Pryor still critical

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Doctors will not take Richard Pryor off the critical list until burn specialists can determine if the skin grafts were accepted, perhaps by the end of the week.

Despite earlier statements the 39-year-old comedian was about to be removed from the critical list, doctors said Tuesday Pryor's condition will not be upgraded until they are certain skin grafts were successful.

Gary Swaze, a spokesman for Sherman Oaks Community Hospital, said Pryor would remain on the critical list at least until Saturday. During 90 minutes of surgery Monday, skin removed from Pryor's calves and thighs was stretched over his charred chest, shoulders, arms and neck.

Taylor told a local radio talk show Tuesday he was delighted with the appointment although it has not officially been confirmed by Ottawa. He said he expected an announcement in a day or so.

Taylor told a news conference later that New York was a post he looked forward to "both from my own vacation point of view in New York — I like the city very much."

The 45-year-old Alberta native was posted to head the Canadian Embassy in Iran in August, 1977, following a distinguished career as a trade commissioner.

Since he helped six Americans escape Iran in January, Taylor has been touring Canada and the United States accepting city keys, medals and making some 150 speeches.

Execution delay sought

ATLANTA (UPI) — The mother of convicted killer Jack Potts says she can't "take much more" and won't interfere with his execution next week. But the American Civil Liberties Union, unhidden, is making two last-ditch efforts on his behalf today.

Juliet Prowse finally has become an American citizen. She came to this country 20 years ago to star with Frank Sinatra in the movie "Can Can." The two are shown in a scene from the film. (UPI)

Citizen Prowse

With Juliet Prowse, show biz always came first—about 20 years first where American citizenship is concerned.

But the former South African hooper finally has gotten around to it. Miss Prowse, born in Bombay, India, and reared in Johannesburg, took the oath of citizenship Monday in the private chambers of Hollywood Federal Judge David Williams.

She was starring at the Teatro Conico in Barcelona, Spain, in 1960 when her big break came—a costarring role with Frank Sinatra in "Can Can." She's lived in Beverly Hills, Calif., ever since.

'How,' Howard

In every role of a long career, Trevor Howard has been as British as a stiff upper lip.

So what's he doing playing a Cheyenne Indian who falls off his own burial scaffold in the first scene then lives to spend the rest of the movie battling wolves, deep snow, a bear and a hostile band of Crow Indians on behalf of his family?

He's being "Windwalker" — in a Pacific International Enterprises production of that title now filming high in Utah's Uinta Mountains near Park City.

It's Howard's first shot at being an Indian. He even had to learn to speak Cheyenne. The movie, based on a novel by Utah writer Blain A. Yorgason, is due for release at the end of the year.

Conquering hero

Not since the United States handed over the canal, has there been such a fiesta in Panama City.

It was complete Monday with fireworks, disco music, a mob scene with riot police breaking heads, and joyful cries of "Duran, Duran, Campeon, Campeon." That's Spanish for "Champion," and the champion was home.

It's estimated that 200,000 — one third of the capital's population — turned out to welcome countryman Roberto Duran, who lifted the welterweight crown from Sugar Ray Leonard last Friday in Montreal.

Hanoi attack resumes

MAN MUI, Thailand (UPI) — Hanoi attacked on two new fronts in Thailand today and sent 10,000 fresh troops into the country in a rapid broadening of its invasion.

In the third day of fighting on the embattled Thai-Cambodian border, the Vietnamese pounded the devastated village of Mak Mun with rocket, mortar and automatic weapons fire.

At least 100 people — Thai, Vietnamese and Cambodians — were known killed in the three-day war, and another 500 civilians have been confirmed wounded. Many Cambodian refugees, whose camps are in the area, were believed wounded and tens of thousands were thought to be trapped behind Vietnamese lines.

In Washington, the State Department expressed deep concern about the Vietnamese incursion and said, "Thailand is a close friend and ally with whom we have a security treaty. The United States will stand by its commitment to Thailand."

The security treaty calls for the partners to discuss the situation and decide what steps are needed. Congress would then have to be consulted before implementation.

Canadian energy eyed

FERRISBURG, Vt. (UPI) — Proposals to tunnel Canadian hydroelectric power and natural gas to the northeast United States top the agenda for a three-day meeting of the New England governors and Eastern Canadian premiers.

The eighth annual governors' and premiers' conference, which opens today, will also consider a regional hazardous waste shipping system and continued efforts at a joint tourism attraction project.

The conference — designed to forge closer bonds between the East Coast governments of Canada and the United States — is being held at the scenic Basin Harbor Club on Lake Champlain, where heads of state will spend their spare time golfing, boating and playing tennis.

The premiers of the five eastern Canadian provinces are expected to attend, along with five of the six New England governors. Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso, who is undergoing cancer radiation treatment, will not participate.

The meeting is the first since Quebec's unsuccessful independence referendum, and some New England officials wonder how that will affect their economic relationship with Quebec.

The first of the two work sessions will be devoted to energy, as officials consider the feasibility of shipping Canadian hydroelectric power to New England.

Although a report by utilities in the New England Power Pool is in the hands of the power exchange, the governors and premiers have been hopeful they could arrange an energy swap.

Powers anticipates expressway approval

HARTFORD (UPI) — Compromise and a federal approval should pave the way for construction of the Central Connecticut Expressway to begin in 1984, state transportation Commissioner Arthur Powers says.

Powers said Tuesday the Federal Highway Administration approved the final Environmental Impact Statement for the highway which will link Interstate 84 in Farmington and Interstate 91 in Cromwell.

"The federal approval of the EIS is a major step toward fulfilling the goal of an improved transportation system in the Central Connecticut area."

The proposed route would involve construction of a new 2.7-mile section of expressway in the old Interstate 291 corridor and modification of interchanges through Routes 15 and 72.

Teachers like arbitration law

HARTFORD (UPI) — An official of Connecticut's largest teachers' union and Education Commissioner Mark Shedd have given the state's binding arbitration law for teacher contracts top notch grades.

Shedd said Tuesday all 112 teacher and administrator contracts required to be negotiated during the 1979-80 school year had been settled, including 43 which fell under provisions of the law calling for binding arbitration.

It marked the first full year of contract negotiations under the law, best offer binding arbitration law which took effect July 1.

"The law has been an overwhelming success," said Thomas Mondani, executive secretary of the 25,000-member Connecticut Education Association.

"It is a process for resolving disputes. As a process, it has worked. The proof of that is every contract is settled," said the official of the CEA.

On Thursday, Vermont Gov. Richard Snelling and Quebec Premier Rene Levesque — the conference co-chairmen — were scheduled to report on a proposed sale of Quebec hydroelectric power to New England.

Snelling has hinted he will unveil a new "stage" in the Hydro-Quebec negotiations, but the Republican governor has refused to offer details.

More hydroelectric power may be available from the Churchill Falls project in Newfoundland and the power surplus already held by New Brunswick.

According to information made available by the conference organizers, the governors and premiers will consider future steps toward the power deal.

Before any more Canadian energy can be shipped to New England, a new transmission corridor is needed through either Vermont or New Hampshire.

The utilities' NEPOOL report maintains Quebec's power surplus is uncertain — making it impossible to say whether the negotiations and new transmission lines are warranted.

Vermont has already bought $2 megawatts of power generated by the massive James Bay hydro project in northern Quebec, and at past conferences other New England governors have eyed similar deals.

"It was a fairly routine hearing," Godcher said. "It would be premature to say GE is going to get the approval for the spur, but once they make the minor revisions in the door height and width, we don't expect any other exceptions."

Alan Olmstead remembered

For more than three decades Alan Olmstead wrote editorials in The Herald that were models of beautiful expression, thoughtful masterpieces of firm persuasion, patient but urgent pleas for human sanity in what often seemed a world determined to destroy itself.

If he ever struggled with a piece, it was not to find the right word—words seemed to come in endless variety and strength—but to find the most honest thought, the deep truth beneath surface judgments. He penetrated the causes and consequences of movements and events, evaluating them, not in strident isolation, but as part of the whole human endeavor.

His art was not in his words, nor in his sentences, though he mastered both. His art was in the total unity, the overall impact of his essays which led readers to seemingly inevitable conclusions.

When he left The Herald in 1972, he had serious doubts that he could lead a useful life without the daily demand of the newspaper. He proved himself wrong.

He wrote a book, "Threshold," which described his first months of retirement. While he rejected the idea that it was to be a "practical" guide, it gave many readers confidence as they approached retirement.

He was at once the most private and the most public of men. In his writings he revealed himself. The piece, "Again and Again," from his book of prose poems, "In Praise of Seasons," tells more of the man and his art than could any extravagant eulogy by lesser men who various planes of our individual lives, something of a momentary miracle occurs. Some bewitching sign of moving seasons distracts us from the ordinary and directs us into a higher plane of sense and feeling. Something we first notice almost casually underfoot stimulates us to see, clearly and warmly, the vistas of existence located out beyond our own circumstance. Some leafy reminder of the cycled conspiracy of earth and sun re-establishes the good connection between ourselves and others and between all of us and that earth and sun. We may happen, in a sudden, unexpected pause, to hear the silence that is the sound of the infinite. We may feel a sanctified part of something beyond ourselves, something we can possess although we can never quite touch it.

Firm U.S. hand needed in Middle East

By LEE RODERICK

WASHINGTON—Queen Noor al-Hussein, formerly America's Lisa Halaby, towered over her diminutive husband, King Hussein, during their visit here, but the king proved once again in talks with President Carter that he's the little giant of the Middle East.

No one has worked longer or under more difficult and even personally dangerous circumstances than Hussein to try to find a just and lasting settlement for all parties in the area—Israel as well as the Arab states and the Palestinians.

As one of the U.S.'s best friends in the region, Hussein during his 28-year reign (he's only 44) frequently has been criticized by his Arab neighbors for being too conciliatory.

Yet when President Carter called Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Israel's Menachem Begin together to sign a peace accord that excluded the larger Arab community and failed to address fundamental causes of the conflict, Hussein could go along with Washington no longer. In a National Press Club speech at the end of his visit the other day, Hussein explained why.

"We have worked for a comprehensive settlement because it is the only enduring one," he said. "We have warned against partial and separate settlements. The Arab-Israeli conflict is a major confrontation which must be addressed totally and from the roots... the problem will not disappear if Egypt alone regains its occupied land."

Hussein charged that Israel has used its separate agreement with Egypt "to intensify its activities in settling the other occupied areas," and emphasized that resolution of the Palestinian question remains central to any peaceful solution.

He was visibly annoyed when a listener questioned his desire for peace in light of Jordan's support for the Palestine Liberation Organization. Palestinians are free to choose their own leadership, he noted, adding that the overwhelming majority of them want to live in peace with

Honor America

Words and deeds of patriots

(Editor's note: Congress, by public law 94-33, designated the 21 days from Flag Day to the Fourth of July as a period to honor America and encourage patriotism as well as appreciation for the opportunities and responsibilities under our constitutional system. This is one of several articles in keeping with that theme.)

By N. LA VERL CHRISTENSEN
 Scripps League Newspapers

"I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

What American hasn't been touched by these imperishable words of Nathan Hale, a captain in Gen. George Washington's Colonial Army!

Hale, a young Connecticut school teacher, joined the army after the British-American skirmish at Lexington in 1775. When Washington needed a patriot for a dangerous spying mission at Long Island in 1776, Hale volunteered.

Dressed as a civilian, he secured the desired information. But he was captured by the British Sept. 21 as he tried to regain American lines. British Gen. William Howe ordered him executed.

Hale mounted the gallows the next day, uttered his noble and unselfish words... and was hanged. An account of the incident was given American officers by British Capt. John Montresor under a flag of truce.

Words and deeds of such heroes as Nathan Hale have helped make America great. They add heart and spirit to history and build pride and patriotism.

In recent years, some historical accounts—including school textbooks—have tended to omit or play down some of the traditional heroes. Such omissions do not discount the example and inspiration of outstanding patriots through the years. Consider the following words and deeds from the nation's formative era:

"I have not yet begun to fight," spoken by Naval hero John Paul Jones when called upon to surrender in a 1779 battle between his ship, the "Bon Homme Richard" and the British frigate "Serapis." Jones' vessel was badly crippled, but he and his crew fought bravely to victory.

"Freedom has been hunted around the globe. Asia and Africa have expelled her... and England has given her warning to depart. O, receive the fugitive and prepare in time an asylum for mankind!"

These words by Thomas Paine, called the "Firebrand of the American Revolution," bolstered the courage of patriots when the colonies were still split on the question of independence. Washington himself concurred Paine's pamphlet, "Common Sense," issued in January 1776, helped turn national doubt into decision.

"My country—may she ever be right, but right or wrong, my country." These words of Commodore Stephen Decatur, another distinguished naval leader, were spoken in 1816 at a dinner in Decatur's honor at Norfolk, Va.

"We must hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately" was a remark attributed to Benjamin Franklin after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

"I would rather be right than President," was Henry Clay's answer (1850) when told he was injuring his chances of becoming President by advocating certain compromise measures.

"Let us have peace!" This favorite expression of Ulysses S. Grant, victorious union general of the Civil War and 18th President of the United States, was chiseled in granite over the entrance to Grant's tomb in New York.

A survey in the early sixties by This Week magazine indicated school textbook use of the Nathan Hale and John Paul Jones statements as well as Patrick Henry's 1775 "Give me liberty or give me death" speech had declined sharply from texts published before 1920.

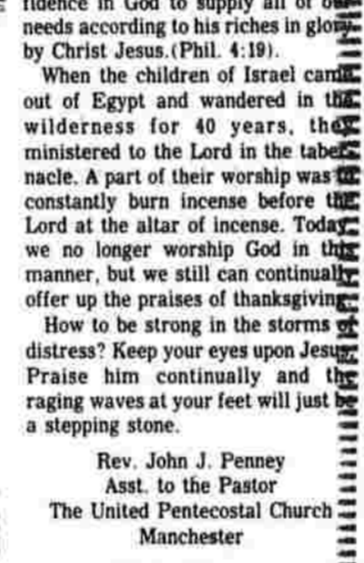

Thoughts

Here are some concluding thoughts on strengths in our weakness, because our Heavenly Father is concerned with every aspect of development in our lives. Whether we feel ourselves to be in a time of strength or weakness is irrelevant in our walk with God.

The scripture says we walk by faith and not by sight. Faith is the substance of things not seen (Hebrews 11:1) and it allows us to build a confidence in God to supply all of our needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus (Phil. 4:19).

When the children of Israel came out of Egypt and wandered in the wilderness for 40 years, they ministered to the Lord in the tabernacle. A part of their worship was to constantly burn incense before the Lord at the altar of incense. Today we no longer worship God in the manner, but we still can continually offer up the praises of thanksgiving.

How to be strong in the storm of distress? Keep your eyes upon Jesus. Praise him continually and the raging waves at your feet will just be a stepping stone.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Our diplomats feuding disgraces us in Israel

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—One reason the Carter administration keeps contradicting itself on the explosive Palestinian question may be the bitter feud that has divided our diplomats in Israel.

Confidential State Department cables hint at a shocking disarray in views between officials in the U.S. Embassy at Tel Aviv and those attached to the consulate at Jerusalem. The cables detail a series of embarrassing incidents that befell a visiting congressional delegation in Jerusalem.

At an evening soiree, the seemingly drunken wife of a consular official accosted a California congressman and his wife and told the legislator in slurred tones that she had "heard all about you," adding: "You're a B.S. artist." The congressman was merely amused at the insulting remark, others at the party were aghast.

But that wasn't the worst of the gaffes. Previously, the visiting congressmen were invited to the home of Consul General Brandon Grove for a briefing. A political officer from the consulate, Thomas Wikitsch, shocked the largely Jewish delegation by pulling a large set of Arabic "worry beads" from his pocket and launching into what one congressman called an "insensitive, pro-Palestinian" lecture.

When Wikitsch suggested that all Israeli settlements on the West Bank were illegal and that U.S. policy dictated that they be dismantled, U.S. Ambassador Samuel Lewis decided he'd had enough. He corrected his subordinate's statement.

Then, as the astonished congressmen looked on, Wikitsch stubbornly insisted his view was the right one. Barely suppressing his anger, the ambassador retorted, "That's not true," witnesses told my associate Jack Mitchell.

More was to come. At a farewell party the following day, the consular general unexpectedly gave the floor to the Arab mayor of occupied Gaza, Rashid al Shawa. According to a secret cable, the mayor loosed "a lengthy and forceful harangue" on the visiting congressmen. He strongly criticized U.S. support of Israel, and "noted that grievances... result in terrorist attacks."

"We were put in an embarrassing position," recalled one of the shocked legislators who had tried gamely to respond to the surprise attack. Other members of the delegation confided that they were appalled by the unprofessional behavior of several foreign service personnel.

Sources say embassy officials feel that those in the Jerusalem consulate are thwarting efforts to present more balanced views to the policymakers in Foggy Bottom.

Footnote: Neither Ambassador Lewis nor Wikitsch returned our overseas phone calls.

Bubblegum Tactics: The Democratic National Committee's legal drive to keep independent candidate John Anderson off the November ballot may become bubblegum in President Carter's face.

The committee is responding to orders from the White House. This has antagonized several Democrats on Capitol Hill, who feel the committee is putting President Carter's re-election ahead of their own. For the polls show that most voters who favor Anderson would also vote for Democratic congressional candidates.

In those states where the com-periodic lie-detector tests is whether they've had any "contacts" with members of the press, report our sources at the agency... Rep. Tennyson Guyer, R-Ohio, was heard to remark recently that "if we had to wait on Congress to resolve emergencies, we just never would." He paused, and added ruefully, "Let's face it. We would make horrible SWAT teams..." French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's cool disdain toward the United States is not shared by his countrymen. An American recently returned from France reports that almost every day-Frenchmen from every walk of life told him, "I want to take my family to the United States to live."

Nutrition ideas rejected

MANCHESTER—The Board of Education rejected many proposals in a follow-up school nutrition report Monday night, citing lack of funds and already adequate lunchroom procedures.

Recommendations were made at mid-year by a nutritionist who was hired at the beginning of the 1979-80 school term. The report offered was the school system's response.

Nutritionist Evelyn Gregan had called for an increase in in-service training classes on sanitation and to discuss policy with managers.

The school system response is that a lack of funds precluded more meetings, and that state sanitation inspections have always graded the school's food system in the 90 percent range.

Ma. Gregan had called for an increase in choices offered the students and had called for theme menus that capture children's imaginations.

There has been the introduction of items such as pizza, tacos, and fresh fruits, along with the institution of special themes for items such as "Hawaiian Day" or "Calcium Week."

The suggestion to add a fast food style hamburger or cheeseburger to the high school lunch and to add a salad bar at the junior high school were rejected, on the basis of lack of personnel and facilities.

Several matters prompted no immediate change but did result in discussion of the issues. Principals are reviewing a suggestion that lunch

Kotsch gets B.S. degree

MANCHESTER—Lt. Samuel Kotsch, a 10-year veteran of the Manchester Police Department, has received his bachelor of science degree in business administration from Eastern Connecticut State College in Willimantic.

Kotsch, who resides at 67 Maple St., was graduated May 18.

She called for the recipes at the various schools to be standardized. The school system responded this is done but that deviation is needed to fit the requirements of different facilities and tastes of children, and to utilize government commodities.

Hebner ignites Tigers' attack

NEW YORK (UPI) — He is one of baseball's great mysteries, a player with unquestioned batting skills and a puzzling tendency toward inactivity. But when he gets relief, Roger Weaver won't let a game be played, there are few hitters who can do the damage he can.

Bonds shows life of snapping slump

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball fans haven't been putting too much stock in Bobby Bonds this season, but the St. Louis Cardinals may still get some dollar value from the 34-year-old outfielder before the season is over.

Bonds has been having one of the second half of the season might not be so dismal for the former National League All-Star. Bonds snapped an 0-for-25 slump Tuesday night with a home run and a double to lead the Cardinals to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bonds hitting just .191 entering the game, led off the first inning of Rick Rhoden, 0-1, with a double and scored on a single by Garry Templeton to trigger a two-run inning. Bonds, whose last hit came on June 7, then crashed his third homer leading off the third to snap a 2-2 tie and give Bob Sykes his second victory in eight decisions.

Wimbledon far behind due to rain

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — It's rained so much for the first two days of the 94th Wimbledon tennis championships that the tournament is only halfway through the first round and the electronic service fault detector is threatening to gurgle instead of beep.

Only 18 of Tuesday's 72 scheduled matches were completed and the organizers face a massive backlog. In between the showers, Martina Navratilova cleared the first hurdle in her chase for three successive titles by crushing South African Ilana Kloss 6-0, 6-3 and second-seeded Tracy Austin outplayed Moulton 6-1, 6-2.

The men's first, 13th-seeded Poland's Wojtek Fibak, who had saved three match points before rain halted play Monday, finally made it into the second round, completing a narrow 5-7, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, 10-8 victory over Australian Mark Edmondson 30 minutes after the match started.

It has been that sort of Wimbledon. If the forecast for more rain Wednesday holds true, 16th-seeded Jose Luis Clerc of Argentina and India's Vijay Amritraj may be involved in a similar marathon.

Clerc fought back after losing the first two sets to even the match before rain stopped the 2-hour contest with the score deadlocked at 1-6, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5, 2-2.

Amritraj let Clerc off the hook — serving for victory at 5-4 in the third and fourth sets when he was leading 4-0 and 4-0-15, respectively.

There were no other problems for the two other men's seeds who beat the rain Tuesday. Fifth-seeded Roscoe Tanner, runner-up to four-time Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg in last year's final, overpowered Jerry Fibber of Czechoslovakia 6-2, 6-0, 6-4 and No. 7 Peter Fleming carved a 7-5, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Zimbabwe's Colin Dowdeswell.

Weather permitting today, Wimbledon will feature its youngest seed ever when 15-year-old Andrea Jaeger, ranked 14th, meets Britain's Anne Cooper.

The traumas of playing Wimbledon at such a young age, is something Austin recalled Tuesday, looking back as a veteran all of 17 years old. "I know what it is like. I look back and remember," she said, "I see Andrea going through the same things I did. But now I feel differently. Between 14 and 17 are the growing up years. This is the first time I have come here thinking I am ready to win."

ALUMN JUNIOR Credit Union nipped Mar-Maria 5-2, last night at Cheney. Steve Byam had three hits for Credit while Ken Krajevski had a pair for Mar-Mads.

Liggett Parkade topped Credit Union Monday night at MCC. 5-2. Dave Vilga had a double and two RBI to pace Liggett while Bob Krause straddled defensively.

Royce Florist outlasted Moriarty Bros. 10-4, last night at MCC. Mike Garbeck pitched well in relief for Krause while Brian McAlroy played well for Moriarty's.

The Cleveland Indians found out the hard way Tuesday night. Hebner drove in six runs and triggered a five-run seventh with a three-run double and rookie reliever Roger Weaver won't let a game be played, there are few hitters who can do the damage he can.

"This is the second time I've had six RBI in one game," said Hebner, who also turned the trick against the Yankees just over a month ago. "I'm in a good position hitting fourth to drive in runs, especially when you have Alan Trammell and Steve Kemp, both hitting over .300, batting behind you."

Losler Len Barker, 7-5, was cruising along with a three-hitter and a 4-2 lead until the seventh, when the Tigers staged a two-out rally. John Wockenuss knocked out Barker with a two-run triple. Weaver, who has not given up an earned run in nine innings of relief, allowed only two hits over 3-13 innings and Aurelio Lopez went the final three innings to get his eighth save.

"Give me pitching and defense any time," said Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson. "We've really been playing good baseball even though (Kirk) Gibson and (Al) Covich have been out for us. Earlier this season we were scoring seven runs a game and losing. Pitching is the whole game."

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore blanked Toronto 1-0. Texas edged Seattle 5-4. New York belted Boston 10-5, Minnesota split with Kansas City, winning the opener 2-1 and dropping the nightcap 4-2. Milwaukee defeated Oakland 5-3 and Chicago outlasted California 2-1.

Al Bumby and Rich Dauer cracked back-to-back doubles in the first inning and Scott McGregor tossed a four-hitter to lead Baltimore, McGregor, 7-3, struck out six and walked none to outlast Dave Stieb, 7-4, and notch his sixth victory in his last seven decisions. Rangers 5, Mariners 4. Al Oliver singled off reliever Shane Rawley to score Mickey Rivers from one stretch.

Two two-run frames were enough for the Oilers' Jim Verplank and Verano. Jim Verplank, Nick Vesho, Eddie Schinblum and Chris Field played well for the 8-7 Lawyers, who finished in second place. The Oilers are 3-12.

The Oilers' Verano, 3-12, last night at Bowers. Scott Gentilecone and Rich Zimmer homered and Jim Connelly, Mike Carroll, Mary O'Brien finished their single to pace 12-3 Lob. Rich Sullivan tripled for 5-11 DQ.

Coventry voters reject budget

COVENTRY—The town's second budget proposal for 1980-81, calling for $5.7 million in spending with a tax rate of 71 mills, was defeated 837 to 585 in Tuesday's referendum.

After the polls had closed, the Town Council, deciding it had been given a clear mandate to cut the budget, set a 1980-81 tax rate of 68.5 mills. Monday on trimming the budget proposal to reflect the lower tax rate.

Rejection of the budget means that Coventry will begin the 1980-81 fiscal year without a budget. State statutes authorize the council to set a tax rate, however, and require the council to prepare a mini-budget for the first 30 days of the fiscal year.

Because the budgeting process was delayed by rejection of two budget proposals, tax bills will not be ready until mid-July. The group has also started its annual drive for new patrons.

Other officers are: Maggie Kline, vice president-business; Lee Hay, vice president-technical; and Julio Majica, treasurer. He is interested in becoming a patron of the group should contact St. Mary at 875-9099 or write to P. O. Box 2275, Vernon. Patrons receive their tickets for the fall and spring productions in advance and also are invited to a free "showcase" presentation.

Workshop given grant

VERNON—Hockanum Industries Inc., Vernon's new sheltered workshop, has been awarded a grant by the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving to support the start-up costs of the workshop which hires retarded and handicapped adults.

The workshop, which opened in the former Poliwog Kindergarten Building in Rockville, will be able to operate through the summer under the foundation's grant. In the fall Hockanum Industries expects to be eligible for federal and state funding.

Lewis Stein, executive director of the workshop, said, "Hockanum Industries will offer training for those individuals who are able to learn more skills and find employment with area firms."

Dr. James Strauch, professor of special education at the University of Connecticut, and president of the board of Hockanum Industries, said, "By helping the mentally retarded and developmentally disabled persons in Tolland County we are making an investment in our community and in the lives of our handicapped citizens."

When the workshop opened on June 16 there were four clients preparing, packaging and mailing material for an area industry. Besides Stein there is a workshop supervisor, Betty Rainey of Manchester, and a secretary, Kathy Gaboury of Williamsville, on the staff. Stein said that by the end of the summer there should be about 10 handicapped adults working full-time at the facility.

stalling the unit in the basement of the administration building.

Mrs. Baum commented, "I assume we are choosing to ignore the fact that the Town Council is going to discuss this at its July meeting."

Dr. Sidman responded to this comment by saying that he took great exception to Mrs. Baum indicating that the town's needs weren't considered.

Danahy said the town had been involved but said for his part he feels the need for a consultant to answer technical questions that he doesn't feel qualified to evaluate.

He said he doesn't think the committee should make a decision until a consultant for the town makes an appraisal.

Dr. Sidman said that shouldn't have any effect on what the board does now. He said the equipment wouldn't be received until December and added that the town has been offered, at no charge, the expertise that exists on the school board.

Mrs. DiPietro commented, "Suppose we get the computer and it doesn't meet the needs of the town." And Dr. Sidman said he didn't see that happening noting that the things the school system was asking for would have the type of capacity for the town's needs.

ANDOVER—The Board of Education has canceled its July 8 meeting. The next meeting of the board will be August 19 at 7:30 p.m. at Andover Elementary School.

SALADS

Or try your hand at any of a raft of good ideas for topping... what else but "rafts" of lettuce—those inch-thick slices cut across the head which serve as the delightfully crunchy base for the "Western Waldorf" and "California Dream Salad." Make them early in the day, without dressing, of course, cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate until ready to serve.

When it comes to salad dressings the choice is yours... and your guests'. To preserve the "low-calorie" theme, you might like to try the recipes offered here or select from among the many excellent low-calorie prepared dressings available at your local supermarket. Just remember to keep it light and your guests will thank you for it.

Cut 4 thin apple slices and have for garnish; dice remainder. Combine sliced peach and apple, celery, mayonnaise and lemon juice. Remove large outer leaves from lettuce and line 4 individual salad plates. Cut lettuce head crosswise into 4 inch-thick slices and place one "raft" on each lettuce-lined plate. Spoon apple mixture onto center of "raft." Surround with 5 peach slices and top with walnuts. Garnish with "buttery" of apple slices and cherry. Add dried apple if desired. Makes 4 salads.

California Dream Salad

- 10 diagonal cut banana slices
- 1 pint creamed cottage cheese

Cool summer pies make tempting hot weather desserts

Summer entertaining presents the extra challenge of finding foods to tempt appetites jaded by hot weather. Some popular solutions reappear each summer - chilled soups, marinated salads of garden fresh vegetables, lighter vegetarian entrees or favorite meats, basted with tangy barbecue sauce and grilled over charcoal.

For desserts, the key words are cool and refreshing. These summer pies, with their unique pie crusts, fit those criteria perfectly.

The moist, flavorful crusts start with pudding-in-the-cake mixes. Simply spread the special batter in the bottom of the pie pans and bake. The crust first puffs, then "collapses" to form the pie shell shape.

'Fitness Menu' introduced at Waldorf luncheon

Cancun Crab Melt and Sandwich Nicole

Oriental Chicken Salad in pineapple boat and Cold Poached Salmon with cucumber mousse.

By BETTY RYDER

NEW YORK - The menu were created and tested by Castle & Cooke's registered dietitians and senior Hilton chefs.

"This program is the most extensive and ambitious of its kind ever attempted by a hotel or restaurant company," said Joseph W. F. Gardner, senior vice president, food and beverage division of the Hilton Hotels Corporation. "It's rewarding to see a wide variety of light, healthy, well-balanced meals which customers may choose as an alternative to traditional menus. Members of the media invited to the picnic, sipped on Shorter Shakes (named for Frank Shorter, the marathon gold medal winner and Hilton's physical fitness consultant), and selected delectable items from a huge buffet which surmounted four massive ice carvings.

The "Fitness First" menu, developed jointly by Vangelos, senior vice president of Castle & Cooke Foods, features a selection of up to three specialties offered each day for luncheon or dinner. Entries include Sandwich Nicole, Cancun Crab Melt, a Barbery Bounty, and Chicken Piccata. All dishes on the menu were created and tested by Castle & Cooke's registered dietitians and senior Hilton chefs.

Try apples a new way

What has a tart fruit flavor and is crispy-crunchy all over with a hole in the middle? Crunchy Apple Rings. That's what!

These fried apple slices get their crunchiness from a coating of new Kellogg's Honey & Nut Corn Flakes. The cereal adds plenty of flavor too by teaming up honey and nuts.

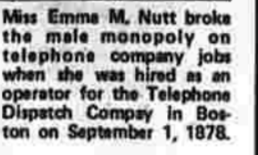

When to serve Crunchy Apple Rings? Just about any time. They could accompany a brunch or serve them as a side dish for pork at dinner.

A melba is a vanilla ice cream dessert with raspberry sauce. When it's Honey & Nut Melba Pie, it means "delicious." The crisp crust made with Honey & Nut Corn Flakes contrasts with the smooth low cream filling. Slice each wedge with raspberry-red melba sauce for a simply delicious dessert.

Perfectly portable pita pockets fill (with sausage) and grill

A pocket full of nourishment is always welcome on a picnic. So why not combine America's newest food, pita bread, with grill favorites such as knockwurst, bratwurst and hot dogs.

The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council suggest using these pita loaves (hollowed rounds sometimes also called pocket bread) to add zest to easy summer entertaining.

Let guests make up their own special Sausage "Dagwood" Grill from a smorgasbord of sliced processed meats and condiments. Wrap sauerkraut, bean sprouts, chopped onions or tomatoes.

Perfectly portable, pita bread also is ideal for making Cheesy Hot Dog Totes. Totes can be made ahead, wrapped in foil and heated later on the grill.

Sausage "Dagwood" Grill
Pita bread, each loaf cut in half
1 roll heavy-duty aluminum foil
Sliced hot dogs, knockwurst and bratwurst (Figure 1/4 to 1/2 pound of sausage per person)
Smorgasbord selection: Tomatoes, chopped with celery salt added
Chopped onions - Offer three styles (Bermuda, Spanish, green)
Bean sprouts, drained
Alfalfa sprouts
Cheddar or American cheese, shredded
Pickles, sliced paper thin
Yogurt
Variety of mustards and ketchup

Before guests arrive, chop, slice and refrigerate sausages and smorgasbord condiments. Cut pita loaves in half. When grill is properly heated have guests fill pita pockets with their choice of sausages and condiments. Wrap sandwiches in foil and place on grill for about 10 minutes. Uncover and continue grilling until bread is crispy and pocket heated through, about 10 to 15 minutes more, depending on desired crispness. Cost per serving: Approximately 90 cents.

Cheesy hot dog tote
1/2 pound hot dogs, cubed in half
2 oz. jar stuffed green olives, chopped
1/2 cup frozen diced onions
1/2 cup cheddar cheese, shredded
1 teaspoon mustard
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped

2 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 individual loaves of pita bread
Heavy-duty aluminum foil
Cut hot dogs into fourths lengthwise, then slice into 1/4-inch cubes. Combine with olives, hard cooked eggs, mustard, mayonnaise, chili sauce and cheese, mixing well. Cut pita rounds in half. Open pocket and fill with approximately 1/4 cup filling - be generous. Wrap individually in foil and refrigerate or freeze.

TO GRILL:
If frozen, allow to defrost at room temperature for about 10 minutes. When fire is ready, foil-wrapped sandwiches on grill and heat 10 minutes. Uncover and continue heating until pita bread is crisp and filling is hot - 10 to 15 minutes more, depending on desired crispness. Serve with marinated vegetables or cole slaw for a complete meal.

IN THE OVEN
Place unwrapped sandwiches in 350° F. oven for 25 minutes for crispy bread. If softer bread is preferred, reduce heating time to about 20 minutes. Yield: 8 servings. Cost per serving: Approximately 80 cents.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

Exercise Participation On The Rise

The signs of increased physical activity are everywhere, but runners and joggers are its most pervasive symbol. Today, they appear daily in nearly every street, neighborhood, and park in the country.

The number of adult runners has grown from a handful in 1960 to over 17 million. Tennis has added 10 million players in the past five years, and racquetball has grown from an obscure sport to a popular activity with 3.1 million players.

The intensity of exercise has risen along with the rate of participation. One of every six adult Americans invests an average of 300 minutes a week in vigorous physical exercise.

Beer batter French toast

Spring is here so it's time for coming out from behind closed doors where you've been hiding during this long cold winter.

What better way to get things started than to plan a Brunch - planned ahead it needn't be expensive at all - especially if you happen to have some old bread hanging around and a little beer. These two ingredients needed for French toast. This golden brown French toast will be light and airy due to the beer batter in which it's dipped. French toast is great sprinkled with confectioners' sugar or simply served with maple syrup.

Have an assortment of breakfast meats such as bacon and sausage, perhaps some fresh strawberries and your Brunch is complete.

Beer Batter French Toast
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 cup beer

Butter or margarine
6 slices bread
Break eggs into shallow dish; with fork, beat lightly; stir in salt, sugar, beer. Heat a little butter in skillet. Quickly dip bread slices, one at a time, into egg mixture; turn until just well coated. In hot butter, brown at once on both sides. Serves 3.

Californian raising lobsters in Caribbean

THE VALLEY, Anguilla (UPI) - Lobsters may become more plentiful if an experimental hatchery developed by an American in the Eastern Caribbean proves successful.

Robert Van Zant, a 58-year-old engineer from Glendale, Calif., has established Lobster Farms Limited on the tiny island of Anguilla. Van Zant says the island supports 6,500 people, some goats, and little else.

It also has pristine beaches surrounded by plenty of unpopulated ocean - all the new lobster farm needs.

Van Zant and his two consultants, marine biologists Jon Van Oist and James Carlberg of Aquaculture Services Limited in California, say the new farm is the only one of its type in the world.

They say millions of dollars have been spent in the American and British water's edge in western Anguilla. It will hatch lobsters in 100-foot-long concrete pens.

Because lobsters' favorite food is each other, the shellfish are transferred to individual cages on the ocean floor as soon as their snappers start to bud. Van Zant said he can't afford to lose more than 10 percent of his brood.

Thirty farm workers will wade out to sea every day to inspect each lobster and see how it's doing.

If the farm is successful, Van Zant says, he may turn to raising other seafood such as clams, shrimp and oysters.

Town, Eighth District

Departments should talk

By KEVIN FOLEY
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - Communications and the lack thereof were the topics of discussion Tuesday night when the Town and Eighth Utilities District Liaison Committee met at Lincoln Center.

Members of the committee heard both town and district fire chiefs and the police chief explain problems they have all faced in communicating with each other in the past and how those problems may be resolved so public safety won't be endangered.

As if to emphasize the need for both ends of town to communicate clearly, Deputy Mayor and committee member Stephen Cassano told the meeting the committee "needed to develop ideas that will work in the best interests of the town. That's why we're all here," Cassano added.

Citing the recent fire at the Central Connecticut Co-op where the district volunteers required the aid of the town fire department and five other area companies to contain the fire which might have become a disaster, Cassano said he wondered if a "life and death" potential existed at Manchester Memorial Hospital and Students get savings bonds

Several area students have been awarded savings bonds and honorable mentions in connection with a contest conducted by the state Department of Education on the dangers of alcohol, drug, and tobacco abuse.

Amy Cayward, a Grade 8 student at the Vernon Center Middle School, received a second prize award of a $75 savings bond and Lynda Cary, a Grade 7 student at the Middle School received a third prize of a $50 savings bond. Also receiving a third prize was Heidi Clark a Grade 7 student at the Bolton Center School.

Denise DeRagon, Grade 7, at the Sunset Ridge School in East Hartford, also was awarded a fourth prize and honorable mentions went to Marcia Manning, Grade 8, Bolton Center School; Andy Lyon, Grade 8, Vernon Middle School; and Debbie Marshall, Grade 8, Bolton Center School.

More than 500 students in Grades 7 and 8 throughout the state contributed illustrations and photographs with captions focusing on the economic, social and human costs of alcohol, drug and tobacco abuse. The winning entries are on display in the state Board of Education meeting room.

The entries will be duplicated in a booklet which will be distributed to all school districts next fall.

The awareness campaign is an effort by the education community to help middle and high school students confront the serious issues of alcohol and tobacco abuse among young people.

Dr. Mark Sheed, commissioner of education, said that a recently completed Safe School Survey, conducted for the state students confirm the serious issues of alcohol and drug abuse among youth as jeopardizing the safety and security of schools.

Candidates woo GOP town committee votes

By MARY KITZMANN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - Candidates in the November election wooed Republican Town Committee members last night with promises and criticism of their opponents.

Although most of the criticism was directed at the Democrats, and the promises of President Jimmy Carter, the two candidates for the state Senate seat in District 4 also exchanged jobs.

Nancy Caffyn, former Republican mayor and chairman of the South Windsor Town Council, told the committee she wanted them "to know the other candidate for District 4."

The East Hampton native told the committee she believed that government should set goals and work toward attaining them.

She told the committee that as South Windsor mayor she had increased the Grand List by encouraging industry and decreased taxes.

"We should determine what government should do, rather than accept what it is now doing," she said.

"We should determine what government should do, rather than accept what it is now doing," she said.

Also being looked at, but said that system wouldn't be available for some time.

Rivosa took the opportunity to criticize the dispatching system in the district, which is often manned by volunteers although a full-time dispatcher is also maintained.

"I've called down there to ask where the address of the fire is," he suggested Rivosa and district Fire Chief-elect John Christensen ask. "He suggested the district train meet with hospital officials in the near future and also apprise other health care facility administrators at such hospitals as the Meadows Convalescent Home, of emergency procedures.

"Communications are critical, tin between the six companies," Cassano remarked. "If anything, fighting the blaze consisted of 'kids comes out of this committee's running back and forth... meetings, let it be that the two 'Nobody's going to be running back and forth at the J.C. Penney building," Cassano said, referring to the two million square foot facility in the town.

Christensen was the purchase of walkie-talkies, once again noting the co-op fire where he said communications between the six companies "comes out of this committee's running back and forth... meetings, let it be that the two 'Nobody's going to be running back and forth at the J.C. Penney building," Cassano said, referring to the two million square foot facility in the town.

Business Gerber subsidiary gets large contract

SOUTH WINDSOR — Gerber Scientific Products Inc. of Manchester, a wholly owned subsidiary of Gerber Scientific Inc., has announced receipt of an order for $7.5 million for a newly developed line of portable microprocessor controlled automated drawing machines.

Gerber Scientific Products plans to complete production development and tooling, and to begin delivery of the new product during the company's fiscal year to end April 30, 1981. The balance of the order is expected to be shipped during the following fiscal year.

Gerber Scientific Products, organized in January 1980, formally commenced operations on May 1, 1980, at its Manchester location. With the entry of this order, the subsidiary's backlog of orders is over $5,000,000.

Gerber Scientific Products was chartered to expand Gerber's product base by entering into new fields not covered by the corporation's present product lines.

David J. Logan, president of the new subsidiary, stated, "Gerber Scientific Product's business plan calls for the development of new products for our own manufacturing and marketing activities, as well as undertaking research and development contracts for outside firms to develop special products within our sphere of technical and manufacturing expertise, and to retain the manufacturing rights to these new products."

Restaurant to open

GLASTONBURY — The new Roy Rogers restaurant will open its doors to the public today. Originally a Hardee's restaurant, the Roy Rogers unit is located at 2834 Main St.

Ever since the opening of the first restaurant in Washington, D.C., 11 years ago, Roy Rogers restaurants have been an East Coast success. Owned and operated by the Marriott Corp., there are 181 Roy Rogers units in seven Eastern states, with 18 new units planned for the Hartford area.

The restaurant will feature roast beef sandwiches, fried chicken and special-order hamburgers and cheeseburgers such as the new bacon-cheeseburger. Only fresh meat — no frozen patties — is used for all hamburgers and cheeseburgers.

United Technologies has new subsidiary

HARTFORD — United Technologies Corp. has established a subsidiary to produce high-quality, protective coatings for industrial use. The new company, United Technologies Metal Products, Inc., will be located in Boylston Beach, Fla.

The company will produce metallic and ceramic coatings made by a patented process called GATOR-GARD™, a technology originally developed by United Technologies Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group for aircraft engine applications.

GATOR-GARD coatings, which provide exceptional wear resistance, are already used on many parts of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft's military and commercial engines. In the past, these coatings have been applied at the company's Government Products Division in West Palm Beach, Fla.

United Technologies Metal Products Inc. will begin production of coatings in its new facility in October. The company will offer a complete coating service, including component preparation and finishing. In addition, the new subsidiary will explore other applications for GATOR-GARD coatings in the textile, petrochemical, automotive, pulp and paper industries.
