Defense Increase Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter was expected to announce plans today for increasing the defense budget by billions of dollars over the next few years to match spiraling Soviet military spending. The White House said it expects the Iranian crisis will help the administration in gaining congressional approval for a much bigger military budget. Sources indicated Carter would announce a 1981 military budget as high as $160 billion, an increase of nearly 5 percent aimed at winning over opponents of the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty. The current budget for the 1980 fiscal year is $138.2 billion. The increases presumably would meet the objections of hardliners like Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., who have tied their approval of SALT to a military increase. Carter was to unveil his plans in a major address at late afternoon before the influential Business Council, made up of the chief executives of 100 top corporations, in the East Room.

Also on the president's schedule today were meetings with some of his aides on foreign policy and lunch with his chief economic advisers. Press secretary Jody Powell told reporters "the purpose of this speech is to provide as best we can the administration view of where we stand in defense capability (and) where we should go over the next few years."

He said the Soviets have had large increases in their military outlays at a time when Pentagon spending was "steadily declining." Powell said the speech would have been made "with or without the crisis in Iran. It deals with the broader steps that need to be taken in the light of activities of other nations."

But he added that the crisis "may well have had an impact on the attitudes and perceptions of American defense policies... about the needs."

Meantime, the White House did not hide its displeasure with the NBC television interview with Marine Col. William Gallegos, House Speaker Thomas O'Neill accused the network of falling "into the trap of Iranian propaganda" and said "Mr. Carter's reaction was exactly the same as mine."

Carter discussed Iran at a breakfast session with Democratic leaders Tuesday, and used "strong words" against Mexico for refusing to permit the shah to return to Caracas where he was living in exile. He also accused Mexico of urging other nations not to accept dollars for oil, sources said.

Powell said there is no extradition treaty with Iran that would permit the United States to meet the demands of Iranian militants to send deposed Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi home. But he added "even if there were a law, we would not take such action under blackmail, even if we were so inclined."

The board did set a one-year office term for the two appointments to the forum, beginning Jan. 1, 1980. This would mean Lupien's appointment lasts only three more weeks. The Democratic appointee, Beldon Schaffer, was approved by the board last night.

Lupien, found the postponing of the decision on his appointment a "bipartisan effort to remove me without the benefit of a public hearing." Speaking during the portion of the meeting open to public comments, Lupien asked "If you do this to me are you going to change rules in the middle for another person?"

"I know extreme pressure has been brought to bear on you," Lupien said. "You can fire me if you want to, but this is just a backdoor approach to get rid of me."

This play sets a precedent, and hard working people won't want to serve, if they can be removed if they offend the community, Lupien said. Lupien commented that he deserved a public hearing, with council if he chose. "But I imagine you people will go ahead and appoint somebody to my position," he said. "Of the people who came out of the woodwork last week, where are they tonight?"

"Only about two or three are here tonight," Lupien said. "I stand on my record."

Prize-Winning Teddy Bear

Andrew Bushnell, 8, son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Bushnell of Thayer Road, Manchester, holds his prize-winning teddy bear "Buttons" and a certificate naming the bear grand prize winner in the recent Teddy Bear Contest sponsored by the Lutz Junior Museum. "Buttons," a third generation brown bear with button eyes and movable arms, captured the top prize despite a brown patch on his tummy, which Andrew explained was from an appendectomy the bear had more than 40 years ago. As the winner, Andrew will be able to attend museum events free and will receive a custom-made bear T-shirt. More than 600 people attended the event. (Herald photo by Adamson)

Appointment of Lupien Postponed by Directors

By MARY KITZMANN Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The appointment of Frank Lupien to the Capital Region Council of Governments forum, which has caused a month of debate, was tabled by the Board of Directors last night.

Lupien's appointment was questioned because of comments he made at the November board meeting about the genocide of Jews during WW II. The Republicans, who nominated Lupien, had decided before the meeting, to table the appointment, hoping Lupien would resign and save the embarrassment of removing him.

The board did set a one-year office term for the two appointments to the forum, beginning Jan. 1, 1980. This would mean Lupien's appointment lasts only three more weeks. The Democratic appointee, Beldon Schaffer, was approved by the board last night.

Lupien, found the postponing of the decision on his appointment a "bipartisan effort to remove me without the benefit of a public hearing." Speaking during the portion of the meeting open to public comments, Lupien asked "If you do this to me are you going to change rules in the middle for another person?"

"Of the people who came out of the woodwork last week, where are they tonight?"

"Only about two or three are here tonight," Lupien said. "I stand on my record."

Lupien's own ministry issued yet another version of the Kennedy appointment one month, allows the party a chance to find a successor. Carl Zinsner, board member noted one of the problems in the appointment is that the daytime meetings that many persons are unable to attend.

At the directors' meetings last week, about 18 persons spoke in favor of Lupien's removal, based on his statements concerning the Holocaust. Lupien argued in November, opposing a $150 grant for a seminar on the Holocaust, that the extermination of Jews was exaggerated. He called for telling "both sides of the story. He also opposed any group "telling our teachers how to teach a subject." B'nai B'rith had offered the grant.

Postponing the Republican appointment one month, allows the party a chance to find a successor. Carl Zinsner, board member noted one of the problems in the appointment is that the daytime meetings that many persons are unable to attend.

During last night's meeting Lupien cited his attendance record. I've attended every meeting, and now because I do not agree with the views of a vocal minority, I'm out of favor, Lupien said. "I stand on my record."

Carl Zinsner, Republican board member, has mentioned the meeting time, among other recommendations about the forum is being handled by Mayor Stephen Penny.

Chadburn Retains Post, Attorney Choice Tabled

By MARY KITZMANN Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Carl Chadburn won reappointment last night to the Human Relations Commission, while the board of directors tabled the other controversial appointment of town attorney.

All but one Republican board member, Gloria Della Fera, voted for Chadburn's reappointment. Last week all four had abstained on the nomination, and threatened the same action if Kevin O'Brien's appointment as town attorney were voted on last night.

The board unanimously returned Republicans Wanda Frank, and Frank Livingston to the commission. Ms. Della Fera said she could not support Chadburn because "his comments and attitudes during the referendum vote were contrary to his function and duties as a Human Relations Commission member."

Chadburn supported the federal Community Development grant program, which Ms. Della Fera opposed. In an April referendum Chadburn withdrew from the program. Chadburn received the support of the Human Relations Commission and the Manchester Citizens for Social Responsibility.

But his reappointment had been questioned by Democratic board member James McCavanagh, based on the same objections of Ms. Della Fera. McCavanagh has been absent at the last two board meetings, because of severe back pain. This leaves the Democrats one vote short of appointing Kevin O'Brien town attorney.

Republican William Diana said yesterday compromises on the two appointments, Chadburn's and O'Brien's had to be made. Otherwise the Democrats could block the Republican nominations, he noted. Diana wanted to "wait until McCavanagh returns" to vote on O'Brien's appointment. McCavanagh has opposed appointing O'Brien, who is assistant town attorney, because he believes a more experienced person is needed. McCavanagh has said in a few years from now, he would support 28-year-old O'Brien, Joseph Sweeney, former board member, has been mentioned by McCavanagh, as a possible candidate for the post. Sweeney has said he could arrange with his Hartford law firm to take the position, but is not actively seeking it.

In other business the directors accepted the resignation of David Call for the Human Relations Commission and appointed him to the Library Board, along with Roger Bagley.

The board also appointed James Fogarty to the Manchester Country Club board of directors.

Ted Denies Iran Rumor Of Meeting

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - Iranian leaders said today that Sen. Edward Kennedy offered to meet Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini in an effort to solve the hostage crisis, but a Kennedy aide denied the report as "totally false."

There was disagreement in Tehran, however, on whether the reported offer was made by letter, telegram or through an intermediary. The controversy over the alleged Kennedy move sharpened as the Iranian judge who claimed responsibility for the assassination of the shah's nephew said the 50 American hostages, now in their 39th day of captivity, will not be sentenced to death even if they are tried as spies.

But Khomeini himself accused the United States of fomenting internal unrest in Iran in an effort to divert attention from "the crimes of America." The official Iran radio early today broadcast what it said were the contents of a letter in which Kennedy purportedly asked to meet with Khomeini.

The broadcast said the letter was written by the Massachusetts Democrat Dec. 9 in which he asked to meet Khomeini and praised the ayatollah's accomplishments, saying, "I shall give my blood for your sake." The radio said Khomeini rejected Kennedy's request for a meeting. In Washington, Kennedy aide Richard Burke said the letter was a fabrication.

"It's not so," Burke said. "The senator has made no communication whatsoever with the ayatollah and that broadcast is totally false." He said Kennedy "would never say anything like that."

Despite the denial, Iranian leaders insisted there was such a letter. Said Ahmed Khomeini, the Islamic leader's son, said over Radio Iran: "The original letter is with me. But since Mr. Kennedy has seen this published and it has become bad (for him) this is another matter."

Incidentally, this is not the first time. He even went to Mr. (Mehdi) Hayeri (Iran's resident foreign minister adviser in the United States) and wanted to talk to the imam (Khomeini) and solve the hostage problem. The imam did not accept."

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh told the radio another version. "A telegram with his (Kennedy's) signature was received and we sent (it) to the imam. But today, in view of the atmosphere prevailing in the United States, and the attacks which have been made on Mr. Kennedy following his positive stand on the shah's crimes, he (Kennedy) issued the denial."

"From our point of view the problem was not important," the foreign minister said. "We did not want to bring up the matter before studying it and I wanted to give it to the imam personally. But in any case, it was published before that. Since we denied it, we also accept it as a denial."

Ghotbzadeh's own ministry issued yet another version of the Kennedy letter or telegram and then revised it through the official Pars news agency to conform broadly with the minister's position. In the future, the ministry said, all telegrams and messages will be forwarded to their destination "after ascertaining the accuracy of their origin."

Two weeks ago, Kennedy accused the deposed shah of looting Iran of billions of dollars and presiding over one of the most tyrannical regimes in history. The statement was splashed in Iran's media, which hailed the senator's remarks and Kennedy's picture was on the front page of most newspapers. In the holy city of Qom, near Tehran, Sheikh Sadeq Khalkhali, Iran's most controversial revolutionary judge and a close friend of Khomeini, said none of the American hostages will be sentenced to death even if they are convicted as spies.

"I wish the hostages to be released soon," he said from his headquarters in the holy city of Qom. "They are our guests and we do not like to treat our guests like this."

But the judge, who has personally condemned some 200 to 300 followers of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi since he was toppled in January, told newsmen his squads would continue to hunt down the shah and his supporters "until we kill them all."

Khomeini, speaking to supporters at his Qom headquarters, charged today that Washington was fomenting trouble in Iran, a reference to this week's turmoil in the Turkish-speaking northwest areas of the country in which dozens of persons were killed and wounded.

This was a deliberate policy, Khomeini said, "to prevent us from exposing the crimes of America at the International Court and representatives of the nations of the world, (and) so that we will not release documents and evidence of plunder by presidents of America, particularly this president."

Judge Says Death Law Isn't Legal

HARTFORD (UPI) - Superior Court Judge David M. Shea today ruled a portion of Connecticut's death penalty unconstitutional and said it will not apply in the trial of "Gary" Castagnary, accused of murdering a policeman in 1977.

Shea handed down a six-page ruling concluding Connecticut's provision for a hearing to determine if the death penalty applied in a capital felony conviction was unconstitutional. "The court has concluded that the provisions for the death penalty hearing do not meet the standards required for the imposition of such a penalty by the presently prevailing view of the Supreme Court of the United States," the judge said.

Castagnary's attorneys had argued the law did not allow the jury or the judge to consider critical factors such as the defendant's character, his past record and the circumstances surrounding the case. Castagnary, 34, is accused of fatally shooting Plainville policeman Robert M. Holcomb, who was shot while pursuing two men from a house burglary Nov. 21, 1977.

But Shea found "the defendant had been expected to be the first person to face possible electrocution in Connecticut since 1950. The conclusion is inescapable that (the) statute is unconstitutional." He said he won't allow jurors in the case to be questioned about their feelings concerning the death penalty because it's "wholly irrelevant" since the jurors won't be allowed to consider capital punishment. "Inquiries concerning the attitude of prospective jurors about the death penalty would, therefore, be wholly irrelevant and cannot be permitted since that issue will never be submitted to the jurors to be selected," Shea ruled.

Mail Campaigns

Christmas mail campaigns have been started by newspapers, radio stations, families of hostages and private citizens to express sympathy and support for their 50 countrymen being held in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, Iran. And the response has been overwhelming. It was estimated the post office at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago, which processes overseas mail from 13 Midwestern states had received 5,000 pounds of mail to the hostages since Saturday. A spokesman said that would figure out to about 200,000 Christmas cards.

New Governor

METAIRIE, La. (UPI) Louisiana has a new governor today, the first Republican to win the vote since Henry Clay Warmouth in 1888. Dave Treen promised to eliminate fraud from state elections and put Louisiana in the forefront of national GOP politics.

Court clerks in all 64 parishes Tuesday, opened voting machines, recounted tallies and confirmed Treen's win over Democrat Louis Lambert in Saturday's election. The results gave Treen 490,888 votes to 481,017 for Lambert, but still must be certified by the secretary of state before the election becomes official.

Mayor Confirmed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Mayor Diane Feinstein was confirmed in her job Tuesday in a special runoff election. The voters gave her a 53 percent winning margin over challenger Quentin Kopp, a supervisor, by a vote of 102,233 to 87,236. Mrs. Feinstein had taken over the mayoral job when Mayor George Moscone and supervisor Harvey Milk were killed on Nov. 27, 1978.

She said she would serve "all of the people" in rebuilding the city's government shaken by the slaying. In the same election, which failed to spark interest, voters turned two major incumbents out of office: Assistant Attorney Arlo Smith ousted District Attorney Joseph Freitas Jr., and Sheriff Eugene Brown lost his seat to attorney Michael Hennessey both by a 31 margin.

Mission Bombed

NEW YORK (UPI) A bomb blast that blew a huge hole in the ground and buckled walls along the driveway to the garage of the Soviet Mission to the United Nations on Manhattan's fashionable upper East Side, injured four police officers and four Soviets Tuesday, some seriously. The explosion sent a rain of glass from the slabs of structures surrounding the 12-story, while brick mission. Tenants said the powerful blast knocked them off their feet.

A caller who said he was with Omega 7, an anti-Castro terrorist group, telephoned United Press International about 40 minutes after the blast to claim responsibility for the bombing. He denounced "Soviet colonialism, which threatens our Hispanic America and the free world." In a later call, a man also claiming he was with Omega 7 apologized for injuring the four officers, saying the bomb was not intended to hurt anyone.

The scandalous state and federal authorities have led to a prosecution state leasing scandal that rocked the Republican administration of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill five years ago.

The scandal involved the leasing of a building in Hartford that now houses Greater Hartford Community College.

The Travelers Insurance Co. had offered to sell it to the state for $4.5 million, but the offer was never accepted. The building was acquired by middlemen a short time later and sold to the state for $8 million.

Blumenthal said Tuesday, "We have concluded there is no evidence to warrant prosecution of any violations of federal criminal law."

"Having exhausted all logical investigative leads, we are of the opinion that there is no reasonable likelihood that further investigation will produce evidence of a prosecutable offense."

"Unless additional information is forthcoming from other authorities," his office plans no further action, Blumenthal said.

McGuigan said state and federal prosecutors investigated separate portions of the scandal, and "on the basis of an investigation conducted by state police and the file turned over to us, we (state officials) determined there was no criminal prosecution warranted."

He said the determination was only made "a short time ago" because "we had a number of files" to review.

"On the basis of the files they turned over to us, we're closing it," McGuigan said. "They turned some files over to federal authorities. They're making their own decision. Some of the files had also been previously closed by other state attorneys' offices."

The legislative panel had concluded taxpayers ended up with "excessive" rent costs in some instances because leasing was uncompetitive and political favorites got advance notice of state rental needs.

The panel singled out five state highway garage leases for which taxpayers were being charged "excessive rents," whose owners were either politically active or "closely associated with high-ranking political and state governmental authorities."

Lawmakers estimated taxpayers could have saved as much as $250,000 a year if the garage rentals had been fair, but the report made no recommendation to prosecute anyone. Also singled out was a state transportation office building in Newington.

Two of the leases a garage in Winsted and a Newington office building were held by Angelo Tomasso, a New Britain construction executive and close friend of Meskill, the state's only GOP governor in the last two decades.

A Waterford garage was leased by Frank E. Downs of New Britain, an uncle of former GOP state chairman J. Brian Gaffney.

Former state Rep. Ruby Cohen had leased a garage in Colchester; former Democratic Commissioner of Consumer Protection James Casey of Cheshire held a lease in Thomaston and Walter Spencer of Florida was involved in a Rocky Hill lease.

Special Licenses Sought For Convicted Motorists

HARTFORD (UPI) - State motor vehicle officials are asking lawmakers to allow drivers who lose their licenses for drunk driving or other infractions some leeway to use their cars for the necessities of life.

The Motor Vehicle Department presented a proposed bill to the Legislature's Transportation Committee on Tuesday, seeking the power to issue restricted licenses "in those cases where suspension or revocation of a license would work an undue hardship."

Edward Carroll, MVD director of management services, said the measure would require a motorist whose license was suspended to demonstrate his need to drive to a judge.

Current state law leaves motorists who have lost their licenses for drunk driving, reckless driving or other convictions unable to get behind the wheel legally for the length of the suspension.

The measure was submitted to the Transportation Committee as part of the MVD's package of 10 bills for consideration by the 1980 Legislature.

The MVD also asked the committee to formalize an existing alcohol rehabilitation program which allows motorists who've lost their licenses for drunken driving to cut their suspension time in half.

Carroll said the series of 10 hours of classes to rehabilitate drunken drivers was now being offered at several locations and would be expanded under the proposed bill.

State law mandates a one year license suspension for motorists convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, but that period is reduced to six months for drivers who complete the program.

Carroll said the MVD was asking the program be written into law to clarify a

No Prosecution Planned in State Leasing Scandal

HARTFORD (UPI) State and federal authorities have led to a prosecution state leasing scandal that rocked the Republican administration of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill five years ago.

The scandal involved the leasing of a building in Hartford that now houses Greater Hartford Community College.

The Travelers Insurance Co. had offered to sell it to the state for $4.5 million, but the offer was never accepted. The building was acquired by middlemen a short time later and sold to the state for $8 million.

Blumenthal said Tuesday, "We have concluded there is no evidence to warrant prosecution of any violations of federal criminal law."

"Having exhausted all logical investigative leads, we are of the opinion that there is no reasonable likelihood that further investigation will produce evidence of a prosecutable offense."

"Unless additional information is forthcoming from other authorities," his office plans no further action, Blumenthal said.

McGuigan said state and federal prosecutors investigated separate portions of the scandal, and "on the basis of an investigation conducted by state police and the file turned over to us, we (state officials) deter-

Advocacy Group Relates Horrors

HARTFORD (UPI) - An advocacy group for the retarded says the state could provide better care and save retarded patients from inhuman conditions by taking them out of large institutions and nursing homes.

The Connecticut Association for Retarded Citizens told a legislative committee Tuesday horror stories of inadequate staffing, a lack of therapeutic programs and insufficient monitoring at the facilities.

"I have seen retarded people lying naked on bare floors, sitting and lying in their own urine and feces, lying in their own vomit for long periods of time, eating their own feces," said Brenda Marcellino, a CARC volunteer who chairs the group's Residential Alternatives Committee.

Mrs. Marcellino, a Southington woman who has a retarded child and cares for an emotionally disturbed girl as a foster mother, told the Legislature's nursing home study committee she saw the conditions during unannounced visits to a number of nursing homes.

"I have had my eyes and nostrils burn from that stench you have heard described as a stench," she said. "I have observed the need for feeding programs. Instead of programs I have watched untrained aides literally pour food by the spoonfuls down the throats of severely handicapped people while they were lying down."

CARC Executive Director Thomas Nerney said the present situation was in apparent violation of state law and federal regulations guaranteeing the retarded civil rights.

The CARC representatives said they believed the ultimate answer rested with placing the retarded back in smaller community facilities.

CARC, which has filed a federal lawsuit seeking the shutdown of two of the major state institutions for the retarded, said conditions at those facilities were the same as in the nursing homes.

The group said it had complained to the state Department of Mental Retardation, but with little luck and a rejection of the call for the establishment of the smaller community facilities.

"That's what the department is telling us," said Mrs. Marcellino. "The only choice we have is a terrible nursing home or a terrible institution."

The advocacy group was called to testify before the panel which turned to the question of retarded patients in nursing homes as part of its overall probe of the nursing home industry. The probe was launched after questions were raised about the deaths of patients at several nursing homes.

The CARC recommended stiffer inspections of nursing homes, tougher civil rights laws for the retarded and tighter restrictions on the transfer of retarded patients between facilities.

Attack on the Free Press

The United States Supreme Court gave the process of journalism another swift kick last week when it let stand a New Mexico judge's sweeping order to force disclosure of a newspaper's confidential sources in a libel suit.

This dangerous precedent now makes it possible for a government figure to sue a newspaper for libel, demand to know all confidential personalities used in any story ever written about him, whether or not the story was libelous, and make whatever reprisals against the revealed source.

Connally Denies He's Candidate of Big Business

WASHINGTON - Big, bluff John Connally may be both the best and the worst of the presidential candidates.

cash from oil company executives, bankers and investment brokers. If there's an oil company whose top brass hasn't kicked into the Connally coffers, it must be 3-in-1 or Progresso Olive.

Connally has profited from his past performance - and his future promise. As secretary of the treasury under Richard Nixon, Connally pushed successfully for the $250 million loan that bailed out the Lockheed Corporation.

Connally's Big Business connections have proved valuable when it comes to fundraising for his presidential bid. Whether they'll go down with the voters remains to be seen.

Player Faces Jail for Rigging Bets

MILFORD (UPI) - The first jail player in America to admit he fixed games that netted professional gamblers $500,000 in 1977 faces a maximum of 10 years in prison.

Kirby M. Prater, 31, of North Miami Beach, Fla., pleaded guilty Tuesday to one count of rigging and one count of conspiracy to commit rigging between May 5, 1977 and Nov. 5, 1977.

Milford Superior Court Judge JoAnne Kulawicz ordered a presentence investigation and set sentencing for Jan. 18. Each charge carries maximum penalties of $5,000 in fines and 5 years in prison.

Prater, who played under the name Kirby, admitted he conspired with a group of systems bettors known as the "Miami Syndicate" to win a reported $500,000 at the Milford Jai Alai fronton.

The state charged that Prater "conferred benefits consisting of money and other favors" upon Luis Munizguren, who played as Irujo, and Jose Cendagorta, tagalarga, who played as Arana, with the intent that they "would deliberately lose."

The Milford fronton is owned by a company which operates a fronton in the Miami area and the two parimutuel facilities use the same players.

Cendagorta has pleaded innocent to a perjury charge in the probe and is awaiting trial in Hartford Superior Court. Munizguren, also charged with perjury, forfeited $10,000 bond by failing to appear in a Florida court for extradition proceedings.

Chief State's Attorney Austin J. McGuigan said the state also charged Prater conspired with alleged systems bettors Paul Commonas and Robert Moore in committing the crimes.

Commonas has pleaded guilty to rigging and conspiracy and is awaiting sentencing, while Moore is in Florida awaiting extradition on the same charges.

The arrests were among 11 on charges of rigging, conspiracy and perjury which followed a grand jury probe conducted by Superior Court Judge Eugene Kelly.

Bert Caskill, James Sobie and Frank Cotsakis also have pleaded guilty to rigging and or conspiracy during the 1977 jai alai season at Milford and are awaiting sentencing.

Player Rene Garcia was charged with perjury and is awaiting extradition from Florida. Juan Gardino, another player, was charged with rigging and conspiracy, but has not been located by authorities.

Big Deficit Forecast

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut, feeling the effects of a national recession, could finish this fiscal year with a deficit as high as $40 million, Rep. Irving Stolberg, D-New Haven, has forecast.

Stolberg, co-chairman of the Legislature's Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee, said Tuesday the state must look at new or increased taxes because there was little "resiliency" in the budget to deal with decreased revenues.

Barry, Fahey Laud DOT Commuter Lots

HARTFORD - State Senate Deputy Majority Leader David Barry, D-Manchester and State Sen. Marcella Fahey, D-East Hartford, have today commended the Department of Transportation for reinstating the commuter parking lot at the junction of Interstate 84 and Silver Lane on the Manchester-East Hartford town line.

Sens. Barry and Fahey characterized the recent commuter lot opening as a good first step and urged the commissioner of transportation to continue exploring other possible sites for a major south Manchester commuter lot.

"Commuter parking lots have proven to be an effective method of promoting mass transit by the Hartford commuter," said the two senators. "The continued demand for the commuter bus service at Burr Corners is probably one of the most successful examples of this concept."

The commuter parking lot located at the junction of Interstate 84 and Silver Lane was recently reinstated as a DOT-maintained parking area with a 25-car capacity. The lot serves as a convenient parking area for riders on the regular Silver Lane bus route into Hartford.

Barry and Fahey said that DOT planning officials have recognized the need to expand commuter parking in southern Manchester and that there are hopes of constructing a larger commuter parking area at the proposed Interstate 84 and Interstate 86 connector. Officials expect the construction of the connector to begin sometime in 1980.

Barry and Fahey did note that a new commuter service was recently put into operation at Bolton Notch located at the interchange of Interstate 84 and Routes 6 and 44A which operates a daily commuter bus to Hartford.

"Increasing gas prices and uncertain gasoline supplies are long-term Connecticut problems that require long-term solutions. Commuter buses are an integral part of a comprehensive mass transit package the state is developing for the '80s," said the two senators.

DOT officials report 97 percent of all personal travel in Connecticut is made by the automobile although recent gas price increases have pushed bus ridership up 13 percent to the current 55,000 persons per week. DOT now maintains 22 commuter bus operations that serve 120 commuter parking lots located throughout the state of Connecticut.

Course Delay Urged

SOUTH WINDSOR - School Superintendent Robert W. Goldman has recommended that the planned development of a Grade 9 health education and human development course be postponed - at least until the final recommendations of the School Health Task Force are made to all school systems.

Goldman said that the recommendations of the School Health Task Force could redesign, at the state level, health education for all public schools.

Goldman said that another reason for his recommendation, that development of a ninth grade program be postponed, is the wide acceptance and participation in the kindergarten through-seventh grade curriculum.

A new seventh-grade program was recently developed and is now being taught at both the Ellsworth and Timothy Edwards Middle schools.

Joyner Urges Patient Transfer Probe

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Stating he believes that something must be done to prevent the wholesale transfer of patients on Medicaid from Manchester Manor and other nursing homes, State Rep. Walter Joyner, R-Manchester, told Gov. Ella Grasso Tuesday that she should look into the situation as soon as possible.

"Unbelievable as it may seem, the agency was informed more than a month ago that the Manchester Manor Nursing Home planned to move 22 Medicaid patients and yet in all that time the agency didn't take any action that would have protected these patients," he said.

There appears to be a definite pattern to the actions at Manchester Manor and other nursing homes in the state, since his earlier statement on Manchester Manor. He said they've told him that as soon as private funds ran out and the patients were put on Medicaid they were involuntarily transferred and "this appears to be a continuing pattern at Manchester Manor."

Dr. Spaulding Quits Post

MANCHESTER — Dr. Frederick Spaulding, a member of the Conservation Commission for 10 years, resigned Monday.

In a letter to Robert Weiss, town manager, Spaulding said, "It is desirable for me to make way for new blood" as a reason for the resignation.

Spaulding was a frequent critic of highway construction. His term expires this year, and Weiss said he is considering appointing Ernest Tureck to the post.

"I made the decision that Tureck would be an excellent appointment yesterday," Weiss said. "He has good qualifications. I did not think Spaulding was anxious to be re-appointed."

Tureck plans to retire from his present post in January. He has been park superintendent for 34 years.

Views On Dental Health

By JACK BYNES, D.M.D.

WHAT IS A ROOT CANAL?

Years ago, a badly infected tooth was doomed to be pulled. Today, that's a last resort. Root canal treatment consists of: 1) the removal of the infected pulp that lies within the root canal of the tooth, and 2) the sealing of the root ends to prohibit any further infection.

The pulp is the tooth's center core of soft tissue (nerves, blood vessels and fibers). When the dentist removes a "nerve" from a tooth, he really removes pulpal tissue that contains the nerve.

Removing the pulp from the tooth does not produce a "dead" tooth. It will be very much alive and functioning because it has a source of blood and nerve supply from the surrounding tissues that hold it in place. The tooth will have no sense of feeling because the nerve has been removed, but the tooth itself will be fine; it should last as long as your other teeth and could even be eventually used as an anchor tooth for a denture bridge.

A public service with the aim of promoting a better dental health environment. From the office of: JACK BYNES, D.M.D., 290 South Street, Coventry, Phone 742-6665.

Martin Fires Blast, Steinbrenner 'Sick'

KINGSTON, R.I. (UPI) - Billy Martin, fired twice in as many years as manager of the Yankees, says New York owner George Steinbrenner is "sick" and adds he'll never return to his old team unless Steinbrenner leaves first.

triggered by the alleged punching of a marshmallow salesman in Bloomington, Minn. He wasn't apologetic about the incident.

Martin led the Yankees to pennants in 1976 and 1977, and to a world championship in 1977. He was fired midway through the 1978 season, but then was given his job back last year when the team was foundering.

"I'll only go back to manage the Yankees if George is gone. I won't even play in an Old Timer game. I'll never put on a Yankee uniform as long as he is there," said Martin.

Martin said he had no immediate plans to reenter baseball.

"I think I'll enjoy George's money for two years," he said, adding he spends much of his time hunting, fishing, and playing golf with Mickey Mantle.

Martin's latest dismissal was dumped Columbia, 91-75, and Brigham Young clipped Fullerton State, 80-64.

Celebrated freshman Isaiah Thomas scored 15 of his 19 points in the second half, including some clutch foul shooting down the stretch, to send the Hoosiers past stubborn Georgetown.

Mike Gimmski tossed in 27 points and Ken Demard added 14 to lift Duke past the Quakers.

CHRISTMAS FROM THE CUPBOARD

Handcrafted happiness... that's what an old-fashioned Christmas is all about. Gifts from the heart. Handmade remembrances. Secret surprises. Memories. Traditions making each year better, warmer, more meaningful than the last.

A few tips?

*Use cookie cutters as the base design, then build individualized faces or designs upon them. Or, use small aspic cutters and combine several shapes to make star clusters, etc.

*Urge each "designer" to make his own name in dough to personalize the family's holiday tree.

*Have each family member sign their name and the date on the back of all creations — memories for years ahead.

*And, encourage everyone to display their creations with the family's other Christmas memorabilia.

For more salt sculpture ideas, get the brand new salt sculpture handbook. Send four labels from Morton® Salt and 50 cents (or just $1.50, to: Morton's Dough - It - Yourself® Handbook Rises Again, P.O. Box 9140, Kankakee, ILL. 60901.

DOING IT WITH DOUGH

Combine 2 cups all purpose flour and 1 cup Morton® Salt in a large flat-bottomed bowl. Add 1 cup water, a little at a time, mixing constantly to form a ball. (The dough should not be sticky.) Flour hands and knead dough on floured surface 7 to 10 minutes until smooth and firm. Air dry finished sculptures at least 48 hours until rock hard, or bake on foil covered cookie sheet in 325° to 350° oven, allowing one-half hour baking time per each 1/4" thickness.

ANGEL
1. On a cookie sheet, make a flat wing shape, as illustrated.
2. Separate each side of the wings into feathers with a butter knife. Cut off the square edges of the feathers diagonally.
3. Roll and flatten small pieces of dough between your fingers, and place them in rows starting at the base of the feathers, and overlapping the rows as you go.
4. Next, roll a ball slightly larger than you want the head to be. Roll one end and flatten it between your fingers to form a neck. Fit the end of the neck on the bridge of the wings.
5. With a toothpick, make a mouth and holes for the eyes. Place small dough balls into the eye holes. Then prick holes into these dough balls.
6. To form curls, roll dough snakes of different sizes with tapering ends and twist. (Moisten pieces with water to bond.)
7. Bake while baking or finish with paint when cool.

SNOWFLAKES

Snowflakes hot from the oven. Impossible, you say? Well then, you've never made dough sculpture snowflakes.

1. Roll your dough to about 1/4" thick, then use cookie cutter shapes for the basic patterns.

2. Next, use small aspic cutters to make small cutouts in the basic shape. Overlay these cutouts on the basic design for a raised pattern, and to cover areas where two pieces are joined to make the joint stronger. (Moisten pieces with water to bond.)
3. Brush the snowflakes with egg and bake. Don't forget to drill or pierce a hole to attach a string for hanging. Finish by varnishing when cool.

SANTA CLAUS CENTERPIECE

1. Do your work on a cookie sheet, using a foil ball about the size of a baseball for the body form. Then add a smaller foil ball for the head, securing pieces together with toothpicks.

2. Place the larger ball on a circle of dough. Fold the dough up around the sides of the ball so that the piece stands upright on the cookie sheet. Then completely cover the foil balls with dough, smoothing the pieces with your dampened hands.
3. Shape two dough balls for boots. Next, attach a snake of dough down the front of your sculpture for the "fur trim." Another dough snake placed at the bottom of the figure forms the rest of Santa's "fur."
4. Then attach two thick dough snakes for arms, balls for hands, and smaller snakes for fingers. Make buttons of four tiny dough balls.
5. For Santa's hat, roll out two small triangles of dough, pressing them together at the sides, then attaching the entire hat to the head.

6. Use a toothpick to make the mouth. Two small dough balls form the cheeks; a teardrop shape for the nose, with two little strips for the eyebrows.
7. Layers of small dough balls, pricked in the center to help them stay in place, form the hair and beard.
8. Roll out dough on a piece of burlap or other rough fabric to achieve the texture for Santa's bag. Wrap this textured dough around a large ball of aluminum foil, then attach the bag to the body with water. Build up the sides of bag, allowing it to fold and buckle. Use more foil if necessary. (Moisten pieces with water to bond.)
9. Place in a 325° oven and bake 4-5 hours until it's completely hard. Faint when cool, with acrylic or poster paints. To retain its texture, dilute paint for Santa's bag. Finish with shellac or varnish. Then fill Saint Nick's bag with candies or other nice things.

DOUGH LETTERING
Here's the way to personalize your Christmas gifts. For Ray roll out long snakes of dough to the approximate thickness of a breadstick. Then lay them on foil and form into the letters of the name. Or, for Carl, make letters from twisted or braided snakes of dough. For Me & You, use balls of dough combined to spell out the name. For all the above, use water to attach pieces to one another. Bake, then varnish when cool.

WREATH
Here's a Wreath with a little twist. It's made from whole wheat flour and for the darker twists, the recipe was made with rye flour.
1. Working on aluminum foil, make dough snakes into twists. Begin from the inside of the wreath with twists approximately 18" long.
2. Make each circle of dough twists slightly larger than the one before it. Heads should be laid side by side, touching each other, and cemented together with a bit of water.
3. Cover the main where the twists meet with single snakes of dough. Then bake with egg, if desired, and bake. Varnish when cool.

TOY WREATH

Don't just hide the toys under your Christmas tree! Bring them out in the open for kids and adults to enjoy. All on this colorfully decorated Toy-Covered Wreath.

1. Cut a circle from the center of a disposable pizza pan, and notch the inner edge 3/4". Then fold up the edge to form an inner rim.
2. Fill the outside circle of the pan with a "wreath" of crumpled foil. Cover the foil with leaves of flattened teardrop shapes, scored with a knife for veining.
3. Bake at 325° about 45 minutes until firm.
4. Next, construct simple toy shapes with cookie cutters or from free-form shapes of dough balls and snakes.
5. Attach toys to leaves with moistened balls of dough. Add little dough balls for holly berries, too. Then wrap additional leaves around the pieces to help secure them in place. (Moisten to bond pieces.)
6. Return the wreath to a 325° oven 1 to 1-1/2 hours until it's hard. When it's cool, paint, then varnish. Attach a hanger, and hang around for the compliments.

NATIVITY SCENE

1. To make the human figures, roll out a portion of dough to about 1/2" thick. Cut one edge straight with a knife. Then wrap the dough around a jumbo wire hair roller (with the brush removed).
2. Use a ball of dough for the head, and secure to the body. Next, form a dough band for the headcovering. Use your fingers to make the beard, then make hair-like impressions with a toothpick, and attach beard to the face.
3. For The Wise Men, form additional dough into crowns, then decorate them with nail or screw impressions. Hands are two small balls of dough with knife indentations for fingers.
4. Make the camel by wrapping rolled-out dough around a wire hair roller (with brush removed), lying it on its side on the cookie sheet. Twist a piece of foil into an "S" shape and insert it into one end of the roller to form the head and neck. Build up the hump and bent leg by adding small pieces of dough. Use a toothpick to form the mouth and to poke holes on either side of the nose for nostrils. Tear-shaped pieces form the ears. Small dough balls the eyes, with a thin coil down the rear of the camel for the tail.
5. Limbs are 2" long oblongs of dough. Finch a ball of dough to shape the head with little dough balls for eyes, and teardrop shapes for ears. For wool, attach small balls of dough to the body, poking each with a toothpick to secure it in place. (For all figures, moisten pieces with water to bond.)

Supermarket Shopper

'Kiddie Couponing' Can Ease Mom's Marketing Problems

By MARTIN SLOANE

Dear Supermarket Shopper — My problem is that my young children always upset my carefully prepared shopping list.

I have no one to leave them with, so I must take them along to the store. When we get into the cereal section or the vegetable or the cookie or the dessert, they always want items that are not on my list.

I give in to them more often than I should. But you know what it's like with children in a supermarket —

Frazzled Mom from Memphis.

Dear Frazzled — Try a little "kiddie couponing."

When you plan your shopping list, show the children some of your cash-off coupons and refund forms. Let them make a few of the selections.

Then when you get to the store, give each of them a coupon. Let them find and hold onto those products.

This makes them feel very important and should help to solve your problems.

Dear Supermarket Shopper — As a school librarian, I am constantly trying to lure students and teachers into the library. By accident I recently found a way to interest both groups.

Not wishing to throw away the manufacturers' cash-off coupons that I seldom use, I began putting them in a box on the library's magazine rack.

The coupon exchange not only has attracted teachers but has interested many students in the art of supermarket saving.

I wish more librarians would pick up this idea. It has proven to be economical and educational. — Diane E. in Arkansas.

Dear Diane — What a great idea! I hope it will spread not only to librarians but to home-economics teachers.

What could be more useful than a class showing students how to make big supermarket savings with coupons and refunds? What could be more interesting than showing them how to combine these discounts for double and even triple savings?

These students may even go home and show their mothers how to do it.

Dear Supermarket Shopper — Recently my husband and I went to the annual homecoming football game at his alma mater.

We had just reached our seats in the 45th row when I spotted a Tylenol box on the aisle steps. My husband saw the gleam in my eye and knew right away what I was about to ask him.

"I suppose you want me to get that box," he said. The game dragged on as I kept an eagle eye on that box. I fringed every time it was stepped on by some ruthless fan.

With the sound of the gun ending the game, I was up and off for that box, hoping I wouldn't end up on my head or get my hand crushed as I reached for it.

Guests who beat me to the box, my dear husband! Our team didn't win, but I got the second proof of purchase I needed for the $2 Tylenol offer. — Tracy S., Rochester, Minn.

Dear Tracy — I receive many letters like yours about finding proofs of purchase under unusual circumstances. Some are very amusing. Others leave me a little uneasy when they tell of stopping a car in the middle of the road to pick up an empty Jell-O box.

Refunders should never forget about their own safety when they spot an interesting label. I'm glad you weren't locked on the way to making your Tylenol touchdown.

Dear Supermarket Shopper — I just made my first triple-play discount and have to tell you about it.

First I saw a supermarket ad in the newspaper offering Hamburger Helper for 61 cents a box.

From the same paper I cut out a 10-cent-off Hamburger Helper coupon and got two more of the coupons from my neighbors.

At the supermarket I bought three boxes at 51 cents each for a total of $1.53.

When I got home I sent the company the box bottoms, my register tape and a refund form. I will soon receive a refund.

This refund will bring my final cost down to 53 cents for the three boxes of Hamburger Helper. That is less than 18 cents each!

I think I did pretty well for a new refunder with less than two months of experience. What do you think? — Faye R., New Orleans.

Dear Faye — I think you are doing very well. Keep up the good work!

Readers often ask me whether it would be less expensive to buy store brands or "no-frills" products.

Sometimes it is. I buy them for the kinds of products — soft drinks, for example — that don't offer many coupon and refund discounts.

But your triple-play discount is why I generally stick to the national brands or "no-frills" products.

At 18 cents a box, how can you go wrong?

Old-Fashioned Christmas

An old-fashioned Christmas can mean more than returning to happy memories of your childhood. It can mean old-fashioned money savings in both snacks and decorations, says Wrede, Smith, president of Jolly Time Pop Corn.

Attach wire hangers or drill a hole in the top and run a ribbon through to hang. Note: For Treetop Star, use star cookie mold, decorate as desired, and attach a wire or ribbon through to tie to tree top.

By hand-crafting these items, whole families can share a good time in the holiday spirit," Wrede said. "And many of the Jolly Time ornaments are edible as well as beautiful," he added.

Here are instructions for the Christmas tree decorations and the recipe for Holiday Pastel Pop Corn Balls.

String pop corn on wire strips. Twist to make small circles or ovals. Attach small center inter tie piece (hard, fruit, ornament) to the 6-8" piece of ribbon and tie to pop corn forms. Leave one end of ribbon long enough to use as hanger.

To get your Jolly Time Pop Corn Ball Maker, send $1.00 for one, or $1.75 for two to Jolly Time, Box 178, Sioux City, Iowa 51102.

Records show the first clock was built about 1360. It was made of iron with a 500-pound weight and only one hand. It was off about two hours a day.

Cheddar Cheese Bread

Winter doesn't have to mean staying indoors — there are many enjoyable activities you can indulge in which are only offered in the winter months — sleighriding, skiing, ice skating — just to name a few.

Although invigorating, one's appetite is usually ravenous upon completion of these activities. You'll want something both warm and filling — Cheddar Cheese Bread is the answer and it's a meal in itself.

Merry Christmas from Merry England Tradition Graces Feast

Taking a cue from Tiny Tim, "God bless us every one!" is the heartiest greeting of the season. And with it we reach back to English tradition for Christmas dinner that has all the elegance of the era of baronial halls — with a decidedly 20th-century twist.

Through the centuries it has been a loss up in English homes between succulent goose or a graceful standing rib roast to set the tone of the holiday feasting. As legend goes, the goose became the "festive" bird of England in 1588 as a result of the sinking of the Spanish Armada. Queen Elizabeth I, it is said, was eating goose at a banquet when told the good news and declared the goose the official bird of celebration.

Today, many an Englishman continues to serve goose for its festive symbolism and also give it as a holiday gift. The tradition of this holiday bird carried over from England to grace many a colonist's Christmas dinner table.

A traditional English stuffing for roast goose is made from a large chopped onion mixed with 2 fresh chopped sage leaves, 2 cups fresh breadcrumbs, 1 egg and seasoning. The French prefer chestnuts and apple stuffing, as do the Germans who also may use raisins or prunes with apples and serve the bird with shredded white cabbage or sauerkraut. Whatever your selection — succulent goose or standing rib of beef — Wassail and a Merry Christmas!

Wassail Bowl 12 small apples 12 teaspoons brown sugar 1 cup sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1 teaspoon each ginger and nutmeg 2 cups orange juice 2 cups cranberry juice 2 quarts beer or ale

Core apples and fill each with 1 teaspoon brown sugar. Place in baking pan and cover bottom with one-eighth inch water. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes or until tender. Combine sugar and spices in an 8- quart saucepan. Add orange juice, cranberry juice and beer or ale. Heat, but do not boil, for 15 minutes. To serve, pour mixture into punch bowl and heat baked apples on top. Makes 24 1/2-cup servings.

Citrus Roast Goose 1 10-lb. goose 1-2 Florida grapefruit (quartered) 1 apple, pared and quartered 1 onion, quartered

1 rib celery, cut in 1-inch pieces 1 clove garlic, split 1 cup Florida grapefruit juice, divided 1 tablespoon prepared mustard 1 tablespoon soy sauce Place grapefruit, apple quarters, onion, celery and garlic in cavity of goose. Rub inside and outside of goose with 2 tablespoons grapefruit juice. Tie legs together, then to tail. Prick sides of goose with fork. Place on rack in roasting pan. Roast in 400-degree oven for 30 minutes. Combine remaining grapefruit juice, mustard and soy sauce. Reduce oven temperatures to 350-degree. Turn goose on its side. Baste with grapefruit mixture. Continue basting and turning goose every 30 minutes until tender, approximately 3 hours and 20 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Rib Roast of Beef 5-7 pounds rolled or standing rib roast of beef 2 tablespoons coarse salt 1 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

If standing rib roast, stand on rib bones in shallow open pan. If rolled rib roast, place on rack with fat side up. Mix together salt and pepper sauce. Rub over fat surface of meat. Insert meat thermometer. Make sure pointed end of thermometer does not rest on bone, fat or gristle. Roast in a 325-degree oven as follows. For standing rib roast: rare, 22 minutes per pound (internal temperature 140 degrees F.); well done, 40 minutes per pound (internal temperature 170 degrees F.).

Roast Onions 15 medium yellow onions, quartered 1/4 cup butter or margarine 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper

In a skillet, toss onions in margarine and cook over moderate heat until onions are well coated. Transfer the onions and butter to a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in a preheated oven, 350 degrees F., turning them carefully 3 or 4 times, for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Make 10 servings.

For standing rib roast: rare, 22 minutes per pound (internal temperature 140 degrees F.); well done, 40 minutes per pound (internal temperature 170 degrees F.).

Allow 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pound bone-in roast per serving, or 1/4 pound boned roast per serving.

How To Be a Cordial Hostess

Now is the time for every good hostess to come to the aid of her party. Undoubtedly more parties are given at this season of the year than any other. It's a time for friends as well as families to get together. And interestingly enough, many a hostess who will tackle a Beef Wellington without batting an eye will meet her Waterloo in the mixed drink department. Let anyone ask for a beverage more complicated than something on the rocks and she's lost.

Who better to turn to for some good advice on the art of making a good drink than a prize-winning bartender? Going right to the top, we asked Al Artega, bartender at the Cathedral Canyon Country Club in Palm Springs, Calif.

Here's Al's winning libation, "The Road Runner," along with some hints that will win you compliments as a party-giver. To make "The Road Runner," pour one ounce vodka, 1/2 ounce Amaretto di Saronno, 1/2 ounce coconut cream and 1/4 scoop crushed ice into a blender and mix for 15 seconds. Rim the edge of a chilled 4 1/2-ounce champagne glass with slice of orange. Dip rim in a sugar and nutmeg mixture. Pour cocktail into the prepared glass. Top with a dash of nutmeg and serve.

*You'll find coconut cream in cans at your super-market either with the canned ethnic foods or in the gourmet section. *The Road Runner could be a runaway success at your next open house instead of eggnog or punch. In case you're not familiar with Amaretto di Saronno, you'll be in for a happy surprise. It's the "in" liqueur from Italy that's getting as much attention at parties as a new bachelor in town.

Possessing an intriguing flavor and provocative bouquet, it is scrumptious to sip neat, on-the-rocks, with coffee after dinner, or in mixed drinks such as the glass just before you pour the drink. You'll find recipes for "The Godfather," "The French Connection" and a host of other exciting drinks in a booklet entitled "Italian Librage" that's yours for the asking if you'll write to Foreign Vintages, Inc., 88 Cutter Mill Rd., Great Neck, NY 11021.

Don't overlook the importance of measuring the ingredients. That way you'll be certain of consistently good results. You'll want a jigger measure clearly marked in half and quarter ounces. Invest in a bar strainer, the wire kind with clips, a mixing glass or shaker, an ice bucket and tongs. You'll also want a corkscrew, can and bottle opener, a juice squeezer, a paring knife and long-handled spoon or stirring rod. Measuring spoons are handy, too. To keep the party running smoothly, have sufficient glasses on hand. A good rule of thumb is to have twice as many glasses as you expect guests. To serve drinks at their chilliest and best, have the glasses well chilled by placing them in the refrigerator before the party. Or fill each glass with either an ice cube or cracked ice before you begin to mix. Then empty

Stop Wasting Time

Do you find houseguests are (a) a pleasure, an inconvenience or (c) an impossibility? Remember the importance of being a related and caring hostess. That is possible only if you are aspired and in control.

In a small basket, place aspirin, eye drops, beeswax earplugs, cotton pads, new toothbrush and toothpaste, disposable razor, shaving cream and lotion. Nice extras include bath oil, lotion, dusting powder and light cologne. Store this assortment until needed.

Then arrange for a sleeping area. For example, a family room can double as a guest bedroom with a sofa bed or roll-away cot and screens for privacy.

You can even get by with no more than sleeping bags to toss quickly on a sofa or thick piece of foam rubber. Sleeping bags and foam rubber mattresses prepares individual bamboo basket trays life might before. Guests are encouraged to take their trays to any part of the house they prefer at the hour they feel like rising.

Because she departs early for the office, she leaves on the refrigerator door a memo such as: "Help yourself to anything you need. I'm at the office and will telephone about 11:30.

them to do for themselves. Guard against the rigid planning of activities are also scheduled.

Share the planning and preparation with your guests.

Suggest that guests sleep as long as they like. That ensures host and guest from having to rise early to relieve crowd manners.

Make clear the times when you will be busy with other matters. The hours together are more precious than periods of privacy are also scheduled.

Don't attempt to be the servant that answers everyone's needs.

And emphasize conversation rather than cleaning.

Don't panic at the prospect of children's houseguests.

Babies can sleep in blanket-lined dresser drawers in lieu of a crib.

Chairs pushed up against bed can protect a young child from falling out.

Have a few games appropriate to each child's age.

Plan to include the youngsters in some of the adult dinners and other activities.

Young guests can also spend hours considering the advantages of their company.

Christmas Cookies

For seasonal luncheon remaining cookie dough can be baked as directed on full of home-baked, gaily decorated cookies and wrapped paper, ready to be filled with baked goods for gift-giving.
