The Almanac

By United Press International. Today is Friday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1979 with 52 to follow. The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus. Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio. American actress Marie Dressler "Tugboat Annie" was born Nov. 9, 1873. On this date in history: In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt set up the Civil Works Administration as an emergency Depression agency to provide jobs for the unemployed. In 1963, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled major league baseball did not come within the scope of federal anti-trust laws. In 1965, a massive power failure blacked out New York City and parts of five New England states for two to 13 hours. In 1973, six Watergate defendants were sentenced to prison. E. Howard Hunt was given a term of 2 1/2 to eight years. A thought for the day: American writer O. Henry said, "A straw vote only shows which way the hot air blows."

Is Ali Solution To Iran Problem?

While frustrated statements agonize over those American hostages in Tehran, at least one New Yorker thinks he has a solution. Says Jerry Goldblatt—a chaplain for Trinity Institute—"Why not send Muhammad Ali?" Goldblatt adds, "He may not be a diplomat, but he beat the system non-violently by refusing the Vietnam draft, he's an international hero and he's a Moslem. If they wouldn't let him into the country as an ambassador, who else would they ever conceive of letting in? It's about time we started praying—and using a little intelligence."

First Lady Bandwagon

Let the politicians endorse Ted Kennedy's presidential bid. At least one expert was busy Thursday endorsing his wife, Joan. Says former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, in an interview with the Quincy, Mass., Patriot Ledger, "I know what the job takes and how to complete it with confidence in her. And Ted will make a fine president. I think it's all very exciting." The Ledger says Joan will campaign for her husband—in Boston where she maintains separate quarters.

Visivision! First came the synthesizer—which can sound like anything from a penny whistle to a philharmonic orchestra. Pay Hike 6 to 10 Percent In Bolton Teachers' Pact

By DONNA HOLLAND, Herald Correspondent

BOLTON—A two year contract between the Board of Education and the Bolton Education Association was formally signed Thursday night by representatives of both groups following weeks of negotiations. The contract represents a 6 to 10 percent salary increase for teachers. The early settlement was a dramatic change from two years ago when contract talks lasted more than a year and ended in mediation and arbitration. Louis Cloutier, chief negotiator for the school board, noting the loss of several well qualified teachers, said the board had three major objectives for this year's negotiations. The objectives were to provide Bolton teachers with an equitable, fair and just ten-year salary schedule for the next two years, to establish teacher salary schedules which would be more competitive with surrounding communities, and to have salary schedules which will hold and attract top quality educators. Fred Audette, co-chairman of the teachers' negotiating team, said, "The salary portion of this agreement is fair, but more important to me was the willingness of the school board to listen to and act upon teacher concerns in the areas of staff morale and working conditions. This Board of Education has shown me that it is willing to meet the teachers on a professional and personal level." John Marino, co-chairman of the teachers' negotiating team, said, "As in all negotiations there was compromise on both sides of the table. Future talks between the board and the association will benefit from the ground that was broken this year." The salary schedule for next year's contract, representing a 6 to 10 percent increase over this year's contract with an eight percent average. Teachers holding a bachelor's degree will receive $10,279 in the first year and will receive $11,707 after 14 or more years of service. Master's degree personnel will begin at $10,971 and will go to a maximum of $17,955 after 15 or more years of experience. Sixty or more master's degree, plus 30 credits will begin at $11,718 and will go to a maximum of $18,854 after 15 or more years of teaching. The second year of the contract averages a six percent salary increase. For the 1981-1982 fiscal year the

Former Cult Followers Relate Past Experiences

By LANEY ZUBOFF, Herald Reporter

MANGHESTER—Two ex-cult members and the mother of a girl who has joined the "Garbage eaters," spoke Thursday night to Manchester Community College students and the public warning them of the influence cults have over young people in today's society and the damage they cause. The MCC auditorium was nearly packed to hear the experiences of Shelly, formerly a member of the "Unification Church," Brian, who was a member of "The Way International," and Mrs. Warren Evans who joined "The Cult of the Garbage Eaters." Father Edmund Nadolny was a guest of the fellowship student organization at MCC, which sponsored the program. Shelly became involved with the "Unification Church" in 1973, and spoke of being victimized by the movement's Korean leader, the Rev. Sun Myung Moon. "When you leave a cult you can't even decide what kind of ice cream you want," said Shelly. The experience of being a cultist takes away your ability to think, said Shelly. Brian joined the "Way International," while he was a student at the University of Connecticut. He, too, was "seduced" into joining by a female member of the cult who invited him back to her apartment to discuss a book and had 20 "friends" waiting to meet him. "The 'Way International' calls gaining a person's trust 'love-baiting,'" said Brian. In its article about the cult lectures, the MCC New College Press, alleged the group operating at the UConn campus in Storrs is "propagating virulent anti-Semitism as did the Nazi party in Germany." This tax-free enterprise run by a Victor Wierwille trains its "Way Corps" cadres in the art of marksmanship so as to be able to use firearms proficiently. Brian said the meditation process for "Way International" was called "speaking in tongues" and is a form of chanting used as a self-hypnotic technique to make a person "oblivious to reality." Mrs. Evans saw her daughter, who was a straight A student at the University of Connecticut, join up with the "garbage eaters." For over a year now her Minda has been traveling with a group of nomads who survive by digging into garbage cans from the back of supermarkets and restaurants. The New College Press reports that MCC students have observed this "weird group a few streets behind the main campus." After listing Minda as a missing person, the family located her and tried to work with her to "bring her back." "We spent six weeks working with her but she could hardly speak a sentence." After the meeting, Minda's sister, Chris, said seeing her sister was "incredible." She wouldn't eat for five days and once jumped from a third story window, and would not accept hospital treatment. Minda has disappeared and her parents don't know if she's dead or alive. There were several active members of the cults in the audience whose questions were stifled by Father Nadolny and the speakers. Some of the cultists left the auditorium, obviously agitated by the assembly.

Vernon Recount Is Done

VERNON—Vernon election officials, Thursday night, opened the voting machines at all of the polling places and recounted the figures to see if a Republican or Democrat won the 12th seat on the Town Council and to determine the winner of the third member of the Board of Selectmen. The Republicans captured seven of the 12 seats on the council. The figures for Republican Michael Catinaro and Democrat Leonard Jacobs, which showed a difference of just 26 votes, required, by state statutes, a recount. The figures were Jacobs 3,412 and Catinaro, 3,386. Late Tuesday night Jacobs assumed he was a loser to fellow Democrat Joseph Meruzzo by two votes. A recount much later in the evening, showed a miscount and Jacobs was declared the winner by 98 votes. Also recounted Thursday night were the votes for the third seat on the Board of Selectmen between two Democrats, incumbent Marian Narkiewicz and Jack Gorr. Narkiewicz was declared the winner Tuesday night and he remained so after the recount.

Coliseum Delayed; Ice Capades Cancels

HARTFORD (UPI)—Delays in rebuilding the Hartford Civic Center coliseum has cost the city its biggest single revenue maker—the 1980 Ice Capades. Civic Center Executive Director Frank Russo Thursday announced cancellation of the scheduled visit of the ice show because the coliseum's reconstruction is behind schedule. He said the loss of the mid-January Ice Capades performances was a "major setback" which will cause the arena to lose $250,000 in net profits. The Civic Center's roof, a 1,400-ton space frame, collapsed Jan. 16, 1978, under tons of ice and snow just hours after 5,000 persons left the arena. There were no injuries. A massive $13.5 million reconstruction project began about six months after the collapse. The coliseum was originally scheduled to reopen Jan. 1, but building contractors have revised that date to Feb. 25. Even so, Civic Center officials had held hopes the facility could still reopen sometime in January. Russo said construction had "seemed to be moving so that we could open by January," but admitted now "the opening probably will be closer to February." "Realistically, I don't think we're going to be ready in early January to the point we can open that building and install confidence in the public that it is safe," Russo said. He estimated the arena will suffer daily losses of $30,000, which he said the city would be forced to subsidize, if the new arena isn't ready for scheduled February bookings. Russo said the coliseum could end up needing as much as a $700,000 subsidy from the city to cover 1980 operating deficits. He said city officials had been told the subsidy will be needed if the arena isn't ready by Feb. 1. He said Ice Capades, which he described as the arena's biggest financial draw, decided to cancel because "it couldn't wait any longer to see whether we'd be open or not." "Very conservatively, it meant a quarter of a million dollars net profit," he said. "There are not enough dates to ever make up that kind of deficit this year. I believe it will mean a subsidy from the city to make up our budget for the year." Russo said he recommended the Ice Capades show forget about any 1980 visit to Hartford because there aren't enough open dates for such a show later in the year. The arena director has said the new coliseum will be "one of the safest public structures in the U.S." and the coliseum has spent thousands of dollars on a public relations project to "impress the safety features" on the public. The coliseum's prime tenant, the Hartford Whalers, has scheduled many of their early season games away in anticipation of the Jan. 1 opening, nine of their first 12 National Hockey League games this season have been on the road.

Proposed Big Oil Tax Falls by the Wayside

HARTFORD (UPI)—A proposed windfall profits tax on major oil companies who do business in Connecticut, which supporters said could be used to bankroll the emergency fund, has fallen by the legislative wayside. The proposal was approved Wednesday by the Energy and Public Utilities Committee. It would have taxed all major oil companies who refine or distribute oil in Connecticut. Violation would have carried a $25 fine. Principal testimony in support of the bill was made by Richard Pomp, a professor at the University of Connecticut School of Law who specializes in tax statutes. He said the actual cost of the tax to oil companies would be $410 million once allowable federal tax deductions were made. Pomp said oil companies sold $1.3 billion worth of petroleum products in Connecticut in 1977. "If you put it in this perspective, I'm not talking about a radical or traumatic change," Pomp said. He said oil companies could afford the tax, said Sen. Audrey Beck, D-Mansfield, co-chairman of the committee.

Unit Alters Ella's Plan

HARTFORD (UPI)—A legislative committee considering emergency fuel aid bills has altered Gov. Ella Grasso's request for $11 million in bonding, approving instead almost $84 million worth of borrowings. Many of the high-priced bills passed by the Legislature's Energy and Public Utilities Committee will likely be axed by the borrowing-conscious finance panels, which say they won't go far beyond the governor's ceiling. The panel, which has been operating in confusion since the special energy session opened Oct. 31, rushed against the clock to meet a 5 p.m. Thursday deadline for acting on bills. The governor's aides moved in when the committee dithered. Mrs. Grasso's proposal to bond $3 million for loans to small oil dealers. After some pressure was applied, the committee changed its mind and approved the bill. The panel also toyed with the governor's bill to bond $5 million for grants to towns and cities. Mrs. Grasso said the money would be used to prevent housing abandonment and to make low interest fuel loans. The committee agreed that proposal to $15 million. They also said $10 million of the amount would be for loans to families whose income falls between 125 percent and 200 percent of the poverty level—$8,375 to $12,000-a-year. There was no aid for middle income families in the governor's plan. Both bills are now headed for the Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee. The committee added $700,000 to the governor's $3 million proposal for crisis intervention loans to low-income families. They also included two other categories among those who would be eligible—the elderly and the handicapped whose income is up to 150 percent of the poverty level. The bill now goes to the Appropriations Committee. The committee wrote in an extra $7 million above what the governor recommended be spent for energy conservation loans funneled through the Department of Housing. The agency has $3 million and the governor asked for $3 million more, but the committee proposed an added $10 million.

Style Against Determination

The worst-kept secret in U.S. history has been that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is running for president. Wednesday he made it official and the Democrats are off and running on what may end up being the most divisive internal struggle since the Vietnam era when Lyndon Johnson bowed out in the midst of a Democratic power fight.

A question often asked is can a person believe in God without going to church? Certainly a person can have faith without going to church, just like a person can be fed intravenously without ever tasting the food, just like a person can be a sports enthusiast, without ever playing a game, just like a person can see travel films and never take a trip, just like a person can fall in love and never spend any time with the special someone. Actually we don't even have to do anything in order to live; it can all be done for us through tubes, and pumps and needles. Most of us would not choose this kind of existence. We want to be involved. We are creatures of action.

Israel Reassesses Position

By DON GRAFF If Jimmy Carter and Menachem Begin could afford the time out from their respective domestic preoccupations for a brief troubles-sharing chat, they might find much in common at the moment. Both are having tough going with recalcitrant legislatures. Both are being challenged by the courts in the exercise of their presumed executive prerogatives. Both have serious personnel problems on their executive teams. And both are heading into political weather that it would be an understatement to describe as threatening.

But here there is also a difference. While Carter knows the dimension and timing of his challenge, the presidential primaries and election, Begin is beset by uncertainties. He has survived the no-confidence votes precipitated by Moshe Dayan's resignation as foreign minister - thanks in no small part to Dayan's disinclination for the time being to team up with the opposition in the Knesset.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

300,000 Souls Perished and U.S. Just Stood By

By JACK ANDERSON WASHINGTON - Now and then, a story cries out to be told. The tragedy of East Timor is such a story. It should not be ignored by those who claim membership in the human race. Malnutrition and death have always been commonplace in East Timor, a piece of earth abused by man and nature. The 600,000 people of this remote country a ragged, mountainous island slightly larger than the state of Connecticut - were accustomed to hardship. For most of them, life was labor and death came early.

The olive branch was brusquely rejected by the Indonesian generals. They were "losing patience" according to a secret report, "with President Suharto's go-slow approach to the Portuguese Timor problem and pressing him to authorize direct military intervention." By Dec. 3, 1975, an intelligence dispatch to Washington reported that the hawkish generals had triumphed: "Ranking Indonesian civilian government leaders have decided that the only solution in the Portuguese Timor situation is for Indonesia to launch an offensive against Fretilin."

That Suharto succeeded is confirmed by Ford himself. The United States had suffered a devastating setback in Vietnam, leaving Indonesia as the most important American ally in the area. Indonesia was also a major oil producer at a time that the United States was beginning to feel the petroleum pinch. Against this background, the remote little nation of East Timor may have seemed insignificant.

Pilot Energy Program Set for New England

BOSTON (UPI)—The U.S. Department of Energy Thursday launched a pilot energy saving program directed at all 4.5 million New England households, aimed at getting 10 percent of them to save 25 percent of the heating costs this winter.

The $2.8 million project will include a mailing to each dwelling in the six-state region and a media blitz of television, radio and print advertising aimed at convincing people to institute 11 energy saving tips.

If all households in the region complied, it could result in an astounding annual savings of $1 billion plus in New England energy costs.

But even a moderately successful response - targeted at 10 percent of households - would save up to 11,500 barrels of oil per day or $104 million per year in home heating costs, DOE organizer Joseph L. Barrow Jr. told a Statehouse news conference.

TV and radio ads began appearing Thursday, Barrow said, and along with the brochure, to be mailed starting Nov. 13, will try to "market and sell energy conservation."

The brochure lists ways of cutting costs of heating hot water and reducing heat loss from homes. Each pamphlet includes a plastic "flow controller" which, installed in a showerhead, cuts hot water use almost in half.

"The second largest use of energy in the home is hot water," Barrow said. The BOLTON—An unfinished road project, the result of establishment of a subdivision, has resulted in the unhappiness of one homeowner and the possibility of future problems for the town.

Lini Lucarelli, developer of Fiora Farms subdivision, is having problems completing the road work in the subdivision.

The Board of Selectmen had notified the Travelers Insurance Company last August about the situation and had the bond on the project pulled. Because of rising costs, it appears that the bond doesn't provide enough money to complete the work.

First Selectman Henry Ryba said that the matter is between the developer and her contractor. "The contractor apparently started work and then just pulled out," Ryba said.

He said the problem goes back about six years. In the meantime, John DeGaudio, a resident of Fiora Road, is having problems.

In a letter to Jerome Walsh, Bolton's town attorney, DeGaudio said, "I tried unsuccessfully to obtain information regarding the completion of road repairs. The road was torn up and left in that condition for several months."

DeGaudio said he was told that the road was to be completed so he made arrangements to have a driveway installed.

He said, "Now that I'm in the first stages of installing the driveway, I've been informed that not only is the Town of Bolton failing to hire a contractor for the job but that there are not enough funds to complete it."

He told the town attorney that the first step of digging up the road shouldn't have been undertaken without the necessary funds to complete the operation. "I cannot comprehend the lack of concern on the part of the town attorney for the needs of the taxpayers in Bolton," DeGaudio said.

He told Walsh that the letter was written to inform the town that he must complete his driveway according to the terms of his signed agreement. "If after completion, there is damage to my driveway due to the completion or lack of completing the road, I will hold the Town of Bolton responsible for all repairs to my complete satisfaction," he said.

Ryba repeated, "The matter is still between the developer and contractor but the town attorney is checking into it to see what the town can do." He said in the meantime the holes in the road have been filled in by the town's road crew.

Skills Program To Start When Director Is Hired

MANCHESTER—Lewis Stein, director of the Sheltered Workshop, said today that an Independent Living Skills training program will begin as soon as an instructor has been hired. The aim of the program will be to provide training in food preparation, nutrition and household management enabling the retarded adults who are workshop clients to become more self-sufficient.

Stein said the position of instructor is to be filled by a person who meets CETA eligibility requirements.

Persons who are interested in learning more about this program may contact Stein at the Manchester Sheltered Workshop located in Lincoln Center, 646-5718.

The workshop is continually expanding its rehabilitation program in order to increase opportunities for its clients. The 66 clients work on subcontracts for local industries and in addition are offered continuing adult education in academic subjects and an exercise and recreation program.

What's the Outlook For New Superstar?

By ALLEN WIDEM

Some novices in "show biz," very much in a sour-grapes mood and manner, have been heard to say that if indeed vaudeville's gone and died and that if the so-called "strawhat theaters" are generally passe, what's the outlook, the immediate outlook, for someone seeking to become a superstar?

These same novices have been heard to say, here is Barbara Streisand, here is this "name," here is that "name," and how did they ever get anywhere in a business notorious for overcrowding at the top? A wit could retort, simply, it's easy to get to Carnegie Hall - just practice. In no-nonsense evaluation, whether one lives in Manchester or Modouss or Memphis, Tenn., getting that Break is a combination of luck, capacity to last in a highly-competitive field, and, certainly, the foregoing predicated on the presence of in-depth, definitive study and application of that study.

"Movie scouts" have rarely come into Connecticut. They head for the more active, more cosmopolitan centers. When they have appeared, particularly at professional theaters, their presence goes unnoticed by the general public simply because these same talent-seekers are not given to personal promotion as much as a sincere desire to find a particular talent. And becoming such is not as easy as it sounds.

If a young person - male or female - has hopes for a professional performing career, in theater, in television, in motion pictures, that young person has to be willing to sit with a guidance counselor on a secondary school level, outline long-term objectives, and then determine an immediate course of action. More often than not, a forward-thinking counselor will encourage active participation in school drama, in community drama.

The fact that vaudeville - one of the most colorful factors in American entertainment - is irrevocably out of the scene does not mean such training is passe. Again, the school, the community group is a sound, significant, substantial outlet, giving voice as prelude to guitar arrangement, Bridget O'Connell will be assisted by four other student performers - Brian Kehlenbach, who will be pianist, and soloist in the Bonfa selection, harpist Ally Bryson, bassoonist Clifford Johnson, and pianist Veronica Tomasek.

Bridget O'Connell was a soloist with the UConn Jazz Ensemble and Wind Ensemble during its fall 1978-spring 1979 touring program. She also performed in UConn's Flute Quartet and Woodwind Trio, and with the University of Hartford Afro-American Jazz Lab at Hart College of Music. She has played numerous club dates in the Hartford area and in Massachusetts.

Taiwan Troupe Coming

A young lady swallows four swords in the "Disappearing Swords" act performed by the Chinese Acrobats and Magicians of Taiwan, coming to Hartford's Bushnell Memorial Hall on Thursday, Nov. 15, at 8 p.m. For information, call the Bushnell box office, 246-6807.

Ballet Designed for Deaf

HARTFORD—With the deaf as the audience, the Hartford Chamber Ballet will present a dance concert designed for the American School for the Deaf.

The emphasis of the performance will be on the dancers' body language, providing the students with the opportunity to enjoy and share the rhythmic sensations produced through the dance. To further enhance the performance and to allow for home music appreciation, a unique piece of equipment, the Pulsar Zero 3000, will be used to provide visual reinforcement of the music tones. This piece of equipment called an infinty panel translated audio frequencies into colored lights.

Michael Uthoff, artistic director of the Hartford Ballet and the Hartford Chamber Ballet, has choreographed three abstract works to allow personal interpretation by each student. His work with the deaf is the result of his experience with the Spectrum Deaf Dance Company in Austin, Texas, and his personal interest in creating for the deaf.

To further reinforce the appreciation of the concert, an interpreter from the American School for the Deaf, Ms. Kathy Jenkoumas, will aid Ms. Sandra Ray, ballet mistress, in the explanation of basic dance techniques and simple dance combinations.

The Hartford Chamber Ballet, under the artistic direction of Michael Uthoff, is a professional company of 13 dancers, founded in 1975, and has been funded by United Technologies Inc. for two years.

The Chamber Ballet performs both classical and contemporary works drawn from the eclectic repertoire of its parent company, as well as dances choreographed especially for them.

The company offers concert performances and education services to organizations and schools throughout New England. Included in Conantours Dance Program, the group also tours extensively each holiday with its parent company's production of "The Nutcracker," and

Little Theatre Sets Final Performances

MANCHESTER—The Little Theatre of Manchester Inc. will present the final two performances of the musical comedy, "Bells Are Ringing," Friday and Saturday night at 8:30 in East Catholic High School Auditorium.

Tickets for both performances will be available at the door or by calling Vincent Liscomb at 647-9286. Special reduced rates are available for both students and senior citizens.

The Betty Comden-Adolph Green musical with music by Jules Styne is directed by Betty Spalla. Lee and Beverly Burton are the choreographers and Ralph Macaronne is the musical director.

The production is being made possible through a grant from United Technologies Corporation.

Shakespeare Grant

STRATFORD—The American Shakespeare Theatre has been awarded a $200,000 challenge grant by the National Endowment for the Arts. To qualify for the grant, the theater is required to generate new and increased non-federal funding amounting to $60,000.

Each $3 of additional contributed income will release an additional dollar from the government.

"This important grant represents the federal government's strongest vote of confidence in the artistic and administrative excellence of this nationally recognized non-profit arts organization attaining the continually increasing operating expenses of producing Shakespeare during the summer plus year-round programming of all the performing arts disciplines.

The American Shakespeare Theatre has already integrated the grant requirements into its current year-end fund drive and is confident the challenge will be met, thereby maintaining its position in the ranks of other prestigious non-profit arts organizations attaining nationally recognized levels of artistic and administrative quality.

Auditions Scheduled

HARTFORD—The Music Series of Trinity Episcopal Church announces auditions for a production of Noye's Fludde by Benjamin Britten (pronounced Noah's Flood) in May of 1980.

Positions are open for capable children's soloists and actors, for a children's chorus, for an ensemble of older girls or women with some acting ability, for a male speaking voice, and for string players, pianists, percussion players, recorder players and bugles or trumpeters of all levels of ability.

Auditions will be held on Saturday, Jan. 12, and Sat. Jan. 19, 1980.

All inquiries should be phoned in to Trinity Episcopal Church at 527-8133. Inquiries will not be considered after Jan. 18.

Concert at Supper

SOUTH WINDSOR—The South Windsor Community Church's Recreation Department, will perform a one-hour concert of song at the Annual Harvest Supper of the First Church of Christ Congregational in Glastonbury Nov. 18. The concert will be performed at the Glastonbury High School.

Included will be songs from "Oliver," and some holiday favorites. Mrs. Roberta Reeves is the director for the chorus and Miss Karen Krinjak, the accompanist.

Flute Recital Set, Nov. 19

STORRS—Bridget M. O'Connell, 131 Park St., Manchester, will present her senior flute recital at the University of Connecticut's Von der Meiden Recital Hall Nov. 19, starting at 8:15 p.m.

Her program will include Handel's "Soprano in A Minor," Vivaldi's "Trio for Flute, Harp, and Bassoon," Moia's "Sonata for Flute and Piano," Faure's "Sicilienne, Op. 79," and Giovanni's "Morocco," both for alto flute and piano, and Bonfa's "Manha de Carnaval."

Additionally, a nine-member student ensemble, led by Rich Prior and with Kevin O'Connell as guitarist, will perform Bridget O'Connell's arrangement of Fogelberg's "Guitar Etude, No. 3" to conclude the concert.

In addition to the orchestra for the

Arizona State Prexy Backed

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) - Arizona State University President John Schwada today got the backing of the State Board of Regents for the manner in which the firing of ASU football coach Frank Kush was handled.

A legislative leader warned the state could be open to lawsuits because Kush was not reinstated to his position with an attorney general's opinion.

Kush was relieved of his duties Oct. 14 by ASU Athletic Director Fred Miller, who accused Kush of attempted cover-up in connection with a $1.1 million suit filed by former ASU punter Kevin Rutledge.

Majority Leader Burton Barr called on the regents and Schwada to comply with an attorney general's opinion regarding the dismissal.

Last Friday, Attorney General Bob Corbin held Kush's dismissal was improper and failed to follow established rules for removal of faculty members.

Rutledge's suit, which named Kush and the university as defendants, accused Kush of punching him during a 1976 game with Washington and of harassing him into leaving the ASU squad.

Kush, who was head football coach at ASU for 22 years, last week filed a $40 million suit against Miller, Schwada and dragstrip operator Rick Lynch, whom Kush had accused of "disrupting" the ASU football program.

French Colt Le Marmot Ready for Aqueduct

LAUREL, Md. (UPI) - Fabian Gerard, whose 3-year-old Le Marmot is one of three French colts entered in Saturday's $200,000 Washington, D.C. International at Laurel, had more than just a leg to worry about when he arrived in America Sunday.

He had to adjust Le Marmot to the harder turf and leeward turns of American tracks while keeping the brown colt away from other horses as prescribed by the U.S. Agriculture Department, which imposed a limited quarantine on him.

Because Rodolph Schaefer, the colt's owner, didn't accept the invitation to run in the International until two weeks ago, Le Marmot wasn't able to undergo the standard tests for contagious equine meningitis, a venereal disease.

The solitary confinement provision is the only thing that bothers Gerard, who is quick to point out agriculture Department officials have been cooperative.

"The USDA has been very nice, letting the colt in without all the tests, but the restriction that he cannot go with other horses... well, he is used to training with others and that might be a problem."

Face Masks Mandatory in ECAC

CENTERTVILLE, Mass. (UPI) - Eastern college hockey players must wear helmets with facemasks this season under a decision Thursday by the executive committee of the Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association.

The six-member committee, made up of athletic directors from Northeastern, Princeton, Elmira, Colgate, Lowell University and Trinity, reaffirmed in a conference call an earlier decision to mandate the facemasks.

The ECAC, which covers 61 schools, is an affiliate of the Eastern College Athletic Conference. Two other college hockey associations, the Western and Central, as well as the NCAA, have made the facemask optional for 1979-80.

Sent Out Valleyball

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) - The Washington Capitals Thursday sent goalie Jim Bedard to the Hershey Bears, their American Hockey League farm club.

Bedard, 22, from Niagara Falls, Ontario, has not played in club's first 14 games. The Bears already have two goalies Rudi Boutin and Dave Parro - on their roster.

Seniors Elect Class Officers

Another name should have been added to the list of candidates seeking the presidential election - Katrina Walsh.

The only difference between Katrina and Ted Kennedy, Jimmy Carter, John Connally, or Ronald Reagan is that Katrina Walsh is no longer seeking the position, she's already won the race.

In last week's elections, Katrina was elected as class president of the senior class of 1980 at Manchester High School.

Cathy Connors also should have been added to the list of presidential candidate running mates. She captured the position of senior class vice president in the same election. The two remaining officers were elected to their positions by a landslide. John Kelly was elected secretary of the senior class, and Glenn Eagleton was elected treasurer.

The first set of elections was held on Oct. 22. Senior class members were asked to nominate any four people in their class that they would like to have as their class officers. Over the following week, the votes were tallied, and the top twelve vote getters were placed on another ballot. Senior class members were then again asked to vote for four people, but this time from the list of twelve finalists. The results of these ballots were tabulated and on Nov. 1, the new 1980 class officers were announced.

S'nB Ready To Show Off 'Madwoman'

For the past seven weeks, Sock 'n Buskin members have been hard at work preparing their first production of the 60th season, "The Madwoman of Chailot," by Jean Giraudoux.

The play is directed by Dr. Lee Hay, and the backstage work is coordinated by Verne Burnett.

Approximately 35 actors have been rehearsing every day at school learning lines, perfecting stage moves, and developing their characters.

In the lead role of Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chailot, is junior Anna Bronzits. This is her second appearance in an S'nB play.

The friends of the Countess (the other Madwomen) will be portrayed by Laura Gatzkiewicz, Doreen Jordan, and Jennifer Jay. "Madwoman" marks the Sock 'n Buskin debut for these three actresses. Other more seasoned cast members include John Gibeault, Robert Lenhardt, Jim Prettetta, Dave Glidden, and Glen Packman.

The play opens at a Paris sidewalk cafe, where evil men are in the midst of forming a corporation, with the aid of the Madwoman, to undertake the corporation's efforts. The real of the play follows from this point. Will the Madwoman purge the world of evil and evil-doers? Or will he beloved Paris be leveled for the love of it?

In any dramatic production, whether professional or amateur, the technical and business crews are as important to the success of the show as are the actors. For this particular play, the costume crew, headed by Annette Krol and Alison Smith, has the busiest. Responsible for the sewing of turn-of-the-century style costumes for the 35 cast members, this crew deserves special mention.

The lighting crew, headed by Glen Allen and Gary Coman, has also dealt successfully with complex problems presented by this show; "Madwoman" is one of the most difficult shows to light that Sock 'n Buskin has presented in a while.

The combined efforts of the cast and crew will be on display when the play opens on the 15th of Nov. 9, 10, 16, and 17 at 8:00 p.m.

This promises to be one of S'nB's best productions in its 60 years, so come and bring a friend. Tickets cost $2.00, and $1.50 with your SAA card. - Laurie Patino seniors have, including those newly elected, is what exactly will be the duties and responsibilities of these officers. The answer is neither short nor simple.

While the list of things that the officers must accomplish does not seem too complicated nor duties and tasks will be added as the year progresses.

The four officers will find that especially in the spring, more and more things concerning the senior class will need to be done.

Presently, things on the agenda for the officers are as follows: class dues, selection of a class motto, selection of a major graduation speaker, cap and gown exercises, and senior week, which includes the class picnic, the quadrangle party, the senior prom and the dawn dance. Also, faculty advisors for all senior week activities will be needed.

The major working force that will be assisting the officers, and of which the president will be chairman, is the Senior Commencement Committee.

Any member of the senior class will be invited to be a part of this committee and help with the planning of senior class activities.

This committee is a very effective and productive group of students. As an officer state, "In order to get everything done that we have planned, we're really going to need help from all the seniors."

Obviously, as a result of the size of the senior class, about 600 students, not everyone knows these four people personally, and these four do not know all of their fellow classmates personally. Instead of telling of letters about the other 556 people in their class, it might be easier to tell you about them. Each officer has played on one or more varsity sports at MHS and all are active members of the school's Student Assembly.

Glenn has been a diver on the MHS Boys' Swim Team for the past two years. He has also participated in Round Table, Sock 'n Buskin, and the MHS Math Team.

Katrine has been a member of the Girls' Varsity Volleyball Team for two years, and a cheerleader in her sophomore and senior year. Both she and Glenn are also members of the National Honor Society.

John has been a dedicated participant on the Boys' Soccer Team and Boys' Track Team during his three years at high school.

Cathy has played Girls' Varsity Basketball, was selected for Girls' State, and lists the MHS Outing Club as a definite favorite of her activities. All four students see their new positions as a way of getting even more involved at MHS, and doing more for their senior class.

The newly-elected class officers are extremely capable and qualified for the job of heading the class of 1980 throughout the school year. They are anxious to get things underway and start reaching some of the goals that they have set. Each officer as well as each senior is looking forward to making this school year their best at MHS. - Joanne Weiss

Improvements May Backfire

MHS is and has been making several futile attempts at improving itself.

Yes, our school is changing, but improving? That is questionable. For almost every improvement, there is a setback, for students, teachers, or both. The next time you find yourself griping about some inconvenience, backtrack and see if it isn't the indirect result of MHS trying to improve itself. These so-called "improvements" were noticeable right from the beginning.

Coming back to school after a summer of freedom from their duties as homework, teachers, tests, early rising, and the big daddy of them all - Hall Monitors, is bad enough. But to walk into a rainbow of yellow, orange, and lime green, well, that's just too much to bear. Call it future shock, modern art, or just plain stupidity, it leaves much to be desired.

Haven't you wondered just what could have inspired anyone to ruin our hallways in this manner? There must be a logical explanation. Perhaps there was a vote for one sale on these colors at the local hardware store. Or maybe it was donated by someone who robbed a paint store and needed to unload the merchandise quickly. We can only speculate.

At the end of this psychologic confusion stands one lone figure - The Hall Monitor. Better known as covers, these teachers are made to wander throughout the halls during their free periods, demanding to see your pass. If you haven't got one, so long! Out you go, be it rain, snow, sleet or hail.

Much like an amateur "narc," they seem to be everywhere. And where have these lovely persons come from? Various places. Mostly from labs. Try to get into a typing lab during the day? If you're lucky, you might have off the one period it is offered.

Otherwise it's after school, buddy. Gone are the days of labs all through the day, and teachers having periods off in which you could go for extra help or to make up quizzes or tests.

You might (how could you not) have noticed various bathrooms padlocked around the school. This is usually for repair due to either age or vandalism. Those that are never repaired are often more appealing than those that are.

Some time ago I walked into one of these renovated bathrooms, and what a sight! Give me the old graffiti and way to the awful sight of murky-brown stalls. Besides the new paint and a general clean-up job, everything else was much the same.

These are the few major setbacks resulting from trying to improve MHS. There are also other minor ones. But keep in mind that many improvements at MHS are successful. Our administration and student council are doing their best and will continue to do so. Let's give them our whole-hearted support. Keep trying MHS! - Sherry Tuttle

Smokers' Day Set Aside

Would you like to live longer? Avoid lung cancer, emphysema, bronchitis, and heart attacks? Stop coughing in the mornings? Improve your athletic prowess by increasing stamina? Really smell the scents around you and taste the foods you eat? Save a lot of cash? Of course you would! Who wouldn't want to?

On Nov. 15, you can get a head start on the above benefits. On this day, the American Cancer Society will hold its third annual Great American Smoke-Out. It's a nationwide effort aimed at getting smokers to quit cigarettes for a twenty-four hour period. There's no obligation to quit permanently involved, although it's hoped that the nationwide spirit of the day will be just the incentive smokers need to quit for good. This is the Cancer Society's ultimate goal.

In Connecticut, a special part of the Smokeout will be conducted in cooperation with the Yale Comprehensive Cancer Center. They will have self-help kits available for smokers who wish to "kick their habit" with a more gradual approach.

It involves one-day-at-a-time steps towards doing just that. According to Marion Morra, vice-chairman of the A.C.S. Connecticut and Communications Director of the Yale Comprehensive Cancer Center, the kit does not place heavy emphasis on the health hazards of smoking. It is an attractive method for smokers because it does not preach or scold. It's a positive approach to quitting, and it works.

Anyone interested in the free Great American Smokeout "Quit Kit" can call toll-free 1-800-922-2824 on Nov. 15. Last year, over 2,000 telephone calls were received on the day of the Smokeout requesting kits.

The Quit Kit is only one aspect of Connecticut's plans for Nov. 15. Local ACS area officers will be holding special events throughout the state. Pledge cards will be distributed to those persons who plan to quit smoking for the Smokeout's 24 hours.

Manchester is included in the above events. Dr. Kennedy, superintendent of Manchester's school system, will serve as over-all chairman. He has already announced his plans of quitting for the day of the Great American Smokeout. The high school, as well as the community, will be involved. Sign-up sheets will be available, and a tally will be taken of all quitters-for-the-day.

So, if you're a smoker, join in the nationwide Great American Smokeout. Further information can be obtained from the Manchester Chapter of the American Cancer Society at 643-2188. Be a quitter! You'll be a winner. - P. Shirer

Halloween Recounted

Another Halloween has come and gone. For me it was the last one I'll ever really be able to celebrate. I'm getting a little old for trick or treating.

This year a good percentage of MHSers and I celebrated to the fullest. Wednesday brought forth the art department dressed as a box of Crayola crayons, others as Dracula, clowns, frogs, and me as a wild, wild west. The costumes all made me laugh but the best one was the six foot strawberry larking in the halls.

The high point of my day was getting from MHS to my house, almost two miles away. As a senior, I have certain privileges, such as very few classes, which allow me to finish the school day by 12:45 p.m. My problem was that buses don't run until 2:15 p.m. and I don't have a car.

So for me it was home via two feet. Ordinarily that wouldn't be bad, but I was one of the "fools" that got dressed on Wednesday. My costume was a black dress, black cape, shoes, red and white striped socks, and a big, black pointed hat. The fine point of my costume was my wily green face. I got this effect by using green eyeshadow.

Although many people asked me, I'm not sure if I was a good or bad witch, or if I was from the east or west. All I knew was that from school to home I had to walk down West Middle Turnpike. Let me tell you, that was an interesting experience!

Once I left school grounds I wished that I had asked a strawberry or one of the crayons to come home with me. The farther I walked, the faster I realized that this wasn't going to be an ordinary day. As the cars passed by, I got many strange looks, a few looks of horror here and there, and of course, some comments. The looks, waves, and cars made the day very enjoyable and quite funny. I suppose I was a good witch. One that could laugh at and with cars! - Joan Cyenas

Runners Regain Title

The Boys' Cross Country Team captured the Class LL Championship last Friday at Timberlin Golf Course in Berlin.

The Indians totaled 88 points to "run away" from the rest of the field. Southington High School finished in the runner-up spot with 163 points, while New Canaan was third with 192.

Tim DeValve paced the tribe with a second place finish in a time of 15:28.7 over the 5000 meter (3.1 mile) course. Doug Meek ran his best race of the season, garnering third place, in a time of 15:35.8. Jim Grzymkowski was 14th, Dave DeValve was 24th, and Joe Neubelt was 45th.

The victory marked coach George Sultro's second LL State Championship in the past three years. The State Title was won in 1977, and the Harriers finished in the runner-up spot last season.

The entire Boys' team deserves much congratulations for its feat. Congratulations should also go to the members of the team who did not run in the race. We all wish the Boys' Team the best of luck in their attempt to gain the State Open Title for MHS. - Mark Albert

IOH Bakes

Do you ever get the craving for something tasty to eat but there's nothing around the house and you just don't have enough time to bake something? Well, the Instructors of the Handicapped (IOH) has the answer to your problem!

IOH will be holding its annual mobile bake sale tomorrow, November 10th, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Organizational members will be traveling around Manchester in cars that will be brightly decorated with streamers and signs, and full of homemade items. A booth will also be set up on Main Street in front of Regal Men's Shop.

The money that is earned on this annual bake sale will go toward IOH's pool fund. IOH meets every Sunday afternoon at the Manchester High School pool to teach swimming to mentally and physically handicapped people. The organization is planning to build a specially equipped pool to aid in swimming instruction.

So, tomorrow when you see a decorated car traveling through your neighborhood, or when someone knocks on your door selling baked goods for IOH, consider saying something. Or if you're in the downtown area, stop by our booth and see what we have to offer.

All items are baked by IOH families or friends of IOH. You'll certainly be pleased with your purchases and will be helping the Instructors of the Handicapped to someday build their pool. - Alison Gracie

Commuters Face Horrors

NEW YORK (UPI) - Westchester and Connecticut's 89,000 daily rail commuters face a host of horrors, including dirty trains, route cuts and slower service, if a $22 million budget increase is not approved, Conrail officials say.

"It's a horror list," a spokesman for the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, which oversees the line, said Thursday, referring to the service reductions.

He said the list was compiled to deal with the possibility Conrail might not receive a 20 percent increase in operating costs.

"It's not going to happen tomorrow," the spokesman said. "It represents the worst possible situation. We're certainly going to fight like hell to get the money."

The list, which would affect the estimated 89,000 passengers on Conrail's Hudson, Harlem and New Haven divisions, includes:

- Reducing the cleaning of train cars by up to 50 percent.
- Eliminating service on the Waterbury branch between Brewster, N.Y., and Dover Plains, N.Y., which now has 100 to 150 riders during rush hour.
- Cutting off-peak service to hourly instead of half-hourly intervals to North White Plains, N.Y., and Stamford, Conn.
- Reducing off-peak service on the Hudson division, where there are currently two-hour waits between trains.
- Eliminating all or most starting service at the Mount Vernon, Peekskill and New Rochelle stations. That would mean express trains would have to make more local stops, lengthening the trip to Manhattan.
- Imposing speed restrictions on the New Haven and other lines. That would mean more passengers would have to stand in the cars because Conrail would not be able to get rush-hour trains back upstate in time.

Officials Deny Charges

HARTFORD (UPI) - New Britain Fire Commission Chairman Alfred Tanguay and retired Fire Chief Raymond Galati have entered innocent pleas to charges in the city's municipal corruption scandal.

The two men entered their pleas Thursday before Hartford superior court Judge John D. Brennan.

Tanguay, who was arrested Wednesday, is a retired police lieutenant and was appointed to the fire commission in 1977. He pleaded innocent to a bribery charge, denying he bought his promotion to police lieutenant in 1975. After entering the plea, Tanguay, 55, resigned from the commission.

He was scheduled to return to court Dec. 2.

Galati, 56, who had faced 13 counts of bribery, larceny and forgery, was charged with an additional two counts during his Thursday appearance in Superior Court. He pleaded innocent in all 15 counts. A pretrial hearing was set for Nov. 16. So far, 14 present and past city officials have been arrested on charges based on a lengthy grand jury investigation into schemes to sell municipal jobs and promotions in the central Connecticut city of 80,000.

Two officials charged in the scandal have already pleaded guilty to perjury and bribery.

Tanguay's arrest came one day after the re-election Tuesday of Mayor William J. McNamara, for whom Tanguay worked as a top election coordinator.

Tanguay was named to the fire commission by McNamara soon after the mayor won his first term in 1977.

Bill To Help Consumers On Fuel-Saving Devices

HARTFORD (UPI) - A bill designed to inform consumers of the efficiency and durability of energy-saving devices through testing has been approved by the Legislature's General Law Committee.

Approved Thursday and sent to the Senate was the proposal by Gov. Ella Grasso that calls for voluntary testing of energy-saving devices.

A representative of the state Department of Consumer Protection, which called for mandatory testing, said it would accept the language of the measure now and push for more definitive action when the 1980 Legislature convenes.

Susan Nichols, executive assistant to Consumer Protection Commissioner Mary Healin, said the agency was willing to give in so lawmakers would pass the measure, which also calls for an Energy Technology Review Panel.

"It was mandatory testing. We feel it's essential," Ms. Nichols said, adding it would give the review panel "legal clout."

But she said the agency was most concerned about getting the program and panel in gear and on the books.

Rep. Andrew Grande, D-Bristol, co-chairman of the committee, said a bill calling for mandatory testing of energy-saving devices would never be passed by the special session, which began Oct. 31 and is expected to wrap up the day before Thanksgiving.

"Not this session. There hasn't been enough time to do any research," he said after the committee's meeting.

Under the measure, the manufacturer of an energy-related product would have the device tested by a third-party consultant and pick up the tab for the review. There would be no cost to the state.

The results may include the evaluation of the energy efficiency, durability, reliability, health, safety and other aspects of the product.

The panel would have the authority to review any product presented to it by a state agency, require testing and check for fraud, misrepresentation and unsubstantiated claims.

Rec Basketball Program Will Begin in Vernon

VERNON - The Recreation Department will hold its first week of practices for the youth basketball program, starting Saturday. Players who have not yet registered may do so Saturday.

The Junior Pro League, which is an instructional league for boys ages 8 and 9, will meet at the Center Road School with the younger group meeting from 9 to 10:30 a.m. and the older group from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The American Midget League will practice at the Vernon Elementary School. The 10-year olds will meet from 9 to 10:15 a.m. and the 11-year olds from 10:15 to 11:30 a.m. and 12-year olds from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

The National Midget League will practice at the Rockville High School gym. The practice times will be the same as for the American League.

Those in the 12-year-old age group will practice in the large gym at the high school from 9 to 10:30 a.m. and those age 14 and 15, from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The league for girls ages 10-13 will meet at Center Road School from noon to 1:30 p.m.

There will be an organizational meeting of representatives of basketball teams interested in joining the Senior League, Stone Age League A, Stone Age B League and the Expansion League Nov. 12. The Senior League will meet at 8:30 p.m. and the other three leagues will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the recreation office, 26 Park Place.

The Senior League plays its games on Monday nights and is open to all players 18 years of age and older.

The Stone Age A & B Leagues will play Wednesdays and Thursdays, with the A League restricted to players age 25 and older, and the B League to players 30 and older. The Expansion League will play on Thursday nights.

All players in the Stone Age Leagues and the Expansion League must be residents of taxpayers in Vernon, or must work full time for the sponsoring team.

Anyone wishing to join teams in any of these four leagues should attend Tuesday's meeting. League play is expected to begin the end of November.

Recount Doesn't Change Outcome

COVENTRY - A recount of Tuesday's election results didn't change the outcome of the election, with the Republicans gaining the majority on the Town Council and the Board of Education.

Republican Roberta Koonitz, highest vote-getter on the Republican ticket, has been chosen as chairman of the council. Republican Roy McLain, vice chairman; and Jeffrey Lancaster, secretary.

The recount was required because of the closeness of the votes between Republican Laurier DeMars and Democrat Elizabeth Peterson for Town Council. In the recount DeMars kept his 11 vote lead.

The difference in the votes for two Board of Education members, was two votes and this also remained the same after the recount with Democrat Sandra Stave edging out another member of her own party, William Kennedy.

The new council members were sworn in Wednesday night by Probate Judge David Rappe.

Mrs. Koonitz also appointed McLain as chairman of the Finance Committee and DeMars as chairman of a steering committee which will deal with appointments and policy matters.

It's a Fact!

Dependent on the age of your house, and when you purchased it, insurance only for the resale value could be risky because most insurance policies pay according to the rebuilding value of your home, not the resale value. In many cases, these two values are not the same. In fact, they can be thousands of dollars apart.
