Rookie called up BOSTON (UPI) - Hoping to bolster an ineffective and injury-plagued pitching staff, the Boston Red Sox Friday called up Keith MacWhorter from their AAA affiliate in Pawtucket, R.I., and placed infielder Stan Papi on designated assignment.

MacWhorter, 24, compiled a 2-1 record for Pawtucket with a 1.65 earned run average in four appearances. He is expected to add some help to a pitching staff with an earned run average of 5.36 that also is troubled by an injury to reliever Skip Lockwood, McWhorter will be the 10th pitcher on the roster.

written before. I am enclosing a part of your column that I have kept in my Bible for years. As you can see, it is yellowed and shredded and half of it is missing. I don't know how many hundreds of times I have read it. It gave me such a feeling of peace and comfort. It was titled, "A Prayer for Mamma." . Will you please print it again? I would love to have another copy. Thank you.

DOROTHY L. DEAR DOROTHY: With pleasure:

DEAR ABBY: My beloved mother passed away recently, so I called the minister and asked him for the wording of a prayer I could say for my mother, and he said, "I'm too busy Mamma went to church long ago, but my father never like to go, so Mamma finally quit going. Abby, I can't believe that heaven is open only to church members.

". I've called all the bookstores in town and they say there aren't any prayers for the dead in any of the prayerbooks they have. I've heard there are places where you send a few dollars and they pray for the dead, but I don't know their addresses. Abby, I'd be so grateful if you would print a short prayer I could say for my mother before I go to sleep. Any faith is acceptable. I can't let you send it to my home because my father looks over the mail first and I'm sure I'd never get it. Please don't turn down my odd request. It means the world to me. Thank you, and God bless you,

DEAR PRAYER: I found this prayer in my Union Prayer Book. It is the one Jews recite on Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) to honor the memory of

In Memory of a Mother I remember thee in this solemn hour, my dea mother. I remember the days when thou didst dwell on earth, and thy tender love watched over me like a guardian angel. Thou has gone from me, but the bond which unites our souls can never be severed; thine image lives withi my heart. May the merciful Father reward the for the faithfulness and kindness thou hast ever shown me; may He lift up the light of His ce upon thee, and grant thee eterns DEAR ABBY: I can't believe it's Mother's Day again.

With every passing year the holidays seem to come closer Abby, I wish you'd find space in your column to remind young married women to remember their mothers-in-law - even if it's only a card. There were so many years when I should have remembered my mother-in-law on Mother' This year I sent her flowers - to the cemetery, bitterly egretting that I had never sent her flowers while was ablto enjoy them. I should have been more attentive to her, written her more about her grandchildren whom she loved so much. And most of all, I should have let her know how much I had grown to love her I hope others will not commit the same sins of omission as I. Abby, please print this. Next year might be too late for REGRETTING IN CALIFORNIA

TV DIALOGUE

KEEPING UP - Could you please settle an argument between my sisters and me? They say that J.R. Jones on "Barnaby Jones" is Barnaby's "Barnaby Jones" in Darthmy's nephew. I say he is his cousin. Who is right? Is he supposed to be related to Betty? — Cathy Horrell, Ft. Dodge, You've done a better job of keeping up with the Joneses than your sisters. J.R. is Barnaby's cousin. Since Betty is only Barnaby's daughter-in-law (widow of his son, Hal, who was killed in the first episode), she and J.R. are not related.

SAME GAME - There was a TV movie once that was a TV movie once that was very much like "Skin Game," which starred James Garner and Lou Gossett. I think Larry Hagman was in the second one. What was the name of this movie, and who played the Lou Gossett role? — Lin-da Helpmann, Hickory, N.C.

The answer to your first question is "Sidekicks," which, in fact, was adapted from "The Skin Game." The second Lou Gossett, again. SCOUTING — Please settle this mystery. Were the series "Hondo" and "Shane" the same? I watched "Hondo" as long as it was on and enjoyed it. I hope it will be repeated sometime. — Mrs. W. L. Williams, Mt. Pleasant,

"Hondo" was a 1967 series that lasted three months and starred Ralph Taeger as the tough-guy cavalry scout. It was based on the 1953 John Wayne movie, which was based on a Louis L'Amour story. "Shane" was a 1968 series that also lasted only three months, and was based also on a 1953 film, the classic starring Alan Ladd. David Carradine played the title role of the tough-guy gunfighter in the TV version. Each also fea-for the heroes to take care of. But aside from all these simiseries.

ANSWERS to PRIZE CROSSWORD PUZZLE for Weekend of May 3-4, 1980

- REQUEST not bequest. One can well view a "special REQUEST" (e.g., to sing something) as being agreeably complimentary in the manner suggested by the clue. Although a bequest may be a mark of appreciation, it is hardly in the category of things aptly said to "flatter."
- BEARD not bears. The idea of a handsome white BEARD is fully apt.
- One refers to bears as handsome poler ones, rather than "while."

 7. POINTED not printed. "POINTED" is the more fitting word in the context given, it being hardly relevant whether the criticism be printed or
- 8. BLAND not blank. A blank face has no "expression."
- BITE not mite. A BITE (of an insect, for example) is something specific and is plainty an annoyance. A mite can be so small its whereabouts
- 11. CUP not pup. Aptly, the use of both hands to hold a CUP is typical of small children. The clue's specifying "little girl" (rather than practically anybody) has less point for pup.
- 13. SNOB not slob. "SNOB" is a candid statement of opinion. "Slob" is
- LAKE not cake. "Picnic" (rather than "snack," say) suggests an outdoor location, e.g., a LAKE. Cake is a trivial answer enyway.
- 20. DUKE not dude. The idea of "foxhunting attire" (associated with landed gentry) links up well with DUKE. A dude, as such, would aimply "look very smart" regardless of what occasion he might be dressed for.

 12. PARTING not patting. One hardly visualizes a rough and reedy type patting his hair at all, much less "very fussy"!
- 23. BANTER not banker. BANTER could possibly "reveal" (the fact not previously known) that the joker in question possessed a sharp mind. There would be no such question of revealation in the case of a banker, who, as such, is accepted to have a sharp mind anyway.
- MEAL not meat. Meat may be eaten in sandwiches, but it cannot take

CLUES DOWN:

- ZEALOUS not jealous. Because he's "noo ZEALOUS" (i.e., more than suitably ZEALOUS), yes; but there is no need to say "too" jealous. TRUNK not drunk. TRUNK is more natural in the context given. A heavily built man who happens to be drunk is hardly termed "a heavy drunk."
- 4. QUIT not quip. It's no time to QUIT, certainly; but to quip may help raise
- SWELTER not shelter. A person can seek shelter from hot, cold or any kind of weather because shelter means refuge. SWELTER is
- WORK not pork. One complains that pork isn't "done" (properly cooked) rather than that it "has not been properly done" a usage better suited to the case of WORK.

Roger Moore, who has houses in France and Switzerland is making a rare visit to his native London. But not because he's homesick. Moore, recently voted the world's No. 1 male star, says he's been invited to guest in a segment on the ITC "The Muppet Show" for next season. And he snapped it up, "because I just love the Muppets." Who doesn't? The show is top-rated in its television time slot in more than 100 U.S. cities.

"I haven't made up my mind about my future," said 1980 Winter Olympics five-gold-medal skating winner, Eric Heiden, recently in New

By JOAN CROSBY

Lately radio has become prominent in my life. I listen to it every day while driving. Radio is great for the imag-ination, but in the area of sports sometimes it is a tool for too great an imagination.

Recently talks with Richard Crenna, who began in radio, and seeing an enjoyable musi-cal called "Big Broadcast of 1944," inspired reflections on those days of staring at the radio and the differences between what we heard about sports and what we now see

There is a difference in reliability - and accountability.

TV has made it necessary for sportscasters to be more accurate. In the days of radio when a famous announcer doing a football game made a mistake, we listeners were his patsies. We believed that the team had actually advanced whatever yards he established. Of course, he couldn't admit the mistake, so he would hastily make up a play that showed the team losing some ground until he placed the team on the proper yard

Linda Kelsey Advocates Solar Energy

By DAN LEWIS

It's a story television reporters hear frequently.

"I had been avoiding a series," says the co-star of a new series, who then explains her reasons: "Sixty percent of television makes you want to throw up."

This pretty, petite and demure new co-star is Linda Kelsey. She wants to explain why she accepted — was even willing to audition — for a state of the control o principal role in "Lou Grant," CBS's Monday night series, which has just completed three productive seasons.

is part of the editorial staff of a newspaper. The series stars Ed Asner as Lou Grant, the same lovable, tough character he originated in "The Mary Tyler Moore Until "Lou Grant" came along, Miss Kelsey was con-tent to take supporting, guest roles in episodic television. She had no interest in a continuing role.

"Every time I would guest in a series, I would see the battle fatigue the regulars were suffering." Miss Kelsey said. "It didn't seem like a good thing to work in a eries." She didn't feel it served personal growth. Consequently, she revealed, she never was interested in seeking roles during the pilot season.

She says she was blase about being offered the role of the gal reporter in "Lou Grant" - at first. Where others might have jumped at the opportunity, she requested time to consider the offer. She remembers mulling it over during a weekend.
"The big consideration was

"My character was in full bloom from the first day," she says firmly. "I would have been an idiot to turn it down."

Oddly, she experienced a recent period when she won-dered about her future. Her role was reduced considerably during the second season, "But this past season," she says, "I went for almost four months without a day off." The sign of success is that her contract was rewritten, which obviously pleases Miss

She keeps busy during hiatus, but not with show business. She and her husband are building a house on Martha's Vineyard on a 32-acre tract of land they purchased several years ago.

"It will be an experiment in solar energy," she says, revealing that she and her husband are active environmentalists. Her husband, a carpenter with his own business in Cali-fornia, started as a set-builder. They met at a summer theater in Dennis, Mass.

"I was going out with his friend," Miss Kelsey recalls. "Seven years later, I got a call from him in Los Angeles. He invited himself over for din-ner and never left." They were married a year later.

They bought the Martha's Vineyard property from friends who were getting a divorce. It is a wooded tract ("I'm not a beach person," declares Miss Kelsey), where she someday hopes to raise sheep. That's because she

Miss Kelsey is quite serious about the solar energy experiments. She's trying to get the Department of Energy to allo-cate some of its budget to pro-duce commercials promoting solar energy.

She's also active in the anti-nuclear movement.

"But I decided not to be just anti," she explains. "I wanted to be pro something. So many of the anti-Vietnam energies have now been channeled into the anti-nuke movement. I felt there was too much anti-movement. I decided to put a lot of energy into something positive like advocating solar

"A lot of us came out of the Vietnam era with the residue of excitement. We were going to save the world and hand out flowers," she sald softly. "But we didn't have any alternatives. So a lot of those peo-ple quietly pulled up. They went to grad school. Now, they're lawyers, doctors and professional people like archi-tects and writers. Their old philosophies have survived, but they're fishing in a new way — within their profes-

Since taking the role, her opinion of newspapers has altered "entirely," she says. "I have tremendous respect for good journalism," she notes. "I didn't read newspa-pers that much. You know, it's the old story about not believ-ing what you read in the news-papers. I now follow the beat reporters. And since I'm now written about, I know both sides. I know what it is to find my words distorted and out of context. I can recognize good journalism."

That makes it treacherous interviewing her. You wonder if you have passed her test.

Mary Therese Friel, Miss USA 1979, will crown Miss USA 1980 on "The 1980 Miss USA Pageant," to be broadcast, live, from the Mississippi Coset Collesum and Convention Center in Biloxi, Miss., Thursday, May 15, on CBS.
