WHAT'S NEWS

Clocks Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation will return to standard time Sunday morning when clocks will be turned back an hour.

Under the Uniform Time Act of 1966, most of the United States goes on daylight savings time the last Sunday in April, then returns to standard time the last Sunday in October. The changeovers occur at 2 a.m. local time, when clocks are set forward an hour in April, and turned back an hour in October.

The change affects all states but Arizona, Hawaii and parts of Indiana, which have exempted themselves under provisions of the law.

Road Deaths

HARTFORD (UPI) — Motor vehicle officials Friday said the state appeared certain to set a gruesome record for traffic deaths this year — with an area of northwestern Connecticut having one of the highest tolls.

Motor Vehicle Department spokesman Don Byers said the count stood at 467 Friday — six higher than the 461 who died on the state's highways last year.

"Unless everyone just stops driving (in the last two months of the year), we can't help but top the all-time record of 517 deaths we had in 1973," spokeswoman Kitty Sibrasz said.

Clergymen in the towns of Sharon and Salisbury — where 11 people have died in traffic accidents in less than a year — called a public meeting next Monday to start a "Campaign for Children's Survival."

Stocks Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bargain hunters pushed stocks higher Friday in fairly active trading, but Wall Street closed out the losing week talking about the Federal Reserve's $3.7 billion money supply calculating mistake.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which by midday had surrendered most of a 5-point initial surge, wound up with a gain of 3.84 points to 899.30. The closely watched average, which hit a 10-month low with a 2.90-point loss Thursday, shed 5.38 points for the week.

The New York Stock Exchange index rose 0.36 to 56.97 and the price of a share added 18 cents. Advances topped declines, 934 to 524, among the 1,860 issues traded at 4 p.m. EDT.

Cancer Statistics Cited by N-Critic

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — The utility also has questioned the way Sternglass compiled his data.

Sternglass presented a report tying radiation from atomic bomb testing and nuclear power plants to cancer death rates before a congressional committee last year.

He also predicted a "significant increase" in infant mortality rates in the immediate area of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant near Harrisburgh, Pa., as a result of the nuclear accident at the plant earlier this year.

Sternglass said he couldn't determine whether cancer and other disease rates will increase more in Connecticut when the Millstone II nuclear plant goes on line at Waterford because he didn't know how tightly radiation will be contained.

He said he originally believed nuclear plants could be constructed and operated without releases of radiation. He said his study showed no unusual cancer death rate in the New London area until the Millstone plants went on line, despite the presence of nuclear submarines in the area for many years earlier.

But after the nuclear plants were opened, Sternglass said the cancer rate in New London, which neighbors Waterford, were up by 44 percent for his study period.

Dr. Ernest Sternglass said his studies showed a noticeable increase in cancer deaths in Connecticut and neighboring Rhode Island since Connecticut's three nuclear power plants were built, adding that the worst was still to come.

"Some cancers will not show up for another 20 years," Sternglass said. "We have not seen by any means the total number of deaths involved."

He said the rate of deaths in the southeastern Connecticut town of Waterford surpassed the rate of births for the first time in the town's history within several years of the opening of the Millstone I and II nuclear plants.

"The town is dying," said Sternglass, a professor of radiological physics in the Pittsburgh college's medical school. His findings have been questioned by Northeast Utilities which operates the Millstone plants — the state's largest — and the Connecticut Yankee nuclear plant in Haddam.

Korean President Dies in Shooting

Park Chung-hee

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — President Park Chung-hee, 62, was shot to death by the head of Korea's Central Intelligence Agency during a dinner party Friday night in his presidential mansion, the government announced.

Prime Minister Choi Khy Hah was named president during an emergency Cabinet meeting in the early morning hours Saturday.

The government declared martial law and U.S. troops were placed on alert.

A terse government announcement said Park had attended a dinner party hosted by Kim Jae Kyu, head of the Korean CIA, when an argument developed between Kim and Park's chief bodyguard, identified as Cha Ji-Chul.

Kim started shooting, mortally wounding the president, the bodyguard and four other people.

Park was rushed to a military hospital and pronounced dead at 7:50 p.m. (6:50 a.m. EDT).

The government spokesman, Kim Seong-jin, minister of culture and information, said the killer was being held by martial law authorities following the bloodbath in the "Blue House," the presidential mansion.

Government tanks surrounded the mansion Saturday.

The government plans to hold a state funeral, he said, calling on the people to join in mourning the late president.

Park's 18-year regime had come under increasing pressure from students and others who rioted in two cities last week demanding an end to his authoritarian rule.

The confirmation of Park's death followed two hours of worldwide confusion over his fate.

years, first as leader of a military junta and for the last 16 years as an elected president. A 1972 constitution gave him sweeping executive powers.

In a clear warning to Communist North Korea not to exploit the internal tension, the United States quickly placed the 2nd Infantry Division, the principal U.S. force among some 30,000 U.S. troops in South Korea, on alert status, a Pentagon source said.

A terse statement from the State Department said:

"We have been advised of the developments in the Republic of Korea. The United States regards the matter as an internal one for the Republic of Korea and urges restraint on the part of all.

"The U.S. government also wishes to make clear that it will react strongly in accordance with its treaty obligations to the Republic of Korea to any external attempt to exploit the situation in the Republic of Korea."

Neither the State Department statement nor the pre-dawn announcement in Seoul explained what had happened to Park, whose authoritarian 18-year regime had come under increasing protest from his countrymen, as well as the United States.

The capital itself was quiet early Saturday morning and residents reported no unusual troop movements or other signs of a coup.

Thousands of troops were sent into the cities of Pusan and Masan last week after student-led riots erupted against the government.

The government spokesman in Seoul said martial law had been declared throughout the country except for the southernmost island of Cheju.

Peraro Will Try Again To Settle Olin Strike

HARTFORD (UPI) — Labor Department officials Friday said Commissioner P. Joseph Peraro will intercede in the long, bitter strike at Olin Corp.'s Winchester gun making plants in New Haven.

"He will re-enter the negotiations," spokesman Richard Ficks said. "My best guess at the moment is it will be next week, probably early."

Peraro, a former mediator, has successfully stepped into several other lengthy strikes in recent months. But an earlier effort to end the Olin dispute, which has resulted in several picket line arrests, was unsuccessful.

"He was in it once before and had a long meeting with both sides several weeks ago. Nothing resulted," Ficks said. "It appears now that his intervention may be more timely."

Olin officials Thursday did not attend a session called by New Haven Mayor Frank Logue, who had hoped to get both sides together to talk about the major unresolved area — a grievance procedure.

About 1,350 union machinists left their jobs at Olin's plants more than 14 weeks ago. The company brought in replacement workers two weeks ago. Logue had closed the plant four days to avoid confrontations between the new workers and pickets, but a superior court judge ordered the mayor to let the factories open.

Logue, obviously upset at the company's action, said he would step out of the negotiations.

"We have a non-meeting," Logue said Friday. "We'd spent about a week talking to both parties, trying to resolve the principal outstanding issue. But the company decided not to come to the meeting, which was very regrettable.

"I don't know what happens next. Maybe the company starts thinking about resuming bargaining. I expect that the commissioner will call a meeting. I'm not going to exercise any initiative. I'll be available but I'm not going to be summoning them or making proposals to them at this point."

Peraro said Logue had "made a real valiant attempt" and warned "if we call a meeting, the company will be ill-advised not to come."

Ficks said the commissioner was "aware the company has not participated in some of the meetings. It's his hope they will participate next week."

U.S. Puzzled Over Fireball

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A fireball spotted by a sophisticated American satellite somewhere in the southern hemisphere last month left the government mystified Friday whether it was a nuclear test — or just nature's own spectacular.

After poring over the evidence, and wishing he had more facts on hand, a senior Defense Department official said, "My own characterization of the verdict would be that it's possible there was a nuclear explosion there. But we cannot be confident there was one."

One worry among government officials is that South Africa may have detonated a low-level nuclear blast as a test, which could indicate it has the capability of developing nuclear weapons.

South African Prime Minister P.K. Botha, who last year assured the United States he would not take such action, said South Africa had not detonated any nuclear device. He suggested checking other countries, including China.

Despite that denial, the possibility of South Africa with nuclear weapons raised hackles at the United Nations, and the General Assembly urged U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to investigate.

The United States, meanwhile, was trying to put together a clear picture of what happened.

A senior defense official said the double flash of very bright light was picked up Sept. 22 by a U.S. satellite designed specifically to detect nuclear tests. He said the light curve recorded by the satellite was consistent with a low-yield nuclear explosion.

The 511-pound satellite, which orbits the earth at altitudes ranging from 4,700 to 60,000 nautical miles, detects and records light flashes, but does not pinpoint location or type or explosion. That is generally done by supporting forces — seismic, radiation or human intelligence.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Saturday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1979 with 65 to follow. The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus. Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio. Theodore Roosevelt, 26th president of the United States, was born Oct. 27, 1858. On this day in history: In 1871, the political chief of New York's Tammany Hall - Boss Tweed - was arrested on charges of defrauding the city. In 1904, the first practical subway began operating in New York City - from the Brooklyn Bridge to 145th St. in Manhattan. In 1961, the United Nations adopted a resolution protesting Russian detonation of a 50-megaton atomic bomb. In 1978, the Nobel Peace Prize was awarded jointly to Egyptian President Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Begin.

A thought for the day: President Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt said, "The first requisite of a good citizen in this republic is that he shall be able and willing to pull his weight."

3.1 Cent Coil Stamp First for Non-Profit

By RUSS MacKENDRICK This 3.1-cent coil type is the first stamp made specifically for non-profit organizations. There have been embossed envelopes, but never a stamp. It was slated for release without fanfare at Shreveport, Louisiana, on Oct. 25. The color is brown on a canary base. As we see, it continues the Americana Series with a guitar and the well-known curving inscription - this time saying "Listen With Love to the Music of the Land." Note the tiny "Non-Profit Org." A story in Linn's Stamp News indicates that they are valid for any postage - five will carry a letter.

Previous stamps in the series with a musical theme showed saxophones, a drum and a Steinway grand piano. They were also coils with oddball values for bulk mailing: 7.7, 7.9 and 8.4 cents. First-day cancellations for the 3.1-cent stamp may be obtained from the USPS ("3.1-cent stamp, Postmaster, Shreveport, LA 71107"). They will also affix a Jimmie Rodgers 13-cent (another guitar picture). Self-addressed envelopes should be enclosed together with 17 cents for each cover. The deadline for a postmarked order is Nov. 23.

The stamps will be sold to bulk mail users in pre-cancelled form. Collectors may get them naked from philatelic centers or from the Sales Branch in Washington. You have to say at the time and need 30 to be assured of a line pair.

Some other releases this month were the Christmas stamps on the 18th - again even before Halloween. (The first 11 years of Christmas stamps come out in November). The new ones are small like the regular issues. There are a Madonna and Child on one and a picture of a gingerbread Santa in the shape of a tree ornament on the other. They are both in multi-color.

The Madonna (from a Gerard David painting), had Washington, D.C., for its first-day city. There was an extra holiday fillip for the Santa and Child. The real pole is 90 degrees north and 0 degrees west, while the Alaska town is 64.40 north and 147.07 west, bringing it very near to the city of Fairbanks. They always have had a lot of Christmas cancellations to do, but this year will be a real tizzy.

FDCs may be obtained through

Nov. 2 Collectors purchasing stamps locally and putting them on covers should send them to First Day Cancellations, Postmaster, North Pole, AK 99705. The Madonna covers have to go to First Day Cancellations, Washington, DC 20013. Don't mix them up as the USPS flyers inform us rather snippily that wrongies will be returned "unserviceable." If you want Postal Service affixed stamps, send covers addressed to "Santa Claus Stamp" or "Gerard David Stamp" and the particular postmaster.

New Books Dick Yeoman's 1980 "Handbook of United States Coins" is ready. This is the 37th edition of the so-called Blue Book. It is not as informative as the Red Book, barely a mention of Colonial coinage and the like, but it is the one to take along on buying trips. They have tried to keep up with the hectic market for silver billion coins - an impossible task.

We note that proof sets are coming back. The 1964 set that had the first Kennedy half is now up to $7.50 wholesale. The book sells for $2.95 and should be in stock at the Main Street coin shops.

The other arrival is the Harris Fall/Winter catalog of U.S. and B.N.A. stamp prices. It is still in that impossible blocky format, but rumor has it that the publishers have seen the light and will go back to something that will open up to the flat with the next edition. In the meantime we will just have to make do. The price holds at $2.25.

Women's Events Slated

MANCHESTER - During November, the Women's Center at Manchester Community College is offering several workshops and discussion groups which will have the first of their weekly meetings early in November.

Participation in all programs is free of charge and the public is invited to attend. A five-session workshop entitled "Assertiveness Training" will have the first of its weekly meetings next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Center trailer, and will continue every Thursday throughout November.

Co-facilitating the discussion will be Jenny Young and Ginger Davis; who have previously been associated with assertiveness training workshops at the Hartford YWCA. The workshop will prepare participants to learn four basic steps to enable them to speak positively about themselves and project their feelings assertively. The Women's Center, together with the Counseling Division of MCC, will sponsor a support group for students undecided about whether to continue their education or withdraw from college. The group will meet three consecutive Tuesday afternoons, Nov. 6, 13 and 20 at 2 p.m. in the Women's Center. Carol Jodanis, counselor at MCC, will lead the informal discussion, which will focus on individual student's problems and concerns about remaining in school. Men and women students of all ages are welcome to participate.

"Becoming Single," an informal discussion group for women who are currently single through separation, divorce, or widowhood, or who are considering becoming single, will continue meeting weekly throughout October and November at the Women's Center on Thursday afternoons at 2 p.m. New members are welcome at any time. For more information, please contact the Women's Center at MCC, 646-4900, extension 232.

Courses by Newspaper

Technology and the Economy

Editor's Note: This is the eighth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Connections: Technology and Change." In this article, Nathan Rosenberg, professor of economics at Stanford University, discusses how incentives of the market place can shape technological development.

This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by the grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

By Nathan Rosenberg

Rapid and pervasive technological innovation has been primarily responsible for the long-term improvements in material well-being that have characterized western industrial societies.

But it has also been responsible for such undesirable consequences as damage to the environment and depletion of some natural resources.

The development of an effective set of policies toward the generation of new technologies — technologies that will meet our social goals — is therefore one of the highest priorities confronting our society.

Technological innovation has, of course, done more than just increase the output of goods with unchanged characteristics. Its effects are not adequately summarized in terms of so many more automobiles, bushels of wheat, or square yards of cotton textiles.

Rather, and more importantly, technological innovation over the past two centuries has dramatically transformed the composition of the economy's output as well as increasing its volume. In doing this it has also transformed our lives.

It would be an unproductive intellectual exercise even to look for 18th century equivalents (or even the recognizable antecedents) of certain products that we take for granted today — jet airplanes, computers, plastics and synthetic fibers, vast quantities of electric power available at the touch of a switch, television, telephones, antibiotics.

Historically, this technological development has been very closely connected with the rise of capitalist institutions and the powerful incentives that these institutions have provided, through the profit motive, for new technologies.

The point was forcefully highlighted well over a century ago by even the severest critics of capitalist society, Marx and Engels, in the "Communist Manifesto," published in 1848:

"The bourgeoisie, during its rule of scarce 100 years, has created more massive and more colossal productive forces than have all preceding generations together. Subjection of Nature's forces to man, machinery, automation of chemistry to industry and agriculture, steam-navigation, railways, electric telegraphs, clearing of whole continents for cultivation, canalization of rivers, whole populations conjured out of the ground — what earlier century had even a presentiment that such productive forces slumbered in the lap of social labour?"

Note that Marx and Engels do not attribute this explosion in productivity to the emergence of science, or to a religious ethic, or to some new impulse to human ingenuity. They attribute it specifically to the rise of bourgeois (that is, capitalist) institutions.

In a capitalist market place, the possibilities for profit-making through the introduction of new technologies are vast. Indeed, Marx and Engels take an even stronger position: not only does a capitalist economy offer powerful incentives to innovation; it is also essential for the very survival of the entrepreneur that he innovate as rapidly as possible. As they had pointed out earlier: "the Bourgeoisie cannot exist without constantly revolutionizing the instruments of production..."

Profit Motive

Subsequent history has lent support to this aspect of Marx's analysis of capitalism. The market economy, in which private entrepreneurs actively seek to increase their private profits, has proven to be immensely effective in mobilizing inventive and innovative talent.

At the same time, the market economy has strongly shaped the direction of technological innovation as well as its rapid rate.

Unfortunately, the profit motive has not always worked to advance society's interests. Consequently, the government has supplemented the operation of the market place with public institutions or financial support for specific kinds of activities. These include agricultural experiment stations and a wide range of public subsidies to basic scientific research, from which private profits are not readily available and for which market incentives alone are therefore insufficient.

Additionally, we have become increasingly concerned in recent years with aspects of the innovative process to which we were surprisingly indifferent in the past. New technologies often inflict certain costs upon their natural and human environment that deserve to be recognized in any social accounting but are not ordinarily part of private profit accounting. These include environmental pollution in a variety of forms and safety and health hazards to workers and consumers.

New Policies

We urgently need new public policies that will offer incentives for innovation and at the same time protect us against some of the undesirable side effects of technology. Developing such policies will call for political courage and leadership as well as social imagination. The task of reconciling conflicting group interests and priorities without, at the same time, dulling or even destroying the incentive mechanisms underlying technological innovation will be an extremely delicate undertaking.

Large issues are at stake. History makes it clear that private business is strongly influenced by market forces concerning the direction as well as the pace of inventive activity.

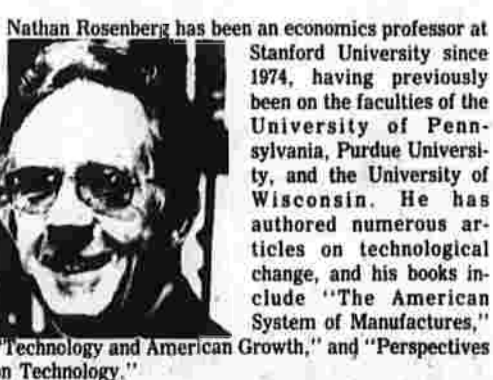

Thus, for example, the abundance of forest lands and the cheapness of forest products in colonial America (and later) led to the invention of a vast array of ingenious technologies for exploiting wood. The abundance of good farmland in the American mid-west in the 19th century generated an incredible profusion of machines enabling a single farmer to cultivate a far larger acreage than his European counterpart. And the exhaustion of high quality mineral deposits in the 20th century has already prompted the development of techniques for exploiting low quality ores that were previously neglected.

Shaping Technologies

Our history shows us that technology is extremely versatile and that it is highly responsive to changes in incentives and rewards. It should not be beyond our ingenuity to use the incentives of the market place to develop new technologies that will deal much more effectively with such current concerns as environment and energy.

It is hardly surprising, for example, that private enterprise developed technologies that fouled the air and treated wastewater as open sewers for their effluents when no cost was imposed upon them for doing so. On the other hand, we can confidently predict that a system of taxes or other charges for industrial activities that pollute the environment will eventually lead to the development of new technologies that produce far less pollution. Indeed, in many industries far less polluting technologies are already emerging.

About the Author

Nathan Rosenberg has been an economics professor at Stanford University since 1974, having previously been on the faculties of the University of Pennsylvania, Purdue University, and the University of Wisconsin. He has authored numerous articles on technological change, and his books include "The American System of Manufactures," "Technology and American Growth," and "Perspectives on Technology."

CONNECTIONS TECHNOLOGY AND CHANGE

It is a mistake to regard technology as simply constituting part of the problem, although that has undoubtedly sometimes been the case in the past. Technology is an extremely powerful force whose shape and thrust can be influenced to a far greater extent than is generally recognized. But we cannot shape technology if we reject or straitjacket it, as has been increasingly the case with some of the regulatory activities of the government in recent years.

Rather, we should seek ways of increasing the rewards for technological innovations of the kind that we regard as socially desirable. Prizes, patent grants, and favorable tax treatment are some of the mechanisms devised in the past to encourage innovation.

By strengthening such incentives and developing new ones, we can assure that technology will, in the future, be more consistently arrayed on the side of the solutions rather than on the side of the problems.

The views expressed in Courses by Newspaper are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the distributing agency, or the participating newspapers and colleges.

Next Week: Robert F. Muthauf of the Smithsonian Institution discusses the relationship between science and technology.

Questions

- 1. Which of the following would Rosenberg NOT approve with regard to technology and our economy? (a) increasing the rewards for technological innovation (b) accepting that technology simply constitutes part of the problem of modern society (c) harnessing marketplace incentives to deal with environment and energy (d) assessing industry for activities that pollute the environment
- 2. The effects of technological innovation in the past two centuries can be adequately summarized, according to Rosenberg, through comparisons of (a) number of automobiles produced (b) bushels of wheat harvested (c) square yards of textiles manufactured (d) none of the above.

Lutz Director Resigns Post

MANCHESTER — Susan Perkins, president of the Lutz Junior Museum Board of Trustees, has announced that Glynis Berry, director of the museum has resigned and is leaving as of Nov. 24.

Miss Berry, who has been with the Museum for the past two and a half years is joining the Exhibit Preparation Staff of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. While in Manchester Miss Berry has served on the town's Historic District Committee, in connection with which she planned the Chesey Mills display now at the museum.

The Museum's SEARCH Committee, composed of trustees and volunteers, has been activated to locate a new director.

Logging Went Too Far And Cost State $14,600

HARTFORD (UPI) — A state logging project that jumped the bounds of the Pachaug State Forest in Voluntown Friday cost the state $14,600.

The State Bond Commission voted unanimously to pay a Voluntown couple $12,000 for two parcels of their land which had accidentally been cleared by crews working in the forest.

The commission had little discussion on the allocation, except for an aside by one member that the state was admitting its mistake by buying the land to settle a claim filed with the State Claims Commission by Richard and Rhoda David.

The Attorney General's Office recommended that the commission allocate the funds to purchase the land as an acquisition to the forest and pay necessary survey, recording and other legal costs for a total price of $14,600.

The commission, which is chaired by the governor and includes several other top state officials and legislators, also allocated the state's $2.4 million which had been authorized by lawmakers for the state's Energy Conservation Loan Fund.

The fund was set up by the Legislature to provide low-interest loans to homeowners to weatherize their homes or install alternative energy devices. Friday's allocation was to cover more than 1,000 pending applications for assistance under the program.

At its Aug. 24 meeting the Bond Commission allocated the initial $200,000 set aside for the program. Lawmakers will consider a proposal submitted by Gov. Ella Grasso to add $3 million more to the program when they meet in a special energy session next Wednesday.

The problem developed when a small leak of a gallon a minute was detected. We have very sensitive monitoring equipment, but it was repaired right away," Thompson said.

Hoke said all of the water which was leaked was contained in the bottom of the reactor containment building. He said the Nuclear Regulatory Commission would not be making a statement on the incident.

Peter Thompson, a spokesman for Central Maine Power Co. which is majority stockholder in the Yankee Atomic Power Co., said it was "not an unusual problem because we're talking about a fairly complex series of pipes."

School Violence Target of Plans

HARTFORD (UPI) — The students, executive director of the Connecticut Justice Commission told teachers meeting later, including state representative Aloysius Ahearn, D-Bolton, said they were counted upon school violence and destruction.

William H. Carbone told the annual education conference of the Connecticut State Federation of Teachers the state is stressing programs that promote increased student and community involvement in their schools. "It's not a new problem," Carbone said. "It's a problem that has been kept in the schools, away from the public."

"Later some teachers spoke in a kid gets up and calls you the filthiest name you can think of," he told audiences they should not be said. "And you know that happens every day."

Ahearn, a teacher for 27 years, said city schools were saddled with serious violence, but added that smaller towns were also faced with the problem.

"When (state Education Commissioner) Mark Shedd came to the state I asked him about discipline. He said it was only a problem in some of the large cities. But we have had bombings and stabbings in small towns."

Sunday Game BOLTON — The Bolton Tigers played the Glastonbury Tomahawks Sunday at 1 p.m. in Glastonbury.

Brownies Meeting MANCHESTER — The Brownies attending Nathan Hale School will have an organizational meeting at 8:30 a.m. on Oct. 29 at 2:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria.

Parents should be in attendance.

Barry Speaks at Confab MANCHESTER — State Sen. David Barry will speak at the Youth Services Department's Positive Youth Development Program Community Development Conference Oct. 30 at The Colony, Talcottville.

The conference will be held Oct. 30 from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Oct. 31 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.

A series of panel presentations and group discussions will explore and examine the status of youth and youth serving programs in our community, for the purpose of sharing information and to aid in the development of shared goals for youth.

FROM THE MEADOWS CONVALESCENT HOME: WE'RE PROUD . . . STILL!

The Medical Staff and the Administration of the Meadows Convalescent Home in Manchester has expressed confidence in the quality of care provided patients in Connecticut's largest nursing home.

Responding to criticism from some state officials, as well as allegations in some newspaper articles, the Meadows nursing and Medical Staff recently completed a series of studies, assessments and meetings. Their conclusion was that the quality of care provided to some 500 patients is excellent, and any shortcomings can and will be solved without affecting care.

"We continue to have some problems as a result of a shortage of nurses," said Meadows Convalescent Home Administrator William J. Ficoccheta, "a shortage which affects all health care services including hospitals. However, this shortage does not affect patient care, only the handling of paper work. We have already instituted in-service training programs to strengthen our documentation procedures and are actively recruiting nurses to help ease this staff shortage."

"Despite negative publicity," Ficoccheta stated, "we have continued to receive unsolicited letters of thanks for care provided to relatives of the letter writers. Based on those and on personal contact with other relatives, as well as daily contact with patients, I can assure everyone that in the opinion of the vast majority of families who have used our services, the Meadows provides the finest in nursing care."

Ficoccheta also noted a statement of support from the Medical Staff at the Meadows. It read: "We of the Medical Staff are reluctant to respond in detail to the recent criticisms because we recognize that our primary responsibility is to the patients in our cars and to their families. Without going into specifics, we believe that our recent study of the incidents in question affirms that the right decisions were made and the correct treatments provided based on the needs of the patients, and in those cases where this was a factor, the desires of the patients' relatives. We are confident that a study of these incidents by qualified medical professionals will support our conclusions."

"We have done nothing to apologize for and we will not allow ourselves to be forced into practicing medicine in response to criticism by the media which has shown itself to have little regard for the rights of privacy of the patients and their families."

Ficoccheta also noted a statement from Dr. Sydney Nathans, Chairman of the Board of Directors and principal owner of Lifestyles Companies Incorporated, which owns and operates the Meadows:

"We believe that something good can emerge from all this criticism," Dr. Nathans said. "However it will not happen until the state bureaucracy and the media contribute constructively towards solving the real problem of over-all staff shortages and lack of adequate reimbursements for the services we provide."

News for Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN
Don't forget that this Monday is the time when we will be signing up for our Christmas Party at Restland Farms. You'll be treated to a delicious roast sirloin beef or baked boneless breast of chicken, other tasty bits, entertainment and a real fun day. The complete package is $15 and you can pay as little as $5 on Monday and the remainder the week of Nov. 8. It will be a nice day away and fun getting into the Christmas spirit. The party is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 6.

Next bit of news is about our super big Holiday Fair scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 8 here at the center. Remember, we are counting on you folks for donations of articles and also baked goods so get on the ball, and start putting things together. You may bring your articles in any day now and your baked goods on the morning of the sale.

O.K. Let's get with the action here at the center as it starts with our senior bowling league last Tuesday afternoon at the Parkade Lanes with the following results: Class A Women Single: Ida Cormier, 141; Triple, Ida Cormier, 308; Class B Women, Charlotte Montie, 122; Triple, Gwen Gadowski, 285. Men Class A: Ed Lithwin, Single, 230; Triple, 544. Class B: Ted Gadowski, 169 single, Ted Gadowski, 420 triple. Then on Wednesday morning we had 42 players for our pinocle games and the winners are: Martin Bakstan, 64; Ernestine Donnelly, 68; Marjorie McLain, 600; Bob Schubert, 578; Grace Windsor, 578; Edna Farmer, 557; Ann Thompson, 563; Paul Schuetz, 562; Floyd Post, 561; Don Jorgensen, 556; Gladys Seiert, 549. In the afternoon we had our bridge games and the following winners: Tom Regan, 4,590; Mabel Loomis, 4,130; Helen Harcourt, 3,850; Alice Allison, 3,750; Marjorie McLain, 3,300; Rose Moore, 3,120. Here is an important announcement to you men who played in our Senior Golf League. Joe is calling a "must meeting" for Nov. 8 at 6:30 P.M. here at the center. He will discuss the golf league for next season and the menu of courses are available. After the discussion, a vote will be taken as to the choice of the course. So all you golfers should plan to attend because this will give you a chance to join the discussion and vote. If you don't attend, then you'll have to go along with what those attending decide, so please mark this date down to attend the meeting.

This coming Friday, Nov. 2nd, is the morning for flu shots here at our center. The guns start sounding off at 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in our main hall. The flu shots are free, however, donations to help defray the cost will be appreciated. Because of the flu shots on Friday morning, our exercise class will be canceled for that morning. Next Thursday after a delicious baked stuffed maniocotti dinner, we will have the Meadow Choral Group. This is a group of patients who enjoy music and so get together and sing for their enjoyment and for others. So plan on coming for lunch and staying for the entertainment. We just heard that our friend Jim Conins is in the Manchester hospital and would appreciate hearing from his friends. Also, Eva Magoon's son-in-law, the Rev. David Campbell passed away and we send our heartfelt condolences to the entire family. Menu for the week: Monday: Cream of broccoli soup, pastrami on rye, chilled fruit, beverage. Tuesday: Beef barley soup, grilled cheese sandwich, pudding, beverage. Wednesday: Baked stuffed maniocotti, tossed green salad, Italian bread and butter, pineapple upside down cake, beverage. Thursday: Pea soup, flatfish on bun, jello, beverage. Friday: Pea soup, flatfish on bun, jello, beverage. Saturday: Pea soup, flatfish on bun, jello, beverage. Sunday: Pea soup, flatfish on bun, jello, beverage.

GOP To Support Program But Will Offer Suggestions

HARTFORD (UPI) - Legislative Republicans will support much of Gov. Ella Grasso's winter energy plan, but also plan to offer several of their own measures, Senate Republican Leader Richard Bozatto, R-Waterbury, said Friday. Bozatto said one of the proposals which GOP senators were considering was a "workfare" type program to put able-bodied welfare recipients to work on weatherization programs. He also said the GOP minority was concerned about the governor's proposed $5 million municipal energy grant program because it could leave the door open for landlords to abandon buildings in the winter and then return to take them over and collect the rent again in warmer weather. Senate Republicans met in a private caucus Thursday to discuss a package of eight bills proposed by Mrs. Grasso to help the state's needy make it through the upcoming winter of skyrocketing home heating oil prices. Bozatto said the senators will draft their proposals into legislation this weekend to be presented to the Legislature's special session on energy which begins next Wednesday. The Senate minority leader said there had been "some concern" in the caucus that the governor's proposed municipal grant program would favor major cities and not all of Connecticut's 169 towns and cities. He predicted it could take until February for municipalities to submit required energy plans for state approval, which "doesn't sound very feasible in terms of an emergency approach to a problem," and "the winter's going to be over" before the plan can be implemented. "I think it's window-dressing," he said. "It's not an attempt to address the problem." He also said the proposal's provision to allow towns and cities to take over buildings abandoned by landlords unwilling to pay the high heating costs could leave the state in trouble.

At the Botticello Farm Artist Paints Pumpkin

By BETTY RYDER - Family Editor

If Sesame Street characters or bony scarecrows leer at you from pumpkins of various sizes and shapes, you must be at the Botticello Farm, 289 Hillstown Road, Manchester, where Mary Asadorian displays her artistic talents.

"One Saturday I did 35 and on Sunday 45," she said. "I began to see big white eyes in my dreams," she said grinning. An interior design and commercial art major in college, Mary loves creative work and will soon be helping make fall flower arrangements and holiday decorations at the farm.

"School children come to tour the farm and enjoy seeing the rows and rows of pumpkins. Usually we give them each a small one." "The price is right. Mary says the pumpkins cost 10 cents a pound, plus an additional $1 if it is painted. "If the pumpkin isn't damaged or the stem removed, it will last about a year," she said. So, if carving a pumpkin isn't your thing, stop in at the Botticello Farm, but hurry, before Mary's arm's give out.

Conference Delegates Hear of 'Close Encounter'

MANCHESTER - Some 700 delegates, representing the 250 member churches of the Connecticut Conference, United Church of Christ, participated in the 112th Annual Meeting of the Conference Oct. 19 to 21 in the Manchester High School.

The host church for the meeting was Center Congregational of Manchester, now celebrating its 200th anniversary. The theme of the meeting was "Close Encounters," a very devastating "close encounter" was the Rev. Lloyd Van Vactor.

Van Vactor, a United Church of Christ missionary and president of Danalan College in Mindanao, the Philippines, told the delegates at their opening session on Friday evening of his harrowing kidnapping and imprisonment by Muslim guerrillas. During his 20-day confinement, his wife, Maisie, unbeknownst to Van Vactor, died and was buried.

Van Vactor recounted, "As I was being led away out of my office at the college by five young men with automatic rifles, I tried to concentrate on the scripture: 'God works for good in all things for those who love Him.'" While Van Vactor was imprisoned in the mountains he learned that all night-long during the funeral of his wife, Muslims passed by her coffin in the UCC church. The next day, a Muslim lawyer led the prayer during her funeral service. This has never happened here before - Muslims and Christians participating together in a religious service.

At the Saturday morning session of the annual meeting, the Rev. Nathaniel M. Gupitli, minister of the Connecticut Conference, reported on the "State of the Conference - 1979."

Gupitli, who has announced his retirement in January 1981 after 17 years at the helm, said, "If we are to fulfill God's mission, we must not neglect the close encounter of worship, the warm outreach of evangelism, the conferring of the blessings of new life in Christ on everyone, especially the great mass of ordinary people not very rich or very poor on whom the survival of our human race depends."

"I am happy to say that the Holy Spirit is stirring in our local churches," Gupitli said, "and the individualistic hedonism of our age, sobered by the imminent changes in our life being brought about by the profligate waste of the earth's limited resources, is making us more aware of us as a people than ever before. It is a dangerous opportunity as the church has had since the Dark Ages. 'There is nothing sillier than the youth cult!' Many of the best things in life have been produced by those advanced years... How ridiculous to think of retirement as nothing! For the Christian, retirement is liberation for service."

"There is lots of fog in the public mind about retirement. We are not so rich in human resources that we can afford to waste any of us! And there is lots of evidence that older people learn faster than young people. Some retirement facilities are now even becoming a kind of college. Learning should go on as long as one is able."

Truoblood also stated that he thought "the most beautiful liberation is liberation from earning. Let us show elders that they have magnificent opportunities ahead. I like to say 'Get to age 65 as fast as you can!'"

Saturday evening the delegates attended the dedication of Welles Country Village in Talcoville, Conn. Welles Village is a new 100-unit housing facility for the elderly and limited-income elderly and handicapped persons now under the management of Elderly Housing Management, an agency of the Connecticut Conference. Present at the dedication were Dorothy and Frank Welles, members of Talcoville Congregational Church, and through whose generosity the facility was made possible.

After the dedication, the delegates attended a fellowship dinner at a nearby restaurant. After dinner a New Samaritan "Citation for Excellence" was presented to the Colonial Bank of Waterbury by the Rev. William Indestroti, minister of business and government for the Conference. New Samaritan Corporation is a non-profit corporation initiated by the Connecticut Conference.

Indestroti lauded the bank as "an innovator in providing job opportunities." He made this award, he continued, "for the bank's dedication, success, and concern for preserving some 550 jobs in the greater Waterbury area." The citation accompanied an oil painting of the original colonial Bank building by Hillary Langmuir George Ehrhardt, Jr., president and chief administrative officer of the bank, and a member of the North Woodbury Congregational Church, acceptance of the award on behalf of the bank.

The Rev. Nathaniel M. Gupitli then presented a special golden anniversary citation to the Rev. Wilfred Bunker, of Portland, for his many years of "pastoral service in the United Church of Christ." Bunker was ordained in April 1929 and served many churches in the state.

After a Sunday morning worship service in the Manchester High School auditorium Oct. 21, the delegates reconvened for the final business session of the meeting.

This included an address by the Rev. George W. Otto, executive secretary of the Stewardship Council, United Church of Christ. Otto discussed "Mission in the Threshhold of the 200's." He told the delegates that Connecticut was doing very well and is eighth in per capita giving. "Connecticut has a solid contributor year after year, and I don't know what we would do without this support."

The business of the meeting included the passing of a current expense budget for 1980 of $767,500, an increase of 3.2 percent over the previous year. The delegates also voted a goal of $128,750 for world, national, and local mission efforts. This is an increase of 3.2 percent over 1979.

Some resolutions passed at the meeting include the abolishment of state-operated and licensed gambling; support of SALT II and reversal of the arms race; increased efforts to conserve energy; support of the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights and Amnesty International; development of effective educational and job training programs for inner city youth, and support of marriage.

Ceremony Slated At Meetinghouse

MANCHESTER - On Sunday, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Pickett, president of the Unitarian Universalist Association of North America, will help dedicate the new meetinghouse at 153 W. Vernon St.

The dedication will be part of the 200th anniversary of the Unitarian Universalist Society in America. The meetinghouse is a new 100-unit housing facility for the elderly and limited-income elderly and handicapped persons now under the management of Elderly Housing Management, an agency of the Connecticut Conference. Present at the dedication were Dorothy and Frank Welles, members of Talcoville Congregational Church, and through whose generosity the facility was made possible.

The search for individual religious beliefs and the importance of relating one's beliefs to the secular world are emphasized. Unitarian Universalists believe that the diversity of opinions, the use of reason, and the variety of religious backgrounds of its members make their religion a challenging and personally meaningful faith.

The Rev. Arnold F. Westwood, minister of the Unitarian Universalist Society, East, will present "World Peace/Inner Peace: Some Connections" this Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at the meetinghouse at 153 W. Vernon St. in Manchester.

The United Nations Sunday program will draw on Wendell Berry's models of an agricultural life style and attempt some connections between our inner lives and the life of the world. Music will be provided by Penny Johnson, soprano.

There will be a time for coffee and discussion following the program. Sunday school and nursery care are available.

The Dalai Lama Touring America

By JILL MACNEICE
 United Press International

He is the exiled leader of Tibet. He is the head of the Lamaist monks. He is the 14th incarnation of Gendunrub. He is the Dalai Lama and he has been touring the United States.

But there is much more to the Dalai Lama than the exotic appeal of Tibet. Beneath his scarlet robes the Buddhist monk is a polite but savvy politician who speaks with a disarming mixture of oriental wisdom, political acumen and humor.

"Politics is not dirty," he said during one of his stops. "It is politicians who are dirty."

Since he fled Lhasa, the capital of Tibet in 1959 under pressure from Chinese Communists, the Dalai Lama has been living in Dharamsala, India, with a community of 65,000 exiled Tibetans.

During the two decades of his exile, he has tried to help his people, tugging discreetly at the strings of world conscience.

Anxious to return to Tibet, but concerned about the welfare of his people, the Dalai Lama has made cautious contact with China, contact about which he politely declines comment.

"It is absolutely your right to put any question. Equally, I have the right to say, 'no answer,'" he told reporters in New York when asked about relations with China.

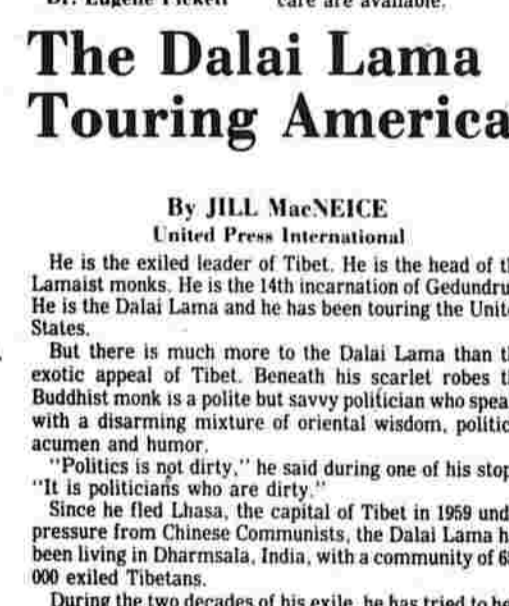

The exiled "Ocean of Wisdom" has been in the United States since Sept. 3, smiling patiently, shaking hands and wooing audiences as he visited Buddhist centers and universities from New England to California.

The "Wish-Fulfilling Gem" as he is called, speaks of "compassion," "patience" and "love for others" with the assurance of one who has mastered the intricacies of Buddhist philosophy and metaphysics.

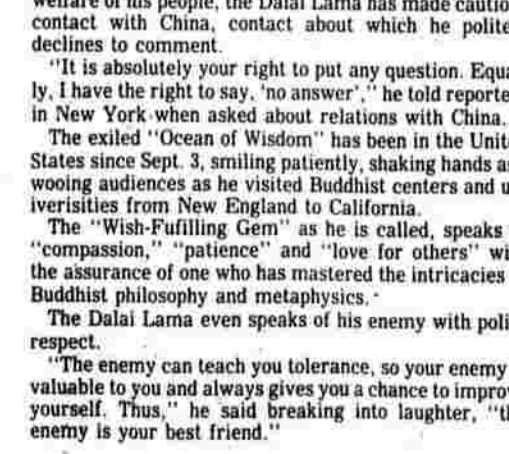

The Dalai Lama even speaks of his enemy with polite respect.

"The enemy can teach you tolerance, so your enemy is valuable to you and always gives you a chance to improve yourself. Thus, he said breaking into laughter, "the enemy is your best friend."

Dorothy Anderson

Missionary To Talk
MANCHESTER - A missionary recently returned from Kenya, Africa will share her experiences Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., following dinner and coffee, at South United Methodist Church, Main Street and Hartford Road.

Dorothy G. Anderson works in a large rural area near Mombasa, helping women organize self-help projects in literacy, cooking, nutrition, child-care and Christian Education groups. She and her husband, William, are career missionaries of the United Methodist Church, who have spoken at South Church several times in past years.

The public is invited to hear and question Mrs. Anderson during the 7 p.m. dessert time and following her 7:30 p.m. talk, which will include color slides and articles from Africa. Mrs. Anderson is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, Garrett Biblical Institute, and Scarritt College for Christian Workers.

Church Bulletin Board
Confirmation Sunday
MANCHESTER - Confirmation Sunday will be observed at both the 8:15 and 10:50 Sunday morning worship services at Trinity Covenant Church. The 12 members of the class will present summaries of their studies under the direction of the Rev. Norman Swenson, pastor.
 At 5:30 p.m., there will be a potluck supper in Fellowship Hall of the church in honor of the class of 1979. Following the supper the students will read their themes written as a class assignment.
 Members of the class are: Susan and Jennifer Brownell, Norman Cable, Linda Jacobson, all from Vernon; Sharon Ask, South Windsor; Jennifer Bassett, Coventry; Laura Manry, Hebron; Elizabeth Neumath, Andover; Carl Peterson, Glastonbury; Keitha Lawrence, Andover; Brent Johnson, Tolland; and Laura Jones, Manchester.

Guest Speaker Slated
MANCHESTER - David Tarbet, minister of the Church of Christ in Danbury, will be the guest speaker Sunday evening at the Church of Christ at 6 p.m.
 This will be in the form of an exchange of pulpits, as Eugene Brewer, local minister, will speak in Danbury.
 Mr. Tarbet is a graduate of Abilene Christian University of Abilene, Texas, and he holds a master of Arts degree from Fairfield University.

Mays Ordered to End Tie to Baseball

By MILT RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) - Hall of Famer Willie Mays, considered by many the most exciting player in baseball history, was ordered to disassociate himself from the game Friday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for signing a 10-year contract with Bally International, a gambling hotel casino in Atlantic City.

Mays has two years left on a 10-year contract with the New York Mets, with whom he is a goodwill ambassador and part-time coach at an annual salary of $50,000.

"I am advised by Al Rosen that you are about to sign a long-term contract with Bally in which you are rendering services to promote that company's casino gambling interest."

"While I can appreciate the motivations leading you to this association, it has long been my view that such associations by people in our game are inconsistent with its best interest. I believe you have been made aware of my views in that connection."

"Accordingly, while I am not happy at the prospect of losing your active participation in baseball, I must request that you promptly disassociate yourself from your contract with the New York Mets. I am informed the Mets are prepared to relieve you of any further obligations under that contract."

A news conference has been scheduled for Monday to announce Mays' signing with Bally. The contract is for 10 years, calling for $100,000 for the first three years with escalating raises over the last seven. The company is headed by Bill Weinberger.

Rosen left the Yankees this summer to accept an executive vice-presidency with Bally.

"I'm only involved in the community part of the operation," said Mays. "I am to visit hospitals and take part in golf pro-ams and to help out in shows staged by Bally. I have nothing to do with gambling. I would never do anything to hurt baseball. If he feels I'm not worthy of being in baseball because of a contract, I would have to say he is wrong. I don't think I've ever done anything to hurt baseball. I've given baseball 22 years of my life. Now I have to take care of my family. Who's going to look out for me?"

Mays said that before he signed the contract, he had a long talk with Weinberger and Rosen, who both told him they did not feel they were taking him away from baseball.

"Both Mr. Weinberger and Al told me what my duties specifically would be and they have absolutely nothing to do with gambling. I have another contract with the Ogden Corporation in Boston, an organization which is involved in food concessions serving racetracks, skiing facilities and even baseball parks. I've been with them five years and nothing has ever been said about that."

"Two months ago when they came to me, I talked to Al and I told him, 'Please talk to the commissioner, tell him my duties. He called him and told him exactly what I'm telling you, that I will not be involved in the gambling.' Under terms of the contract, I'm not even permitted to gamble in the casino."

"I would never see baseball but why should I be put out of something when I'm not doing anything wrong, I tried to clear this whole thing up before it even happened. If I was doing something wrong, I'd say I'm out."

In 22 years he hit 660 home runs, including 52 in 1965, and finished with a lifetime batting average of .302 and had 1,893 runs batted in.

Mays came to the Mets in 1972 in a deal with the Giants. He retired as an active player at the end of 1973, making $150,000 a year. His contract stated that from 1974 through 1981, he would serve as a goodwill ambassador and coach.

Beaver Booters Remain Hot

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Editor
Winter-like weather more and more is making its presence felt but hotter than the summer's heat is the Cheney Tech soccer team.

The Beaver booters rang up their third straight win yesterday, 4-1 over Portland High at the Techmen's field.

Unfortunately, however, the late torrid spell will be for naught as the Beavers were eliminated from state tournament consideration 10 games into the 78 campaign. Cheney is 4-7-2 overall, with two games, Monday night against Windham Tech and Wednesday versus Prince Tech, remaining.

"Yes, as a result of adjustments have been made," responded Tech Coach Manny Goncalves. "The big change was to a 4-4-2 (system) with two halfbacks coming up. We used it first against Rham and then against Rocky Hill. It held them (Rocky Hill) quite well in the first half."

And we've gotten some scoring out of it," Goncalves continued. "The two forwards up front have a lot of room and we've been getting a lot of goals. Windham Tech and Goncalves cited an early season loss to East Hampton and tie with Portland, both with starting sophomore goalie Lou Germaine on the sideline with a broken finger, as critical to his club's post-season aspirations. They were all but wiped out by them.

Marian left the Yankees this summer to accept an executive vice-presidency with Bally.

"I'm only involved in the community part of the operation," said Mays. "I am to visit hospitals and take part in golf pro-ams and to help out in shows staged by Bally. # MHS Girl Harriers Wind Up Unbeaten Four goals - 1 beat Concord in a dual meet, 2) win the CCIL title, 3) go unbeaten in the dual meet season, and 4) win the state Class LL championship - were established by the Manchester High girls' cross country team in the pre-season.

The first two were accomplished earlier, and No. 3 was secured yesterday as the Indians blanked Hartford Public, 15-0, at Center Springs Park to wind up with an unblemished 10-0 mark.

Goal No. 4 will be sought Thursday as Manchester will do battle in the state Class LL Meet at Wicham Park at 3:30.

"My assistant coach, Karen Follett, and I are very pleased with the performance of the team this season and we're looking forward to the state meet Thursday," said Coach Phil Blanchette stated.

Karen Scott
The victory improved the Indians' overall standard to 7-1, making it 29 victories in their last 30 outings.

"We let people choose which events they wanted to swim," narrated Manchester Coach Dave Frost.

Free styler swam breaststroke, butterflyers were in the backstroke, etc. Also, divers Judy Stoker and Lisa Bouchard, who have not swum before this season, combined with Anne Morrison and Beth MacDonald to capture the 400-yard freestyle relay.

LeeAnn Stauffer, Dani Zotta, Mary Gallagher and Melissa Geagan were among Manchester's top performers.

Illing girls' field hockey team applied the whitewash brush yesterday to Webb of Wethersfield, 2-0. Toby Brown in the first half and Kristin English after the break tallied for the Rams, now 3-2-3.

Jeanie Brinson, Pat McCarthy offensiveness and Marianne Flanagan, Alicia McDowell and Deb Blake, along with Doreen Philips were defensive standouts for Illing.

Game Cancelled
East Catholic's soccer game slated yesterday against Prince Tech in Hartford was cancelled, much to the consternation of Eagle Coach Tom Malin who wanted the game played.

We got the rundown on this game. I was told no officials were available but I found out there were. It (the game) was postponed about three times, a niffed Malin stated.

Spikers Bow To Simsbury

Upended for the fourth straight time Manchester High girls' volleyball team succumbed, 15-1, 9-10-15 and 15-8, to Simsbury High yesterday in Simsbury.

Marge Botteron, Beth Apter, Peggy Muldoon and Katrina Walsh were best for the Indians, now 6-9 for the season.

Simsbury also took the javayee contest, 15-8, 9-15 and 15-7. Lee Sadosky and Carol Donovan were best for the Indians.

Portland, 1-10-3 overall, jumped in front at the 30-30 mark of the first set as Mark Perez banged home an indirect kick by Al Kanipe taken inside the area.

The Techmen drew even at 34-35 as Jim McKay performed a penalty kick, a hand ball violation bringing up the boot.

Cheney took the lead for good at 3-11 of the second half with junior Brian Eaton, working hard down the right sideline, setting up the scorer. Chris Vann collected a cross in front of the cage, poking it past Highlander keeper Matt Feldman.

Vann at 11:30 drilled a 20-yarder from outside the penalty area into the far right corner for a 2-1 budge. Dan Menard capped the scoring at the 30-minute mark as the nudged the ball between Feldman's legs as the latter was trying to gain full possession.

The two goals give Vann a total of six for the season while Menard's tally by his third and McKay his second of the campaign.

The Beavers played the final 9:54 a man short as Tom Kostrowsz was ejected for complaining too loudly when teammate Craig Aitken was injured, on which no call was made.

Two yellow cards were also handed out in what overall was a poorly officiated contest.

Saints Taking Case to Capitol

NEW YORK (UPI) - The New Orleans Saints are taking their case all the way to Washington in an effort to prove they are title winners.

There's no legendary Jean Lafitte leading New Orleans crusade, although the Saints give every indication they have the capability of pirating the AFC West banner from the Los Angeles Rams and flying it in the city confines of the Superdome at season's end.

New Orleans has not had a winning season since entering the National Football League as an expansion team in 1967. Its best record was the 7-9 fashioned last year, but team followers figure the current mark of 4-4 is enough justification to forecast a better than 500 season and perhaps the division crown.

Tied with Los Angeles going into Sunday's game against Washington, the Saints have the second best offensive record in the NFL with a total of 3,010 yards. Quarterback Archie Manning has accounted for all but 82 of the team's 1,728 passing yardage, while Chuck Muncie has carried for 603 of the 1,284 yards gained on the ground.

Coach Chuck Nolan is no stranger to championship honors, having won three division titles when he coached the San Francisco 49ers. He points to an unheralded 4-3 flex defense that could key the Saints' hopes for the title after it intercepted four passes and registered four quarterback sacks against Detroit last weekend.

"Defensively, we played the best we've ever played," Nolan says of the 17-7 win over the Lions. "The pressure by our line was the big reason those interceptions happened. Offensively we moved the ball all over the place, but couldn't get it in."

Manning exudes the confidence that permeates the Saints' locker room these days.

"We're past midseason now," he reminds his listeners, "and we're having big games. In the past, we've lost what we've won."

Washington coach Jack Pardee, like Nolan a past NFC Coach of the Year, has guided the Redskins to a 6-2 record this season that ties them with Philadelphia for second place in the NFC East, a game behind Dallas.

Elsewhere, the New York Jets are at Houston, Buffalo at Detroit, Cleveland at St. Louis, Chicago at San Francisco, Green Bay at Miami, Kansas City at Denver and Philadelphia at Cincinnati. Seattle is in Atlanta for a Monday night game.

San Diego leads the AFC West by a half game after a 45-22 rout by Oakland Thursday night and can fall into a first place tie with Denver if the Broncos beat Kansas City.

Among the other division leaders who will be playing Sunday, New England (AFC-East) tackles Baltimore, Pittsburgh (AFC-Cent) meets Dallas (NFC-East), and Tampa Bay (NFC-Central) hooks up with Minnesota.

Youngster, Veteran, Tie For Lead with Buddies

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (UPI) - "The old pro and the young kid" tied a pair of high school buddies Friday for the overall lead in the $250,000 PGA National Team Championship at 127.17 strokes under par.

The veteran and the youngster were Jim Colbert and Mike Sullivan, who teamed for a best-ball round of golf that matched the 36-hole total carded by buddies Tom Purtzer and a young kid - we got nothing to talk about.

Sullivan, 24, with earnings of $38,596 this year, never has led a PGA tournament since he dropped out of college to join the pro ranks. He blasted his ball into the bunker three times Friday because he said, "I put too much pressure on myself."

Purtzer accounted for three of his team's eight birdies - the longest a 20-footer on the 461-yard 17th hole, a par 3.

"Twitzy said it wasn't just the wind bothering him. He said he found it harder teaming with an old friend like Purtzer for fear of disappointing him."

NEW HAVEN (UPI) - The first time gymnastic coach Qu Derui got his hands on a hockey stick he won a car, but he's hard pressed to take the prize back to his native China.

Derui was hoping to pick up a "useful" souvenir or two when the Chinese women's gymnastics team began its first ever international exhibition tour in America.

But he wasn't dreaming of the new car he won in a weekend promotional contest at a hockey game.

Derui shot a 3-inch wide hockey puck 65 feet between a 4-inch wide hole in a piece of plywood placed over a hockey net between periods at a New Haven Nightwings American Hockey League contest.

"We thought it would be fun if we gave their coach a chance to shoot the puck and see how he would do. He'd never held a hockey stick before. As it was, he drilled it through the hole," Nightwings spokesman Jeff Russell said.

After winning the car, Derui said through an interpreter that he'd hoped to take home a tape recorder or a machine that would record blood pressure - souvenirs that "would be useful, practical."

"I'll be taking it home," he said. But Russell said the coach had waived a bid and details were being worked out.

Jets Stress Youth In Turn Around

Sports Slate

New York Jets' Coach Walt Michaels celebrated his 50th birthday last week but he probably didn't feel that old after his young club notched consecutive victories over Minnesota (14-7) and Oakland (28-19) in the space of seven days.

The Jets' youthful defense, which was embarrassed by New England 56-3 and Buffalo 46-31 earlier, has developed into a cohesive unit. New York allowed just one touchdown in a 10-0 loss to Baltimore on the sixth weekend. The defenders then intercepted four Minnesota passes and recovered three fumbles in their first-ever Monday night triumph.

Ken Stabler and his streaking Raiders provided the opposition last Sunday and the defense again rose to the occasion. Stabler had no throw an interception in three straight games but the Jets picked off five of his passes to help even the club's record at 4-4.

The defensive platoon starts four rookies. Marty Lyons, the club's No. 1 draft choice, has been a fixture at right defensive end since opening day. Middle linebacker Stan Blinks, a No. 5 pick, took over that post in the third pre-season game. No. 4 draftee Johnny Lynn replaced cornerback Donald Dykes, a third round choice, in the second half of the Jets' loss to New England on the second weekend.

Finally, free agent linebacker Mike McKibben made his initial NFL start against the Vikings last Monday.

"These young players are beginning to learn the system," explains Michaels. "But I really feel that it takes nearly two years before a rookie can truly call himself a veteran. They have to learn all the Sunday and the defense again in the week. That's where we coaches can help by sharing our own experiences."

The Jets actually had six rookies on the field at the same time last weekend. No. 3 draft pick Mark Gastineau played the final half for end Lawrence Pillers, who was forced out with an ankle injury. Michaels also used Bob Winkel, a waiver acquisition from the Vikings last August, to give regular tackles Joe Klecko and Abdul Salaam a breather in the warm temperatures at Shea Stadium.

"One of the disadvantages a rookie has is that he actually hasn't seen himself perform on film very often. In training camp and early in the season, the game films and instructional films are not of them but rather of the veterans. It's sometimes hard to convince a young player on a certain point until he has seen himself perform in that situation."

Abramowitz. "But if it has to happen, I can't think of a more deserving guy. The reason I don't want it broken is that I never played on a winning team, never had a chance to go to the playoffs, and this record really has meant a lot to me."

Abramowitz holds the NFL record for consecutive games with at least one reception — 165. Danny started his streak Oct. 29, 1977, and Philadelphia Eagle Harold Carmichael will match it if he makes a reception Sunday against Cincinnati. Carmichael could establish a new mark a week from Sunday when the Eagles play host to Cleveland.

Costly Fracture

WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI) — Yerra Filion's fracture of an index finger on his right hand probably will cost the world champion driver an assignment behind the wheel in Saturday's $175,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway.

Filion was injured when Keystone Sauev stumbled approaching the start of Monday night's fifth race and he was tossed from his sulky to the ground. His brother Henri will substitute for him if he is unable to drive in Saturday's race.

"I'm just about ready to give up on my own record," says Carmichael. "I was amazed at his grace and speed. I knew then that this guy was destined for greatness. I never dreamed he'd come back to haunt me like this, though."

individual record," explains Abramowitz, who also does color commentary for the Sports radio network.

What does Carmichael think about the current pressure?
"It's in the game plan for me to do certain things. If a passing pattern is there, it's up to me to do my job and catch the ball. But during the game, I don't even think about the streak. I just concentrate on catching the ball," says Carmichael, who has averaged 44 receptions during his eight-year career.

"I guess I've always been put in the position to make big plays. The pressure has been on me a lot of times because of that.

Carmichael Catch Away From Record

Danny Abramowitz needs no introduction to Harold Carmichael. They go back a long way.

"I was organizing some off-season football clinics throughout Louisiana, and I'd always get some local players to supplement the pros I'd used from the area," recalls former Saints receiver Abramowitz, now an investment consultant in New Orleans.

"I was in Baton Rouge and somebody introduced me to this receiver from Southern University by the name of Harold Carmichael. I just about did a flip. He was 6-8, I was amazed at his grace and speed. I knew then that this guy was destined for greatness. I never dreamed he'd come back to haunt me like this, though."

Texaco Gain Prompts Carter To Seek Data

By United Press International
Texaco Inc. Friday joined the oil company profit parade, reporting its third-quarter profits more than tripled in the biggest gain of any refiner. The Carter administration ordered 20 major oil companies to supply data to explain their massive earnings gains.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability said the hefty profits reported by many U.S. oil refiners this week "suggest the possibility of non-compliance" with President Carter's voluntary price standards.

"Because of the alarming impact of rising petroleum-product prices on the national economy, the public is owed an explanation," said Robert Russell, the council director.

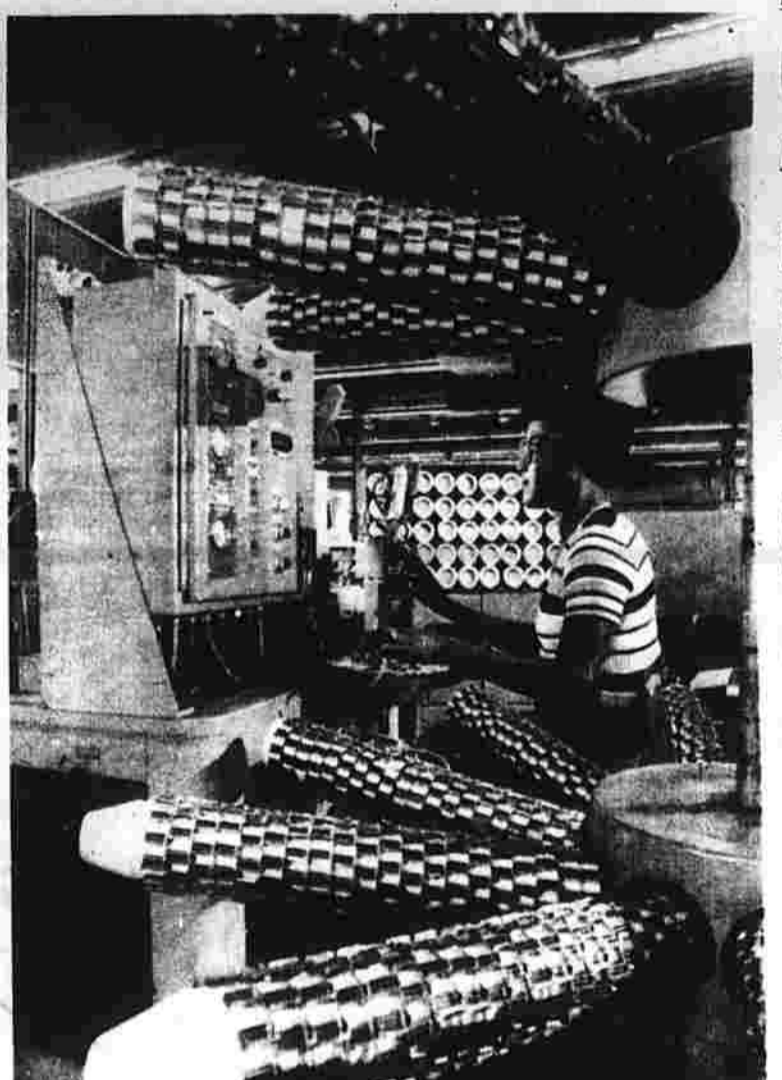

The Council gave the oil companies 10 days to file their reports.

Texaco, the third largest U.S. refiner, said its third-quarter earnings rose 211 percent to $1.1 billion in each of the first three quarters of the year.

The refiner said 61 percent of its third-quarter profit surge came from foreign operations and 39 percent from U.S. activities.

Some of the most dramatic profit increases for the July-September period have been reported by Texaco, Exxon Corp. and Mobil Corp. — participants in the Arabian American Oil Co., which accounts for approximately 6.5 million barrels a day of Saudi oil production.

Standard Oil of California, the fourth U.S. partner in the Saudi consortium, has not yet reported its third-quarter results. Analysts said the Aramco partners have

Two Promoted at Firm

GLASTONBURY — vice president of Highway Safety Design & Fabrication Corp., 238 Commerce St., has announced two promotions.

Kenneth W. McCormac has been promoted to executive vice president. He will also continue as vice president of Highway Safety Design & Fabrication Corp. and other subsidiaries.

McCormac has served as vice president and general manager of the corporation. Previously, he had undertaken several major management consulting assignments in the Hartford area. He was also vice president of international operations for the Fram Corp., Providence, R.I., before coming to Hartford.

Wesley V. Feshler has been promoted to president of operations. He previously held the position of operations manager.

Before joining Highway Safety in 1976, Feshler was a sales representative for the Axton-Cross Chemical Co., North Haven, and held a similar position with Spector Freight Systems, Chicopee, Mass. He was also with the Pratt & Whitney Division, United Technologies Corp., as a buyer.

Feshler is a 1963 graduate of Trinity College and lives with his family in Manchester.

Highway Safety Design & Fabrication Corporation is a leading manufacturer of highway guard rail and highway safety components.

Sales Slump Curtails Profits for GM, Ford

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co., feeling the impact of the auto industry's seven-month sales slump, have reported dramatic declines in profits in the third quarter of this year.

Ford reported an actual loss in its U.S. automotive operations, but was kept in the black overall by stronger overseas sales and a one-time tax write-off in Great Britain.

GM said its third-quarter profits fell to $22 million, down 96 percent from earnings of $528 million in the same period last year.

Ford reported profits of $18 million, down 56 percent from $391 million in the third quarter of 1978.

Both companies have suffered from the big car sales slump that began in April with scattered gasoline shortages and well-publicized gas lines. The crisis was followed by a weakening in the U.S.

economy.

In dramatic evidence of the impact of that shortage, Ford said its U.S. automotive operations lost $28 million in the third quarter, compared with a profit of $88 million last year.

It was the first time since the 1975 recession that Ford showed a loss from its U.S. car and truck sales.

GM, which introduced its hot-selling compact X-cars in April, suffered much less in the U.S. market than Ford and Chrysler Corp.

Ford listed sales of $9 billion in the third quarter, down $688 million from the same period last year. GM's sales were $12.3 billion in the period compared with $13.5 billion in the same period last year.

GM Chairman Thomas A. Murphy and President Elliot M. Estes said despite the relatively poor showing, they are confident about the future of the company and the economy.

Airline Rates To Rise To Meet Fuel Cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board agreed today to allow the nation's airlines to raise their fares by up to 3.7 percent on Nov. 1 because of the skyrocketing price of fuel.

The increase was the fourth this year authorized by the board. The total of the four increases is 23.9 percent. A board spokesman said the latest increase authorized was "mostly due to fuel, no doubt about it."

The cost of airline fuel has risen from about 57 cents a gallon at the beginning of the year to an average of 67 cents from September. Fuel costs now account for about 24 percent of the airline's total cost of service.

The increase comes as some of the nation's largest air carriers are reporting third-quarter losses, or drastically reduced earnings, compared with the

Earnings Record

BRIDGEPORT — Citytrust Bancorp Inc. has reported earnings of more than $1.3 million for the third quarter of this year — the highest earnings in the firm's history.

Earnings for the first nine months of 1979 totaled $3.7 million.

Citytrust Bancorp Inc. is a bank holding company. Citytrust, a subsidiary, is a commercial bank with 33 offices in Connecticut.

New CofC Member

MANCHESTER — Camille Lingerie Boutique, a new firm located at 813 Main St., Manchester, has recently joined the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

Matthew and Constance Novello are the co-owners of the boutique. Two of their employees, Ronnie Squires and Barbara Bodin, have degrees in Merchandising Merchandising. Mrs. Novello is a former model in lingerie retailing in the Hartford area.

Heublein Earnings

FARMINGTON — Heublein Inc. has reported a 20 percent increase in first quarter earnings of $21,120,000 for the 1979 fiscal year, over the same period last year.

Chairman Stuart D. Watson said Thursday the company showed a strong sales growth in its three major business lines — liquor, foods and international operations.

The company's earnings-per-share were 99 cents for the first quarter, compared with 83 cents in last year's first quarter.

Liquor sales increased 1 percent to $251,133,000. Food sales, including Heublein's Kentucky Fried Chicken, compared to $18.4 for the same period last year.

The company attributed the decrease to losses in plastic products and automotive components at the company's Bailey division.

Earnings for the first nine months of 1979 were $48 million, a five percent decrease from the same period of 1978, the company said.

CE Income Rises

STAMFORD — Combustion Engineering Inc., the diversified heavy engineering firm, earned $1.30 a share in the third quarter, up from $1.08 a year ago, on a rise in sales to $684.88 million from $559.07 million.

Net income rose to $21.49 million from $17.28 million. For nine months, Combustion Engineering earned $62.63 million or $3.83 a share on sales of $1.94 billion compared with $51.89 million or $3.23 a share a year earlier on sales of $1.67 billion.

President Arthur J. Santry Jr. said the strong market for equipment used in petroleum exploration and production was a big contributor to the gains. In addition, the company's specialty minerals and refractories businesses did well and nuclear equipment and fuel sales were up.

Pony Express Comes to Church
Publicity agent Doris Sussman Points out a poster announcing the coming of the "Pony Express to the Burside United Methodist Church, East Hartford.

Employee Robbing Undermines Agency

HARTFORD (UPI) - The executive director of the state Commissions on Hospitals and Health Care said Friday the agency has been undermined by having its staff hired away by the facilities they regulated.

Boston Pay Isn't Bad For Sleeping on Job

BOSTON (UPI) - Talk about sleeping on the job. A lot of people would wish the idea of getting paid for sleeping, and that's exactly what a few good slumbers are being offered by Boston's Museum of Science.

Center To Begin Series

MANCHESTER - The first in a series of meetings to be sponsored by the Pastoral Counseling Center, 21 Middle Turnpike, will be held Thursday at the center.

Taxpayer Groups Meeting

MANCHESTER - Representatives from taxpayers' associations around the state will meet in Meriden today for a "Local Taxpayer Action Conference" luncheon.

OPTICAL STYLE BAR

This is your invitation to drop in at either store and be informed about the newest eyeglass innovation, the American Optical, Ultravue. Seamless Bifocal advertised in many national magazines as well as on local TV and radio is now available at Optical Style Bar. The Ultravue lens can make many conventional bifocals outdated.

When considering Ultravue as well as sunglasses, conventional or occupational bifocals, hearing aids, and contact lenses, consult with the opticians at Optical Style Bar, Eastern Connecticut's leading full service opticians, personally serving Manchester area residents for more than 27 years.

Also featuring: Emergency Repair Services.

CLUES DOWN:

- In a case where everything should be in its place, nothing should be _____.
- The history of certain modern developments has been a long _____ of protest, etc.
- To give a boy a _____ may be one way to stir him into action.
- Highway.
- It's the sort of thing that causes resentment.
- In _____ offices, the work seems to go ahead at a pretty decorous rate.
- The _____ can be said to have played a big part in naval warfare from way back.
- Plagues or nuisances.
- An idealistic young doctor would probably wish to cure the ills of everybody _____.
- Hard outer covering.
- Naturally one links it with perfume.
- Fix with needle and thread.

CLUES ACROSS:

- There's a certain choice of methods of eradicating it.
- In this, one naturally allows people a certain amount of freedom or license.
- Musical organizations.
- In which there's a chance of sudden muscular strain.
- Without achieving a tastier result, a slapdash cook might use more of it than the recipe said.
- If a would-be prophet thinks that this is imminent, he's entitled to his opinion.
- Despite being in a wheelchair, a handicapped person might have the _____ necessary to do well at archery.
- Sad to say, a woman with bad hands might have trouble getting it open.
- "One hundred _____ cent."
- Not every type of _____ is ideal for the sort of area where blizzards are likely.
- Containers, possibly made of paper.
- Prepare for publication.
- It's only reasonable to expect courtesy from such men.
- School essay.
- Disclose.

CLIP AND MAIL TO: PRIZEWEEK PUZZLE
C/O THE EVENING HERALD
1 HERALD SQ., MANCHESTER, CT.

CONTEST RULES

- Solve the puzzle by filling in the missing letters to make the words that you think best fit the clues. To do this read each clue carefully for you must think them out and give every word its true meaning.
- You need not be a subscriber to this newspaper to enter. You may submit as many entries as you wish. No mechanically produced (printed, mimeographed, etc.) copies of the entry blank will be accepted.
- Anyone is eligible to enter except employees (and members of their families) of the Evening Herald.
- ALL ENTRIES MUST BE MAILED IN SEPARATE ENVELOPES NO LATER THAN MONDAY OF NEXT WEEK, AND BEAR A POSTMARK.
- The Herald will award the cash amount shown above to the contestant who sends in an all-correct solution. If more than one all-correct solution is received, the prize money will be shared equally.
- IF NO ALL-CORRECT SOLUTION IS RECEIVED, $25 WILL BE ADDED TO THE FOLLOWING WEEK'S PRIZE.
- The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges decision. All entries become the property of this paper. Only one prize will be awarded to a family unit.
- Everyone has the same opportunity to win, for every entry will be checked, and the winner announced. No claiming is necessary.
- The correct solution to this week's Prizeword will be published the following Saturday.
- The Herald reserves the right to correct any typographical errors which may appear during the puzzle game.
- The sealed correct solution will be kept in the personal custody of Nate Agostinelli, President Manchester State Bank.

WHAT'S NEWS

Formal Wor

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Edward M. Kennedy's campaign had been in full swing for some time before today's formal announcement - for the third time in two decades - of the formation of a "Kennedy for President" committee.

The Massachusetts Democrat decided some weeks ago he would challenge President Carter for the nomination, but will not formally announce his candidacy until sometime before Thanksgiving.

Stephen Smith, who will lead the campaign, meanwhile planned to make the formal announcement today of the committee's formation, so that it could begin its official delegate and fund-raising activities.

Tower Blaze

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - A fire erupted on the 11th floor of a 12-story luxury apartment building in downtown Los Angeles, killing at least three people, including two who jumped 11 stories to their deaths.

Hundreds of residents were trapped by the blaze and reached fire department ladders.

A fire department spokesman said more than 24 engine companies responded to the blaze at Bunker Hill Towers on Franklin Street at 3 a.m. and had it under control an hour later.

The spokesman said one person died on the 11th floor building, and a firefighter on the scene said he saw two other people leap from the building.

Park Mourn

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) - Hundreds of thousands of mourners stood in lines a mile long today to pay respects to President Park Chung-hee, assassinated last week. South Korean CIA chief reported culmination of a long feud.

The United States ordered early warning aircraft to fly over North Korea and sent an aircraft carrier task force closer to the peninsula to discourage North Korea from taking advantage of its southern neighbor.

Seoul government officials said the top U.S. military commander in the country assured that U.S. troops will defend South Korea in the event of an attack from North Korea.

The North Korean government in Pyongyang, while refusing to make any direct threats, said the assassination of the 62-year-old Park reflected "political and social chaos" in South Korea.

A government report said intelligence chief Kim Jong-il, who killed Park and his bodyguard with shots from a .45-caliber pistol at a private residence, feared he was about to lose his position in a cabinet reshuffle. He is expected to be tried by military court and could face a death sentence.
