

Riot Ends At Prison; 32 Killed

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Police, without firing a shot, retook the New Mexico State Penitentiary Sunday and found the bodies of convicts killed by fellow prisoners in 36 hours of reprisals, mutilations, burnings and sexual assaults that left at least 32 dead.

State Police and National Guardsmen searched through the night for more victims in the five burned-out wings and main corridor of the prison, through still-blazing fires, piles of windows and doors and debris from ceilings and walls crumpled by the heat.

Maj. Charles Anaya of the State Police said early today 32 bodies had been found, but that officers were being kept out of the two major unsearched areas until all fires are out.

"The inmates that we've talked to said there are more bodies in there," Anaya said. "It could be later today, this afternoon, or possibly as late as tomorrow" before the search resumes.

He also said prison records were burned in the takeover, making it difficult to arrive at a death count without a physical search of the prison.

State Corrections Secretary Felix Rodriguez said the final count of bodies would be announced today. State Rep. Fred Mondragon, who toured the prison, said he expected the death count to exceed 40.

About 800 inmates who did not participate in the riot spent the night in 20-degree temperatures in tents on one corner of the 12-acre prison grounds; the estimated 250 rioters camped on the opposite corner under close watch by National Guard troops.

A threatened strike by prison guards late Sunday was averted when Warden Jerry Griffin pleaded with about 90 of them to return to work and promised to make the inmates involved in the uprising "clean up the mess."

The last five hostages, down from the original 14 seized, were rescued unharmed by police SWAT teams. None of the 250 rebellious inmates was hurt during the final assault.

Corrections officials, police, politicians and an archbishop toured the prison Sunday afternoon and told stories of mutilations, burning and vandalism. Many said the prison appeared beyond repair.

The damage was expected to total between $30 million and $40 million, well above the previously most costly prison riot, in 1973 at the Oklahoma State Prison ($20 million). The bloodiest prison riot in U.S. history was at Attica in upstate New York in 1971, when 43 prisoners and prison employees died.

Inmates, speaking first of the overcrowding that caused the takeover, said the riot started when inmates starting ingesting drugs stolen from the infirmary and sniffing glue taken from the prison shoe factory.

Gov. Bruce King, who had been at the prison since a few hours after the riot began at 2 a.m. Saturday, said the decision to attack was delayed until Sunday because of the belief that negotiations were working.

He said the talks stalemated Sunday morning, and the reports of hysteria, violence, the lack of leadership among the rebels and the continued setting of fires forced the decision to attack.

Riot troops, backed by National Guardsmen, broke through the main barricaded door with a sledge hammer and cutting torch and quickly reclaimed the building. They found bodies in almost every area, many with arms, legs and heads cut off, and numerous injured or drug-dazed inmates.

"These guys are just staggering out of there, they are so hepped up on drugs and glue," said Bud Richards of the state Corrections Commission.

Convict Robert Mosely, 21, said the rioters forcibly removed him and other inmates from their cellblocks, put black hoods on them and bound each in a fetal position with strips of cloth.

Officials believed the takeover began when two guards making a room check surprised two inmates drinking homemade liquor.

Republicans Narrow List For Vacancy

MANCHESTER — The list narrowed this weekend to two candidates for Carl Zinsner's vacant Board of Directors position.

Out of six names mentioned as possible candidates, the GOP executive board had two definite candidates, Harry Reinhorn, and Pete Sylvester, after a Sunday afternoon meeting.

Both men ran unsuccessfully for positions last November and serve on the Zoning Board of Appeals.

While these are the only definite candidates, two others are considering running for the seat. Clarence (Bud) Brown, and Althea Potter, are interested in seeking the position vacated when Zinsner resigned last week.

But neither is committed to seeking the seat.

Three other possible candidates, Paul Willhide, Vivian Ferguson, and Ida Lindberg, seem to be out of the running.

Willhide, and Mrs. Lindberg told the executive board, according to Elsie Swensson, acting chairwoman, that they were not interested in the job.

Mrs. Ferguson has said she would seek the position if no one else was interested. Mrs. Ferguson resigned from the board last year; Pete DiRosa was appointed in her place.

The old town committee will elect a Zinsner's successor at a Feb. 11 meeting. It will be the last action of this committee before the new members, elected Jan. 22 will be installed.

It was decided the old committee would replace Zinsner, because all the candidates were well-known to the committee members.

Zinsner resigned last week, citing feelings of ineffectiveness and a lack of motivation as reasons for his action.

The two definite candidates said today they had begun gathering support for next week's election.

"I don't know what my chances are, but I'm calling people," Sylvester said. "I'm attempting to phone each member of the old committee."

Reinhorn has organized a group of 10, one person in each district, to help his campaign.

"If I didn't think my chances weren't good I wouldn't be running," Reinhorn said.

Sylvester noted the competition was good for the Republican Party. "It's healthy for the party," he said. "I wouldn't like it if one person ran."

Sylvester said his main emphasis as a board member would be on the town's pension policies.

Reinhorn said he would focus on the budget as a board member.

PTA Budget Unit To Take a Stand

MANCHESTER — The PTA Council Budget Study Committee will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Robertson School gym at 45 N. School St. to make their recommendations on the 1980-81 school budget.

James Morancey, council president, said today he expects the committee to be supportive of the superintendent's budget, which represents an 8.5 percent increase over last year's budget.

Morancey said he also expects the committee to criticize the general manager's budget guidelines, which call for holding increases to 6 percent of the 1979-80 figures.

"We don't have any fat," Morancey said of the budget. He said the 6 percent guidelines don't allow for mandated salary increases or the effects of inflation.

Morancey referred to the 9 percent salary increases for teachers, which was the result of the state mandated arbitration procedure. Under the law, the town must comply with the decision of the outside arbitrator.

Under the superintendent's proposed budget, there are no program improvements. In a message to the Board of Education, the superintendent traced the increase to, "spectacularly increased energy costs."

According to Mrs. Amy Burns, co-chairperson of the budget study committee, an executive session of the committee will commence at 7:30 at the school. She said a vote would be taken and a written statement released at 8 p.m. She said she would have no comment on the committee's recommendations until that time.

Robert Weiss, general manager, said today he would give particular attention to the PTA committee's recommendations. "Naturally, I listen to anybody and give credence to comments from such a responsible source. But I haven't seen the budget, so I can't evaluate it," Weiss said.

Kennedy's budget was originally $17,570,908. The arbitration award added $200,000 to this figure, making the total figure $17,770,908.

New England Survey

Prices High Everywhere

BOSTON (UPI) — Food, energy and housing costs eat up a huge chunk of every family's budget.

The first monthly UPI New England survey of prices of grocery items, energy costs and loan rates reinforces the fact that it's not easy to make ends meet anywhere in the region.

UPI bureaus in Boston; Springfield, Mass.; Hartford, Conn.; Providence, R.I.; Augusta, Maine; Concord, N.H., and Montpelier, Vt. will go on limited price shopping trips each month to determine where the consumer's dollar is going.

Spot price checks of other consumer goods and services will also be made in coming months.

This month's supermarket check includes one-half gallon of milk, a dozen eggs, a 20-ounce loaf of bread, 5 pounds of potatoes, a 2 pound box of rice, a 15-ounce box of Cheerios, a pound of ground beef, a pound of sirloin steak, a pound of chicken, a pound of haddock, a 12-ounce can of whole kernel corn, 5 pounds of oranges and a 29-ounce can of cling peach halves.

The check showed the 13 items cost anywhere from $14.03 at a Providence, R.I., supermarket to $16.59 at a Concord, N.H., store. The same goods cost $16.48 in Boston, $16.15 in Springfield, $15.37 in Hartford, $15.76 in Augusta and $15.69 in Montpelier.

The cost of a half gallon of milk was most expensive — $1.09 — at the Boston store checked, while it sold for 90 cents in Concord, N.H.

The price of a dozen eggs ranged from 77 cents in Augusta, Maine, to 95 cents in Boston, Springfield and Hartford.

Bread prices ranged very close in all cities — 79-83 cents a loaf, except the Montpelier store checked sold the loaf for 49 cents.

Five pounds of potatoes cost the most at the Boston store — $1.09. They sold for 79 cents in Springfield and Hartford, and 69 cents in the four other cities checked.

The cost of a 2-pound box of Uncle Ben's Converted Rice ranged from a low of $1.09 in Augusta and Concord to $1.49 in Boston and Montpelier.

The price of a box of Cheerios varied 30 cents — from 99 cents in Hartford to $1.29 in Boston.

Ground beef prices ranged from a low of $1.39 per pound (sale) at the Providence store to $1.98 at the Augusta market checked.

Ironically, the same $1.98 would buy you a pound of sirloin steak at the Augusta store, while the same choice meal cost you $2.99 a pound in Boston, Springfield and Hartford.

A pound of chicken ranged in price from a low of 55 cents per pound in Hartford to 89 cents in Boston.

The price of haddock fillets was all over the board — ranging from $1.69 per pound in Hartford to $3.29 in Augusta.

A can of corn was cheapest at 30 cents in Springfield, Hartford and Providence, while it cost 37 cents in Montpelier.

Five pounds of oranges could be bought for as little as $1 at the Boston store, while it took $1.67 of your budget in Concord.

The 29-ounce can of peaches ranged from 75 cents in Springfield and Hartford to 83 cents in Boston and Montpelier.

Energy costs, the price of gasoline and home heating oil, have virtually doubled since a year ago. It's not unusual any more to shell out $20 or more for a fill-up at the neighborhood service station.

The latest figures compiled by the American Automobile Association show the average price of a gallon of regular gasoline in New England at $1.07.2, but the AAA's last survey was Jan. 10. Since that time gas prices have climbed another 6-8 cents per gallon.

A spokesman for the Bay State Gasoline Retailers Association said an increase of 10.7 cents per gallon at the wholesale level in the past month is the biggest one-month increase anyone can ever recall.

As for home heating oil, the New England price of that precious commodity inches closer to $1 a gallon in New England.

The latest data from state energy offices in the region shows the average price of a gallon of heating oil ranging from 92.2 cents per gallon in Connecticut to 95.6 in Vermont.

On the credit front, a spot check of banks in the seven New England cities surveyed by UPI showed mortgage interest rates in the 13 to 13½ percent range — with a low of 12½ percent found in Concord, N.H.

In Connecticut, the state Banking Commission said half its banks are requiring at least 25 percent down on home mortgages.

The rate for auto loans ranged from a low of 11 percent in Springfield to a high of 14½ percent in Providence.

Update

Leaves Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — U.S. national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski today left Pakistan for Saudi Arabia without announcing completion of an aid agreement for the neighbor to Soviet-occupied Afghanistan. His departure came amid growing signs that Afghan President Babrak Karmal, installed in the Dec. 27 Soviet invasion, soon may be ousted.

Brzezinski told reporters at the airport the United States was taking steps to enhance "our ability to strengthen the security of our friends in this part of the world."

Brzezinski and his delegation, which included Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, took off from Islamabad in a special plane at midnight EST.

No Interference

AYATOLLAH Ruhollah Khomeini today sharply rejected interference in Iran's affairs by either the United States or the Soviet Union, but in an apparent softening of his stand on the American hostages, diplomatic sources said the Islamic leader would meet with Iran's new president to discuss a U.N. plan for the captives' release.

In a message read by his son Ahmad to tens of thousands of Iranians gathered at Tehran's Beheshti cemetery, Khomeini urged his followers to "cut off the hands of the superpowers of the East and West."

The Islamic leader did not mention Afghanistan by name, but condemned the Soviet invasion of Iran's eastern neighbor by denouncing imperialist interference in independent countries.

Mission by Ali

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali says if he finds that he is being "used," he will break off his diplomatic mission to convince African countries to boycott the Moscow Olympics.

Guerrilla Attack

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Guerrillas using small arms and rockets attacked a civilian bus, killing 13 black civilians and wounding 24 others in the worst violence since Rhodesia's cease-fire began a month ago.

The attack, about 85 miles southeast of the capital along the Salisbury-Umtali road, was the second such assault Sunday. A terrorist hired a grenade into a bus filled with supporters of former Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa near Gutu, southeast of Salisbury, killing one woman and wounding three people.

The sources, quoted by Western press reports, said Khomeini and the newly elected Abolhasan Bani-Sadr would meet within the next few days to go over U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's suggestions for freeing the 52 hostages held for 92 days in the American Embassy.

Teacher Strike

CHICAGO (UPI) — More than 20,000 teachers are on strike against the Chicago School Board to protest the firings of some 1,600 colleagues and a shortened school year.

Public school teachers late Sunday voted overwhelmingly to strike the nation's third largest school system for the first time in 4 1/2 years. The strike has forced the board to close the city's 654 public schools.

Police said Luis Colon, 30, died after he was shot in the neck in an apparent accident by Jose Santiago, 21, at a home near Colt Park Sunday.

Charged in Slaying

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Hartford man was held on $25,000 bond today charged with manslaughter in the accidental shooting death of a companion, police said.

Police said Luis Colon, 30, died after he was shot in the neck in an apparent accident by Jose Santiago, 21, at a home near Colt Park Sunday.

Heroin Traffic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peter Bensinger, chief of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, says the heroin flow to the United States from the "Golden Crescent" of Iran, Afghanistan and Pakistan has increased alarmingly in recent months.

The three countries are said to grow more opium than any other area of the world — enough, according to estimates, to produce more than $5,000 tons of heroin a year.

Police said Luis Colon, 30, died after he was shot in the neck in an apparent accident by Jose Santiago, 21, at a home near Colt Park Sunday.

Indy is Safer

Maybe divorce lawyer Marvin Mitchelson is just tired of being typecast. His latest case has nothing to do with matrimony.

His new client is Indianapolis 500 contender Salt Walthers who got his $140,000 Lamborghini tangled up with four other vehicles last week in Los Angeles. Police accuse him of leaving the scene — and of carrying cocaine in his car.

Mitchelson says somebody planted the dope, and that Walthers drove away from the crash scene — at 55 mph because he was dazed. He'll ask the district attorney not to press charges at Walthers' arraignment Feb. 8.

An arresting officer backs up the "dazed" theory — says Walthers, who suffered a concussion, "ate the windshield."

Lost Youth Didn't Panic And Dog Kept Him Warm

THOMPSON (UPI) — Christopher Labonte, 3, survived below-freezing temperatures for more than 17 hours because he didn't panic and his pet beagle remained at his side and refused to let him sleep, the boy's father says.

Christopher wandered from his yard Monday afternoon and was found frostbitten and frightened Tuesday morning in Burrillville, R.I., about six miles from his home.

He was released from Fogarty Memorial Hospital in North Smithfield, R.I., over the weekend.

Christopher's father, Edward, said the boy was generally in good health, but had some blisters where his toes were frostbitten.

Labonte said he thinks the child survived despite temperatures in the teens because he didn't panic and because his black and white beagle Mitzi apparently remained at his side and refused to let him sleep.

He and his wife Joann said they wanted to thank the hundreds of volunteers who helped search for their only son as well as the Army National Guard and Rhode Island and Connecticut State Police, which led the search efforts.

"We can never thank them enough," Mrs. Labonte said.

Labonte said he visited with the Campbell family to offer his condolences.

An artist's view of the proposed Cheney Mill redevelopment. The plan would involve conversion of the mill area to residential, corporate and commercial use.

Judge Discusses Impact Of Cheney District Plan

By MARTIN KEARNS
MANCHESTER — Redevelopment plans being considered by the Cheney Historic Commission propose the conversion of the silk mill area, roughly the size of the J.C. Penny distribution center, to residential, corporate and commercial use.

Judge William Fitzgerald, vice-chairman of the commission, discussed the proposal with The Herald, and its impact on this town. (This is the first of a series of articles.)

Why preserve the Cheney Mills?
For two reasons, first, it is the only mill complex in the country that is substantially intact and basically in good condition. The mills, mansion area and worker housing appear to have decayed and neglected and progress geographically. This affects the housing area around the mills and the mansion owners' desire to live in the area. The entire district is at a critical economic point, more serious than people realize. The Main Street area is affected. Either it is revitalized now or it will turn to decay. Main Street and Cheney Mill redevelopment are directly connected.

We may reach the point where the mansions are sold and broken up, when the laws are torn up.

Are there any plans for coordination on how the two committees can work together for the good of the area.

How might redevelopment positively impact Manchester? Revitalization of the mills would bring in additional taxes. The effects of redevelopment of a 1.3-million square-foot area would be substantial. It would produce a good tax base. Conversion of under-utilized industrial space to condominiums would mean high-income owners with more taxes and more money.

What about Cheney Hall? Cheney Hall is a different proposition and I see nothing wrong in accepting federal, state and town funds to preserve it. It is not commercially feasible to restore it. But in so doing we would be restoring Manchester's most valuable historic monument. I do not believe we would be compromising Manchester's principles by accepting a grant for this specific purpose. Such a grant would be from the Department of the Interior and it won't happen with the HUD issue still up in the air. I suggest that it would be in our best interests to settle our problems with HUD.

What would be the town's role? Government must do certain things. It must provide roads, lighting and improve the aesthetic appearance of the government land running through the area. It must solve the traffic problems with public funds to improve the streets.

This is different from asking for government funds to improve private property. We are hoping private enterprise will restore the mills and that the town will restore the public facilities and the appropriate utilities. Roads are an investment in any area.

Debate over the redevelopment of the Cheney Mill district cuts across those issues shaping the image of this town as it enters the decade of the 80s. Its resolution is certain to have lasting impact.

Budget Message To Face Solons

HARTFORD (UPI) — The 1980 Legislature will convene Wednesday and one of the first items of business will be Gov. Ella Grasso's budget message.

Mrs. Grasso is expected to present a package for the fiscal year beginning July 1 which calls for roughly $2.85 billion in spending — and the state has estimated it will need an extra $120 million in revenues to break even.

The budget for the current fiscal year which ends June 30 is $2.4 billion.

The Legislature's Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee has already come up with a variety of new and increased taxes — including which would increase the 7 percent sales tax.

Lodge Elects Officers

They are Lucille Goldman, noble grand; Gertrude Tinklepugh, vice grand; Elaine Lancaster, recording secretary; Virginia Keeney, financial secretary; Ruth Beckwith, treasurer; Carrie Finch, warden; Elsie White, conductor; Ethel Aspwall, chaplain; Mary Nichols, inside guard; Marion Straughan, right supporter to the noble grand; Thora Maloney, right supporter to the vice grand.

Three Held in Town Man's Death

HARTFORD (UPI) — Two brothers and a third man face murder and robbery charges today in the Dec. 27 shooting death of a Manchester man in Elizabeth Park.

Police said one of the brothers charged in the slaying and a third brother also were being held for the robbery of a bakery Saturday, in which employees' clothes were burned after they were ordered to disrobe.

Police said Daniel Estremera, 19, his 18-year-old brother, Wilfredo, and Antonio Nieves, 22, all of Hartford, each were charged Sunday with felony murder and first-degree robbery in the death of Philip Ashline, 28, who was shot twice in the chest and once in the leg during a robbery attempt.

Ashline and two friends had been drinking in the west end park on the night of Dec. 27 when three men approached them and demanded money. The three friends chased the other three and Ashline was fatally shot, police said.

Daniel Estremera was being held on a $15,000 bond. Wilfredo Estremera on $250,000 and Nieves on $100,000 and were scheduled to be arraigned today in Superior Court. Police said Daniel Estremera was charged with the slaying after he and a third brother, Hector, 20, were arrested for allegedly robbing the Moon Bakery on Wethersfield Avenue early Saturday.

Daniel also was arrested for the beating of an elderly couple later that day. Hector was held on $100,000 bond and was to be in court today.

Bakery owner Tony Ficaro told police two men wearing masks and carrying shotguns forced six employees, who were making bread after the shop closed, to disrobe, then burned their clothes.

The two men ordered Ficaro to open a safe and demanded the employees' wallets. They took more than $1,000 in cash, plus between $5,000 and $6,000 in checks, police said. The money was later found near Colt Park.

The two fired on a patrolman about to stop them for driving without lights. Hector Estremera surrendered to Patrolman James Swart after the officer returned fire, but police said Daniel Estremera fled on foot.

Police said Daniel Estremera later allegedly broke into an elderly couple's house, held them hostage for an hour and beat them.

The couple, who police declined to identify, were treated at Hartford Hospital. Estremera was arrested after he was found hiding in a vacant lot, police said.

Both Daniel and Hector Estremera were charged with attempted murder and second-degree larceny. In addition, Daniel was charged with first-degree robbery, two counts of first-degree assault and unlawful restraint. An additional charge of first-degree larceny was brought against Hector.

Authorities disagree on where the ancient Romans got their names, but one of them, Juno, our month of June. Perhaps from Juno, queen of their gods, possibly from Juno (youth), to whom the month was dedicated as May was to maisters, the elders.

Sit-In Followup Slated at UConn

STORRS (UPI) — A University of Connecticut student leader says students plan to follow up on their "study-in" to protest a cutback in weekend hours at the library.

More than 400 students stayed in the library almost four hours after the 6 p.m. closing Friday. Many wrote their legislators urging them to oppose the school's decision to close the facility at 6 p.m. Friday and all day Saturday.

One group from the New London dormitory wore dunce caps, which they said demonstrated how the reduced hours affected their education.

We thought the students should get on the record in some way of being opposed to the budget cuts. Cutting back the library hours was the final straw," said Craig Minor of the Federation of Student Service Organizations.

He said they regarded the turnout and the study in a "success."

"We will definitely follow up on

Pupil Enrollment Declining in State

HARTFORD (UPI) — There are now only 15 students for every teacher in Connecticut public schools — a 22 percent drop in the past decade, a study by a tax watchdog group shows.

The Connecticut Public Expenditure Council also said the 572,669 students in public schools last year continues a nine-year decline. The number of teachers it takes to educate them, however, has reached a record 37,340.

The number of physically and mentally handicapped and maladjusted pupils in special education increased from 8,298 in 1971-72 to 13,553 in the last school year.

The CPEC said many studies indicate that except in special education programs, class size has virtually no impact on pupil achievement.

The pupil-ratio has dropped because more teachers are spending more time on individual or special education programs; more time is allowed for non-classroom activities and because of the concerted effort to bring about smaller class sizes.

Budget Message To Face Solons

HARTFORD (UPI) — The 1980 Legislature will convene Wednesday and one of the first items of business will be Gov. Ella Grasso's budget message.

Mrs. Grasso is expected to present a package for the fiscal year beginning July 1 which calls for roughly $2.85 billion in spending — and the state has estimated it will need an extra $120 million in revenues to break even.

The budget for the current fiscal year which ends June 30 is $2.4 billion.

The Legislature's Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee has already come up with a variety of new and increased taxes — including which would increase the 7 percent sales tax.

Editorial Public Condo Units Needed

With announcements in recent months that former apartment buildings are being converted to condominium ownership it might be time for those responsible for low and moderate income housing to rethink their approach.

Funds for future construction of housing authority complexes are apt to be very limited.

But if public funds to help low income persons were invested as some buildings become available it could be a benefit.

As apartment complexes become available for condominium purchases there has been much concern expressed by those interested in housing for the elderly and other low and moderate income persons.

With a little imagination on the part of these government programs, what could be nothing but sour lemons could quickly be turned into lemonade.

If public housing agencies purchased a number of units in buildings opening to condominium ownership several positive results would appear.

For elderly residents of some of these apartment buildings, the prospect of moving is frightening. If units occupied by the elderly could be purchased as housing funds become available, the elderly could stay and live out their years in familiar surroundings.

A person over 70 years old is likely to face the prospect of a move with trepidation.

A forced move to an unfamiliar environment would be accompanied by anxiety and frustrations these persons should not be forced to endure.

The units could be owned by housing authorities to administer as they would a public housing complex.

The result would be a mix of public and private housing within the same building that would provide a stable environment for the residents.

It is likely the cost to acquire such units would be far less than new construction. This would save taxpayer money and extend the limited resources to the broadest advantage.

We hope the panic mentality many have had concerning condominium conversion will soon end and housing officials will begin to use an imaginative approach toward public housing.

The condominium consideration would be an example of public and private sector cooperation too rare today.

Rather than taking land and buildings from the tax rolls, payments in lieu of taxes by public housing agencies could be made, meaning even the public housing units within a privately owned complete condominium would be contributing to the overall support of services required for tenants of the public held units.

Granted the approach may be unusual and there could be some legislative hurdles to overcome, but such an approach to public housing would be creative, constructive and imaginative.

We hope such proposals are given full consideration and, if found to be feasible, are enacted.

MACC News Developments of 1979 Highlight Annual Meeting

By NANCY CARR
Executive Director

Friday night was the MACC Annual Meeting. Annual Meetings are, in a sense, like family reunions. Volunteers who operate the Clothing Bank meet friends who staff the Emergency Pantry who find themselves sitting beside the woman who ran the MACC movies this summer who is sitting across from a volunteer to convalescent homes and on and on. Representatives from the 14 churches which form MACC review the accomplishments of the past year, take a quick look at what 1980 could bring and vote in the core budget that will provide the seed money for those hopes and dreams.

Some of the new developments of 1979 were highlighted:

- The MACC Department of Human Needs were accepted into the United Way, the first new agency to be accepted into membership in over eight years.
- The Town of Manchester released funding for five CETA positions to MACC, enabling us to research the needs of the frail and semi-independent elderly in Manchester, run a pilot "farmer's market" downtown, begin looking at ways to establish a food co-op, assist Laotian refugees, develop a functional furniture bank to be operated by volunteers, develop job sites and housing for hard-to-place persons returning from jail or mental health treatment.
- Project Genesis, our proposed program to help mental health patients from Manchester successfully put their lives back together, was funded by the Department of Mental Health.
- Generous contributions to and increased church participation in this year's Seasonal Sharing Appeal made this the best Thanksgiving and Christmas ever. In spite of fewer real dollars in people's pockets, swelling contributions from a concerned community kept pace with the increasing need of some of our people for help with their food and fuel bills.

In fact our success together in meeting human needs almost became our downfall, as we struggled with the problem of how to provide a sound administrative support base for such extensive service programs. The development of an accountable

Conversations With Bani-Sadr

By LEE RODERICK

WASHINGTON — The election of Abol Hassan Bani-Sadr as the first president in Iran's 2,500-year history should be a good omen for the United States.

During our visit to Tehran last year, Rep. George Hansen, R-Iowa, and I had three long, searching private discussions with Bani-Sadr in an attempt to find a solution to the hostage crisis.

The diminutive 47-year-old economist — who was Foreign Minister as well as Finance Minister at that time — expressed a deep desire to end the crisis and restore U.S.-Iran relations.

Bani-Sadr speaks fluent French but almost no English. He gained popularity both through being personally close to Ayatollah Khomeini — who will still wield most of the power in Iran — as well as leading the move to nationalize banks and other industries after the shah's downfall.

He is outspoken against U.S. policies, a prerequisite for any holder of high office today in Iran, but more recently has strongly criticized Russia's invasion of Afghanistan.

And he has consistently opposed the seizure of the American hostages and sought ways to secure their release. For his efforts, militants at the U.S. Embassy succeeded in getting Bani-Sadr fired as Foreign Minister on the very day Hansen and I left Iran.

Our first meeting with Bani-Sadr, held in a small spartan reception room in the building that used to house the government senate, came one evening as the ruling 15-member Revolutionary Council was in session down the hall.

Hansen suggested, through a French interpreter, that the U.S. Congress might be willing to hold hearings on relations between the two countries and charges against the shah if Iran softened its position on the hostages.

Following the meeting he arranged for us to visit the three Americans held in "protective custody" at the Foreign Ministry. We were the first Americans to do so, meeting privately with Charge d'affaires Bruce Laingen, political officer Victor Tomseth, and security officer Michael Howland.

Two days later there was still no word on visiting the 50 Americans held hostage at the embassy, so Hansen and I went to see Bani-Sadr at his office in the Foreign Ministry.

"I have made all efforts to pave the way, but the students have been trying to keep the case intact," Bani-Sadr explained. "I have referred it to Imam (Khomeini) and Imam has accepted your case. I'm hopeful to get the clearance from the students."

It was then that Hansen pulled the final ace out of his sleeve. "If you can arrange for me to take several hostages back to America, I would be willing to sign a statement on my honor that if I could not get congressional hearings going to begin an investigation of the shah's actions, I will return within a prescribed time — one week or two weeks — and offer myself as a hostage in their place."

"I do this because I have confidence in my country and feel your confidence will be justified. If it isn't, then I suppose I deserve to be where the hostages are."

Bani-Sadr called Hansen's proposal "extremely human" and said "I will try to obtain satisfaction."

"He added that 'I hope you have discovered that there is no hate toward your people here. Last Friday I made a public speech and said there is no hate toward the American people.' He asked Hansen to try to do something 'to cool down public opinion in the United States' and promised that 'we are going to do the same here, make public opinion better toward America.'"

At 11:40 that evening Bani-Sadr's office called Hansen at his hotel. Both Khomeini and the students had

Thoughts

Our president's recent "State of the Union" address, delivered on the eve of Jan. 23rd, was a vivid reminder that all is not well in the world. Perhaps we did not need that reminder, maybe we did! But I would like to remind us today that God's Word says, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My words shall not pass away." Matthew 24:35

Obviously, the Bible as a book can be destroyed, but its truths can never be eradicated. Someone emphasized the enduring character of the Scriptures in these words: "Century follows century — there it stands. Empires rise and fall and are forgotten — there it stands. Storms of hate swirl about it — there it stands. Higher critics deny its claim to inspiration — there it stands. Infidels predict its abandonment — there it stands. Modernism tries to explain it away — but there it still stands!"

"I'm hopeful of getting the case resolved this afternoon," he reported. "As for the hostages, I don't have the power to say what the students will do. But I will establish contact with the students and try to get you in to see the hostages."

Bani-Sadr added flatly that, "I agree with what you are saying. If Congress opens inquiries, it will ease up the situation for the hostages."

Bani-Sadr, already under fire for being too conciliatory on the hostage issue, cautioned that Hansen "should not present this as an agreement between Iran and the United States. If it is said negotiations have taken place tonight, it will be considered a provocation and not in the interest of peace."

As a demonstration of good faith,

Is the FBI Harassing Critics With Smear Charges?

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The FBI has had an ugly habit of smearing its critics with unfounded sex rumors. In its campaign of harassment, the bureau has spread unsubstantiated rumors about the supposed sexual peccadilloes of a powerful congressman, a dedicated congressional staff aide, a respected newspaper publisher and a persistent union official.

My office has obtained dramatic new evidence in the celebrated Karen Silkwood case, which inspired "The China Syndrome" movie. Silkwood was the 28-year-old lab technician who was killed in a mysterious car crash in 1974, while she was on her way to give a reporter documentary evidence of lax safety regulations at the Kerr-McGee plutonium plant in Oklahoma.

There was considerable evidence that her car was run off the road and the incriminating evidence stolen. But the FBI declared there was no foul play involved. Last May, a federal jury awarded her estate $10.5 million in damages after finding that she had been subjected to excessive radiation at the plant.

Sources here revealed to my associate Gary Cohn an insidious pattern of FBI harassment directed against those who have been critical of the agency's role in the Silkwood case.

— Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., conducted an investigation into the case in 1976 — a probe that was extremely embarrassing to the FBI. During the hearings, a news story appeared about a prostitute with Mafia connections who supposedly kept a list of her clients stashed in a shoe box. The Detroit story claimed Dingell's name was on her list. Dingell denied the unsubstantiated accusation. Competent sources told us the FBI leaked the spurious charge.

— Peter Stockton conducted the Silkwood investigation for Dingell's Small Business subcommittee. In the course of their digging, Dingell and Stockton learned that Jacques (cq) Srouji, a copy editor at the Nashville Tennessean, had gained access to FBI documents in the case that had been denied to the subcommittee.

They further discovered that Srouji was an FBI informant, and had been used by the bureau in a case involved a Soviet diplomat.

Disclosure of this brought criticism of the FBI from the Justice Department, Congress and the press. The bureau evidently put Stockton on its enemies list, and in 1977 found a way to strike back at him.

Compelled to release certain internal documents for use in the Silkwood lawsuit, the FBI, as required by the Privacy Act, delinquately deleted the names of third parties not involved in the suit — all except Stockton's.

In the transcript of an FBI interview with Kerr-McGee's security chief James Reading, reference was made to his contacts with Stockton, who was working for National Public Radio at the time, and another reporter. The second reporter's name was deleted. Stockton's was not.

After noting Stockton's two attempts to interview Reading, the transcript stated, "Again he declined to talk with the reporters, but he did learn from certain of his sources that they didn't accomplish too much because Stockton spent most of his time visiting local prostitutes and not working."

— John Seigenthaler, publisher of the Tennessean, responded to the disclosure that Srouji was an FBI informant by firing her on May 5, 1976. The next day, the FBI in Memphis

Winter Not a Deterrent To Anti-Draft Forces

By United Press International — Despite bitter winds and icy temperatures protesters throughout New England peacefully gathered over the weekend to display their opposition to a possible revival of the military draft.

The small of burning draft cards drifted in the icy winds Saturday as demonstrators crowded Boston City Hall Plaza.

In western Massachusetts students marched from the University of Massachusetts campus center to the Amherst town common.

In Middletown, Connecticut anti-war groups and selective service met Sunday night for a forum at Wesleyan College.

And in northern New England Bates College students planned protests at the Maine caucuses next week while Vermont anti-war demonstrators gathered in Montpelier and Burlington.

For the first time ever the politicians are actually contemplating the end of the human race," keynote speaker Helen Caldicott told the crowd estimated at 1,000 to 2,500 scattered across the sprawling plaza in Boston's Government Center.

"For the first time the Pentagon is saying it will use nuclear weapons to defend the Persian Gulf," the pediatrician and anti-nuclear activist said, making this "the most serious occasion that the human race has ever faced."

Police Capt. Richard Leary said the 2 1/2 hour demonstration was peaceful although police cruisers and motorcycles were positioned at the perimeter of the four-block square, brick-lined plaza as a precaution.

"If it was summer, we'd have filled the whole plaza," Richard Nagel, a spokesman for the Boston Alliance Against Registration and the Draft, said.

At one point, protesters gathered a half dozen draft cards left over from the Vietnam era and burned them from the speakers' platform as the crowd chanted "Hell no, we won't go, we won't go for Texaco."

In Amherst, Mass., some 600 college students responded with cheers Saturday to calls for increased protest against proposed draft registration and an end to the arms race.

The students marched from the UMass campus to the town common for the rally loosely organized last week of the union address in which he announced plans to reinstate draft registration.

About 75 persons turned out for a similar march through Montpelier Saturday.

Protesters said they think a return to the draft would increase the possibility of world war.

"Basically, if we were involved in a nuclear war with the Soviet Union, it would be the end of the world," said Burlington protester Lydia Snow.

The Burlington march was organized by the city's Peace Coalition and Committee Against War With Iran.

We've trimmed our operating expenses. Now we'd like to help you trim yours.

To combat our rising operating costs, Northeast Utilities has been implementing important economy-minded measures. In that spirit, we have developed a program to help our customers reduce their energy costs. This broad energy conservation program is called the National Energy Watch (N.E.W.). Here is what it means to you.

Your personal energy audit.

To help you save energy and money, Northeast Utilities is making available to its customers an energy audit questionnaire. This form asks detailed energy-related questions concerning everything from your appliances to your heating and cooling expenses. Your questionnaire will be analyzed free by our energy specialists. You will then receive a personalized energy audit of your home.

Tailored energy action program.

This N.E.W. energy audit will offer conservation suggestions applying specifically to your home. It will pinpoint energy-saving improvements that can be made in areas such as insulation, storm windows and doors, caulking and weather stripping, and controlled water heating. In addition, we will estimate improvement costs and the expected savings to you.

Improving the value of your home.

When you take advantage of this service offered by Northeast Utilities, your home will become a more valuable asset because you've made it more energy efficient. And as proof of your efforts, Northeast Utilities will issue an energy efficient home certificate if your home meets N.E.W. standards. ### Dental Health Week

February 3-9 is the 32nd annual National Children's Dental Health Week. As part of the observance, the Manchester Evening Herald, in cooperation with the Manchester Dental Society, today begins a series of six articles on facts you should know about dental health.

Generally speaking, on your first visit the dentist will probably take a series of X-rays of all your teeth. From then on, his/her professional judgment will determine the frequency and extent of subsequent X-ray examinations. The dentist and staff are very careful, however, to prevent unnecessary radiation. They are thoroughly trained to use techniques and equipment that will give the most diagnostic information with the least amount of exposure.

New Vogue in Alimony: Cost-of-Living Clause

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Armed with government inflation reports, many divorced women are marching back into court seeking cost-of-living increases in their monthly alimony payments.

Attorney Marvin Mitchell, the California lawyer who won fame in the Marvin pallymony case, said in an interview that family court judges tend to be sympathetic to such requests for modifying divorce settlements.

"Every time I go into court, a judge says, 'I sympathize,'" Mitchell said. "Most judges are very oriented to the increase in daily and monthly basic necessities."

Cops Get Third Report Of Indecent Exposure

MANCHESTER — Police today reported the third case of indecent exposure since a week. Detective Capt. Joseph Brooks said two female Manchester High School students reported the incident last Thursday. The girls said they saw him at the rear of the school near the tennis courts during school hours, Brooks said. According to Brooks, the two teens said they heard someone coughing, turned around and saw a six-foot-tall white male, dressed in what appeared to be grey or blue work clothes, exposing himself. A better description was not obtained, Brooks said, because the teens were at a distance from the suspect and they immediately fled the area when he exposed himself. Other cases of exposures, with equally sketchy details, were reported on Adams Street and at Spruce and Eldridge intersection last week. All incidents are under investigation.

4-Day Week Is Extended

MANCHESTER — The four-day work week of the town's water and sewer workers has been extended for a third time. This extension will be for another three months. Last August the town officials during the four week in an energy conservation effort. Town officials said the effort is successful and productivity has increased and energy consumption decreased. The work week has not been permanently installed because both the union and the town wish to monitor the change.

Recommendation Due For Adult Education

MANCHESTER — Area residents have been meeting since autumn to decide whether Manchester's adults could use a continuing education program. Preliminary returns show 400 respondents are interested in such a program, while 17 have said they would not be interested. In addition to this method of distributing the survey, forms were enclosed with brochures for the Manchester Adult Education Program. The committee studying the results represents a cross-section of programs serving adults. The League of Women Voters, the Manchester Area Conference of Churches, the town recreation department, the PTA Council, and the Manchester Arts Council are all represented. According to Dean James Tatno, a committee member and head of MCC's community services division, the committee is primarily concerned with offering individual courses, as opposed to a degree program, or most of the courses for several graduate level programs on the MCC campus.

Field Vandalized

MANCHESTER — Police Saturday reported that the James Leber Field on Love Lane had been vandalized and a five-foot-high chain link fence had been pulled down at the rear of the field. The damage was estimated at $2,000, police said. Broken beer bottles were found, police said, and a vehicle drove onto the field, digging up the grass. Police also said a wall to the concession booth had been damaged. The incident is under investigation.

Scandal Probe Growing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal prosecutors are expected to begin presenting evidence soon to grand juries in four cities on a still-growing public corruption scandal in which eight members of Congress and more than 20 other public officials are under investigation, well-informed sources say. The sources said some phases of the two-year investigation have not been completed and the money involved, nearly $700,000, is still being accounted, suggesting others may be implicated in the biggest corruption probe since Watergate.

Indictments are not expected to be sought during February because of the investigative work still to be done, one source said. In the meantime, authorities will begin providing evidence to grand juries in New York, Washington, Newark and Philadelphia. One senator and seven members of the House of Representatives were identified as targets of the FBI investigation in which public officials were observed or photographed accepting bribes, often in $50,000 amounts.

Sources said the congressmen were "very business like at meetings where money changing hands, some put the cash in their pockets, some in briefcases and some in paper bags."

Among those under investigation are Sen. Harrison Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Reps. John Jenrette Jr., D-S.C., Richard Kelly, R-Fla., John Murtha, D-N.Y., Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., and three Pennsylvania Democrats, Raymond Lederer, Michael Myers and John Murtha.

Rest Homes Ban Visitors

MANCHESTER — Effective immediately, due to the high incidence of flu-like symptoms, no visitors will be allowed at the Crestfield Convalescent Home and the Fenwood Rest Home until further notice. Spokesmen for the Manchester Memorial Hospital and Manchester Manor Inc. said they have not experienced an outbreak of flu symptoms and have not altered visiting hours as of now.

Firemen Douse Mattress Blaze

MANCHESTER — A reignited mattress fire early Saturday was extinguished by firemen from the Town Fire Department before any extensive damage was done. Police said Kenneth D. Reighard, 51, of 801 Main St., Apt. 106, had fallen asleep while smoking in bed and awoke to the smell of smoke. He put out the blaze with his fire extinguisher, went back to sleep and the fire reignited. The apartment and the first floor hallway were filled with smoke when two fire trucks and a rescue truck responded at 3:20 a.m. No one was injured, police said, and the room received light smoke damage.

Ladies Aid

MANCHESTER — The Ladies Aid Society of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church will meet Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., in the church. Several new officers will be elected and will be installed by the Rev. Bullets Close to 'Major Trade'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Bullets General Manager Bob Ferry says the team is close to a "major trade," the Washington Post reported today. The struggling Bullets were in the NBA finals last year but currently have a record of 23-29, and if the season ended today would not make the playoffs. "Something is pending," Ferry told the newspaper, adding that if the team makes a trade it will be either today or Tuesday.

WATES To Meet

MANCHESTER — The Manchester WATES will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center and will play cards after the meeting.

Whalers 'Sky High' for Return

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — The Hartford Whalers are going to be "sky high" when they return this week to a rebuilt Hartford Civic Center Coliseum after a 5-3 victory over the New York Islanders, says left wing Jerry Douglas, who fired in four goals. The Sunday night victory marked the Whalers' final appearance at the Springfield Civic Center — their home since the Hartford arena's roof collapsed under tons of ice and snow more than two years ago.

Three Sites Considered For Games

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — A United States Olympic committee official says at least three sites are under consideration for a 1980 National Sports Festival to be held if the United States boycotts the Summer Olympics in Moscow. Baron Pittenger, USOC director of special events, said during the week that he was making plans for the festival should American athletes not attend the Olympics in Moscow. Officials have said it did not seem likely the United States would be sending its 550 top athletes to Moscow in July for the 1980 Summer Games. But if the Soviet Union complies with President Carter's request to pull all Russian combat troops out of Afghanistan by Feb. 20, then the USOC would no doubt get White House approval to send U.S. athletes to Moscow. Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, has stated repeatedly that the Moscow games would go on, "with or without the United States." The USOC has until May 24 to enter its teams in the 1980 Summer Olympics. Pittenger said treasury for the U.S. Olympic team would be held as scheduled across the country in May and June. At the same time, he and his staff assistant, Geraldine Maestas, are planning a 1980 National Sports Festivals. The 1978 and 1979 National Sports Festivals — a first for the USOC — were held in Colorado Springs. The city also is a contender for the 1984 national contest, but as a result of the present crisis facing the USOC, Pittenger said Colorado Springs was considered one of several sites that were just out of the question.

East Icemen In Tourney

Led by Dale Mauro's one-goal, two-assist performance, East Catholic's ice hockey team qualified for the State Tournament with a 5-2 victory over Watertown High Saturday night at Taft Rink. The Eagle icemen stand 8-6-1 for the season with 31 points (unlimited) remaining on the regular slate. Their next outing is Saturday night against Watertown in a non-divisional game. "We played a strong defensive game tonight. Our defense of Kevin Dickenson, Greg Lesco, Byron MacLachlan and Dan O'Brien has been great all year," stated East Coach Bill Mann.

Torch Race Cuts Party

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Alison Carlson's 25th birthday celebration broke up early Sunday. The partygoers had to get up early today to run about 500 miles. Ms. Carlson and 51 others are bearing the Olympic torch, a symbol of brotherhood, from Yorktown, Va., to Lake Placid, N.Y., the site of the 1980 Winter Olympic games beginning Feb. 12. The runners and their caravan, scheduled to leave Princeton early today, planned to make brief stops at South Brunswick, Brie River, Sayreville, South Amboy and Perth Amboy. After carrying the torch over the Outerbridge, Crossing to Staten Island and then over the Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge into Brooklyn, the runners were to go over the Brooklyn Bridge into Manhattan for a noon-time ceremony at City Hall. The torch arrived in Princeton Sunday night — the halfway point of the journey to the Adirondack Mountain resort — and Ms. Carlson carried the flame to Princeton University's Jadwin Gym for a ceremony welcoming the runners.

Defense Fails In MCC Loss

Like a dam which had just broken, Manchester Community College basketball team's defense let just about everything by in the second half as visiting Housatonic Community College erupted for 62 second-half points en route to an 89-76 CCAA decision Saturday night at East Catholic High. The loss ended the Cougars' six-game winning streak and pegs their overall standard at 11-6. MCC's 65-33 league play. The Cougars return to action tonight at East against Middlesex Community College at 8 p.m. Laced had a 19-17 lead after 10 minutes of play and widened it to 42-27 at the intermission. Larry Hayden had 18 points in the opening 20 minutes while Lindsay James and Peter Murphy chipped in with 8 and 7 markers respectively in that span for the Cougars.

"It was just one of those nights," said Douglas, who scored three times in the third period. "We needed the win bad. We're going to be sky high going into Hartford Wednesday. Tonight we went out and forced the Islanders to make mistakes." Officials announced before Sunday's game that the Hartford arena, which has been rebuilt at a cost of $31.5 million, would reopen on Wednesday for the Whalers' game with the Los Angeles Kings. "We worked hard tonight and never let up," said Whalers' Coach Don Blackburn. "Douglas had a hell of a night and we just played great."

Puck Winds Up Short of Goal

Pat Boutette of the Whalers was stopped short of scoring goal due to efforts by Islander defenseman Stefan Persson and goalie Chico Resch. Whalers went on to post 5-3 win in finale at Springfield Sunday night. (UPI Photo)

Bruins Blow Two-Goal Lead

Waterdown neimider John Lynch. It was Mauro's seventh goal of the season. Rob White tallied his seventh of the year at 8:08 as he took a drop pass from LaRaine and drilled his wrist shot off Lynch's neck into the cage. Lynch was removed from the game but the injury didn't prove too serious. His replacement, Don Genealog, got some early work — and couldn't come up with the save — as 33 seconds later Lionel Lessard took a pass from Mauro and drilled his seventh goal of the season into the back of the cage. 3:13 brought Watertown closer but it could make a further dent. Rick Clark with four seconds remaining added an empty net tally for the Cougars. It was his sixth goal of the campaign. East outshot Watertown, 31-29, with Scott Mosher and Scott Howard splitting the duties between the pokes for the Eagles.

St. Bernard Pins Eagles

St. Bernard's wrestling team pinned the Eagles at 5:45 Saturday night at St. Bernard's. The St. Bernardians won their first match of the season, a 15-0 victory over the Eagles. St. Bernard's coach, Bill Walker, said his team was "excited and confident" and "ready to get started." The Eagles' coach, Bill Walker, said his team was "disappointed" but "proud of the effort." The match was held at St. Bernard's gymnasium.

Coliseum Reopening Slated Wednesday

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Hartford, Conn., Mayor George Athanson says the Hartford Civic Center Coliseum will reopen this week — more than two years after its roof collapsed — with public safety being its "first goal." Athanson told a news conference Sunday night the arena had undergone "intensive inspections" and he was "99 percent sure" it would reopen on Wednesday for a Hartford Whalers game with the Los Angeles Kings. "I'd like to say again the first goal is public safety and that goal has been adequately met," the mayor said. He said a temporary certificate of occupancy would be issued for Wednesday's reopening and a permanent certificate would be granted "on or about Feb. 25."

Indians Win Mat Meeting

Getting back on the right track, Manchester High's wrestling team stomped Wethersfield High, 43-18, in CCLC competition Saturday at Clarke Arena. The win improves the Silk Towers' league mark to 3-2 and overall record to 6-4 while the reversal sets the Eagles' fifth in as many CCLC outings. Manchester's next match appearance is Wednesday night at Simsbury High. Mark Albert (10), Mike Griffin (10), Dan Collins (15) and Tony Goritz (12) secured the opening four spots for the Indian grapplers. Albert, with a personal 8-1 mark, secured a 2-0-2 superior decision. Senior co-captain Don Beckman (13) and junior Dan Collins (15) won by local while Joe Smith (18) won by forfeit. Boudreau has won six in a row and sports a personal 8-1 mark. Manchester's javvies also were victorious. third period and JD (Jordy Douglas) got us going," said defenseman Ley. "That's the sign of a good hockey team, one that works together. It helps our confidence when you beat top teams like the Islanders." Gordie Lane gave the Islanders a 1-0 first period lead at 9:19 when he picked up a loose puck in the slot and fired it past Hartford goalie John Garrett. The Whalers pulled even at 16:12 as Douglas wrestled the puck from defenseman Stefan Persson and stuffed a backhand past Islanders' goalie Glenn Resch. Bryan Trotter and Blaine Stoughton exchanged powerplay goals in the second period. Trotter scored for New York at 9:38 when he converted Bossy's rebound and Stoughton connected for Hartford after receiving a feed from Mike Rogers at 16:05. Islanders' Coach Al Armour said he felt optimistic before the opening forecast. "There was every indication that we were going to play a good road game tonight," said Armour. "But we made a couple of mistakes and it was downhill from there on in. We gave away the puck in a crucial situation and you just don't do that," he said, referring to Douglas' winning goal.

Coliseum Reopening Slated Wednesday

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Hartford, Conn., Mayor George Athanson says the Hartford Civic Center Coliseum will reopen this week — more than two years after its roof collapsed — with public safety being its "first goal." Athanson told a news conference Sunday night the arena had undergone "intensive inspections" and he was "99 percent sure" it would reopen on Wednesday for a Hartford Whalers game with the Los Angeles Kings. "I'd like to say again the first goal is public safety and that goal has been adequately met," the mayor said. He said a temporary certificate of occupancy would be issued for Wednesday's reopening and a permanent certificate would be granted "on or about Feb. 25."

East Icemen In Tourney

Led by Dale Mauro's one-goal, two-assist performance, East Catholic's ice hockey team qualified for the State Tournament with a 5-2 victory over Watertown High Saturday night at Taft Rink. The Eagle icemen stand 8-6-1 for the season with 31 points (unlimited) remaining on the regular slate. Their next outing is Saturday night against Watertown in a non-divisional game. "We played a strong defensive game tonight. Our defense of Kevin Dickenson, Greg Lesco, Byron MacLachlan and Dan O'Brien has been great all year," stated East Coach Bill Mann.

Torch Race Cuts Party

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Alison Carlson's 25th birthday celebration broke up early Sunday. The partygoers had to get up early today to run about 500 miles. Ms. Carlson and 51 others are bearing the Olympic torch, a symbol of brotherhood, from Yorktown, Va., to Lake Placid, N.Y., the site of the 1980 Winter Olympic games beginning Feb. 12. The runners and their caravan, scheduled to leave Princeton early today, planned to make brief stops at South Brunswick, Brie River, Sayreville, South Amboy and Perth Amboy. After carrying the torch over the Outerbridge, Crossing to Staten Island and then over the Verrazzano-Narrows Bridge into Brooklyn, the runners were to go over the Brooklyn Bridge into Manhattan for a noon-time ceremony at City Hall. The torch arrived in Princeton Sunday night — the halfway point of the journey to the Adirondack Mountain resort — and Ms. Carlson carried the flame to Princeton University's Jadwin Gym for a ceremony welcoming the runners.

Defense Fails In MCC Loss

Like a dam which had just broken, Manchester Community College basketball team's defense let just about everything by in the second half as visiting Housatonic Community College erupted for 62 second-half points en route to an 89-76 CCAA decision Saturday night at East Catholic High. The loss ended the Cougars' six-game winning streak and pegs their overall standard at 11-6. MCC's 65-33 league play. The Cougars return to action tonight at East against Middlesex Community College at 8 p.m. Laced had a 19-17 lead after 10 minutes of play and widened it to 42-27 at the intermission. Larry Hayden had 18 points in the opening 20 minutes while Lindsay James and Peter Murphy chipped in with 8 and 7 markers respectively in that span for the Cougars.

Bruins Blow Two-Goal Lead

Waterdown neimider John Lynch. It was Mauro's seventh goal of the season. Rob White tallied his seventh of the year at 8:08 as he took a drop pass from LaRaine and drilled his wrist shot off Lynch's neck into the cage. Lynch was removed from the game but the injury didn't prove too serious. His replacement, Don Genealog, got some early work — and couldn't come up with the save — as 33 seconds later Lionel Lessard took a pass from Mauro and drilled his seventh goal of the season into the back of the cage. 3:13 brought Watertown closer but it could make a further dent. Rick Clark with four seconds remaining added an empty net tally for the Cougars. It was his sixth goal of the campaign. East outshot Watertown, 31-29, with Scott Mosher and Scott Howard splitting the duties between the pokes for the Eagles.

St. Bernard Pins Eagles

St. Bernard's wrestling team pinned the Eagles at 5:45 Saturday night at St. Bernard's. The St. Bernardians won their first match of the season, a 15-0 victory over the Eagles. St. Bernard's coach, Bill Walker, said his team was "excited and confident" and "ready to get started." The Eagles' coach, Bill Walker, said his team was "disappointed" but "proud of the effort." The match was held at St. Bernard's gymnasium.

Gold and Jewels Stolen in Hijack

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Police and the FBI have mounted a massive search for two men who hijacked a U.S. Postal Service truck, abducted a female letter carrier and pulled off a "substantial" theft of gold and diamonds.

The thieves, both armed with handguns, posed as postal employees to gain entrance Saturday to the private home office of Clarence J. Ostalkiewicz in an affluent neighborhood on Noto Drive.

The thieves tied up two people and then stole the jewelry. The value of the stolen goods has not been determined, police only confirming the value was "substantial."

Police Sgt. George Bergeron said none of the truck's mail cargo was taken.

The robbery occurred about 12:40 p.m. Saturday. The mail carrier, whose name has not been released, had finished walking a portion of her route and returned to her truck where the two thieves met her.

Police said the men bound her wrists with masking tape, pulled her hat over her face and put her in the back of the mail truck.

Bergeron said the thieves then drove to the Ostalkiewicz home, where one pretended to be a postal worker delivering a package. Once the door was opened, the thief pushed his way in and drew a gun. The second robber followed him, Bergeron said.

The two people inside were bound with tape and then the robbers scooped up only the most valuable jewelry on hand.

Meanwhile, Bergeron said, the letter carrier managed to break loose from her bonds and flagged down a passing vehicle.

While the robbers were inside the house, the letter carrier was driven to a nearby home where she telephoned her office to report the robbery. She then called police, Bergeron said.

"If she had called us first, it might have been a different story," he added.

When police arrived at the house the robbers had fled in the mail truck which was found abandoned in a nearby parking lot.

Police said the robbers apparently had planned the heist from start to finish.

"The definitely knew what they were doing," Bergeron said.

Author Blames Energy Costs On Ownership

By CHARLIE MAYNARD
Herald Reporter

Try to find the triangle of ownership in your state. Then you can understand the high costs of energy.

That's the thrust of David Truskoff's new book, "The Energizing of Power Politics." Truskoff is the president of the Committee for Lower Utility Bills and has been an intervener in several rate hike hearings.

The triangle the author repeatedly mentions is the partnership between politics, media and banks and insurance companies.

Refugee Family Arrives

BOLTON—A Cambodian family of three, sponsored by the Bolton Ecumenical Council, has arrived in town and will be staying with the Greene family on Bolton Center Road until housing and employment is found for them.

The family consists of Sovanneng, the father, 50, the mother and Bora, the daughter, who is nine.

None of the family members speak English. While staying with the Greenes, many local and area people will help the Seng family with their education as well as helping to teach them about health and running a house.

Clothing is needed for each of the family members who are described as being small. Bora takes a child's size 5. Arrangements for the arrival of the family were made by Catholic Charities.

There will be a smorgasbord on Feb. 9 to raise money for the local Cambodian Restetlement Fund. Sitings will be at 5 and 7 p.m.

The Seng family will be at the smorgasbord to meet their new friends. Tickets may be obtained by calling Irene Boles, 646-8533 or any church office. Tickets will not be available at the door.

Money donations are also being accepted. They may be sent to the Bolton Ecumenical Council's Cambodian Restetlement Program in care of St. Maurice Church, Hebron Road.

The Seng family has also been invited to attend the Boy Scout breakfast scheduled for Sunday at 8 a.m. at Bolton Congregational Church. The breakfast is for Scouts and their leaders only.

After the breakfast the scouts will attend services at St. Maurice Church at 9:15 a.m. or Bolton Congregational Church at 9:30 a.m.

dated, Clayton Anti-Trust Act. The author insists that this "improbable triangle" has gotten even stronger and its hold on the media is greater.

Northeast Utilities officials serve as directors on the Hartford Courant and the publishers of both the Waterbury Republican and the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram are directors at Northeast. During a 1974 rate hearing on Northeast, a reporter, whom Truskoff graciously declines to name, covered the story and wrote many articles favorable to the utility.

"What's spending a great deal of time at the PUC (Public Utilities Commission) office," Truskoff writes, "the reporter was feathering his own bed and it came as no surprise to anyone when he was appointed to a position with NEU. In July 1974, after the hearings began, Northeast had all its troops in place."

Long Term Selectman Uprooted by Land Survey

SPRAGUE, Conn. (UPI) — Arthur Bibeault was on this rural town's governing board of selectmen for 20 years — then folks found out he didn't even live here.

Nobody's upset because most people like Arthur. He did a good job. Especially the boys down at the plant, the Amstar Corp., where they make flexible packaging.

Seems he got into a dispute with a neighbor and had his property surveyed to settle it. But the surveyor put the approximate Sprague-Franklin town line to one side of most of Arthur's house.

This boundary leaves Arthur's bathroom and porch in Sprague and the rest of his trim, 5-room house in Franklin. He is living in the house with his wife, Theresa, for the past 21 years.

Manley Answers Manager Charge

COVENTRY — In a letter to the Coventry Town Council, Daniel P. Manley, who was recently replaced as the council's representative to the Windham Regional Planning Agency, takes issue with comments allegedly made by Town Manager Frank Connolly concerning his replacement.

The town manager was quoted as saying that Manley was replaced for "not properly representing the town and representing a personal viewpoint rather than the position of the town."

Manley said, "At no time has any public justification been offered for the charges and until now there has been no opportunity to answer them."

Manley said, in the letter, that he feels the town manager's charges are completely false and utterly without foundation. "The very manner in which the charges were made, namely without substantiation and without an opportunity to answer, clearly demonstrates the lack of justification for those charges," Manley said.

He added, "It also demonstrates both an alarming ethical vacuum as well as the unfortunate lack of any sense of fair play or common decency."

Manley said he doesn't feel that the town manager has any business in trying to change the political complexion of the town in a political upset with me because I asked for a federally funded Environmental Impact Statement so that the Water Pollution Control Authority's proposed Coventry Sewer Plant could be properly evaluated," Manley said.

He charged that the town manager was opportunist and publicly harassed me.

He added, "His point clearly was that because he had appointed me he felt that my vote should be consistent with his wishes. However, he was told that I represented the Coventry Town Council, and the voters of Coventry, and I knew of no conflict between the two."

Manley explained that he doesn't support the Water Pollution Control Authority's proposed sewer plan because I feel that it is irresponsible. I feel that the double talk and conflicting claims surrounding this proposal have so confused the issue that an impartial Environmental Impact Statement is badly needed," Manley said.

He said he feels it's irresponsible to propose a sewer treatment plant smack in the middle of a state-designated aquifer zone and immediately upstream of a well for the Willimantic water supply.

Manley said he is saying that Manley was replaced for "not properly representing the town and representing a personal viewpoint rather than the position of the town."

He further said he feels it's irresponsible to propose a sewer facility in an already overcrowded area without realistically considering such factors as induced growth, drainage, drinking water, roads, total impact on water quality and quantity, and other factors which together govern the quality of life in the Coventry Lake Watershed area.

Manley said, "I was not about to support any sewer plan which, as former council chairman Jack Myers so clearly told the Windham Regional Planning Agency, the Coventry Town Council has not endorsed."

Manley said in his letter that the severing of the town in a political question which has and will be decided by the town voters noting that twice in recent years this same sewer proposal, with minor changes, has failed at referendum.

Bush, Reagan Ahead in Granite State

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — The seven-man race for New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary votes will boil down to a close contest between Ronald Reagan and George Bush, according to a newspaper poll of state voters.

A survey published by the Boston Globe Sunday showed former CIA Director George Bush with a 45 to 36 percent edge on former California Gov. Ronald Reagan among 616 Republican and independent New Hampshire voters polled.

The margin of error could swing the totals five percentage points either way. But the results won't be official until a vote on Feb. 24.

primary votes Feb. 26th for a view on voter preference.

Bush's campaign manager called the Globe poll "meaningless" and Reagan's strategist was looking at more tangible evidence of support: seven delegate votes for Reagan coming out of Arkansas Saturday caucuses.

In Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker's camp, the poll was seen as no surprise and not discouraging. Baker finished a distant third to Bush and Reagan with seven percent support.

For the other four candidates listed on the state's primary ballot, the poll showed support measured in single digits.

The numbers were a far cry from the final tally of New Hampshire's September when the Globe's last check on

New Hampshire's voters showed Reagan with 50 percent support, Bush 8 percent and Baker 12 percent.

Still, Bush's New Hampshire campaign manager and former governor Hugh Gregg was unimpressed with the results. "I just don't believe in straw polls. And a poll taken three weeks before the election is meaningless," Gregg said.

"We have our own idea of where we stand and we won't be lulled into any feelings of security because someone has taken a straw poll," he said.

In Reagan's Manchester headquarters, the poll was viewed as a sign Reagan's post-low slide in support was over.

Reagan's campaign strategist Gerald Carmen said the poll "was consistent with our facts."

"We've weathered the worst Bush has thrown at us and come out pretty good," he said. "But the real news is out of Arkansas: where Carmen said Reagan won seven delegate votes, Baker picked up four and Bush only one.

For Baker's New Hampshire vice-chairman John Nichols, the Arkansas delegate count was a good sign and he dismissed the poll as a particular vote on a particular day.

"I don't find it the slightest bit discouraging. I've been involved in a number of campaigns before and the swing in the polls are wild," he said.

"It showed Bush is great at winning straw polls," Nichols said. "But Howard Baker wins elections."

Yale and New Haven Plan Science Park

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — The Olin Corp., Yale University and the city are calling a joint plan to develop a science park complex on excess land at Olin's 60-acre site an exciting and innovative venture.

Olin also said Saturday its Winchester Group would consider constructing a new arms manufacturing plant on the site after improving the profitability of its business.

"This exciting economic development project will have a positive impact on the entire city, and the Newhallville area specifically," said Mayor Biagio DiLeo.

He said the city, Yale and Olin will work together on a plan for the physical development of the land as well as a marketing strategy to identify and attract potential business and industries to the park.

"I am very pleased, also, with this opportunity for the city, Yale University and the Olin Corp. to join together in this exciting, innovative venture," the mayor said.

Carter Leading in Maine Caucuses

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Gearing up for Sunday's Democratic town caucuses in Maine, President Jimmy Carter swept a poll of Penobscot County Democrats, but his supporters say it was just "a test" for the real organizational contest.

Carter, who has campaigned in Maine only by telephone, gathered 531 votes in the Saturday night poll to just 69 for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, and 14 for Calif. Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

While many Kennedy supporters had been urged to boycott the poll, Carter organizer Chip Bishop said Sunday, "I don't think anyone stacked anything."

"We're pleased and encouraged with the results. But we have to temper our enthusiasm with the realization that this is in a sense a popularity contest, and what really counts is an organizational test we'll see next Sunday."

All of the participants in the vote paid $10 to attend the county Democratic caucus in Bangor, and many Kennedy supporters — including Gov. Joseph E. Brennan — last week had attacked the poll as a "501 ripoff."

what we expect to happen here in the Bangor caucus. We don't place this as a high priority. Knocking on doors, that's truly representative."

"I don't find it the slightest bit discouraging. I've been involved in a number of campaigns before and the swing in the polls are wild," he said.

"It showed Bush is great at winning straw polls," Nichols said. "But Howard Baker wins elections."
