Today's the day: We're ready to move downtown

By NANCY GARR Executive Director Finch met with your newspaper. Loader. Nope, I'm not dreaming. Today is June 9 and on my calendar are block letters saying THIS IS IT. What? This is the day that 13 months of dreaming, researching, planning, brooking and appealing for a downtown site for our Human Needs Services become real and we actually begin scheduling the move into the old Senior Citizens Center on Linden Street.

The Board of Directors, bless them, have voted to house the Health Department, newly organized Human Services Department and MARCH, Inc. on the first floor and allow MACC to provide human services on the ground floor. So? That decision makes possible for us (you, me and all the many people who make these services possible) to:

- Offer the services in a downtown site easily accessible by foot or bus to those who need them.
Consolidate our services so that volunteers can, for example, staff the Pantry and Clothing Bank at the same time, extending their services and the hours open and making them more useful to the working poor and first time volunteers and staff will be able to work much more closely together, not only in providing services but in consultation and planning for the future.
Enhance administrative coordination. Now, I realize that doesn't sound very exciting but when you remember the Emergency Pantry was at Center Church, the Clothing Bank at Mayfair Garden, the Fuel Bank and the Financial Assistance program at St. Bartholomew, Project Reentry and Project Genesis at Emanuel Lutheran, the Furniture Bank at the Zipsler Club, Project Explore at St. Mary's I miss anything well, I often felt I was trying to ride an octopus in a stepie chaise. Come an emergency and we're all over the town. So administrative coordination may not sound exciting to you, but it turns me on like a lightbulb. Finch me!

Great House Mates To fill our overflowing cup, we will be sharing quarters with some of the nicest people in town. And tho it may be almost as risky as blessing the Board of Directors, I must say that Manchester is more fortunate in her public servants than most of her citizens realize. The dedication and caring of people like Mary Della Ferris, Ron Krantz, Diane Wicks, Alice Turek go far beyond anything outlined in a job description or commanded by a paycheck. It delights us beyond all measure to be housemates. That's an editorial we, of course, MACC main office will continue to be housed at St. Bartholomew since many of our MACC programs are clearly related to spreading the good news and facilitating unity in the Christian community. The sound policy of separation of church and state forbids the use of municipal resources to benefit the church. And for those of you who have been to the main office which houses 3 desks, 6 file cabinets, a bookcase, the typing desk, the copier, 2 phones, a wastebasket (I'm not even counting researching and planning boxes of food and clothing donations) and what often seems like 17 people in a 12 ft. by 12 ft. space (yes, that's really what it is 12 X 12). You'll be happy to know you can now visit us without endangering life and limb. Long Suffering Awards And while we are thinking of life and limb, I specially thank the good people at Center Church who for 5 long years have housed the Emergency Pantry, all those beautiful volunteers who have put up with the delicate odor of moth balls seeping upstairs during lunch. We lovingly and gratefully wish you roses and gardens every day, to the generous people of Emanuel Lutheran who shared space with us in their parish house so that we could provide some much needed supportive services downtown. It was Sunday school one day, counseling the next in some of those rooms and they were most patient. — and by special and personal thanks to Nancy Long, our Downtown Coordinator, without whose talented efforts and beyond price dedication to this stream made it happen. And more thank you's to P.J. Jeffers who has joined MACC as a patron. (He is a super guy let us urge you to join him.) — to the generous and anonymous donor of $50.00 "To help someone." — To Mrs. Shirley McKenna for her patience while waiting for the MACC Furniture Bank crew to collect a refrigerator donated. Also many thanks to: Pat Wilson and Jean Koc for items donated to the Mauchester Evening Herald. — Thurston (Scotty) Stauty, Doreen Michael, Furniture Bank. Renovations escalate to $5.5 million

BY KEVIN FOLEY Herald Reporter MANCHESTER — Renovations at Manchester High School could cost as much as $5.5 million — about $2.4 million over the original estimate — according to the project's architect, Charles E. Gunnels of the Farmington firm Russell Gibson von Dolben. The new figure emerged from Monday evening's Building Committee meeting where committee members heard Gunnels' revised estimate report on everything from the $855,000 a new roof will cost to the $64,000 figure for a rubberized running track. The committee, anxious to have a "round figure" set for the renovations by its June 23 meeting with the Board of Education, was stumped by the $5.5 million figure which prompted committee chairman Paul Phillips to tell Gunnels, "We'll have to work backwards from there."

Woman robbed in home

MANCHESTER — A 65-year-old Adams Street woman was attacked in her home Monday afternoon, tied and gagged by her assailant and then robbed of about $80 by two men who ransacked her three-bedroom home and then fled the scene, according to police. The woman was able to free herself and call police at about 4:55 p.m. When she arrived at the home the victim told them she had answered a knock at her kitchen door at about 4:20 p.m. A man stuck a pistol in her ribs and forced her into the kitchen where he struck her in the eye, knocking her to the floor. The man tied her up and taped her eyes and mouth. He then admitted an accomplice, police said, and the two went through the house. Detective Lt. Orville Cleveland who is conducting the investigation, said the woman suffered a black eye and a cut on her face but was otherwise unharmed.

Nate named delegate to convention

BY MARY KITZMANN Herald Reporter MANCHESTER — After a two-and-a-half-hour roll call vote, that astute John Anderson delegates Nathan Agostinelli, president of Manchester State Bank, was chosen as an at-large delegate to the Republican National Convention in Detroit. Agostinelli is one of six state co-chairmen for Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign. Chosen as an alternate congressional delegate was Curtis Smith, a GOP town committee member who coordinated the Manchester effort for George Bush, the winner of the Connecticut Republican primary in March. The national delegates and alternates were chosen at a state convention last weekend in Meriden by town delegations. Manchester sent 13 town committee members to the convention. The convention chose 17 at-large delegates to represent Connecticut. Congressional delegates, one for every 500 registered voters and at least two from each district, were also chosen. The delegate selection process took longer than expected as the delegates of Rep. John Anderson, were contested. Anderson's regional coordinators had submitted the names of four at-large delegates. These were contested on the convention floor, under a ruling that the coordinators' submission was invalid. The roll-call vote, choosing Agostinelli as an at-large delegate, lasted over two hours, according to Robert Von Deck, town committee chairman. Anderson's delegates lost in the vote; he has no delegates from Connecticut going to Detroit, according to Von Deck. However, one alternate delegate who supports Anderson was voted in. Von Deck also commented on criticism from Ted Cummings, Democratic town committee chairman. Cummings said Monday that the Republican selection of delegates for the U.S. Senate race was autocratic instead of democratic. He charged that the selections were made without input of the town committee. Von Deck rebutted these comments saying the selections were made according to party precedent.

Female rookie takes ribbing

FARMINGTON (UPI) — Diane Guglielmo's boss says Connecticut's first professionally trained female firefighter takes a lot of male-female "harassment" and ribbing from her male colleagues. But Gregory N. Metcalf said Monday the teasing and taunting is because Mrs. Guglielmo is "the rookie" — not because she's a woman. "In fire departments there's always a lot of harassment of the rookie," he said. "I don't think what Diane's getting is any different. By and large it's the rookie type of stuff." And the 22-year-old woman pacesetter said the toughest part of her job as a firefighter at the University of Connecticut Health Center is finding clothes and boots that fit. Metcalf said he and Mrs. Guglielmo "spent a lot of time working on how she'd deal with the 'male-female thing' once she joined the department in April. "I was ready to fight the battle for equality," said Metcalf, the center's first female director. "But I thought it was going to be a lot tougher." As an example, Metcalf relates how her co-workers reacted when Mrs. Guglielmo got a fire truck stuck in mud. "Naturally," said Metcalf, "The inclination was 'What's the matter, Diane, can't you drive it?' But you see, that's 'cause she's the new kid, not 'cause she's a woman.' Mrs. Guglielmo, of Glastonbury, was the first woman to graduate from the New Haven Fire Training School. Two other women who began the six-week course with her in March dropped out. Mrs. Guglielmo is also believed to be the first full-time paid female firefighter in Connecticut. "But she viewed her achievement more as a personal victory than as a milestone along the road to equal rights. "I believe in women's rights," said Mrs. Guglielmo, "but what's important is that I'm not trying to prove a point. This is something I've always wanted to do." "It's something I've wanted ever since I can remember," she said, "even though everybody told me to forget it." Her ambition was in part inspired by her grandfather, a former fire chief in Springfield, Mass. For those who tell her women are not strong enough to be firefighters, Mrs. Guglielmo has a stark reply: "I hate to disappoint you but I am. If my father, who weighs 200 pounds, were in a burning building I'd get him out. You can bet on that." During her training, she had to carry a 150-pound man down a three-story ladder. Mrs. Guglielmo, who had been a volunteer firefighter in Glastonbury and a paramedic at UConn's Health Center, said her biggest problem fitting into the all-male department has been relatively minor. "The clothes don't fit," said the 5-foot-6, 120 pound firefighter. "The boots are gigantic on her size 6 1/2 foot. The tough outer trousers make her look like Charlie Chaplin. "I have to get everything special-ordered or custom-made," she said.

Oil prices to rise

Petroleum Exporting Countries opened its 57th biannual strategy meeting with proposals that would have added up to 3 cents per gallon to the retail cost of gasoline and home heating oil in the United States. The U.S. oil ministers from 13 countries were unable Monday to reach a compromise on price unity. Iraq proposed OPEC members unity on oil prices at $22 per barrel, but that price was dismissed as "too low" by Iran and apparently rejected by Saudi Arabia as too high. The Iraqi proposal to unify oil prices at $22 per barrel would have added between 2 and 3 cents per gallon to the retail cost of gasoline and home heating oil in the United States. But Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moftari said a $22 marker was "too low," and suggested $25 might be more acceptable. The U.S. housing industry was particularly hard hit in March and April and housing analysts agree the industry faces still tougher times. For the first four months of 1980, 166,000 single-family houses were sold, a dismal 35 percent below the same period last year. While sales dropped, the median price of homes started to climb again, reaching $64,000. Two consumer surveys Monday indicated Americans are pessimistic about their monetary future and are cutting back drastically in their spending habits. A May poll of 5,000 U.S. households by the Conference Board, a non-profit research group, found buying plans were at the lowest point in the 12-year history of the survey. In other economic news — Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd urged the Federal Reserve Board to dismantle consumer credit controls, saying the restraints had served their purpose by reversing soaring interest rates. Veterans Administrator Max Cleland said grants of up to $3,800 for the purchase of an automobile or other transportation are available for seriously disabled veterans.

Housing sales at new low

By United Press International The sale of new single family homes in the United States has plummeted to new depths, and it appears the price of oil to heat those homes and commute back and forth from them will reach new heights. The U.S. Census Bureau Monday said single family home sales dropped 21 percent in April — the worst showing in 17 years of record-keeping. With only 37,000 new houses sold it was the second worst month on record, outdone only by September 1966 when sales were running at an annual rate of 38,000 units. Meanwhile, half way across the world in Algeria, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries opened its 57th biannual strategy meeting with proposals that would have added up to 3 cents per gallon to the retail cost of gasoline and home heating oil in the United States. But the oil ministers from 13 countries were unable Monday to reach a compromise on price unity. Roman holiday

While the rest of the world watched the Tony Awards Sunday night, John Travolta slipped away to watch the lascivious gore of Bob Guccione's "Super-X" flick, "Caligula."

But John didn't want to be recognized as he waited for the show to begin at New York's Penthouse East theater, so he talked assistant manager Mark Gross into letting him hide behind the candy counter. There, he covered his famous face with the only magazine available — the Penthouse "Caligula" issue.

It worked. Not a soul spotted him, and when it was over, Gross slipped him — with two unidentified female companions — out the fire exit to a waiting limousine.

The Urban Cowboy's reaction to the emperor's excesses? "It was a very emotional experience."

Exonerated

In 1970, Ricardo Montalban founded Nosotros — an organization dedicated to the battle against Hollywood stereotyping of Hispanics.

During the weekend, Nosotros staged its 10th Golden Eagle Award ceremony at the Hollywood Palladium, where laurels went to non-Hispanic, but Spanish-speaking, Anthony Quinn and to Gilbert Roland.

Catherine Bach, who plays Daisy on "The Dukes of Hazzard," and whose mother is Hispanic, received the group's Most Promising Young Actress Award, and the Humanitarian Award went to labor leader Cesar Chavez.

But it was Duncan Reynolds who apparently rehabilitated a role some have branded a stereotype of yore. He won an award for his television role — as the Cisco Kid.

His own brand

Hank Williams Jr. says he doesn't care whether the fans like it or not — he's going to do his own thing, even when he resurrects the classics of his late, great father.

His latest resurrection is "Kaw Liga" — the tale of a loveless wooden Indian — and some of the fans are demanding his head.

Young Williams renders the 1955 country caper in a driving rock beat — one a number of disc jockeys, muttering about heresy, refuse to air.

Young Williams is unrepentant — says, "I've got plenty of songs that I've written. If that's the way they feel, I'll sing my own. I didn't want them all saying like they used to, 'Well, he's using his father's name to get ahead.'"

Kids at heart

Dolly Parton — between takes in her new Hollywood career — says she and husband Carl Dean are blissfully happy, but there won't be any little princess or princeps of country music.

Says she, "Carl and I feel it's a little late for kids. He's 36 and I'm 33. We're not of each other's kids."

She's just finished "Nine to Five" with Jane Fonda and Lily Tomlin and she's slated soon to start filming "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," with Bart Reynolds — a labor for which she's reportedly collecting a cool $1 million.

Quote of the day

Indianapolis FBI spokesman Steve McVey, reacting with skepticism to the "confession" of a man claiming to be the assailant who shot Vernon Jordan: "It's probably odds-on it's doubtful."

Glimpses

Leonard Saffir, who founded the now defunct New York Tribune, is publishing a new weekly — the Bridgehampton Sun — in Bridgehampton, N.Y.

Saudis reject $2 increase

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Saudi Arabia has rejected a $2 a barrel price increase at a deeply split OPEC summit that tumbled today on collapse and promised six more months of free-for-all pricing.

The conference to restore a single world oil price appeared to break down on the very first day of the summit over an Iraqi proposal for an average $2 a barrel increase aimed at unifying prices around $32 a barrel.

Deadly quake hits Mexico

MEXICALI, Mexico (UPI) — One death and 100 injuries were reported in the strong earthquake that shook rural farming communities and destroyed homes in northeast Baja California.

The quake occurred at 8:28 p.m. Sunday and registered 6.2 on the Richter scale. Officials said most of the damage was to primitive adobe dwellings in the agricultural valley.

Court rejects attempts to withdraw confession

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Supreme Court today rejected a West Hartford man's attempt to nullify his confession to the slaying of a woman motel clerk and shooting at a police car while he was free on $125,000 pending the appeal to the Supreme Court.

Derrico challenged the murder conviction on three grounds, but the high court limited its review to his claim that the second of two confessions he gave police was improperly admitted as evidence in the trial.

The defendant, who was emotionally distraught and crying while being questioned by police, claimed he was illegally arrested at his home and the confession was not voluntary.

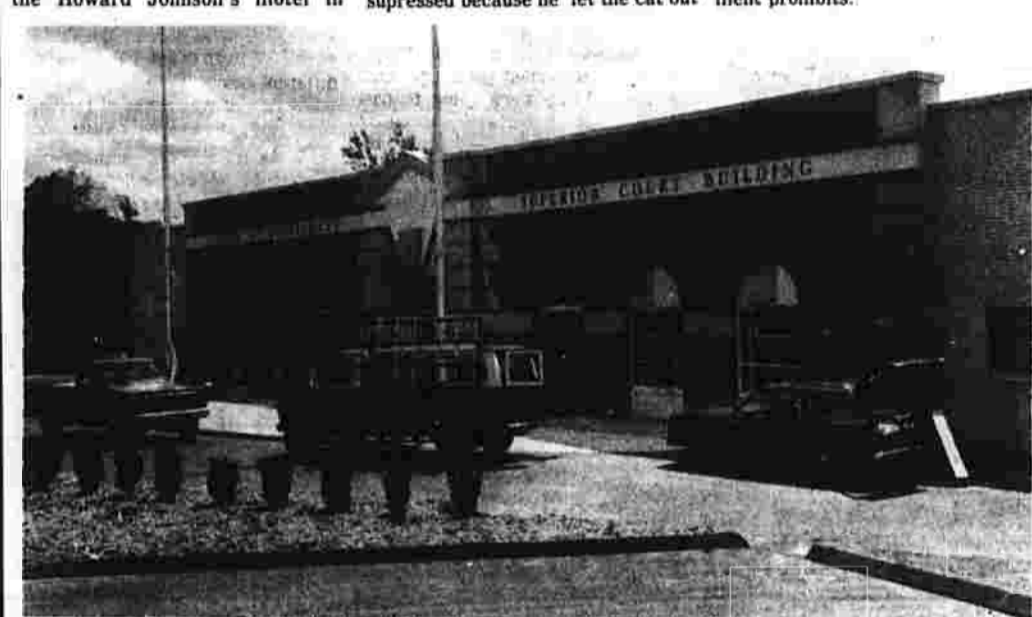

The ruling said the first confession was only a general acknowledgment of involvement in the crime, whereas the second was detailed.

"We conclude that there was sufficient evidence before the trial court to sustain its conclusion that the defendant was advised of his constitutional rights, executed a valid waiver and confessed voluntarily," the ruling said.

The defendant argues that his confession should have been suppressed because he "let the cat out of the bag" by his inculcatory statement, that his taped confession was the product of the earlier statement, the opinion said. "We do not agree."

in the Bridgeport case, Ruth's attorneys had challenged his conviction for the Dec. 9, 1976 slaying of Diaz claiming the confession he gave police was the result of an illegal arrest.

Ruth was arrested by police who had gone to his house with a search warrant after one of his accomplices had implicated him. The defense argued the arrest was invalid because it was made without an arrest warrant. It claimed the warrant was invalid because it was made without an arrest warrant. It claimed the warrant was invalid because it was made without an arrest warrant.

Ella heads off suit

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso, on the eve of a threatened suit by a group representing mentally retarded children, says summer programs for 846 severely and multi-handicapped youngsters will go ahead as planned.

The governor said Monday the decision to withhold the $406,000 needed to provide summer schooling for handicapped children, which is funded by the federal government, had been made by the Legislature.

Mental Retardation Commissioner Gareth Thorne said last week his agency's $93 million budget for the coming fiscal year did not include money for the program when the budget emerged from the Legislature.

Handicap programs set

"It was decided that we would go ahead with the program and that OPM and our budget people would begin immediately to look (in the budget) for the money. It's got to be there somewhere," the spokesman said.

The program in question provides handicapped children with year-round training in self-help skills, such as feeding, toilet training and dressing, at about 35 locations around the state.

Consent is required under the Children Act passed by Congress in 1975 to provide year-round schooling for the state's handicapped children.

Schiff faces two years

HARTFORD (UPI) — Convicted tax rebel Irwin A. Schiff could face up to two years in prison at his scheduled June 20 sentencing for willful failure to file federal income tax returns in 1974 and 1975.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge T. Emmet Clarke Monday set the sentencing date.

A U.S. District Court jury in Hartford Friday convicted Schiff of failing to file the returns, rejecting his arguments that the U.S. Constitution did not require him to provide the information to the Internal Revenue Service.

Schiff, 51, of Hamden, a financial consultant and author, faces a maximum sentence of one year in prison or a $10,000 fine on each count. Schiff was found guilty of the same charges in 1979 and sentenced to six months in jail and fined $10,000.

But the 2nd Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in New York overturned the conviction, ruling improper evidence was admitted in the first trial.

Educators absorb cut in funding

MANCHESTER — The Board of Education finished its budget work for fiscal year 1980-81 Monday night by voting to absorb the $18,000 cut in requested $178 million budget of the way Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy suggested.

The board had received comments from the PTA Budget Study Committee at its last meeting, calling for changing the steadfast stance of the educators concerning improvements. The board had wanted to keep its no-improvement position, and the PTA officials suggested improving the system by adding an alternative education program at Illing Junior High School.

At Monday's meeting, the board voted unanimously to maintain its position and opt for a no-improvement budget of $17.75 million.

In other business, the board learned of the reinstatement of two positions in the Cooperative Program at Manchester High School. The board had earlier voted to eliminate the positions but after students chose their courses for next year, education administrators realized the slots were necessary to provide students with the education they desired.

The board voted unanimously to adopt the objectives Kennedy had set for himself at the last meeting. Among those objectives, which Kennedy said he hoped would become district objectives, not just personal ones, were: surveying the status of all textbooks; updating long-range plans for handling declining enrollments; and studying the district's use of computers with plans to expand that use.

Shortened day prompts transfer

MANCHESTER — East Catholic High School has altered the length of its school day, town education officials are considering transferring students from Verplanck to Wadwell public schools.

The changing schedules have forced changes in the bus runs in order to get all students to schools at different locations and at different times.

The ripple effect of East Catholic's decision to lengthen the school day has already concerned some parents whose children were going to continue going to their regular public school, although at different times. Parents had been concerned about the traffic the children would encounter on the way to school.

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, one mother of a New State Road student said she felt compelled to state her objections to having her son change schools.

Openings in league

EAST HARTFORD — The East Hartford Parks and Recreation Department has announced there are some openings in the Men's Adult Basketball League.

All players must be East Hartford residents and have a town resident identification card. All players will be checked for their identification.

Any team interested in playing is asked to call the Parks and Recreation Department Office, at 289-2781, ext. 317. Entrance fee will be $15.

Orientation session

EAST HARTFORD — A second orientation session will be held at Veterans Memorial Park Saturday at 10 a.m. The course will be set up for beginners and intermediates. Persons interested in participating in this outdoor activity may call the Parks and Recreation Department Office at 289-2781, ext. 317 to register.

Pinochle game

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Senior Citizens Pinochle Group will sponsor a game Thursday at 9:45 a.m. at the Army and Navy Club. Play is open to all senior citizens.

They offered Peach from office by voting to begin proceedings to fire him, which automatically resulted in suspension without pay pending hearing on the charge. The hearing would not be held until June 23.

Peach said he had consulted an attorney and may challenge the council action.

Athanson vehemently opposed the measure, telling the councilors they were "beating a dead carcass when there's no blood in him."

"Do you get some self-satisfaction in yourself in beating a dead horse?" he shouted. "Is there no decency? Are we so power-struck? What is this?"

Ludgin, who was met by residents angry with the council action, said "We didn't get elected to have this man subvert everything we do," said Ludgin. "He wants to use the city manager's office as a platform to campaign against our policies."

Teens charged in silver theft

GUILFORD (UPI) — Five teenagers face larceny charges in the theft of $50,000 worth of silverware after a local silver dealer decided to share his new-found wealth with a suspicious cab driver.

Authorities said Daniel Vancore, 16, was charged with first-degree larceny Monday after the driver told police the youth gave him $5 tips for several short rides in the cab.

Vancore, who was picked up with his unidentified 15-year-old companion, named the other three youths who allegedly joined in the theft of the silver items last Thursday from the home of a local silver dealer.

Police said the youths had sold $25,000 worth of the items to a New Haven metals dealer for $500.

Most of the remaining items were found when police in Madison stopped the car the other youths were in for suspicion that it had stolen license plates.

Fendell honored

Norman Fendell, right, director of the Regional Occupational Training Center, was honored at an open house at the center Sunday afternoon. Volunteer hours revealed for Manchester schools

MANCHESTER — Susan Piese, coordinator of volunteers in the Manchester school district, told the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night that 508 adults have volunteered a total of 28,000 hours during the past year.

"If this is multiplied out at minimum wage — and many of our volunteers could easily earn more than this if they were being paid — it would have cost the school system $22,000 to pay these volunteers," Ms. Piese said.

In her wrapup report to the board on the volunteer program's first full year, Ms. Piese termed it "an unqualified success. The number of program hours have been uniformly positive."

During the course of the 1979-80 school year, 17 people served as volunteer coordinators in the town's elementary and junior high schools. These men and women represented the decentralized leadership of the volunteer program.

Ms. Piese said their efforts, with help from her central office, led to the formation of five programs that hadn't existed before the volunteer coordination program was put into effect.

The volunteers were not limited to those who had children in the district. Mrs. Piese told the board 29 people who didn't have youngsters volunteered.

In-service training programs were given, two in cooperation with the town Youth Services Department and a third given to provide guidance on the English as a Second Language program.

Ms. Piese said five articles which appeared in the Herald, showed that regular publicity was paid the program.

Several publications were updated under Ms. Piese's guidance, along with the presentation of volunteer program workshops.

The volunteer work has led to Ms. Piese's appointment to several state boards that concern the volunteer phenomenon. "I think these appointments will make me a more effective volunteer leader and will serve to publicize our program," Ms. Piese told the board.

She listed as goals for the coming year: a continued growth in volunteer programs offered at each school; improved communications and record keeping; increased public information and recruitment of volunteers; and an expansion in the Manchester Community Resource Directory.

Retiree honored

MANCHESTER — Mrs. Hilda Campbell, retiring second and third grade teacher at Keeney Street School, will be honored at a retirement party to be given for her by the Keeney PTA Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the school.

Fast and present friends, students, and their families are welcome to attend.

Recently, the Keeney PTA planted a Hackmatack tree in her honor on the school grounds.

Read-a-thon planned

MANCHESTER — The Mental Health Association of Connecticut, in cooperation with the South Windsor Public Library and the Mary Cheney and Whiton Memorial Libraries, will conduct its annual Read-A-Thon from June 23 to Aug. 1.

Children who completed Grades 2 through 8 are eligible to participate by calling on their relatives and neighbors to obtain pledges for each book they read. Pledge cards are available at the libraries.

A 10-speed bicycle will be awarded to the child who collects the most pledges and a television set to the participant with the most sponsors.

Prizes will be awarded to children in each grade who collect the most pledges and to children who collect more than $20.

Proceeds will be used to expand the association's network of community aftercare programs for discharged psychiatric patients.

Detty's Notebook

By BETTY RYDER
Congratulations to the grads

Hope you all had a fine weekend. The young lady of the family had a great time at Manchester High School's senior prom, but the day following was too wet for the beach. Monday they headed to the Frank Mass resort in Moodus for the class picnic and the weather wasn't exactly suitable for more than a quick dip in the pool. Nevertheless, there were many other activities available and they had a great time.

Graduation is June 15 and it's difficult to realize 18 years have zoomed by so quickly, but the kids are delighted. Certainly want to wish all the graduates good luck in their future ventures and am sure they will look back on school days (some day) as "the good old days."

We'll gather the facts and bring them back to you for your consideration.

"Put a 10-foot fence around the parks and don't let anybody in," said Bolton resident State Trooper Robert Peterson as a solution to the vandalism problems at the town parks.

Vernon Board of Education members Monday night, were discussing instituting a Human Growth & Development Program for Grades 4-6 which would include sex education. Board member, Harold Cummings, commented "Apparently we have no sex education now other than aside comments in the locker rooms."

One South Windsor resident argued against the improvement of Pleasant Valley and Chapel roads at Monday's Town Council session. "If you improve the road, you increase speed. I am for more potholes," he said.

When Richard Mourey, member of the East Hartford Charter Revision Commission, called the town's corporation counsel's office has too much power to investigate any town official if wanted, Corporation Counsel William Roberto didn't see any problem. "That's what they need in New Britain," Roberto said, referring to that town's recent scandal in town government.

Glastonbury Community

Development Director Richard Egan was discussing the development of apartments and condominiums in town and how developers have to meet strict zoning regulations. "There is no town in the state that has more public hearings than Glastonbury."

Obituaries

Mrs. Mildred Tedford

MANCHESTER - Mrs. Mildred (Elliott) Tedford, 81, formerly of East Center Street, died Sunday night in a Rockville convalescent home.

She was the widow of Walter J. Tedford.

Mrs. Tedford was born in Long Island, N.Y., on Nov. 27, 1898 and had been a lifelong resident of Manchester.

Prior to her retirement, she was employed in the baby department of the former J.W. Hale Company.

She was a member of the South United Methodist Church and the Senior Citizens of Manchester.

She leaves several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and are in charge of the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St.

Leslie O. Royal

ROCKVILLE - Leslie O. Royal, 61, of 26 Reed St., husband of Helen E. Nicargara Royal, died June 9 at home.

Mr. Royal was born in Rockville on June 12, 1919 and had been a life-long resident. He was employed at Hamilton Standard for the past 37 years and was a member of its Quarter Century Club. He was a communicant of St. Bernard's Church and a World War II Army veteran.

Other survivors are a son, William F. Royal of Vernon; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Rudo of Ellington; and a brother, Lawrence J. Royal of Honesassa, Va.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. at St. Bernard's Church. Burial will be with full military honors at St. Bernard's Church. There are no calling hours.

Laid in state at the home, 19 Ellington Ave., Rockville, in charge of arrangements. Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews

BOLTON - Mrs. Elizabeth (Lane) Andrews, 73, of 12 Notch Road Extension, died Monday at Leighton Hospital, Leighton, Pa.

She was the widow of Ernest R. Andrews.

Mrs. Andrews was born in Hartford, April 22, 1907 and had been a resident of Bolton for 12 years.

She had previously lived in the Hartford and Bloomfield areas.

Before retiring five years ago, she was a secretary in the attorney general's office in Hartford in the Welfare division, and in the State Office in the Department of Social Services.

She was a member of the Bolton Congregational Church where she served as a deacon for several years.

She was a past president of the Ladies Benevolent Society of the church and was clerk of the church.

She was immediate past moderator of the Tollard Association and a delegate to the state Conference of the United Church of Christ. She served as a delegate and division chairwoman with the Manchester Area Conference of Churches. She was president of the Bolton Senior Citizens Group and was an active member of the American Association of Retired Persons of the Manchester Group.

She leaves a brother, Robert M. Lane, West Hartford.

Funeral services will be Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the Bolton Congregational Church, with the Rev. J. Stanton Conover officiating.

Burial will be in Bolton Center Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Manchester, Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Bolton Congregational Church.

Anthony J. Gamache

VERNON - Funeral services for Anthony J. Gamache, 65, of 325 Kelly Road, Vernon, who died Monday night at Manchester Memorial Hospital, will be held Thursday morning.

Born in Beverly, Mass. on March 18, 1915, he was a six-year resident of Vernon, and had lived in Manchester before that.

He was the husband of Lillian Watts Gamache and was employed by the Worcester Express Co. of South Windsor for 23 years before his retirement. He was a member of the Teamster's Retiree Association Local 671.

In addition to his wife, he leaves three sons, Donald Gamache of Blain, Minn., Robert Gamache, who is stationed with the U.S. Air Force at Manchester, and Charles Gamache of Manchester; a sister, Mrs. Sylvia Ann Whitten of Darius, Mass., and four grandchildren.

Services will be from Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., at 10 a.m. Burial will follow in Grove Hill Cemetery in Rockville.

Friends may call Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial donations may be made to the charity of the donor's choice.

Panel gives breakdown of renovation estimates

MANCHESTER - With the original $3.1 million estimate now up to $5.5 million for the Manchester High School renovation project, the Building Committee is overseeing the estimate work being done by the architectural firm Russell Gibson von Dohlen. Here is the breakdown:

The roof, $855,000; pool and gym lockers, $65,450; floors, including carpeted area, $116,824; pool improvement, $664,400.

Public address system, $121,000; cafeteria furniture, $10,000; pavement (all areas), $163,790; industrial (with basement), $664,400.

Arson ruled fire cause at Glastonbury offices

By DAVE LAVALLEE

GLASTONBURY - The cause of the Sunday morning fire at that destroyed 85 percent of the Board of Education Building has been determined as arson, according to Police Chief Francis Hoffman.

According to Hoffman, the ruling was made by Fire Marshal Howard Horn, along with help from state authorities, at about 2 p.m. Monday.

"We will be looking at a lot of samples and we have some promising leads but we can't comment any more," Hoffman said Monday.

The board building has been roped off and a guard has been placed at the building to keep curious onlookers out of the building. It has been designated as a crime area, Hoffman said.

"All of the possible problems with the electrical system have been eliminated," Hoffman said.

Authorities have not yet released figures on the cost of the damage. Alan Lamson, town planner, proposed some alterations in the zone, that were passed by the Planning and Zoning Commission, that increases the density by about four units.

The Mayor's Committee on Condominiums also will recommend to the Board of Directors to drop the housing nature requirement.

However, the committee rejected a motion to recommend that the zoning application specify the type of housing planned for an area.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will review the application next month and later schedule a public hearing.

Over the past several months the M zone sparked debate on whether or not its restrictions stifled housing construction in Manchester.

The application requests the area where the church and the parsonage are located, 647 E. Middle Turnpike, be rezoned from Residence A, The Residence M zone allows for construction of single-family homes and duplexes, plus multi-family housing such as apartments and condominiums.

However, John Sullivan, attorney for the church, has said the plans for the area are not complete. Details for the type of housing planned are expected to be completed during summer.

The rezoning application does not require specifying the housing type.

Board changes practice

MANCHESTER - The Board of Education met to conduct most of its business in public session Monday night and then, following its regular practice adjourned to executive sessions to discuss a personnel matter.

Breaking precedent, the board then called another public session to take up a personnel matter and the central office staff. By the time this vote was called, the public and the press had left the building, expecting that standard board practice would prevail.

Board Chairman John Yavis said this morning that the meeting had to be conducted partly in executive session because evaluative comments were discussed, which under Freedom of Information law can be discussed privately. But he added that since the board, a public body, had to take a vote, this had to be done in public session.

The board voted to approve 7 percent salary increases for three central office administration staff for the 1980-81 fiscal year.

Assistant Superintendent Wilson E. Deakin will earn $34,656. This figure includes a benefit for 10 years longevity with the system.

Director of Pupil Personnel Services Allan Chesterton will receive $31,860.

Assistant Superintendent J. Gerald Fitzgibbons will receive $35,365, including a $1,000 benefit for having earned a doctorate.

Other personnel whose salaries were approved include Business Manager Raymond Demers, who will earn a 7.5 percent increase bringing him to $24,205 total, and Director of Buildings and Grounds Wilfred Dion who will earn $24,425.

The foremen were approved an 8 percent salary increase, along with the food service director who received a 6 percent increase.

The meeting was held to complete the salary figures for all personnel in the system. These employees are not members of an employee bargaining group.

Remember when games were fast?

By Earl Yost

Average time for a major league baseball game to be played is just under two and one-half hours.

Before television, games were shorter.

Remember when the batters went up to hit without going through a number of gyrations, or catchers? Or when pitchers looked down for a sign from the catcher and delivered the ball without shaking off a few signals or asking that the umpire change the ball or take time to rub the glove off the ball? Or when managers did their work, and yelling if necessary, from the dugout and not to try and show up the umpires on close calls?

That was before the television monster took over sports.

It's interesting to note that the shortest day game in the major leagues saw the New York Giants play the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-1, in 51 minutes in 1919. This is also the National League record.

The American League game record for brevity is 55 minutes, the lowly St. Louis Browns winning a rare game against the mighty New York Yankees in 1926 in daylight, 6-2.

Eagle golfers second

Started poorly and finished strongly. That was the story for East Catholic's golf team yesterday as the Eagles captured runner-up honors at the CIAC Division II Championship at Paulding Country Club in Ball...

"The kids hung in there all season and this is particularly gratifying that they didn't give up on themselves and the team," stated Eagle Coach Tom Malin.

"Perhaps the Manchester match at (Manchester) the country club was the whole key to the season. We shot 318 - low for the season - and I think that proved to the kids they could play golf. As far as wins and losses, it was frustrating for them but when it came to the challenge they came through to the occasion and I'm extremely proud for all of them."

Ken Forley, using a pair of three-wood irons, forgot to bring his, led the way for East as he finished fourth place in the individual standings with a fine four-over par 76. Three players - Waterloo's Dave Jones, Jeff Zivic and Brian Feulner had key hits for Moriarty's.

Crescentown Manchester High didn't fair as well at the Division I Championship at Heritage Village Country Club as the 19th-ranked Indians managed 17th place in the 21-team field.

Simsbury High, which previously held the CCIL title, took home a crown with a total of 215 with another CCIL school, Concord High, taking runner-up honors with a score of 220.

Manchester finished back in the pack with a team score of 355. Chris Hickey carried an 87. Jeff Dehn 88 and Jeff and Chris Fields each 90e for the Silk Towners.

Concord's Pete Davison and Stamford's Bob Chien shared medalist honors with three-over par 70e at the 6,430-yard course.

Bourque NHL All-Star

MONTEAL (UPI) - Boston Bruins defenseman Ray Bourque broke a 50-year National Hockey League record Monday to become the first Calder Trophy-winning forward or defenseman named to the First All-Star Team in his first year with the league.

Bourque, named Calder winner for the 1979-80 season last week, was the only Bruin picked for the first or second All-Star contingent.

It was the fifth time a Calder trophy winner was named to the first All-Star team in the selection's history. The four previous winners all were goalenders.

The Los Angeles Kings and the Montreal Canadiens each saw two of their players named to the first team - center Marcel Dionne and left winger Charlie Simmer of the Kings and defenseman Larry Robinson and right winger Guy Lafleur of the Canadiens.

The first team is rounded out with the Chicago Black Hawks' Tony Esposito.

Three Buffalo Sabres players were named to the Second All-Stars team: goaltender Don Edwards, defenseman Jim Schoenfeld and right winger Danny Gare.

Edmonton's Berje Salming, Edmonton's Wayne Gretzky and Montreal left winger Steve Shutt were also named to the second team.

Lafleur became only the second player - after Maurice Richard of the Canadiens - to be named to the first team position for a sixth consecutive year in the All-Stars history.

The results of the test were as follows: Reading 78.8 percent, or 347 students, were found proficient in the skills tested; Language Arts 99 percent, or 347 students, were rated proficient; Mathematics 94 percent, or 330 students, were judged proficient by the test and in writing 91 percent, or 320 students, were found to have proficient skills.

Of the 555 students, tested, 311 will proceed with regular class programming. The test was given to all Grade 9 students throughout the state last March.

Goldman pleased by tests

SOUTH WINDSOR - With only 44 of the 355 Grade 9 students at Timothy Edwards School requiring remedial assistance next year, School Superintendent Robert W. Goldman said he was pleased with the results of the state proficiency exam.

All of the town's Grade 9 students took tests in reading, language arts, mathematics and writing ability. The results of the tests are as follows: Reading 78.8 percent, or 347 students, were found proficient in the skills tested; Language Arts 99 percent, or 347 students, were rated proficient; Mathematics 94 percent, or 330 students, were judged proficient by the test and in writing 91 percent, or 320 students, were found to have proficient skills.

The chief said that at the present time gas is .9725 per gallon, thus requiring an additional $1,000 to cover gas for April with the May and June bills still to be met.

The chief also asked for a transfer of $1,000 from the snow salaries account to the general government building utilities account. Hine said sometime during May or June the utility tanks are normally topped off so the additional $2,500 would be needed to make up the difference of $8,000 needed.

Petition seeks safe, legal place to ride motorcycles

By DAVE LAVALLÉE
Herald Reporter
SOUTH WINDSOR - All she wants to do is find some way to provide a safe, legal place for the town's youngsters to ride their motorcycles.

That's why Emma Airolodi appeared before a Town Council proposal for a town dirt bike riding area.

"Unfortunately, many of the boys are riding illegally in the town and they could get hurt," Mrs. Airolodi said.

She presented a petition signed by 160 dirt bike riders, most of them in their teenage years, to the council in favor of a dirt bike site.

She said she began checking the town maps in February, but found that many of the preferred sites for the town were very close to residential areas.

She began having discussions at her home on the development of a trail riding area at a gravel pit in East Windsor. According to Mrs. Airolodi, the owner was willing to rent the site to the group at a minimal fee.

However, East Windsor's Planning and Zoning Commission denied the application for a dirt bike area.

"I was not going out there to bring out Hell's Angels' over there. I was there to research the area and a legal place for the boys to ride," she said.

If a club were established in the town, Mrs. Airolodi said the boys would pay $30 to join. If youngsters under 18 wanted to join the group, they would need signed parental permission.

Mrs. Airolodi said a local attorney has been asked to draw the incorporation papers for the club and only the state fee would be charged.

Mrs. Airolodi said both Bloomfield and Windsor Locks have arrangements with local clubs that run bike sites. The sites are operated on town land and the clubs lease the land for small town fees.

According to Mrs. Airolodi, a South Windsor site would be fenced in and would have litter barrels placed throughout it.

James Ritson, the advisor to the Bloomfield club, said only about 16 acres are needed for a riding area.

Mayor Edward Havens said that Mrs. Airolodi should try to find two or three possible areas in town that might be suitable for such a facility and then report to the Planning and Zoning Commission.

He also suggested that the group work with the Police and Parks and Recreation departments on the proposal.

Burling report
VERNON - The Vernon Police Department investigated eight burglaries during the week of May 16 to 22.

The breaks were reported in homes on Union Street, Hazy Lane, Chestnut Street, Prospect Street, Vernon Drive, Willowbrook Apartments and Franklin Street.

Other smaller amounts were transferred within various departments as follows: Planning Department, $100 to pay the recording secretary for a special meeting and a regular meeting; the Health Department for operating supplies, $150; Zoning Board of Appeals, $75; Assessments; Zoning Board of Appeals fees, $225 to cover secretarial fees through the remainder of the fiscal year, $1,462 to tax adjustments to cover the cost of paying back overpaid sewer user charges; and $68.70 from the office supplies account to the operating supplies account. Council transfers funds to cover gasoline costs

VERNON - The Town Council has agreed to transfer $10,000 from the police department's salaries account to the operating supplies account to cover an increase in the cost of gasoline for the cruisers.

Chief Herman Fritz said that when the current budget was prepared gas was figured to be $1.69 per gallon and therefore the total amount was estimated at $29,700.

He said on April 3, Captain John Bundy presented to the council, an update in the gasoline estimate of $1.71 and this meant that the figure for the 1979-80 budget should have been increased to $40,465 but this wasn't done, therefore there was a deficit of $10,945 in that account.

The chief said that at the present time gas is .9725 per gallon, thus requiring an additional $1,000 to cover gas for April with the May and June bills still to be met.

Goldman pleased by tests

By DAVE LAVALLÉE

SOUTH WINDSOR - With only 44 of the 355 Grade 9 students at Timothy Edwards School requiring remedial assistance next year, School Superintendent Robert W. Goldman said he was pleased with the results of the state proficiency exam.

All of the town's Grade 9 students took tests in reading, language arts, mathematics and writing ability. The results of the tests are as follows: Reading 78.8 percent, or 347 students, were found proficient in the skills tested; Language Arts 99 percent, or 347 students, were rated proficient; Mathematics 94 percent, or 330 students, were judged proficient by the test and in writing 91 percent, or 320 students, were found to have proficient skills.

Of the 555 students, tested, 311 will proceed with regular class programming. The test was given to all Grade 9 students throughout the state last March.

Bourque NHL All-Star

MONTEAL (UPI) - Boston Bruins defenseman Ray Bourque broke a 50-year National Hockey League record Monday to become the first Calder Trophy-winning forward or defenseman named to the First All-Star Team in his first year with the league.

Bourque, named Calder winner for the 1979-80 season last week, was the only Bruin picked for the first or second All-Star contingent.

It was the fifth time a Calder trophy winner was named to the first All-Star team in the selection's history. The four previous winners all were goalenders.

The Los Angeles Kings and the Montreal Canadiens each saw two of their players named to the first team - center Marcel Dionne and left winger Charlie Simmer of the Kings and defenseman Larry Robinson and right winger Guy Lafleur of the Canadiens.

The first team is rounded out with the Chicago Black Hawks' Tony Esposito.

Three Buffalo Sabres players were named to the Second All-Stars team: goaltender Don Edwards, defenseman Jim Schoenfeld and right winger Danny Gare.

Edmonton's Berje Salming, Edmonton's Wayne Gretzky and Montreal left winger Steve Shutt were also named to the second team.

Lafleur became only the second player - after Maurice Richard of the Canadiens - to be named to the first team position for a sixth consecutive year in the All-Stars history.

The results of the test were as follows: Reading 78.8 percent, or 347 students, were found proficient in the skills tested; Language Arts 99 percent, or 347 students, were rated proficient; Mathematics 94 percent, or 330 students, were judged proficient by the test and in writing 91 percent, or 320 students, were found to have proficient skills.

Retention policy voted Region

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter
VERNON - A retention policy for elementary school students, approved by the Board of Education Monday night sets forth criteria to be considered in the retention process, establishes procedural guidelines and defines how a final decision will be made.

The matter of the effect retention would have on the child's self-esteem, and the child's work habits are other considerations.

The policy states the child's age will also be a factor and that no more than two retentions will occur in Grades K-5 and not in successive years.

In the case of kindergarten students it was determined that educational concern and also at the end of the school year the Planning and Placement Team will consider potential cases and parents will be asked to meet with the team.

Such meetings are designed to result in a formal plan for home school communications. If by May 1 students who haven't satisfactorily completed or reached the first book of the Grade III basal reader, and Grade III students who have failed more than two major subjects would be candidates for retention.

Grade IV and V students reading one or two books below the grade level, would also be candidates for retention.

In considering retention a student, several factors will be considered such as how far below the grade he or she is currently in, is the student functioning and how far below their own potential are they functioning.

One thing, Joe always had was (talent) for being a guidance counselor, both to the students and the staff."

The national honor society advisor and advisor to the class of 1975 was given a Hitchcock chair from the Board of Education. He plans to retire in the area.

One retiring teacher who will not be remaining nearby is Mrs. Beverly Battiston. The business teacher intends to move to California, and the language she urged the educators to visit her there.

Hebron board cuts program

HEBRON - Because of objections raised by some parents, the pre-kindergarten class will be eliminated for the 1980-81 school year.

The board of education has agreed that the program with Title I funds now will be paid for local funds and will work with pupils who need extra help in their kindergarten classrooms.

The plan is to have the teacher spend a half day at each school.

A 1981 summer program, for students who are identified as needing pre-kindergarten services, will be provided.

Aerobics class
VERNON - The Indian Valley YMCA will offer its first aerobics in motion class this summer. The instructor will be Tom Bonner.

Also to be offered this summer will be a jazzercise course which will concentrate on stretching, limbering, and toning of muscles with an introduction to aerobics.

For more information on times and fees contact the YMCA office, 972-7329 or stop in at 734 Hartford Turnpike (Route 30).

Concert tickets ready
EAST HARTFORD - Tickets are now on sale at the East Hartford Parks and Recreation Department for the "Fountainhead," concert which will be held June 19 from 7:30-10:30 p.m. at the East Hartford High School Auditorium.

Reserved seating tickets are $4 in advance, $4.50 at the door.

EAST HARTFORD - A photo identification session will be held Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the East Hartford Parks and Recreation Department Office at the Town Hall. Residents of East Hartford are required to use this card at all Parks sponsored events and facilities. These cards cost only $1.00 and are valid for one year.

Grads, staff fete retiring Bolton teachers
BOLTON - Graduates and staff of Bolton High School jammed the banquet hall of Fiano's Restaurant in Bolton Friday night to participate in a testimonial for four retiring teachers.

Teachers retiring from service at Bolton High School since it opened in 1964 are left to right, Ernest Stokes (French); Beverly Battiston (business); and Joseph Shanahan (history). The three were joined by Edward DiFronzo, who began his career in the Bolton system in 1971 in charge of the high school band and chorus. (Herald photo by Shea)

Region Bypass funding argued

SOUTH WINDSOR — Following the Town Council's rejection of trade-in funds for the industrial bypass road last week, it continued discussion Monday night on ways to develop the road and seek alternative sources of funding.

Some council members have argued that the rejection of the trade-in proposal, to obtain federal funding for the bypass, may hinder development of the road.

However, council member Richard Ryan has indicated the town is committed to reconstructing Pleasant Valley and Chapel roads. The roads already have approved funding.

The 2.6 mile proposed bypass would cost $6 million. It would connect the Buckland Common area, the J.C. Penney site and the Manchester Industrial Park. The road would run parallel to the Manchester town line.

Peter DeMalle, the town planner, said without the connector, traffic on both Chapel and Pleasant Valley could double and possibly triple.

However, if the bypass is developed, traffic on the two roads could go back to 1979 levels, DeMalle said.

DeMalle said Chapel and Pleasant Valley are rural roads and that when developed the bypass would be the most direct route to Russell Bridge.

Town Manager Richard Sartor, who proposed the road along with DeMalle, said the bypass will have value whether or not the addition to Interstate 291 is completed.

The trade-in had called for the taking of funds used for renovation of Pleasant Valley and Chapel roads and transferring those funds to the bypass project.

Town Council member Arthur Champagne said the council should begin moving on the proposal.

"This is the first concrete thing in getting the plan started," Champagne said.

Mayor Edward Havens said the proposal is an attempt to alleviate the traffic problems that have been going to be any simple solutions.

Ryan said the council did not vote down the concept last week.

"We voted down the particular plan to fund the project," Ryan said, "He's (the council) not against the concept," Ryan said.

"What I should have passed it," Champagne said, "I think our failure to pass the funding only heightens the feeling that the council does not know what it is doing."

Court tells Fiano to remove junk

BOLTON — Frances Fiano of 13 Webster Lane was ordered by the court to remove from his property the items stored there which violate the regulations of the Town of Bolton and the statutes of Connecticut, on or before Aug. 1.

The town sought an injunction against Fiano for having a "junk yard" in an industrial zone.

Jerome Walsh, town attorney, said "An agreement was reached with Fiano's attorney, and it proposed in court to enter the agreement into the record."

Calvin Hutchinson, zoning agent, said "The property is not rendered acceptable within the 60-day period, Mr. Walsh can return to court for further prosecution."

Hutchinson said, "It's plan and simple. You can't operate a construction business from that site. It's a residential zone."

He said, "He's (Fiano) gone a long way in cleaning up his property and I think the situation will be resolved to the satisfaction of all concerned."

Hutchinson said, "There is some latitude in what a person can have on their property. Many homeowners in Bolton don't meet the letter of the law that allows no more than two unregistered motor vehicles on your property."

He said, "I don't think the intent of the law is to go after a person who has an extra vehicle in his property for a few weeks now and then."

Hutchinson said, "The intent of the law is that zoning requirements be reasonably met."

He said, "I encourage people to call me or the state police when they see something or hear about something."

He said, "The Neighborhood Watch, started in Bolton a few years ago, has helped quite a bit. Be noisy — that's the only way to stop things."

Solon furious over new rule

HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. Richard Tulisano, D-Rocky Hill, is fuming over a state advisory which could force lawmakers to go public every time they're about to vote on a bill that affects their private jobs.

The opinion issued by the Ethics Commission, which oversees activities of public officials, expands the generally held view of what is thought to be a conflict of interest problem.

The new interpretation states that legislators, when voting on any matter that affects them financially, must file a written statement before explaining why they can vote objectively and in the public's interest.

"That would leave few legislators uncovered because most have outside jobs," says Tulisano, a lawyer. "The system up there (Capitol), the way it operates, it seems to me that you're going to have to stall the business while people file statements."

"What you're doing is putting another gullotine over someone's neck who's in public service," he said. Tulisano, as co-chairman of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee, often takes up bills which are broadly related to his law practice.

"I have three drunk driving cases next week," he said. "There's clearly no conflict. But when the bill came up and I worked on it, would I have had to file a statement? I don't think so."

Tulisano said he can foresee a nightmare ahead if the commission's interpretation is strictly held on votes at the committee stage, on the floor of the House or Senate, or each time a measure is amended.

House Speaker Ernest Abate, D-Stamford, has said that if the opinion is the final word, the law will have to be changed. Abate said legislators should go on record only when it's a bill which would benefit them more than others.

Tulisano said he believes the news media is enough of a check on legislators who tread a murky line between being a lawmaker or lobbyist for their particular profession.

Rep. Emil Benvenuto, R-Greenwich, who owns two package stores, this year pushed repeal of the bottle law. Rep. Paul LaRosa, D-Hartford, plugged a ball bondsman bill in which he had a personal interest.

"Benvenuto was talked about. LaRosa was talked about," Tulisano said. He said each legislator has to make his or her own decision.

"I don't want to spend all my time just looking over my shoulder," he said. J. E. Eaton, executive director of the commission, said the opinion is reasonable. The whole point, he said, is to discourage legislators from participating in decisions which directly influence their pocketbooks.

He also discounted complaints that the process of filing statements would bring legislative business to a crawl. "The statute was adopted by people who are in a position to understand the legislative process," Eaton said. "I have to assume they knew what they were doing when they adopted it."

Hutchinson said, "The intent of the law is that zoning requirements be reasonably met."

He said, "I encourage people to call me or the state police when they see something or hear about something."

He said, "The Neighborhood Watch, started in Bolton a few years ago, has helped quite a bit. Be noisy — that's the only way to stop things."
