Ships Crash

GALVESTON, Texas (UPI) — An inbound tanker and outbound freighter collided at the entrance to Galveston Bay before dawn today, slicing the tanker in half and leaving the flaming freighter wandering slowly out of control in a Gulf of Mexico oilfield. Two crewmen were killed and 18 were missing. Rescuers in helicopters evacuating the ships' crewmen had to contend with a burning, mile-long oil slick created by the tanker's 400,000-barrel cargo of crude oil. Ten crewmen stayed for a time aboard the Cypriot-registered freighter Mimosas to fight the fire, but they were lifted to shore when the flames consumed the ship.

Heavy Snow

Digging out of huge snowdrifts left by a mid-autumn blizzard, rescuers on the Great Plains found 30 people huddled in the back of a truck and helped 16 more from a stranded bus. One couple died in Colorado before snowplows reached them. The snowstorm, which killed at least nine people since Tuesday, moved into the northern Plains and upper Midwest today. The National Weather Service posted winter storm warnings for the Dakotas.

More than a foot of snow fell on eastern Colorado, and high winds whipped snowdrifts up to 12 feet high in some areas of the Plains. Winds gusting past 50 mph blew down power poles in Nebraska and South Dakota Wednesday night, cutting electrical power to more than 15,000 rural customers. Utility officials said it might take until Sunday to restore power.

Flood Recedes

OLKECHOBBE, Fla. (UPI) — Millions of gallons of water that surged through an earthen-dike receded gradually today. There were no injuries in the incident. Officials said they could not understand why the Florida Power & Light Co. dike burst early Wednesday. It had been inspected just the day before and was reported sound. A 30-foot section of the dike at Indiantown burst without warning about 1 a.m., releasing enough water to cover 80,000 acres around the northeast shore of Lake Okeechobee with 1 foot of water.

More Security

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — The U.S. Embassy increased its security precautions today because of escalating attacks by anti-government leftists against foreign diplomatic missions. The leftists Wednesday sprayed the Guatemalan embassy with machine-gun fire and killed six national guardsmen in ambush south of the capital. Six leftists also were killed. Twenty Salvadoran national guardsmen armed with rifles joined U.S. Marines guarding the American embassy, where several hundred leftists Tuesday tried to storm over the gates of the compound using ladders.

Obeys Order

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Israeli government obeyed a Supreme Court order today and decided to relocate an illegal Jewish settlement in the occupied West Bank, Justice Minister Shmuel Tamir said. The Cabinet, meeting in special session, decided to empower its own Committee to choose a new location for the settlement of Elon Moreh, Tamir said. The explosive issue of a plan for widespread Jewish settlement in the disputed West Bank will be discussed at another Cabinet session, he said.

Meeting Closed On I-Park Plan

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — A subcommittee of the Economic Development Commission will meet tonight in a closed-door session to confer with residents who will be affected by the proposed expansion of the Buckland Industrial Park. At an early morning meeting today of the EDC, the westward expansion of the park was discussed. Town Manager Robert Weiss said the expansion would seem to be "consistent with at least some of the residents' wishes" because they had tried earlier to sell the land. Despite this, the meeting will be closed to the press. Weiss said residents should be free to discuss their feelings about the town taking over their land. He said the presence of the press might inhibit the residents. The area under consideration was termed a "logical extension" by Weiss. He said it abuts East Hartford in an area already being used for industrial purposes. There is another area of open space which the proposed area abuts. Commission Chairman James Quigley said the parcel is located to the west of the park, north of Tolland Turnpike, south of South Windsor and east of East Hartford. Pending the airing of residents' views at tonight's meeting, the commission decided to meet Thursday. At that time, if residents are in favor of the expansion, the town will make the first of three applications for state development funds. In other matters, the commission concurred with Weiss to treat the possible development by Elcott Manufacturing in the area with "loving care." Elcott had deposited a sizable amount of cash for their optioned land but has gotten into problems with the planning for the parcel. Their representative said the original parcel is not suitable, but if another can be found they will follow through on their development plans. The commission decided to return the excess deposit and hold the balance in escrow while a relocation site is found. Plans were also reviewed for the Hartford Distributors site. The closing for this firm was this morning and the group's spokesman said a December groundbreaking was expected.

Mrs. Eisenhower Dies at Age 82

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mamie Eisenhower, seriously ill since suffering a stroke in September, died of heart failure early today, 10 years after the death of her husband, the 34th president. Mrs. Eisenhower died in her sleep at 1:35 a.m. EST, said a spokesman for Walter Reed Army Medical Center where she had been treated since suffering the stroke Sept. 25. She would have been 83 in two weeks. Peter Esker, information officer for Walter Reed, said funeral plans were incomplete. Esker said Mrs. Eisenhower, stricken with the stroke on her Gettysburg, Pa., farm, had a history of heart trouble and had not shown any significant improvement since her admission. "Her condition had remained essentially stable, and she did not show improvement over the long run," said Esker. "She came in seriously ill but stable." The stroke had affected some of the functions on her right side. She was last at Walter Reed Sept. 8-15 for a routine examination. Her death left five living former first ladies — Bess Truman, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, Lady Bird Johnson, Pat Nixon and Betty Ford. While the family's farmhouse, a national monument maintained by the National Park Service, was her home, friends said late in life she became lonely living there. She applied in 1977 for a one-bedroom apartment at Washington's prestigious Army Distaff House, a facility she dedicated, but later withdrew her application from the waiting list rather than bump those ahead of her. When her husband, Dwight D.

Eisenhower, campaigned, she left her role as the quiet woman behind the scenes and took to the stump. Ike would introduce her as "My Mamie." And while she liked to spend restful weekends in the country during her husband's two terms, she would often fill in for him when national groups visited the White House. Mrs. Eisenhower, born Nov. 14, 1896, in Boone, Iowa, never hid her preference for the serene, country life of the farm during her eight years in the White House. And the Eisenhowers returned there when the president's term ended in 1960. She did not miss the public life, she said in an interview on the couple's 50th wedding anniversary. "No one who has ever been in that terrible limelight would ever seek it again," she said.

Town Sewage Plant Above Design Flow

MANCHESTER — The state Department of Environmental Protection's long-awaited answer to questions raised about the town sewage treatment plant reveals the facility is operating consistently higher than the design flow predicted to be reached in 1985. The state is recommending that the cover, which blew off a sewage digester last December, be replaced and the tank be put back into operation as soon as possible. The report offers no hint on the cause of the Pearl Harbor Day blast that damaged the plant. It does say the damage is characteristic of the type of damage that occurs when the tank is overfilled, an event that should be prevented by two basic back up systems. The report, by DEP Water Compliance Director Robert E. Moore, said, "For the tank to overflow two basic backup systems would also have to fail. Normally as sludge is pumped into the tank, digested sludge from another area of the tank is displaced and flows to the secondary tank." The report says a plugged gravity transfer overflow line could result in the tank being pressurized, but another backup system should prevent the cover from blowing off by relieving gas pressure before it reaches a dangerous level. This gas pressure relief valve should open, releasing gas into the atmosphere before pressure inside the tank reaches harmful levels, the report contends. The report speculates both systems could fail if the overflow line is plugged and the gas pressure relief valve freezes, but the state emphasized no cause has been pinned down for the failure. The report also warns that the department will increase its efforts to monitor industrial wastes being discharged into the facility. The report notes, "There have been many indications of excessive industrial waste discharges into this facility." The state report was compiled at the request of Director Carl Zinsser, who asked for an investigation when odors from the plant brought many complaints this summer from residents living near the plant. In his letter Zinsser said he was not convinced the odor problem has been solved and he raised questions about the operation of the plant. He specifically asked how the cover could have blown off the tank "if the plant was being operated by qualified administrators." While the response to Zinsser does not specifically link the odor to the fact that the tank is inoperative, it does say the system is overtaxed as a result and sludge quality has suffered somewhat. The sludge is the wet, solid residue of the the treatment process which is spread to dry on sand beds and ultimately buried. At a press conference this morning, Zinsser said he would bring up the question of the work on the digester cover at the first meeting of the Board of Directors to be elected Tuesday. Meanwhile, Frank Jodaitis, administrator of the Water and Sewer Department, said he is scheduled to meet Tuesday with a representative of the Metcalf and Eddy engineering firm to go over a draft of bid documents for the repair work. Metcalf and Eddy is the firm hired by the town to design the repair. While the report to Zinsser is dated Oct. 10, neither he nor Jodaitis received it until a couple of days ago.

Inflation Rises 1% in October

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflation at the wholesale level rose 1 percent during October, although energy prices increased at the slowest pace since last spring and food costs dropped slightly, the government reported today. The overall 1 percent rise in the cost of goods ready for shipment to retailers was somewhat better than September's 1.4 percent surge and the 1.2 percent August gain, the Labor Department said. But it still offered vivid proof that consumers will be hit with more price hikes in coming months when they shop in stores and supermarkets. The major bright spot in the October report was food, the Labor Department said. Wholesale food prices actually fell by 0.1 percent last month following a sharp 1.8 percent rise in September and a 1.2 percent jump in August. Meat prices turned down sharply while the cost of eggs, processed fruits and vegetables and dairy products also registered significant declines. On the energy front, prices rose by 4.7 percent. Gasoline costs jumped 5.1 percent and home heating oil went up 4.7 percent, the Labor Department said. Although the energy increases were hefty, they were still the lowest since last April and a big improvement from September's 6.8 percent increase. The Labor Department's wholesale price report said the compounded annual rate of increase last month was 12.7 percent.

Fans Still Yelling For Dave Brubeck

Not everyone in the forgotten "progressive jazz" or its king, Dave Brubeck, just finished a sell-out concert at the Palais des Beaux-arts in Brussels where, even after three encores, the fans still yelled for more. The quartet is a family affair now, with three of Brubeck's musician sons in the group from time to time. Says Brubeck, who goes to Germany next, "They're not on the bandstand because they're my sons. They play well or else they wouldn't play." But it could be a problem. Says pianist Brubeck of a fourth son, who just turned 18 and wants to join a band, "He's unfortunately, plays very good piano, so I don't know what I'll do."

Foxx Hunt

There are no funny lines in Redd Foxx's latest production. His Korean wife, Yun Chi Foxx, is diverting him and, with Marvin Mitchellson for a lawyer, she wants $5 million to keep body and soul together. As in other Mitchellson massacres—Bianca vs. Mick Jagger; Soraya vs. Adnan Khashoggi—a jurisdiction battle is in the offing. Mrs. Foxx says since Redd has a home and production studios in Los Angeles, the split should be settled there. He's filed a countersuit in Las Vegas, where the couple also owns a home.

May Take a Seance

It will take more than Steve McQueen and Warner Brothers to clear the name of Tom Horn. McQueen is starring in a movie about the life of the legendary range detective who came to no good and the studio thought it would be nice if Wyoming Gov. Ed Herschler pardoned Horn for that little scrape he had with the law back in 1903. Especially since the movie is about to be released. Herschler says he'll consider it "when Tom Horn personally requests a pardon."

That will be difficult, Horn—who laid many a cattle rustler in his grave—wound up on the gallows in Cheyenne for the murder of a 14-year-old boy. A lot of people, the movie magnates included, still think he was innocent. Silver star winner Paul D. Solons Fight over Rules To Deal with Energy

HARTFORD (UPI) - Lawmakers spent the opening day of their emergency session fighting about what the ground rules will be, as they thrash over home heating oil problems from now until Thanksgiving. House debates over six Republican amendments which were all rejected, kept Gov. Elias Grasso waiting impatiently two hours Wednesday before she could address the legislators. Her scheduled noon speech wasn't heard until 2 p.m. The debate over amendments, plus House-Senate bickering over rules for the special energy session, turned what many expected to be a routine and speedy opening meeting of the Legislature into a six-hour duel. Mrs. Grasso wryly commented on the House's "prudent pace" when her turn at the podium finally came around. She told lawmakers the problems they had to tackle are "of no small dimensions."

Law Panel Will Hear Proposals

HARTFORD (UPI) - The Legislature's General Law Committee, has agreed to hold public hearings on three energy related proposals during the special energy session. One proposal submitted Wednesday would require that fuel oil wholesalers give retail dealers 30 days to pay their bills. Sen. Steven Case, D-Bristol, sponsor of the bill, said it would help keep dealers from pressing consumers for quick payment. A second bill, proposed by the Grasso administration, would give the Department of Consumer Protection power to investigate the efficiency and safety of energy saving products. Another measure would provide educational programs for the public about the safe installation and use of wood-burning stoves. Among other bills submitted by legislators during the session, Farmington proposed a $15 million bond authorization to finance energy conservation in state-owned buildings. Another Curry bill would increase by $17 million the existing $3 million energy conservation loan fund for residential use.

Rep. David Lavine, D-Durham and Senate Majority Leader Joseph Lieberman, D-New Haven, introduced bonding bills for energy conservation loans to families earning as much as $25,000 a year. A similar bill was submitted by Rep. Thurman Milner, D-Hartford, who also proposed bonding for $2 million that would be used to provide landlords loans up to $1,000 for furnace repairs as long as they don't raise rents for one year. Milner also offered a measure for $2 million in grants to families earning less than $15,000 who are not eligible for any other type of aid. Rep. David Smith, R-Brookfield, submitted a bill to repeal a three-cent mileage increase and state-paid medical premiums plan for lawmakers approved earlier this year.

Baker Opens Campaign; Calls for Confidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate GOP leader Howard Baker announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination today and called for a "new generation of confidence" in the United States. The 53-year-old Tennesseean said he could "absolutely guarantee" he will defeat either President Carter or Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., if nominated by the GOP. Baker's formal entry into the race after almost two years of campaigning brings the number of declared candidates to nine. Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan is to announce Nov. 13, completing the field. Baker, considered a centrist or moderate Republican and a political craftsman, has won three Senate terms, and twice has been elected to his party's leadership in the Senate. He also was considered a prime vice presidential prospect several times but passed over—the last time by Gerald R. Ford in 1976. In a statement prepared for delivery in the historic Senate Caucus room, Baker said "... Realigning and instituting reforms for law has come for our country to find its greatness again."

Offshore Drilling Said Bad for Fish

BOSTON (UPI) - Drilling for oil and gas off the Massachusetts coast could "irreparably" harm the "world's greatest fishery," a federal appeals court judge was told Wednesday. The warning came six days before the U.S. Interior Department plans to sell oil and gas exploration leases to more than 600,000 acres of ocean floor along the rich Georges Bank fishing grounds. The state of Massachusetts and the Conservation Law Foundation, a private environmental group, are seeking an injunction to block the sale. Judge John J. McLaughlin of the First Circuit Court of Appeals opened hearings on the request Wednesday. Foundation attorney Douglas Foy and state Assistant Attorney General Steven Leonard argued that Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus failed to make an adequate study of the environmental impact of the drilling. They also said the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration was "arbitrary and capricious" in its decision not to grant a foundation request to designate the 1,140-square-mile Georges Bank area as a marine sanctuary.

Officials Blame Confusion For Mexican Air Crash

MEXICO CITY (UPI) - Confusion over two parallel runways sent 74 people to their deaths in the fiery crash of a Western Airlines DC-10 at the fog-shrouded Mexico City airport. Thirty people were injured—some of them on the ground, including ground personnel and neighborhood residents hit by debris. Investigators, aided by experts from the National Transportation Safety Board and the Federal Aviation Administration, worked through the night under floodlights at the crash site. A Chicago-based ABC-TV producer, Kenneth Lucif, a native of Milwaukee, was killed in the crash. ABC said Lucif was on his way to El Salvador to cover the fighting in the Central American nation. Also killed on the ground were an Eastern Airline employee working in a building flattened by the plane and the driver of a truck hit by the plane at the top of runway 23-left. Western Airlines officials said a transcript of the final conversation with the control tower was released late Wednesday by Mexican television channel 2. Bodies, many of them dismembered, and debris from the white-and-red jetliner that carried 75 passengers and 13 crewmen were scattered for hundreds of yards around the Mexico City airport. "There must have been something on the runway. For a few moments we were free of the ground, and then we hit the ground again. I flew out of my seat with the seat belt on. I landed on the runway up side down with the seat belt on," said Hooglund, who suffered severe facial cuts. "It touched down with the right tire. A lot of fire came out and the pilot tried to go up again but it was not possible so we turned right more and more, more dangerously, and then by a big explosion, said Alessandro Ambali, 22, of Italy. The Mexican Transportation Ministry said the pilot "tried to land on the wrong runway," clipped a truck in which the dead truck driver was found, then headed for the correct runway to the right but swiped a building with his right wingtip. In the final conversation, the tower told the pilot, who was making an incorrect approach. "There are banks of fog," and also twice told him that 23-right was the correct runway for landing. A spokesman for the control tower union, Roberto Kobeh, blamed the pilot for the crash. "It was a pilot error. It was not the control tower's fault."

Lemon Dissolves Cups

BOSTON (UPI) - If tea with lemon is your cup of tea, make sure it's not in a polystyrene cup. A University of Connecticut researcher has discovered a combination of tea and lemon dissolves the polystyrene cups commonly used in coffee shops. Dr. Michael Phillips, in a letter appearing today in the New England Journal of Medicine, said he noticed the tea-and-lemon "chewing up" his own cup one day while in the UConn cafeteria. Phillips tested tea with lemon in his laboratory, finding that the combination chemically dissolved plastic cups. He said, however, he was unable to find the dissolved polystyrene in the tea. Since polystyrene is known to cause cancer in laboratory animals, Phillips said until more is known, "I suggest the time is now ripe to return to the tradition of drinking lemon tea from cups of fine bone china."

Police To Escort Grasso To Show Dissatisfaction

HARTFORD (UPI) - Gov. Ella Grasso will have a contingent of state police escorting her to social functions around the state, but the troopers won't be on duty. The state police union says it will assign off-duty officers to follow the governor in small groups to demonstrate their dissatisfaction with department conditions they claim threaten public safety. Union President Michael Ruffino, a trooper assigned to the Montville barracks, says a $1.3 million cut in the department's budget has left severe manpower shortages, which puts a strain on officers and jeopardizes public safety. About 200 state police staged a silent vigil outside the Capitol Wednesday as the Legislature's special energy session opened, protesting the staff shortages and stalled contract negotiations with the state. The off-duty union police, dressed in business suits with their badges tucked to their lapels, marched silently around the Capitol before attempting to meet with Mrs. Grasso. Ruffino said the governor declined the troopers' latest request for a meeting on the staffing situation. "We have more responsibility and less staffing," Ruffino said. "That's mainly why we're here, to tell the public their safety is in jeopardy."

Grasso a week and a half ago. Herakowitz said the protest was the first at the Capitol by state police since 1969 when troopers took their families to Hartford, aiming their protest at then Gov. John N. Dempsey. After Wednesday's march, a smaller group of troopers entered the Capitol and sat in the House gallery while Mrs. Grasso addressed a joint session of the Legislature. Ruffino said contract talks between the union and the state were "at a standstill" after the rank-and-file rejected the "state's last offer" for a new pact by a 2-1 vote. He said other unresolved issues including disability and retirement first request to meet with Mrs. Dempsy.

Group Plans Meetings

GLASTONBURY - The Glastonbury Mental Health Group has announced its November schedule of meetings for its two social clubs. The schedule for Common Ground Club and We Together is as follows: Nov. 10, horseback riding; Nov. 17, hay ride and Nov. 24, poetry and chess. Persons interested in joining either of these clubs may contact Social Club Director Elizabeth Byer at 633-2822.

Bush Leads Rhody Poll

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) - George Bush tops the list of GOP presidential hopefuls in a new straw poll of Rhode Island Republican Party leaders. Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., was a close second. The survey of 182 party activists, taken in October, gives the former CIA director 39 percent of the first place votes to Baker's 31 percent. Poll results were released Wednesday. Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally was a distant third with 7.1 percent, followed by former President Gerald R. Ford, 6.8 percent; businessman Benjamin Fernandez, 6 percent; former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, 5 percent; and Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., 2.2 percent. Bush also led among second place votes in the straw poll, garnering 19.8 percent to Ford's 15.7 percent.

Vernon Will Vote On Fire Merger

By BARBARA RICHMOND

VERNON — When Vernon voters go to the polls next Tuesday to vote for candidates in the municipal election, they will also be asked to vote on a proposed charter amendment which would unify the Rockville and Vernon fire departments.

Since the town charter was written, about 13 years ago when the town governments were consolidated, the question of merging the two departments has come up each time the charter has been revised. Each time it was dropped before it ever went to a vote, mainly because of opposition stated by members of the two departments.

Last year, a Fire Study Committee of the Town Council, again recommended the consolidation of the departments. The committee was headed by Republican Council member Jane Lamb, who was also on the Charter Revision Commission appointed to prepare the proposed amendment to the charter.

Mrs. Lamb is urging voters to approve the amendment, "in the interest of more efficient and ultimately more economical management" of the department.

Two years ago a Charter Revision Commission considered the matter of consolidation and at that time members of both departments, in a secret ballot vote, opposed the merger, 91-21. Over the years most department members have said they felt that merging the two departments would destroy the morale of members and would eventually lead to a paid department.

When elected two years ago, Republican Mayor Frank McCoy, who, with the exception of the previous two years, had served four other terms as mayor, said he felt that the town would be aiming toward consolidation of the fire departments "sometime in the future."

Last April the Town Council accepted recommendations of the revision commission to consolidate the departments and to reorganize them under one chief.

At one point it was thought that the change could be effected without a charter change but Town Attorney William Bredau ruled that the merger would require an official charter change.

During public hearings on the amendment some firefighters still opposed the change but personnel of the two departments, meeting in executive session, Monday night, unanimously approved a motion to urge residents to approve the merger. About 100 firefighters turned out for the meeting.

William Johnson, chief of the Vernon Department, has already been made full-time fire marshal. This move was made when the budget was prepared for this fiscal year and Johnson took over the position at the start of the fiscal year in July.

The actual new wording for the charter will be as follows: "There shall be a Town Fire Department consisting of the fire chief and such other officers and employees as authorized by the Town Council from time to time. It is the intent of this Charter that fire protection shall continue to be provided by the voluntary companies heretofore established."

The mayor is to appoint the chief, subject to approval of the Town Council and budget requests would follow the procedure of that of other town departments with the request going to the mayor and then to the council for final approval.

The volunteers will receive "remuneration" allowances or wages based upon their rank and actual service in fire protection or firefighting. This is in keeping with past standards.

The men of both departments have been preparing a set of combined bylaws which probably will be presented to the council when it next meets on Nov. 15.

Leaf Pickup Set In Vernon Area

VERNON — The Public Works Department now has two leaf vacuum machines out working in the Merline Drive area and the northeast section of Rockville, both high density areas. Ronald Hine, director of public works said.

Hine said that the town's 328 streets have been broken down into eight pickup areas. At this time two leaf machines are being used and on Nov. 5 the town will be able to obtain a rental var-all making it possible to have at least six crews picking up leaves on that Friday and Saturday.

The designated areas are: Area 1, Route 83, Merline Drive, Quarry Drive, Hillside Avenue and to the west side of Center Road.

Area 2, Welles Road in Talcottville, Washington, Taylor, Phoenix and Lake streets, Tunnel Road, Route 30, Richard Road, and Box Mountain Drive.

Area 3, Bolton and Hatch Hill roads, Bolton Lakes area, Tunnel Road, Route 30, Mile Hill and Valley Falls roads.

Area 4, E. Main, Snipsic, Mountain, Orchard, Grove Streets, Route 30, Fox Hill Drive and Route 86.

Area 5, Route 83, Kelly, Acorn, Allison, Welles roads, Hill, Terrace and Sander drives.

Area 6, South Street, Vernon Avenue, Route 30, and Center Road.

Area 7, Windsorville, Loveland Hill roads, Wilson Lane, Old Town, Dart Hill, and Thrall roads, Route 83, and the Skinner Road area.

Area 8, Orchard and Union streets, Windsorville Road, Terrace Drive, Bellevue Street, Regan Road, Dailey Circle, West and South streets, Hillcrest Drive, Glenstone Drive, and Thomas and Grove streets.

Area 7, which is basically the area of Rockville High School, and Area 2, which is the Box Mountain area, and Area 3, the Talcottville area, hopefully can be covered one, by Nov. 10, Hine said.

The residents in these areas are asked to rake leaves to the edge of their property, before Nov. 9. Hine said that under no circumstances should the leaves be raked onto pedestrian walks or into the streets.

Although Nov. 12 is a town holiday, there will be a regular refuse pickup on that day in order to avoid interfering with the leaf program which involves all of the regular public works employees, Hine said.

On Nov. 10, a Saturday, in addition to trying to cover the high density areas for leaf collection, the refuse packers will cover the regular weekly routes, to pick up bagged leaves only. No refuse is to be put out with this collection as the leaves will go into a compost pile.

Hine said that the leaf program will continue through Dec. 7 with all areas having been covered at least once and some of the high density areas will be gone over a second time. All scheduling depends on the weather and how the equipment holds out, Hine said.

Residents are also reminded not to put sticks, stones, dirt and such in with the leaves as they could damage the equipment or injure the workers.

For those who want to dispose of their leaves before the pickup is scheduled, bins are set up at the following places: Route 30, across from Hillside Avenue, Burke Road, Taylor Street at the railroad right-of-way, corner of Tunnel Road and Warren Avenue, Church Street, along the railroad right-of-way, the Glass Recycling Center on West Street, Hale Street, Werner Drive, and Valerie Drive at Cathy Drive.

Town Inspector's Load Reflects Energy Woes

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - Financially strapped consumers, battered by the rising costs of home heating oil, are turning to alternate sources of energy.

Gas burners and wood stoves are the favorites, and coal may replace at least wood stoves in the future.

"There's a tremendous conversion move," Francis Conti, chief building inspector, said Wednesday. "There's also a tremendous amount of wood stoves."

Conti said his department averages about 40-50 inspections for wood stoves a week, and that the gas company comes in with varying amounts of conversion applications.

"Sometimes they come in with 50 applications," he said.

A marketing representative from Connecticut Natural Gas endorsed Conti's assessment of the conversion binge.

"I know it's tremendous," said Alexander Zimnoch, who has been the Manchester representative for nine years. "There is a shortage of equipment right now. The manufacturers just cannot keep up with demand. But we tell the people to just wait four to six weeks. Manchester people are patient."

It is not just homeowners who are going the gas route. The Manchester school district has decided to convert one of three oil burners at Manchester High School to gas. The administration predicts it will recoup the money it paid for conversion within the first year.

The Housing Authority is considering converting to gas heat at Westhill.

Most gas adherents say it is less expensive than heating oil, which costs around 85 cents a gallon these days. At least until natural gas prices are deregulated in 1985, gas is the better buy.

"Right now it is," said May Demers, the business manager for the school district.

After receiving two bids for the gas burner conversion, Demers said the alternate source will give the district more flexibility.

However, some consumers see wood burning as the release from oil pressures. Conti expects that attitude to waver.

"I think the love affair will die very quickly," Conti said. "You will see more neighborhood stores selling coal in 50 or 100 pound bags. That will become the chief source of space heating fuel."

Conti said the supply of wood suitable for burning will make its cost prohibitive to consumers.

"The availability of good wood is not here," he said. "In Vermont, people cut wood this year for next year. But here, people are cutting wood this year for this year. They're not getting the heating value of the wood. It needs nine to 12 months of drying out or you won't get the BTU quality of the wood."

Tentative Agreement Will Avert Walkout

SOUTHINGTON (UPI) - A tentative contract agreement has averted a threatened strike by 110 workers at Bradley Memorial Hospital.

Hospital Director John Mullett said the agreement, reached Wednesday after an all-night bargaining session, was expected to be ratified today by the workers, who include nurses and technicians.

The one-year agreement with the Connecticut Health Care Associates, replacing a two-year contract that expired Sept. 30, calls for an 8 1/2 percent raise and improved benefits and vacation schedules.

Mullett said the 80-bed hospital had discharged about 40 patients in anticipation of a strike.

Mark Twain Remembered Well in Redding

By JAMES V. HEALON

REDDING (UPI) - The men and women of the Anderson family remember Mark Twain well - the man in the white linen suit and shock of white hair - who did them the biggest favor of their lives.

Twain had long been a world celebrity, the author of more than a dozen books including "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," when at 72 he came to live in Redding at Stormfield, his 200-acre hilltop estate.

He said he didn't want to see it until it was completed, "the cat purring on the hearth," and the big day came on June 18, 1908. He arrived at the West Redding railroad station on the "Berkshire Special" for the triumphant carriage ride to Stormfield.

It was named after a tale he had written and kept for 40 years, "Captain Stormfield's Visit to Heaven," and the mansion's construction marked one of the greatest comebacks since Lazarus. Bad investments had cast Twain into a financial hell, but nine years of world lecture tours proved to be his salvation.

So when Twain spoke about the need for a library in this western Connecticut town originally occupied by Indians led by a Mohawk named Chickens Warrup, his words carried great weight and the solid burghers listened. One was built and endowed by Twain's friend, the wealthy Scottish steelsmith, Andrew Carnegie, and was named for Twain, who donated many books from his own library to the fledgling repository, which Twain could see from his eagle's nest a mile to the west.

"The Mark Twain Library gave us so much - motivation, adventure, pleasure, and best of all wish to learn more. Suddenly, the whole world came into our front door," said Miss Eba Anderson.

"It was the greatest thing that ever happened in this family. We're all avid readers. I don't know what this would have been like if we hadn't had the library," she said.

Miss Anderson was the assistant town clerk in Redding for 23 years. Her sister, Olga, was a teacher for 50 years. Brother Sigurd was a 40-year employee of the Southern New England Telephone Co. and Hjalmar, held the elective office of probate judge for 37 years.

Olga Anderson recalls seeing Mark Twain at a chapel near the Umpawag Cemetery where he first talked about his plans for a library in Redding. Until that time, books were stored in a chapel cupboard.

He was dressed in his customary white.

"I have found that when a man reaches the advanced age as I have," Twain told a reporter in 1906, "the continual sight of dark clothing is likely to have a depressing effect on him."

Miss Olga Anderson said she was a pet of Miss Ida Keene, a teacher, who lives in Stamford and is 94 now. Miss Keene invited her to the chapel meeting and she stood near Bessie Haver, a classmate, whose father was Twain's coachman.

"Mr. Twain bent over, shook her hand and said, 'Hello Bessie.' On the way home, Miss Keene told me, 'This is an event you'll never forget. I never did.'

Twain's middle daughter, Clara Clemens, 35, was married at Stormfield to Ossip Gabrieliowitch, later the conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, on Oct. 6, 1909, described by a friend as "one of those quiet, lovely fall days when the world seems at peace." The great living room was festooned with foliage and flowers from the woods and fields.

Twain gave the bride away. Reporters were not informed of the marriage until the last minute, and he handed them a typewritten statement in which he interviewed himself, a Twain technique.

"Are you pleased with the marriage?"

"Yes, fully as much as any marriage could please any other father. There are two or three solemn things in life and a happy marriage is one of them, for the terrors of life are all to come."

Clara's only bridesmaid was her sister, Jean, 29. Another sister, Susy, died of meningitis at 24 in 1896. A son, Langdon, didn't survive childhood and died at the Hartford residence known as Nook Farm, which Twain was forced to sell because of his debts.

His last work was a moving essay, "On The Death of Stormfield with their parents and two cows, one of them is a museum. It had one of the first telephones in America. Twain detested the instrument and had it put in a foyer closet.

All was serene at Stormfield where Jean kept her widowed father close company. He returned from a month in Bermuda in late December 1909, to spend the holidays with her. But she suffered a fatal heart attack after decorating the Christmas tree on Christmas eve. An epileptic for 14 years, it occurred during a convulsion as she took a bath.

She was buried next to her mother, Olivia, in the family plot at Woodlawn Cemetery, at Elmira, N.Y. The gravestone says: "In memory of Jean Lampton Clemens - A most dear daughter."

"Her desolate father sets this stone

"After life's fitful fever, she sleeps well"

Twain, born Samuel Langhorne Clemens, was broken hearted, and said, "I came in with Haley's Comet in 1836. It is coming again next year and I expect to go out with it." The cosmic wonder did come back on time and Twain died at Stormfield at 6:28 p.m., Thursday, April 21, 1910. Clara was at his bedside.

His last work was a moving essay, "On The Death of Stormfield with their parents and two cows, one of them

News of Huge Profits Unmasked Big Oil

WASHINGTON — The outrageous profits posted by the big oil companies last week — ranging up to an almost unbelievable 181 percent increase over last year — have dramatically stripped the mask of sweet reasonableness from Big Oil. The consumer is paying $1 and more for a gallon of gas and is already goggling at heating bills twice as high as last winter's. He is in no mood to swallow the oil companies' smooth assurances that they're really not ripping us off.

It's basically a simple operation: For every dollar of taxes the oil companies pay to a foreign government, they are excused from a dollar of income tax owed to the U.S. Treasury. In an effort to plug this loophole in the tax laws, the Treasury is in the process of tightening its regulations by redesigning what are "taxes" and what are merely "royalties." The distinction is important to the oil companies, because by law, "royalties" are classed as business expenses to be deducted from gross income, and are thus worth only about half as much as a tax credit which is taken directly off the income tax owed to Uncle Sam.

Johnson at the Treasury in 1973-74, told our associate Tony Capaccio that he sent the material to Johnson because "he's a damn good economist." But Johnson told us he didn't know anything about the tax credit. So he turned the GAO working paper over to Tennesso's tax division to look at.

Opinion

State Leader In Energy Action

Connecticut has stepped out in the lead of New England States in facing the impending winter cold with a special energy session of the General Assembly. That proposal could well kill the incentive for some home heating oil dealers to remain in business, especially at a time when many dealers are paying for their oil c.o.d.

Halloween Was Busy For Police

MANCHESTER — The annual Halloween binge produced at least 35 reported incidents of mischievous or malicious acts, Manchester police said today.

But that probably doesn't account for any incomplete reports or incidents which residents didn't bother to disclose.

The Halloween tricks ran the gamut from leaf fires to shattered glass. Some cars were fouled with toothpaste while a North Road resident discovered his car coated with paint remover. Police said it causes the paint to peel down to the metal in several places. The damage was estimated at $500.

A 20-year-old local man was arrested Wednesday night for allegedly driving a 1971 Plymouth across a lawn at 41 Strawberry Lane.

Police charged Peter M. Hennigan of 223 Ralph Road with criminal mischief and ordered him to appear in East Hartford Superior Court on Nov. 19. He was also cited for reckless driving.

Two juveniles were taken into custody for spray painting a window at Bennett Junior High School on Main Street. Both were charged with third degree criminal mischief, police said, referred to juvenile court and released to their parents.

Four tires were stolen off an Audi parked at Small Cars of Manchester, 461 Main St. The car was left on its drums, police said.

An unknown person called the Edwards Food Warehouse, 205 Spencer St., at 6:10 p.m. and said a bomb had been planted, police said. The manager positioned an employee outside the store to warn customers. Someone kicked a glass door on the east side of Arthur Treacher's restaurant, 403 Center St.

An eye witness observed two males, one dressed as a soldier, get out of an El Camino and smash two lamp posts at 99 Pitkin St. The incident occurred at 9 p.m.

The Eighth Utilities District fire department responded to a dumpster fire at the Robertson School, a leaf fire at 22 Irving St. and a tire fire at Buckland Court.

The Town of Manchester Fire Department had 23 calls during the night, most of them isolated brush and dumpster fires and false alarms. No major damage was reported at any of the incidents.

Not All Bad

However, not all the tales from Halloween 1978 portray the bad side of youth.

Tom Dawkins of 28 North Elm St. said two youngsters befriended him Wednesday night and he'd like to repay their kindness.

Dawkins was laid up and the lady who did his shopping forgot to buy candy for the youngsters coming to his door.

Two youngsters arrived at 6:30 p.m., Dawkins said, and a tenant told them about his plight. He suggested that the youths "give him something instead," Dawkins said.

"They each reached in their bags," he said, "and gave me a piece of candy."

Dawkins said he doesn't know their names, but would like to give a dollar to each of them if they would come to the house and describe the candy.

Incidentally, Dawkins gave the candy to some trick-or-treaters who came later.

Joyner Charges Grasso Reneges on Commitment

HARTFORD — Manchester State Rep. Walter Joyner has charged that Gov. George A. Ramo, in his state mental institutions today that there were just five months ago not receiving adequate care? "What good does it do us state when we have a few dollars and there are hundreds of mentally retarded citizens not receiving the care and attention they need?" "But, by withholding services and cutting back on vital services, the governor is building a bomb that is set to go off. More than a year ago, in her budget address to the General Assembly in 1978, the governor promised a commitment to human services and that she was calling for creation of 800 new positions in DMR, 134 in Mental Health, and 200 in DCYS, all sensitive areas serving the human needs of our disadvantaged citizens."

"Yet, as of Oct. 22, there were 217 positions still unfilled in the Department of Mental Retardation and, as of Oct. 30, there were 276 unfilled positions in the Department of Mental Health."

A spokesman for the governor responded that one of the problems in filling positions is finding qualified personnel and that the positions Joyner referred to are among the toughest to fill.

The spokesman also said that the governor has instructed heads of agencies, in proposing budget savings, to plan them in such a way as not to reduce direct services in the human service areas.

In connection with the delay in filling the posts, Joyner said "I would have to say that this shows a rather questionable commitment on the part of the governor to important human services programs in our state. She promised five hundred care facilities and yet only one has opened. She has been making commitments that are not being kept in order to 'save' a few dollars."

"I submit, however, that these are rather hollow savings. What good does it do the State of Connecticut to save a few dollars when there are three hundred more patients in our state mental institutions today than there were just five months ago not receiving adequate care?" Ahearn Suggests New Big Oil Tax

HARTFORD — State Rep. Aloysius Ahearn of 55th District, submitted a bill during Wednesday's special session of the legislature, which if passed would place a 1.5 percent tax on revenue derived from the sale of petroleum products in Connecticut.

He said some legislators claim such a bill would be unconstitutional but he doesn't feel that claim would hold water as other states have taken similar action.

Ahearn said he submitted the bill in response to concerns expressed by the Connecticut Citizens Labor Action Group, United Auto Workers and such. The tax would be on the gross sale of petroleum products and would provide a source of income, rather than bonding or "robbing Peter to pay Paul," Ahearn said.

He said, "This isn't a taxation on the consumers but on the bad guys, the major oil companies."

Ahearn said that the state lost some $225 million because of oil and gas increases. He said it's been alleged that the oil companies have been overcharging the consumers. He said his suggested bill should bring in about $19 million to the state which could be used to develop a source of revenues to use in grants or loans to consumers to help them pay their fuel bills.

Ahearn said he thinks his proposal is a creative opportunity to do something because the federal government is doing nothing.

The proposal will have to go to a hearing and at that time the various groups can present their cases. He said the bill will have to go to the Finance Committee which should be conducting hearings within the next seven or eight days.

Library Union Begins Talks

MANCHESTER — The town's new library workers' union met with librarians' union officials today to begin their first contract negotiations.

Werner said he couldn't discuss specifics of those negotiations but said ground rules for future talks were established.

After a year-long struggle between the library workers and the town, the workers voted 14 to 4 Aug. 8 to form a union.

The vote climaxed the workers' drive to organize which began after a salary dispute between employees and the library board.

Library workers earn from $6,000 to $14,000 for work ranging from clerical to aiding the head librarian.

GOP Charges Democrats Steal Republican Ideas

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The GOP at a press conference today blasted the Democrats for either "killing, fining, faulting, or claiming as their own" every Republican idea.

Republican Director and Minority Leader Carl Zinsner recited a litany of examples he said supports this contention. "The Democrats turned down our motion for a Buckland fire house referendum. We suggested 40 more units to be added for elderly housing and they sat on the idea for six months."

"We pushed for improvements to the Nathan Hale School. Republicans backed the Sunday liquor sales, put the leaf pickup back on the director's agenda and sponsored the emergency fuel aid program," Zinsner said.

Responding to the Buckland Fire House item, Democratic town committee chairman Ted Cummings said, "The Buckland Fire House has answered many, many fire calls and covers East Catholic High School, Howell Cheney, 300 apartments at Fountain Village, 300 apartments up at Bryan Farms and does its job well, no matter what they say."

On the elderly housing remarks, Cummings said the housing authority has tried for many more units of housing and now it has had accepted another 40 units. "These have nothing to do with GOP directors' suggestions."

"We addressed the issues. We haven't been talking about the Democrats' advertising, as they've been talking about ours. We haven't been conducting a dirty campaign," Zinsner said.

"We want a large vote turnout. I'd rather lose the election than be elected with a small voter turnout," he said.

Diana concluded, "We expect a 3-1 vote in our favor to show the voters are upset with the way Democrats have been running things."

Man Hurt in Crash

MANCHESTER — A 28-year-old Vermont man was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital this morning after his car collided with a utility pole on East Center Street.

Police cited David L. Thompson of 79 Rolling View Drive for failure to drive in the right lane. He was not seriously injured from the crash, police said.

According to police, Thompson was traveling west at 1:32 when he fell asleep. His vehicle crossed the eastbound lanes and struck the pole, police said, causing extensive damage to the pole and car.

Nearby residents were without power because of the mishap.

Built from Ground Up

When Tom Malin took over as coach of the East Catholic soccer team in 1974, he assumed command of a program which the year before was 0-9-3. There was very little tradition in soccer at the school; heck the team still doesn't have a "home" field.

The first two years were barren, each bringing 0-1-1 marks. But Malin, who never played the sport but has given tons of energy and time teaching it, began to see progress in '76 when the Eagles went 7-4-1 in the regular season and qualified for the state tournament for the first time ever.

Two seasons of 3-3 and 5-3 followed. But 1979 has proven to be a vintage year for Malin and his boaters as they've logged a 10-5 mark heading into their second venture in post-season play.

"They've done it against good (Hartford Public, St. Paul, Glastonbury) clubs and had (Prince Tech, Gilbert) ones and ones in between. No one can begrudge the Eagles' berth in the tournament. They, themselves, can be classified a good club."

East has some fine talent in Tyler McCoy (16 goals), striker Terry McCornie (18 goals), and midfielder Kyle Ayr (10 goals). Senior goalie Mike Ciszewski still has his moments of indecision but in the 1-0 upset win over CVC Champ Glastonbury High was superb. Midfielder Tim Skoby has improved 92 percent over the course of the year and is a key member of the team. He, in fact, tallied the game-winning goal against Glastonbury.

The rest of the team may not be gifted skill-wise but they're hustlers and working together. The defense, shaky at the outset of the campaign, has improved enormously and can be looked to to afford a solid effort.

When East made its first tournament appearance in '76, no one figured it would advance beyond its first opponent and they were correct. But this club is immensely better. The element of soccer, not kickball, is prevalent.

And Malin, usually nattily attired while East Catholic's thinclads, too, have cracks at Class L crowns. Penney High of East Hartford has an outside bid at the Class L crown but Black Knight Cindy Arico is a favorite for individual honors.

Individual honors could also go to Manchester carriers. See Green might have more than she can chew on the distaff side but Tim DeVane could trot home with boys' bonors. If he does, it would be the second consecutive crown for a Silk Tower as Ed Lemieux was the '78 winner. He is now putting one foot in front of the other for the University of Pennsylvania.

It's state meet time. It's what everyone has been waiting for.

Colts to Stay in Baltimore

DALLAS (UPI) — Robert Irsay Wednesday called off his cross-country propping tour in which he has sought the ideal franchise.

Instead, Irsay said he was willing to leave the Baltimore Colts where they are, pending the Maryland Legislature's approval of a proposal to renovate Memorial Stadium.

The Colts were thus assured of playing at least the 1980 season in Baltimore.

Irsay had originally planned to ask NFL owners, who were conducting a regularly scheduled meeting Wednesday, to let him move the team to another city because 30 facilities in Maryland declined to make what he felt were necessary improvements to the stadium.

"I've earlier this week Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer and Maryland Gov. Harry Hughes outlined a package of improvements they said they felt would please Irsay."

Irsay said Wednesday he was satisfied with the proposal to the point that he would delay his bid to move the Colts. He, however, the Maryland Legislature fails to act on the project when it convenes in January, Irsay said he would again begin his campaign to move the team.

"If I owe it to the Baltimore fans," Irsay said, "if they don't let me, I want to stay in the city."

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who met last week with Hughes, said he felt there was enough support behind the stadium improvements to make their passage through the legislature a smooth one.

"I met with the governor and mayor last Thursday," said Rozelle, "who has traditionally been against franchise shifts unless absolutely necessary." The governor told me that that time he felt he could support the package.

"On Monday, I received a letter from him saying many of the legislative leaders could be counted on to support the plan."

The Eaglettes, 5-4, return to action today against Windsor High in Windsor. They will conclude their dual meet Friday against Mercy High at East Hartford High's pool.

Dakin captured the 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard breaststroke to pace East. Viola annexed the 200-yard freestyle and finished right behind Maloney stand-out Lisa Zeiser in the 100-yard freestyle.

Swanson took seconds in the 100-yard butterfly and 500-yard freestyle while Price was victorious in the 50-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard free.

Sophomore Mary Mayhew won the diving, but her point total was not available.

Penney Blanks Hornets

Bres I through with 14 minutes left in the second period, Penney High blanked crosstown East Hartford High, 1-0, in CCIL soccer action yesterday at the Black Knights' field. Penney winds up 2-2 with 21 points and in seventh place in the CCIL while East Hartford finishes 2-10 with 17 points and in ninth place.

"It is the first time we've finished ahead of Windham (2-9, 18 points) and East Hartford," cited Knight Coach Jim Agnew. "And it's the most points we've ever scored in a season."

John Costello slammed home the game-winner for Penney as he took a cross from Earle Brown and slammed it into the cage. Knight keeper Mike Corntofo had 10 saves and came up big in the opening stanza when he turned aside several strong Hornet bids.

Dave Sayward, Joe Lombardo, Jeff DeAngelis and Brian D'Alessandro played well for Penney. The Knights outshot the Hornets, 20-16.

Cheney Booters Win Finale

If only the soccer season was one game longer. That has to be the sentiment in Cheney Tech's camp.

The Beaver booters, closing out the year with a rush, captured their fifth straight yesterday, 5-0, over Prince Tech to move their final record to 7-2. That's one game short of the 500 level, which would qualify them for post-season play. But there's always next year, and Cheney's with the closing surge must be like Mike Fraser and chatted it into the cage. It was Cheney's second goal of the year.

This was the last game for Cheney seniors Van, Fraser, Kenyon, Dave Menard, Sean Mitchell, Frank Carlson and Frank Foster. Junior Brian Eaton had an outstanding game at midfield.

Cheney outshot Prince, 24-4, with Collada called upon to make 16 saves and Beaver keeper Lou Germaine only three.

Cheney's eighth goal of the season. Mike Kenyon made it 2-0 at 28:30 as he took a centering pass from Mike Fraser and chatted it into the cage. It was Cheney's second goal of the year.

Tom Eaton capped the scoring at the 36-minute juncture of the second half. He accepted a pass from Van and drilled his third tally of the campaign past Collada.

Slow-Starting Tribe Prevails

Taking control in the third period after a slow start, Manchester High whipped Windham High, 5-1, in CCIL soccer action yesterday in Willimantic.

The victory, coupled with Wethersfield's deadlock with Simsbury, leaves the Silk Towers in sole possession of third place in the final league standings. Manchester winds up 10-4 with 52 points and Wethersfield 9-2 with 49 points. Windham, which failed to qualify for post-season play, packs its bags 2-9-4 with 18 points.

The triumph also marks the ninth time in the last 10 years Manchester has won 10 or more games.

Danny Collins opened the scoring for the Indians at 11:50 of the first period as he headed home a John Kelly corner kick. It was Collins' seventh goal of the season. Kelly's eighth assist also came in this game. Jeff Lombardo made it 2-0 at 19:25 of the stanza with a left drive to the far corner which glanced off a Windham defender's back at the last instant.

Windham sliced the deficit in half at 17:21 of the second period as Jay Walker, left unmarked, connected on a 10-yard drive.

Manchester picked up the tempo in the third quarter, scoring twice. Jim Ghosby at 5:23 drilled home a rebound, a Lombardo shot at 11:43. 5-3 the latter dribbled in close with some fine moves and beat Windham keeper Dave Erekema. The goal was Ghosby's seventh and the pair gives Lombardo 21 for the season, making him only the second Manchester player to score 20 or more goals in a single season. Kelly capped the scoring at 5:12 of the final canto as he blasted a drive from the right side. He was assisted by Alex Britnell. It was Kelly's fourth goal of the season.

Manchester outshot Windham, 28-10, with Tribe keeper Matt Peterson making two saves and Erekema 12. Britnell, Eric Juttner, Tim O'Brien and newcomer Chuck Costello, the latter promoted from the jayvee squad, gave Manchester the lead. The locals will now sit back and wait for the state tournament pairings and rankings to be announced. They'll be released Saturday in Hamden.

Day in Road Race, Eighth Last Year

By EARL YOST Sports Editor

Lanky Bob Day, out of the University of South Carolina and now residing in Lebanon, N.H., is the second entry received for the 1979 Five Mile Road Race in Manchester which placed in the top 10 a year ago.

Day's form for the Thanksgiving morning race saw the entry list soar over the 1,400 mark. Will Hadden, general chairman for the sponsoring Natick Fire, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, reported. The race starts at 10:30 on Main Street.

Last year's winner, John Treacy, former Providence College star from Ireland, was the first of the top 10 finishers of a year ago to enter.

Day will be making his third appearance with two fine finishes to his credit. Day was 12th in his initial appearance in 1977 and moved up four notches to eighth place last year when 2,000 registered runners took part.

Jim Balcome, race director, expects as many as 4,000 starters, if weather conditions are right to answer the starter's gun.

Capacity for Pain NEW BRITAIN (UPI) - Quite obviously, George Steinbrenner and Billy Martin have an infinite capacity for pain, inflicting it on each other one minute and applying some palliative the next, and while that doesn't seem to injure their psyches a bit, my old heart can't take it any more.

contented, we will draw a million" - and he backed it up all the way. Under his direction in 1974, the Rangers won 84 games and lost 76 and finished five games behind the pennant winning Oakland A's after making a strong run at them during the last month of the season.

to be sure, in this particular part of New England, there is more immediate concern with the Patriots, the Celtics, the Bruins and the Whalers, and with whether the Red Sox will succeed in luring back free agent first baseman Bobby Walden.

Got Along Well Short said he never had a bit of trouble when Martin was managing for him.

Before hiring Martin, Short persuaded Hall of Famer Ted Williams to manage the Senators for him and his friends, travel agent and limousine service operator Bill Fugazy, says the Yankee owner fired Martin for his own good.

Feared for Martin "He feared if this were allowed to continue, Billy might be killed or he might kill somebody else," said Fugazy.

Basically, Steinbrenner isn't saying anything that much different than one of Billy Martin's former employers, Bob Short, said to him some time back.

It was Short, too, who recommended to Steinbrenner he hire Martin to manage the Yankees in 1975 after Steinbrenner had fired Bill Virdon.

Martin did a superb job for Short. The Rangers had finished dead last in the American League Western Division in 1973, winning only 57 games while losing 105, but during spring training of 1974, Martin made the statement - "we will win, we will

Comeback of Year Laurels to Brock

NEW YORK (UPI) - Lou Brock's swan song played to a standing ovation.

The 40-year-old outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals has exited baseball with a loud fanfare after being named today as the National League's Comeback Player of the Year by the United Press International.

Not given much of a chance by Manager Ken Boyer to make the team in spring training, Brock not only won a starting berth but hit .304 and reached the 3,000 career hit club in helping the Cardinals to a three-place finish in the National League East.

Brock's eighth 300 season came after many baseball followers had written off the speedy outfielder following a 1978 campaign in which he batted only .221.

"I don't worry about those people because they're not in your corner to begin with anyway," said Brock. "They don't bother me. Those who believe in your ability will be the first to stand up and tell you that."

Brock was an easy winner in a balloting of UPI baseball correspondents, receiving 19 of a possible 30 votes. Brock's teammate, Keith Hernandez, Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia and Joe Mauer of Houston received two votes each and Gary Matthews of Atlanta, Tom Seaver of Cincinnati, Willie McCovey of San Francisco, Tim Lincecum

Keon, Gordie Score

TORONTO (UPC) - The identity of the hometown favorite was in doubt as 16,485 normally partisan Toronto Maple Leaf fans cheered wildly for the visiting Hartford Whalers and their 4-2 victory over Toronto.

Spectators gave the Whalers, making their first appearance in Toronto, a standing ovation as former Leaf captain Dave Keon scored his first goal of the year for Hartford at 8:43 of the second period to break a 1-1 tie.

In the third period, Keon, a 15-year veteran with Toronto before jumping to the now-defunct WHA in 1972, assisted on former Leaf leader Stoughton's winning goal at 3:06 in Wednesday night's contest.

Gordie Howe received a hearty ovation at 8:57 of the third period as he gave the Whalers a 4-1 lead on a picture-perfect goal assisted by his son Mark.

Keon, who had not played in the NHL for six years, was mildly amused about facing his former NHL team.

Blackburn, however, stressed his team's inability to play well on defense. "There is some justice, I guess. We played well before and lost in other cities but tonight we lacked a bit and good goal-tending won it for us."

Toronto's Walt McKechie scored his first goal of the year in the first period at 3:56 but Ray Allison tied the count at 1:34 of the second period with his third marker of the year.

Toronto ended the game on Paul Gardner's second goal at 10:59 of the final period during which Toronto levelled-17 of their 39 shots on Whaler goalie John Garrett.

Blackburn Coach Don Blackburn praised his skaters' efforts. "We pressed in their own end using only the fundamentals. I was pleased with everyone's performance, especially Gordie's."

"I think that has been the best goal of the year for him. I believe when he comes to the old NHL six-team cities it means a little more to him than playing in, say, Philadelphia."

Curse of the Omni, Hawks Defeat 76ers

NEW YORK (UPI) - Call it the Curse of the Omni. The Atlanta Hawks, who had the best homecourt record in the NBA last season, claimed another victim Wednesday night. And this was a sweet one, indeed.

The Hawks disposed of the Philadelphia 76ers, sending the 76ers to their first loss of the season and leaving the NBA with no undefeated teams.

"It's a great win for us because it enables us to gain confidence back whereby we know that we can play with the dynamic teams in this league," said Atlanta Coach Hakeem Brown.

Bucks 110, Lakers 106 Milwaukee won its ninth consecutive game on the strength of Marques Johnson with 25 points, Junior Bridgeman with 22 and Kent Benson with 19. Los Angeles, which had its five-game winning streak stopped, trailed by two points with four seconds to go but Johnson hit a jumper at the buzzer. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 23 points for the Lakers.

Bullets 114, Cavaliers 105 Bob Danbridge scored 14 of his 31 points in the fourth quarter to win it for Washington. Elvin Hayes added 27 points and Wes Unshel 13 rebounds for the Bullets, who blew a 17-point first-half lead. Kenny Carr, Campy Russell and Randy Smith had 22 points each for Cleveland.

Pacers 133, Rockets 129 Reserve Joe Hassett scored 21 points, including 4 in overtime, as Indiana won its fifth straight at home. Hassett, who had 3 three-point field goals, was aided by Mickey Johnson with a game-high 27 points. Moses Malone scored 26 points for Houston. Kings 125, Jazz 108 Otis Birdsong fired in 31 points and paced five Kansas City players in double figures. The Jazz, 2-7, were led by Adrian Dantley with 30 points. For the kings, Bill Robinson added 21.

Runners Seek Crowns

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sports Editor Ready, willing and able to lay claim to state class cross country championships are squads from Manchester High and East Catholic.

The Indians will seek to reclaim the Class LL title, won two years ago but annexed last season by New Canaan, while the Eagles will try to unseat four-time defending champ Xavier High in Class L.

All of this will take place Friday afternoon at Timberlin Golf Course in Berlin. The Class M race begins the activities at 1:45 followed by Class L 2.25, Class LL 3.05 and Class S 3-4. Distance is 5,000 meters (3.1 miles). The top five teams in Class LL, L and M, top three teams in Class S and top 25 individuals in all four classes advance to next Friday's State Open Meet at Edgewood Country Club in Cromwell.

Manchester won its first state title under Coach George Sutor in 1977. It was favorite to repeat last year but "New Canaan came and buried us," Sutor recalls the painful memory.

"A lot of people are picking us but we still have to go out and run," Sutor proclaimed. "The teams we're facing, I'm still not sure how hard they ran at the other end of the state. I've heard conflicting reports," he remarked.

Shelton and New Canaan deadlocked Monday at the Western Sectional while Manchester took the Eastern Sectional. "We ran easy," Sutor stated.

Conard and Norwich Free Academy, which took 2-3 in the Eastern Sectional, also should raise a challenge to the Silk Towners. "You know me, I'll be worried until it's over," the Indian coach declared.

Flanagan Failed to Fulfill One of Early Season Goals

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) - Mike Flanagan may have officially been proclaimed the best pitcher in the American League this year but he didn't fulfill one of his early season goals.

The Flanagan family was overjoyed when they heard the news that their son Mike had won the Cy Young Award for his performance with the Baltimore Orioles this season.

His son finished the year with a 23-9 mark. "We're just happy for him. I know he was shooting for it. He maintains he doesn't have any goals but he has 'em every year," Flanagan said.

His father said one of his son's keys to success this season dates back to a suggestion that was made while his son was a high school player.

One doctor suggested Mike wear an arch support while another disagreed.

Eddie Flanagan said his son refused to wear the support until spring training this year.

The elder Flanagan said the support helped his son avoid ankle and knee injuries which plagued him in past seasons.

The whole key in sports today is injuries. Flanagan said he's happy that his son avoided them.

Flanagan was born in Manchester and was the star pitcher for the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Both Manchester and East will be entering healthy teams.

North Stars Maturing

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Minnesota North Stars are off to a 6-2-1 start - and that comes as no surprise to the team or its opponents.

"This is a fine hockey club," said Minnesota Coach Glen Sonmor after the North Stars rallied from a 2-0 deficit to defeat the Detroit Red Wings, 5-1, Wednesday night.

"They're young, but they're starting to mature." Al MacAdam and Tom McCarthy scored three-third period goals 59 seconds apart to snap a 3-3 deadlock and lead Minnesota to its third straight victory. MacAdam scored his second goal of the night at 10:06 of the final period, while he had handed a rebound past Detroit goalie Jim Rutherford. McCarthy's third goal of the year less than a minute later sealed it for Minnesota.

MacAdam offered this explanation for the North Stars' success: "Having a bunch of young guys who got used to winning in the juniors makes a difference when we get behind early. If we keep playing with the enthusiasm and confidence we've had so far, we'll be near the top of our division when the season ends."

It was the first double shutout in Chicago since March 10, 1970, when goalie Tony Esposito and the Hawks tied Boston, with current Chicago Coach Eddie Johnston in the Bruins' net. Buffalo goalie Bob Sauve scored his second consecutive shutout, and it was also Esposito's second of the year - and 68th in his career.

Penguins 4, Rockies 2 Gregg Sheppard and Greg Malone scored in the third period for Pittsburgh to break a 2-2 tie. Sheppard scored 13:11, Malone 16:56.

Baseball is a condition. "I think there will be that urge next spring. But it depends on how you occupy your time. I don't see it as a big factor where I'm going to become obsessed with it."

"That's where the quest comes in. I have no other quest to gain. When you can identify your purpose - and that sometimes is the toughest thing to do - and you say, 'one last thing or that.' I don't have that quest, there is no challenge left for me. I do feel I could play baseball another two years, though."
