Home Value Key To U.S. Debates

MANCHESTER — Helping Americans protect the cash value of their family home is the central theme of a new Congressional program in 1980, according to Elia Grasso, H.R. 1146, president of Heritage Savings and Loan Association.

Hale was named recently to the 1980 legislative committee of the U.S. League of Savings Associations. The League is the main trade organization of the nation's 4,400 S&Ls, which provide the bulk of home mortgages in the United States.

Hale said some of the proposals "could hamper the ability of savings and loan associations to continue their performance as the mortgage lenders that people can rely on, year-in and year-out, when they want to buy or sell a home."

It is not just the potential home buyer who benefits from our system," Hale said. "Families who hope to sell their home so they can unlock the built-up savings it represents have a vital stake as well. This 'other savings' can never be realized if persons seeking to buy can't find financing," he said. The system of specialized institutions, he said, "helps insure the cash value of every home."

But some proposals pending in Washington could undermine the ability of S&Ls to perform their specialized function — by treating them as "second-class banks," by blocking efforts to modernize loan instruments, by pushing up the cost of funds, or by imposing new regulatory and paperwork burdens that interfere with service to the public.

"Will Plain Joe wanting a home mortgage loan stand a chance if he has to line up against a businessman wanting a commercial loan — a businessman able to pay higher commercial interest rates?" he asked.

He quoted the League's new executive vice president, William B. O'Connell, as saying, "If we're not allowed to continue as a system of specialized thrift institutions, housing and home ownership will suffer."

Congress created the modern type of savings and loan association during the depression years, not only to help Americans buy and keep their homes, but also to help employment in home building, home furnishing and related industries, he noted.

The growth and performance of the specialized home finance system has led to almost 65 percent of Americans owning their own homes today — compared to only 40 percent at the end of World War II.

The U.S. League legislative committee will hold its first meeting in Washington, D.C. Feb. 25 to 27.

Two Jobs Approved By Town

MANCHESTER — Permanent town positions of public works administrative assistant and water and sewer assistant were approved at last night's Board of Director's meeting.

Both positions are presently vacant. Tom O'Mara is the public works administrative assistant and John Stankiewicz the water and sewer analyst. Both men must compete with other candidates in hiring procedures for the permanent position.

Both positions begin at $12,970, which was also approved by the board last night. Other pay range approvals included water and sewer treatment manager at starting salary of $16,959, and police captain at $23,000.

The board tabled setting another pay range, for the proposed superintendent of the sanitary landfill after Carl Zinsner, board member expressed concern about the salary's effect on next year's tight budget.

"I'm really reluctant to vote a pay increase, or make positions permanent when the budget is so tight," Zinsner said.

The proposed pay range would include the position's salary by $400 starting and $2,000 over the position would currently start at $15,000. But this salary, according to Steve Werber, personnel director, did not attract qualified applicants. The town requests a high school diploma plus about three years experience in engineering.

Two town employees passed the qualifying tests, but declined to take the position because of the pay.

The supervisor of the sanitary landfill is responsible for day-to-day operations. Presently the landfill has two part-time and three full-time employees.

Presently Jay Giles, public works director, must oversee operations. But he finds he does not have sufficient time to devote to it.

"The landfill is a good operation, without many problems, and we want to keep it that way," Giles said.

"I'm not prepared to vote for it, but I need additional information about it before I vote against it," Zinsner said.

Mrs. Flint Heads CofC

MANCHESTER — The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has appointed Ann E. Flint, of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce, president.

Mrs. Flint indicated that her decision to accept the chamber presidency was based on her strong feelings toward the Town of Manchester. Breitenfeld's praise of the chamber, the positions' full-time status and the opportunity to have a good working relationship with chamber members.

The presidency has been vacant since Breitenfeld resigned effective Dec. 1. Breitenfeld accepted a new position to head the Pinellas County Chamber of Commerce, a regional chamber serving Pinellas County in Florida.

Besides Mrs. Flint's experience as executive director of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce, she was chamber and promotions manager director of Merchants Association in Yonkers N.Y.; advertising and sales promotion manager for Merrill Lynch in Chicago, Ill.; and personnel counselor for Barnes & Noble of New York City. In her position with Merrill Lynch, she worked closely on the development of the institution's national advertising campaign.

After presenting Mrs. Flint to the board at 8:45 a.m., Harrison cited her qualifications in the areas of personnel, marketing and finance. Harrison stated, "She has a good background and a good chamber to work with." He looked forward to continued growth for the chamber.

Mrs. Flint was selected from a pool of eight candidates. The board's decision was unanimous.

No Slate In Race By Dems

MANCHESTER — Candidates to the Democratic Town Committee from the fourth voting district will run as individuals and not as an endorsed slate, Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings said this morning.

Cummings said he received the news from Jack Goldberg, who is chairman of the fourth district. He said that Goldberg indicated that this was a preference of nearly all the incumbents, who wanted to encourage such participation from the party ranks.

"More than a majority of the incumbents were there when the decision was made," Cummings said.

Several other persons had indicated that they were seriously considering running for the town committee and the party hierarchy did not want to exclude them.

"The rules of international law are no longer functional in the face of recent Iranian terrorism and blatant Soviet aggression," he said. "Foreign cartels control our economy, sending the cost of goods and services far beyond the earning power of working men and women."

"Energy, inflation, Iraq, Afghanistan cry out for answers," he said. "We cannot afford the luxury of extended debate amidst such crises."

The opposite position, D-Conn., so far from other Democrats is a token challenge from Thomas Supina Jr., 73, a former state representative and first electman in Ashford.

Rep. Tofflett, D-Conn., said last year he wouldn't run against Dodd in the Senate election because he was reluctant to subject the party to a bitter primary fight. Moffett denied any trade-off was made.

His stiffest opposition is likely to come from former New York Sen. James Buckley of Sharon, who with Senate Minority Leader Richard Bozulo, R-Waterbury, is jockeying for the Republican Senate nomination.

Dodd, son of former Sen. Thomas Dodd, who was censured by the Senate for misuse of campaign funds, is a former Peace Corps volunteer in the Dominican Republic who later practiced law in Connecticut.

MANCHESTER — Helping Americans protect the cash value of their family home is the central theme of a new Congressional program in 1980, according to Elia Grasso, H.R. 1146, president of Heritage Savings and Loan Association.

Congressmen, senators, and government officials won't put it that way," Hale said, "but that's what they're really talking about when they debate the financial legislation and regulations being proposed for 1980 action in Washington."

Hale was named recently to the 1980 legislative committee of the U.S. League of Savings Associations. The League is the main trade organization of the nation's 4,400 S&Ls, which provide the bulk of home mortgages in the United States.

Hale said some of the proposals "could hamper the ability of savings and loan associations to continue their performance as the mortgage lenders that people can rely on, year-in and year-out, when they want to buy or sell a home."

It is not just the potential home buyer who benefits from our system," Hale said. "Families who hope to sell their home so they can unlock the built-up savings it represents have a vital stake as well. This 'other savings' can never be realized if persons seeking to buy can't find financing," he said. The system of specialized institutions, he said, "helps insure the cash value of every home."

But some proposals pending in Washington could undermine the ability of S&Ls to perform their specialized function — by treating them as "second-class banks," by blocking efforts to modernize loan instruments, by pushing up the cost of funds, or by imposing new regulatory and paperwork burdens that interfere with service to the public.

"Will Plain Joe wanting a home mortgage loan stand a chance if he has to line up against a businessman wanting a commercial loan — a businessman able to pay higher commercial interest rates?" he asked.

He quoted the League's new executive vice president, William B. O'Connell, as saying, "If we're not allowed to continue as a system of specialized thrift institutions, housing and home ownership will suffer."

Congress created the modern type of savings and loan association during the depression years, not only to help Americans buy and keep their homes, but also to help employment in home building, home furnishing and related industries, he noted.

The growth and performance of the specialized home finance system has led to almost 65 percent of Americans owning their own homes today — compared to only 40 percent at the end of World War II.

The U.S. League legislative committee will hold its first meeting in Washington, D.C. Feb. 25 to 27.

Difficulty Seen In Budget Cuts

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Town officials in administration, on the Board of Education, and the directors were receptive today to attempts to trim the 1980-81 education budget to meet the general manager's austere guidelines, but many said reductions would be difficult.

Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy released his recommended budget Monday calling for a 7.6 percent spending increase over last year, saying inflation and energy were responsible for the spiraling costs. General Manager Robert Weiss called for holding increases to six percent.

Board of Education Chairman John Yavis said today, "We'll do our best to make it work. We'll do our best to make it work. We'll do our best to make it work."

He said he had no ideas as to what might be cut, but he said, "We value the cooperation between the administration and our board. With that in mind, we will look at every avenue to reduce the budget, but it may not be possible."

Under the proposed budget, ten certified staff members will be eliminated, because of declining enrollments. Town Director Peter DiRosa, who is also a former school studies teacher, said, "I am concerned that they plan to eliminate 10 teachers."

DiRosa said he has long been concerned about keeping class size down and believes the elimination of ten teaching positions will not further this goal.

DiRosa added, "As for the 7.6 percent budget, a lot of variables are involved, not the least of which is fuel. These may be uncontrollable costs."

Town Director Barbara Weinberg, a former business education teacher,

Center Bids Unsupported

MANCHESTER — Neither of the two bids for use of the Senior Citizens Center of Linden Street, which would be shared with MARCH Inc.

"I think the various churches should be used for the space MARCH needs," Frank Lupina said. "There's plenty of room for this kind of relief work there."

"Just wait a while, you'll get your $50,000 or $60,000," Bill Pagani, Pearl Street, said.

But Bob Faucher, Church Street, said if the building were worth that much, a Realtor would have submitted a bid.

Rather than the bids' price, Mrs. Elizabeth Sadoleski, Hollister Street, was concerned that renting the building to a church group would violate separation of church and state. Nancy Carr, director of MARCH, explained the building would be used only as a services center, and not for offices.

"Anything the church is directly involved in would not be housed in the building," she said. "The clothing banks, and program for the retarded would be here."

Mayor Stephen Penny expressed concern over why Crossroads, Inc. had dropped out of the bidding. The youth program had originally shared the MARCH proposal.

Mrs. Carr explained Crossroads felt they did not have the funding to pay for the heating costs.

Except win. Overcoming the slowdown tactics of obviously outmanned East Hartford High, the Indians escaped with a 40-35 win last night in CCHL play at the Hornets gym.

The victory kept the Indians deadlocked for first place in the league with Farmington. The Silk Towners are 7-2 overall and have won four straight. The Hornets dip to 2-5 in the league, 3-6 overall.

"It was the only way we (East Hartford Coach Neil Guerin) could stay with us. I did expect a slowdown game," commented Indian Coach Doug Pearson. "They did a good job with it."

East Hartford was very patient. But we were pretty patient, too. It's hard to get going in a game like that. People expect us to blow people off but you don't in a game like this. We didn't get a spark so we had to play their style."

"We controlled the tempo," concurred Coach Guerin. "It's what we wanted to do. Against a team like that, you can't run up and down the court."

The Hornets had a 12-10 edge after one quarter but the Indians moved in the half at 18-11. It was deadlocked at 32-32 after three quarters with the Beavers taking the decision in the final canto.

"We switched defenses continually and this seemed to bother them. Mo Harrison and Brian Eaton played excellently at guard," Crockett stated. "They were more patient than they have ever been before. The turnovers were way down from the last few games and they played intelligently."

Harrison and Mike Kennon each had 16 points to pace the Beavers. Blayne Cohen had 8 rebounds and Kennon had 10. The Hornets' defense was the Techmen's ace. Mike Switzer also played well for Cheney.

The Beavers' next outing is Friday night at home against CCC Coventry High at 8 o'clock.

Lightning didn't strike East Catholic High last night but an overmatched St. Thomas Aquinas five of New Britain tried to use its speed and quickness to upset the Eagles at the Eagles' Den but it wasn't to be.

The home five, which was colder than a Manchester morning in February, had to warm up gradually to come off with a 44-51 victory before a crowd of 600.

Final score in the Hartford County Conference meeting in no way shows the closeness of play. Coach Coach Jim Penders summed it up perfectly as he reflected on the seventh session in eight outings, "we're not ready to play."

"We got a good lesson tonight that you don't win games on press clippings. They are a good team, a quick team," he added. "We need more games like this. We are usually ahead."

Quick the green-clad visitors were, so quick that they took advantage of five Eagle turnovers in the first three minutes to erect a 6-2 lead.

Both teams used zone defenses effectively. East staying with the plan throughout while Aquinas went to a halfcourt press with only 50-50 success.

Each had balance, four of the five starters winding up with twin figures. Bob Venora and Russ Radant, who completed crosscourt rival East Hartford High at the Knights' gym in an 8 o'clock start.

Funds Approved For Youth Plan

MANCHESTER — Second-year funding was approved last night by the Board of Directors for the Youth Service Department Detachment Prevention program.

The program operated in Grades 4-6 in Wadwell, Keene Street, Robertson, and Verplanck Elementary schools, was given a $25,000 grant from the Connecticut Justice Commission.

This program doesn't label kids bad or good," Robert Digan, youth services director, said. "We take good kids and encourage them to be good."

There are four parts to the program, parent seminars, cultural enrichment (field trips, projects), pre-school jobs, and teacher in-service training.

Although the board approved the funding, member Barbara Weinberg expressed reservations the board didn't studied the funding before last night's meeting.

"I hope next time we approve a request for this amount of money, we have it before hand," she said. "It comes out of the taxpayer's pocket."

Dr. Lundberg Head at MMH

MANCHESTER — George A.F. Lundberg Jr., M.D., was elected president of the medical staff at Manchester Memorial Hospital for 1980, at the annual meeting of the Medical Staff.

Dr. Lundberg is an associate in the Department of Medicine at the hospital. He served as vice president of the Medical Staff in 1979 and before that was secretary. He maintains office at 153 Main St.

A native of Manchester and a graduate of Wesleyan University in Middletown, Dr. Lundberg received his M.D. from the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia. He completed his internship and residency at Hartford Hospital. He has been a member of the hospital's active staff since 1958.

Also elected at the annual meeting were Melvin Horwitz, M.D., vice president, and David M. Caldwell Jr., M.D., secretary.

Dr. Horwitz is chairman and chief of the Department of Surgery at the hospital and is a senior attending physician on the Thoracic Surgery service. Last year he served as secretary of the Medical Staff.

Dr. Caldwell is an associate in surgery and gynecology at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Winter Sports

MANCHESTER — Skating, under Recreation Department supervision, will be permitted today at Charter Oak Park, at Center Springs Pond, and at Union Pond annex from 10 to 9 p.m. There will be no skating at the Nike Site. For information on winter sports in town phone 643-4700.

Lack of Guidelines Changes Fund Use

MANCHESTER — Unless state regulations governing the use of the Energy Action Grant are received soon, the town will use the fund for municipal building improvements.

The board questioned using the federal fund for municipal buildings. Manchester is eligible for $88,500 under this act, and it has been allocated to projects such as replacing municipal building windows, purchasing emergency boiler and weatherstripping.

But, Charles McCarthy, assistant manager, explained the state has not given fund specifications to the town. The program is part of the proposed Winter Energy Plan, formulated by a committee of town officials.

"I'd like to make sure before we use the fund for municipal buildings, all the people who are going to be hard hit by the energy paces are taken care of," Barbara Weinberg, board member said.

Mayor Stephen Penny agreed, but added if the state did not provide specifications there was no reason the town could not use the fund.

The state is supposed to provide guidelines for avoiding house abandonment due to inability to afford heating.

The board voted to endorse the Winter Energy Plan, which outlines energy programs, and programs to help the elderly, handicapped and many others pay heating bills. But a provision was made to use the capital improvement fund, Energy Action Grant, until private citizen use was fully determined.

76ers Hot on Celts' Heels

By TONY FAVIA
UPI Sports Writer

The Philadelphia 76ers are hot on the heels of the Boston Celtics, and they showed why on Tuesday night. The Sixers invaded New York to play the red-hot Knicks, who had won five in a row and all four on their current homestand, and fought off two late New York rallies to score a 113-108 victory, moving Philadelphia to within one game of the Atlantic Division-leading Celtics.

"I was very impressed with the way they (the Knicks) kept coming back," said Julius Erving, who paced the 76ers with 29 points. "If they've been doing this all year, I can understand the success they've been having."

The Sixers, now 21-11, built an 82-69 lead with four minutes left in the third quarter, but Michael Ray Richardson hit three baskets and passed off for two others to rally the Knicks back to within 86-83 at quarter end.

Philadelphia held the lead through the fourth quarter and led 109-104 when Richardson connected twice to cut the margin to one. But again the 76ers refused to fold, and Steve Mix hit two free throws in the final minute to clinch the victory.

"The guys didn't quit," said New York Coach Red Holzman. "They came back against a very good team. They're very experienced and they know where to go."

Richardson, who scored 19 points to back 25 points each by Ray Williams and Bill Cartwright, said, "We came back like we've been doing all year. We've got bad luck against these guys."

In other games, Houston edged Cleveland 118-115 in overtime, San Diego topped Kansas City 124-116, Chicago downed Milwaukee 119-102, San Antonio outscored Denver 137-134, Utah defeated Detroit 122-110, and Indiana beat Portland 122-118.

Pacers 122, Trail Blazers 118
James Edwards scored a season-high 35 points and Mickey Johnson added 31 for Indiana. It was Johnson's offensive rebound basket with 39 seconds left that gave the Pacers the 121-118 lead that spelled victory. Kermit Washington and Ron Hunter led the Blazers with 27 points each. Portland center Tom Owens got 11 points in a second-quarter surge that kept the Blazers lead at halftime by 65-61.

Manchester Community College will find out how good it is this week as it engages two tough conference foes in Connecticut Community College basketball action.

Tonight the Cougars travel to Bridgeport to face Housatonic Community College. Housatonic is presently in second place in the C.C.C.A.A., one game behind the Cougars.

Saturday the Cougars return home at East Catholic to face the New England powerhouse, Tunxis Community College of Farmington. Tunxis is presently tied for league lead. The visitors are New England region champs and have not lost to a junior college team in New England in 34 outings. They also have won 23 league games dating back to February 1978.

Jeff Shealey

Manchester, presently 4-0 in the league (5-3 overall), has won five consecutive games and is looking to upset the Tomahawks. Two new additions to the Cougar roster at mid-semester have bolstered the Cougars' changes as former Peter High star, Lindsey James and former Windham High star, Larry Hayden, are eligible to play. They give the Cougars a tremendously impressive and quick backcourt. They will join Jeff Shealey who has been averaging 16.1 ppg over his first nine games.

Tunxis is paced by 6-6 Mike Mitchell of Alexandria, Va., who is presently averaging 20.6 points per game and 11.4 rebounds. He is flanked by former Newington High All-stater Kevin Ketho who averages 14.5 points a game. While two ex-New Britain High stars, 6-5 Philip Moore (10.6) and Ricky Clark (14.8), have been Tunxis' mainstays to date, Game time is 8 o'clock at East Catholic.

He is a 1976 graduate of the University of Vermont with a degree in Dairy Technology. In that same year, he was named a collegiate All-American. # Lambert AFC Top Defender

NEW YORK (UPI) — It seems Jack Lambert has been raised to play in the Super Bowl. And it's lucky for the Pittsburgh Steelers that the imposing middle linebacker was around in the second round of the 1974 draft.

Since Lambert has been a member of the awesome Steelers, Pittsburgh has won three Super Bowl titles and Jan. 20 will shoot for No. 4 against the Los Angeles Rams in Pasadena, Calif.

Lambert enjoyed perhaps his finest season in 1979, earning his fifth straight Pro Bowl berth and leading the Steelers in tackles for 12 consecutive seasons. On Monday, Lambert was named UPI's Defensive Player of the Year, receiving 18 votes from UPI's panel of 56 pro football writers — four from each AFC city.

"I guess I was pretty lucky to be drafted by Pittsburgh," said Lambert. "We won two Super Bowls my first two years here and it got to the point where I was saying 'Geez, this team is supposed to win the Super Bowl all the time. When we didn't win it the next two years, let me tell you, it was tough.'"

Lambert, known for defensive leadership as well as his linebacking tackles, recorded 119 tackles with 46 assists this season, and held together the "Steel Curtain" defense even after linebackers Loren Toews and Jack Ham were injured.

Lambert, at 6-foot-4 and 220 pounds, also intercepted six passes — a team and personal best.

"That's great," Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll, after learning of Lambert's award. "Jack is kind of the heart of our defense. He calls all our signals on the field. He's a con-

Bob Berry was singing the penalty-killing blues Tuesday night after St. Louis scored three power-play goals to end Los Angeles' six-game unbeaten streak.

"I just don't know what it is," the Kings' coach said after his club dropped a 6-3 decision to the Blues. "If we could kill a couple off as it would help our confidence but as it is now anytime we get a penalty we think the other team is going to score."

Mike Zuke, Tony Currie and Brian Sutter scored on the power play for St. Louis. The Kings' have now surrendered a league-worst 52 goals in short-handed situations.

Philadelphia held the lead through the fourth quarter and led 109-104 when Richardson connected twice to cut the margin to one. But again the 76ers refused to fold, and Steve Mix hit two free throws in the final minute to clinch the victory.

"The guys didn't quit," said New York Coach Red Holzman. "They came back against a very good team. They're very experienced and they know where to go."

Richardson, who scored 19 points to back 25 points each by Ray Williams and Bill Cartwright, said, "We came back like we've been doing all year. We've got bad luck against these guys."

In other games, Houston edged Cleveland 118-115 in overtime, San Diego topped Kansas City 124-116, Chicago downed Milwaukee 119-102, San Antonio outscored Denver 137-134, Utah defeated Detroit 122-110, and Indiana beat Portland 122-118.

Pacers 122, Trail Blazers 118
James Edwards scored a season-high 35 points and Mickey Johnson added 31 for Indiana. It was Johnson's offensive rebound basket with 39 seconds left that gave the Pacers the 121-118 lead that spelled victory. Kermit Washington and Ron Hunter led the Blazers with 27 points each. Portland center Tom Owens got 11 points in a second-quarter surge that kept the Blazers lead at halftime by 65-61.

Bradshaw Felt Pressure
NEW YORK (UPI) — You watch someone like Terry Bradshaw operating out there, calling signals, reading the defense and throwing all those touchdown passes and he looks cool as an ice cube.

Actually, he isn't, and what's more, he doesn't try hiding the fact the pressure gets to him.

The dictionary defines pressure as the burden of physical or mental distress and the weight of that burden was so heavy on Bradshaw following last Sunday's game in which he threw two touchdown passes to move the Pittsburgh Steelers into the Super Bowl again with a 27-13 victory over the Houston Oilers that he finished up with a splitting headache.

"It's on account of all the tension," he said. "Playing a team like Houston, you know it's going to be demanding on you physically and everything else. You're preparing, studying and working all week and when you go to bed at night you can't sleep. I didn't want to lose that for anything in the world. Now that it's over, it's all coming in now."

Grand Masters In Aetna Play

Four grand masters of tennis, Pancho Gonzales, Pancho Segura, Frank Sedgman and Rex Hartwig, will compete in an exhibition doubles match at the 1980 Aetna World Cup, it was announced.

The match, set for Friday evening, March 7, will pit Gonzales and Segura of the United States against Australian greats Sedgman and Hartwig in a "seniors" battle that promises to be anything but sedate.

Gonzales is perhaps the best-known player to ever swing a racket. His fierce determination to excel and win, combined with his hairtrigger temper, have made him a top box office attraction for more than 25 years.

Gonzales' serve, characterized by its accuracy and consistency, is considered to be among the best in tennis history, and at the peak of his career was once clocked at 118 miles-per-hour.

CHARLIEF SAVVY: STAY WITH YOUR PARTNER

Many skiers get into trouble when they slide onto a chairlift loading platform. Frequently, problems occur because they fail to look up next to each other.

When the skier furthest back sits down, he hits the chair back momentarily. As the chair swings forward again, it delivers an unerring blow to the back of the legs to the skier ahead.

To prevent accidents and insure easy loading, watch the couple's ahead of you sit onto the chairlift loading platform. Frequently, lift attendants keep special marks swept clean to indicate the proper place to stand. Be sure to line up right next to your partner — neither ahead nor behind — as the chair approaches (B). Settle down easily into the seat and you'll be off for a pleasant ride up the mountain.

Knicks Rehire Red Holzman

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks today announced the contracts of Coach Red Holzman and general manager Eddie Donovan would be extended through the 1980-81 National Basketball Association season.

Holzman, who coached the Knicks to world championships in 1970 and 1973, retired at the end of the 1978-79 season but took over the team again in the middle of the 1979-80 campaign with the agreement that he would coach through the 1979-80 season.

However, because he is pleased at the way the young Knicks have been playing, he has agreed to coach one more year. Holzman is only four victories shy of becoming the second coach ever to notch 800 victories in the NBA.

Donovan, currently in the final year of a five-year contract, was architect of the most successful era in the Knicks' history, building the team which won the world championships and compiling a 263-147 record over a five-year span.

Donovan was named general manager of the Knicks in 1968, then left the team to assume a similar role with the Buffalo Braves just prior to the 1970 playoffs and returned to New York in April, 1976.

Top UConn Pitcher No. 1 Pick in Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — A pitcher with the competitive instincts of Earlly Wynn and the brother of Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder Greg Luzinski were among the top choices selected Tuesday in the annual major league winter baseball draft of amateur free agents.

The Toronto Blue Jays, selecting first, made 6-foot-8 right-hander Colin McLaughlin of Woodbury, Conn., the No. 1 choice in the draft and immediately signed him to a one-year contract. McLaughlin, 20, ran average as a freshman with the University of Connecticut last year.

Regarded as a fierce competitor who treats every game as if it were a war, McLaughlin compares himself to fastballing J.R. Richard of the Houston Astros.

"I approach pitching with a 'take no prisoners' philosophy," said McLaughlin at a news conference in Toronto. "If I don't like you I might hit you. I am a mean guy up on the mound. I have a good fastball and a pretty good curve but my changeup needs work."

McLaughlin's attitude compares favorably to that of Hall of Famer Wynn, who once said he would throw

NCAA To Support Olympic Boycott

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — If President Carter orders U.S. athletes to boycott the 1980 Olympics in Moscow, the National Collegiate Athletic Association in retaliation for the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, he will have the overwhelming support of the NCAA.

The 74th NCAA convention, attended by more than 1,000 college and university officials and athletic directors, voted without dissent Tuesday to support Carter if he feels such a boycott is necessary.

David E. Sweet, president of Rhode Island University, sponsored the resolution and said he personally supported a U.S. boycott of the Olympics.

"One of the largest organizations for amateur athletics has gone on record that they are prepared to support the president despite the fact that leaders of the Olympic movement have been quoted as opposing his stand," Sweet said.

"The question is, 'When will political activity by the U.S.S.R. be involving a peaceful neighbor go unchallenged?'" Sweet said. "It is time for this association to say 'no.'"

FAST BREAK BREAKFASTS

Good news — breakfast is "in!" The morning meal is enjoying a renaissance as we rediscover the nutritious importance, as well as the sheer pleasure, that comes with a serene family breakfast. Even if breakfast has turned into a morning rush hour, a little night-before-advance preparation will get everyone off to a great start in no time.

Homemade biscuits, rolls and sweet rolls are a breakfast tradition, but today's time schedules call for shortcuts. Ready-to-bake biscuits, crescent rolls and cinnamon rolls from Pillsbury, available in the refrigerated dough section of the supermarket, are the smart, quick and easy way to achieve homebaked flavor without the time of baking from "scratch."

For a quick, satisfying breakfast, serve hot-from-the-oven biscuits that take only minutes to bake, with a choice of nutritious spreads which you have prepared the evening before. Good Morning Rolls, baked in a crescent shape, are another fast treat, made using refrigerated apple slices, cinnamon rolls with icing and bright cherries.

For a fast start in the morning, make homemade pocket breads the night before, using Hungry Jack® Refrigerated Big Flaky Biscuits, flattened and pressed together. To serve, fill with fresh fruit and yogurt, and you'll have a well-balanced, quick breakfast-on-the-go that is especially appealing to teenagers.

When there's more time, try a savory corned beef hash and egg "pie" with a biscuit border which takes only minutes to assemble. A Lemon Cheese Bread, made with refrigerated crescent roll dough, may well become a "specialty of the house" for weekend brunches. It makes a fabulous hot bread which looks and tastes as if it were made by a professional.

With the wide variety of biscuits and rolls available in your supermarket's refrigerated dough case, an assortment of tempting hot breads, pastries and main dishes is at your fingertips. You may find that, for good breakfasts, the refrigerated biscuits and rolls are as much a morning "must" as that first sip of coffee!

New French Grape Boosts Eastern Wineries

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) — The winemakers of the Eastern United States have traditionally fought a long and mostly fruitless battle to win over some of the more cultured tasterbuds in the status-conscious world of wine connoisseurs.

While pedigreed European wines have universally been acknowledged as the heavyweights of the industry and California wines have received some acclaim, many still think of Eastern wines as the choice of their kid brother or cheap uncle.

Now, however, Eastern vineyard owners feel they have a good chance of competing with the big boys because of a new genetically improved grape that combines the classic taste of the European grape with a newfound hardiness.

The optimism generated by the new grape was very much in evidence at the recent Wineries International Eastern Wine Competition, where 82 vineyards from 22 states and Ontario entered their products for judging.

According to one of the judges, Robert Pool, a professor of viticulture at Cornell University, the vineyards of the East have always been noted for good champagne and fine dessert wines such as port and sherry.

But as for the prestige table wines, he said the domestic Eastern wines have always been regarded as a bit too fruity.

Now, however, "More attention is now being paid to reducing that fruitiness, largely through the blending of the new French hybrids," Pool said.

"Domestic winemakers have been trying to grow traditional European varieties since colonial times and failed."

"Now they are having greater success because of the new French hybrid grape, which is apparently tough enough to withstand the extremes in weather here," he said.

"Twenty years from now, they're going to have wineries in the East that are as noted for excellence as those in California or Germany."

Pool and others say prize-winning wines are those that most closely approximate the "classic taste" of a particular variety of wine.

"A wine might be very interesting, but if it doesn't measure up to the standards for the particular category it is entered in, it's not going to be a winner," said judge Craig Goldwyn, wine critic for the Chicago Tribune.

"The classic tastes were reached over time because they were the tastes that sold the most wine," Pool said. "The classic taste developed because they resulted in the classic return of dollars to a classic little old French winemaker way back when."

Another judge, William Murray, wine writer for the Buffalo Evening News, said that judges, no matter what their particular background, generally share the same "mental ideal" of what each variety of wine should taste like.

"You get one judge from California, one from Australia and one from Germany and they'll agree on the classic taste for a certain type of wine," said Murray.

"There are these almost mystical standards — Goldwyn, 'It's like a football defense being on a sensory level.'"

Although judges usually have much the same standards, they admit that a long day of sampling and sniffing can impair their judgment.

"We do have the problem of saturation," said Goldwyn. "It's like a football defense being on a sensory level."

As for the contestants, different winemakers attached widely varying degrees of importance to the results of the judging.

"It's very important for us," said boarded Edward Salzberg, assistant winemaker for Canandaigua Wine Co. Inc., of Canandaigua, N.Y.

"Gold-winning wines are going to be much more marketable," he said. "No one is going to say that this is some hooch that only a Bowery bum would go for."

But for Gary Dross, owner of tiny Valley Vineyards in New York's Hudson River Valley, the competition is just an opportunity to get an impartial, informed opinion on his product.

"I just wanted to know if there were any flaws, and apparently there weren't," said Dross, a former physical education teacher who referred to his 1 1/2-year-old vineyard as "a hobby that got out of hand."

"Winning a medal just doesn't mean that much because marketing is not a big thing with me," he said. "I'm a ways away from marketing. This thing doesn't pay for quite a while."

The Supermarket Shopper

How to Save on Gifts with Coupons and Refunds

By MARTIN SLOANE

Dear Supermarket Shopper — I gave my husband a super Christmas present and it was all because I got involved with coupons and refunds. It happened this way:

I had cash-off coupons for Ajax Ajax Liquid and Pine Forest Cleaner.

When I took them to the store, I found that the Pine Forest box was marked 20 cents off the regular price.

My husband was surprised and delighted when he opened my Christmas card and found the basket-ball tickets. He was so happy that he took me out to dinner before the game.

We had a wonderful night on the town all because I became one of your super-smart shoppers. Coupons and refunds are great — Mary B., Southgate, Mich.

Dear Supermarket Shopper — With Christmas just passed, I don't have much money for gift giving. But there are still occasions when a gift is called for.

Perhaps other readers in the same position will appreciate this tip:

I have a good friend who recently moved into a new house. She is also a coupon clipper.

For a housewarming gift, I purchased a purse-size coupon organizer and refunder, I have never kept a good record of how much I save during a year. But your column has inspired other baby needs. Whether the baby turns out to be a girl or boy, the gift is still appropriate. — Camille L. Lillian D. from Calvert City, Ky.

Dear Camille — Thank you for the excellent tip. I'm sure it will be used by many readers.

Dear Supermarket Shopper — Though I am an avid coupon clipper and refunder, I have never kept a good record of how much I save during a year. But your column has inspired me. I am off to a good start in 1980 with my savings and my record keeping. — Lillian D. from Calvert City, Ky.

Dear Lillian — Now that the New Year has arrived, it is the perfect time to start keeping score of your savings. Couponing and refunding is the best super-market game in town and 1980. Be sure to ask for knowing exactly how much you are saving makes the

Travel Tips

ROSEAU, Dominica (UPI) — The little-known island of Dominica in the eastern Caribbean between Martinique and Guadeloupe, an independent republic, refers to itself in tourist brochures as the island of the three R's — rivers, rainbows and romance. Rivers and waterfalls, including scenic Trafalgar falls, can be found all around the ruggedly mountainous island, and wherever water and sunshine mix there are rainbows. Romance is left to the traveler's imagination.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A $50 million Hyatt Regency Hotel is still under construction in downtown Kansas City but it already has booked for a national convention in 1992, according to director of sales Candi Fennell.

The 750-room hotel is expected to be completed next June. It will be part of Hallmark Cards' Crown Center, the $500 million, 25-acre mini-city which will include more than 50 new buildings for living, working, shopping, recreation and entertainment when completed in the late 1980s.

Make Dinner An Event With New Rice Mixes

Home entertaining is in vogue these days, but the trend is away from complicated, last-minute recipe preparations that keep hosts and hostesses away from their guests. Many home cooks rely on a few special recipes for entertaining that have a sophisticated flavor, but don't require superhuman effort to prepare. These may be "one-dish" meals, or recipes which combine meat, vegetables and rice for streamlined cooking and serving.

Now, there's a new product on the market which will help create a simple, elegant dinner menu for guests or family. Four international flavored rice mixes — Lemon Tarragon Chicken, Greek Style Rice Pilaf with Peas, British Style Rice for Beef with Mushrooms, French Style Rice for Chicken with Vegetables, and Indian Style Curried Rice with Raisins — contain delicious vegetables, mushrooms and other ingredients, and are prepared in a little under 30 minutes of no-wash cooking time. For a specific dinner, accent your international theme by preparing authentic salad and dessert recipes from the same country. In addition, these rice mixes have such flair you can actually use them as a centerpiece, meat portions while still serving a meal that has great gourmet appeal.

Lemon Tarragon Chicken with French Style Rice is a surprisingly easy chicken recipe that is simply tossed into a skillet over low heat. Add contents of rice packet and stir until contents of rice packet and seasoning packet; stir well. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until all water is absorbed, about 25 minutes. While rice is cooking, cut up the tomatoes; scoop out tomato pulp. Spoon about 1/2 cup cooked rice into each tomato. Arrange chicken and tomatoes on large oven-proof serving platter. Place in oven while making sauce. Skim fat from pan drippings; pour drippings into small saucepan. Combine chicken broth and cornstarch; stir into pan drippings. Bring to a boil; cook, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened, 2 to 3 minutes. Serve sauce over chicken and rice. Makes 5 servings.

1 package (6-ounces) Uncle Ben's® French Style Rice for Chicken
2-1/2 cups water
5 large tomatoes
1/2 cup chicken broth
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon onion salt
Season chicken with salt; arrange chicken in 9 x 13-inch baking pan, skin side up. Combine 3 tablespoons melted butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and the tarragon; brush over chicken. Bake at 350° until tender, 45 to 50 minutes.
While chicken is baking, melt 1 tablespoon butter in 10-inch skillet over low heat. Add contents of rice packet and stir until contents of rice packet and

The tastes of France come through in this special Lemon Tarragon Chicken, a simple provincial dish ringed with tomatoes stuffed with rice. It's all made easy with Uncle Ben's® (R) French Style Rice for Chicken with Vegetables.

Guess Which Wine's Coming To Dinner

Think back to the last time you were invited to a friend's home for dinner. You wanted to contribute a memorable wine to complement your meal but had no idea which wine to bring to suit the occasion. There are really only two ways to be assured that the wine you bring will be right. You could ask the hostess what her menu will be, which might be embarrassing, or you could choose a bottle of wine that goes with almost anything. Portuguese roses are outstanding for their strength of flavor. In the case of Mateus, bottled at the same estate vineyard since the seventeenth century, a delightful, light, dry note adds refreshing quality whatever the dish it accompanies.

Bring a rose and be assured that the wine will be right, whether your host has prepared "Steak au Poivre" with "Sauce Bearnaise" and accompanied by "Potatoes Pont Neuf" or chicken or a casserole. And when the bottles have been emptied, and if you've used the popular Mateus in green bottles, be practical and reuse them as candle holders, vases or whatever the interesting centerpiece "bottleball" bottle shape suggests.

with rice. It's all made easy with Uncle Ben's® (R) French Style Rice for Chicken with Vegetables.

Steak Au Poivre
4 filet mignon, or sirloin tip trimmed of excess fat and cut in portions 2" thick
4 tablespoons peppercorns, coarsely crushed
1 cup Mateus Rose
1/2 cup brandy (optional)
salt to taste
1 tablespoon butter
4 toast rounds
Watercress for garnish
Press both sides of trimmed steaks firmly into crushed peppercorns until smoking in a heavy bottomed skillet. Quickly brown steaks on both sides and set pan into a moderate oven (375°F) for 12 minutes or until steak is cooked to desired degree of doneness. Set steaks aside, pour off excess oil from pan and pour in Mateus and brandy. Cook, stirring and browning bits that cling to the bottom of the pan, until liquid has reduced by 1/2. Season with salt and pepper and stir in butter. To serve, arrange steaks on toast rounds on a heated serving platter. Top with pan juices and garnish with watercress. Makes 4 servings.

Sauce Bearnaise
1 cup Mateus rose wine
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon tarragon
3 egg yolks
Dash melted butter
Dash cayenne or Tabasco
Cook rose wine, vinegar and tarragon over high heat until reduced by 2/3 of its original volume. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Stirring constantly add egg yolks and beat vigorously, alternating with melted butter until sauce has the consistency of mayonnaise. Strain and serve warm. Makes about 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Potatoes Pont Neuf
4 medium baking potatoes
1/2 cup oil
Salt and pepper to taste
Wash and peel potatoes. Cut into even strips, 4" x 3/4" x 3/4" and set in cold water until ready to cook. Drain and pat potato strips dry. Cook in hot oil, turning occasionally until browned around the edges and cooked through, about 15 minutes. Serve in neat piles with two strips parallel on the bottom and two strips crosswise stacked on top. Salt and pepper stack to taste. Makes enough potatoes to serve 4.

Think Light with Banana Chiffon Cake

A light, fluffy cake that is relatively low in calories is welcome in these days of thinking slim. Banana chiffon cake falls into this category — though it is admittedly 230 calories per slice. The whole family will enjoy this treat, which keeps well in the refrigerator — if any is left over. Include a slice in a school or office lunch bag with some fruit.

Banana Chiffon Cake
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
3/4 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon allspice
3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup salad oil
5 egg yolks
1 1/2 cup cold water

bananas and vanilla. Beat until smooth. In large bowl, combine egg whites and cream of tartar. Beat until very stiff peaks form. Pour egg yolk batter over entire surface of beaten egg whites in steady stream. Fold gently, just until blended. Pour batter into ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Bake in 325-degree oven 55 minutes. Increase temperature to 350 degrees and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Invert pan. Let cool completely. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 16 slices of about 230 calories each.

The Studied Approach to Managing Time

PHOENIX (UPI) — Some people say time is money, but Stella Cassano Donchak says time is life. Ms. Donchak, who teaches English at two-year Phoenix College, spends much of her time telling others how to manage their time. She conducts seminars for the city of Phoenix for churches and for community groups to help people get control of time and thus their lives. "First I ask 'What bothers you about time?' People say 'Time passes me by,' 'I always feel pressured' or 'I don't have time enough for what I want to do,'" she said. But her reply is "You've got all the time you need. There's one area of equality, it's time. We all have the same amount. That's where you figure out who's in charge of the clock." Once a person confirms belief in free will and choice, Ms. Donchak suggests he or she keep track of all activities and the time they require for a one-week period. Then the list can be studied to see what has been given priority in terms of time. At this point, a person should ask what he or she really wants to do, what should have been given more time, what less, and what could have been eliminated. Part of this is admitting what one likes to do and what one dislikes, she said. In the case of woman who hated housework and found her house always cluttered, Ms. Donchak advised that she "slip the housework in" among other activities she might enjoy more, such as cleaning out one drawer of a dresser at a time. A person who doesn't like washing dishes should do it during television commercials, use paper plates or budget their money to eat out, she said. For those who feel they are controlled by the clock, Ms. Donchak says they should devote some time twice a day to themselves, to reflect, relax and "regain energy." "It's hard to do because it looks like you're wasting time," she said, but she added that those who take a few minutes out for relaxing find they have more energy and are more productive. Part of Ms. Donchak's theory is that everyone should consider himself a VIP or very important person, by adjusting their time to the important things in their lives and to future goals. "I think time is life, and the use we make of time determines everything," Ms. Donchak says the best thing about her approach is that it is never too late. "In time, nothing stops you from making a fresh start," she said.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. I'll be 65 in a few months and plan to apply for Medicare. I know Medicare doesn't pay all medical expenses, though, and I've been wondering if I should buy additional health insurance. Can you offer any advice?
A. Many private insurance companies sell health insurance to supplement Medicare. But, before you buy a supplemental policy, carefully examine the benefits offered to make sure you don't buy a policy which is unnecessary or duplicates Medicare coverage. The Health Care Financing Administration puts out a pamphlet called "Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare." It describes the kinds of private insurance available and gives useful information about buying supplemental insurance. You can get a free copy at any Social Security office.
Q. A friend recently told me that some changes were made in the SSI provisions on resources. Were changes also made in the income limits? A. No. The income limits under SSI have not changed. An individual is eligible for a Federal payment with reasonable in-

Cut Salt Intake Without Cutting Flavor

The old salt shaker is taking a back seat to other seasonings in many homes. The reason? Many doctors are advising their patients to cut down on the excessive use of salt (sodium) as a preventive against high blood pressure and heart disease.

Most foods — except the majority of common fruits — contain sodium naturally. But as a people we tend to salt first and taste afterward when dining.

An aid to reducing total daily sodium intake is to avoid adding salt when preparing food at home.

This does not mean you must cut out all your favorite foods. If you are on a low-sodium diet, however, follow your doctor's instructions faithfully.

Those who are not on a severely restricted sodium diet may enjoy such treats as spicy beef hash and lemon-buttered cabbage, both prepared without added salt. Fresh lemon juice, herbs and spices are used as flavor enhancers. Incidentally, most herbs and spices do have traces of sodium. And garlic salt and onion salt should not be used when preparing low-sodium dishes.

Once you learn to substitute other seasonings for salt when cooking, you may find you are tasting the true flavors of meats, poultry and vegetables for the first time.

Spley Beef Brisket (Low Sodium)
3 pound boneless fresh beef brisket, all fat removed
2 carrots, quartered
2 onions, quartered
3 large cloves garlic, halved
1 tablespoon instant beef bouillon (no salt added)
15 whole cloves

15 whole peppercorns
2 bay leaves
Strip of fresh lemon peel (4- to 6-inch)
Juice of 2 fresh lemons
Boiling water
Fresh grated lemon peel and chopped parsley for garnish Place beef in large saucepot. Add carrots, onions, garlic, bouillon, cloves, peppercorns, bay leaves, strip of lemon peel and lemon juice.

Add enough boiling water just to cover beef. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer 2 1/2 to 3 hours until beef is tender.
Remove beef to serving platter. Slice thinly. Sprinkle with grated peel and parsley.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings. Each 4-ounce serving of cooked beef contains 71 mg. sodium and 232 calories. Each 3-ounce serving contains 53 mg. sodium and 174 calories.

Lemon-Buttered Cabbage
1/4 cup unsalted butter or margarine

1/2 teaspoon caraway or celery seed
1 medium head cabbage (about 1 1/2 pounds), coarsely chopped
Grated peel and juice of 1/2 fresh lemon
Pepper
In large skillet, melt butter with caraway seed. Add cabbage. Cook over high heat for 3 to 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Reduce heat. Cover. Simmer 2 to 3 minutes until just tender.

Stir in lemon peel and juice. Add pepper to taste.
This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings. Each 1/2 cup serving contains 16 mg. sodium and 90 calories.

Chili Comes East

Chili con carne is no longer a specialty only of the Sun Belt.

Recently we tested its popularity in three East Coast restaurants — good chili," was the answer from these high-class eateries.

Last month in the Mojave desert, about 100 miles from Los Angeles, 27 persons competed in a chili cookout for the Golden Chili Pepper Award, donated by the American Spice Trade Association. More than 30,000 others watched as the contestants prepared their special recipes.

The award went to Dr. Randy Juono of St. Paul, Minn.

His chili recipe uses vast amounts of different spices — plus milk chocolate. But chili powder dominates. The result is amazing!

Incidentally, his recipe begins with cubes of steak rather than with chopped meat. Other contestants added bear meat, deer, rabbit and chicken to their chili.

John Seclsa, the amiable vice president of Cal-Compack Foods, one of the three largest growers of chili peppers in the United States, says the Southwest can no longer claim total credit for the increase in sales of chili con carne.

"There are successful chains of chili restaurants in Wyoming, South Dakota, Oklahoma and Kansas," he reports. "And, of course, reports from the New York area are rather exciting."

Seclsa describes exactly what chili is:

"The basic ingredients are chili peppers, oregano, cumin seed, garlic, salt and sometimes such other aromatics as cloves, allspice and cardamom seed. Today the 'home' of chili powder can be said to be California — the prime source of the chili peppers which give it its name as well of garlic and other seasonings.

"Chili powder is a quick, convenient means of creating a chili con carne. Used properly, it will suit chili to any taste. For more zip, simply add more red pepper; for more flavor, try more cumin seed and/or garlic."

The Great Pyramid of Khufu (Cheops), ca. 2550 B.C., was built on a square base with an area of 13 acres, or seven average-sized city blocks. The 30 million tons of material used in the construction would, as Napoleon figured in 1798, be enough to build a 16-foot wall around the whole of France. Cut into standard-sized bricks and laid end-to-end, the Great Pyramid would reach from the Earth to the moon.

Task Force Named For Revitalization

Moratorium Approved On Condo Conversions

VERNON — Acting on a recommendation made by assistant planner Francis Armentano, Mayor Marie Herbst has appointed a nucleus Task Force for the Revitalization of Rockville.

In naming 16 members to the committee, Mrs. Herbst said they will be given a time schedule and she hopes their work will be completed in a year.

The mayor named John Carter, president of Roosevelt Mills, as chairman of the group and she said she will act as liaison between the Town Council and the task force.

As suggested by Armentano, who is also on the committee, the mayor named persons representing business, the Chamber of Commerce, neighborhood groups, and political parties and other organizations.

Armentano told the mayor that an examination of the attitudes of the residents of the Rockville area and vicinity is vital. He said that a beautification program of the existing businesses in Rockville is where the task force should begin work.

Those named to the Task Force are, besides Armentano and Carter: Brian Edwards, Martin Burke, Ann Flint, Mark Gurevitz, Robert Menaldi, Scott Zahner, Ardis Abbott, Francine Vecchillo, the Rev. Paul Bowman. Also: Harvey A. Desruisseaux, Charles McMillan, Jane McCarthy, Ann Demallie, and John Loranger.

VERNON — The Town Council, Monday night, approved a moratorium on conversions until May 1 of this year, to allow town boards and officials to study conversion.

The Zoning Commission, last month, held two public hearings to consider proposed changes in the zoning laws to allow apartment owners to convert their units into condominiums. But the commission hasn't yet taken any action on the proposal.

In proposing the resolution passed by the council, Town Attorney Edwin Lavitt said there has been substantial interest in conversions and it would be in the best interest of the town if there was time to adopt reasonable rules and regulations.

Councilman Stephen Marchant asked if the council could assume that the resolution wouldn't be grandfathered to anyone who has already applied for a conversion. Lavitt said he didn't think it would. The town has had two applications and the conversions would involve more than 150 persons.

He said with the cost of fuel oil going up eventually to a $1 a gallon it becomes more profitable for landlords to convert and sell the units.

John Loranger, former town planner for

Resident Honored

VERNON — Henry J. Kehoe of Vernon has received an award for being a 34-year member of the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials.

Kehoe is an associate engineer in the Transportation Department's Traffic Division.

Test Cost Funds Due

VERNON — Joseph Belanger, chairman of the Sewer Authority, told the Town Council Monday night the cost of testing the incinerator at the new sewage treatment plant is an eligible expense and qualifies for 90 percent reimbursement by the state and federal government.

Belanger said, in addition, it would be appropriate to include the 10 percent state share in the capital expenditures for the plant.

Charles Pitkat, superintendent of the treatment plant told the council at its last meeting that there wasn't money in his budget to operate the incinerator even if it does test satisfactorily.

Some council members said they thought the incinerator should be tested to make sure it works according to the contract.

After discussion on the matter and finding out the testing cost will be 90 percent reimbursed, the council voted for the test.

Pitkat had said at the last meeting that if the council did not act the incinerator would automatically be tested starting Jan. 15.

OPEN DAILY 9-9 PM, SUNDAYS 11-5

TODAY IT'S MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER TO BUY CLOTHING OF QUALITY.

This is a sale ad. Its purpose is to announce an important savings on clothing for men and women.

Yet it contains no list of merchandise. No list of prices. It's a different kind of sale ad. But then, DeGemmis is a different kind of store.

Instead of a price list, here's what we'd like you to know about a DeGemmis sale:

- All merchandise is from regular stock.
- Quality has not been compromised in any way. DeGemmis buys and sells up to a standard. Not down to a price.
- We shop the markets of the world. Choosing many of our own fabrics and designs. And sort out the world's best values. And pass the savings on to you.
- Additionally, we anticipated inflation and fabric shortages. We made major purchases in advance of rising prices. So that all during the year — when some other stores had to raise prices — we did not. As a result our sale prices and the savings we offer are even greater than they seem. Reductions are real. Savings are substantial. And the value is genuine, because good quality is one of your best hedges against inflation.
- That's why you don't need a shopping list to know it's time again to pay us a visit. "Clothing for Life" is now on sale. Clothing made from classic natural wools, cottons and leathers. Will it last a lifetime? No. But during its long life, you will derive more pleasure from the good looks, good fit and good fabrics than from any other clothing you've ever worn.
- Remember, even during our sale we honor all major credit cards, and there are no additional charges for alterations. Satisfaction with your purchase must be complete. Or the sale is not.
- No wonder DeGemmis' annual winter sale has become a tradition. Because our customers know we offer not only the finest clothing in the world, but the best possible prices as well.
