

Simply Delicious Desserts

Planning a friendly get-together? Lakes three special ingredients. First, you need people - best friends, favorite relatives, new neighbors. Next, a place - a family room, backyard patio or an apartment party room. The third ingredient for a congenial evening is food. But what to serve? A simple-to-prepare dessert can be easy on you, while providing a warm welcome to guests. A cup of freshly brewed tea or coffee is a perfect final touch.

Apple desserts are always a favorite. Apple Crisp, made with Kellogg's 40 percent Bran Flakes cereal, has a coffee-like texture and a crunchy streusel topping. Your guests will feel right at home when greeted with its inviting apple-cinnamon aroma. Lemon pie accents the flavor and complements the nutty flavor of the cereal. Serve it with a spoonful of whipped cream.

A simple-to-prepare pie is a treasure to any host or hostess. Cracklin' Bran Pie is like a southern-style nut pie but Kellogg's Cracklin' Bran cereal is the topping. The cereal, while being a thrifty substitute, is no sacrifice in flavor. The cereal's blend of wheat bran, rolled oats, brown sugar and coconut is a delicious companion to the smooth filling and flaky crust. Each serving of the pie contains about one and one-half grams of dietary fiber.

Apple Crisp Cake
1 1/2 cup Kellogg's 40% Bran Flakes cereal
1/3 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup Kellogg's 40% Bran Flakes cereal, crushed to measure 1 cup
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened

Novel Breakfast Sparks Interest

French cooking is often termed gourmet but basically it's also very economical. French chefs and homemakers are noted for gathering vegetable and meat scraps for the famous stockpot so they always have the makings for soup and sauce. Quiche is put together from a custard base and cheese, but its variations often use "scraps" of leeks, shrimp, mushrooms or ham.

It's not surprising that one recipe which has become an American favorite is also the result of French thrift. Older cookbooks like Escoffier refer to it as pain perdu. Literally, this means lost bread. And isn't dry bread lost bread unless milk, eggs and butter can be transformed into golden, delicious, puffy French toast? What's more, it can be made easily in the oven with less care than the stove-top variety.

For those who "don't" have time for breakfast, meaning they're really dreading it, French toast variation. Give them French toast with a toffee flavor by using corn syrup and brown sugar with the eggs and milk for soaking the dry bread. Team it with quickly fried red apple rings and plump pork sausages. A dollop of sour cream accompanies the toast and cuts the sweetness. Few will turn down this breakfast, especially on a leisurely weekend.

Toffee French Toast
6 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
6 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 cup milk
1 egg
8 slices (each 1-inch thick) day old white bread
1 cup dairy sour cream
Preheat oven to 450° F.
Combine butter, sugar and corn syrup in medium-sized saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil; boil and stir 2 minutes. Pour butter mixture into 13 x 9-inch baking pan. Beat together milk and egg until well combined. Dip each slice of bread into egg mixture. Place dipped bread in baking pan. Bake until bottom is golden, about 6 to 8 minutes. Turn and bake another 6 to 8 minutes or until other side is golden. Serve immediately with sour cream.

Sautéed Apple Rings
6 servings
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
3 medium-sized red cooking apples about 1 pound
Confectioners sugar
Melt butter in a large skillet. Core apples. Cut crosswise into 1/2-inch thick slices. Sauté in butter until tender but not soggy, about 5 minutes. Turn once during cooking time. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar before serving.

Thrifty Main Dishes

A delicious variety of thrifty main dishes are as close as your store's produce section! Many fresh winter vegetables, such as tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, peppers and eggplants are imported during the winter from sunny Mexico, the land where tomatoes originated. As a result of nearly ideal growing conditions this season, the quality of winter produce is at an all-time high. To help stretch the family food dollar, try featuring the following tomato or eggplant dishes as economical meat substitutes.

Stuffed Tomatoes Italiano
4 large tomatoes
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup Uncle Ben's® converted brand rice
1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Cut tomatoes in half; sprinkle lightly with salt. Drain, cut side down, in baking dish 15 minutes; reserve juice. Remove and chop pulp from tomatoes; drain and reserve juice. Sauté tomato pulp, onion, and garlic in butter in medium saucepan until onion is tender. Add enough beef bouillon to tomato juice to make 3/4 cup liquid. Add tomato liquid, rice, salt and pepper to vegetable mixture in saucepan; bring to boil, then reduce heat. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Press moisture from spinach in strainer. Add spinach and all but two (2) tablespoons of the cheese to the rice mixture; stir well. Place tomato halves in buttered baking dish. Mound about 1/2 cup rice mixture in each tomato. Sprinkle with reserved cheese. Bake uncovered at 350° F. until hot and cheese is slightly brown, 12 to 15 minutes. Serve 8.

Stuffed Eggplant
3 medium eggplants
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons olive or veg. oil
2 large tomatoes
1 cup Uncle Ben's® converted brand rice
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Trim rounded ends from eggplants; cut in half crosswise. (If using large eggplants, cut into 3-inch lengths.) Scoop out centers from eggplants leaving a 1/4-inch shell; chop and measure 2 cups of the pulp. Sauté pulp, garlic, onion, and green pepper in oil in heavy saucepan until vegetables are tender. Chop tomatoes. Add tomatoes, tomato juice, 1 cup of water, rice, salt, basil, oregano, and pepper to eggplant mixture in saucepan. Bring to a boil; reduce heat. Cover tightly and simmer until most of the liquid is absorbed, about 20 minutes. Place eggplant shells in buttered baking dish. Mound about one cup of the rice mixture in each shell. Combine crumbs and butter; spoon over eggplants. Bake uncovered at 350° F. until crumbs are brown, about 15 minutes. Serves six.

Panel Reverses Vote on Bills

By MARTIN KEARNS
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - Reversing an earlier decision, the Commission on the Handicapped gave its support Wednesday night to the Legislative Coalition on Handicapped People. The commission last month withheld support for the coalition which sought endorsement of a package of seven bills pending before the state Legislature and authority to represent the commission in emergency situations.

But Wednesday the commission reacted favorably to a presentation by David V. Daugherty, co-chairman of the coalition and executive director of the Hartford Easter Seal Rehabilitation Center, Inc.

Daugherty explained the coalition as a group of nearly 30 organizations from throughout the state whose function is to present, "a solid front to the Legislature on certain issues the group views as crucial for the coming year." He said the coalition is attempting to bring before the legislature the broad concerns of handicapped people.

Daugherty's remarks drew the commission's support. Earlier support was blocked because the commission members felt they had been given too little information to give the coalition the authority it had requested.

A package of seven bills is being sponsored by the coalition. The local commission accepted six of the bills and requested that an Act Concerning Housing for the Handicapped be amended to give it a new emphasis.

The proposed bill would establish a $3 million fund to develop non-institutional housing for low and moderate income handicapped persons. Van Camp said the money should be used to rehabilitate existing homes of handicapped persons. In this manner, he said, the handicapped would be allowed to maintain their family life.

"It's time to look at the private home owner. You have to work at both ends...for those who are having their homes ripped up, let's help them and prevent housing problems elsewhere," Van Camp said.

Commission members were opposed to using the $3 million to build single-unit developments that are designed to promote independent living for the handicapped. Gert DeLoe said these developments work counter to mainstreaming efforts. Jacquelyn Billey said, "In Manchester we have units for single person living and this doesn't allow for family life. We don't want to see any more of this housing."

Other bills within the package and endorsed by the commission include a proposal for $50,000 to provide independent living services to the severely handicapped. The coalition is hoping to use this as a pilot project to encourage additional monies in future years.

Another bill will allocate to the Department of Transportation $1 million for use as matching funds that would allow towns to provide transportation services to the handicapped.

Boards of Education will be required to provide educational and recommend necessary medical services to handicapped infants in another proposal. This bill extends to birth, already existing legislation that mandates whole-life education for the handicapped. The current legislation begins at age two.

Other legislation will increase the number of parking spaces reserved for the handicapped by requiring private lots to free up space.

Town Cuts Could Go Unnoticed

By MARY KITZMANN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - Despite repeated warnings a tight budget next year would curtail services and staffing, most residents should not notice the absence of the few proposed cutbacks.

While town department directors proposed a sharp increase in spending for next year, about eight specific cutbacks were made.

Eliminating overtime from the Park and Recreation budget and sidewalk maintenance from the Public Works are probably the most noticeable for residents.

The overtime elimination means snow removal from sidewalks and skating rinks will have to wait until regular working hours.

The Senior Citizens Center budget would shift a custodian's duties to the bus driver.

In equipment, the Police Department requests $90,000 for new police cars.

The Building Department requests replacing three vehicles "out of desperation."

Other equipment includes $12,000 for the Engineering Department for a measuring device and $300 more for a programmable computer.

unfunded increases will force it to charge the costs back to a department.

In staffing, three permanent positions, from Public Works, are eliminated, while four new positions are generally requested.

A maintenance mechanic, a mechanic's helper will be eliminated from the sidewalk maintenance function. Also under public works, an administrative assistant's position will not be filled. But a Clerk II position is requested to fill the gap.

A Clerk II position is also requested for the Collector of Revenue office, and a position in the Evaluation Department is requested.

The Fire Department proposes increasing its staff from 69 to 70 for regular working hours.

Flu Outbreak Affects Area

MANCHESTER - The annual outbreak of flu has taken its toll among area residents.

Manchester Memorial Hospital today extended the visiting restrictions. Andy Beck, director of public relations for the hospital said the situation is worsening and is now affecting staff at the hospital.

Wednesday, 18 members of the day nursing shift reported sick.

But at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group of United Technologies Corp., David Long, a public relations representative said, "We've not experienced any undue absenteeism."

Multi-Circuits Corp. agreed with the Pratt & Whitney findings.

The schools were perhaps hardest hit. A spokesman for the Bennet Junior High School's nursing office said, "There's been a lot of people out for the past few days, mostly ninth graders."

Scandal Trial Is Under Way

HARTFORD (UPI) - State prosecutors and the defense will call high-ranking city officials to testify in the first New Britain municipal corruption scandal trial.

The trial of Raymond Galati, a veteran firefighter who rose through the ranks to retire last year as chief, began Wednesday after a judge denied a last-ditch defense effort to further delay the proceedings.

Donald A. Far of Hartford was seated as one of the trial's six jurors after Judge Eugene Kelly denied Galati will have one trial on 15 corruption counts.

Galati, 59, is the first of 19 men, most past or present New Britain officials, charged in the alleged sale of municipal jobs and promotions and misuse of city property in the central Connecticut city of 80,100.

Galati faces the largest number of charges stemming from a one-man grand jury probe into the alleged corruption scheme.

The state's list of witnesses includes New Britain Mayor William J. McNamara, Finance Director Thomas M. Donoh Corporation Counsel William W. Weber, City Clerk Richard T. Murphy and acting Personnel Director Walter McCusker.

Prosecutors also planned to call former Personnel Director Alfred S. Pettinelli, who has been charged with taking bribes and extortion in the scandal, plus nine state police officers.

Galati's attorney, Edward Lynch Jr., argued various promotional examinations were involved in the charges and that trying Galati on all the counts at once could confuse jurors.

"These are all separate, distinct allegations," Lynch argued in Hartford Superior Court. "It's our position that to try all of these counts together is going to be trial by miracle."

Hostage Release Said Near

By United Press International

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr said today the 50 American hostages could be freed in 48 hours if President Carter accepts a plan approved by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Speaking from Tehran to the Italian television network RAI, Bani-Sadr said that if there were complications, the release of the captives could take two months.

"There is a proposal on President Carter's desk now which, if he accepts, can lead to the release of the hostages in 48 hours," Bani-Sadr said.

RAI quoted Bani-Sadr as saying Khomeini had approved the plan to Carter.

Bani-Sadr said the release of the hostages does not only depend on an investigation into the regime of the deposed Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi but also on America's guaranteeing Iran's geopolitical and economic independence.

"It all depends on the attitude of the United States," he said. "If there is a positive response and action, if the conditions are met, we can act very quickly."

"We depend on the United States for spare parts. They are essential for us," said Bani-Sadr, although he did not specify whether spare parts supplied for Iran's American-equipped forces were part of the plan on Carter's desk.

Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said a short time earlier that an agreement on the release of the hostages would have to proceed "step by step."

"There are still doubts and hopes. I am hopeful."

President Carter also hinted a breakthrough was near.

Carter said in a televised news conference Wednesday night that "positive progress" has been made toward the release of the hostages and that Washington was ready to accept an "appropriate" international commission to resolve the situation.

His announcement, coupled with that by Bani-Sadr that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has accepted a compromise plan on the hostages, sent hopes soaring that the 15-week occupation of the embassy would soon end.

Because details of any release formula have kept secret, it was not known if Khomeini and Carter were responding favorably to the same set of guidelines. But both leaders apparently hinted their acceptance of the plan on the work of an international commission.

Stein To Direct Workshop

VERNON - The appointment of Louis Stein as director of the new sheltered workshop facility in Vernon was confirmed today by Dr. James Strauch, president of Hockam Industries Inc., the name of the workshop.

Stein holds a similar position with the Manchester Sheltered Workshop. He confirmed Wednesday that he had accepted the position but declined to discuss details of the appointment.

Dr. Strauch, a professor at the University of Connecticut, said today that Stein was a former pupil of his and said he was instrumental in encouraging Stein to expand his interest in the special education field.

Dr. Strauch said he was reluctant to set an exact date for opening the workshop because the group has had some disappointments after setting other opening dates.

He said, however, that Stein said he will begin work in Vernon April 1.

Hockam Industries Inc. is a sheltered employment facility for the mentally retarded and other developmentally disabled individuals who need a sheltered workshop setting.

The group has leased the former Polivog Kindergarten building in Rockville for the past year from the Board of Education. Last Monday night the board agreed to sign a 10-year lease at $1 a year. Hockam Industries is a non-profit organization.

It is expected the workshop will start by employing 20 to 25 persons and that the number will increase to 70 within five years.

To date most of the money for the project has come from private sources. Now that the director has been hired and the facility is in operation, it is expected federal money will be available through the state Department of Mental Retardation.

Plans are to have the facility serve more severely handicapped persons than similar facilities do, Dr. Strauch said.

As do other workshops, the board of directors will seek contracts from private industries for small assembly jobs to be done by "employees" of the workshop.

Other directors are Charles Vassilopoulos, Mary Laskey, Rachel Miller, Jo Adams, Diane Carfara, Dave Minicucci, George Orday and James Rizer.

Year of the Bull

Does Deng Xiaoping want his bull or doesn't he? If he doesn't, Boling, Texas, rancher John Joyce wishes he'd say so. The thing has gained 400 pounds since he gave it to the Chinese vice premier last February and Joyce is tired of footing the feed bill.

He says he presented the registered Brahman to Deng as a gesture of good will when Deng's American tour took him to the Simonton Roundup Rodeo, but he hasn't heard from the Chinese since.

Says Joyce, "Tell me something. Anything. All I want to know is whether the vice premier wants him or doesn't want him... Don't get me wrong. I'm not trying to do any publicity. I just want to know what to do with this bull."

Boo to Subaru

United Auto Workers are ready to boycott the Olympics - and it doesn't have a thing to do with the Russian invasion of Afghanistan. It has to do with the U.S. Winter Olympic ski team's taste in automobiles.

In a letter to the U.S. Olympic Committee, Dearborn, Mich., union local president Mike Rinaldi spelled it out bluntly: "If the Olympic Committee does not find it necessary to support the American auto worker, then we, in turn, cannot and will not support the Olympic Committee with any type of donation and by requesting all Americans to do likewise."

Love Birds

It will be the best Valentine's Day in many a decade for Blanche Williams and George Beck. They're marking the day by getting married at the senior citizens' home in Lakewood, Ohio, where both live.

Says the 84-year-old Beck of his 80-year-old intended, "She shot Cupid's dart into me. We found out we had a lot of things in common. Dancing. Playing cards - especially pinochle. And parties."

Miss Williams is more tactful. Asked why she decided to marry Beck, she explained, "Because he is very nice."

Quote of the Day

Henry "The Fonz" Winkler, when cited for his work with the handicapped at ceremonies during which he presented his famous leather jacket to Washington's Smithsonian Institution: "There is a prejudice against people who are physically challenged, mentally challenged, because maybe they aren't perfect. We should remove the word 'handicapped' from the language and replace it with 'challenged.' Give a child a challenge and he will conquer it."

Panel Orders Officials To Testify About Agency

HARTFORD (UPI) - A legislative committee which has been looking into operations at the Department of Motor Vehicles has subpoenaed three police officers, an inspector and a prosecutor to testify at a hearing.

Rep. Thom Serrani, D-Stamford, chairman of the Transportation Committee, said they would be asked today about allegations that the agency is lax in checking for stolen cars and "chop shops," where vehicles are disassembled.

The committee also approved a motion Wednesday to send a letter to Motor Vehicles Commissioner Benjamin Muzio asking him why he refuses to appear before the committee unless subpoenaed.

Muzio said he would not be believed the oversight hearings into his agency's management and operations was a "witch hunt" and said he wouldn't return to future hearings unless forced to.

"I don't think we should let it go by," said Rep. Elinor Wilber, R-Fairfield. "It makes it look like we don't care. I don't think the Legislature should take it. It's insulting."

Among those subpoenaed to testify at 9 a.m. Thursday were Hartford police officers Frederick Mohardt, James Gates and Leo LePage and Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Miano. The department inspector had not yet been subpoenaed.

"The people we've subpoenaed are considered experts in motor vehicle laws and inspections," Serrani said. Co-chairman Sen. Howard Owens, D-Bridgeport, said Miano will be asked about various licensed garages or scrap dealers "who have been convicted of larceny offenses related to stolen cars."

Owens said it was alleged that at least in one instance, the convicted information was forwarded to the department so that the firm's license could be suspended but that nothing was done by the agency.

Serrani said the committee also had received information that convicted felons hold licenses to operate car dealer and repair shops and that information police forwarded about illegal operations was never followed up.

"We want to find out what is going on and who is to blame," he said. "If this convicted felons holding licenses is the case, we need to know why that is being allowed."

"A pattern seems to be emerging that the Motor Vehicles Department is not using its enforcement powers in several areas," Serrani said. He added that the inspector "may be the key witness."

He said that the hearing on Thursday information was forwarded to the department so that the firm's license could be suspended but that nothing was done by the agency.

Serrani said the committee also had received information that convicted felons hold licenses to operate car dealer and repair shops and that information police forwarded about illegal operations was never followed up.

Trailing Of Suspect Explained

HARTFORD (UPI) - Two trails led dogs in opposite directions from a Plainville home where a bungled burglary resulted in the fatal shooting of a policeman, state troopers have told Gerard "Gary" Castonguay's murder trial.

Two men - Castonguay, 36, of Bristol, and his nephew, Rocco Testa, a former University of Connecticut football player, were both charged with the burglary, but only Castonguay faces a possible death penalty if convicted.

Although Superior Court Judge David M. Shea, as ruled capital punishment won't apply to the case because it is unconstitutional, prosecutors have promised to appeal that decision if Castonguay is convicted.

Testa is expected to be a prosecution witness in his uncle's trial. But the witness stand Wednesday was taken by a string of state police witnesses who testified about evidence they had gathered in the Nov. 21, 1977, shooting death of Plainville patrolman Robert Holcomb.

The policeman was shot several times at close range after chasing a suspect into a wooded area. Earlier witnesses said he died with his gun still in his holster.

State troopers Robert Kiehm and Horace Behrle described Wednesday how their tracking dogs followed two separate trails from the attempted burglary.

Eleventh Nutmegger Becomes Millionaire

WEST HARTFORD (UPI) - A Plainville electrician, who hopes to send his three daughters to college, Wednesday became the eleventh Connecticut resident to win $1 million in the state's lottery.

Ed Farmer, 50, who won $2 on his initial $1 gamble in the lottery's Instant Match 79 game, was the top prize winner in the game which sent 19 other finalists home with bonuses of $5,000 to $25,000.

"Right now I have a few butterflies," he said after his name was picked from a drum by Gossell of the Hartford Ballet in a drawing at Westfarms Mall.

Farmer said he hadn't decided whether he was planning to go to college and this will take care of any doubts I had about sending them," he said.

"I'm going to sit down with the family and talk this out. A friend of mine said don't make any rash decisions, but it would be nice to retire," he said.

For the immediate future, Farmer said he was planning to take his entire family out to celebrate his win.

The 20 finalists, two others who won $25,000 each and the rest who took home $5,000, were drawn from the $5 million winning tickets in the Instant Match game. In addition to their prizes, the agents who sold the winning tickets will receive bonuses from $10,000 to $100,000.

The lottery's latest instant game, Super Match, began Feb. 5. It will have two millionaire drawings, one in April and the other in July or August.

Boy Dies in Fire

MERIDEN (UPI) - A young boy died and his sister and mother were injured after a fire spread from a first-floor bedroom through the rest of their apartment.

Christopher Andino, 4, died at Meriden-Wallingford Hospital a short time after he and his sister, Maria, 6, were rescued from the burning building's first floor.

The girl was being treated in the hospital's intensive care unit for smoke inhalation.

The children's mother, Hilda, was treated and released from the hospital.

Fire officials said they were still looking for the cause of the blaze, which heavily damaged the Andino's half of a two-family house.

Boy Scouts Seeking Hispanic Members

HARTFORD (UPI) - The Boy Scouts of America has launched a campaign to recruit more Spanish-speaking youths.

The organization plans a nationwide advertising blitz to attract more Hispanic youths, spokesman Raul Chavez told reporters at a Wednesday news conference.

Chavez said the organization was concerned because only 80,000 or 2 percent of Boy Scouts in the country are Hispanic.

The advertising campaign will focus on radio and television commercials in both Spanish and English by Hispanic actor Ricardo Montalban, Chavez said.

"He (Montalban) is the most identifiable Hispanic figure in the country," said Chavez.

Chavez said the organization picked Hartford to announce the recruitment campaign because of the city's large Hispanic population.

Women Office Workers Told to Fight Disparity

HARTFORD (UPI) - Women office workers can start tackling disparity in job opportunities and pay by organizing and realizing their rights and their worth, says former Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer.

Mrs. Schaffer, a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, told the Hartford Working Women's Forum their work was cut out for them to end "the myths about a women's place."

"Women are seen and paid as secondary workers, not primary workers," she said. "Women can make inroads to better occupations by realizing their rights and their worth."

The HWW said a U.S. Labor Department statistics showed a Hartford clerical worker's salary was the second lowest in the East and East Central regions of the country - and 10th lowest in the nation.

"In spite of law prohibiting discrimination, over 70 percent of Hartford's working women are in the lowest paying, lowest status jobs," an HWW survey said.

HWW spokeswoman Nancy Bergen said "we are the heart of Hartford's workforce and without us the city would not survive. Yet today we earn only 59 percent of the salaries men earn."

Mrs. Schaffer, a former six-term state senator and unsuccessful U.S. Senate candidate, said the "magnitude and persistence of the wage earning gap" was a very important issue.

She called the 59 percent figure "a shocking statistic in this day and age."

The HWW survey said "it's no wonder over 60 percent of the women surveyed said pay was a major problem."

It said area working women which showed more than 80 percent felt they were not promoted as quickly as men or offered the same job opportunities.

The traditional family of a father bringing home the paycheck while the mother cared for children was "the exception and not the rule" today and many women are heads of households, Mrs. Schaffer said.

She said the Social Security system and income tax need to reflect women's changing economic roles and ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment was a top priority.

A workforce bill already has been introduced by Rep. Joan H. Kemler, D-West Hartford.

Mrs. Grasso's $2.67 billion budget proposal calls for an extra $6 million boost in aid to families with dependent children, plus an added $2.3 million in general assistance. But these funds would only cover increased case loads and would not increase benefits for recipients.

Lawmakers said they thought wouldn't support the hike unless it was accompanied by the workforce measure.

Legislature could come up with the $10 million needed to cover the welfare increase through tax hikes already under consideration.

State welfare benefits are currently pegged at the 1974-75 cost of living and provide, for example, $5.35 for a family of four.

The four Democrats who cosponsored the welfare bill were House Majority Leader John G. Groppo of Winsted, Senate Majority Leader Joseph Lieberman of New Haven, Senate President Pro Tempore Joseph J. Fusillo of Hartford and House Speaker Ernest Abate of Stamford.

Bill Would Up Welfare

HARTFORD (UPI) - Four top Democratic lawmakers are sponsoring a bill that would boost state welfare benefits by 7 percent and add an estimated $10 million to Gov. Ella Grasso's 1980-1981 budget proposal.

But lawmakers supporting the welfare boost said they would reject any attempt to tie the increase to a workforce program, requiring able-bodied welfare recipients to take municipal jobs.

Rep. A. Boyd Hinds Jr., D-Hartford, who helped work out the increase, predicted "all out warfare" if any attempt is made to tie the increase to a workforce program.

However, Rep. Gardner E. Wright, D-Bristol, co-chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said he wouldn't support the hike unless it was accompanied by the workforce measure.

Three Held in Silver Theft

MIDDLETOWN (UPI) - Three young men charged in the theft of $100,000 worth of silverware from a Killingworth home have been ordered held in lieu of $25,000 bond each pending Friday court appearances.

Frederick Cliff, 18, and his brother, James, 20, both of New Britain, and David Levesque, 18, of Hartford, all appeared briefly in Middletown Superior Court Wednesday on charges of first-degree larceny by possession.

Their cases were continued and the trio was returned to the New Haven Correctional Center.

New Wave of Candidates Moves to New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) - Another wave of would-be presidents and their campaign surrogates were sweeping into New Hampshire today as the state's Feb. 26 primary drew ever closer. First Lady Rosalynn Carter, California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan planned to converge on the Granite State, which is already filled to the brim with presidential hopefuls. It was politicking as usual in New Hampshire on Wednesday. Sen. Edward Kennedy was on the attack. Vice President Walter Mondale was on the defense and former CIA Director George Bush kept on shaking hands. Addressing a group of southern New Hampshire businessmen, Kennedy said he thought it might be a good idea if the American hostages in Iran could be transferred to another country while the United Nations investigated the deposed shah. "I can see a situation where the hostages might be released - not necessarily to the United States necessarily, but could be released to some third country," the

Maine Has Little Effect On Democrats' Strategy

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) - Aside from giving the Kennedy campaign a little more momentum, the Maine caucuses have not altered the strategy of either Sen. Edward Kennedy or former President Carter for the Feb. 26 New Hampshire primary. Both camps reported Wednesday that Kennedy's better than expected showing in Maine hasn't changed the way they are getting ready for New Hampshire - a state that requires a lot more organizing because it has a primary instead of a caucus. "We see New Hampshire as a very close race today," said Ellis Woodward, Carter's New Hampshire campaign spokesman. But he said the battle plan set up last summer when the Carter troops moved into New Hampshire hasn't been altered. And down in Manchester at the Kennedy headquarters, Jeff Petrich, the senator's state spokesman, said there are a few more volunteers knocking on the door since Maine, but little else has changed. "Maine has reinforced what we're doing, but it hasn't changed our strategy," he said. "Maine has made it clear that this is a race we have a fighting chance at." Both Woodward and Petrich agree that California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. won't do as well in New Hampshire as he did in Maine. He isn't blitting New Hampshire as he did in Maine, and they say he will have a harder time making a good showing when the turnout is so much higher than it was in Maine. The Kennedy and Carter campaigns contrast sharply in that one has a candidate who is practically living in the state the last two weeks of the campaign while the other has a candidate who hasn't come here since last April and has no scheduled plans to be here before the primary. Kennedy is spending all or part of 12 of the last 14 days before the primary in New Hampshire, telling the voters it's time for Carter to get out of the White House and debate and present himself and his record to the voters in person. Carter is staying in Washington because of the crises in

The Apollon Family Restaurant, located at the intersection of East Street and Route 30, is seeking permission for a special exception for a beer and wine permit. The restaurant is located in a commercial zone but is located near a school. The People's Savings Bank of Rockville is seeking permission for a setback variance to alter two legal non-conforming buildings and an area variance for one new apartment building on property it owns on the east side of Vernon Avenue near the intersection with McLean Street. Salvatore and Diana Avastara, of Union Street, Rockville, have two appeals to be aired. They are seeking special permission for a yard-use setback variance and special exception for conversion from one non-conforming use to another. The property is located on the south side of Union Street. ## Health Center's Union Accepts New Contract

STORRS (UPI) - A union representing 900 workers at the University of Connecticut Health Center in Farmington has approved a new 3-year contract that calls for an 8 percent wage hike in the first year. Members of the University of Connecticut Health Center Professional Employees Association voted 367-9 Wednesday to ratify the agreement, which would be retroactive to last July 1. The union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Teachers, had been negotiating with the state for 58 weeks. The contract includes a provision to reopen wage negotiations after the first year, spokesman Leo Canty of the AFT said. The union's members fill various jobs at the health center, but the majority of the members are nurses. The contract now goes to the Legislature for approval.

Fire in Home Extinguished

MANCHESTER - Eighth Utilities District firefighters contained a bedroom fire within 45 minutes at the home of Corinne Dyer, 84 Helaine Road, Wednesday. Captain Paul Gworek said the fire scorched a bed, mattress, box spring and a wall in the bedroom as well as caused a moderate amount of smoke damage to other parts of the upstairs. Firemen responded to the call at 9:45 a.m. after neighbors discovered smoke escaping through the eaves, he said. The fire was under control by 10 a.m. No one was home at the time of the blaze, he said. Gworek ruled out electrical wires as the cause of the fire because, he said, the fire "burned from the surface down, and not from the rug up." He said the fire marshal has ruled it accidental, although the exact cause has not been determined. The department sent a rescue truck, two engines and the tower to the scene.

Sunken Boat Spilling Oil in Thames River

NEW LONDON (UPI) - Coast Guard and private company workers were trying early today to contain oil leaking from a sunken tug boat in the Thames River, officials said. The tug Cavin, owned by the American Dredge Co., sank about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday when a cooling water intake valve malfunctioned, a spokesman at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy said. The tug was working on a project to dredge a deeper channel in the river to facilitate the passage of the Navy's new Trident submarines based in New London, the Coast Guard said. Guard said. However, the Cavin was loaded with about 6,000 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil which immediately began to leak. The Coast Guard estimated about 1,000 gallons had escaped from the boat by early today and divers were trying to plug the Cavin's vents to prevent further contamination. The tug was working on a project to dredge a deeper channel in the river to facilitate the passage of the Navy's new Trident submarines based in New London, the Coast Guard said.

Whaler Veteran Shows Electronic Blackboard

HARTFORD - While a group of bantam hockey players watched on a TV screen in Orange, Hartford Whalers Veteran Gordie Howe charted a series of hockey moves in Hartford to demonstrate a new electronic blackboard being introduced by Southern New England Telephone Co. As offered advice to the would-be hockey stars, he charted moves on what appeared to be a standard blackboard. His drawings were picked up electronically and sent via regular telephone lines to the TV monitor in Orange. Howe offered his thoughts on hockey and gave some advice to the youngsters. He told them their greatest success would be through a devotion to both hockey and academics and said if one didn't work out for career opportunities the other would be there to fall back on. "Hockey isn't everything, give yourself a choice," he said. The blackboard is the latest teleconferencing tool available through the telephone company. It's called Gemini 100 and it sends graphics and voice communications to distant destinations. SNET Vice President-Business O. Haydn Owens Jr. said the new tool has vast possibilities for business applications and could offer great money savings in time, travel and energy costs. Owens said the telecommunications industry is a $200 billion market that is highly technological and highly competitive. He said the unit would cost a business about $500 per month plus a $500 installation charge. Owens said in the future teleconferencing meeting halls may be established for use by businesses conducting meetings with person in remote locations.

FACTS & FIGURES

According to energy experts, our "energy crisis" is really a "fuel crisis" caused by increased consumption, rising prices and uncertain availability of imported oil.

A bright spot in the energy picture, point out the experts at the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, is electricity. At least two-thirds of the nation's electricity is generated from domestic coal, nuclear and hydro sources. We expect this to rise to 90 percent in the mid 1980's.

Thus, increased use of electricity in our homes and industries actually saves oil.

Medal Is Stolen From Town Mail

MANCHESTER — A commemorative medal on route from Manchester to New Bedford, Mass., has apparently been stolen from its manila envelope, police said today.

According to police, Town Manager Robert Weiss discovered the empty envelope Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. in some bushes in front of Town Hall.

The medal had been sent out to be mailed in the envelope the previous afternoon. Police said the envelope was apparently dropped by two persons who would have handled the town mail and the medal, valued at $4, was taken from the envelope.

Police charged Wilfred Smith, 17, of 219 Center St., Manchester, with second-degree burglary and third-degree criminal mischief Wednesday night. No other details were available. He was released on his promise to appear in East Hartford Superior Court on Feb. 25.

Police also reported the theft of $100 from the office at Town House Gardens Complex, 59 Rachel Road, Wednesday night. Two employees returned to the office at 6:30 p.m. and discovered the cash missing from two white envelopes, police said.

Station Attendant Robbed

SOUTH WINDSOR — An attendant at the Blue Sunoco Service Station on John Fitch Boulevard, reported to South Windsor Police, that he was held up about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

The attendant, Garish Persaud, told police that a white male of medium build came into the station and sprayed an unknown substance on him and demanded the money from the cash register.

Police said the attendant said that no weapon was shown and $100-$200 was taken.

Lawsuit Withdrawal Remains Unresolved

HARTFORD — Any question by Hartford to remain in the federal Community Development lawsuit against Manchester will remain unresolved for at least another two weeks from the cash register.

The matter has been tabled until the Feb. 25 City Council meeting, an employee in the councilmen's office said today.

Manchester is being sued to block its April 17, 1979 decision to withdraw from a federal Housing and Urban Development program. Hartford has joined the suit against the suburb as a "friend of the court," but town officials have asked city officials to reconsider and withdraw.

Attendance Doubles At MHS Open House

MANCHESTER — An open house at Manchester High School Thursday night brought twice the number of people as had attended in previous years to learn about the educational programs the school offers.

The Vocarama/Inforama got 250 people to learn about items ranging from the school store, metal smithing, yeast breads, mini computers, and self defense. While the invited guests were primarily parents of students who will be entering the high school in September, students, Board of Education members, and former students at the high school were seen roaming the halls.

Davis Bryssel, coordinator of the Cooperative Occupational Education Program, said the Chamber of Commerce members had also been invited. "Vocational teachers wanted to know how best to teach students the skills that employers need," Bryssel said.

Evidence that the school is emphasizing vocational education, while not at the expense of academics, was widespread. In the industrial arts section, people were milling around the automotive demonstration, the drafting department's display of designs, and the electronic equipment demonstration. English, math and foreign languages hadn't been forgotten, with each department having a display.

The COEP program was offering employers a brochure on how to get tax credit for employing students. Additionally, many students in the COEP program volunteered to prepare a dinner for 50 guests, to show their food service training.

"Here's teenagers working, instead of doing drugs and drinking as some people think the kids are always doing," Bryssel said.

Said Gregory Kane, career education coordinator, as he welcomed the group, "60 percent of the students now entering high school will work in jobs that haven't even been invented yet."

Principal Jacob Ludes III told the parents, "Our purpose is to meet with you, and share our enthusiasm for the growing vocational education program."

Existing ordinances pertain only to public parking lots handling 20 cars or more. The proposal stipulates that private and public parking lots be subjected to identical handicap regulations.

Wethersfield is one of the few towns in the state to have adopted such an ordinance.

Request for the ordinance came from the Commission on the Handicapped, whose members have reported the need for additional parking spaces for the handicapped.

The commission has reported consistent violations of the law requiring only those with handicapped permits to use the reserved spaces.

The crowd cheered in Clark, going stride for stride with her. Did it help? "Did I hear them," Decker answered rhetorically. "I heard them the whole time. They pushed me along. Without that crowd, I don't think I could have made it. It was wonderful."

On the scholastic, collegiate and professional levels, a home crowd can make a difference. There's no medical explanation for it, but a team, well-supported, gets pumped up a little higher. Maybe it's that the adrenalin is flowing a little quicker than otherwise.

The Whippets undoubtedly will bring a goodly number Friday night to Clarke. Will enough Manchesterites be in attendance to support the Indians?

That's a good question.

No one really knows the answer.

These trees will enhance the beauty of our town's landscape and help to assure the availability of a vital natural resource for generations to come.

Meeting Planned On MHS Project

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The Citizens' Review and Advisory Committee on the Renovation Plans for Manchester High School will meet tonight at 7:30 in the library of the high school.

The group is in the process of determining what needs to be done to bring the school up to par. Working from the educational specifications report generated by the high school staff, the committee is determining if each of the requests in that report are legitimate.

The group was requested by Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy to serve as goodwill ambassadors for the high school renovation, which is expected to come before the voters in the form of a referendum for at least $1 million in September.

Scott Clendaniel has expressed his concern as a committee member at a recent meeting that the group was just acting as a rubber stamp for the high school staffers' recommendations.

"One of the things that bothers me a little bit is that we are being asked to serve as goodwill ambassadors for the project. Yet, in our review, we're only being asked to make the most simplistic decisions like 'We need a roof because the present roof leaks.' Then, the architect will take over. We're being asked to promote something that we didn't have a lot of control over," Clendaniel said.

Acting superintendent Wilson E. Deakin Jr., had responded that the responsibilities of the committee are divided into two stages. "A 'what stage, and a 'how' stage are involved. Now we're at the 'what' stage," Deakin said.

He said the group should view its current task as determining what the expanded ordinance on handicapped parking privileges, were announced Wednesday.

Malcolm Barlow, assistant town attorney, and supported by the Commission on the Handicapped, would like to reserve space for handicapped lots.

Existing ordinances pertain only to public parking lots handling 20 cars or more. The proposal stipulates that private and public parking lots be subjected to identical handicap regulations.

Wethersfield is one of the few towns in the state to have adopted such an ordinance.

Request for the ordinance came from the Commission on the Handicapped, whose members have reported the need for additional parking spaces for the handicapped.

Brotherhood Theme at Olympics

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI) — There were magnificent colorful hot air balloons but no political wind bags.

There was a purple mountain backdrop which symbolized the majesty of the moment, no smoke-filled rooms and talks of boycott.

The XIII Winter Olympics opened with a theme of brotherhood Wednesday, unspooled by the politics of the Summer Olympics which had cast a pall in recent weeks over the ancient Greek concept of the Games.

Let the Games begin — and the buses start rolling.

The competition begins in earnest today with 10 events including gold medal contests in the downhill ski race, the women's 1,500-meter speedskate and the men's 30-kilometer cross country ski race.

U.S. medal hopes are high in two of the three events. Both Heiden of Madison, Wis., has a chance for a gold medal in the 1,500-meter competition and Bill Koch of Brattleboro, Vt., a silver medalist in the 1976 Olympics, is a medal candidate in the 30-kilometer cross country.

In the downhill, U.S. hopes for a medal are slim, although Karl Anderson of Greene, Maine, and Pete Patterson of Sun Valley, Idaho, have performed fairly well in the practice runs.

There are also six hockey games on today's schedule, including the U.S. against Czechoslovakia, and the second run of the men's and women's luge.

But if the transportation problem doesn't improve, there may be several athletes who don't make their starting times.

Transportation Problems

Bus transportation to the various venues has been a problem since athletes, journalists and spectators began arriving last week. At the opening ceremonies Wednesday it was complete chaos. Thousands of spectators, unable to get bus chance for a gold medal in the 1,500-meter competition and Bill Koch of Brattleboro, Vt., a silver medalist in the 1976 Olympics, is a medal candidate in the 30-kilometer cross country.

Gardening Krause Florist A Family Firm

By FRANK ATWOOD
Three generations of the Krause family are now involved in the florist business with Krause Florist and Greenhouse on Hartford Road, Manchester. Cynthia Krause Knoblach, the youngest daughter of George Krause, head of the business, is the latest to join the staff. Her grandparents, Michael and Anna Krause, who started the business and who are now retired, help frequently with greenhouse work at busy seasons.

Married in June of last year, Cindy, as she prefers to be called, told her father she would like to work for him, and, with his coaching, she has become a designer of flower arrangements.

In her picture, Cindy is making a bouquet for a new mother at the hospital. Because the baby is boy, there are some pink flowers in the arrangement, roses and carnations. With them, she used daisies and chrysanthemums. As green foliage she chose leather-leaf fern and spiral eucalyptus.

He said that consideration of remarriage is one of the most difficult problems for a divorced person, particularly those in a faith that prohibits remarriage or, if, from reading the Bible, they find a prohibition.

He said as a pastor he is frequently asked questions on the idea of remarriage and Biblical interpretations on the subject. "People want to know their religious responsibilities," he said.

Educators Delay Action On New Health Program

VERNON — The Vernon Board of Education has decided to "wait and see" attitude concerning the instituting of a total health program in the school system.

Board members at the meeting last Monday considered the proposal prepared by Claire and John Bellino, department heads at Rockville High School, asking the board to establish two health education staff positions to implement the program next school year.

The Bellinos pointed out that it might be a couple of years before the state mandates separate health education personnel for school systems. It is expected that a Task Force of the General Assembly will make a final report that will contain a recommendation to the legislature for action and from there it will go to the State Department of Education.

A health education program was prepared a couple of years ago by Claire Albom, director of physical education for the school system. It is her feeling that the interdisciplinary approach to the program was the best.

However, the Bellinos said the state has already mandated health programs and they feel adding additional staff members would ensure that all students in the public schools would receive the same health education background at designated grade levels and all areas of the curriculum would receive equal emphasis. They said a special teacher on each level would provide a common philosophy and emphasis throughout the program.

Contrary to Mrs. Albom's opinion concerning interdisciplinary programs, the Bellinos feel the better approach is to identify a definite slot of time for the program on the elementary and secondary levels.

Dr. Bernard Sidman, superintendent of schools, said the possibility of the state mandating a qualified person to head the program is just another prime example of the state imposing, on towns, a mandate saying you have to have certificated staff, but said he thinks it would be wise to wait and see what the state is going to do.

The addition of the two proposed staff members would cost the town about $20,000.

The committee has allotted more than $37,500 to local area fuel banks. The fuel banks have also already received more than $200,000 directly from their towns, in addition to some $300,000 contributed directly to Operation Fuel.

John B. Breckenridge, director of Operation Fuel, said this combination of effort must continue in order to meet the demand throughout the state this season, which has been estimated to be about $1 million.

The club officers are: Bonnie Field, president; Jeanne Boulay, vice president; Frazi Ross, treasurer; and Sandy Boynovsky, secretary.

The club has recently become a member of the newly established Connecticut Junior Women Inc.

Abby

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed STOLE ONE asked how you thought God would feel about a person who steals a Bible out of a hotel room, and you replied, "Nobody needs a Bible as much as the person who would steal one."
Well, Abby, you sure pointed out that one. You should have pointed out that taking a Bible is not stealing! The Bible societies feel they have won a great victory when someone takes a Bible with them. That's the purpose of putting the Bible there in the first place. It is the duty of all good Christians to spread the gospel throughout the world.
I always feel sad when I see an old Bible, good as new, lying in the same place for years, unopened, unread, serving no one.
Please print my letter so the person who took the Bible will know that he is not guilty of stealing.
I took a Bible once and I feel real good about it.
C.M. IN MICHIGAN

DEAR ABBY: I've seen many a Bible in many a hotel room, but I've yet to see a sign saying, "Help yourself." Read on for an authoritative view of the subject:
DEAR ABBY: As a regular reader of your column in the Wenatchee (Wash.) Daily Herald, and a representative of The Gideons International, may I add to your logical reply to STOLE ONE.
The Gideons International is a society of Christian businessmen and professional men—all members of most evangelical churches of which there are at 80,000 in 123 countries throughout the world.
Every 17 days we place about one million Bibles for 200 million a year in the rooms of hotels, motels, hospitals, jails, and other public places in an effort to serve mankind by making the Scriptures available to as many people as possible.
These Bibles are the property of The Gideons, and are sold for by the free will gifts and offerings of concerned Christians of all denominations.
Of course, we neither encourage nor condone taking the Bibles, but many do, which necessitates replacing a good number of Bibles annually at our expense.
We receive letters from people who confess having taken one of our Bibles, most send a donation along with their apologies.
The current cost of the Bible is $2.85. Abby, you would be doing us a great service to let your readers know that anyone who has taken a Gideons Bible and wishes to make restitution may send his donation to:

Bridge

Canny defense dumps slam

The Professor finally settled on the 10 of spades. South west in dummy and promptly led out the ace, king and a small trump. West was back on lead and faced with a really hard problem. Meanwhile East, who had played the deuce of spades at trick one, had made three spades discard. Looking at all the cards you can see that a spade lead, a club lead or the ace of diamonds lead are all fatal. The Professor worked this all out which finally led him to find the killing defense. He led a low diamond! The Professor's computer mind had printed out the South hand as with three spades, six hearts, either no diamonds and four clubs or one diamond and three clubs. South would not have jumped to six if he would use two quick diamond tricks. Either way, the slam would not make. South might avoid a diamond loss, but he would still have to lose a club and if South was void of diamonds he could only get one discard on a diamond honor.
