

Few flunk state tests

HEBRON — Of the total of 176 Grade 3 students at Rham High School taking the statewide proficiency tests, only a relatively small number scored below the state level of expected performance, David Cattanchi, school superintendent said.

In the reading portion, 97.2 percent of the students met or exceeded the state standard.

In the mathematics portion, 86 percent met or exceeded the standards while in language arts, 95 percent did and in writing, 91 percent did.

Cattanchi said the results are a positive reflection on the quality of the educational program at Rham and in each of the three elementary districts, Andover, Hebron and Marlborough.

He said students who scored below the expected performance level will receive further diagnosis and if necessary, remedial assistance in September according to the Education, Evaluation and Remedial Assistance Plan previously filed with the State Board of Education.

Dog warden plans change

COVENTRY — Town Manager Frank Connolly has changed his mind about hiring a new, full-time dog warden.

Monday night, Connolly said that splitting the dog warden's job into two positions will provide better coverage for dog problems. And the recent addition of a CETA position to assist the dog warden will mean a four-fold increase in staff over the present situation, he said.

Under the new plan, Robert Schefish will continue to be in charge of dog warden at $3,500 a year. His new assistant, to be appointed for a six-month probationary period, will work 25 to 30 hours a week, answering dog calls when Schefish isn't available. The new CETA worker, Patrick Cochran, who began work June 2, will help maintain the dog pound and will conduct a canine census.

Connolly said organization of the canine control office will be improved and coordinated with the police department.

Zinsner to talk in Hebron

MANCHESTER — Carl A. Zinsner, Republican candidate from the 4th Senatorial District, will speak at the Hebron Republican Town Committee tonight at 8 in the Gilead Hill School, Route 65, Hebron.

Zinsner, who is optimistic about securing the July 22 nomination at the Republican convention, said an election committee has been formed. "We are well under way in organizing our fall campaign," he said.

For the past 11 years Zinsner has been connected with local government, serving the last six years on the Manchester Board of Directors. During the November 1979 elections, he was the top vote-getter for the Republican Party and second top vote-getter in the general elections for both Democrats and Republicans.

"With the support and enthusiasm of the people in the 4th District, we can start to re-build the confidence of the people in our state government which is long overdue," Zinsner said.

Charter unit organizes

VERNON — The newly appointed Charter Revision Commission, at an organizational meeting Wednesday night, elected John Drost as chairman and set June 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Building for its first public hearing.

The commission has been charged, by Mayor Marie Herbst and the Town Council, with revising the charter provisions related to the towns sewage treatment facility. However, the mayor said the commission won't be restricted to this, and can, if deemed necessary, suggest other charter changes.

The mayor asked the commission to submit a final report recommending revisions to her office no later than Aug. 18 in order to meet various statutory deadline dates for placing the proposed revisions on referendum for the Nov. 4 presidential election.

Andrew Tricarico, a member of the commission, suggested that the commission, during its deliberations, try to eliminate overlapping lines of authority by creating a Water Pollution Control Authority with powers and duties similar to the Metropolitan District Commission in Hartford. The authority would oversee sewage and water related programs.

Joseph Belanger, a commission member and chairman of the town's Sewer Authority, repeated what he

Police seek murderer

GLASTONBURY — A force of 20 state and local police is looking for the murderer of Mrs. Elizabeth Hart, 29, of 774 Manchester Road, Glastonbury, who was found in a wooded area of Andover Wednesday afternoon after being shot to death.

She was the mother of 14-month-old Thomas Hart, whose body was found in the driveway of his home Tuesday evening.

She had been missing Tuesday night, the night Thomas had been killed and found in the driveway by his father Robert.

State Medical Examiner Catherine Galvin said the woman died of gunshot wounds to the head and chest and her death has been ruled homicide.

Initially the boy's death was considered accidental, but now police are calling the death suspicious.

According to a spokesman at the state medical examiner's office, the baby suffered severe head injuries due to being struck by a motor vehicle.

State and local police and the medical examiner's office would not comment on unconfirmed reports that Mrs. Hart had been beaten and sexually molested before she was killed.

She was found in a wooded area of a powder company road in Andover by a Connecticut Light and Power Co. lineman about 100 yards off the access road, police said.

Mrs. Hart's car was found Wednesday in Butler Field in Glastonbury Wednesday. The field is about a mile from the Hart household.

Police had set up roadblocks on Manchester Road Thursday, but this morning they were not set up, according to local police.

"Police said roadblock could be set up again today from 1:30 to 4 p.m."

Both Glastonbury Police and State Police have set up a command post at the Glastonbury Police Department's shooting range on New London Turnpike.

Police said Robert Hart is staying at his residence with relatives.

Police had indicated that Mrs. Hart could have run over her son accidentally and then fled in panic. Foul play wasn't at the first suspect in the child's death, which was reported at 5:37 p.m. Tuesday.

According to police, Mrs. Hart was not at home when her husband found the baby in the driveway.

A major crime squad cruiser was set up by the State Police along Manchester Road Thursday and police questioned motorists to ask if they had seen anything suspicious.

The woman and her husband moved to Glastonbury four years ago from Massachusetts. Following the baby's death, local police had sent out a teletype on Mrs. Hart alerting other departments of the situation.

A force of 20 state and local police is looking into the killing of Mrs. Elizabeth Hart and the death of her 14-month-old son Thomas from their command post at the Glastonbury Police Department's shooting range. State and local police and the state medical examiner's office would not comment on unconfirmed rumors that Mrs. Hart had been beaten and sexually molested before she had been shot and killed Wednesday. Crossroads director named

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — The Drug Advisory Council in a meeting this morning named Elizabeth Peterson, who holds a masters degree in counseling, acting director of Crossroads.

Mrs. Peterson has served as assistant director of the local drug and alcohol counseling center for the past three years. She has the backing of resigning Director Stephen O'Donnell to receive the director post permanently.

O'Donnell, who has held the post for the past four years of the independent agency's 10 year existence, is resigning to become director of social services at a private psychiatric hospital.

Besides appointing the acting director, the DAC discussed the director Crossroads will take in the coming year. O'Donnell said these discussions are natural, and stem from the change in leadership along with the milestone age of 10 that Crossroads has achieved.

O'Donnell admitted that the DAC is considering abolishing the independent status of Crossroads in favor of incorporating it into the town education or social services system. But he stressed that this was only one option, and that it is discussed annually, so there is no cause for alarm.

O'Donnell said it is too early in the assessment stage for anyone to have a sense of what direction Crossroads will take. He said the board plans to meet next week to continue discussions.

Indian uprising

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Armed tribesmen, hiding from army troops sent to Tripura state to flush them out and prevent another massacre of Bengalis, burst out of their jungle hideouts to attack a village, leaving two people dead and 17 wounded.

Four other people were killed in clashes between Bengalis and Assamese in the neighboring state of Assam, officials said.

The Indian Army eastern area commander Lt. Gen. E. A. Vas has flown to the state to personally direct troop operations to flush out the extremist tribesmen, who fled into the forests after last week's orgy of killings of hundreds of Bengali settlers in Mandal village.

Elby Pagano named interpreter

By KEVIN FOLEY Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Finding someone in Connecticut who speaks fluent Hindi at 8 o'clock in the morning can be very difficult. Especially when that person's job will not only include interpreting English to Hindi and vice versa, but translating legal jargon to understandable terms as well.

And the person who must find the speaker of Hindi, and any other language for that matter, is Elby Pagano, who was recently appointed head of the Connecticut Judicial Department's statewide interpreter program. She is responsible for locating, testing and assigning interpreters to the state's numerous criminal, civil and juvenile cases at Superior Courts all across the state.

For a woman who started as a part-time Spanish translator about four years ago, the task can be very unenviable.

"It's very hectic," Mrs. Pagano said from her Porter Street home recently. "I have to assign interpreters over the phone, so I'm usually going strong at 8 o'clock."

"I check in with our phone answering machine and then assign interpreters to courts. Especially the Bridgeport Superior Court, there's always a heavy caseload there."

A native of Puerto Rico where she graduated from Republica de Colombia in Rio Piedras, she attended the University of Puerto Rico. She joined the interpreter program in 1976 as a per diem employee, assigned to cases the way she herself assigns translators today. After being promoted to a full-time interpreter after eight months of part-time duty, she was named head of the program after Maria Foden stepped down to enter a private law practice.

"We work out of the Chief Court Administrators office," Mrs. Pagano explained, "and our job is to sit alongside a defendant in court and explain what's happening in the proceedings verbatim."

Mrs. Pagano, who today often interprets herself, said the job involves bringing the legal wrangling down "to their level." Since the courtroom action is often fast and furious, sometimes the interpreter has to sound as if she is speaking at hand sounds easier than it really is.

"The lawyers will sometimes use harsh words and the defendants will get worried," she said. "So I tell them I'll explain what happens during the trial when it's over for the day."

But one would think the judicial language would require an interpreter for the interpreter. Mrs. Pagano said she overcomes that problem by asking her husband to explain. He is Anthony Pagano, attorney at law.

Elby Pagano

"You're always in this job," she laughed. She said the shortage of per diem translators often makes her job difficult.

Chamber votes to raze block

MANCHESTER — The town is being urged by the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce to remove the Odd Fellows building on the corner of Main and Center in order to realign Main Street.

The chamber's board of directors voted to support the original plan for the street realignment at its monthly meeting Wednesday.

The town has been informed the owners of the Odd Fellows building have decided not to sell the building and land.

In a news release today, the chamber said it endorsed the plan two years ago and will support it again at the upcoming public hearing.

Mike Missari, representing the Downtown Coordinating Committee, told the chamber board the downtown group is against any, but the original state plans to realign the street by removing the building.

"The chamber board supported the downtown group points which include:

- The probability of a more confusing traffic pattern if the street is widened in the north side, opposite the problem area;
- The potential opposition of Center Congregational to the loss of its land; the opposition from the church, a town landmark, could delay the project for years as legal questions are answered;
- Money spent to date on the redesign would be wasted;
- The Odd Fellows building has no parking facilities and was intended to offer only temporary housing to its tenants;
- The building, in its present condition, detracts from the attractiveness of the center of the community.

The chamber's release said the committee believe the removal of the Odd Fellows building is the keystone to Main Street redevelopment. The release said if Main Street is left to deteriorate many tax dollars will be lost.

Carter talks with leaders

ROME (UPI) — President Carter met with Italian President Sandro Pertini today to begin a round of talks with European leaders aimed at strengthening Allied solidarity against any Soviet aggression.

Carter arrived Thursday under massive security to begin the eight-day, five-nation visit — his first extended trip outside the United States since the beginning of the Iranian hostage crisis in Tehran more than seven months ago.

Carter, who went jogging around the 16th century presidential Quirinale Place Thursday night, appeared buoyant as he and Pertini greeted each other in the crystal-chandeliered and tapestried grand salon of the palace.

"We had a very good evening," Carter said to the pipe-smoking Italian president. "We had a chance to look at the gardens and to walk around the palace. It is very beautiful."

After brief talks with Pertini, the meeting was expanded to include top officials on either side. Asked what subjects they would be discussing, Carter smiled and told reporters, "We'll tell you later."

Rosalynn Carter, still looking a bit sleepy-eyed and wearing a light blue suit, sat in on the ceremonial greetings, which started at 9:15 a.m. (3:15 a.m. EDT).

As Carter kicked off the tour that will also take him to the Vatican, the Venice Economic Summit, Yugoslavia, Spain and Portugal, polls at home show his re-election effort may be in trouble in a race with expected GOP nominee Ronald Reagan.

Strike averted

STAFFORD (UPI) — A threatened strike by registered nurses at Johnson Memorial Hospital was put off for at least 10 days today because the hospital's union failed to file required notice of the walkout with the hospital.

Leaders of the Connecticut Health Care Association's Union called the situation a technicality and said they would file the needed papers to clear the way for the nurses to hit the picket lines July 1.

The nurses had voted 51-4 Thursday night to reject the 78-bed hospital's latest contract offer and stage the walkout, which would have been Connecticut's second nurses strike in just more than a week.

"The proper notice will be issued this morning calling for the strike to begin July 1," said union Executive Director Mary Lou Miller. "The hospital came up with a technical point last night after hearing what the vote was."

"We consulted with our attorney who did research last night and told us the easiest way to issue our notice 10-day notice rather than to fight it," Mrs. Miller said.

Prior to the delay, the northeastern Connecticut hospital had reduced its patient census from its usual near-capacity to 29. With the strike delay, officials said additional patients would be admitted "as soon as possible."

Update

Elder income eroding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elderly Americans living on fixed incomes have less to look forward to economically and the Social Security system supporting about 35 million retirees and survivors is nearly broke.

In their annual report, Social Security trustees Thursday said the program is running at a loss, and the difference will have to be made up by borrowing money from other accounts.

Without the transfers, they said the program will be "unable to pay benefits by late 1981 or early 1982."

Social Security Commissioner William Dwyer said he was optimistic Congress would agree shortly to transfer money to the Old Age Survivors Insurance program from surpluses in Disability Insurance and Medicare programs.

Another report Thursday predicted the income of the elderly will grow more slowly than that of younger persons during the next 10 years.

The study said the elderly "will feel worse off" during the coming decade because "they will have a smaller piece of the pie. They will be standing still while the rest of the economy goes forward."

The study, done by Data Resources Inc., of Lexington, Mass., said elderly income rose faster than inflation between 1967 and 1976, but said much of the gain was due to Congress raising many of the elderly out of poverty.

For period ending 7 a.m. EST 6/21/80. Friday night, pleasant weather is indicated for the major part of the nation. Shower activity, however, may be noted over parts of the North Atlantic states, lower Florida, the east Gulf Coast and parts of western Texas.

Weather forecast

Today mostly cloudy with showers and thunderstorms likely by this afternoon. High temperatures 70 to 75, 21 to 24. Tonight showers ending with clearing after midnight. Lows in the mid 50s. Saturday mostly sunny with highs 70 to 75. Probability of precipitation 60 percent today, 50 percent tonight, 10 percent Saturday. Dynamite a hoax

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI) — Police are searching for two men who failed in a bizarre attempt to rob the Haverhill Plaza Bank branch by forcing a woman teller to don a vest they said was filled with dynamite.

Two masked men forced their way into the home of teller Sheryl Green around 3:30 Thursday morning, made her don the vest and ordered her to rob the bank where she worked, police said.

They gained entrance to the apartment by passing themselves off as house painters.
 Once inside, they forced her to put on a carpenter's vest containing railroad flares and a nine-volt battery, telling her the flares were sticks of dynamite, Police Chief Daniel Fasulo said.

Electric courseman

The world speed record three-time Indianapolis 500 winner Johnny Rutherford will challenge Saturday at Washington's Pocono International Raceway won't give him much of a thrill.

He hits nearly 200 mph in sleek Pennell Chaparral team car, but he only has to top 68 mph for this one, and that's about as fast as the six-wheeled, glorified lawnmower he'll be driving will go. The electric "hybrid" — powered by an 18-horsepower Briggs & Stratton lawnmower engine and a 20-horsepower electric motor — is being touted as the town car of the future.

NASCAR-circuit star Richard Petty has driven it at 58 mph over a 2.6-mile course in California.

Elated grad

Anyone would envy Richard Hayman's career. He's had a flock of hit records, including his million-seller "Rudy," he's scored such films as "Meet Me in St. Louis," he's been chief arranger for three decades of the Boston Pops, and he's conducted and arranged for the likes of Red Skelton, Bob Hope, Tom Jones and Engelbert Humperdinck.

But he never finished high school — and that, he says, always hurt his parents. Saturday, the educational oversight will be rectified when Hayman receives an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree from the Detroit College of Business.

Hayman's father is dead — but, says he, "I know this would have made him very proud, and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if my 86-year-old mother turned up just to make sure it's true."

Ms-ter race
 Forget that stuff about "the weaker sex" — unless you apply it to men. Deborah L. Wingard, professor epidemiology at the University of California, has been looking into the matter for her doctor's thesis and says she's found that women actually have more "high risk" bad health habits than men.

Yet, says she, "Women have lower death rates in virtually every country, at almost every age and for most causes of death."
 Her conclusion — "Women are simply biologically more fit than men."

Quote of the day
 Johnny Cash, marking his 25th anniversary in show business at his Montego Bay, Jamaica, hideaway: "I have always made a good living, and if one of my records don't make it in the charts, I don't brood over it. I just go on to something else. Even if I were to be slipping now, I wouldn't cry over it because I've had a good career, a solid career, a fine career. I thank God for that. He showed me the way."

Retention of sensitivity urged for hospital heads
 HARTFORD (UPI) — Sensitivity and concern in health care is an immeasurable aspect of the art of medicine which must not be overrun by rapidly advancing technology, hospital administrators have been told.

Dr. Robert U. Massey, dean of the University of Connecticut medical school, said Thursday his preventive prescription applied to everything from treatment of simple sore throats to sophisticated surgery.

"Medicine is mostly a set of technologies, some elegant and some fairly crude. How we use those technologies with sensitivity and skill to prevent a disease, relieve pain and forestall death constitutes the art of medicine."
 "Our technology in medicine is new and now we must learn to master it," Massey told the 62nd annual meeting of the Connecticut Hospital Association.

The non-technology of medicine, from 24-hour care to attempts to relieve the patients' pain, quiet their fears, help their understanding and strengthen their own defenses, is perhaps the most expensive part, Massey said.

"It is the samaritan role of medicine. We do not know how to measure its effectiveness but we can not imagine medicine without it," the dean said.

He said medical technology had progressed in leaps and bounds, and noted diseases which filled hospitals when he was a medical student 35 years ago are practically unheard of today in the United States.

"This will happen only through research — untrammeled, free searching by bright young minds into the basic mechanisms of life," Massey said.

He also said a fraction of the money now spent on health planning and hospital cost control could support 4 or 5 percent of medical school graduates for two years of research fellowships.

The two men said they would follow her to the bank and meet her in an isolated area not far from the bank to pick up the money, he said.

Drug probe expanding

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Worcester County District Attorney John Conte says an investigation into a multimillion dollar angel dust manufacturing operation involving at least two counties will continue.

Denise Courtemanche, 29, of Rutland — the eighth person charged with conspiracy to manufacture drugs — turned himself in to authorities Thursday, with more arrests expected, Conte said.

Courtemanche entered an innocent plea at his arraignment in Superior Court.
 Kenneth F. Calcaigi, 40, of Worcester, an unemployed laboratory technician and the alleged leader of the operation, was scheduled to be arraigned today.

Seven persons were arraigned Wednesday and pleaded innocent in the case and another was being sought.
 All were charged with conspiracy to manufacture drugs in secret indictments handed down by a grand jury based on information gathered by the federal Drug Enforcement Administration and state, county and local police.

Two of the 10 people indicted were arrested April 5 in a Norfolk County raid on a Sharon garage. The chemical phenylethylamine hydrochloride (PCP) in an amount estimated to be worth more than $2 million was confiscated. PCP is used to manufacture angel dust.

Conte said the same chemical was confiscated during a raid in Worcester three months ago in amounts that would have brought $1 million dollars on the street had the drug manufacturing operation been carried to completion.

The Worcester Telegram reported a source close to the investigation indicated court-sanctioned telephone taps were used extensively gathering evidence to present to the grand jury.

"What we have here is a conspiracy to manufacture angel dust, a couple of chemists, lab technicians, a computer programmer," Conte said Thursday. "I personally think kids taking angel dust poses one of the most serious drug problems that exist today."

New roller skating rink soon to become reality

MANCHESTER — The final meeting before the summer recess produced several breakthroughs for the town's Advisory Park and Recreation Commission, as it learned Thursday night that the long-awaited roller skating rink and fitness trail will be realized.

Recreation Department Director Mel Siebold said the Bentley School on Hollister Street will be the site of a roller skating rink. Plans call for the program to begin June 30, and continue through September.

Taped music will be played and supervision will be offered. Siebold said the rink will cost $800, to pay the salaries of supervisors. General Manager Robert Weiss supports the proposal, Siebold said.

Commissioner Dot Brindamour questioned why the rink couldn't be rotated around the town. Siebold said he had spent between 12 and 15 hours looking for a smooth surfaces pot for the rink, that was also isolated enough to absorb skater's noise.

Siebold said the Bentley School site is the only place that meets both these requirements.

Siebold said the fitness trail plans are also progressing, with the Jaycees slated to be its prime mover. Some plans call for the trail to be located at Martin School. The J.C. Penney Co. is contributing $750, for the signs, so its employees can use the trail.

The trail calls for participants to run a course, and at certain designated spots, perform various exercises.

At the suggestion of Frank Plach, a member of the town Commission on Children and Youth, young people will be involved in the construction of the trail.

Plach based his suggestion on the belief that if young people are involved in creating something of lasting value to the town, their support for the town and their general morale will be increased. Recreation Commissioners strongly supported the proposal.

Siebold also reported progress in the Recreation Department's "rec" program. A meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the "rec" training department officials and action group representatives.

The purpose is to develop more programs for a adults, a concern the action group expressed at a town group meeting June 12.

Siebold also said a meeting will only be the first in a series of regular meetings between the group and its department, in an effort to stem the need for the bottle bill to come.

At the June 13 meeting, residents had complained about pot smoking, beer drinking, loitering, vandalism, and a motorcycle that was parked in an area that displaced them.

The Thursday meeting was in stark comparison to earlier meetings, when commissioners had spent five great deal of time roasting Siebold for failure to attend meetings and respond to their concerns. Thursday, all present asked and answered questions in a manner that seemed to leave everyone satisfied.

When Mrs. Brindamour suggested a self-defense program for women be added to the recreation department course listings, Siebold responded that his department will look into it.

Siebold also brought his work figures on the recreation department budget to the commission members. While the commissioners do not have the power to allocate the department's funds, Siebold brought the figures in so the advisory group could get a more complete grasp of his department's operations.

Commissioners voted unanimously to support relocating the Nike Site hockey rink to Center Springs Park. Park Department Director Bob Harris said the move was necessary because the present location is the victim of too much direct sunlight and an inadequate water supply.

Eight months ago, the town spent $10,000 to renovate the rink. Harrison said this first winter of use proved the need for the relocation.

The suggestion was accepted without much discussion among the commissioners. Harrison also mentioned his support for the bottle bill to come.

Commissioners, saying he could see a tremendous decrease in the number of empty and broken bottles in town parks. Commissioners expressed unanimous support for the bill, enacted statewide several months ago.

Students deliver petition soon to become reality

MANCHESTER — A petition signed by 200 Manchester High School students has been delivered to Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy, urging the education administration to encourage retiring music teacher Martha White to change her mind.

Kennedy said today that school officials plan to disregard the petition and go ahead with plans to appoint a replacement at Monday's school board meeting.

Student Gregory LaBonne, who circulated the petition, said today Miss White was "pressured to retire. It's a common fact." LaBonne added he believes education administrators are "fools" for letting Miss White resign.

"They're losing a very valuable teacher. Who will they get to replace her who could get the school a better reputation than she has with the Round Table Singers?" he asked.

The petition drive is the latest in a series of attempts to persuade Miss White to remain in her position. Earlier group efforts included meetings set up by past and present parents of the Round Table Singers to talk with Miss White.

Rose Arts Festival ready to begin in Norwich

By NANCY MALOOF
ALA Auto and Travel Club
WELLESLEY, Mass. (UPI) — June brings sunny days, vacation time, juicy red strawberries, and roses — ah, roses. The beautiful spring flower is so popular in one New England city that an entire 10-day festival is planned around it.

The city is Norwich, Conn., where the 16th annual Rose Arts Festival opens this weekend. Among the festival events this Saturday and Sunday are the Rose Show Exhibit and Tea, a beerfest, the Grand Rose Parade and the Rose City festival of Music.

Easily the stars of this festival are the roses themselves, which will be exhibited at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, where public viewing hours are from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

A Rose Show Tea during the afternoon provides an opportunity to view the entries and winning rose exhibits grown by local amateur gardeners, while enjoying light refreshments.

Admission to the show is free. Admission to the tea is $1. St. Mark's Church is located at 248 Broadway in Norwich.

Saturday night is beerfest time at the festival tent on Chelsea Parade, where music by "Your Father's Mustache," and "Knockwurst and Sauerkraut" go along with the beer and will be the fare, from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Admission to the beerfest, open only to those 18 and over, is $2. Chelsea Parade is located at the corner of Broadway and Washington Streets in Norwich.

Proceeding Sunday's Grand Rose Parade is a 10.6-mile AAU-sanctioned road race at 11 a.m., beginning and ending at the festival tent on Chelsea Parade.

The parade gets under way at 1 p.m. Sunday, from the intersection of North Main and Main Streets in downtown Norwich. Floras decorated with roses, and bands and marching units from throughout the area will highlight the two-hour parade along Franklin and Broad Streets to Broadway, for disbandment at the festival tent.

Sunday night's festival program offers both the Rose City Festival of Music, a popular regional drum and bugle corps competition and exhibition, and the Norwich Rose Arts Players production of "Fiddler on the Roof."

The Festival of Music will begin at 8 p.m. under the festival tent. Tickets are $6 for adults and $4.50 for children. For more information on the 1980 Norwich Rose Arts Festival, which continues through June 29, call (203) 886-1312.

The ALA Auto and Travel Club recommends Exit 81 off the Connecticut Turnpike to reach Norwich; the festival tent at Chelsea Parade is located at the junction of Routes 2 and 32.

Railroad flea market
From roses to railroads, for another theme weekend in a different part of New England, it's the annual Railroad's Day and Railroad Collector's Flea market at Edenville Railroad in South Carver, Mass., this Saturday and Sunday.

Both days' events will give railroad enthusiasts the opportunity to swap railroad collectibles, models, memorabilia, and stories, at the 200-x-100-foot flea market.

In addition, all visitors to Edenville this weekend can enjoy some unusual features on the narrow gauge train ride. Especially for Railroad's Day, there will be doubleheader and triphheader trains, diesel freight trains, and mixed trains operating on the 5 1/2 mile track, plus, rides on the Model T Inspection Car.

Edenville's general admission and current hours will apply to the railroad's weekend; $4 for adults, $2 for children; 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Call (617) 866-4526 for more information.

The entrance to Edenville Railroad is located off Route 58 in South Carver. This part of Route 58 is situated between U.S. 44 west of Plymouth, and Route 25 west of the Cape Cod Canal. The ALA Auto and Travel Club recommends the Route 25 access if it is convenient for you, since this part of the highway is closer to South Carver.

Open House Day this Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

Sunny Rock is principally a dairy farm, so when visitors tour the barns and grounds on Sunday, they will see a lot of contented cows, and will also have a chance to sample some real "farm fresh" milk (even chocolate).

There will also be hayrides Sunday afternoon, on a tractor-drawn hay wagon that will take visitors all around the barnyards, pasture land and hay fields.

The open house will be held rain or shine. For more information, call (617) 869-2900.

Sunny Rock Farm is located on Route 109 in Walpole, which is accessible from either Route 1A in Walpole or Route 109 in Westwood.

The ALA advises the latter for simplicity, particularly for out-of-town drivers; there is an exit marked "Route 109 Westwood" on Route 128.

Down on the farm

It will be a day for city kids to see what life is like down on the farm, and a day for camera buffs of all ages, when Sunny Rock Farm in Walpole, Mass., holds its 10th annual

SAM offers movie

MANCHESTER — "Walking Tall," an autobiographical film about Tennessee Sheriff Buford Pusser, will be shown at Mount Nebo Tuesday night at 8:30.

The film is the first summer event to be sponsored by Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM).

The film, starring Joe Don Baker and Noah Berry Junior, details the fight of the late law enforcement officer in ridding his home town of corruption.

Square dance slated

MANCHESTER Earl Johnston of Vernon, regular club caller for the Manchester Square Dance Club, will be calling for the final dance of the season Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Verplanck School, 127 Olcott St. Russ and Anita White will cue the rounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dixon will be on door duty. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. and Doug Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Douglas, and Mr. and Mrs. George Doyon.

Members reminded club dues are now payable to Mr. and Mrs. John Robotto, membership chairman. All club level dancers are invited and reminded to wear soft-soled shoes. Spectators are welcome to watch the fun free of charge.

Theater workshop set

EAST HARTFORD — The Performing Arts Theater of East Hartford is offering an advanced acting workshop to be conducted by Professor John Balmer, theater faculty at the University of Hartford and former Broadway actor, director and television producer.

The workshop will be given in six 2 1/2 hour sessions beginning on Sunday evening, July 13. It will feature and give individual attention in characterization and interaction. Preparation for a role, scene study and creating a character.

Enrollment is limited and a small tuition charge will be payable at the first session. For registration and further information, call Barbara Coates at 568-6588.

'Gypsy' at Theater 3

Weekend Connecticut summer: music, music, music

From Music Mountain to Mystic Seaport, Connecticut's summer landscape is filled with music. The choice is wide open: Bach, bluegrass, barbershop, bands, Basin Street, you name it. And it can be found (and heard) on town greens, beachfront, music sheds, parklands and campuses.

For instance, up in the Litchfield Hills at Falls Village, the Berkshire String Quartet's 1980 season at Music Mountain gets under way on June 28. Performances with Quartet and distinguished soloists, will be given each Saturday and on two special Sundays (July 13 and Aug. 10) at 3 p.m. through Aug. 30. For ticket and other information, call 482-8566.

Down at magical Mystic Seaport, a summer of musical evening cruises aboard the vintage steamer Sabino already is under way. The menu, depending on the date of your visit, features Oldland, barbershop or sea chanteys. Each cruise — they leave Seaport dock at 8 and 8 p.m. — covers the picturesque lower Mystic River and lasts about an hour and a half. Reservations are a must. Call 538-2631.

Devoles of classical music have some rather special options:

At Madison, the Chestnut Hill Chamber Music Concerts, a series of six Thursday and Friday evening (8:30) performances at the Hammonasset School Arts Barn run from July 10 to Aug. 15. Friday's concert is a repeat of Thursday's (245-2944).

New Haven's Starlight Festival of Music, now celebrating its 25th season, offers Tuesday evening concerts (8:30) through July in the courtyard of Yale Law School. (624-6405).

The university's major summer offering for music lovers is Yale in Norfolk, a series of seven Friday evening (8:30) and one Sunday afternoon (3:30) concerts in the music shed of the rambling Stoeckel estate at Norfolk. Evenings are devoted to chamber music (Tokyo String Quartet) and the Sunday performance (July 27) to the Litchfield County Choral Union. Season ends Aug. 1. (542-5537).

The big bells are ringing at Hartford's Trinity College where one may relax on the lawn of the main quadrangle each Wednesday evening (7-8) through Aug. 27 for performances by world-famous carilloners. Picnicking is encouraged.

Band concerts are a big item in Mystic, Manchester and Farmington this summer.

At Mystic Seaport, a series of Tuesday evening concerts (7:45) will be held on South Green from July 8 through Aug. 12. Chairs and/or blankets are advised.

Summer evening admission to the Seaport, incidentally, is only $1 for adults, half that for children.

Manchester is holding many events at the Bicentennial Band Shell on the campus of Manchester Community College throughout the summer. Most performances are at 7:30, and all are outdoors. (649-2090).

And at Westfarms Mall in Farmington, the Governor's Foot Guard Band will present a concert each Tuesday evening in July starting at 8:30.

There are other things of music value as well.

The Connecticut Family Folk Festival, two days of folk music and dancing, are scheduled for Hartford's Elizabeth Park Aug. 9 and 10.

Also in Hartford, July 7 through Aug. 25, the Hartford Festival of Jazz will offer some big-name performers on Monday evening (8-10) in the Bushnell Theater. The rains come, the show moves inside at the West Indian Social Club on Main Street. (278-9950, ext. 279).

Bushnell Park also will be the site of "Night Songs," free concerts organized by the Peace Train on alternate Thursday evenings (7:30) starting July 10.

In Shelton, the Pinecrest Country Club Concerts are advertising such headliners as Kenny Loggins, Jefferson Starship, Linda Ronstadt, Joe Cocker and others. Dates and times are yet to be announced. (529-1471).

And for those of you who love to polka, this year's edition of Dick Pillar's Polkastravaganza comes to New London's Ocean Beach Park, July 17 and 27 with 40 top polka bands, free polka lessons and all the music you can use. (447-3031).

For free information on all kinds of things to see and do in Connecticut this year, write to Vacations, Department of Economic Development, 210 Washington St., Hartford, CT 06106. Or call toll-free 1-800-942-7492.

Sounds festival planned

ELLINGTON — The Cultural Arts Commission Church Street will be sponsoring "Summer Sounds Festival" on June dancing. There will be 29 from 2 to 5 p.m. on the craft demonstrations such as basket weaving, oriental painting and quilting.

Music will be provided by the swing-boogie band, Non-profit organizations "Eight to the Bar. During will be selling intermission, rock, country, and bluegrass numbers will be free. The public is invited. A rain date will be announced.

Church sets concert

COVENTRY — "New North America. Song," the summer singing team from Geneva College, will present a concert on July 1 at the Presbyterian Church of Coventry, Route 44A and Trowbridge Road at 7:30 p.m.

The singing group is currently traveling in the Northeastern United States, Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota, presenting the Bible in song. "New Song" students represent Geneva College, a Christian liberal arts school of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of

Fendell leaves his mark

This week marks the departure from the Manchester school system of a man who leaves behind a legacy of action and love for the less fortunate.

Since 1961, Fendell has worked in the Manchester education system, first as a teacher of retarded and physically handicapped youths, and later as a coordinator and founder of many innovative special education programs.

In 1965, Fendell served as president of the Manchester Association for Retarded Citizens. That same year, he was founder and part-time director of the Manchester Sheltered Workshop.

The workshop increased the public's sensitivity to issues regarding the handicapped, by stressing these persons' capabilities. Fendell's guiding philosophy enhanced self-confidence and a sense of self-worth among workshop clients.

Besides working for the handicapped, Fendell also pioneered programs that extended the useful life of senior citizens. In 1968, he wrote a grant, and was appointed consultant, for the Manchester Foster Grandparent Project.

He published papers on the foster grandparent phenomenon, as well as presenting a talk on it to the International Congress, World Federation of Mental Health in London.

Fendell has carried his concern for the down-trodden around the world, but he left something very special here in Manchester that we know will be a living testament to his efforts.

The ROTC serves 22 communities by providing special education students with opportunities for vocational training, and the development of skills to become self-sufficient in the community.

During his long years of service, Fendell has made many friends, and has had his share of problems. We believe those problems will not mar the significance of his contributions to Manchester.

We believe that in the face of all the projects he engineered, Fendell's greatest accomplishment can still be found in the expanded horizons of each individual he touched.

Thoughts

"My grace is enough for you," I suppose there are people who read those words and are far more sure than they ought to be that Paul really heard them!

That's exactly how it is. But the third time he got an answer, and we haven't had any. I can't help wondering about that. It's the silence, the terrible silence, that says "No" to him - "No, but...?"

One Cuban-American's story

WASHINGTON - Night had settled over Varadero Beach on the northeast coast of Cuba as the 18 men and five women waited the signal from a sentry.

For five days they fought wind and currents across the Straits of Florida, 46th nothing to sustain them but 10 gallons of fresh water and one fish they had managed to catch on a crude fishing apparatus. Then, on that fifth day, a ship was spotted in the distance.

From its color, we thought it was Cuban," recalls Ernesto Hidalgo. "It was flying no flag. The standard prison sentence of two to three years for trying to escape increased to about 15 years if valuables were taken in the process. With that in mind, the Cubans quickly began throwing their treasure into the sea.

Letters Martha-Please stay

To the editor: I am writing to you today about a terrible injustice in the Manchester school system - the unfair treatment of Miss Martha White.

This vibrant woman has been recognized by her students, present and past, as a fine dedicated teacher, director and friend; and we feel students in years to come will be deprived of the great learning experience of being taught by Miss Martha White.

St. Peter's Church to be consecrated

SOUTH WINDSOR - The parishoners of St. Peter's Episcopal Church won't have to wait any longer. The 16-year mission church will be consecrated as a recognized parish this Sunday, June 22 at 4 p.m. by the Rt. Rev. Morgan Porteus, bishop of the Diocese of Connecticut. In 1962 a petition was submitted to the diocese, requesting that a diocesan mission named St. Peter's be established. Ground was broken two years later and the present building was erected on a 13-acre tract at the corner of Sullivan Avenue and Sand Hill Road. Once mission status was granted, the church retired its mortgage in 16 years and then petitioned to become a parish - a congregation that receives no outside support and is solely supported by the offerings of its members. This petition was granted by Bishop Porteus and the Standing Committee of the diocese designating last Easter Sunday as its date of incorporation. The church, located in the Wapping section, adopted the name of St. Peter's in honor of a church by the same name in the Wapping Section of London, England. Bonds of friendship have developed between the two churches and the Rev. Michael Rotsey, rector of the London parish, strengthened the ties by his visit to the South Windsor parish this past year. During the past week, the congregation has participated in various forms of celebration. The climax of the week will be the official consecration ceremony. After the signing of the threshold of the church with sign of the Cross, Bishop Porteus will enter the sanctuary to bless the furnishings of St. Peter's in accordance with the rites of the Episcopal Church. Guests and participants include representatives of the South Windsor Clergy Association and ecclesiastical officials of the Diocese of Connecticut.

Bolton Board of Education approves two appointments

BOLTON - The Board of Education ratified the appointment of Scott Friend and Laura Manning and approved the appointment of Lamont Thomas at a recent meeting. Friend will teach in Grade 9 through 12. He received a diploma in applied music from the U.S. Navy School of Music in Norfolk, Va.; attended the Boston Conservatory of Music and received a bachelor of music degree from the University of Connecticut. Ms. Manning will teach French at Bolton High School. She received a bachelor's degree in French and German from Regis College in Weston, Mass.; 14 credits in music at the University of Connecticut and was certified in secondary French at UConn. Thomas will teach social studies at

Setback variance granted

VERNON - Robert and Pamela Sheridan, 55 Riverside Drive, have been granted a setback variance, by the Zoning Board of Appeals, to install an inground swimming pool. The variance was needed to avoid having to cut down trees. The Talcottville Congregational Church was granted a variance to put up a new sign of 15 square feet at the intersection of Main Street with Elm Hill Road. The changing of the sign position is necessary because of changes that will be made on Main Street in Talcottville with the expansion of Interstate 86. Cary Jackopic, operator of Gary's Mobil Station, 1292 Hartford Turnpike, was granted permission to transfer a limited repair license and sale of used cars and license from another name to his at the same location. Gerald Kaye of 22 Prospect St. was granted permission for a side and setback variance to put up a detached frame, two-car garage at that address.

Summer program set to start

BOLTON - The Title I summer program for students will be conducted from June 30 to July 31. The program is for students who are below grade level in reading and math for Grade 1 through 6. Students will be scheduled for tutorial help two days each week for three hours each day. The summer staff will consist of Ann Klein, team leader, and Pat O'Connell and Karen Rosano, teachers. The program, which will cost an estimated $3,600, will focus on the maintenance of skills in reading and math. The participating students will be pretested and post-tested and all parents will receive a report of their child's progress at the end of the program.

Church school slated

VERNON - Summer vacation Bible School will start Monday and run through Friday at Union Congregational Church. The theme for this year's program is "Christian Loving and Caring." The school is open to children ages 3 and older. They will be studying selected scriptures, some world geography, the plight of the "boat people," and how God answered prayers. The daily schedule will include crafts, snacks and recreation. The hours for the classes will be 1 to 3:30 p.m.

School host gymnasts

BOLTON - The summer gymnastics program will be held each Monday through Thursday at Bolton High School, beginning Monday and ending July 17. There will be two sessions, one from 11 a.m. to noon and one from noon to 1 p.m. There is a $12 registration fee plus a $3 insurance charge. Registration will be on the first class day, Monday. Instruction will be given on the balance beam, parallel bars, uneven bars, vaulting, rings and tumbling. For more information call Richard Nietupski, instructor, at 742-9537.

ZBA rejects condo plan

VERNON - The Zoning Board of Appeals, for the second time Wednesday night, denied a request of A & B Developers of 1134 Hartford Turnpike, for a setback variance for recreational space in a proposed condominium development on Hartford Turnpike, (Route 30). The original plans for the 3.1 acre parcel were for the building of 31 apartment units. This was approved by the Zoning Commission about a year ago. Attorney Martin Burke, representing the builders, said they were now talking about 25 similar units but they will be condominiums but of similar footage. After the original project received approval the zoning regulations were changed to include the building of condominiums in PRD zones. The Planning Commission subsequently recommended approval of the building of condominiums on the site and during its discussion Wednesday night the ZBA members indicated they would agree to put in fewer units. The developers, much on a small piece of land. He said the parcel is very visible and it will look congested the way it's proposed. In making the motion to deny the appeal, board member Mary Ellen Romejko, said she was doing so on the same grounds that it was denied the first time-insufficient hardship.

Wednesday night, were asking for the 50-foot setback variance for recreational space in a property boundary and a parking variance requirement that parking places for residents be provided within 75 feet of the dwelling unit. Attorney Burke told the board that the zoning regulations concerning condominiums, as they apply to the parcel of land in question, would make it impossible to use the land as a permitted use. To the suggestion of putting fewer units on the parcel, Attorney Burke said that in order to comply with parking and recreation restrictions they would have to cut down to about 16 units. Referring to the town's zoning laws on condominiums Burke said they were drafted by John Loraner, a planning consultant for Werner Kuzni Jr., for a specific parcel, and reduced to serve as a guideline. Burke said at the time he was applying the first time for the variance, and again Wednesday night that the plans meet all of the major requirements for the new condominium regulations except that six units planned for the southern portion of the lot wouldn't have the 1.5 Parking spaces required per unit within 75 feet. Choma commented, "I think it's a nice looking package but I'd like to see it reduced to serve as a guideline. Choma commented, "I think it's a nice looking package but I'd like to see it reduced to serve as a guideline."

Fair rent commission to cost about $11,400

VERNON - The Housing Rehabilitation Committee of the Town Council has estimated it would cost the town about $11,400 for the first year if a fair rent commission is established. On petition and request of several persons who rent apartments in town, the council is considering establishing such a commission. At a public hearing held Monday night many tenants spoke in favor of the proposal and a few landlords spoke against it. Mayor Marie Herbst had asked the council committee, headed by Robert Hurd, to estimate the cost such a commission would mean to the town for one year. The committee assumed it would mean having one staff person at a base salary of $7,500 and assuming there are 12 monthly meetings, the cost of a secretary at $90 a meeting would mean $600 and if there is an average of six "fair rent" hearings, the cost for a stenographer would run about $300. Under office supplies, assuming 1,000 copies of the initial printing of the ordinance would be done, the cost would be about $500; stationery, $250; copies, and advertising for public hearings, $600; total office supplies, $1,600; and costs.

VERNON - The Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce has opened up its coming riverboat cruise to non-chamber members since ample room is available. The cruise is scheduled for June 29. Participants will leave Vernon at 4:30 p.m. and return about 10:30 p.m. An $18 ticket includes a round-trip bus ride from Vernon to Deep River, a three-course meal with cash bar, a box lunch to be provided by a local restaurant, and music for dancing and listening by Bill Reveley's "Grass Roots Band." For further information, or to arrange for a ticket, call the chamber office, 872-0687.

BOLTON - Registration for swim classes will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Herrick Memorial Park from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Lessons are open to residents from 5 years old and up. The lessons will be given in two three-week sessions at Indian Notch Pond beginning July 7 and again July 28. They run daily in the morning.

Guests announced for radio program

VERNON - The "Focus on Education" program featured each Saturday at 9:10 a.m. on WINF will have as guests this week, Dr. Joan Barron, project manager for the Education Evaluation and Remedial Assistance (EERA) plan for the state Department of Education and William F. Risley, superintendent of the Columbia school system. They will discuss the results of the state-wide proficiency tests given recently to all Grade 9 students. The "Focus on Education" program is conducted each Saturday at the same time.

BOLTON - Registration for swim classes will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Herrick Memorial Park from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Lessons are open to residents from 5 years old and up. Housing tax cut sought

VERNON-Douglas R. Hayes of Vernon, president of Welles County Village Limited, a nonprofit housing facility for the elderly, is asking the town to reconsider its assessment of the property and to delete the interest assessment against the facility. Hayes, in a letter to Mayor Marie Herbst, said Welles County Village had finally received some of its Section 8 support money from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. He said he was forwarding a check for the Vernon property tax assessment for the facility. He told the mayor he wasn't forwarding the assessed amount of interest against this account as the funds for the payment had just been received. He said that the town's Board of Tax Review had given some consideration to this matter and had reduced the assessment some. But he asked for further review by the town's administrative office, the tax office and assessor's office. In his letter, Hayes cited the elderly housing needs in Vernon as one of the reasons why the request should be given consideration. Other housing officials have also cited the fact that such facilities are meeting an urgent need for housing for the elderly and the fact that elderly do not add to the public education burden.

Region Grant work continues on Bolton soccer field

BOLTON - Work is continuing on the recreational facility grant application for the proposed soccer field at Bolton High School. Alan Bergren, administrative assistant, said, "It's a very detailed application that takes time to complete. It will be submitted to the proper department as soon as possible." The Board of Selectmen approved having the Board of Education apply for a state grant for the soccer field in case the recreation grant is not approved. Copies of the recreational open space grant will be filed with the proper departments as well as with U.S. Rep. William Cotten's office which has promised to monitor the grant process for the town. Elementary school roof The Board of Selectmen expressed satisfaction with the steps being taken by the Public Building Commission to determine what type of roof will go on the school. The school board objected to a pitched roof on the school building, concerned about the additional weight it would add, and threatened a lawsuit if it couldn't be proven to be absolutely safe in order to stop the Public Building Commission from continuing with its plans. Under the town charter, the commission has the authority to determine what type of roof will go on the school. Selectman Aloysius Ahearn suggested the commission invite school board members to its next meeting to "iron out the differences or confusion that might have generated." The selectmen will also attend the meeting on June 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Hall. Road improvements Ahearn was given authority to confer with Jerome Walsh, town attorney, to determine what action should be taken concerning the Fion Farms road improvements. The town received $15,000 bond money because the job was not finished according to specifications and on time but the necessary work will cost an estimated $36,000. Lina Lucarelli, subdivision developer, had agreed the work would be completed in May. The selectmen received a letter Tuesday asking for "deferment of work until Sept. 1."

Dem candidates to talk tonight

BOLTON - The Democratic candidates seeking the 4th senatorial nomination will speak tonight at the Democratic Town Committee meeting at Community Hall. The committee will have a brief business meeting at 8 p.m. after which the candidates will talk about what they hope to do for the town and the district if they win the senate election, said Daniel Harris, town chairman. The candidates are Abe Glasman, South Windsor legislator, Skip Walsh, Coventry legislator, and Dave Della-bitta, Glastonbury attorney. The meeting is open to the public.

Coventry has surplus as fiscal year ending

COVENTRY - The town will probably finish the 1979-80 fiscal year at least $6,700 in the black, according to updated bookkeeping reports. In a report to the Town Council this week, Town Manager Frank Connelly detailed expected surpluses of $50,920 and expected deficits of $44,172. He is recommending council action June 30 to balance the accounts and leave $6,748 in the contingency fund. Of the surpluses, Connelly said the tax collector saved $2,600 because no tax sale was held; a light winter resulted in savings of $2,500 in roads-drainage; $2,300 in snow removal and $3,900 in fleet maintenance; part-time assistance and mileage reimbursement cut $1,800 from the contingency fund.

Coventry troop wins Hikeoree

COVENTRY - Boy Scout Troop 66 of Coventry placed first in the Natchaug District Hikeoree June 6 to 8, sharing honors with Troop 32 of Willimantic. "Although Scouts and equipment were drenched during the rain hike weekend, the Scout spirit wasn't even dampened," Judy Ringuette reported. The Coventry troop is seeking donations of items for a tag sale held each Sunday at the Mansfield Drive-in flea market. The troop is trying to raise money to attend the 1981 National Scout Jamboree in Indiana. Anyone with donations may call Mrs. Ringuette at 742-8412.

Transit plans updated

COVENTRY - Town officials have revised the two-year-old road and drainage priority list for inclusion in the 1980 regional transportation plan being prepared by the Windham Regional Planning Agency. "Inclusion of this list may assist with future efforts to obtain state or federal funds," Town Manager Frank Connelly told the Town Council last week. He noted, though, that there is no obligation to complete any of the projects, and there other unlisted roads which also need improvement. The priority list, prepared by Town Planner Gregory Padick and Town Engineer W. Donald Holmes, sets two categories: state highway needs and local road needs. The state highway improvement needs, most recognized are of high regional priority as well as high local priority, include: • Route 31 - upgrading from Tolland to Route 44A, upgrading east intersection with Route 44A, upgrading the intersection with Route 275 and Lake Street, and upgrading from the Town Garage north to Lisicke Beach. • Route 44A - drainage improvements between the Route 31 intersections. • Interstate 84 - completion of the new highway. • Route 275 - general upgrading from Route 31 to Mansfield and reconstruction of the Willimantic River bridge. The local road improvement needs, none of which are considered regional priorities, include drainage on Bolton Branch Road; widening and realignment of Brigham Tavern Road; widening and upgrading of Broadway; realignment of Bunker Hill Road; drainage on Cedar Swamp Road; drainage and realignment of Daly Road; drainage and surfacing of Flanders Road; widening and realignment of Goose Lane; realignment of Lake Street; widening, drainage and upgrading of Coventry Lake area roads; and improvement of the gravel portion of Merrow Road.

Mrs. Caffyn gains votes

SOUTH WINDSOR - Mrs. Nancy Caffyn, who is seeking the Republican nomination for state senator from the 4th District, has received the support of the East Windsor delegation. The district convention will be July 22. Dorothy Polimier, chairman of the East Windsor Republican Town Committee, said East Windsor delegates James and Ruth Weston were impressed with Mrs. Caffyn's records and her commitment to be a full-time representative. Mrs. Caffyn said, "This confirms our original analysis that the contest for state senator is still very much open. It is clear that the East Windsor delegation evaluated the merits of each candidate and made their choice on that basis." Mrs. Caffyn added, "It is apparent that the evaluation process is continuing throughout the 4th Senatorial District. I shall continue to present my record and credentials as I travel throughout the district to meet personally with the delegates and other Republican leaders. Mrs. Caffyn said, "The East Windsor endorsement enhances my belief that as delegates make their choice between the two candidates, the final outcome on July 23 will be in my favor."

Van for Hebron will roll Monday

HEBRON - The van for the elderly and handicapped will begin operating Monday. A tentative schedule has been set up and will be subject to change according to the needs of those using the van. First Selectman Raymond J. Burt said Hebron residents who are 60 or older and handicapped persons, may use the van. Preference will be given to those using the van for medical and dental purposes. Only scheduled stops will be made. There will be no trips to the town landfill area. Persons will be picked up at and returned to their homes. There is no charge for using the van. Those wishing to reserve a seat should call Evelyn Croston at the Hebron Town Office Building, 228-9406, Monday through Friday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The van will make trips within the Town of Hebron as well as to Manchester, Willimantic, Columbia and Colchester. The van won't operate on legal holidays or weekends. Burt said that 10 persons have volunteered to be drivers for the service. The van is capable of carrying nine persons and three wheelchairs or 11 persons and one wheelchair.

TRIUMPH BEATS VANTAGE!

Triumph, at less than one-third the tar, preferred over Vantage.

In rating overall product preference, almost twice as many smokers independently chose Triumph over Vantage. In fact, an amazing 62% said 3 mg Triumph tastes as good or better than 11 mg Vantage. Results showed that Triumph was also preferred over 14 mg Winston Lights • 12 mg Marlboro Lights • 8 mg Merit.

Now test for yourself. Compare Triumph with any other so-called "low tar" or "light" cigarette. You'll taste why we named it Triumph.

Group reviews progress
MANCHESTER — The Commission on the Handicapped met this week to review its progress during the year and to set goals for the coming term.

Chairman Roger Ouellette said today the commission believes its major accomplishment has been the establishment of a fine that will be levied against those drivers who park their cars in handicapped parking spaces.

The Board of Directors passed an ordinance that exacts a $25 fine for anyone who parks in a handicapped spot when they in fact have no handicap.

Ouellette said another major success was the passage by the General Assembly of five bills that were favorable to the handicapped. The local commission belongs to a statewide pressure group composed of local commissions.

Ouellette said the groups believe this coalition was instrumental in forcing passage of these bills. In other matters, the commission heard from a private counselor, Paul Allen, on how to set priorities for the next year's work. The commission plan to discuss various aspects of the problems faced by the handicapped.

Memorials will be set up during this week's meeting, with set to discuss various aspects of the problems faced by the handicapped. The local commission belongs to a statewide pressure group composed of local commissions.

Release of hostages not seen to be soon
Senior American officials discussed the hostage crisis with a special U.N. emissary who recently returned from Iran but received no indications of an imminent release of the 53 Americans.

In Tehran, where the Americans began their 29th day in captivity, President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr took the offensive against his Muslim fundamentalist foes by shaking up the armed forces and publishing a second transcript of a conversation implicating hard-line Muslims in the planning of a coup against him.

The differences between Bani-Sadr and hard-line Muslims have deepened since the parliament elected last May began arguing over the choice of a prime minister and inching towards its debate on the hostage crisis, not expected to begin until late next month at the earliest.

At the United Nations in New York, U.S. Ambassador Donald McHenry, deputy Ambassador of the Islamic Revolution, published the second transcript of what a reported conversation between an unidentified person and Dr. Hassan Amini, a prominent official of the Islamic Republic Party, the fundamentalist alliance that controls the Iranian parliament.

Amini, also cited cited in the first transcript Wednesday, denounced its publication as a distortion and an "American plot" but did not deny making the remarks attributed to him.

In the new transcript, Ayat was quoted as telling his unidentified listener of a plan to force Bani-Sadr's resignation by political means or, if that failed, by force.

Health program suggested
MANCHESTER — The town Health Department and the Chamber of Commerce are considering co-sponsoring an on-site employee health program.

Director of Health Alice Turek said today. Dr. Turek said she has met with Anne Flint, chamber director, to discuss with employees subjects such as smoking and hazardous material handling.

The proposal will be addressed by Ms. Flint at the Tuesday meeting of the Advisory Board of Health, Dr. Turek.

Other business to be addressed at the board meeting will include a report on the safety and cleanliness of town swimming pools. Dr. Turek said Globe Hollow will be among the recreation spots discussed.

The Health Department plans to make public a report on the communicable diseases that may be particular problems to the town's Laotian population. Manchester has one of the largest settlements of Laotians, with 150 persons.

Dr. Turek said a report that reviews health probabilities in Laotians have encountered nationally, along with local state experiences, will be delivered.

John Salcius, town sanitarian, will report on the survey he is taking on town septic systems. Dr. Turek said that he, Salcius has surveyed 80 of 120 septic systems that had been set to be part of the review.

Dr. Turek said the request by the town for a health employee to work within the school system's curriculum has been reviewed by the state and accepted for forwarding to the federal government.

Manchester is requesting money for an individual who will use education programs designed to enhance health. Part of the job will be teaching how to set up these programs, so the school system's teachers will be able to do the job when the funding for the position runs out.

Dr. Turek said the swish and spit program will also be discussed. She said it is her expectation that this fluoride program will appear on the Board of Education's agenda in either July or August, following action by the health advisory board.

Area police
Sherry L. Wilcha, 22, of Pennsylvania, was charged with breach of the peace and interfering with a police officer, third-degree assault, third-degree criminal mischief and driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Police said Manganello was involved in a one-car accident on East Main Street and allegedly assaulted a person who came to his aid at the scene of the accident. Police said when they arrived Manganello resisted, was subdued and handcuffed and while he was in the rear seat of the police cruiser he allegedly kicked out a window.

She was being held at the Vernon Police station in lieu of posting a $10,000 bond. She is scheduled to appear in court on June 23.

Ross L. Diaz, 18, of 53 School St., Rockville, was charged Thursday with breach of the peace. He was arrested on a warrant in connection with the investigation of an incident that happened earlier this month. He was released on a $100 nonreturn bond for appearance on June 23.

Energy at a glance
Washington — The Senate Thursday passed legislation that authorizes $30 billion for synthetic fuel development, a key part of President Carter's energy package designed to make America less dependent on foreign oil.

Washington — The United States should break the grip of Middle Eastern oil by encouraging greater oil and natural gas production in Latin America, a former federal energy official said Thursday.

New York — U.S. oil imports plummeted 18.5 percent in May to their lowest level since mid-1978, reflecting the nation's reduced demand for refined products and high petroleum stocks, the American Petroleum Institute reported Thursday.

Rest of AL chasing Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) — Will the rest of the American League East ever catch the Yankees? Will Wile E. Coyote ever catch the Road-Runner? "They have a good ballclub," California Manager Jim Fregosi admitted Thursday night after watching the New York Yankees dismantle his club 7-5 for their seventh straight victory. "They have a lot of guys who can hit the ball out of the park," continued Fregosi, whose club has lost nine straight and 15 of 16. "Their pitching is excellent, it has very good balance."

The season may only be 63 games old, but the numbers are becoming more impressive. For instance, Baltimore has won five in a row but their streaks are no match for the Yankees, who have a 41-1 record, the best in baseball.

In other games, Baltimore allowed six runs over 7-3 scoreless innings. Jackson, 4-4, struck out eight and walked two before being relieved by Doug Coakley with two men on in the eighth. Dan Schatzeder 2-6, gave up eight hits in four innings.

Brewers 10, Rangers 4
Shortstop Ed Romero, who had only four hits since being called up from Vancouver June 1, went 3-for-3 and scored three runs. Ben Oglive added his 18th homer, a two-run blast into the left field seats, in helping Bill Travers raise his record to 5-3. Bryan Alford fell to 0-1.

Twins 5, Royals 4
Jose Morales belted a grand slam and Darrell Jackson allowed six hits over 7-3 scoreless innings. Jackson, 4-4, struck out eight and walked two before being relieved by Doug Coakley with two men on in the eighth. Dan Schatzeder 2-6, gave up eight hits in four innings.

Baseball honest game?
It bugs me everytime I read or hear that baseball is an honest game — on the professional level.

From Commissioner Bowie Kuhn on down, the lords of major league baseball deceive the public by ignoring a flagrant violation of the rules — the automatic out at second base on double play attempts.

Baseball is not an honest game, and won't be until the umpires follow the rule to the letter that on a force play the defensive player must be in possession of the ball and in contact with the base to complete an out.

This isn't the case in the majors. Monday night's national baseball telecast from Fenway Park in Boston, the man in blue working second base called the runner out when Red Sox shortstop Rick Burse took the shortstop hit by Burse.

It's an unwritten rule, among purists, to call the base runner out with the defensive player off the base.

Off the record reasoning is to help cut down injuries, which has the blessing of the teams.

Have an umpire in amateur, college or scholastic competition follow the pattern used in the majors and he would be crucified and for justifiable reasons.

Baseball is not an honest game and won't be until the automatic phantom out is completely eliminated in all forms of competition.

Narkon ousted

Unable to get past Leslie Shannon again was the problem for Nancy Narkon as Shannon took a 3-and-1 decision in the semifinals of the 58th Connecticut Women's Golf Association Championship yesterday at New Haven Country Club.

Shannon, who defeated Narkon for the title in 1978, will meet Lida Kininnett, a 3-and-2 winner over Marjil Funk, in today's 36-hole championship match.

Narkon, four-time Manchester Country Club champ, took an early lead at the fifth hole with a three-foot birdie but Shannon evened the sixth by knocking home a 20-foot chip for a birdie.

Shannon assumed the lead for good at the 11th, after each birdied the 10th, with a birdie four. Shannon went 2-up at the 14th on Narkon three-pulled at the 14th.

The match ended at the 17th hole with Narkon having trouble and taking a double-bogey five. She had been even par 14 holes.

Senior catcher-designated hitter Tom Martin was the Beaver selection to the all-conference second team. Also tabbed were Rham's Paul Quaranto and Ron Girouard, Coventry's Keith Lane and Bolton High's Jim Clark.

Abby

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am very upset and hope you can shed some light on a problem concerning my son who is now 19. (I'll call him Mike).

About five years ago I found several pairs of girl's panties hidden under Mike's mattress. He spoke to Mike, who explained that a neighbor boy had "found" them in a trash can behind an apartment building. The father told him to get rid of them, and nothing more was said about it.

All through high school Mike was active in sports, music, etc. He was very popular with boys and girls. He is now in his sophomore year at college and has been going steady with the same girl for two years. (I'm sure they're doing more than just holding hands.)

Mike is now home for summer vacation. While cleaning his closet, I found a bra, panties and garter belt stuffed into his tennis shoes! I asked him what they were doing there. He got red in the face, said they weren't his and accused me of snooping. Believe me, I was not.

Abby, I am stuck. Can our son be a homosexual? He seems so normal.

Please help me. I don't know how to handle this.

WORRIED IN ST. PAUL.

DEAR WORRIED: Apparently your son has had a fascination for female undergarments since adolescence. Don't be upset. It does not mean he is homosexual. Many males share this kind of behavior and function normally as men.

If your son feels that he has a problem, he should get professional help. The University of Minnesota has an excellent Human Sexuality Department. And it might relieve your mind and your husband's to look into the program, too. The more you understand about a subject, the less worried and upset you will be.

DEAR ABBY: When I became pregnant four years ago at age 43 - I was surprised and certainly not prepared for another child. (I had three children.) My sister-in-law gave us an old beat-up baby bed she had had in her basement for years. My husband handed it down and painted it, and it looked like new. We used it until our baby outgrew it, then we sold it along with some other used furniture.

When my sister-in-law heard that we had sold the bed, she demanded that we give her part of the money we got for it. Abby, that baby bed was junk when she gave it to us, and it was junk when we sold it. Do we owe her anything?

STEAMED IN DAYTONA BEACH

DEAR STEAMED: If she gave it to you, all you owe her is a "thank-you."

CONFIDENTIAL TO LOVING SISTER IN BREMER-TON, WASH.: If you truly want to help your brother get well, let him know that you love him and are confident that he will recover and admire him for finally going into therapy. Offer no suggestions. To tell a person who is undergoing psychoanalysis that all he needs to do is "common sense," and that permitting his doctor to probe into his early unhappy childhood is causing his depression, is doing him more harm than good.

Do you have to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how-to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped 28 cent postage self-addressed envelope to: Abby's Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Astrograph

Bernice Bede Oso

June 21, 1980

This coming year you may find yourself more important than usual to family members or loved ones. The supportive role you play will endear you to them and increase their respect for you.

LEO (June 21-July 22) Your goals can be reached today, but not necessarily in an obvious manner. You'll find the way, even if you have to use a roundabout route. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for Astro-Graph, Box 426, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Social acceptance is your destiny, with members of the opposite sex, finding you especially appealing. Your charm is refreshing in discursive surroundings.

LIBRA (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Personal influence find you hard to turn down today. If you need a favor or an opportunity to advance, yourself in some manner, now is the time to seek it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Although you may unknowingly appear slightly mysterious to others, this is what is attracting them to you. Be yourself! Let events unfold for you.

Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Straightforward slam win

Oswald Jacoby in age. The others are all in their 20s and younger than Alan Sontag.

They got off to a fast start in the final match when West bid in a super-wreck jump overcall.

West is allergic to being pushed around in the bidding. He took very aggressive action in the bidding and found himself in a spade slam before you could say "Harold S. Vanderbilt."

Russ, who played brilliantly throughout the whole tournament, had to do a good deal of work to bring in the slam. But with the aid of the hint given by the jump overcall he got there.

The play was straightforward and efficient.

He won the diamond lead with the ace, led a heart to dummy and then led dummy's jack of trumps. East played low and Russ let it go to West and the king in dummy. Now came the key play. He led a second trump and finessed his eight. Back to dummy with a diamond ruff and a trump trump finess Vanderbilt. The team is an unusual age group. Bud and Russ are respectively close to
