Architects Named For MHS Work

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The Farmington-based architectural firm of Russell Gibson vonDohlen has been selected by the town to perform preliminary work on the proposed $3.1 million Manchester High School renovation.

The $15,000 job will make use of the staff of 50 employees offered by the firm, which beat out five competitors.

Director of Public Works Jay Giles made the announcement today. "We feel this firm is very well qualified. One of the main reasons they were chosen is because they are a large firm, with quite a few architects and engineers in house."

The company is currently involved in a $12 million high school renovation project in Westport, and has had 20 roofing projects to their credit. It has designed over 120 primary and secondary schools in the New England area in the last 25 years and has completed 150 remodeling, alteration, and conversion programs for clients. Projects range from very small assignments to major renovations of buildings in excess of 200,000 square feet. The high school is about 4 acres in size.

In a prepared statement, Giles said the firm was particularly well-suited to the needs of the high school renovation. The firm's "in-house expertise in feasibility studies" would aid in the preparation of cost estimates, Giles said. He said the functional and space programming expertise would be helpful in relocating various departments and that the interior design capacity would benefit visual appeal.

He said the civil and structural engineering strength of the company would be particularly useful when working on the roof, and the equipment planning capability would help when the town decides what items, like desks, to purchase.

The company was chosen after a committee made up of Wilson E. Deakin, assistant school superintendent; Barbara Higley and Peter Crombie, Board of Education members; and Paul Phillips, Robert Samuelson and Don Kuehl, Building Committee members, met for several months. The committee recommended the firm to Giles, after reviewing the files kept in his office and interviewing the other five candidates.

The firm has told Giles it will be prepared with preliminary information in three months. This will include sketches and the preparation of paperwork to seek state assistance. In addition, the firm may revise the administration's current cost estimates for the various jobs.

Those estimates include: $840,000 for roof repairs; $30,000 for new lockers; $125,000 for replacing floors and installing some new carpeting; $10,000 to repair swimming pool equipment; $60,000 for a two-way public address system; $31,475 for new cafeteria furniture; and $243,000 for new paving at parking lots tennis courts, and walkways.

Also included is an estimated $735,000 to expand the industrial arts section; $20,000 for an elevator for the handicapped; $110,000 for fuel-efficiency measures; $50,000 for a new heating zone system; $630,000 for general refurbishing and relocating of industrial areas; and $173,000 for outdoor lights at the football field, a new track surface and new softball diamond.

There has been some controversy over how accurate the administration's estimates are, with Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy cautioning that the figures are estimates at best, and "could be wildly inaccurate."

Town Democrats Push for Votes

By MARY KITZMANN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The incumbents in the District 9 Democratic primary say they're experienced and represent the whole district.

The challengers in Tuesday's primary say District 9 needs "new blood" on the town committee and that the "group selected at the January caucus ... are clustered in only one section of our far-flung district."

Both sides made the final voter push this weekend. The challengers headed by Henry Becker, and Richard McConville, mailed leaflets and telephoned many residents. The incumbents, headed by district chairman, Frank Stamler, and Matthew Moriarty, Jr., delivered their leaflets personally door-to-door.

Both sides have said, Stamler this morning, and Becker earlier this month, they expect their efforts to bring a couple hundred voters.

But other statements of the challengers, which include James Newton, John Lahda and Helen Diehl, have angered Stamler. This morning he called a press conference to tell his side, "They have said we aren't qualified," he said. "Just look at the qualifications of the people on our slate."

They are campaigning, saying we live in the same area, Stamler noted. But he said all parts were represented. Stamler, a former Board of Directors member, a town committee member for 20 years, and district chairman for 12 lives off Winthrop Road.

Included on the incumbents slate is Matthew Moriarty a former mayor and board member who lives on Lakeside Drive, Pascal Prignano, former deputy mayor and board member, who lives on Nutmeg Drive, Robert Price, a former board member, who lives on Huckleberry Lane, Roger McDermott, a Board of Tax Review member, who lives on Keeney, and newcomers to Manchester politics Mary Ann Roy, a Manchester Community College instructor, who lives on Prospect Street, and Robert Temple, Santana Drive.

But what angers Stamler the most is the sheer fact the challengers petitioned for a primary. The five-person slate filed Feb. 8 for the primary, after losing about 2-1 in the January town committee election caucus.

"It's a shame the taxpayers have to pay for the primary," Stamler said. "It's hard to come out and vote again. We already won once."

"I think it's an outrage that the taxpayers have to pay for a self-centered group," Stamler says.

The Board of Directors allocated $975 for the primary. "The challenging slate should at least pay a filing fee per person or the party should pay," Stamler says in a written statement.

In a presidential primary the party pays the costs of running the election. And this is how, Stamler says, district primaries should be run.

But despite his belief that the system should be changed Stamler's group has been working for votes through personal calls and passing leaflets.

"They (the challengers) couldn't muster enough strength in January caucus," Stamler's statement says. "Now they are charging the general public ... for the primary."

The challengers have been working for the primary, from asking for voter registration drives in the apartment complexes where Becker and Newton live, Squire and Fountain Village, to personal phone calls.

Although the challengers claim January's election saw voters from only one section turn out, the apartment complexes have apparently seen their greatest voter push.

However, the challenging slate's other members live in other parts of the district. John Lahda, who has no previous membership on town government lives on Village Street, while Richard McConville, an incumbent town committee member who was dropped from the incumbent slate, and Helen Diehl, live on Keeney Street.

None of the challengers were available for comment. The primary will decide which seven members of the two slates will represent District 9. Voters chose seven candidates, between the two slates. This means a top vote getter in the challenging slate could upset an incumbent.

Bozzuto Blames Dems For Nation's Problems

MANCHESTER—Lashing out at the Democrat's ineptitude in dealing with the nation's problems, State Sen. Richard C. Bozzuto, R-Waterbury, said today he was the keynote speaker at the annual Lincoln-Day Dinner Dance sponsored by the Manchester Republican Town Committee.

Bozzuto outlined the problems facing the American people in the 1980s and said, "The problems are not secret. He listed some of the problems as being inflation and taxes and explained, "Today some level of government, state, local or federal, takes 44 cents of every dollar earned and inflation reduces the remaining 56 cents to nothing."

He said the nation's current leaders would have the voters believe the fault is theirs. "We need leadership to tell us the truth for once," he said.

"The opposition says we need greater cooperation between the public and private sectors and this is true. What we need is a Congress to re-invigorate the free enterprise system," he said.

Bozzuto continued, "Making a profit is not a sin, making a loss is a sin."

He emphasized the need for more jobs for persons of all economic levels "to give them the dignity of a paycheck, not a welfare check."

Labeling energy as the most pressing problem facing the nation, Bozzuto said, "Nothing has been done, you're damned mad and you ought to be."

He said the real blame is government intervention. He said the real oil profiteers are the House of Representatives and the Senate in Washington and explained 82 percent of the oil profits are taken in taxes.

"The oil profiteers are the Congress and the Senate in Washington who drool at increased taxes to spend more on social programs," he said.

Referring to his potential Democratic opponent, Cong. Christopher Dodd, Bozzuto said, "Dodd needs to be retired, he has been there too long."

He said his replacement should be new blood and not a retard.

President Jimmy Carter did not escape Bozzuto's wrath when the Senate hopeful took issue with the president's statement he learned more in 10 days during the current Iran and Afghanistan crisis than he had in the previous three years.

"There should have been a referendum the very next day whipping his - out of office," he said.

Bozzuto said the problems in Iran and Afghanistan would not be with us now if Gerald Ford had been elected president in 1976.

Kennedy Seeking First Win

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy returned to his home state to put the finishing touches today on a campaign he hopes will yield his first victory over President Carter while the Republican dogfight continued on a two-state battleground.

Kennedy, away from Massachusetts for four days after his New Hampshire loss to Carter, scheduled a campaign day of 14 stops in 12 hours.

George Bush and Ronald Reagan, pictured as "virtually dead even" in the Massachusetts GOP contest by the final Boston Globe poll before Tuesday's balloting, chose to spend most of the last full day of campaigning in Vermont after working the Boston area Sunday.

Sen. Howard Baker also campaigned in Vermont, which holds a non-binding "beauty contest" primary Tuesday, with only Rep.

John Anderson giving his full attention to Massachusetts.

The Globe poll, published Sunday, showed Kennedy with a 52 percent to 37 percent lead over Carter as of Feb. 28.

The built-in margin of error of the Republican sample is plus or minus 4 points.

Bush put in the hardest campaign day Sunday, skittering in the cold weather from a synagogue in Brookline to Cape Cod to suburban Boston in his pursuit of the state's 42 GOP delegates and a campaign-reviving win.

He had little to say about his decline in the Massachusetts poll, but he eagerly seized on former President Gerald Ford's published statement that Reagan could never win a national election.

"We need somebody who can win in November," the former U.N. ambassador said. "We need somebody who can beat Jimmy Carter."

Reagan, arriving from the South, also greeted Ford's new candidate-like comments calmly, saying, "Well, we'd all like to see him pack his long johns and come out here on the campaign trail with the rest of us."

He sharply objected to Ford's suggestion that Reagan could not beat the Democratic candidate, noting he had been elected governor in California, a state with a 2-to-1 Democratic registration, and in primaries in southern states with Democratic majorities.

Hostages Visit Now Possible

By United Press International
A spokesman for the U.N. Commission on Iran said today the Iranian Revolutionary Council has decided unanimously to allow the panel to visit the 50 American hostages held in the U.S. Embassy and "it could be soon."

But a spokesman for the militants who seized the embassy 121 days ago said they have not yet decided whether to allow such a visit.

U.N. spokesman Smir Sanbar, reached by telephone from London, said Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh informed the commission of the council's decision at a one-hour meeting today.

Asked when the commission could visit the embassy, Sanbar said no date was set but the commission would remain in close contact with the government.

"It could be soon," he said. "There was a one-hour exchange of views with the foreign minister. The foreign minister informed us that the Revolutionary Council decided unambiguously that it may see the hostages. The commission will remain in close contact with the council."

Informed of Sanbar's statement, a spokesman for the militants holding the hostages said, "We have not decided yet if the visit can take place."

He said he did not know when a decision would be reached.

President Abolhassan BaniSadr had previously indicated the captives will not be freed soon and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini did not even mention them in his latest public speech.

The commission has been working on a package deal that would link the captives' release to an investigation of the ousted shah's alleged crimes.

References to the Americans and their fate were conspicuously absent in a speech Khomeini made Sunday as he left the Tehran hospital where he underwent treatment for a heart ailment.

The militants holding the hostages at the U.S. Embassy have said Khomeini will have the final word on the release of the captives.

Tehran Radio said Khomeini was "completely recovered" from his illness but gave no other details.

In an announcement monitored by the Bahrain-based Gulf News Agency, Tehran Radio reported that the 79-year-old Khomeini called on Iranians to take part in the parliamentary election March 14.

Editorial Congressional Control

Republicans in the House of Representatives took part of an afternoon last week to "fire up" for the 1980 campaign to win control of Congress.

In view of the long dominance by the Democratic Party of both the House and the Senate, the Republican objective seems worthy indeed for effective preservation of the two-party system.

Rep. Guy Vander Jagt R-Mich., directed the first hour of the forum on "Republican Solutions to America's Problems," while Rep. Newton Leroy Gingrich, R-Ga., anchored the second 60 minutes.

"For 25 long years this Congress has been controlled by the Democratic Party," declared Vander Jagt. He cited the Democratic record of rising budgets, inflation, and debt, and declared: "If people want a change, a new direction there is but one way to get it and that is in the 1980 elections."

Vander Jagt and other speakers hammered on the Republicans' quarter century as the minority party in Congress. Actually they might have extended the examination to 50 years because congressional control by the GOP has been exceedingly sparse for half a century. In only eight of the years since Herbert Hoover became President in 1929 has the party dominated the two houses.

GOP success has been a little better in the executive branch in which Republicans have occupied the White House for 20 of those years. Vander Jagt identified three issues as the "most over-riding and pressing concern" to the American people: Decline of U.S. prestige and standing abroad; shrinking of the paycheck through inflation; and a longing by the people "for solutions rather than excuses in coping with energy problems."

Rep. James A. Courter, R-N.J., said the Republicans have "an obligation to turn the country around, to bring it back to two-party rule, to rid the nation of a quarter century in the stranglehold of one party."

Rep. Gingrich pursued the theme that for a quarter of a century voters have "sought relief from their problems from the wrong institution by focusing on the White House. It seems rather clear, in the Constitution and the reality of government, that the real decisions are made about taxes, laws, budgets, in the Congress—in the House and Senate."

Withal, it was quite a day for Republican drum-beating. The proceedings were strictly partisan, as chronicled by the Congressional Record. But what the speakers said boiled down to a logical point: How long can a two-party system remain effective with such imbalance as we have seen in congressional control during the past half century?

The people owe it to the system to bend a listening ear and give some hard thought to this issue and its role in perpetuating the American way.

Don't Jump Ship Yet

WASHINGTON — Don't jump the American ship yet. That's the message of Jay Van Andel, board chairman of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce as well as head of the Amway Corporation.

Many Americans — led by unimaginative national leadership which preaches the gospel of limits rather than opportunities — seem to believe there is a shortage of just about everything except gloom and doom.

Not so, says Van Andel, who proceeds to offer some good reasons for optimism. In a recent speech at Michigan's Hillsdale College, the co-founder of Amway noted that in just 200 years of the free enterprise system, the United States has seen personal annual production increase 10 times more than had been experienced anywhere in the previous 10,000 years.

"That system remains," he said, "It has been warped and shackled by an overgrown government, but it can be restored. And freed once more, great miracles will be done."

Van Andel explains that many exotic sources of energy will yet be curbed by shortages of energy, food, or raw materials. Efficiency has also increased considerably. "A single 200-ton jetliner outperforms the annual passenger-carrying capacity and energy consumption of the 85,000 ton Queen Elizabeth. A quarter-ton communications satellite outperforms 150,000 tons of transoceanic cable. Autos today go two or three times as far on a gallon of gasoline as they did 10 years ago."

Van Andel acknowledges that it isn't possible currently to mine all of "it," but given 100 million years, free people will find a way.

"Furthermore, we don't actually consume metals, we use them for a time and we can then recycle and reuse them. Almost all things are recoverable."

Concludes Van Andel: "The resources are available. The promise remains. It's now up to us. The American dream need not die, if we have the will to keep it alive."

information was expunged from the report before any Senators could see it — a charge that a White House spokesman emphatically denied. Yet the information never reached the Senate committee that reviewed the Andrus appointment; obviously, someone's hand had been quicker than the eye.

I asked my associate Dale Van Atta to investigate the coverup. He spent weeks in Idaho where he spoke to dozens of sources and gathered hundreds of pages of documents. Then we questioned Andrus about the allegations.

Thoughts

Did you ever feel left out, unwanted? Did the occasion cause you to become depressed, even bitter? Remember the story of David and Goliath in the book of 1 Samuel?

David selected five stones for his sling but he used only one. Weren't the other stones all right? Any of the others might have served him equally well. The selection of a particular stone did not reduce the value of the other four. We must bear in mind that when another person is selected for a special work and you are left out, that like David's unused stones, you can be employed at some other time.

It is important to realize that if we are in Christ, we are equally important in God's sight. Over in the epistle of 1 Peter we read about the fact that all believers are living stones. "Ye also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices. Free people will find a way to produce more food than we will ever need."

My Father is rich in houses and lands. He holdeth the wealth of the world in His hands! Of robes and diamonds, of silver and gold.

His coffers are full — He has riches untold. I once was an outcast stranger on earth.

A sinner by choice and alien by birth. But I've been adopted, my name's written down — An heir to a mansion, a robe, and a crown.

"Mr. Anderson has just resurrected and reshaped an old barroom gossip which has absolutely no basis in fact," he snorted. He said the story had never been published, but had been actively suppressed. Barroom gossip? The information came from the files of at least three official investigations.

Here are just a few of the questions that are still reverberating: Why did Andrus as governor engage in political manipulations to promote an Empire race track in Idaho? What happened to the investigative file that was entrusted to Andrus' care? Why did he appoint a backwater sheriff, with a reputation for corruption, as Idaho's top law-enforcement officer? Right Off Target

New Hampshire is now history, although what history may eventually make of it in the larger context of the 1980 election is still very much to be seen.

What can be made of one event during the primary home-stretch is, however, all too immediately and unfortunately apparent.

The occasion was a gathering of gun owners that drew a nearly complete slate of contenders — all seven Republicans, one Democrat and a Carter son. Only Sen. Edward Kennedy was unrepresented in person or surrogate.

It was one of the best-attended outspoken — on the part of both audience and candidates — forums of the New Hampshire campaign. Also most revealing in some respects.

Although not especially so in the case of John Connally, who found a perfect occasion to recall boyhood in Texas and growing up with a gun in his hand. If there's a world for Connally's response on a macho issue such as this, it is predictable.

George Bush, who has established himself as the good guy as well as surprise of the Republican contest to date, may, on the other hand, have surprised some of his new-found supporters in the ranks of the moderate-to-liberal elite. He spoke of the use of rifle and shotgun ownership and dealt with the gut issue of the session — gun control — in terms of a joke.

Perhaps that should not read old boy. Jack Carter had a few words about dad, the quail hunter, but none about father, the Democratic nominee, who it was promised during the 1976 campaign, would be "really tough" on gun control.

Then there was Gov. Edmund Brown who saw gun control as an "opening wedge" of unspecified greater calamities and opposition to it as a means of keeping government "out of where it doesn't belong." This is the same Governor Brown who in the 1976 campaign supported control and emphasized the steps his California government had taken in the cause.

But then, this can come as no more of a surprise than the Connally stance. This is, after all the Brown of the pre- and post-Proposition 13 switch, the apostle of small is not only better but essential who, when gasoline supplies got tight, was first in line in Washington to get a larger allocation for his folks.

There are many words for Brown style of politics but consistency isn't among them.

Only Rep. John Anderson stood up and spoke out for control. Predictably, since he has made taking positions counter to the pack something of a basic campaign strategy. And for his efforts he was loudly booed. Also predictably at a gathering which opened not with a chairman's welcome to the ladies and gentlemen of the audience and distinguished guests, but a hearty "Good evening, gun lobby."

So it went, as it usually does on this subject.

One can be either for, against or completely neutral on the gun-control issue and still regret that this is so. There are valid arguments on both sides.

People are killed and injured by guns. There are guns in the hands of people out there who should never be licensed for anything potentially more perilous than marriage.

That there are legitimate reasons — beyond the constitutional right argument — to question whether licensing is the best way of dealing with the situation, whether it might not be primarily cosmetic with the most significant consequences being a further bloating of the bureaucracy, is one thing. Evidence all around us that governmental regulation is not in itself the answer to a problem and may, in fact, in itself create a new one.

Gun control merits serious, reasoned and thorough debate. But like several other issues in its special class — abortion and busing come first to mind — it never gets it. The issue no sooner raised publicly than reason goes out the window and passions close the door on constructive debate.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Andrus Annoyed By Stories About His Past

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus wearing a petulant air of affronted dignity and annoyance, has taken exception to my reports on his political past.

Secret investigative files and knowledgeable sources disclose that Andrus as governor of Idaho seemed to do everything possible to clear the way for Empire Corp., a Mafia-linked sports outfit, to move into the state. His appointment of a smalltown sheriff, John Bender, as Idaho's chief lawman also appalled federal agents trying to cope with the Mafia.

At a national law enforcement conference, one expert described the Bender appointment as "a classic case of corruption and infiltration by organized crime." Meanwhile, the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit, a federally subsidized crime-fighting group, refused to send any sensitive data to Idaho when it found out Bender had unauthorized access to it. This attracted the scrutiny of crime investigation units at both the state and federal level. No less than Nick Scopetta, the New York prosecutor of Serrice fame, came to Idaho to investigate.

There was enough evidence, he concluded, to justify calling a special grand jury. But this was precluded by Idaho state law. Instead, the facts were set forth in an investigative file which mysteriously disappeared after it was turned over to Andrus.

Upon President Carter's appointment of Andrus to the Cabinet in 1976, a team of FBI agents pulled the facts together for a routine background report. Yet astonishingly, this derogatory material was not included in the FBI report that was submitted to the Senate.

My sources said the embarrassing information was expunged from the report before any Senators could see it — a charge that a White House spokesman emphatically denied. Yet the information never reached the Senate committee that reviewed the Andrus appointment; obviously, someone's hand had been quicker than the eye.

I asked my associate Dale Van Atta to investigate the coverup. He spent weeks in Idaho where he spoke to dozens of sources and gathered hundreds of pages of documents. Then we questioned Andrus about the allegations.

The Interior Secretary is an amiable, earnest sort, with an air about him of legitimate purpose and disarming frankness. His method is to admit candidly what was already known and beyond hiding, but to deny its logical implications.

Meanwhile, he adopted the tactics of the cut-throat, which are known to marine biologists for their protective habit of squirting ink to evade pursuers. He began squirting ink long before I could get to my typewriter. Without knowing what I intended to write, he called a press conference, labeled the unwritten story as "garbage" and buffed off. He has continued to spread the protective link.

"Mr. Anderson has just resurrected and reshaped an old barroom gossip which has absolutely no basis in fact," he snorted. He said the story had never been published, but had been actively suppressed. Barroom gossip? The information came from the files of at least three official investigations.

Here are just a few of the questions that are still reverberating: Why did Andrus as governor engage in political manipulations to promote an Empire race track in Idaho? What happened to the investigative file that was entrusted to Andrus' care? Why did he appoint a backwater sheriff, with a reputation for corruption, as Idaho's top law-enforcement officer? Who removed the

Priest's Parish Is the Police

By DAVE LAVALLÉE
Herald Reporter

GLASTONBURY—The Rev. Peter Ziska is like most Catholic priests. He has his parish duties like any other.

However, along with his regular duties at St. Paul's Church, he is a chaplain for the State Police at Troop H in Hartford.

Father Ziska began his work at St. Paul's in September, but before he came to Glastonbury, he had been interested working as a police chaplain.

According to Father Ziska, a priest must be interested in the position and must also receive a recommendation from a trooper.

He became friendly with an estate sergeant at his former parish, Holy Spirit in Newington.

"After talking with him extensively, I decided I wanted to become a chaplain," Father Ziska said.

The Sunday School movement dates back to 1780 and a newspaper publisher in England, Robert Raikes.

State Per Capita Taxes Lowered During 1970s

HARTFORD (UPI)—A state tax watchdog group says Connecticut ranked 14th in the nation for per capita state and local taxation in 1978—a sizeable drop compared to the early 1970s.

The Connecticut Public Expenditure Council says the state ranked seventh in 1970, when Connecticut's tax burden was 14 percent above the national average.

The 1974 per capita paid in state and local taxes in 1978 is 6 percent above the national average.

"We think that this indicates that state and local governments in Connecticut are doing a more effective job in controlling both taxes and spending than other parts of the country," CPEC President Robert Franklin said Sunday.

Franklin said evidence showed "state and local governments are trying to keep a firm hand on the way expenses increase and therefore the way taxes have been increased."

From 1970 to 1978, the state's per capita tax burden decreased by 94 percent, compared to an average nationwide growth of 108 percent, the group said.

In 1978, Alaska had the highest state and local taxes at $1,871 per capita and Arkansas had the lowest at $653 per capita.

"The Legislature has a problem this year as to how to get the bucks from the taxpayers to balance the budget without upsetting the voter in November," Franklin said.

Tax Tips

Benefits of Home Sales

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of 11 articles designed to help income tax return filers deal with changes in the federal income tax law effective for 1979. The series is prepared by the Commerce Clearing House of Chicago, a foremost reporting authority on tax and business law.

By United Press International
A taxpayer age 55 or older who sold a personal residence in 1979 may be able to take advantage of an important tax benefit.

Two requirements must be met before a taxpayer may elect the $100,000 exclusion, according to the Commerce Clearing House, a tax reporting authority.

Suppose a 57-year-old taxpayer sold his personal residence for $200,000 on July 1, 1979. He had purchased the home in 1960 for $50,000, his basis in the home at the time of the sale was $50,000, and his selling expenses were $12,500. Under the tax rules, his exclusion would be computed as follows:

Sales price $200,000
Less: Selling expenses ($12,500)
and basis of home ($50,000) 62,500
Amount realized: $127,500
Less: Exclusion 100,000
Gain recognized: $27,500

It should be remembered that this exclusion eliminates the gain realized from the sale of the home.

Party Praises Ribicoff

HARTFORD (UPI)—Retiring Sen. Abraham Ribicoff was praised as a guiding force in Democratic politics as Gov. Ella Grasso led 1,800 party loyalists in a tribute to his four years in public life.

"I don't know how but with our presence and applause to say thank you, we love you, and all good fortune in the years that lie ahead," she said.

"In a very real way the Democratic Party in this state came of age under Abe's aegis," the governor said.

Slides of Ribicoff's four decades in public life—as congressman, governor, cabinet officer and senator—served as a backdrop for a song-and-dance tribute.

Mrs. Grasso told the crowd, "As I watched the slides and listened to the music, I realized my life as well."

Ribicoff, elected to the Senate in 1962 after serving as secretary of health, education and welfare under President John F. Kennedy, announced last year that he would not seek a fourth term.

charges of conspiracy to violate federal bank robbery laws—less than 24 hours after the First Bank branch where Cobb was manager was held up.

Cobb, a First Bank vice-president and a former member of the Hamden Police Commission, was released on $25,000 bond Friday.

A bank audit showed $37,300 was taken by two masked men who robbed the bank. It has not been recovered, officials said.

The FBI submitted an affidavit during court proceedings Friday, saying Cobb had told a general after his arrest that he and Bala, discussed robbing the bank last November and December.

The day of the robbery authorities had described Cobb as a victim, saying he was seized by two masked gunmen, forced to open a vault and then handcuffed to a filing cabinet with six fellow employees.

The FBI said a third suspect was being sought in the case.

TownTalk

At a recent tenants meeting in Manchester, it was noted that the higher mortgage rates were affecting purchase of condominiums as well as single-family homes.

Consequently, recently converted units in Manchester have been unexpectedly vacant. "Good, I hope they stay empty," replied one angry woman.

The children of Mayor Marie Herbert DeVernon wanted to give her some note paper for Christmas but weren't sure what they wanted printed on it ... her honor the mayor ... Mrs. Marie Herbert or what. They settled on "Top Mama."

After listening to the Gloucester Board of Education discuss professional leaves of absence for about 30 minutes, one obviously bored and frustrated member of the audience muttered, "Just do it." The slightly embarrassed board then promptly took action on the item.

Wilson E. Deakin, assistant superintendent of schools,

Manchester, has several memories to remind him of his tenure as acting superintendent during James Kennedy's illness. At the last Board of Education meeting, "Deak" told of a statue of a dancing girl he'd been given. The girl represented "Disco Deak's" involvement in a recent controversy over using a grammar school for high school student's dancing classes. He was also awarded a tongue-in-cheek plaque declaring his tenure was "Proof that age and trickery outperform youth and talent."

Group Lobbying On Condo Issue

MANCHESTER—Depending of how successful the lobbying was, the Board of Directors could see a large number of persons who want to discuss condominiums at its meeting Tuesday. But the public hearing on moratoriums will be next week.

Members of the Manchester Citizens for Social Responsibility spent Saturday and Sunday distributing leaflets at the various town apartment complexes. The leaflets urge tenants to attend Tuesday's meeting.

On the agenda is consideration of reactivating the Housing Study Committee. This was suggested by Democratic director Barbara Weinberg to study Manchester's condominium complexes. The leaflets had previously presented a study on the overall housing picture in Manchester last year. But no board action was taken until the March 11 meeting. The workers voted on the contract tonight in closed session. The Library Board members voted 5 to 0 on the agreement that had been previously presented a study on the overall housing picture in Manchester last year. One of whom works in the assistant manager's office, the other in the town attorney's office, have expanded their duties since beginning employment, and deserve a higher ranking, Robert Weiss, town manager, noted in his comments.

The new Senior Citizen's Center Auditorium could be named the "Wally Fortin Auditorium."

The board's agenda is a proposal to name the auditorium after the senior citizen's program director.

The Library Board members voted 5 to 0 on the agreement that had been previously presented a study on the overall housing picture in Manchester last year. But no board action was taken until the March 11 meeting.

The recent number of conversions, and the belief that many elderly and low-income tenants are affected profoundly by the citizens' group concerns.

About three weeks ago MCSR called for a 90-day moratorium on conversions. Last Friday, Mrs. Weinberg and Deputy Mayor Stephen Cassano, requested a public hearing on the moratorium.

While the housing committee will be discussed tomorrow night, consideration of the moratorium ordinance will be on the March 11 agenda.

However, Mayor Stephen Penny said today that anyone who wishes may speak on the entire condominium issue Tuesday night. There is an item on the agenda's first half that allows discussion.

But Penny noted he believed it would be better to wait until the hearing on the moratorium would be on the agenda's second half. He said he would like to see the co-chairmen of the MCSR are hoping for a large turnout tomorrow night.

Also on the agenda is "combining" the positions of sanitary landfill supervisor and landfill foreman. The board has approved the supervisor's position when no one applied for the job. However, the foreman's job was then filled, eliminating the need for the supervisory position.

The way the foreman's position was advertised and filled concerned several town employees.

Other items for consideration are raising two town clerk-stenographers to full secretaries. The two women,

Big Money Day for Crawford

By Earl Yost

Top-seeded Doug Crawford returned to the winner's circle for the second time in four years when he copped the singles title in the fourth annual Manchester Memorial Hospital Professional Invitational Tennis Tournament Sunday at the Manchester Racquet Club.

The 30-year-old Brookline, Mass., player turned back the challenge of Rick Bray, 38, of Pittsfield, Mass., in straight sets in the finals, 6-3, 6-2. Crawford, a part-time teaching pro at the Babson Racquet Club in Wellesley and a veteran of four years on the pro tour circuit, after claiming the $500 first prize, teamed with Bray to capture the doubles crown against a pair of 27-year-olds, Eric Scheiding of Old Saybrook and Jimmy Rattiff of Fairfield. The scores were 6-1, 6-2.

The winners received a $200 purse with the losing team sharing $150. The total three-day purse was $2,500 with proceeds to enter the Memorial Hospital Professional Invitational Development Fund.

Play started last Friday night with 21 pro matches, plus seven Pro-Am matches. The prize was $100 per match. The winners were capped by pro Bob Garfield and Doug Leonard of Rockville. The pair topped Ted Hoehn and Harvey Pastel for the crown.

"I played well," Crawford said after his singles triumph. He also won the inaugural Open here in 1977. "It was a little stiff. I got a quick lead and won the big points. I just played well enough to win," he added.

Bray had no complaints. He was engaged in a three-set struggle in the semifinals against unseeded Tom Mott, a Clark University student and one of the coming stars in New England.

After the pair split the first two sets, the hunky Bray outlasted his younger foe 7-4 in a tie-breaker that was decided by a 14-12 margin. In the quarterfinals, Bray, too, had to go to a tie-breaker to eliminate Scheiding, this time by a 7-4 margin in the 12-point extra play.

Mott was also involved in a second tie-breaker, edging second seeded Bill Drake in that manner in the quarterfinals.

"I felt great but he was serving too well," Bray said of his match with Crawford. "I had the shots early but just missed. I wasn't stiff. He continually put pressure on me. He just beat me at everything that I threw at." Bray said before he teamed with Crawford to make the annual trip to Manchester worthwhile.

Big East Champs On Move

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Georgetown Coach John Thompson says his 1980 Big East champions proved rankings don't mean a thing—muscle and tough defense are everything once you take the basketball floor.

Those ingredients powered the 20th-ranked Hoyas to a stunning 87-61 Saturday upset triumph over second-ranked Syracuse for the new conference's first title.

It showed disbeliefers the 52-50 Georgetown win which snapped Syracuse's Manley Field House home streak at 57 games on Feb. 12 was no fluke.

The Hoyas outlasted Syracuse both periods and repeatedly forced the Orange to cough up the basketball throughout the championship game.

For one three-minute stretch in the first half, Syracuse spent nearly all its time under Georgetown's basket because of forced turnovers.

"We made 24 turnovers. You can't afford to do that. It's a credit to their (Georgetown's) defense," said Syracuse coach Jim Boeheim. "They're a very good team. What can I say?"

The Hoyas' tournament finale was their fifth straight victory, tying a school record and increasing their season mark to 24-5. Syracuse fell to 25-3.

The title didn't guarantee Georgetown an NCAA tournament berth, but the Hoyas, Syracuse and St. John's all got invitations Sunday. Hoyas forward Craig Shelton, the tournament's Most Valuable Player, said he feels Georgetown should now be seeded No. 1 in the East going into NCAA action.

"We've beaten the people we had to play. Why would we not be?" he said.

Thompson said he couldn't sleep after the Hoyas' 79-69 semifinal win over the second-ranked St. John's on Friday night. So at 3 a.m. Saturday, he pulled out a film of the last meeting with Syracuse and looked for weaknesses.

"I told the kids to keep the transition. We had to hustle back on defense and control the tempo," he said.

Eric Floyd and Shelton led Georgetown with a total of 39 points. Syracuse guard Marty Headd topped all scoring with 22 points, 13 of them keeping Syracuse alive in the first half.

Syracuse forward Louis Ort pumped in all 16 of his points in the second stanza. He didn't take a shot in the first 20 minutes.

They (Sacred Heart) are an extremely quick team," East Coach Jim Penders roared. "They are relatively young, junior dominated, and have no excuses. They're out there (Sinclair and Mark) Redding. They like fullcourt pressure and we anticipate a lot of pressure. We hope we can handle it. We've got to have a turnover problem."

East led by 6-foot-3 senior captain Bob Vencor, a 6-foot-3 Proviso and 6-foot-6 Rust Band, would like to do damage inside. Penders states. But the Hoyas aren't a smaller team with a trio of how-5 performers in the starting lineup.

The key will be how well we get back on defense. I hope our defense more than the offense wins the game for us. The way I look at it, Kyle (Ayer) and (Brian) Galligan need to have good games. They'll have to stop two top guards. Sinclair is an All-State candidate."

This will be the ninth meeting between the schools with East holding a 6-2 lead in the series. The last meeting was the 1974-75 season opener, taken by the Hoyas, 66-43.

The quints have met one common opponent this year—St. Thomas Aquinas. East took two of three from the Saints while the Saints tacked a 64-60 setback on the Hoyas.

CIAC Play For Eagles In Bristol

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportseditor

East Catholic's basketball team is in the same position it's been in for two years—in a CIAC State Tournament Class L Region 1 semifinal.

The 1979-80 Eagles, however, will try to accomplish a feat their predecessor could not—namely advance to the regional finals and state quarterfinals. They'll try to do so tonight against Sacred Heart of Waterbury at Bristol Central High at 6:30.

The East-Sacred Heart tilt will be followed by a clash between Maloney-Croby of Waterbury at 8:15. The winners will vie for the region championship Wednesday night at a site and time to be announced and then move onto the state quarterfinals Friday.

The Eagles advanced with a 70-62 win over Torrington while the Hearts moved into the round of 16 with a 77-70 win over Wilby. East and Sacred Heart each won 16-4 in the regular season but the latter is second seed in the Region. East third ranked.

Catholic Skaters Claim Miller Cup

A sizable edge in shots on goal didn't pay off for 4-4-4 remained in overtime as East Catholic High nipped Manchester High, 3-2, in the overtime period on a goal by Kurt Wagner from just outside the crease.

The Eagles celebrated the goal, and for it drew two minor penalties for delay of game and goalie over the red line. But East's penalty killers were able to stave off the Indian attack at the Bolton Ice Palace.

Greg White got the game-winner for East with a 10-foot snap shot from in front, the puck just catching the lower right-hand corner. Gerry King and Kevin Dickinson drew assists on the game-winner.

"This was a fine hockey game," noted East Coach Bill Mannix. "Our players can be proud of coming back in a game where they dominated offensively but trailed in the scoring."

It was a scoresless first period with the Indians taking the lead at 1:14 of the middle period on a goal by Kurt Wagner from just outside the crease.

Manchester's 3-2-1 record was broken by East Catholic's 3-2-0 win at the Bolton Ice Palace. The Indians took the lead at 1:14 of the middle period on a goal by Kurt Wagner from just outside the crease.

Penney Springs Upset Defeating Windham

By KEVIN CASEY

Grabbing the lead for good at 6-3 with 5:43 to play in the first quarter on Bob Linnell's three-point play, Penney High never looked back in dominating Windham High, 65-38, last Saturday night at Glastonbury High in a CIAC State Basketball Tournament Class LL Region I clash.

The upset win by the eighth-ranked Black Knights, 7-15, moves them into Tuesday's Region I semifinals against Wever High, an 81-74 winner over Rockville, at Manchester High at 8:15.

Windham, top seed in the region, bows out at 15-7. The Whippets, tri-CCL champions, dropped their last five in a row.

Penney outbounded Windham, 39-31, and didn't allow the intensity lacking Whippets to control the tempo. Scott Kirkpatrick led all rebounders for the Knights with 15 while teammates Pete Cace and Tony Cruz latched onto 9 and 8 respectively.

"If our execution isn't good, we can't outsmarte anyone," voiced Whippet Coach John Switchenko.

After Linnell's hook, the Knights put together five straight points for an 11-3 lead. Andy Sylvester popped in a hoop, Cruz hit one of two free throws and Cace scored on an offensive rebound.

The Whippets made a brief run but Penney had a 16-10 edge at the turn. "I don't think we played poorly, I thought Penney played pretty well, aggressively and played good defense. Things just didn't click for us. I thought this was a pretty good basketball game," Switchenko stated.

"Playing a team a third time is tough. They (Windham) are a tough team to control the boards against," Knight Coach Bernie Dandley expressed with jubilation. Penney dropped both regular season games to the Whippets, 42-41 in double overtime and 55-46.

The Knights opened the lead in the second stanza to 13 points as they ran the middle period on a goal by Kurt Wagner from just outside the crease.

Penney again moved its trail to 13 points in the third stanza but Windham fought back to tie at the turn, 45-47.

The Whippets' last run at the Knights came with less than two minutes to play when it was 62-56 after a Jose Gonzalez hoop. But a Cace free throw with 22 seconds remaining put the contest out of reach.

"A few things have come together and the guys wanted it," Dandley stated.

Cace and Sylvester each had 15 points for the Knights while Linnell added 11. Gonzales and Manny Ramos had 17 and 14 markers respectively for Windham.

Canadiens Prove Point with Flyers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens were looking to prove something Sunday night — and they did.

It hasn't been an easy season for the defending Stanley Cup champions, but it certainly has been for the Philadelphia Flyers. And the Canadiens showed Sunday night that they are still to be reckoned with in this year's playoff picture, as they handed the Flyers their sixth loss of the season, 3-1.

"We're just going at it game by game," said Montreal's Bob Gainey, who scored his 10th goal of the season in the second period to put the Canadiens in front, 2-1. "We're looking out for our own individual situation and at the same time, trying to catch Boston (for third place in overall points) and stay ahead of Minnesota. We're trying to play a good brand of hockey. We've been beaten by a lot of teams further down than we are."

With Boston's loss Sunday, the Canadiens moved to within one point of the Bruins in the overall standings.

Pierre Larocque scored twice for Montreal, the first touching off a string of three straight Canadiens goals in a 1-44 span of the second period. He tallied his 52nd goal of the season at 13:18 to tie the game 1-1, and after Gainey's goal, Pierre-Monod notched his 28th at 15:02.

Vovan Lambert and Larocque added goals in the first 5-4 of the third period.

Montreal defenseman Larry Robinson said he knows that there's a good possibility his team will meet the Flyers in the playoffs, and that, "Anytime these clubs meet, it's a great game. Both clubs have a lot of respect for each other. We know they're a great team, and they acknowledge we're a fine team. We both have to be at our best — it's just a question of who gets the most out of it."

The clubs battled to a 6-6 tie in their earlier Spectrum meeting and split two games in Montreal.

In other games, Pittsburgh and the New York Islanders skated to a scoreless tie, Chicago edged Winnipeg 3-2, the New York Rangers shredded Boston 2-1, Los Angeles topped Quebec 4-3, Colorado dined Washington 3-1, Toronto downed Detroit 6-3, and Buffalo deadeadlocked Minnesota 2-2.

Lanny McDonald scored two goals, registered his 29th for Boston.

Dean Hopkins scored the winning goal early in the third period and Charlie Simmer added two more for Los Angeles. The Nordiques tied the game 3-3 at 11:10 of the second period on a goal by Reggie Thomas. The Kings took a 1-0 lead on a fluke goal 25 seconds into the first period when Rob Palmer blasted a low shot from the point off Simmer's skate. Marc Tardif scored twice for Quebec. Spring Training Roundup

Weather Factor; Jackson Missing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Judging by the weather, the major-league baseball players in Florida may as well have been at home. At least one of them was.

Reggie Jackson, the slugger right fielder for the New York Yankees, was again singing his own version of "I Did It My Way." Detained by business matters at home, Jackson failed to show at training camp in the second straight day and his absence is drawing increased attention from club officials.

The team had asked players to report on Feb. 29 — one day before the official opening according to the players' Basic Agreement — and evened his Jackson compliance.

General Manager Gene Michael refused to confirm or deny plans to fine Jackson although there are indications a penalty will be levied.

"I want to get it all together before I do anything," said Michael, who added he would meet with Jackson sometime this morning. Manager Dick Howser and Executive Vice-President Cedric Tallis are expected to sit in on the meeting.

Cloudy weather prevailed at the Yankee camp and other clubs yesterday.

Gusty winds, chilly temperature and rains curtailed workouts elsewhere.

"New York Mets Manager Joe Torre moved his players indoors and used the time to hold a meeting with all pitchers to discuss philosophy of pitching and fundamentals.

Torre also indicated the club is not active seeking to trade catcher John Stearns, who has often been mentioned in trade rumors.

"We are not offering John around anywhere," Torre said. "He's been mentioned in several trade rumors," Torre said. "However, you can't rule out any player in a trade."

Torre reiterated that the Mets do not have a deal in the works at this time but General Manager Frank Langford is talking to all clubs, particularly those in the American League. Two weeks remain in the inter-league trading period.

The weather also wiped out the first full squad workout of the Montreal Expos.

President John McHale reminded the 40 players in a clubhouse meeting that attitude during spring training would be as important as performance in determining the makeup of the squad that will head north.

Both Manager Dick Williams and McHale concede that the major fight for a position will take place at first base. Veteran left fielder and left fielder incumbent Warren Cromartie are trying to replace Tony Perez, who signed with the Red Sox as a free agent.

Cromartie lost his outfield position when the Expos acquired Ron LeFlore via trade with the Tigers.

McEnroe Not Convinced Tennis Computer Right

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The computer ranks John McEnroe at the top tennis player in the world. McEnroe, however, that both of them had played "good tennis."

"This is probably the best I've played in two or three months," McEnroe said. "I think we both played better than in Philadelphia." It was there that Connors won his sixth U.S. Indoor title with the 7-6, 7-6 victory. "It just means I'm number one on the computer."

"I was hitting the ball better today. I was serving better," McEnroe said. His excellence was obvious from the first.

Slamming in almost every first serve, McEnroe held the bustling Connors to only two points in the first set, and he won 6-3 in the second.

The win, which brought McEnroe his first indoor title and a $40,000 first prize check, moved him ahead of Bjorn Borg in a listing of tennis kept by the Association of Tennis Professionals. Borg had held the No. 1 spot since wresting it from Connors last year.

The indoors also provided McEnroe with the chance to show off his skills in doubles, where he ranked first with his partner Peter Fleming. McEnroe had not planned to compete in the doubles event at the indoors but agreed at the last minute to join Brian Gottfried.

The combination was a winning one. After his defeat of Connors, McEnroe returned to the court at the Memphis Racquet Club and he and Gottfried won $7,000 each for his victory over Rod Frawley of Australia and Thomas Smid of Czechoslovakia.

After his singles match, McEnroe said his win may have resulted from Connors' being "a little off his game." He said, however, that both of them had played "good tennis."

King Upsets Navratilova

HOUSTON (UPI) — Billie Jean King won a pair for the "older folks" Sunday, dousing the world's top-ranked woman tennis player, Martina Navratilova, 6-1, 6-3, in the finals of a $150,000 tournament.

The 36-year-old King and her doubles partner, Ilana Kloss, then defeated Betty Stove and Wendy Turnbull, 6-1, 6-4, 2-6, to take that championship.

"I get tired of people saying to me, 'when are you going to bag it,'" the 20-time Wimbledon champion said after beating the 23-year-old Navratilova.

"People ask me how does it feel looking at all those young kids across the net. Who cares? It's the ball coming across the net that I look at."

King, who also has to her credit 37 "big four" titles and a two-set trouncing of Bobby Riggs in the 1973 "Battle of the Sexes," also served notice in capital letters that the string of credits behind her name is not complete.

"I don't think in terms of being No. 1 again," she said. "I just set up for myself. I came in this year to win back-to-back Avon tournaments. Now I want to win Avon-New York. And then of course, it's on to Wimbledon."

King last won at Wimbledon in 1975.

She said she is playing much better now than in 1975 or 1978, when knee problems bled her.

"I must be playing better. The tennis being played now is much better and I'm winning," she said.

Wind Big Factor For High Scores

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — "To say the wind was a factor is a bit of an understatement," said Bay Hill Classic champion Dave Eichelberger after Sunday's round in which 35 golfers scored in the 80s.

Golfers crowdswayed played with golf balls, the players' swings were hampered by the chilly winds they wore to ward off the chill, and the temperature kept dropping.

Forecasters said the wind meant it's on to Wimbledon.

School Victory

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston University junior Glen Cohen ran 40 meters off the line for 12.11 seconds in the 46.56 seconds Sunday to help pace his school to victory in the annual New England Indoor Mens Track and Field championships.

Celtics' C-Men Come Through

BOSTON (UPI) — Dave Cowens and M.L. Carr came through in the clutch. Larry Bird came through in every other way.

Bird's 41 points and Cowens' and Carr's last-second heroics combined to give the Boston Celtics a 118-115 victory over the stubborn Detroit Pistons Sunday.

The win was the sixth straight for Boston and upped the Celtics' season mark to 50-15 — the best in the NBA. The loss was the 16th in the last 17 games for Detroit.

The Celtics, who trailed for a good part of the game, finally asserted themselves at the beginning of the fourth quarter as they ran off a 12-7 spur to give them a 100-90 lead with 8:12 in the game, but were unable to shake the pesky Pistons.

Detroit continued to whittle away at the lead until Leon Douglas hit a pair of free throws with 25 seconds remaining to give Detroit a 115-114 lead.

College Basketball Little Rest For Weary

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — There is no rest for the weary.

A fraction less than one-third of the nation's Division I basketball schools — or 89 teams — will participate in either the NCAA or the National Invitation Tournaments beginning this week, with 48 teams making the NCAA's largest-ever in the tournament's 42-year history.

This is the first year NCAA officials lifted the lid on the number of representatives each conference can send and the ACC benefited the most.

Five ACC teams — seventh-ranked Maryland, ninth-ranked North Carolina, No. 17 North Carolina State, No. 19 Clemson and Duke — accepted bids Saturday while two other conferences, the Big 10 and the Pac-10, each have four representatives.

The NCAA expanded its tournament field to 48 this year, which allowed it to invite more than two teams from a conference. Forty teams played in the tournament last year and 32 two years ago.

Top-ranked DePaul and Notre Dame, the only team to defeat the Blue Demons this season, were among 25 schools issued at-large invitations in the NCAA's.

DePaul, 26-1, was awarded the top seeds in the West regional while No. 15 Notre Dame was issued the No. 4 seed in the Midwest Regional.

At-large berths were also extended to No. 3 Kentucky, No. 7 Maryland, and No. 9 Missouri — all regular-season conference champions that lost the right to represent their respective leagues because of setbacks in local tournament play.

Second-ranked Syracuse, a loser to 20th-ranked Georgetown for the second time in two weeks in the Big East title game Saturday, was also issued an at-large berth. No. 8 St. John's, another conquest of Georgetown in Big East tournament play last week, received another of the at-large invitations.

Georgetown will also advance into the national championship on the strength of an at-large berth.

Other at-large invitations were extended to Marquette, Iowa, North Carolina State, Georgetown, Tennessee, plus Maryland in the East Regional; Alcorn State, South Alabama, Notre Dame, North Carolina, Arkansas, plus Missouri in the Midwest Regional; Florida State, Washington State, Purdue, Virginia Tech, St. Johns plus Kentucky in the Midwest Regional; and UCLA, Arizona State, Clemson, Utah State and Ohio State in the West.

Syracuse was given the top seed in the East, Louisiana State the No. 1 seed in the Midwest and Kentucky the top ranking in the Midwest.

Pepperdine and Long Beach State, a pair of successful West Coast Athletic Conference rivals, will square off Tuesday in the first game of the National Invitation Tournament.

St. Peter's, the top defensive team in the country, will meet the University of Connecticut in one of seven games on Wednesday. The remainder of the 32 teams will play on Thursday and Friday.

The second round will begin on March 10 at eight sites to be determined. The winners will play on March 13 with the survivors moving to Madison Square Garden in New York for the semifinals and finals on March 17 and 18, respectively.

DePaul-UCLA Rematch Likely

MISSION, Kan. (UPI) — Ray Meyer told DePaul to the Final Four of the NCAA basketball tournament last March for the first time in his 37-year tenure as head coach of the Blue Demons.

But the venerable Meyer will probably have a tougher time reaching the Final Four in 1980 when DePaul is a better team this year than last. That's because the Blue Demons are again plotted in the West Regional and face a possible rematch with UCLA in their opening round game.

DePaul has a 26-1 record, a No. 1 national ranking and a forward the NBA would love to have — 6-foot-7 sophomore Mark Aguirre.

But the Blue Demons have incurred the wrath of mighty UCLA in two straight meetings. DePaul whipped UCLA in the title game of the West Regional last March, 95-91, and then beat up on the Bruins in a rematch last December in the now-hallowed Pauley Pavilion, 99-94.

DePaul and UCLA were two of 25 teams awarded at-large berths Sunday for the 42nd annual tournament, which will have its largest field ever at 48 teams. Play begins Thursday night with sub-regional games at Greensboro, N.C. (East); West Lafayette, Ind. (Midwest); Lincoln, Neb.; (Midwest) and Ogden, Utah (West).

The only snag is a possible DePaul-UCLA rematch is Old Dominion, the ECAC South representative. The Bruins meet the Monarchs in a sub-regional game at Temple, Ariz., Friday night with the winner advancing against DePaul, the top-seeded team in the West, Sunday.

"I am surprised we are going out West, but certainly not disappointed," said the 66-year-old Meyer.

The Midwest appears to be the blockbuster regional this year with four teams ranked in the Top 10 — No. 4 Louisville, No. 6 LSU and No. 9 co-holders North Carolina and Missouri — plus No. 15 Notre Dame. No. 18 Texas A & M and Missouri Valley champion Bradley.

The expanded field — up from the 40 teams of last year and the 32 of two years ago — allowed the NCAA to lift the lid on the number of representatives each conference could send. The previous ceiling had been two.

The chief beneficiary this year was the ACC with five teams — Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Maryland and Clemson. The Big Ten and Pac-10 had four teams apiece and the Southeast and Metro conferences two apiece.

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (UPI) — The Carolina 500 stock car race scheduled to run over the weekend but postponed because of snow, has been rescheduled for next Sunday.

NASCAR competition director Bill Gazaway called off all racing activities on the one mile track at North Carolina's Motor Speedway Saturday afternoon, as snow and ice blanketed the premises.

The Peach Blossom 200, a late-model sportman race scheduled Saturday afternoon, was cancelled entirely because of schedule conflicts.

New Coach, Same Story

NEW YORK (UPI) — Apparently it will take more than a change of coaches to make the San Antonio Spurs play, pardon the expression, defense.

"We've got to get the team to play more physical," Bob Bass said Sunday night after watching the Spurs drop a 123-119 decision to the Cleveland Cavaliers in his debut as interim coach. "There's a lot of pressure on the team right now."

Bass replaced Doug Moe, who was fired Saturday after a disastrous checkmate Kansas City defense that held Houston to four field goals in the second quarter.

"We shot 65 percent in the first half and we were up by just two," Bass said. "And we out-rebounded Cleveland, 52-22."

"Mike Mitchell, who scored 35 points, hit the Cavs' last eight 3-point pull. Mitchell was assisted by a 'Tree' Rolinsas grabbed a career-high 22 rebounds in the third quarter." Prize-Winning Housing Plan Now Condemned

BY JAMES V. HEALION
NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Ten years after architect Paul Rudolph's instant housing concept was acclaimed a triumph, it is condemned as a failure.

The Nixon Administration said prefabrication was the answer to the nation's housing problems in 1970. It called it one method of cooling off the smoking ghettoes where living conditions sparked unrest. The housing units that were erected here, as "Operation Breakthrough" rolled across America, are about to be razed now. Hundreds of tenants are being displaced.

Richard Nixon's housing secretary, George S. Romney, solicited plans for various types of experimental housing that could be mass-produced using assembly-line methods. Entries came from across the country. Among the dozen or so winners sharing a $15 million federal research and development grant was Rudolph, former dean of the Yale School of Architecture.

His entry was innovative — round-roofed boxes, ranging in length from 39 feet to 51 feet, grouped in one and two-story clusters, some of them on stilts. A crane eased them down on a 15-acre city-owned site in a woodland, a cornucopia of natural plenty for kids accustomed to the confines of tenements. Former Mayor Richard C. Lee, an urban visionary, wanted New Haven to be the first city with modular housing in America. He knew the Department of Housing and Urban Development dispensed grants for urban renewal, planning, sewers, roads and historic preservation. And Romney's aides made it clear that in their book, one hand washed the other.

The real winners of Romney's sweepstakes were supposed to be welfare mothers with large families and other poor-to-moderate means people who would occupy the 3, 4, and 5-bedroom non-profit developments, sponsored by a black middle-class fraternal group, and known as "Oriental Gardens."

With a $325 initial investment, monthly payments would range from a low of $112 to $141. Technically, it would be a cooperative. HUD's Federal Housing Administration would insure the $3.4 million mortgage for 40 years, implying the houses were built to last. A trailer manufacturer, Eastern Portable Buildings Corp., of White Marsh, Md., built the modules and shipped them 250 miles for on-site erection, their 12-foot widths dictated by the maximum allowable for highway transport.

But before the first module was lifted into place in New Haven, deputy building inspector James F. Meehan, an electrical wiring specialist, "They didn't have a good type of quality control," Meehan says today. He found, for example, that paint sprayed on the walls of the units extended to contact points in circuit breaker boxes. He watched a worker sand over electrical wiring strung through drilled holes in plywood flooring.

The government began operating it in July 1978 because of the failure of the owners to make monthly mortgage payments. U.S. District Judge Robert C. Zampano later ordered the Federal Housing Authority to foreclose when he found a total of $3.98 million was owed in the project.

Vandals, meanwhile, were ripping the project apart. The design that won several awards for architect Rudolph in 1970 was described by U.S. Attorney Richard Blumenthal as fundamentally flawed in 1980. Durocher Associates in a courtordered appraisal said it was "undoubtedly one of the worst designed complexes your appraisers have ever seen."

Rudolph declined comment. The government wants to demolish the structure and build another more practical one. HUD is helping find what it believes to be suitable housing for the tenants.

But, said Blumenthal, "The problems... really can't be remedied in a cosmetic way." Robert Mero of HUD listed what he believes went wrong at Oriental Gardens. It's designed for the tropics. It's on stilts. There's no foundation. The siding is stapled together. There's little or no insulation. The plastic covering the roofs cracks in cold weather and leaks. There are fire hazards. The plumbing is exposed.

Said Mero, "George Romney was HUD secretary. He had just come from American Motors where he revolutionized the assembly line. Nixon told him, 'Apply the same technique to housing.' His motivation was good, his estimation, but they just never thought it through."

Land Trust Plans Film

MANCHESTER—The mysterious beauty of a Florida cypress swampland will be featured in a film to be presented by the Manchester Land Conservation Trust March 14 at 8 p.m. in the East Catholic High School Auditorium.

The film is a first for Richard C. Kern, a young Florida biologist, and newcomer to the wildlife lecture film circuit. It has already earned his selection as one of the top three lecturers on the National Geographical Series at Constitution Hall. Kern holds a degree in biology from Colgate University where he also won a National Science Foundation grant for his independent study of Florida spiders. He is a Navy veteran, having spent part of his tour as officer-in-charge of a patrol boat in the Mekong Delta.

College Movie Show Deals with Alcohol

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI) — The lights dim in the lounge of a Dartmouth College fraternity house, and students settle down to watch a movie projector winds up the lead to the night's feature. It is not a stag film or box office hit that appears on the portable screen, but a real-life drama about the dangers of alcohol abuse.

The film is part of "News on Booz", a student-run road show booked by invitation only into dormitories and fraternities on the Dartmouth campus. The show opened last week as a way of bringing information about the dangers of excessive alcohol use to potential abusers.

Scott's World Women Over 40 Gone

BY VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Women after 40, burn your Screen Actors Guild cards."

The words belong to the guild's Norma Connolly, 50-year-old national chairman of SAG's women's conference committee. She is also a SAG board member. Norma, a member of the cast of "General Hospital," is one of the few women of middle years regularly employed in a television series.

Norma, according to her screenwriter Howard Rodman, only four over-40 women are regulars in prime time network programming. "It was suggested to him that movies and TV shows reflect a society in which older women involved with much younger men still appears to be taboo or, at best, a novelty."

She also stressed the fact that few scripts are written with a 40-plus woman in mind at the central figure character, with or without a romantic interest.

"Today actors like Clint Eastwood, Burt Lancaster, Gregory Peck, William Holden and Kirk Douglas still play leading men. They're in their 50s or 60s."

"If Grace Kelly returned to the screen today she would be too old to play opposite the men who were her costars 25 years ago."

Norma says movies are somewhat more realistic than TV in casting older women. But few are the movies that feature women of middle years in romantic roles.

"For a dozen years women almost disappeared entirely from movie screens," she said. "That was after Robert Redford discovered Paul Newman and together they set off a round of 'buddy pictures.'"

Norma says movies are somewhat more realistic than TV in casting older women. But few are the movies that feature women of middle years in romantic roles.

No Firm Agreement On School Contract

BOLTON—The proposed contract with the Town of Willington and the Bolton Board of Education, was discussed Thursday night by the local board but no firm agreement was reached.

Some Willington students will be attending Bolton High School next September. The exact number won't be known until next week but the local board expects it will be about 15.

Willington was looking for alternative high schools for its students at the same time Bolton was looking to increase the enrollment at its high school. Most Willington students now attend Windham High School. Last year the Willington Board of Education designated Bolton High as an alternate school if students could attend if they wish to.

Educators Air Status of School Objective

BOLTON—The status of School Superintendent Raymond Allen's objectives for 1979-1980 was discussed at an informational meeting of the Board of Education last week.

Allen said an evaluation instrument and the evaluation procedures should be ready soon. He said a revised form and procedures for the evaluation of building administrators would also be completed soon.

Land Transfers Noted in Bolton

BOLTON—There were seven warranty deeds filed in the town clerk's office in January and three in February.

They were Marshall C. Taylor to Peter J. and Meg A. Quish, Alinx Drive, $25,300; Reed A. and Jeanne L. Yost to Amos J. and Annabelle Lee Gates, Tumblebrook Drive, $82,500; James T. and Edith Clark to Robert and Elinor Moses, Toomey Lane, $17,500 and $77,500.

Electricity is one of the most important things you buy. And today, it's still one of the best values you can get. In the last five years, for example, while the cost of living has gone up over 47%, the cost of our electricity to you has risen only about 25%. And that's in a world where milk is 31% higher, hamburger is up 69%, and the price of oil has skyrocketed 104%. Even bananas have gone bananas with an increase of 105% over the 1975 price.

Hearing Set in Vernon

VERNON—The Town Council will conduct a public hearing tonight at 7:30 in the Memorial Building on the use of general Revenue Sharing funds for 1980-81. The hearing will precede the regular council meeting.

During the council meeting Mayor Marie Herbst will discuss the lease with the state for the Tolland County house on W. Main Street.

The town had tried to raise the rent from the present $350 a square foot, which the mayor said isn't feasible now. However the town isn't allowed to raise the charge because of the limits established by state law.

There is a bill that will go to a hearing of the General Assembly this week, which would allow the town to increase the rent.

Attorney Robert DeBusan, acting for Rockville General Hospital, will be present at tonight's meeting to discuss a proposed three-way land switch which has been in the works for more than a year. It involves hospital-owned land, town-owned land and land owned by the Rockville Baptist Church.

Town Attorney Edwin Lavitt will discuss a proposal to strengthen the town's existing zoning ordinance. He was asked to review the ordinance, by the mayor and the council, after complaints were received from several residents of the Rockville section of town.

Another ordinance to be discussed is the one relative to parking during periods of snow removal and road construction. The police chief has asked to have this ordinance strengthened also.

The council will also be asked to act on a resolution authorizing the mayor to withdraw funds from under the supervision of the commissioner of the state Department of Transportation.

Town aid funds withdrawn from under the supervision of the commissioner are paid directly to the town upon request. The way the resolution now stands no authority is granted the mayor to withdraw funds.

Hospital Collects Food

VERNON—National Nutrition Month will be observed during March at Rockville General Hospital and in connection with this hospital will be collecting food for the Tri-Town Pantry Shelf.

The pantry shelf collects and provides food for residents who are in emergency situations in Vernon, Tolland and Ellington.

In cooperation with the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association Inc., which oversees the Pantry Shelf, the hospital will make its cafeteria available as a collection point through March 10.

Boxes will be available and donations of any non-perishable food items may be deposited. Visitors and employees of the hospital are urged to participate.

In addition, the dietary department of the hospital will provide information on nutrition through posters, nutrient analysis of hospital cafeteria food and pamphlets which will be available in the cafeteria.

During this month the cafeteria will be featuring one "skinny" (low calorie) lunch per week.

Employee Growth Slower

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's force of government employees will increase by less than 4 percent during the 1980s and the number of public school workers will grow by an even smaller rate, a watchdog group projects.

The Connecticut Public Expenditure Council said today that based on long-range population studies only about 6,000 workers will be added to the current force of 169,000 state and local government workers.

The CPEC said the lower rate for Connecticut was due to a below-average birth rate and a drop in the number of people moving into the state.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics forecasts nationwide employment drop of 1 percent in hiring for public education during the 1980s. Connecticut will experience an even sharper downturn because the state has a greater number of private schools and colleges, the CPEC said.

The group said since 1975 the percentage of Connecticut workers in the decade — compared to a 28 percent drop steadily and is projected to reach about 11 percent by 1990.

Three Hurt in Accident

Vernon
Three persons were taken to Rockville General Hospital Friday night with injuries suffered in a two-car accident on Route 83.

Gay Killian, 20, of 2 Charter Road, Ellington, was in one car and Thomas Brody, 23, of 14 Progress Ave. and Michael Bunker, 21, of 49 Campbell Ave., both of Vernon, were in the other car.

Police said Brody and Bunker had to be extricated from their car by the Vernon Rescue Squad.

As a result of the investigation of the accident, Mr. Killian was arrested Sunday on a charge of reckless driving. She and the other two persons are still in the hospital.

Mrs. White, 24, of 146 Cent St., Manchester, was charged Friday night with five counts of issuing bad checks. The alleged offenses occurred in several Vernon businesses.

She was released on bonds totaling $800 for appearance in court in Rockville on March 11.

Burleigh R. Lancaster, 24, of 441 Main St., East Hartford, was charged Saturday with reckless driving, driving a motor vehicle while license is under suspension and driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Police said he was observed driving on West Main Street at a high rate of speed and in a reckless manner. Police said they chased Lancaster but could not apprehend him until a short time later on High Street. He was released on his promise to appear in court on March 11.

Charles E. Moore, 29, of 6 Bay Path Drive, East Hartford, was charged Saturday with fourth-degree larceny on complain of the K-Mart Store.

Revaluation Plans On Council Agenda

COVENTRY — Tax Assessor Gerard Lavioie will meet with the Town Council tonight at 8:30 to discuss revaluation bids for a survey of grand list property in town.

The council's regular meeting begins at 7:30 in the Board of Record of the Town Hall on Route 31.

Both Lavioie and Town Manager Frank Connolly are expected to recommend that the council accept the bid of the United Appraisal Company of East Hartford totaling $87,500. Three other bids from companies headquartered in Connecticut, Ohio and Florida ranged from $102,500 to $145,000.

United Appraisal's bid includes $80,300 for commercial, industrial, public utility and special purposes properties. Another $2,700 would cover the unit price of litigation. The remaining $4,500 is for miscellaneous functions. The company's vice president, Sherwood Vermilya, described the bid as "firm," and he said it would cover up to 32 public hearings on no additional cost.

United Appraisal has done work for the towns of Bolton, Tolland, and Brooklyn. The council will also consider a resolution honoring the late Harold Crane and expressing sympathy to his family, Crans was a former councilman, a Board of Education member, active in the Volunteer Fire Association, and on the first Charter Commission.

"In addition to his official government service, Harold contributed to the well-being of the town and its citizens through his leadership," the resolution states.

Harold also played a significant role in the formation of the Coventry Ambulance Association and guided it through the years.

The council also will formally receive the resignation of Democrat Karen Nash, effective Tuesday. "After a great deal of deliberation and consideration towards Coventry's citizens I have made the decision to tender my resignation," she said.

She cited personal commitments to a family, full-and part-time jobs, and work on a master's degree as making it impossible for her to dedicate the necessary time to the council.

Mrs. Nash's resignation will leave the council with a makeup of five Democrats and two Democrats. The council must select a replacement of the same party as Mrs. Nash, with the recommendation traditionally coming from the Democratic Town Committee.

Paszek Aids Kennedy

BOLTON — Robert Paszek, a member of the Bolton Democratic Town Committee, has been named Bolton coordinator for the presidential campaign of Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Paszek, in accepting the appointment, said he strongly supports Kennedy's programs for gas rationing and mandatory wage and price controls. He said, "Carter has not done enough to control inflation and this has hurt the working man and woman. We need a president who can cope with the nation's energy crisis and inflation."

He charged the current administration with having a lack of direction saying, "I jump from one situation to the next. Senator Kennedy will give the country the leadership and direction it needs."

Paszek is a traditionally coming finance degree from Central Connecticut State College and is employed by the Travelers Insurance Co. He formerly was employed with the City of Hartford Traffic Engineering and Transportation Department.

Bolton residents interested in aiding Kennedy's campaign should contact Paszek at 643-0918 or at state headquarters, 233-821.

COC Schedules Meeting

HEBRON — The Central Office Committee will conduct a special meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the office of the superintendent in the Gilead Hill School.

The meeting will discuss the committee budget for the coming school year and will go into executive session to discuss personnel items.

The committee's proposed budget will be reviewed at Board of Education meetings in each of the three districts served, Hebron, Andover and Marlborough and also by the regional (Rhain) board.

Budget Hearings Slated

HEBRON — The Board of Finance has established a schedule for budget hearings and set a tentative date for the annual budget meeting.

The budget hearing has been set for April 21. Other budget presentations are scheduled for March 28 and 27 for the general government budget and March 31 for the education budget.

These meetings will be open to the public. At them the individual boards will discuss their budget presentations with the Board of Finance before going to the town meeting.

The finance board will also receive a presentation from the Elementary Board of Education on the bids received for the replacement of the Gilead Hill School roof. A town meeting will be scheduled to approve the appropriation.

First Selectman Raymond J. Burt has advised the finance board of the receipt of $6,287 from the state for road work. Of this amount the finance board transferred $5,000 into the unimproved road fund account and the remaining $1,287 to the improved roads account.

Subdivision Plan Set for Hearing

Hebron — The Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct a public hearing March 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Office Building on an application for a subdivision and on a proposed plan of development.

Brian T. Johnston has asked for permission to subdivide one lot of property owned by Stella Ann Johnson on Church Street in the Armon section.

Jack and Janet Von Deck have also submitted a plan of development for Lot 13 in the Penelon Village Associates subdivision on Route 66.

The hearing was originally scheduled to be held Feb. 26 but had to be postponed due to lack of a quorum.
