

An Amazing New Diet Idea!

HOW TO BURN OFF BODY FAT, HOUR-BY-HOUR!

MEDICAL DOCTOR'S NEW DISCOVERY BURNS AWAY MORE FAT AND FLUID THAN IF YOU RAN 98 MILES PER WEEK!

Dear Friend, My name is Don Schwedtfeger. I am an M.D. and have been practicing medicine here in San Diego for 14 years.

My diet product does not necessarily produce a specific spot reduction, but if you are considerably overweight a significant overall loss of excess pounds could easily mean that you could lose:

- 6 inches off waistline
4 inches off stomach
4 inches off buttocks
3 inches off thighs
5 inches off hips

Remember - you don't have to wait weeks for results with my system. It starts instantly!

The way you use this formula is simple. All you do is mix it with a glass of your favorite beverage and drink it every day the first thing in the morning.

Then, during the rest of the day, you eat a wide selection of tasty foods which are scientifically programmed to maintain a high level of fat burn-off.

That's all there is to it. This may be the most effective fat-burning method ever developed. It is not a drug. It is not a gimmick. It is a formula that I was only able to develop after years of research and, as I said before, I use it myself.

It works. And now I want to spread the word to other doctors so they can use my diet system to help all of their overweight patients.

Many of the people who have tested my program have lost as much as 2 pounds of fat and fluid every day for the first week. Actually, many people have reported a 6 pound weight loss in just the first 48 hours!

When you begin to use this program, you can expect to be able to measure the difference in your waistline in just 24 to 48 hours.

The amazing thing, of course, is the speed at which this system works. It is rather remarkable to throw off as much as 6 pounds of fat and fluid in the very first weekend.

My first concern when I developed this program was safety. Therefore, my anti-fat formula contains absolutely no drugs. It is made up entirely of 100% natural ingredients.

... The amazing thing, of course, is the speed at which this program works. It is rather remarkable to throw off as much as 6 pounds of fluid and fat in the very first weekend ...

ABOUT DOCTOR SCHWEDTFEGER Don Schwedtfeger, M.D. has been practicing medicine in San Diego for 14 years.

... Imagine how it must feel to drop up to 2 pounds a day and shrink your waistline up to 3 inches the first week ...

help me. And, as I said before, I will be more than happy to repay you for your help.

It is easy to order. First of all, don't send any money. All you have to do is pick up your phone and dial 1-800-523-7635.

VITAL NOTE! PLEASE FOLLOW THE INSTRUCTIONS BELOW AND DO NOT SEND ANY MONEY TO ORDER THIS AMAZING DIET SYSTEM.

records, please tell her the number of your order is 1484.

That's all there is to it. Your order will be sent out to you quite promptly.

However, I am pretty sure you are going to be more than satisfied. Actually, I think you're going to be amazed. In fact, I think you are going to lose your excess weight faster and easier than you ever thought possible.

In return for this favor (as soon as I get your letter) I will immediately send you another supply of my new diet product and I will send it to you absolutely free.

The amount that I will send you will be the same amount that you order now from Millburn Products. This will be my way of thanking you for helping me with my research.

Sincerely, Don Schwedtfeger, M.D.

PS. By the way, if you have any questions after you start using my new diet product you can call me direct at the number on my business card which is reproduced below. Thank You.

Banker Charged In Heist

NEW HAVEN (UPI) - A vice president of a bank robbed of $270,000 in Connecticut's largest-ever bank heist was arrested early today with another man and charged with conspiracy, the FBI said.

First Bank Vice President Cornelius Cobb of Hamden, manager of the East Street branch, and Ronald Baia of West Haven were held without bond on charges of conspiracy to violate federal bank robbery laws in the robbery Thursday.

The FBI declined to elaborate on the alleged roles Cobb, 46, and Baia, 35, had played in the heist, but said the investigation was continuing.

Cobb and Baia were scheduled to be arraigned before a federal magistrate later today.

Police had said initially Thursday that two armed men, wearing Halloween masks and trench coats, confronted Cobb in the bank parking lot when he arrived for work at 8:45 a.m.

He was taken with six female workers - still wearing their coats and hats - to the bank's basement where they were handcuffed to metal filing cabinets.

Police said Cobb then was forced at gunpoint to open the bank's vault and then he was also handcuffed. No shots were fired during the robbery.

A bank messenger, who had been at the branch half an hour earlier and seen nothing wrong, returned at about 9 a.m. to find the bank locked.

The messenger used a hammer and chisel to free Cobb and another worker before police arrived.

Officers tried to open the cuffs with keys, but were forced to use bolt cutters to free the other bank workers.

Authorities said the bank, in a run-down neighborhood, had extra money on hand because it was payday at nearby factories and workers cash their checks at the bank.

It was the second major bank robbery in New Haven in two weeks. A lone handist last week used a fake bomb to steal more than $41,000 from a Colonial Bank branch.

Police also said they were looking at a similar robbery in Derby Wednesday in which two men wearing Halloween masks escaped with $14,000.

Freed Hostages Pave Way for Talks

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) - Leftist guerrillas freed their last five women hostages today opening the way for negotiations on ransom demands for the release of 48 diplomats seized two days ago in an attack on the Dominican Embassy residence.

The five women walked out shortly after 9 a.m., entered four automobiles and left the area. Their release was about an hour later than the time originally announced.

The guerrillas, who are demanding $50 million ransom and freedom for more than 300 of their jailed comrades, had released 10 other women, a 18-year-old boy and two wounded men Thursday night. They still are holding an estimated 40 diplomats, including the U.S. Ambassador and the papal nuncio.

Council Airs Family Services Bill

MANCHESTER - The Community Services Council met Thursday afternoon to address some of the problems they see as inherent in the Family With Services Needs Law.

Under the federal law, if a state jails status offenders, they will not receive Law Enforcement assistance funding, which represents approximately $80 million dollars to Connecticut.

Before the law takes effect, scheduled for July 1, the Connecticut Justice Commission must review whether the state is prepared to handle it. According to Barry, the MVD can do more despite limited money and personnel, said the bill would put teeth into the agency.

"Efficiency is money. The MVD's policy is one of no priorities," Serrani said. "These proposals will provide tremendous savings to the state and prevent the public from being exploited any further."

$3.1 Million Cost Guess For School

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - The November referendum on the renovations at Manchester High School will be based on definitive figures, which at this time aren't available.

Susag said then the average amount of indebtedness is half of the total. The amount of interest is equal to the interest rate (10 percent) multiplied by the average indebtedness (half of $3 million).

Both officials stressed that the figures are very preliminary and are subject to many variables. They said the exercise is an attempt to explain to citizens how any figure in a referendum can be translated into its effect on the mill rate.

At a recent meeting of the Advisory Committee on the Renovation, member Enrico Ruffini declared "The renovation goes down to what is going to cost. What is it going to cost to me as an individual? That is what most people in town are concerned about."

Yavis stressed that the exercise is only to arrive at an outside, top figure estimate. "Mr. Susag feels, as I do, that the figure will be something less," Yavis said.

Susag said the price of the renovation can be calculated, to determine its basic effect on the mill rate. As an example, he said the first step is to take as a possible assumption that the renovation might cost $3 million.

Then, further assume that there will be no reimbursement by the state or federal governments, and that Manchester will pay for the renovation. This assumption will most likely not be true, but for the sake of the exercise, it is offered.

Then, Susag said conservative estimate of interest rate would be 10 percent. The final figure is the standard bond period of 20 years.

Big Changes Urged in MVD

HARTFORD (UPI) - A major legislative proposal would create an enforcement division in the Motor Vehicle Department to crack down on vehicle violations and abuses across the state.

The Legislature's Transportation Committee Thursday proposed sweeping changes in the MVD that would include police powers for investigators and authorize the MVD commissioner to suspend or revoke licenses of auto and junkyard dealers convicted of violating motor vehicle laws.

The package would limit the number of special plates that could be issued, allow towns to treat the plates as taxable property and prohibit auto dealers, repairers and junkyard dealers from using the plates for personal use.

Personal Debts Rising

We talk a lot these days about burgeoning government spending and the soaring public debt... What practitioners of this brand of economics may fail to realize is that unrestrained credit buying - neglecting savings and going further into debt - makes them partners with government in keeping inflation going.

Personal savings declined to 3.2 percent of disposable income in December, the latest month statistics were available, the Commerce Department said. This is the lowest since the government began keeping such records in 1959.

While savings were declining, the personal debt total was rising. This debt, including mortgages, was $430 billion in 1970. Late last year it had nearly tripled to $1.2 trillion.

Weekend That's Entertainment Television News Is Entertainment

By ALLEN M. WIDEM
It's all well and good, certainly in the spirit of hip-hoppy attendant to entertainment developments, to note the tumult-and-shouting involving the selection of a successor to Walter Cronkite on CBS-TV's evening news.

Dan Rather's paid his dues, me am, and deserves to take over what is acknowledged to be THE Number One news niche in American television. But what defies the imagination—at least from this particular paragraph's vantage point—is the enormous outpouring of print media (i.e., newspapers, ma'm, newspapers' attention and attention-plus about Cronkite's successor.

Realistically, a major newspaper anywhere in these United States appoints a new editor, a new executive editor, and regardless of the individual's capabilities, credentials, whatever, the resultant hip-hoppy does not begin to compare with the newspapers did in handling the Cronkite Rather piece.

Alert! To read the daily press, most especially the so-called "metropolitan" newspapers, one might have gathered the impression, erroneous though it may have been, that naming a successor for anchor-man on "CBS Evening News" was something akin to a vital decision-making developments in America.

Cronkite wants out from the obviously heavy demands of time and effort tied to the Monday-through-Friday schedule. After years of helming "CBS Evening News," he would like, quite frankly, to take things easy.

Whether television will admit this or not, the medium is more entertainment-oriented than anything else. News does NOT dominate programming determinations. Whereas, the entertainment information components of a community-minded newspaper such as the very one you're reading right now are dwarfed, indeed, dwarfed by what the working press likes to call "hard" news—the very stuff that practically demands Page One attention and holds Page One attention.

For CBS or any other network to get the print media all steamed up about who's to do what on what news program (and, please let's not get into the million-dollar "deals" for such talents as Barbara Walters!) is not about to markedly improve the news program content.

"Uncle" Walter has maintained a fatherly image for two generations of Americans. He has done his homework, applied himself with professionalism, as befits a newsmen who was an assignment for the United Press in Europe during World War II.

If the truth were known, we'd say that "Uncle" Walter's a bit embarrassed by the tremendous "newsplay" on the part of the print media concerning his decision to step aside from the daily grind. If the truth were known, we'd say that the professional he is, "Uncle" Walter would have preferred to quietly say his goodnight-and-goodbye in his dignified manner one Friday and move aside for Rather.

But, doggone, Deputy Dawg! There was "Uncle" Walter, pipe in hand, and a smiling Dan, on a lot of Page Ones. The print media had paid homage to a legend while the legend was still around to read it. "Uncle" Walter must have gulped in embarrassment.

The working press—both print and broadcast—seeks to do its job. "Covering" itself to the point of massive attention to who's succeeding whom gets downright distressing for professionalism.

Opera House Season To Open With Musical

EAST HADDAM — Michael P. Price, executive director of the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, has announced that the 1980 season will open on April 9th with the musical, "The Happy Time."

"The Happy Time" is a heart-warming tale of a boy growing up in a loving, sentimental, three-generation French Canadian family with all their eccentricities and temperamental conflicts.

The music is by the team of John Kander and Fred Ebb who collaborated on the Broadway hit musicals "Cabaret," "Zorba" and "Chicago."

The book for "The Happy Time" is by N. Richard Nash, author of "The Rainmaker" and "10 in the Shade" and the screenplay for "Foggy and Bess."

"The Happy Time" will be directed by Sue Lawless who directed "Tip-Toes," starring Georgia Engel, at the Goodspeed and later at the Brooklyn Academy of Music and who received wide critical acclaim for her direction of "The Five O'Clock Girl" last season with the Opera House.

Goodspeed's 18th season will see the return of Choreographer Dan Siretta, Scenic Designer John Lee Beatty, Musical Director Lynn Kriger, Costume Designer David Toner, Musical Arranger Russell Warner and Lighting Designer Peter M. Ehrhardt.

Opening on June 25th is a revival of George M. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones," with its flag-waving songs "The Yankee Doodle Boy" and "Give My Regards to Broadway."

"Zapata," a racy, bawdy, funny musical about the colorful Mexican revolutionary Emiliano Zapata, will be the new show and the third production of the season.

Directed by Bert Convy, it has music by the contemporary composers Harry Nilsson, whose record sales topped fifteen million, and Perry Botkin Jr., who wrote "The Happy Time" for "The Young and the Restless" and who writes regularly for "Mork & Mindy." The book is by Allan Katz who's written and produced for "M*A*S*H," "Rhoda," "Mary Tyler Moore" and MGM's "The Goodbye Girl."

The Goodspeed Opera House Box Office is now open. For tickets, phone 873-8668.

Dawn Hliviak Featured In College Production

STORRS — Dawn Hliviak of Manchester will be performing in the Department of Dramatic Arts presentation of "Hair," at the University of Connecticut.

"Hair," a tribal-love rock musical, is being presented in a new light at Harriet S. Jorgensen Theater. It will be presented through March 6, with performances every evening at 8:15. An additional matinee will be presented at 2 p.m. Saturday.

In her role as Sheila, Miss Hliviak will portray the woman in love with the male lead, Claude, before he goes off to fight in the war in Vietnam.

Miss Hliviak, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hliviak, 36 Treble Dr., is an acting major. She has performed several times with the Department of Dramatic Arts, including the roles of Mother in "The Boyfriend," Margot in "The Diary of Anne Frank," and Mrs. Enterprise in "Crawling Ark."

In telling the story of Claude, a long-haired rebel, "Hair," focused on the rejection of establishment attitudes, a mood that characterized much of its era. The director of "Hair," Cathy Anderson, realized that some aspects of "Hair" had become outdated, and for that reason she gave the play two dimensions.

One level presents the play's original theme of anti-war protests and the new level looks back from a vantage point of the 70's.

Miss Hliviak, who also performed in Manchester High School productions, is the recipient of the Laurel Music Award and the Outstanding Dramatist Award. Tickets are on sale in the theater box office. For more information and reservations, call 429-2912.

Exhibition Scheduled

NORWICH — The exhibition of work by Connecticut artists held at the Slater Memorial Museum, Norwich, is always one of the most popular shows of the season. The large number of entries submitted each year and the high quality of the work makes this annual exhibition one of the important art events in Connecticut.

The exhibition will be held in the Converse Art Gallery of the museum on the campus of the Norwich Free Academy from March 23 through April 6.

For entry blanks and prospectus write to the Slater Memorial Museum, The Norwich Free Academy, 108 Crescent St., Norwich, Conn. 06360.

LTM's Drama Ends Saturday

MANCHESTER — "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams will have its last two performances tonight and Saturday night at 8:30 at East Catholic High School Auditorium. The drama is directed by Daniel Lein.

Betty Lundberg heads the cast of four. Mrs. Lundberg was last seen in the LTM production of "Bells Are Ringing." She has also played leading roles in "Janus," "The Women," and "The Little Foxes." Diane MacDonald joins the Little Theatre again to create the role of Laura. Miss MacDonald won an LTM theater scholarship to Manchester Community College in 1977. She has previously appeared for the theater in a major role in "Tartuffe."

In the role of Tom, Laura's brother, is Mark Nelson. Nelson last appeared in the University of Hartford production of "Othello" in the role of Iago. The final member of the cast is Harry Sanford, seen as the gentleman caller. Sanford has played a variety of roles in such productions as "Wait Until Dark," "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and "The Crucible."

Tickets for this weekend's performances can be obtained from Vincent Liscomb, 215 Henry St., Manchester, telephone 647-9286, or at the door.

The 1980 season subscriptions are still available as well. Season subscribers receive two tickets to each of the three plays to be presented this year, including the current production of "The Glass Menagerie."

Gen. Ladd Dies at 84

GLASTONBURY — William F. Ladd of Sacramento, Calif., a former adjutant general of Connecticut, the state's highest military honor, and a retired Army brigadier general, died Tuesday at a Sacramento convalescent home. He was 84.

Gen. Ladd was born in Spencer, Mass., and attended the Worcester Commercial School, Worcester, Mass. He was an Army pilot during World War I.

Ladd was named adjutant general by the late Gov. John H. Trumbull. Before that he was a major in the Connecticut National Guard and commander of its 43rd Aviation Division.

He retired as adjutant general in 1959 and later moved from Suffield to Melbourne, Fla., and to Sacramento, Calif. five years ago.

He was a past president of the Connecticut National Guard Association and a former trustee of Suffield Academy.

He was the father of Ann (Ladd) Skinner of Glastonbury.

He is also survived by his wife, Catherine F. Ladd of Sacramento, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Maryjane (Ladd) Stacey of Melbourne, Fla., and Mrs. Rachel (Ladd) Finkle of Sacramento, Calif.; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday March 7 in Florida.

Police Thwart Club Burglary

MANCHESTER — Two Manchester police officers thwarted a burglary in progress at the Manchester Racquet Club, 404 West Center St., police said.

A suspect, identified as Henry R. May, 32, of 19 Beldon St., Hartford, has been charged with third-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny.

Police said officers Clarence Heritage and Edwin Colozok investigated the incident at 2:47 a.m. Police alleged May was standing in front of a soda machine in the establishment with a crowbar at his belt. The suspect was arrested without any resistance.

Police said May was presented in East Hartford Superior Court today in lieu of a $5,000 cash bond.

Driver Charged in Accident

Vernon Karen A. Barile, 22, of Newington, was charged Thursday night with driving while under the influence of liquor or other drugs.

Police said the arrest was made in connection with the investigation of a three-car accident on March 11.

Police said Ms. Barile was driving southbound and her car sideswiped a northbound car which was maneuvering around another accident. The second car was driven by

David M. Quigley

SOUTH WINDSOR — Petty Officer David M. Quigley, USN, 27, of 230 Brook St., died Thursday in a Boston Naval Hospital.

Born in Hartford, Mr. Quigley had lived here all his life. He was a member of St. Margaret Mary Church. He attended the South Windsor school system and was a 1971 graduate of South Windsor High School and vice president of that class. He attended Providence College. He was presently serving in the Navy, aboard the USS Inchon, stationed in Norfolk, Va.

He is survived by his parents, George D. and Marcy (Maxfield) Quigley of South Windsor; two brothers, Dennis P. Quigley and Brian M. Quigley, both of Manchester; and a niece, Kate Quigley of Manchester.

Funeral services will be Saturday, 8:15 a.m., from the Samsel-Bassinger Funeral Home, 419 Buckland Road, following by a mass at St. Margaret Mary Church, 9 a.m., in St. Margaret Mary Church. Burial will be in Wapping Cemetery.

There will be no calling hours. Memorial contributions may be made to the South Windsor Post of the American Legion, 9 a.m., in St. Margaret Mary Church, 97 Pleasant Valley Road, 06074.

Second Suspect Nabbed In Kidnapping-Robbery

MANCHESTER — Police have arrested a second suspect in the Jan. 12, 1979 kidnapping and robbery at a McNeil Street gas station.

Gregory Oliver, 19, whose last known address was 36 Brook St., Hartford, was charged Thursday with first-degree robbery and first-degree kidnapping, police said.

Police said a warrant was served on Oliver, who is being held in Hartford on other charges.

Last month, police charged Kalph Brown Jr. of 73 Westminster St., Hartford, on similar charges.

Police alleged they were among four men who held up the former service station at 18 McNeil St. and took two men hostage. A gas station attendant and a 24-year-old customer were forced into a car and then taken to East Hartford, where they were released unharmed near the rear of Showcase Cinema. Over $500 was also taken from the station's cash box, police said.

Cheney Plan Can Work Despite Grim Economy

By MARTIN KEARNS
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — They said it could be done. Despite their grim economic overview, 18 percent inflation, a prime lending rate of 16.5 percent, a tight money market, a bond market they saw as falling apart and a national economy in chaos, consultants said it would be possible to finance a fair market value for monied developers.

The twice-delayed report on funding for Cheney Mill redevelopment was delivered Thursday to commissioners of the Cheney Historic District Commission.

The Boston-based consulting firm of Anderson Nutter & Feingold said development of the mill complex could generate as much as $736,000 in taxes each year.

Their plans, which they said is a new phenomena in the development field, calls for three housing types in the Cheney District. Included are condominiums, apartments and subsidized housing.

A fourth component, corporate offices, was presented as an attractive but unlikely option. Corporations pay the highest taxes, about $2 per square foot. Condominiums pay the next highest, roughly 70 cents per square foot. The town now yields about 1 cent per square foot from the mill area, consultants said.

They suggested the development occur in three stages similar to the three options already presented to the commission. The consultants said, however, that stage-one would be the most crucial, setting a standard of quality but not strapping the town to an unchangeable development plan.

In their proposed first-stage, 300 to 400 housing units would be developed, roughly a quarter of the district's capacity. Developers could expect to earn an $8,500 profit on each unit, a figure they said would attract developers.

The town, they said, could absorb 200 to 275 housing units each year. They added commitment to a first phase of about 400 units would probably be necessary to attract a developer and to ensure the quality standard.

The plan would be financed by a combination of private and federal funds. Federal grants were seen by the consultants as a further and perhaps necessary attraction for developers.

Although Kuzniel has no definite plans to build condominiums, residents of the area of the Kaminsky farm property on Old Town Road, which Kuzniel now owns, expressed strong objections to indications that that land would be used for the condominiums.

Vernon Zoners Restrict Condos

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

VERNON — Construction of new condominiums in four zones and conversion of existing buildings to condominiums will be allowed in Vernon but with restrictions. Amendments to the zoning laws, approved by the Zoning Commission Thursday night, will allow this action.

Several public hearings were held on the amendments which were proposed by John Lorange, a planning consultant acting for Werner Kuzniel, developer.

Although Kuzniel has no definite plans to build condominiums, residents of the area of the Kaminsky farm property on Old Town Road, which Kuzniel now owns, expressed strong objections to indications that that land would be used for the condominiums.

The plan would be financed by a combination of private and federal funds. Federal grants were seen by the consultants as a further and perhaps necessary attraction for developers.

Proud as they may be, Hartford Civic Center officials must be held responsible for the atrocious condition the ice was in for the Hartford Whalers' National Hockey League game against the Boston Bruins last Wednesday night.

The game should never have been played under the conditions that prevailed. The ice was just terrible and all the patching up in the world would not have put it in playing condition.

It wasn't fair to the two teams involved or to the paying fans. Jack Kelley, general manager of the Whalers and my neighbor in the press box, said the ice for a game (any kind of a game) was the worst that he had seen in his long career.

The latter covers a quarter century. Hartford voters in the opening round of the Big East basketball tournament.

The 8-ranked Redmen, who host Providence on Saturday, were watched as a game-jumping hoop by the Friars' Rudy Williams, who settled through the net with six seconds left.

But Williams was spotted for a charging foul and the Redmen escaped with a 48-44 victory to set up tonight's matchup with 20th-ranked Georgetown. The other semifinal pits Syracuse against Connecticut, but Caracesea is just happy to be playing anyone.

"We're a lucky team, that's all," said Caracesea, whose team topped its record to 24-3. "There are no excuses and I'm not taking anything away from what Providence did."

For the Friars, the loss ended their season at 11-16. First year coach Gary Walters said the game epitomized the Providence season.

"I thought we were beaten by a good basketball team," Davis stated, and freshman David Russell scored 11 of his game-high 17 points to kick off the second half. But after taking a 38-32 lead with 8:33 remaining, the Redmen had to hold off a Providence surge led by Rudy Williams, who paced the Fri

Fund Eligibility Probed by Mayor

VERNON—Mayor Marie Herbst has been in contact with the Washington, D. C. office of U. S. Rep. Christopher Dodd to attempt to find out if the town is eligible for funding for the proposed new firehouse.

The mayor hopes to get funding under the Federal Public Works Act, the same act that provided the money to build the town's police station last year.

Congress hasn't released eligibility guidelines for the funding, as yet. Former Mayor Frank McOy, last August, said he had little hope that any state or federal funding would be available for the firehouse construction.

The first estimate of the cost of the station was given at $140,000, that was several months ago. The latest estimate given by the architect was $420,000 but the Town Council has set a cost limit of $375,000 so the architect, Richard Lawrence, and the Permanent Municipal Building Committee have to revise the plans.

The town was given a grant of $41.12 million to build the police facility. The grant came under the Economic Development Administration. A few years ago a similar grant was awarded to renovate the Memorial Building.

Mrs. Herbst said she's been told that grant money may become available for the firehouse, under the same program. The amount of a grant received by a town is based on its unemployment rate.

Interest Shown In Old Station

VERNON—The old police station building on West Road hasn't been used since the police moved into their new facility last spring but several groups have expressed interest in it.

Mayor Marie Herbst said Ronald Hines, director of Public Works, would like to use the building for office space for his department. He has charge of maintenance of all town buildings and has put some money in his budget request to renovate that facility.

Mrs. Herbst also said that the town's Ambulance Corps would like to use the building for its headquarters. The building doesn't have a garage for ambulance storage, however.

Since it was vacated suggestions have been made to use it as a senior citizen satellite center and as a branch office of the Rockville Public Library.

The building has to be maintained as a civil defense facility because that's what it was originally built for with federal funds but that group makes use of a small portion of it.

Revaluation Office Set Up in Vernon

VERNON—Offices for those working on the town's revaluation program have been set up in a section of the Senior Citizen Center on Park place Mayor Marie Herbst said.

Mrs. Herbst said it was necessary to make space at the center when it was found that the operation required a lot more equipment and personnel than at first thought.

It will cost the town $10,000 for the revaluation. Mrs. Herbst said $50,000 was budgeted for the program in the current budget and another $50,000 will be allotted in the budget for 1981 with the final $50,000 to be budgeted the following year.

Towns have to go through the revaluation process every 10 years, according to state law.

Smorgasbord Slated

MANCHESTER—Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will have a smorgasbord/Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

The smorgasbord, an annual event for about 20 years, raises funds for research and treatment of diabetes and for scholarships for the order awards.

Donations at $4 for adults, $1.75 for children from 5 to 12 years old. Younger children are admitted free.

Regional Transit Proposals Irk Town Residents

SOUTH WINDSOR — Dr. Lewis Clopton told a well attended meeting of area residents Thursday night the Capitol Region Council of Governments will be voting on five alternatives aimed at the alleviating regional mass transit problems, with final decisions expected by mid-April.

Dana S. Hanson, executive director of CRCOG, said that the projections of traffic, based on the five proposed alternatives, was made following extensive research and computer analysis. Hanson said the figures were projected to 1995.

Local residents, long opponents of the proposed Interstate 284, which would link proposed Interstate 291 to Interstate 91, reacted with disappointment to Dr. Clopton's conclusion that CRCOG would most likely accept Interstate 284, as a package deal, if reconstruction of Interstate 91 was approved.

Residents, supported by resolutions by the Town Council, have formally opposed Interstate 284 because of its planned path through some of South Windsor's meadow and historic district along Old Main Street.

Hanson said that CRCOG officials have scheduled a series of meetings in towns along the major highway corridors, in order to gain input from residents and to explain alternative proposals to handle mass transit problems.

Clopton told the residents that figures were based on an average population increase, ranging from 17 percent in the region, with South Windsor's population expected to climb from 17,000 to 19,000 by 1995.

Clopton outlined the five proposals of which CRCOG would choose one or parts of each proposed. He said that the first proposal considered would be "do nothing," but emphasized that alternative did include the completion of roadways already approved by CRCOG, including widening of Interstate 91, Interstate 284 and the Manchester Adams Street reconstruction project.

Clopton said that the baseline, or "do nothing" proposal would result in extreme congestion on Interstate 91 as well as more than capacity traffic on Route 5.

A second proposal is the Low Capital Bus Alternative, which would permit some increased scheduling of commuter buses, use of existing rail service and the establishment of interloop express bus transportation which would allow traffic from one suburban community to another, without entering Hartford.

Clopton said that presently the interloop bus schedule did not call for a stop in South Windsor, but indicated that it would include South Windsor if the proposal was adopted. It did, however, include a loop through West Hartford, East Hartford, Newington and Wethersfield.

The third alternative titled the High Capital Bus Proposal, calls for major improvements in express bus service with the construction of high occupancy vehicle lanes on all major highways. It would also include bus service on a 20 minute schedule with increased service in the Vernon area and at Burr Corners in Manchester.

Clopton said that increased use of buses, including increased car pooling, van pooling and transit use would substantially reduce peak hour traffic on all corridor facilities and achieve excellent congestion reductions.

Massachusetts line and an additional lane in each direction as well as a high occupancy vehicle lane.

Also included in this proposal is Interstate 291, from Interstate 91 in Windsor, across the Bissell Bridge, into Manchester. The highway construction option also includes Interstate 284, which could not be constructed without the construction of Interstate 291 because of its connection to that highway.

CRCOG will also consider a proposal which would call for the establishment of a commuter rail service, utilizing light trolley-like cars, using the present rail system. Clopton said all trains would eventually stop at Union Station in Hartford.

Study on Water Starts in Bolton

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

BOLTON — About 15 residents, selected from general public, attended the first public meeting of the Water Pollution Control Study Thursday night.

James Klar, committee chairman, reviewed the work of the committee since its formation in the summer of 1979.

Planning Commission members initiated the study because the town's 1970 plan of development was not drawn up with the present day concern for water control.

The study is being 75 percent funded by the Capitol Region Council of Governments and 25 percent by the town. The technical side of the study is being done by CRCOG.

Klar said, "We're happy to find we are in as good a situation as we are. We know where the problems are so we will look ahead and not get in a bind in the future."

Leonard Tolisano, CRCOG senior planner, said there are three phases to the study.

They are the current water quality problems in Bolton, methods to solve those problems and how to prevent those problems in the future.

Tolisano identified water quality problems as "anything that impacts the quality of water."

There were seven large maps for people to look at that showed soil types, surface drainage, aquifer areas, wetlands and flood areas, zoning, industrial zones and areas of concern. The maps will be left in town for other residents to look at.

Tolisano said, "By and large soil conditions in Bolton are not particularly well suited to septic systems. There have been about 90 system failures during the last five years."

Because of the failures and other circumstances, ten areas have been identified as "areas of concern," (areas that could result in problems). Tolisano said, "The areas are not very different than the rest of Bolton."

The areas are Bolton Lake, Box Mountain Road and Brookfield Road, Williams Road, Hillcrest Road and Carpenter Road, Cook Drive, South Road from Stony Road to Hop River, Laurwood Drive, Rosewood Lane and Birch Mountain Road, Bolton Center, Loomis Road from Brandy Street to Hebron Road, Lyman Road to West Street to Tumblebrook Drive and Hebron Road to Tanglewood Lane.

Calvin Hutchinson, sanitarian, said the number of failures are about the same each year. He said, "The systems are old and have lived their life. There's no way to stop them from failing. Very few systems on new houses failed."

He said, "The amount of failures should lessen each year because of our knowledge and education. We have better systems now than we've ever had."

Tolisano said water softeners that discharge into septic systems were identified as townwide problems because they add sodium to the water.

Robert Gorton, Planning Committee chairman, said, "The commission expects to update the 1970 town plan into a 1980 one that, along with 1980 census data, will hopefully reflect living changes in town."

The committee's preliminary goals of its proposed water pollution control plan follow:

- Maintain or improve the quality of water in streams leaving Bolton.
- Avoid pollution of aquifers in Bolton.
- Control erosion and sedimentation as it may affect downstream water quality.

- Assure that houses and other water users in Bolton have acceptable water quality.
- Maintain or improve the quality of water in Bolton Lake.

- Instruct the residents of the Town of Bolton in maintenance of their septic systems.
- To attain the goals at minimum cost.

By June the committee hopes to have a series of actions to recommend to the town.

Mary Scott

Church Sets Conference

MANCHESTER — The eleventh annual missionary conference of the Church of the Nazarene, 236 Main St., will convene tonight at 7:30 and continue through March 2. The challenge of Christian missions will be presented by Dr. Mary Scott and the Rev. Richard Devendorf.

Dr. Scott was a missionary to North China when she was interned by the Japanese during World War II from December 1941 to August 1945. She returned to work in South China until political troubles forced her to return home. She served for 25 years as executive secretary of the Nazarene World Mission Society.

After retirement, she served two years at the Nazarene Junior College in Chiba, Japan. She is presently serving as coordinator for the Department of World Mission for the denomination's 1980 General Assembly.

The Rev. Mr. Devendorf is now pastoring in Abingdon, Va. A strong advocate of the Wesleyan message of heart holiness, he is working for new Churches of the Nazarene in Connecticut. The Manchester church is sponsoring his ministry to the Willimantic area.

The conference has been planned by the missionary council under the leadership of Florence Wood, president.

Highlights will include a prayer breakfast, banquet, a parade of flags by the juniors, a telephone interview with Alfred and Arlen Swain who are missionaries in Ecuador from the local church, as well as music by the Men's Chorus and Teen and Junior Chorus.

The public is invited and nursery is provided. Reservations for meals are necessary. This event preempts the fourth film in the "Focus on the Family" series which will resume March 9 at 7 p.m.

Judge Won't Give Data In New Britain Scandal

HARTFORD (UPI) — A Superior Court judge has refused to provide New Britain officials with sealed information about 13 defendants awaiting trial in the city's municipal corruption scandal.

Judge John D. Brennan ordered the state Thursday to prepare for possible release only the grand jury testimony given by the six men involved in the scandal who have pleaded guilty. That information was to be altered to pertain strictly to the individual giving testimony.

He also ordered Assistant State's Attorney Glenn E. Coe to make a list of others who have been investigated but can't be prosecuted due to a lack of evidence or expiration of statutes of limitations.

Brennan said he will rule March 20 if city officials could have part or all of the information he outlined.

Brennan said he sympathized with New Britain officials and urged state authorities to make any upcoming arrests as quickly as possible.

"As far as I'm concerned, the city of New Britain has a very real problem," he said. "The court is aware and in sympathy. It seems to me if the state is going to make any more arrests in this case they should be done as soon as possible."

But he ultimately declined the city's request for all information, saying the court could not hand over to a third party files implicating individuals who were awaiting trial.

Richard T. Biggar, New Britain's special assistant corporation counsel, told Brennan the city had been "paralyzed" by the scandal and needed all information that had been gathered by state investigators.

He said an alleged key figure in the scandal, retired New Britain Personnel Director Alfred S. Pettinelli, had approved more than 500 promotions and appointments during his tenure. The city employs a total of about 600 people.

"The bulk of employees of the city of New Britain are under a cloud," said Biggar. "It makes no sense to appoint any employee if the city doesn't know how the employee procured his position."

"The fire board can't function, the police board can't function and the civil service commission can't function with names," he said. "They need evidence."

Coe objected to the request that would have handed the state's entire file to city officials, saying it endangered upcoming prosecutions.

Computers To Be Used To Check System Bets

WETHERSFIELD (UPI) — Computers to detect systems bettors in parimutuel operations are viewed by Connecticut's gambling boss as an effective and efficient deterrent.

John Devine, executive director of the Division of Special Revenue, said Thursday the sophisticated computer equipment could be installed within two weeks after final legislative approval.

Devine praised a bill approved by the Legislature's Public Safety Committee Wednesday to require the state's four parimutuel operations to install the equipment. The bill now goes to the House for debate.

Devine said he tried to have the Plainfield dog track and three jai alai frontons in Hartford, Milford and Bridgeport install the equipment voluntarily, but was unsuccessful.

The equipment would be able to pick out evidence of unusually heavy betting on a particular player or at a particular window.

Donor Aids Youth Panel

MANCHESTER — An anonymous donor has sent an official of the town's Commission on Children and Youth that she has $50 to donate for the commission to carry on its efforts.

Mary Sears, commission secretary, said today that a woman had sent her a letter saying there is $50 in her home, and the commission is welcome to it.

Sears said she was unsure about charter rules on gifts to commissions. Robert Weiss, general manager, said today the money would have to be brought to the attention of the Board of Directors. He said the money would be voted upon as an "earmarked gift" and would likely be legitimately appropriated to the commission.

Mrs. Sears said the woman asked that her name not be released. The matter will be discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the commission.

At an earlier commission meeting, members had decried the lack of funds awarded them by the town government. They claimed the draught on cash was causing problems in their mailing, copying, and other secretarial functions essential to efficient operation.

Sunday Drinking Hours

Benefits of Bill Argued

HARTFORD (UPI) — Proposals which would expand Sunday night hours at bars and restaurants and allow them to serve cocktails on Election Day were the toast of a public hearing Thursday.

Lobbyists and a lawmaker told the Legislature's General Law Committee the days of drinks buying an election were over, and the Sunday extension would help pump additional tax revenues into Connecticut's coffers.

One proposal would allow bars and restaurants, which now must close Sunday at 11 p.m., to stay open until 1 a.m. The second would allow on-premise establishments to serve while polls are open Election Day.

J. Scott Guilmartin, executive secretary of the Connecticut Cafe and Restaurant Liquor Council, said the Sunday hours measure was "a long-awaited and practical move."

"Not only will the public and businessmen benefit, but the state will receive vitally needed additional sales tax revenues," he said.

Guilmartin said he estimated the change could mean an extra $1 million in revenues — and that was a conservative guess.

He and William Winter, who is on the Governor's Vacation Travel Council, said the early closing on Sunday nights was unpopular with tourists and convention visitors.

Winter, who owns two inns, said visitors are "often shocked and visibly angry" when told of the Sunday hours or the Election Day closing.

"It's difficult for them to accept the fact that all of a sudden they have to stop at 11," Guilmartin said.
