraction between a child and the parent of the opposite sex. Mothers usually favor their sons, and fathers favor daughters, and vice versa. Also, mothers and daughters tend to be competitive, as are fathers and sons, hence the favoritism shown today by his daughter.

Please tell HURT MOTHER this, it might make her feel better.

AMATEUR PSYCHOLOGIST

DEAR AMATEUR: I did, and I hope it does. And your "amateur" analysis is right out.

Your Birthday

Oct. 25, 1979

This coming year is likely to be a far more active one than you've experienced in quite some time. Lots of travel for pleasure could be in the offing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone who has been on your mind but with whom you haven't been in touch with as much as you'd like may try to reach you today. If this person doesn't call you, call her. How to get along with other signs is one of the sections you'll enjoy in your new Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Bedford Station, N.Y. 10519. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today and tomorrow you may have a few more opportunities than usual to add to your resources. Keep your eyes and ears open.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You are likely to fare better today in things affecting your self-interests if you follow your instincts rather than the advice of persons who don't have the whole picture.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Be helpful to one who needs your assistance today, but do so in a manner which will not make the person feel embarrassed or obligated. Stand up for what you believe in.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Take advantage of any opportunities offered today or tomorrow where you can make new acquaintances. Something good could develop.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is a good day to tackle situations you've been putting off because you've been too busy with too many difficulties involved. The track is now clear.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Plan your moves carefully today. What you may conceive could have far-reaching beneficial effects. Don't expect immediate results, however.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have the ability today to ferret out the real facts and are being flooded by surface appearances. Do not attempt to probe.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your greatest asset today is your spirit of cooperation and compromise. Others, in turn, will be encouraged to do the same for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This can be a very productive day if you treat your responsibilities and duties with the seriousness they deserve. Take pride in your work.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) When it comes to getting things organized today, you're likely to far outshine your peers and associates, especially if it means putting together a social affair.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have a surprising amount of determination and resolve to draw upon today. Don't be intimidated by challenging situations. Stand up for what you believe in.

Forcing bid muddies play

New look at the West hand. He has a tough lead. Any lead may be a loser. If he is playing in a duplicate game he can ask North if there was any special significance to the "showed strength." "It asked for help." Or what is very likely "It is a totally non-descript forcing bid."

At this stage of the proceedings West is likely to come to the conclusion that South bid three clubs in order to stop a club lead. So West opens a club lead. So West opens a club lead. So West opens a club lead.
