BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Iraqi forces thrust toward Tehran today and claimed the capture of the first town on the highway to the Iranian capital. Iranian warplanes attacked major Iraqi cities, including the vital oil centers of Mosul and Kirkuk.

An Iranian report said four Americans were captured by Iranian forces that routed Iraqi troops near Shalamshah, Iran. Earlier reports said four Americans were feared killed by Iranian airplanes that bombed the Iraqi port of Basra.

As the war escalated on land, sea and in the air, Iraq said Iranian forces were "fleeing, abandoning tanks" and equipment. But Iran said its forces were taking the offensive, giving up "their defensive posture and replying to aggression with aggression."

The Iranian air attacks, apparent retaliation for an Iraqi strike on Iran's mammoth Abadan oil refinery, indicated the two OPEC nations were seeking to cripple each other's all-important oil production facilities.

In a major Iranian strike on the Persian Gulf port of Basra Tuesday, 47 people were killed including at least half a dozen Westerners, perhaps four Americans among them. The U.S. State Department said only that an unknown number of Americans were missing. Casualty figures from the combat between the two Middle East nations suffered 13 casualties. But reports of aircraft losses mounted, climbing far above 100 in the three-day war. Iraq said it shot down 77 Iranian warplanes, but did not say when, and Iran said it downed 34 Soviet-made MiGs plus four missile boats but also did not say when.

In sea battles, Iraq reported it sank two Iranian frigates and seven sun-boats near Iraq's offshore oil terminal at the head of the Persian Gulf, close to Kuwait. "Most of their crews were drowned," the Iraqi report said.

In Abadan, where Iran's giant oil refinery came under Iraqi air attack, Iranian security forces issued a warning that Iraqi planes were dropping bombs disguised as toys and parcels.

U.N. asks ceasefire

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Meeting in a crisis atmosphere late into the night, the U.N. Security Council appealed to Iran and Iraq to agree to a cease-fire and settle their dispute through negotiations. Council President Taleb Slim of Tunisia, speaking for the 15-member body, said in a statement Tuesday that the fighting was a threat to international peace.

Slam said the Council was asking the two warring oil exporters, "as a first step towards a solution of the conflict, to desist from all armed activity and all acts that may worsen the present dangerous situation and to settle their dispute by peaceful means."

Whether the cease-fire appeal would be heeded was open to doubt. Shortly before the Council issued its appeal, Iraq Foreign Minister Dr. Saadoun Hammadi informed U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim that since the Iranians had totally flouted a five-year-old agreement on the disputed Shatt Al-Arab waterway and other territories, his government felt obliged to settle the issue by force.

The Shatt Al-Arab, he said, "shall again be as it had always been throughout history, an Iraqi river subject to the full control and sovereignty of Iraq."

Hammadi charged that Iran "has never ceased harming the good neighborly relations between the two countries by conducting acts of infiltration and sabotage, by instigating trouble and dissension, and by committing acts of plunder especially in the frontier areas."

Hammadi's note was the first major communication to the U.N. from one of the combatants in the Persian Gulf conflict.

Iran moves hostages

By United Press International
The fighting between Iran and Iraq forced Iranian militants to transfer the 52 American hostages to prevent any plot to free them and the parliament in Tehran declared an indefinite freeze on the debate to decide their fate, Tehran Radio said.

The broadcast Tuesday, monitored in Ankara, Turkey, warned the Iraqi invasion of Iran was part of a U.S. plot and it will have an "impact on the destiny of the hostages."

"We consider the Iraqi attacks to be part of a large U.S. plot," Ayatollah Hashemi Rafsanjani, the speaker of the Majlis (Iranian parliament), told a news conference in Tehran.

"These events will have their impact on the destiny of the hostages," said Rafsanjani.

Hospital may start to build

By MARTIN KEARNS
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — Some older buildings along Haynes Street will soon make way for new parking facilities and major construction should begin within six months.

The State Commission on Hospitals and Health Care Tuesday approved a final plan for a $26,255,000 construction and renovation project at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Although eight members of the hospital's project team came to the meeting equipped with briefcases packed with charts and data, the CHHC accepted a panel report with neither deliberation nor debate.

The approval, however, reduced the hospital's original request by $1.5 million, and deleted a proposed six bed addition to the facility.

Nautilus given Groton site

By LISA SHEPARD
Herald Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Action by key members of the House and Senate virtually assures that the U.S.S. Nautilus will be permanently berthed in Groton, where the historic 86-year-old submarine was built.

"I believe in putting the Nautilus back where it came from. Those people deserve it," said Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), a senior member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The conference between House and Senate Armed Services Committee members agreed to pay more than $1.9 million for site preparation, although the Navy estimates it will cost $1.3 million to berth the submarine in Groton. The difference, said the conferees, should be made up by the state of Connecticut.

The state has committed $500,000 and the Southeastern Connecticut Chamber of Commerce announced it would raise $250,000. The Connecticut Nautilus Committee, a non-profit organization, was formed to raise additional funds.

Buckland Common plan due

MANCHESTER — Developers of the proposed Buckland Commons residential and commercial complex will present preliminary site plans to town officials within four months.

Buckland Associates of Houston, Texas, which has been working on the project since 1973, will deliver its proposal to the town Planning Department. Preliminary plans include construction of a 750,000 square foot shopping mall, about the size of West Farms Mall in West Hartford. More than 2,300 single family homes and town house condominiums have also been proposed. The condominiums are expected to sell for about $100,000 each.

Construction could begin in two years but developers say the exact date will depend on the availability of mortgage money and the level of interest rates.

Buckland Associates holds an option on property for the development from the Hartmann Tobacco Co. of Hartford. The 200 acres in town is expected to sell for $2.5 million while another 800 acres in South Windsor will be purchased for a reported $1.7 million.

Manchester GOP backs school bond

By MARY KITZMANN

MANCHESTER — After opposing a single question to promote the renovations to Manchester High School, the GOP Town Committee pledged money to promote the question's passage.

Last night the committee voted to pledge $50 to the Friends of Education. This group will prepare an informational brochure, which will "generally support" approving the $5.5 million bonding request, according to Robert Heaviesides, town committee and renovation committee member.

Kahn blasts Reagan

BOSTON (UPI) — Alfred Kahn, top inflation adviser to President Carter, thinks Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan's proposal to cut taxes 30 percent over a three-year period is "irresponsible" because it would trigger rapid increases in prices.

Kahn, during a Tuesday trip to Boston sponsored by the Carter campaign, said anybody who believes Reagan's plan would cut taxes, keep prices down and still allow for defense spending increases "believes in fairy tales."

Any large tax cut concentrating on consumer items, he said, would be inflationary.

Kahn said the most beneficial cuts would be those designed to increase production and provide incentives for business expansion.

August consumer price figures released Tuesday showed inflation at an annual rate of 8.6 percent. Kahn said that rate was what he expected and was "encouraging" when compared to the 18.2 percent rate at the beginning of the year.

But he cautioned that restraints still are needed to keep the inflation rate down.

During a brief meeting with Gov. Edward J. King and members of the news media, Kahn said it was "terribly satisfying" to see how well Massachusetts has withstood the nationwide recession that appears to have bottomed out.

"It proves that with intelligent policy and the use of tax incentives progress can be made," he said. "To make the kind of turnaround Massachusetts has made in the past few years is phenomenal."

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 24, the 288th day of 1980 with 92 to follow.

The moon is full.

The morning stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra.

John Marshall, fourth chief justice of the United States, was born on Sept. 24, 1755.

On this date in history:

In 1955, President Dwight Eisenhower suffered a heart attack while vacationing in Colorado.

In 1959, President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev met at Camp David, Md.

In 1971, retired U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black died at the age of 85.

In 1978, Prime Minister Ian Smith accepted a plan for Rhodesia which called for an immediate biracial regime and black majority rule in two years.

In 1978, the Israeli Cabinet approved the Camp David agreements and voted to dismantle the Israeli settlements in the Sinai Peninsula.

awarded custody of his two daughters in a divorce action. Devine, who noted it had been a very emotional 15-day trial, said:

"The emotional circumstances of the trial, the substantial amount of the verdict which is not supported by the evidence on the record, and the attempts of counsel to inject his personal opinions into the argument, lead the court to reluctantly conclude that passion and prejudice on the part of the jurors infected and effected their award."

"Under the circumstances, the 'conscience of the court' is shocked and the verdict cannot stand," Devine said.

According to court records, after the divorce Kieffer's former wife joined the Unification Church and moved to its headquarters in Barrytown, N.Y. His eldest daughter, Jana, 17, joined her mother shortly thereafter.

Kieffer then sued the church alleging that it interfered with his legal custody of Jana.

Church officials testified during the trial that they did not know Kieffer had been awarded custody of his daughter. And Kieffer's former wife testified she could not remember informing church members of the custody situation.

In a 13-page decision, Devine said that Kieffer's attorney failed to show "ill will, hatred, hostility, or evil motive" on the part of the church.

Devine wrote that "prejudice may have infected the decision of the jury on liability as well as on damages and, in such circumstances, a complete new trial is required."

None at all ???

Roney Dangerfield's none never tire of the line. All he has to say is, "I don't get no respect," and they collapse in mirth — but there is no laughter in his genesis. Dangerfield, in a serious moment, tells ABC-TV's Sylvia Chase on the network's "60-90" news magazine, he suffered an unhappy childhood and started writing jokes at 15 — "not out of happiness, but perhaps to escape from reality." Says he, "The first joke I ever wrote was, 'I don't get no respect. When I was a kid I played hide and seek and they wouldn't even look for me.'"

Dangerfield says everyone feels that way once in a while — that, "a guy cuts you off in traffic, or a guy never shows up, or you feel you weren't treated properly... I said what I felt, I guess."

Centerfold gold

All that glitters really is gold for Isabella "Concetta" Ardigo. The 28-year-old Italian beauty will be crowned Penthouse magazine's "Pet of the Year" Sunday at New York's Lincoln Center Library and Museum. With the crown goes $300,000 in cash and prizes. Libertarian Party presidential candidate Ed Clark, who'll share the magazine's November issue with her centerfold, was asked what he thinks of a beauty queen getting more money than the president of the United States gets in salary. Said he — never missing a campaign beat — "If it's the present president, it's okay, because he isn't worth anything... Personally, I think the president's salary should be a gold watch — every four years."

Daughter dearest

John Derek can count four wives, but only one daughter and she's about to tell all. Sean Catherine Derek has been signed by Methuen, Inc., in New York to write a book about herself, her brother, Papa John, her mother, Patti Behrs, and her three step-mothers — Ursula Andrea, Linda Evans and Bo Derek. The 26-year-old budding author hasn't titled the book yet, and won't talk about it — saying only that it will be about the business of surviving "the Hollywood dream and the Hollywood nightmares and finding reality." She expects to publish next May.

Quote of the day

"Martian Chronicles" author Ray Bradbury, in the November issue of Omni magazine on mankind's first meeting with aliens he says will be spiritual kindred: "No matter how dreadful their maskings, their shapes, their seeming appearance, if Christ's spirit, or Buddha's or Mohammed's is injected them, we would sit and break bread with them, confident they were no more or no less than ourselves, knowing that dark and light exist in us all, with the will to murder put aside more often than exercised."

Glimpses

Natalie Cole will be national chairman of this year's "Great American Smokeout" on Nov. 20 when the American Cancer Society tries to get the public to kick the habit for 24 hours.

Russian ballet star Mikhail Messerer will make his first New York appearance since he defected in February when the Cincinnati Ballet makes an appearance Oct. 18 at the Brooklyn College's Center for the Performing Arts.

William Whitworth, associate editor in chief of New Yorker magazine, has been named editor in chief of Atlantic Monthly.

New York's Radio City Music Hall Monday sold a record 48,000 tickets in one day to "Deadheads" — a Grateful Dead fans call themselves — for an upcoming concert series by the rock group.

UConn marks 100th year

STORRS (UPI) — The University of Connecticut, a now sprawling university which began as a few buildings in a donated cow pasture, Monday night officially kicked off the celebration of its 100th anniversary.

The celebration of "Connecticut's Own University: The First 100 Years" began with a procession of university officials led by a convocation and choir to an evening convocation.

The celebration began with a call for state residents to live up to the mandate of the Connecticut Constitution which singles out UConn in a system "dedicated to excellence in higher education."

"It is my honor to declare the centennial celebration of the University of Connecticut is officially opened," said Andrew J. Canonetti, chairman of the UConn Board of Trustees.

"We must encourage the people of Connecticut to continue to demand and support the highest level of achievement and never let the university settle for less than the excellence mandated in the Connecticut Constitution," he said.

The university was founded in 1881 as the Storrs Agricultural School after the legislature accepted a gift of 170 acres of land, some buildings and $5,000 in cash from Charles and Augustus Storrs of Mansfield.

The school has grown in its first century to include dozens of buildings, five undergraduate branch campuses as well as law, medical, dental and social work schools in other parts of the state.

Albert Waugh, the school's emeritus provost and vice president for academic affairs, joked that recounting the school's history in 20 minutes was like "reading Playboy magazine with your wife turning the pages."

Waugh also told the crowd of about 1,000 people about the school's early years as an agricultural school and "it's growth into the University of Connecticut in 1932."

"I know a man who graduated from this school without going to high school," he said. "It took him three years after he graduated Storrs Agricultural School to graduate from

Peace, war choice

By United Press International

"Whether we have peace or war" — said President Carter is the choice facing Americans at the polls in November, and his words lit a firestorm of criticism that is still burning.

"Ronald Reagan reacted bitterly Tuesday, calling Carter's remarks of the day before 'beneath decency — unforgivable... inconceivable.' His running mate, George Bush, echoed his outrage.

Press secretary Jody Powell said Carter had made an overstatement. Carter told a television interviewer in California, "in eight or 10 different instances in recent years he (Reagan) has called for the use of American military force to address problems... between nations."

Powell gave reporters this list of Reagan proposals:

"A suggestion in January that the United States respond to the Afghan invasion by a naval blockade of Cuba.

"A 1976 suggestion that the United States send a destroyer during a tuna-boat dispute with Ecuador.

GOP challenger's bid knocks Cotter's record

MANCHESTER — The reason Marge Anderson seeks Rep. William Cotter's seat in the First Congressional District is simple. The Republican says Cotter isn't doing his job.

"He's not representing the people," she charges. "He's lost touch and only represents a part, not all, of the district."

In her campaign in Manchester, Mrs. Anderson "found it shocking that people did not even know who their representative was. The people need better contact."

While stressing Cotter's lack of voter contact, Mrs. Anderson acknowledges her Democratic opponent will be difficult to beat. "He has strong party support, as he came up through the ranks."

And if Cotter, U.S. Representative for 10 years, has an identity problem, Mrs. Anderson's is worse. The question most often asked about the First Congressional race is "who's Marge Anderson?"

"The lack of recognition appears to be her primary campaign hindrance. It is caused by several factors. She announced late for the race, making her candidacy official in June. She also has never held elective office, and is a relative newcomer in party politics. Most of her governmental knowledge stems from volunteer work and through the League of Women Voters. Rather than coming up through the Republican party ranks, although leaders urged her to run, she gained recognition as league president the past two years.

On her resume she includes membership of the Connecticut Public Expenditures Council, and being one of six delegates to the White House Conference on Balanced Growth. Mrs. Anderson, executive director of the World Affairs Center in Hartford, says she has directed in-depth studies of energy, tax reform, housing, and welfare.

She is counting on the women's vote, as she is the only woman seeking congressional office, for a strong showing besides "getting the vote out."

Although supporting Ronald Reagan's candidacy for president, she cannot support his platform on abortion and the Equal Rights Amendment.

"I can't share these points," Mrs. Anderson says. She supports the ERA amendment, and says abortion "is not a state issue, but one of personal choice. The GOP platform did not endorse ERA and opposes abortion rights."

"But I don't believe any candidate can totally support a party platform. There are always issues one doesn't agree with."

Mrs. Anderson says her campaign will focus on issues the people bring to her, specifically inflation and unemployment. "I think the words tax credits and incentives are my favorites right now," she said.

She would stimulate, and build, the private enterprise system to cure the economy through these measures. "It's essential to get new business going," she said.

And like most candidates this election season, she calls for spending cuts to balance the federal budget, something she firmly believes must be accomplished.

Asked to reconcile how she would stimulate business with spending programs, and cutback simultaneously, Mrs. Anderson says the answer lies in congressional discipline.

"The representatives have to learn to pick their priorities. Increasing productivity has a higher priority than other items," she said. The areas she envisions cutbacks includes the food stamp program, the Comprehensive Training and Employment Act, and highway development, and water works projects.

"The primary thing is to put people to work and increase productivity," Mrs. Anderson said. She criticizes Cotter's "free and easy spending patterns" and for "voting with the president 72 percent of the time."

The key to stimulating business, besides tax measures, is balancing the concerns of the environmentalists, and the regulatory agencies. "We're wasting a lot of time and energy on nonproductive regulations," she said. "I'm not for accidents or owners getting away with things, but there has to be a balance."

The same balance must be applied to the environment, "Connecticut already has poor quality air that harms some people," she said. "We have to be careful. We can't go back to coal for energy."

Calling for a "meeting of the minds" on reconciling environmentalists to business leaders, she wants both sides to "learn to live with it, and put up with a few things on either side."

She supports using nuclear power, and the completion of Millstone III. "I think most people are resigned to the fact that we must use nuclear power at this point," she said. But she advocates development of solar and wind power to decrease dependence on nuclear reactors. "I don't think there's a difference between advocating nuclear power as a temporary measure or as a permanent solution. We have to use nuclear power, provided there are safeguards."

On federal control over local governments, Mrs. Anderson favors local grants "so local citizens can decide how the money is spent." Asked whether those grants should be contingent upon meeting requirements, she replied again there should be a balance. "Some should be available for every community, and some should be contingent upon when communities apply for the funds."

However, those she noted there's a limit to the obligations imposed when asked whether the federal government should be allowed to restructure demography communities through them. "If any government has that much control over all of us it has too much. The inner cities should be helped by building new business."

TB tests scheduled for Laotians in town

MANCHESTER — Health officials will conduct skin tests for tuberculosis for Laotian refugees in town, Dr. Alice Turek, town health director, said Tuesday.

Dr. Turek told other members of the Advisory Board of Health chest X-rays given to Indo-Chinese refugees does not detect the disease in all cases.

The Center for Disease Control, Atlanta, Ga. has recommended skin testing for all refugee children entering community school systems.

The CDC examines all refugees before they enter the country, identifying cases of active tuberculosis. Once in the country, state and local health departments are responsible for continued treatment of noncontagious active tuberculosis.

Turek said persons under the age of 35 who react positively to the test will be treated for the disease. Those over 35 often have adverse reactions to the medication, which is used in treatment.

The CDC has also notified local departments of a high rate of hepatitis B among Indo-Chinese refugees. The Health Department will also check the reports.

Irene Smith, chairwoman of the advisory board, told members of William Evans' successful efforts to establish a half-way house for recovering alcoholics in the area. Evans is a human services counselor at Manchester Memorial Hospital, and his advisory board had supported his efforts.

Evans has secured a house in Glastonbury for a reported $100,000 over a 16 year period. Services will be available to Manchester residents.

The house will treat about 12 persons for a period of three months each. Called Evans House Corp., the agency is funded privately.

Moriarty named treasurer for Jackson campaign

MANCHESTER — Former Mayor Matthew Moriarty Jr., has been appointed as campaign treasurer for Phyllis Jackson, Democratic candidate for the 13th Assembly District.

Mrs. Jackson is running against Republican Elsie Swanson for the seat held by retiring Rep. Francis Mahoney.

Moriarty has been active in several campaigns and on the Democratic Town Committee since leaving office. Named as deputy treasurer is David Garavanta, of Meadow Lane.

Moriarty lives on Hillcrest Road.

Mrs. Janet Duley, a Vernon resident, who isn't known for seeing eye-to-eye very often with school board members, did agree with one of them at Monday night's meeting. "Don't faint Bob (Schwartz), but I happen to agree with you," she said. To which Schwartz answered, "I won't change my opinion." With improvements to the former Bolton Lakehouse being made (including a complete new septic system) many people are wondering who the new tenants will be. The facility was last used as

Mr. P's Cabaret. George Negro, one of the owners, had a suggestion. "I'd like to see the town buy it. They could use it as a yacht club." With a theme of unity, it matters not to the Manchester GOP Town Committee campaign coordinators how long they've known a candidate. The coordinator for Robert Silis, seeking the 14th Assembly District seat, is Gordon Taggart. "Do the rest of you know him," he said, showing a picture. "He's a very nice man, I've known him three weeks." Manchester High School Principal Jacob Ludes is today becoming a property owner in The City of Village Charm. After two years of renting his residence, he was finally able to sell the property he had owned in New York, enabling him to purchase a home here. Ludes was employed as the assistant principal at a high school in Fredonia, N.Y. before coming to MHS two years ago. Says he, "Today we move to an undisclosed location in Manchester, after two years of renting. Right now, I can't even find two matching socks - everything is packed away."

Obituaries

Harold A. Turkington, former five-term mayor

MANCHESTER — Harold A. Turkington, whose careers in Manchester business, political and the cultural life of the community spanned more than a half century, died Tuesday at the age of 78 in a local convalescent home. He was virtually undisputed leader of the Republican party for many years and earned the respect of Democrats for his contributions to the town.

Harold A. Turkington, former five-term mayor of Manchester, died Tuesday at the age of 78 in a local convalescent home.

He was regarded by the opposition as an astute politician, but his major contribution as chairman of the Board of Directors came in his capacity to promote unity and achieve compromise. Mr. Turkington spent more than three decades in Manchester politics, serving five full terms as mayor. He spent a lifetime in Main Street business as a furniture salesman beginning and ending his career with Watkins Brothers. He also worked at Keith's Furniture Store and at Kemp's, both now out of business. Mr. Turkington was also well-known for his work in music. He composed several pieces of vocal and instrumental music still used by the Salvation Army. He was once bandmaster of the Salvation Army band and was a cornet soloist. He wrote the alma mater for Manchester High School and composed marches for Manchester's centennial and sesquicentennial celebrations.

Mr. Turkington was also active in Masonry and was a member of both Manchester and Friendship Lodge of Odd Fellows in Manchester, of Omar Shrines Club, of Washington Consistory, Knights Templar, Sphinx Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., and Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

In his later years, Mr. Turkington was the recipient of many commendatory homages, chief among them the Chamber "M" award which he was awarded in 1976. He remained active in business until his retirement three years ago from Watkins Brothers where he began as a young man, choosing Watkins over the Savings Bank of Manchester because Watkins offered him 50 cents more a week. $12.50. That was in 1920. He entered politics in 1946 because while he was on vacation, someone filed a nomination petition for him. That launched him on career in

Dancing to continue at cafe

By MARTIN KEARNS Herald Reporter

HARTFORD — The state Liquor Control Commission will allow new owners of the Brass Hammer Cafe to continue to feature exotic dancing. The commission Tuesday received a written request for live entertainment from the cafe's permittee, Rhonda Foster. The application was approved later in the day.

Gil Tarkany, the commission's supervisor of inspections, said yesterday the approval was effective immediately. The cafe will be allowed to feature a dancing format seven days a week, he said.

Residents in the Charter Oak area had protested the cafe's sale to Foster, saying she would continue the exotic dancing format. They claim the dancing threatens neighborhood quality. Thomas Poplawski, chief inspector for the commission, had said last week that entertainment applications are normally processed in two weeks time. He also said a hearing could be scheduled if commissioners felt the entertainment would create a nuisance.

But Tarkany said the commission assumes the innocence of applicants until otherwise shown. The commission is staffed by 15 inspectors and her financial backers Dwight Scherban and John Marin, said that contrary to reports published in area newspapers, his clients had never promised to curtail dancing at the cafe. He called such reports a series of misquotations.

Hersh said his clients had only promised liquor commissioners they would do nothing illegal. Scherban, speaking for the new owners, told a panel of hearing commissioners Sept. 11 he would consider limiting the dancing if it proved financially feasible.

The owners are still planning to explore a limited format, Hersh said. He called the dancing an expensive investment, adding that his clients would prefer to do as little as possible to make as much as possible. The owners will begin patrolling the cafe's rear parking lot, Hersh said. Residents had included this among a series of requests they said would improve safety in the neighborhood.

Entertainment applications must be presented to the commission in writing; they must explain the type of entertainment to be offered, as well as where it will take place. Foster received permission to feature go-go girls, Tarkany said. Dennis Hersh, attorney for Foster controversy which has embroiled the education system since June. Parents have charged humanistic education is a secular religion which is creeping into the classroom and they want the schools to stick to the basics. Educators have maintained they operate all the schools' programs openly, and in a religiously neutral manner.

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, a parent who has been in the forefront of the effort to oust humanistic education from the schools called for the tape's release. Peter Clapp had asked for the tape, the name of the teacher who made it, and the training the teacher received to make it, saying he wanted to be sure his child didn't get involved with it at all.

Teaching tape released

MANCHESTER — Superintendent of Schools James Kennedy said today the tape which has been removed from the school to which it was released to a parent who has asked to hear it.

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, a parent who has been in the forefront of the effort to oust humanistic education from the schools called for the tape's release. Peter Clapp had asked for the tape, the name of the teacher who made it, and the training the teacher received to make it, saying he wanted to be sure his child didn't get involved with it at all.

Kennedy said Clapp would be able to listen to the tape, because not letting him listen to it would be insinuating that there was something "sinister" about it. He said letting Clapp hear the tape is consistent with the administration policy of being open with parents about everything in the schools.

Kennedy added the tape belongs to the teacher, and the teacher has agreed to cooperate by releasing the tape. The teacher used a tape twice in June at Bowers Elementary School to relax students. While the teacher's intent was innocent, Kennedy said after hearing parental concern that the tape's effect could be hypnotic, the teacher and principal saw the tape in a different light. At that time, all agreed to remove the tape. The tape encourages children to fantasize about walking along the beach and staring into a candle.

But Kennedy said Clapp's other requests will not be honored. "The name and background of the particular teacher I don't see as something I'm willing to respond to," Kennedy said. The disclosure of the identity of the teacher "goes beyond what Clapp has got a right to expect," Kennedy said.

The tape is one instance in a larger controversy which has embroiled the education system since June. Parents have charged humanistic education is a secular religion which is creeping into the classroom and they want the schools to stick to the basics. Educators have maintained they operate all the schools' programs openly, and in a religiously neutral manner.

At that time, all agreed to remove the tape. The tape encourages children to fantasize about walking along the beach and staring into a candle.

Buckley tailors campaign to town

MANCHESTER — Buckley was wrong and James Buckley offers a campaign push customized for Manchester.

Buckley, running against Christopher Dodd for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Abraham Ribicoff, plays on the town's aversion to the federal Community Development Block Grant, and its requirements.

Although the ad is given to newspapers and broadcast stations statewide, a Buckley campaigner said last night at the Republican Town Committee meeting, it was "especially aimed" at Manchester.

The ad claims Dodd provided the one-vote margin which passed the Fair Housing Bill giving the federal Housing and Urban Development department control over local housing zoning and land-use decisions in cases of alleged housing discriminations.

Dodd today claimed completely false, intentionally inflammatory and contrary to the public legislative record," he said.

The fact is my vote was one of those that ensured the single vote margin that passed an amendment specifically prohibiting HUD from making decisions on local zoning and land use," Dodd said.

He said he first heard the ad two days ago and had been researching the Fair Housing Act since then. Dodd said the federal Elections Commission had no jurisdiction over campaign advertising and he had no recourse except to ask Buckley to stop using the ad.

"This ad is factually wrong. It reflects a total ignorance of federal law and a lack of familiarity with Connecticut. I demand an immediate withdrawal of the ad," he said.

After the town withdrew in April of 1979 from the HUD Community Development program, three low-income residents filed suit in U.S. District Court claiming it was a discriminatory measure. Many citizens who supported the two-year moratorium which ends January of 1981 claim the withdrawal was an effort to free Manchester from federal constraints.

What Nick Poliss Buckley field representative for the First Congressional District, calls a "very dynamic ad" has Buckley calling Dodd's vote "incredible."

Poliss commented Dodd might as well be credited with providing the key vote in the 205-204 House of Representatives passage of the measure. The vote was taken about a week ago, according to Poliss. "We're going to play this to the hilt," he said. I think this is one issue we're not going to let Chris Dodd off the hook."

Poliss commented on the Republican National Committee's high priority in assuring Buckley's election. He said the race was rated number three in elections.

He said Buckley plans on bringing in a number of big political names to help including, Gerald Ford, Howard Baker, Jack Kemp, and Ann Armstrong.

Under the bill used in the Buckley ads, HUD could bring action against an individual or a community without having to prove any discrimination was intended, according to the Buckley release.

No more information on the ad could be obtained this morning from Buckley campaigners.

Dodd was in a press conference and unable to comment when contacted.

Japanese imports

Ford Motor Company Monday took a step toward increasing exports of U.S.-built automobiles with a shipment of 123 Ford and Lincoln Mercury cars destined for Japan. The 1981 cars — including 26 front-wheel drive Ford Escorts — were loaded aboard the RO-

Glastonbury rec department announces open gym sessions

GLASTONBURY — The Parks and Recreation Department has announced its schedule for open gym sessions at Glastonbury High School. The sessions began Sept. 15 and will continue on each Monday until April 15. Table tennis, volleyball, badminton, basketball, jogging and other activities are available.

There are recreation activities each Thursday at St. Paul's Church for any interested senior citizens. From 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., square dance lessons are given for all levels of dancing. New members are welcome and encouraged to attend. Hot lunches are served at 11:45 a.m. followed by bingo, pokeno and cards. Reservations for hot lunch must be made before noon Wednesday by calling 633-5231, extension 350. Open gym sessions will be offered starting Sept. 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. at Naubuc School in the old cafeteria. Classes will continue for 10 weeks through Nov. 26. Interested persons may register at the Parks and Recreation Department. The fee is $10 per person. Participants are asked to bring a mat or blanket and wear leotards or loose, comfortable clothing. Men's volleyball has started at Hebron Avenue School from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. each Tuesday. Any interested men ages 18 and over may attend. Persons must be out of high school. No fee is required. Coed adult volleyball will be held the second Friday of every month starting in October at Hebron Avenue School from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Interested men and women ages 18 and over are invited. Persons still in high school cannot participate. There is no fee. Winter Camp Sunrise for handicapped youngsters will be held Saturday mornings starting Oct. 11 from 9 a.m. to noon at the West Hill School in Rocky Hill. The camp is for handicapped youngsters ages 3 to 21 years old from Rocky Hill, Wethersfield and Glastonbury. Adult exercise classes will be held every Monday and Thursday starting Oct. 6 from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Gideon Welles Junior High School gym. Classes will continue for 10 weeks for a cost of $3.50 per person. Interested persons may register at the Parks and Recreation Department and the tuition fee is $60 for 30 weeks. The Teen-Drop-In Center is open every Thursday and Friday from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. for youths ages 13 to 19 years old. The center is located at Naubuc School in the old cafeteria and offers ping pong, air hockey, cards and more at no cost. The program is designed to provide handicapped children with opportunities to learn and grow through recreational activities based on individual needs and abilities. Applications may be obtained from the Parks and Recreation Department and the tuition fee is $60 for 30 weeks.

SMILING SERVICE

Reagan chiseling away workers' support of Carter

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Preaching the gospel of jobs, Republican Ronald Reagan has chiseled into President Carter's support among blue collar Democrats in a strong bid to capture industrial Pennsylvania, party and labor officials say. But the GOP is concerned that many liberal Republicans, especially those on Philadelphia's fashionable Main Line, may desert to independent John Anderson and give the race to the Democrats.

The latest polls indicate the race is dead even, although registered Democratic voters outnumber Republicans by 700,000. "Pennsylvania is a classic swing state," said Republican Gov. Dick Thornburgh. "If there was a bellwether in 1976, it was Pennsylvania, a state of 11 million people, where the results perfectly reflected the two point margin of Carter's victory nationwide. Daniel Horgan, Carter's campaign manager in Pennsylvania, said he's running a street-wise operation to secure the state's 27 electoral votes.

product of the Eastern Establishment. Well, the Main Line is the Eastern Establishment," said Faith Ryan Whittney, a political leader from suburban Havertown. In Pennsylvania, polls show Anderson taking away as many votes from Reagan as Carter in the GOP-rich Philadelphia suburbs. And anguishing to both parties is the high number of undecided voters in the state — ranging from 20 percent upward depending on the poll. Jane Fowler, Anderson's campaign manager here, said the large undecided vote, combined with the fact neither Carter nor Reagan won the state's primary give the Illinois congressman a chance in Pennsylvania. However, Mayor William Green Jr. of Philadelphia, the state's leading Kennedy supporter, is leading the dissidents into line behind the president. And Reagan has picked up the enthusiastic support of the relatively liberal Thornburgh, a very popular political figure in the state, in hopes of keeping the liberal Republicans in the party. In another major election, Democrats have a good chance of recapturing a Democratic seat in the United States Senate. Former Pittsburgh Mayor Pete Flaherty is leading the GOP's Arlen Specter, ex-district attorney in Philadelphia, in the race to succeed retiring Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.

News for Senior Citizens

Firefighters help with center painting project

By WALLY FORTIN
Hi! We just received some super good news. I've been asking for some volunteers to help paint the outside trim of our center and although I haven't received but just a few takers among our seniors, however, I did receive word from our own Dr. Eleanor Gowen on hand to explain about the courses available for you folks during the day at the High School.

We have a request for volunteers by the Human Services Department, who would be willing to share an hour or two visiting some of the elderly who for various reasons are confined to their home or apartment. Anyone interested may receive more information by calling 647-2096 and ask for Gloria McIntosh.

The Men's Golf League will be holding its annual Golf Banquet at the Army and Navy Club on Thursday, Oct. 10 starting at 7:00 p.m. Roast beef will be the menu. Also any non-league members including ladies and the wives of league members are welcome to attend for the fee of $7.50. All interested parties may contact Joe at the center.

Also, any people interested in signing up for the Dart League coming up in October are urged to sign up here at the center. There will be 3 categories: Men, Women and Mixed League. Day and time will be announced later.

Last Friday afternoon, the winners of our seaback games were: Oscar Capuccio, 133; Azilda Gilbertson, 132; Helen Silver, 132; John Klein, 132; John Gally, 126; Arthur Bouffard, 124; Archie Houghtaling, 124; Andy Noske, 122; Susan Horvath, 121; Bill Stone, 121.

On Monday afternoon despite the unexpected extra warm weather, we had 56 players for our pinocle games and the following winners: Andy Noske, 805; Jennie Fogar-ty, 799; Mina Reuther, 789; Helen Gavelle, 765; Elise Lenhardt, 760; Bert Turner, 749; John Gally, 747; Annette Hillary, 742; Mike DeSimone, 738; Violet Dion, 736; Ruth Search, 722; Betty Turner, 711; Ada Rojas, 703; Gladys Seelert, 728.

In the process of becoming an American commonwealth are the Marianas Islands which in 1947 had been part of the Pacific Islands, assigned to U.S. administration by the United Nations. The northern Marianas comprise all the Marianas except Guam, stretching north-south a 508-mile arc of tropical islands east of the Philippines and southeast of Japan.

Strategic studies group has world's ears

LONDON (UPI) — Twice a year the small, select and secretive world of strategic studies focuses on a renovated red-brick building sandwiched among the gaudy theaters of London's West End. No guard stands at its door. No closed-circuit cameras hang from its pale-grey institutional walls. Only 25 people work there full time.

This is the home of the International Institute of Strategic Studies, recognized as an authoritative, independent clearing house of military facts avidly read in ministries the world over — East or West, African, Asian, Arab or Israeli.

The 22-year-old IIS has just published its 21st edition of "The Military Balance," regarded as something of an oracle on the subject of who owns what for waging war, a common denominator that provides diplomats of all sides a starting point for negotiation. Early next year it will publish "The Strategic Survey," a review of what has happened to the world militarily and what it all means.

Together these two publications go a long way in setting the agenda of debate in think tanks and universities, cabinets and parliaments. Interviews with diplomats from Western and non-Western countries failed to turn up much criticism of the institute and all agreed its figures were fairly accurate.

For a bargain $11 a copy, "The Military Balance" provides 137 pages listing the number of soldiers, warplanes, tanks, ships and guns owned by 138 countries.

"Anyone with access to a good university library and a lot of time could probably gather about 95 percent of the information in 'The Military Balance,'" said Col. Jonathan Alford, 46, deputy director of the IIS and a former instructor at Sandhurst, the British army's West Point.

But with blue eyes twinkling beneath bushy eyebrows, Alford concedes it's the other 5 percent that makes the IIS unique.

"Each spring, for every country on the list, we make a draft entry of what we believe to be the facts and send it to every government and say, 'This is what we intend to put in next year. Would you care to comment?'"

Region Summer school situation still a subject of talk

VERNON — Because some summer school classes had to be cancelled in Vernon due to the fact there weren't enough students enrolled to make it self-supporting, some students attended summer classes in Manchester and some received private tutoring.

The Board of Education, when finding it necessary to make cuts in its budget, voted to charge fees for summer school for the first time this past summer.

Some board members, who voted against this action, expressed displeasure when they found out in July that some of the classes were cancelled without consulting the board. This included the entire summer school program at the Middle School.

Teachers appoint task force

HARTFORD — The Connecticut Education Association (CEA) today announced the appointment of a special task force of teachers to develop a kit of instructional materials for use by teachers in Connecticut in dealing constructively with the issues raised by Ku Klux Klan activities.

CEA president Robert Chase said the CEA Board of Directors, at its meeting Sept. 19, voted unanimously to deplore the resurgence of KKK activity and propaganda in Connecticut and called such activity as contrary to the most fundamental principles and ideals of our democratic society, and of the policies of the CEA.

The task force will be composed of teacher members of the CEA Human Relations Commission and the Instruction and Professional Development Commission, according to Chase.

Chorus will resume

SOUTH WINDSOR — The South Windsor Recreation Department announces that the Community Chorus has resumed activities for fall and will meet each Monday at the Timothy Edwards School music room.

Anyone interested in joining the chorus is invited to come to a meeting. There are no auditions and high school students are invited as well as adults.

Community Chorus rehearsals are held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. each Monday night. Daniel Woolwich, chairman of the Board of Education, appointed two members of the board, John Worthen and Devra Baum, to be the board representatives on this committee.

Class size slated for study

VERNON — A clause in the new contract signed with teachers in the Vernon school system, calls for the creation of a Class Size Study Committee.

Monday night, Daniel Woolwich, chairman of the Board of Education, appointed two members of the board, John Worthen and Devra Baum, to be the board representatives on this committee.

The Vernon Education Association will also appoint two of its members to serve.

Open dance SOUTH WINDSOR

The South Windsor Square Dance Club will hold an open dance for all club-level dancers Friday, with Cliff Brodeur calling the squares and Russ and Anita White cueing the round dances. It will be held at the Orchard Hill School, 350 Foster St. from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and the admission charge will be $4 per couple.

The Vernon Education Association will also appoint two of its members to serve.

Garden Club SOUTH WINDSOR

The South Windsor Gardener's Exchange Club will hold its September meeting tonight at St. Peter's Church, Sand Hill Road at 7:30 p.m.

A speaker from Woodland Gardens Nursery in Manchester will discuss organic gardening and include alternatives to pesticides in your garden. Members and visitors are welcome to attend this meeting.

The Vernon Education Association will also appoint two of its members to serve.

Book sale SOUTH WINDSOR

The Friends of the South Windsor Public Library will hold a bargain book sale and tag sale Saturday, Sept. 27 and Sunday, Sept. 28, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the proceeds from the sale will benefit the South Windsor Public Library.

Any donations may be dropped off at 169 Avery St. or call the library at 644-1541.

The Vernon Education Association will also appoint two of its members to serve.

Bolton bans trucks on Williams Road

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

BOLTON — All commercial trucks will be banned from using Williams Road as soon as signs designating such action can be made and installed.

The Board of Selectmen took the action at a special meeting Tuesday as well as deciding to study whether or not buses will be allowed to use the road. Road improvements will also be made.

The actions came after Williams Road residents complained about traffic conditions on the road, saying they have worsened since the crossover at the Notch was eliminated and their street is being used as a shortcut.

First Selectman Henry Ryba said the biggest concern the residents had was truck and bus traffic. The board, however, was unable to reach an agreement about the buses and decided to have Ryba research the situation for action at a future meeting.

Selectman Aloysius Ahearn would not compromise his position that buses not be allowed to use the road. Selectman John Carey has suggested buses enroute to Hartford with passengers be allowed to use the road but buses coming from Hartford be banned from using the road.

Signs saying "No Thru Trucks" will be posted. Police will monitor the road for use by trucks and the speed of all vehicles.

Ryba said, "If everyone would observe the speed limit of 25 miles per hour, there shouldn't be any problems. If they don't, they are in violation of the law and can be arrested."

The problem of puddling and icing on the road can be solved and, according to Ryba, will be given top priority by the local road crew.

A dip in the road, of concern to everyone, will need an engineering study to be corrected. Ryba said, "It's a big project, a project and a half."

The town will also get a cost estimate on having the boundaries of the road surveyed and markers installed planning for the possibility of widening the road.

A speed limit sign will also be replaced. Hartford Electric Light Company will be asked to replace the sign that was damaged when oil from a transformer fire leaked onto it, making it impossible to read.

Region

Two masked residents of Bolton pose by a stop sign decorated by a "creature" created out of several objects and over an extended period of time. (Herald photo by Holland)

Vegetables make sign of fall

BOLTON — Would you believe the above pictured creation began its life as a tomato? The two masked residents of Bolton pose by a stop sign at the end of the road and a banana peel on the no outlet sign at the beginning of the road.

Logically one would ask why it was done. The masked residents answered, "Because we didn't have anyone else to put them."

The tomato, however, is only the beginning of the stop sign when a later, other unknown persons apparently deciding to improve the situation, put a squash with a face drawn on it on the stop sign. So the two masked residents retaliated by putting antlers on the squash.

The story continues with someone writing "Happy Birthday Phyllis" and putting a straw hat and a beard of cotton on the squash before its life ended.

And then a new, fresh squash was put on the no outlet sign and transferred to the stop sign when a face was drawn on it.

Late one night, not to be outdone, the two masked residents borrowed a pair of pantsy hose and using the pair for legs, created the "whatever." It was finished with a garter, cigarette and bandana.

The two masked residents will remain unknown out of respect for their request for anonymity and to save their families embarrassment.

Cheney clarifies statement on Bolton school roof

BOLTON — A statement made by Joseph Haloburdo, Board of Education chairman, at Monday's Town Meeting led to a clarification statement by Douglas Cheney, Public Building Commission member.

While discussing the new roof for Bolton Elementary School, Haloburdo said the school board has sought a new roof for two years and the recommendation of the consultant hired by the building commission

BOLTON — The Advisory Council to School Supt. Raymond Allen is now examining a form that will be used by teachers when submitting proposals for various endeavors.

Allen said once the form is approved, hopefully within the next two weeks, it will be put in operation and teachers can apply for funds for such things as "additional materials, guest speakers or anything they would like to try but don't have the money for."

The Board of Education included in its 1980-81 budget $2,000 for minor grant programs.

The Advisory Council will decide which proposals are worthy of being approved and funded.

Allen said if a teacher worked the school system goals and objectives into his or her proposal, it could be a plus for consideration.

BOLTON — Bids for a new engine tank for the Bolton Volunteer Fire Department are now being advertised and will be accepted until Sept. 30.

The new engine tank will replace a 1964 tank that has been plagued with problems for many years and, because of its age, parts are no longer easily obtainable.

The Board of Fire Commissioners will have a special meeting Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. at the firehouse to open the bids after which they will be turned over to the fire department's Truck Committee.

The commissioners will have a special meeting on Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. to receive the committee's recommendation.

He said the commission also felt it had to investigate the new type of roofing (plastic) when it came to their attention or it would be remiss.

The Town Meeting approved a new roof for the school and John Sambogna and he (the consultant) refused to consider even looking at the new plastic-type roofing.

The commission wanted to investigate a tapered roof because of problems with the flat roof since the school was built.

Computer panel meets

VERNON — The Board of Education Computer Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 at the school administration building, School Street.

One of the items to be discussed will be the making up of a bid.

The question about the makeup of the committee was raised at Monday night's meeting of the board when it was noted that some members, due to their affiliation with computer concerns, may have conflicts.

The Board of Education, and the town, are in the process of leasing a new computer system which will be housed in the school administration building. The committee is on its second go-round with drawing up a request for proposal (RFP) for a system.

It was noted at the board meeting that one committee member works for a computer firm but that his company would not be submitting a bid.

It was also mentioned that there are more serious problems in that one person who works for a firm which will be bidding has been sitting in on the meetings but isn't a member of the committee.

Robert Schwartz, committee chairman, said he felt it was unfair for that person to sit in and listen to the committee evaluate other computer firms. He said he would like the board to say that when the committee starts its evaluation process that the meeting will be restricted.

Board member Harold Cummings, who is also an attorney, said he felt any of those people involved with computer firms should be excluded from any voting concerning bids beyond that the committee has to work under the FOI act.

Schwartz said he wasn't sure that the committee falls under the FOI act and said maybe the committee should seek an opinion from the town attorney.

Schwartz admitted that he himself may have a conflict because his wife works for a computer service firm.

South Windsor names director

SOUTH WINDSOR — Jean Zurbrigen, of Autumn Drive, has been chosen from a field of more than 40 candidates for the position of town human resources director.

Town Manager Richard Sartor announced the appointment Tuesday. She will begin her duties Oct. 6 and her annual salary will be $20,000.

Mrs. Zurbrigen received a bachelor's degree from the University of Durham, England and a master's degree in human services administration from Antioch University.

She will be responsible for the town's human services programs and will work directly with the Youth Advisory Board, the Community Services Council and the senior citizens, Sartor said.

Mrs. Zurbrigen is currently the administrator of the Delinquency Prevention Program in the Youth Services Department of Manchester.

Prior to working in that position, she held two other posts in Manchester.

Mrs. Zurbrigen was the coordinator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration project for deinstitutionalization of status offenders. She also served as a department head for the Manchester Board of Education.

Mrs. Zurbrigen will take her new position just when recommendations to remedy a dispute between the South Windsor Community Service Council and its Child Care Board will be worked out. Mrs. Zurbrigen was the chairman of the Child Care Board and appeared during the panel discussions.

The panel said both groups agreed to the solutions and that a new spirit of cooperation exists between them.

Glaser hospitalized

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paul Michael Glaser, who played Starkey on the popular "Starkey and Hutch" television show, has been airlifted from his campsite in Wyoming to a hospital for treatment of severe stomach pains, a spokesman for the actor reported.

Glaser reportedly became ill during a snowstorm and hadn't eaten for four days before he collapsed during a fishing trip at Bridger Lake near Yellowstone National Park, the spokesman said Tuesday.

Enjoy Bountiful Fall Favorites

To salute the arrival of autumn, gather family and friends to enjoy the fabulous foods of a Porkfest celebration. This table festival pays tribute to the season's harvest with a bountiful spread that traditionally includes a succulent pork entree accompanied by other fall favorites.

Since the American Porkfest was inspired by the German "Oktoberfest," it is fitting to adapt hearty and wholesome Old World specialties for the feast. Famous German sauerbraten becomes Porkfest fare when made with a boneless pork shoulder blade Boston roast. Because of plentiful pork supplies, this meaty, full-flavored roast is especially attractive in price this fall.

Easy Pork Sauerbraten calls for the meat to be leisurely marinated, then slowly cooked in a sweet-sour mixture that's seasoned to perfection with convenient onion-mushroom soup mix. Delicious with the tender pork and flavorful gravy will be Bean Pancakes, a cousin to German potato pancakes. Crisp and golden on the outside, moist and tender on the inside, these pancakes are made with cooked and mashed navy or great northern beans.

For a perfect accompaniment to the pork and pancakes, serve a loaf of Onion Dark Rye Bread. The distinct onion flavor of this marvelous homemade bread is easily achieved with onion soup mix.

To keep interest high in economy meals throughout the fall, plan to team pork with beans in other nutritious and budget-stretching menus. Hearty Ribs and Bean Bake features meaty country style ribs cooked with a savory combination of great northern beans, red kidney beans, celery slices and pepper strips that are expertly flavored with easy-to-use onion soup mix. For another satisfying menu, serve braised or braised pork chops with an unusual side dish — Bean and Cabbage Salad, a tangy combination of canned beans and cabbage, garnished with pieces of crisp bacon.

Easy Pork Sauerbraten

- 4 1/2-lb. boneless pork shoulder blade Boston roast
- 2 envelopes Lipton Onion-Mushroom Soup Mix
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup rapeseed oil
- 1 large bay leaf
- 1 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 cup apple juice
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1/2 cup raisins, plumped
- 3/4 cup rye bread crumbs or crushed ginger-snaps

Combine onion-mushroom soup mix, brown sugar, ginger and bay leaf in saucepan. Add red wine vinegar, apple juice and water; stirring to combine. Bring to a boil and cook 10 minutes. Cool. Place meat in bowl or plastic bag; add marinade, turn to coat meat and cover bowl or tie bag securely. Marinate in refrigerator for 24 hours, turning several times. Remove meat from marinade to absorbent paper and pat dry. Brown in lard or drippings in Dutch oven or large frying pan. Pour off drippings. Add marinade to meat, cover tightly and cook slowly 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 hours or until meat is done. Remove meat to warm platter. Pour off excess fat and cooking liquid, reserving 3 cups cooking liquid in pan. Add raisins and bring to a boil. Add bread crumbs or ginger-snaps crumbs and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Carve meat and serve with gravy.

Onion Dark Rye Bread

- 1 envelope Lipton Onion Soup Mix
- 1 3/4 cups water
- 3 tablespoons dark molasses
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 3 tablespoons lard, butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons caraway seed
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 3 to 3 1/4 cups rye flour*
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cocoa
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 packages (1 1/4 ounce each) active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup lukewarm water
- 2 eggs, beaten
- Melted butter or margarine

Combine onion soup mix, 1 3/4 cups water, molasses, vinegar, lard and caraway seed in saucepan and heat to warm (110°F to 115°F). Mix flour, rye flour, sugar, cocoa and salt. Sift yeast in 1/4 cup lukewarm water. Stir warm onion liquid into 2 cups of flour mixture. Stir in softened yeast and eggs. Gradually add remaining flour mixture to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn dough onto a lightly floured surface; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Knead dough until smooth and elastic. (Dough will be slightly sticky.) Place in greased bowl, turning dough to bring greased surface to top. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk (about 1 hour). Punch dough down, form into a ball and place in a greased 9 x 1 1/2-inch round baking pan. Cover and let rise until double in bulk (about 1 hour). Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) 1 1/2 to 20 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes; remove from pan, brush crust with melted butter or margarine and cool on wire rack. Yield: 1 large round loaf.

*Use 0-1/2 cups wheat and rye flour may be substituted for the all-purpose and rye flours.

Bean Pancakes

- 3 cups cooked and drained navy beans*
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup milk or water
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1/3 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed caraway seed, if desired
- Dash pepper
- Oil for pan-frying

Mash beans with milk or water in mixer or food processor. (Mixture will be slightly sticky.) Place in egg, flour, onion, oil, parsley, salt, caraway seed (if desired) and pepper, mixing to blend. For each pancake, drop 1/3 to 1/2 cup bean mixture into moderately hot fat in large frying-pan or griddle and cook until lightly browned on both sides. Yield: 6 pancakes.

*Cooked great northern or small white beans may be substituted.

Hearty Ribs and Bean Bake

- 3 to 3 1/2 pounds pork country style ribs
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 envelope Lipton Onion Soup Mix
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 3 cups cooked and drained great northern beans
- 3 cups cooked and drained red kidney beans
- 1-1/2 cups thinly sliced celery
- 1 sweet red or green pepper, cut in thin strips

Place ribs in 13 x 9-inch baking dish; add 1/4 cup water. Cover tightly and cook in moderate oven (350°F) 1 1/2 to 2 hours; remove to absorbent paper. Pour off cooking liquid and reserve. Combine tomato sauce, onion soup mix, brown sugar, prepared mustard and hot pepper sauce in small saucepan; heat and cook slowly 10 minutes. Remove excess fat from cooking liquid; add enough water to remaining liquid to make 1 cup. Stir into sauce mixture. Combine great northern and red kidney beans, celery, pepper strips and all but 1/2 cup sauce. Place bean mixture into baking dish. Arrange ribs on top of bean mixture; brush with sauce. Cover tightly and cook in moderate oven (350°F) 1 3/4 to 45 minutes; remove to warm platter. 6 servings.

*Country style ribs also can be braised in a Dutch oven on top of the range for 45 to 60 minutes.

Bean and Cabbage Salad

- 1 can (15 ounces) large red kidney beans, drained
  - 1 can (15 ounces) garbanzo beans, drained
  - 1/2 small head cabbage, cut in 1-inch cubes
  - 1/4 cup chopped onion
  - 2 tablespoons coarsely chopped green pepper
  - 1/4 cup oil
  - 1/4 cup vinegar
  - 1 clove garlic, minced
  - 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
  - 1/2 teaspoon sugar
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
  - 5 slices bacon
- Place red kidney and garbanzo beans, cabbage, onion and green pepper in large bowl; mix well. Combine oil, vinegar, garlic, salt, dry mustard, sugar and pepper. Pour dressing over bean mixture; toss lightly to combine. Cover and chill 4 to 6 hours; stir occasionally. Cut bacon into 1/2 to 1-inch pieces and cook in large frying-pan until crisp; remove to absorbent paper. Toss vegetables before serving; garnish with bacon. 6 servings.

Get acquainted with lamb! It's especially good this fall

Lamb and fresh vegetable dinner

Hearty Roma sausage meal

A hearty soup and salad meal proves a painless-to-the-pocketbook way to entertain.

For example, you can stretch a half-pound of hot Italian sausage to serve six by making a soup using canned bean with bacon soup, cheese raviolis and kidney beans plus some fresh cabbage and green peppers. Italian seasonings favor this stew-like main dish.

Round out the menu with your own antipasto salad and homemade bread.

Roma Sausage Soup
1/2 pound hot Italian sausage, cut in 1/2-inch pieces
2 cups coarsely chopped cabbage
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 medium clove garlic,

Canned soups make stew-like Roma sausage soup a full meal.

Isn't it curious that lamb, the mainstay of early man's diet, is often overlooked entirely by some of today's cooks? Yet lamb is such a young, tender, juicy meat that it fits very well into the role of the ideal menu item.

Why is lamb just what most menu-planners are looking for? Because its delicate flavor doesn't require complicated sauces or cooking processes. A little salt and pepper teamed with easy broiling or roasting are all you need to bring out its natural goodness. Light touches of herbs, lemon or wine lift it into the realm of exquisite cuisine.

Also, lamb meets

current life styles in another important way. It is a real help in controlling weight. The chops, shanks, ribs and slices of roast provide welcome portion control because lamb is smaller by nature. The chops often fall easily into 3/4 or 4-ounce servings called for in many diets. And, since lamb is not marbled with fat and the exterior fat is so completely separable from the meat, it offers an easy opportunity to reduce calories.

Lamb is more plentiful now and will be in the months to come. How about cooking it for the first time or renewing your acquaintance with an outstanding performer for the Eighties?

Lamb and Fresh Vegetable Dinner
6 loin or 12 rib lamb chops, cut 1 inch thick
1/2 cup olive oil
Salt
Pepper
Water
3 small zucchinis, cut into 1/2-inch slices
2 medium onions, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
3 tomatoes, cut into wedges
3 cups hot cooked rice
In large skillet, brown lamb chops in 2 tablespoons olive oil over medium heat, cooking 4 to 5 minutes on each side. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Remove and keep hot. Cook zucchini in small amount of salted water in covered pan, about 8 to 10 minutes, or until crisp-tender. While zucchini is cooking, brown onions in 2 tablespoons oil in remaining 2 tablespoons oil. Add basil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and tomatoes. Cook, stirring, for 3 to 4 minutes, or until tomatoes are done. Add hot rice and toss. Season to taste with salt. Place rice and vegetables on platter. Top with lamb chops. Surround with zucchini slices. Six servings.

Diet pear sundae salad

Inventive and attractive ways of serving a new dish make foods for those on a semi-diet more attractive. Such an appetizing selection for someone who wants to cut down on calories is a certain meal — lunch, for example — is a pear sundae salad.

The pear sundae salad, also served as an appetizer for a sit-down or buffet dinner.

Pear Sundae Salad
1/2 cup plain yogurt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lime peel
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom
1/2 cup whipping cream
4 fresh California Bartlett pears

2 or 3 cups shredded iceberg lettuce
Raspberry sherbet (optional)
Blend yogurt with sugar, lime juice and peel. Salt and cardamom. Beat cream to soft peaks and fold into yogurt mixture. Halve, core and cut pears into bite-size chunks. Toss with lettuce and pile into large sundae glasses, compotes or spoon onto salad plates. Spoon on yogurt dressing and top each serving with a small ball of raspberry sherbet, if desired. This kitchen tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.

New research on obesity

Overweight has become a major worry of many Americans.

"They fear that an extra slice of steak or piece of pie will endanger their looks and their health."

But some common assumptions about the causes and risks of obesity are currently being challenged by such respected researchers as David A. Levitsky, a nutritional scientist at Cornell University.

Levitsky reports that overeating is not the major cause of obesity. In fact, there is no clear evidence that the obese in general eat more than those who remain slender.

Instead, he says, obesity is more the result of genetics, inactivity and poorly developed metabolism.

Many researchers are also concluding that being as much as 25 or 30 pounds overweight is not necessarily unhealthy.

"Contrary to popular belief," notes Levitsky, "the risk of being overweight is not severe for the great majority of the population."

Admittedly, weight reduction is imperative for those who are massively obese. Otherwise, they run a greater risk of developing a variety of diseases and of dying before their time.

Levitsky blames the media and the manufacturers of diet products for much of our preoccupation with our weight.

"Millions of dollars are spent every year on diet foods, books and drugs, all of which promise rapid weight loss and instant happiness," he says. "Much of the diet information these products contain is fraudulent."

"In television and print advertising, you see images of super-thin individuals. Much of the uncertainty of the overweight comes from comparing the figures on the screen or in print with their own. So, they go on buying pills and drugs in the futile hope to succeed."

In this respect, he says, overweight becomes more of a psychological problem than a physical one.

In treating the obese, Levitsky recommends that doctors and nutritionists first ask themselves: "Why did this patient get fat? And how does this condition affect his or her health?"

Only after health professionals have ascertained this information should they recommend diet, exercise or other treatment. This will take time, he warns, but it will help establish a more effective program of treating the obese.

Chicken is sure winner for election night buffet

For an Election Night buffet supper, "Chili Chicken Casserole" is a sure winner.

When the votes are being tallied, your winning candidate might be chicken — the ideal choice for an Election Night buffet supper.

Invite a few friends over to listen as the returns come in on this once-every-four-years occasion when the country elects a president. You won't miss a minute of the excitement yourself if you plan ahead, preparing a hearty chicken casserole which needs only a salad and dessert to complete a tempting meal which will win unanimous approval as your guests serve themselves.

Everyone likes chicken and it is usually the best buy at the meat counter. Select a whole bird and cut it up yourself for even greater savings. Or, if time is short, chicken is readily available already cut into parts for just a few cents more a pound.

The National Broiler Council developed two recipes (below) which are ideal for the working man or busy homemaker who likes to entertain but has little time to spend in the kitchen. Much of the preparation can be done the night before. At party time, there's little left to do but add the last-minute ingredients and let the chicken cook while you assume the role of relaxed hostess.

Out of the mouths of babes

ATLANTA (UPI) — From the mouths of babes often come great wisdom, humor, and sometimes an understanding of life that surprises and amuses their parents.

But any gourmet cooks among the parents of "Mr. Jon's" kindergarten class at Atlanta's Canterbury School were in for disappointment recently when their offspring came home with a booklet of their favorite recipes.

"See, they put the peppers, onions and crust on the side. Then they put cheese on it. Then we buy it and take it home and cook it," said one child.

"We put bananas and a cup of milk and yogurt in it. Then you put it in the blender. My momma has a good blender, blends it good."

Little Shannon was vague about how her mom makes a Supreme Gingerbread House.

"I think sugar and lollipops. I don't know what else she does."

Bobby's Banana Pudding is relatively easy.

"She takes it out of the package, pours it in the cup, and she puts it in the refrigerator."

Then there are not-so-gourmet chefs.

Tika's Tasty Carrots: "Put it in the oven and cook it."

Emily's Sippers Soup: "She gets it out of the can and cooks it in the oven."

Shea told the gathering here that in 1920, when Mr. Fay was playing first base for the Manchester team, which included a number of pro players, he contacted Thorpe and had the Indian come here and play with the local team.

"I remember it well," Shea said. "I drove to the Hartford railroad station to pick Thorpe and bring him to Manchester."

Mr. Fay struck up a lasting friendship with Weiss when he played with New Haven in the Eastern (Baseball) League and Weiss was the general manager.

That was the year Fay led the loop in home runs and in strikeouts.

Good-bye salt shaker

Why are so many of us advised to take the salt shakers off the dinner table? Primarily because salt aggravates hypertension, or high blood pressure, that affects some 10 million Americans.

Hypertension makes blood vessels of heart, kidneys, brain and eyes more susceptible to atherosclerosis, or "hardening" due to accumulation of calcium and cholesterol in their walls. Atherosclerosis, in turn, can lead to heart disease and stroke.

A universal prescription is to cut salt intake, sometimes drastically. Drugs may also be prescribed to rid the body of excess sodium. (Table salt, of course, is one form of sodium.)

How much salt is too much? "I would not suggest the banishment of salt unless your doctor ordered it," advises nutritionist Jean Mayer. "But a little less salt every day will not change the taste of your food too much, particularly when you realize the effect salt will have on your well-being."

Most of us are accustomed to using far more salt than is needed. It is estimated that Americans use two to five times more salt than they should.

True, foods may taste a bit bland when you first switch to a diet that is lower in salt. So try some different seasonings — such as herbs, spices and lemon juice.

But don't unwittingly substitute one source of salt for another. Among the flavorings high in sodium are meat tenderizer, barbecue sauce, bouillon cubes, cooking wine, ketchup, monosodium glutamate, garlic salt and soy sauce.

Also remember that many convenience foods are surprisingly high in salt. In addition to pretzels, crackers, salted nuts and potato chips, this list includes processed meats and cheeses, canned soups, canned fish, cold cereals and TV dinners.

That's why it is important to make a habit of studying the nutrition-information panels on cans, jars, boxes and other packages. Remember that salt may be listed as sodium, soda or the chemical symbol "Na."

Taking a trip? Most airlines will provide you with a salt-free meal if you place your request several days in advance. And when eating away from home, you can minimize your salt consumption by sticking to plain broiled meat, fish and chicken plus fresh fruits and vegetables.

1 1/2 teaspoons salt divided
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (15 ounces) New Orleans style red kidney beans, undrained
1 small onion, sliced
1 green pepper, diced
In 3-quart mixing bowl, place chicken and sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt. In another bowl, mix together tomatoes, tomato sauce, vinegar, chili powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and minced garlic; slowly stir in kidney beans, onions and green pepper. Pour mixture over chicken; cover and marinate overnight in refrigerator. When ready to cook, place chicken, skin side up, in single layer in large shallow baking pan and bake, uncovered, in 350° F. oven for about an hour, or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Serve on rice or noodles. Makes 4 servings. (Recipe may be doubled for larger groups.)

Herald Angle

Jim Thorpe played one game here

By Earl Yost Sports Editor

The late Jerry Fay was one of the nine inductees in the first annual Manchester Sports Hall of Fame last week.

Walter Shea, a relative of the former three-sport star who played professional baseball, basketball and football, in accepting the plaque for Fay, passed along an interesting story.

Mr. Fay had a knack of meeting people. George Weiss, long-time general manager of the New York Yankees was a personal friend. Charlie Finley, former owner of the Oakland Athletics was another. Former Baseball Commissioner A.B. "Happy" Chandler was another as well as Casey Stengel and Lefty Gomez, both baseball Hall of Famers, and Jim Thorpe, the great all-around athlete.

During his playing days with Philadelphia in the National Football League, Mr. Fay played with and against Thorpe, one of the all-time great running backs. A strong friendship off the field resulted.

Shea told the gathering here that in 1920, when Mr. Fay was playing first base for the Manchester team, which included a number of pro players, he contacted Thorpe and had the Indian come here and play with the local team.

"I remember it well," Shea said. "I drove to the Hartford railroad station to pick Thorpe and bring him to Manchester."

East kickers on top

Three second-half goals snapped a 2-2 halftime deadlock and powered East Catholic to a 5-3 victory over St. Paul in HCC soccer action last night at Muzzy Field in Bristol.

The decision pushes the Eagle booters atop conference standings at 2-0 and they remain unbeaten after five outings. The loss drops the Falcons to 1-1 in the HCC at 2-1 overall.

"We had a total team effort and the players really wanted the game," lauded East Coach Tom Malin. "It is very hard to cite individual players because they showed that 'esprit de corps' and were really pulling for each other."

It was a night of great soccer for East and we're off to our best start ever.

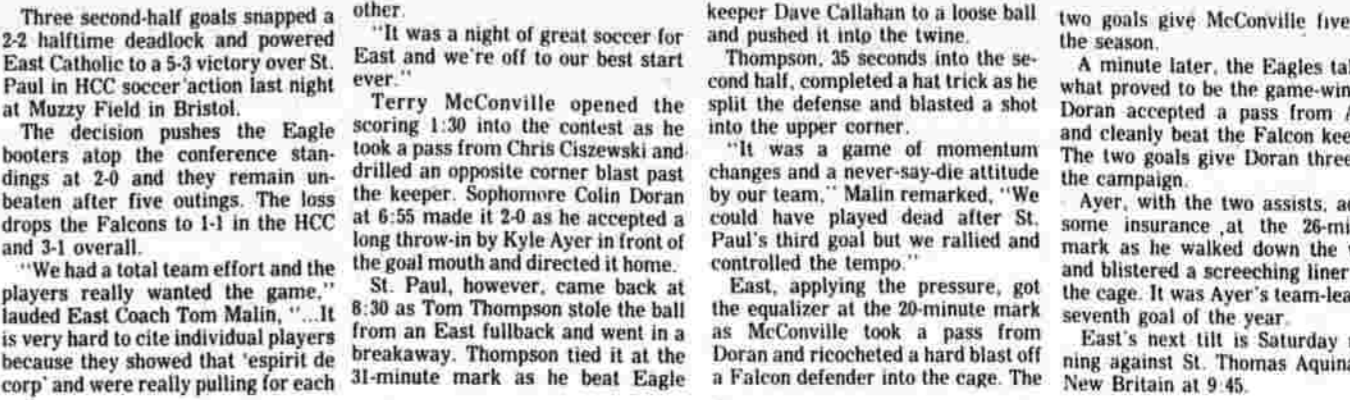

Terry McConville opened the scoring 1:30 into the contest as he took a pass from Chris Ciszewski and drilled an opposite corner ball past the keeper. Sophomore Colin Doran at 6:55 made it 2-0 as he accepted a long throw-in by Kyle Ayer in front of the goal mouth and directed it home.

St. Paul, however, came back at 8:30 as Tom Thompson stole the ball from an East fullback and went in on a breakaway. Thompson tied it at the 31-minute mark as he beat Eagle keeper Dave Callahan to a loose ball and pushed it into the twine.

A minute later, the Eagles talked what proved to be the game-winner. Doran accepted a pass from Ayer and cleanly beat the Falcon keeper. The two goals gave Doran three for the campaign.

Ayer, with the two assists, added some insurance at the 26-minute mark as he walked down the wing and blistered a screeching liner into the cage. It was Ayer's team-leading seventh goal of the year.

East's next shot is Saturday morning against St. Thomas Aquinas in New Britain at 9:45.

Indian tankers prevail

Off to a good start with one school record set, Manchester High girls' swimming team plunged into the 1980 campaign by dunking Windsor Locks High, 105-66, yesterday in Windsor Locks.

Mark MacDonald shattered their standard mark in the 500-yard freestyle with a 5:46.5 clocking. Her previous record was 5:48.9. She also captured the 200-yard individual medley.

Beth MacDonald was also a double winner, securing the 100 butterfly and 100 backstroke. Lynn Sampson and Chris Scott were also double victors for the Indian tankers. Sampson annexed the 100 and 200 freestyles while Scott took the 50 free and 100 breaststroke.

Allise Bayer captured the diving with a total of 157.45 points, a personal best by 20 points.

Scholastic soccer roundup

Cheney Tech bows
With some calls going to his way, Bacon Academy nipped Cheney Tech, 3-2, in Charter Oak Conference (COC) soccer action yesterday in Colchester.

The triumph moves the Bobcats to 6-0 in the conference, 3-1-1 overall, while the reversal drops the Beavers to 1-1 in the COC and 2-2-1 overall.

Cheney's next action is Friday afternoon against Portland High at home at 3:30.

Bacon had a 1-0 halftime lead on a goal by Matt Tallman at the 6:30 mark on a 20-yard direct kick.

"The first goal was on a direct kick on a hand ball that should have never been called," protested Cheney Coach Manny Goncalves.

The Beavers moved in front in the second half on two goals by Walt Kostreza in a four-minute span.

The midfielder at the two-minute mark tied it with an 18-yard boot into the right corner of the twine and he made it 2-1 on a 15-yard drive to the opposite side of the cage. Both goals were unassisted.

The Bobcats drew even a minute later as Tallman converted a penalty kick. Tallman at the 25-minute mark of the second half got the game-tying goal as he took a direct free from Hayemen and drilled a 12-yarder to the right corner of the cage.

"The only justified (Bacon) goal was the third one," Goncalves fumed. "The penalty kick was an unbelievable call. I) The official that made the call couldn't see what happened and 2) the Bacon player fell just inside the right line of the penalty area without any help," added the upset Beaver coach.

Bacon outshot Cheney, 13-2, with Techmen keeper Lou Governale making seven saves and Bobcat goalie Kurt Fetter 3.

Kostreza, along with Tom and Brian Eaton, played well for Cheney and Governale, despite the score was sharp between the pipes for the locals.

Bennet varsity

Bennet varsity soccer team opened its season yesterday with a 7-1 win over J.F. Kennedy of Enfield.

Scott Gorman scored three goals. Rich Weintraub and Tom Finnegan and Danny Guachione one each for the Beavers. Thong Lai, Chris Sarli, Brad Pelligrinelli and John Janenda played well defensively for the locals.

Bennet jayvees

Bennet jayvee soccer team opened its season yesterday with a 5-1 win over the Beavers of Enfield.

Pryce Mattempo, Gary Wood, Keovlay, Jay DePace and Chris Castagne played for the Bears. Buddy Zechery, John Rogers and Jeff Larkin also played well for Bennet.

Area action

Area schoolboy soccer action yesterday saw Bolton High and East Hampton High play to a 1-1 tie in COC play. Glastonbury High took a 5-0 decision over Bloomfield in CVC competition. Coventry High nipped Cromwell High by a 3-2 count in another COC tilt and in CVC action, Rockville High bowed by a 3-2 score to Windsor and South Windsor High was knocked from the unbeaten ranks by Windsor Locks, 2-1.

Norm Harpin was a busy man for Bolton. He played goal, making eight saves, until 20 minutes remained in the second half. And with 3 1/2 minutes left Harpin tallied the equalizer on a 25-yard looping shot which caught the Belringer goalie off his line. Freshman Doug Moore sparked in the closing minutes in goal for the Bulldogs, now 2-2-1 for the season. East Hampton goes to 1-1-3 with the deadlock.

Bob Krieger scored two goals and

Grogan limping

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — New England Patriots coach Ron Erhardt may be wondering if it was wise to keep only two quarterbacks this year.

Steve Grogan, who has played three splendid games in a row, sprained his left knee Sunday in the 37-31 victory over Seattle. Grogan, who has started 68 straight games — more than any other NFL signal caller, had fluid removed from the leg and was limping Tuesday after practice.

He is expected to start Monday night against Denver.

Piniella chastised

NEW YORK (UPI) — American League president Lee MacPhail has reprimanded Lou Piniella of the New York Yankees and apologized to official scorer Harold Rosenthal for Piniella's behavior in a Sept. 2 game between the Yankees and Oakland A's.

Rosenthal, an author and syndicated sports columnist appearing regularly in the New York Times, became involved in a dispute with Piniella when he gave outfielder Tony Armas an error instead of Piniella a hit in the game. Piniella registered his displeasure publicly on the field and later called Rosenthal an "88-year-old man who shouldn't be permitted to score."

Rangers triumph

New Haven (UPI) — Dave Maloney, Andre Dore, and Ron Greschner scored goals Tuesday night to give the New York Rangers a 3-1 NHL exhibition victory over the Boston Bruins.

It was the second straight pre-season victory against no losses for the Rangers.

Yankees 'pennant-hungry'

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was just one more year for a magical September, but the statistics are starting to prove what most American League teams already knew — the New York Yankees are gazing at the world through dollar-sign glasses.

The Yankees, who have forgotten how to lose ball games they have no business winning, could be on their way to showing once and for all what the words "pennant hungry" mean.

The Yankees squeaked four magical runs out of three Cleveland pitchers Tuesday night in the bottom of ninth to beat the Indians 5-4. New York's 19th win in 22 September outings. It means this year's club has a chance to win more games in September than any other Yankee team in history — 22-6 by the 1964 Bronx Bombers.

And, for those with higher ideals, the most games the Yankees have ever won in any month are 23 in July 1962.

But even though New York has six games remaining in September in order to establish a new standard for pressure play, Manager Dick Howser says he is happy only that the consistent winning has kept Baltimore's mirrored five games behind in the East Division. The Yankees' magic number was reduced to seven games.

"I know Earl (Weaver) is probably pulling his hair out," Howser said. "He's been playing like hell and hasn't picked up a game."

It's not over yet, but even though the Orioles got to within a half-game, we weren't folding. We've won the close games and we've won them with big innings and relief pitching. We have to play like that."

The Yankees did what looked virtually impossible Tuesday night, especially after Cleveland starter Wayne Garland had held them to eight hits and one run through eight innings.

Playing with a 4-1 lead, Garland walked Buckey Dent and Bobby Murcer to open the ninth. Garland was replaced by Mike Stanton, and after Stanton got one out, he gave up consecutive run-scoring singles to Bobby Brown and Bob Watson.

Sid Monge relieved Stanton, 1-2, and retired Reggie Jackson on a groundout which moved the runners up. But with Yankee fans screaming, pinch hitter Eric Soderholm cracked a 1-0 pitch into left field to knock in both runs and win the game.

Soderholm, who was criticized by

Garcia said: "It just doesn't make sense."

Toby Harrah, who went 3-for-4, staked the Indians to their lead by knocking in three runs with a pair of doubles. Ron Hassey added an RBI single in the eighth for Cleveland's other run.

But the Yankees, who scored four runs last week in the last inning against Toronto to win, aren't just lucky, Howser says.

"It takes guts to make it go out and happen. They're just keeping bat. A guy who's criticized for not producing comes through. Give (Soderholm) the credit."

Baltimore manager Dave Garcia, angered by the failure of his relievers to clinch the victory, lashed out at his team's performance.

"Our bullpen can't get one out,"

Upsetting situation at home plate

Orioles can't close gap on hot Yanks

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Orioles outfielder Al Bumbry is closing in on some personal goals, but his Baltimore teammates cannot close the gap on the pace-setting Yankees.

Bumbry's game-winning two-run single Tuesday capped a three-run eighth inning that began with a bad-pitch error and included two glaring Boston errors. But the 8-6 triumph over the Red Sox didn't gain any ground for the Orioles in the American League Eastern Division race.

"It's just another win for us," said Bumbry, who is within 13 base hits of becoming the first Oriole in club history to add over 200 base hits in a season. "Beating Boston is no more satisfying to me. We have to beat everybody."

Bumbry's only goal at the start of the season was to bat .300.

"I figured everything else would fall into place," he said. "All things considered this has been my best season."

Bumbry is batting .312, with career highs of 111 runs, 41 stolen bases, eight triples and nine home runs, plus an excellent chance of breaking Brooks Robinson's club record of most hits in a season (194).

After Jim Rice stretched his hitting streak to 19 games with a three-run Tuesday cap in the first inning that gave Boston a 3-0 lead, rookie pitcher Steve Lawford and relief pitcher Bruce Hurst failed to hold the margin.

Oriole manager Earl Weaver refuses to concede to the league-leading Yankees. The Orioles are five games out of first with 11 games left on their schedule.

"We just have to keep pushing," said Weaver. "They (the Yankees) have done it like this all year. It's interesting to read in the paper the next day how they do it every night. It's very disheartening, but it means that we have to come out when the guy is trying to steal home," said Zimmer. "When I came out and motioned a new pitcher to come in, I said, 'It would have been easier if you had covered the plate.' Then he said, 'Yes, it's my fault, but that's what happens when you don't get enough work around here.'"

"Then I told him, 'I gave you seven starts and you pitched the same way. Why don't you go home and grow up.'"

Zimmer recalled.

Oriole relief pitcher Tim Stoddard, 5-3, notched the victory with two innings of flawless work. Bob Stanley, 6-7, the fourth of five Red Sox pitchers, absorbed the defeat.

Oriole manager Earl Weaver refuses to concede to the league-leading Yankees. The Orioles are five games out of first with 11 games left on their schedule.

"We just have to keep pushing," said Weaver. "They (the Yankees) have done it like this all year. It's interesting to read in the paper the next day how they do it every night. # Expos and Phillies exchange places

NEW YORK (UPI) — It appears the Montreal Expos and Philadelphia Phillies are going to stage their own version of that famous play, "Two For the Seesaw" for the remainder of the National League East season.

On Monday night, the Phillies took over first place by one-half game for the first time since Sept. 4, but the Expos got the lead back Tuesday night by whipping the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-1, while the St. Louis Cardinals were trimming the Phillies, 6-3.

Dallas Green, manager of the Phillies, believes things will continue in seamy fashion until the end.

"I said it's going to be a dogfight until the very end and I'm not going to change my mind," Green said.

Al Olmstead, a 23-year-old left hander who was making only his third major league start, proved to be a nemesis for the Phillies.

Olmstead pitched a six-inning over 9-13 innings to notch his first major league triumph. Olmstead, who got ninth inning relief help from John Littlefield, was pitching with only two days rest after scheduled starter Bob Forsch returned to Sacramento, Calif., because of the death of his mother.

"I'm excited about it," Olmstead said, "but I just wanted to go out and do well. There's no pressure on us. We are not in the pennant race. I really don't have anything to lose."

Olmstead, a 23-year-old left hander, gave up a run-scoring single to Manny Trillo in the seventh and a solo homer to Mike Schmidt, his third, in the ninth before tiring and leaving with the bases loaded in favor of Littlefield (left) to record his two outs to record his ninth save.

It marked the second time in 11 days that Olmstead caused trouble for the Phillies. He made his debut against them Sept. 13, shutting them out for 9-13 innings in a game won by the Cardinals, 5-0, in 11 innings.

The Cardinals gave Olmstead all the runs he needed with a three-run second inning. Dane Iorg led off with a single and, one-out later, Olmstead sacrificed him to second. Ken Oberkell and Garry Templeton, who increased his league-leading batting average to .326, slapped back-to-back two-out singles for the first two runs and Bob Walk, 10-4, allowed the third run to score on a wild pitch.

While Olmstead was baffling the Phillies, Steve Rogers was spinning a three-hitter against the Pirates.

Rogers, beaten by the Pirates in Montreal 10 days ago, was virtually unhittable, yielding just three singles and five walks in posting his 15th complete game and raising his record to 15-11.

"For such an important game, I have never been so calm and relaxed," Rogers said. "I thought I had great stuff tonight. I knew it was an important game, but there was no more pressure on me than on anyone else."

The Expos won the game with a six-run, sixth inning outburst that was highlighted by Larry Parrish's two-run single.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Diego ripped Houston 9-4, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 4-2, Cincinnati edged San Francisco 2-1 and Chicago edged New York 6-5.

Padres 9, Astros 4
The Astros' Rogers' lead in the NL West shrunk to one game over Los Angeles as rookie Broderick Perkins sparked the Padres by driving in three runs. San Diego scored four runs in the fourth inning off loser Randy Niemann — the first left-hander to start for Houston since July 22, 1979 — and five more runs in the fifth.

Dodgers 4, Braves 2
Bob Welch produced both hitting and pitching power in helping the Dodgers snap a four-game losing streak. Welch, 14-4, allowed only five hits and posted his fourth straight victory before being forced to leave the game with a slight muscle pull in the seventh inning.

Reds 2, Giants 1
Dan Drisnessen's two-out, eighth-inning single scored Dave Concepcion from third base with the winning run, enabling the Reds to pull within 3½ games of first place Houston in the NL West. Winner Frank Pastore, 12-7, retired the last 19 batters in order, struck out six and walked three in registering his eighth complete game.

Cubs 6, Mets 5
Bruce Satter struck out Jerry Morales with the tying run on second base to stem a five-run ninth inning uprising by the Mets and preserve the Cubs' victory. It was Satter's league-leading 26th save. Only 1,938 fans turned out for the game.

Dodgers jump back in race

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Just as quick as the Los Angeles Dodgers appeared to be sliding out of the National League West pennant race, they jumped back in. Such are the vagaries of a pennant race.

Bob Welch hit and pitched Los Angeles to a 4-2 victory over Atlanta Tuesday night, snapping a four-game losing streak. The triumph, coupled with Houston's loss to San Diego, edged the Dodgers to within one game of the division-leading Astros. Both teams have 11 games left.

The Dodgers appeared ready to concede Monday night when they equaled their longest losing streak of the season, but in one night they squeaked that prospect.

"Things go streaks and we couldn't do anything right for a couple of days," said Derrel Thomas, who went 3-for-4. "Our job is to stay as close as possible this late in the season. Our confidence level is high. We can't worry about what other teams are doing. We just have to do our jobs."

Tom Johnston, who collected two key hits, is confident the Dodgers will be atop the standings at season's end.

"The way the team has responded in the last few weeks — even with our (three straight) losses to the Reds — we'll bounce back and I still think we'll win it all," he said. "This game was a big one for us. Before it was over, we had a lot of confidence in each other and we put some confidence in those who might have had some doubts."

The Dodgers snapped a seven-game losing streak against Atlanta, which beat them 11 of 18 this season.

"We're glad we were finally able to beat the Braves," said Dusty Baker. "We didn't have the best stuff but he gave it all he had with his arm and his bat." Welch posted his fourth straight victory and collected a pair of singles while driving in one run. But a slight muscle pull forced him to leave the game in the seventh inning after scattering five hits. Don Stanhouse pitched the ninth inning and recorded his seventh save.

"We need a few wins and tonight we got it started," said Welch, 14-4. "I prefer a nice old 12-10-16 knurled Newport wind," he smirked.

The heavier Freedom is favored in moderate to strong winds.

The Aussies missed Tuesday's weather forecast, handing Conner his easiest victory in the best-of-seven series.

"We're racing the day after tomorrow and I believe it appropriate to take one day at a time."

Freedom finished the 24-mile course with a 3:48 lead. The quarter of a mile margin was the widest in the closely matched series.

Based on forecasts for strong, gusty winds the Australians fitted their yacht with a heavy mainsail for the match, while Conner elected "to go with our moderate, medium weight sail."

"We really were caught with our trousers down," said Australia skipper Jim Hardy. "We certainly weren't competitive today."

"Everyone was sure the northwesterlies would come in," said Conner. "But when and how strong... nobody knew." The strong northwesterlies blew in on the third leg.

"We made the choice for a heavy mainsail and that proved to be the wrong choice," said Alan Bond, head of the Australian campaign.

Both sides agreed it was an "unfortunate" contest.

Freedom crossed the starting line eight miles off Newport with a 13-second — three foot length — lead, which Conner turned into a solid 1:48 edge on the first 4.5-mile upwind climb.

Record scoring day

NEW YORK (UPI) — The highest ever point total and the second best attendance figures were recorded in the National Football League last weekend.

There were 676 points recorded for 14 games, with the 51-21 Los Angeles victory over Green Bay helping to hike the total. The old record for a weekend was 642 in 1976 and equaled in 1979.

In-house attendance figures of 859,768 were registered during the weekend, the second highest in league history and bettered only by the Sept. 22-24, 1979 total of 848,777.

The NFL said Tuesday the first three weeks of the 1980 season shows 2,432,863 people attended 42 games for an average of 57,949.

Sipe played injured

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Browns quarterback Brian Sipe has revealed that he played the entire 1979 season with a broken bone in his left wrist.

Now defending himself against speculation that his passing has been affected by soreness in his right arm, Sipe reportedly kept the wrist injury secret last season to remove any temptation for the opposition to go after his left arm.

Sipe said he fractured the navicular bone in his left wrist in the last half of 1978 and wore a removable plastic cast on it the rest of that season.

"It healed during the offseason, but then, in the opening game last year I broke the same bone again," Sipe said. "The cast protected it most of the time, although there were occasions when I'd bump it and it would bother me a little. The biggest problem was taking the snap from center."

"My left hand is on the bottom, and a certain amount of flexibility is necessary. The problem was that my wrist wasn't as supple with the cast as it should be. But it didn't cause me a great deal of trouble, it really didn't."

Sipe says although it still gets somewhat sore, the wrist is fine now. "It was kind of a freak injury to begin with and it was another freak thing when it happened the second time," he said. "But I'm not worried about it happening again and I'd like to see it go away now — and my right arm isn't sure either."

Sore or not, Sipe's right arm came to life Sunday when he completed 23 of 36 passes for 295 yards and two touchdowns in Cleveland's first victory of the season, a 20-13 triumph over Kansas City.

Last year with the broken wrist, Sipe passed for 3,783 yards — second highest yardage total in the NFL — and a league-high 28 touchdowns in his most productive season ever.

Bayi enters
NEW YORK (UPI) — Filbert Bayi, Tanzania's silver medalist in the steeplechase at the 1980 Olympics and a former world record holder in the 1,500 meters and the mile, has entered the 11th, New York City Marathon.

Bill Rodgers will be trying for his fifth consecutive victory and Grete Waitz for her third in the Oct. 26 event which is expected to attract 16,000 entries.

Bayi once held the world record for the mile, 3:51.0, and the 1,500 meters, 3:22.2. At the Moscow Olympics, Bayi won the silver medal in the 1,000 meter steeplechase behind two-time Olympic gold medalist Bronislaw Malinowski of Poland.

Pats' coach happy holdouts to return

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Ron Erhardt says he never expected to see the four New England Patriots holdouts come to the 1980 football season kicked off.

But two of the four — defensive stalwarts Mike Haynes and Richard Bishop — are expected to sign contracts, probably today. The other two backup quarterback Tom Owen and fullback Sam Cunningham, remain far apart from the Patriots in talks.

"To be honest, the staff and myself felt we wouldn't see 'em," Erhardt said Tuesday. "We figured if they were going to come back, they'd be back by the first game."

Haynes and Bishop agreed to terms ironed out by their attorney, Howard Slusher, in a weekend bargaining session with three Patriots officials. Owen and Bishop agreed to terms in the defensive line, we can roll people over so we're not playing Russian roulette any more."

Erhardt said he plans to return to Foxboro, to his natural position, strong safety. Rookie Roland James, who has been playing strong safety, would become a fifth defensive back.

"The burden falls on a guy like Sanford, who was expected to be the strong safety, then is just learning corner and goes back to strong," said Erhardt. "It will also give us an extra punt returner (Haynes) and in the defensive line, we can roll people over so we're not playing Russian roulette any more."

Cubs' Amalfitano future unsettled

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joey Amalfitano of the Chicago Cubs seems to be in no hurry to decide whether he wants to continue in the job he has wanted for the past several years. He also likes Jim Tracy, an outfielder-first baseman.

There are some good prospects on the team. I plan to give them a good look-see the rest of the way out."

Amalfitano says, "I am convinced there are some players who can play today for this team."

Amalfitano has shown varied moods since taking over as manager. He shows an easygoing public personality after the many Cub losses but is known to be respected for his toughness with the players.

"I don't know who I model myself after. Sometimes I like the things Leo (Burcher) used to do when I was here," Amalfitano explained. "I learned a lot from him. But I've learned a lot from everyone I've worked with and played under."

Like Gomez, he preaches defense and base running, two mysteries to the Cubs this year.

"I've seen some times when we are doing things better," he says, "and times when we haven't."

Amalfitano broke into major league baseball with the New York Giants in 1954, receiving a $30,000 bonus to sign. He stayed in the Giants' organization until he was drafted by Houston in 1968.

He wound up back with the Giants the following year and ended his career as a utility player with the Cubs between 1969 and 1987. His career average was .244 and his best season was 1960 when he batted .277.

Chlebek excited after B.C. victory

BOSTON (UPI) — Ed Chlebek looked like he was trying to qualify for the 100-meter dash in the Olympics.

With the clock winding down on a new, $160,000 scoreboard, the Boston College coach raced across the phony turf at Alumni Stadium to greet Stanford coach Paul Wiggins. He placed one hand on Wiggins' neck, shaking the other hand vigorously. A smile as wide as Commonwealth Avenue adorned his face.

"I just wanted to make sure I saw him and got to talk to him. It was pretty hectic out there and I wanted to talk to him and then get to the locker room," Chlebek said.

It is typical of Ed Chlebek that in his finest hour, in his greatest coaching moment, his first act after his team's upset Stanford 30-15 was to seek out the opposing coach. Coaches in moments of supreme triumph often are carried off the field on the shoulders of jubilant players.

Chlebek never gave his BC squad that chance. Maybe he remembered the many times he had been on the other side and had heard words of encouragement from a victorious coach. Maybe those words had eased the sting of defeat a bit.

What is certain is that there was no one, anywhere, more excited or ecstatic about BC's win Saturday than Ed Chlebek.

Here was a coach who less than three years ago had summoned his players to inform them that he had been fired after an 0-11 season. His first season at BC was to be his last.

But the players believed in the man, they saw more than the 0-11 record in the rookie coach than fading attendance and ridicule of the team's play and its program. They saw the man who could help them back out of the jam.

"We really had faith in the man," tight end Tim Sheridan said. "We believed in his philosophy and we believed he was the kind of man

Mayotte upsets Connors

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Amateur Tim Mayotte, the No. 1 player for Stanford University, stunned Jimmy Connors, 3-6, 7-5 (7-5) Tuesday night at the $75,000 Trans-Amateur Open tennis championships.

After taking the first set, the second-seeded Connors had problems finding his first serve in the rest of the night. The final tie-breaker series found Mayotte, a Springfield, Mass. resident, leading 6-4, but Connors fought back to tie it at 7-7. Mayotte won the next point with a forehand smash and then forced Connors to hit a down the line backhand into the alley to pull off the remarkable upset.

In a later match, No. 1 John Lewis signed.

Celtics prevail

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — Guard Gerald Henderson scored 22 points Tuesday night to help the Boston Celtics to a 113-109 victory over the New York Knicks in NBA exhibition play.

The Celtics lead 57-50 at the half before the Knicks cut the lead to 75-74 midway through the third quarter. Boston then reeled off eight straight points and coasted in for the NBA preseason victory.

Also scoring in double figures for the Celtics were forwards Cedric Maxwell with 12 and guards Kevin McHale with 12 and guards Chris Ford with 11 and Rufus Harris with 10.

Leading scorers for the Knicks were guards Ray Williams with 19 and Reggie Carter with 11.

Freedom one victory from America Cup

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Skipper Dennis Conner led the U.S. defender Freedom today, waiting for stronger winds to carry him to a fourth and deciding victory Thursday in the America's Cup series against Australia.

Another American victory would preserve the longest winning streak in history — the New York Yacht Club's 132-year hold on yachting's most prestigious trophy.

Conner advised the yacht club committee he wanted today off after a commanding triumph Tuesday over the Aussies.

"The weather reports we got were varied," Conner said. "We averaged them all up and they came to four knots from the east. We felt we had a better chance of having more wind the day after tomorrow."

"We prefer a nice old 12-10-16 knurled Newport wind," he smirked.

The heavier Freedom is favored in moderate to strong winds.

The Aussies missed Tuesday's weather forecast, handing Conner his easiest victory in the best-of-seven series.

Maravich seeks position as GM

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Pete Maravich, who retired from the Boston Celtics last weekend after a highly successful but often frustrating 10-year career in the NBA, would like to become a team's general manager, his father said Tuesday.

Maravich himself has remained unavailable to reporters since he quietly packed his bags and left the Celtics' camp on Saturday, telling Coach Tom Izzo, "I've shot too many baskets."

But Press Maravich, who coached his son at Louisiana State and is close to him, said "Pistol Pete" does not want to play any more and would not want to become a coach because he does not want to deal with the personalities and egos involved and is tired of the traveling demands of the NBA.

"Right now what Pete would like to do is to have the opportunity, I think he would be interested in being a general manager because of his experience in the league and knowing the kids and the needs of individual professional basketball players," Press Maravich said. "I think this would be a good spot for him to be in."

Press Maravich said Pete had not talked with any teams or made any moves toward becoming a general manager.

Maravich said his son talked at length with Boston center Dave Cowens before he quit, and Cowens — who took a leave of absence three seasons ago but returned after missing part of the season — almost talked Pete out of retiring. In the end, however, Maravich decided that he had had enough of basketball.

Maravich led the NBA in scoring in 1976-77 while with the New Orleans Jazz. A College All-American, he was signed in 1970 by the Atlanta Hawks for a record $1.9 million and played for the Hawks and the New Orleans Jazz before joining the Celtics last year as a free agent.

Carter closing crevice in Michigan campaign

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — President Carter is narrowing the gap in strategically crucial Michigan, but he must overcome wide discontent with his economic performance in the state hardest hit by the national recession.

The latest available poll — conducted by the Reagan campaign — shows Carter trailing 32 percent to 36 percent, with 16 percent backing independent John Anderson.

But a colorful and persistent county drain commissioner threatens to overshadow all three presidential candidates in the Michigan election campaign.

Robert Tisch, a gangly, outspoken tax cut crusader from rural Shiawassee County has placed on the November ballot a California-style tax proposal which has mobilized a bipartisan opposition team of fiscal moderates.

Critics — including influential Gov. William G. Milliken — say the Tisch Tax Cut Amendment would be a devastating $2 billion blow to the already strapped state government. It would cut property taxes in half or more — and require the state to reimburse local governments for lost revenue. An increase in state taxation, however, is virtually precluded.

Ronald Reagan's lead has slipped significantly from the 10-point bulge he enjoyed at the close of the GOP national convention in Detroit. Republicans say the drop was expected, but it has heartened Democrats.

"I've watched Carter get closer and closer," said state Democratic Chairwoman Olivia Maynard. "If he is (behind) it may not even be a statistically (significant) difference now," she said.

Both parties agree the economy is the key issue in Michigan — where the auto industry slump has caused the nation's highest jobless rate.

Reagan carefully courted blue collar support in his Labor Day visit to Detroit and his operatives have steadily worked the state.

"I have said all along this is a pocketbook election where people are concerned with jobs and inflation and taxes," said state Republican Chairman Melvin Larsen.

"The people are going to be making their decision based on who they feel will best bring us out of the recession," he said.

"The second most significant issue in the campaign is Carter's economic record. It's been miserable."

Leaders of the United Auto Workers, one of Michigan's most potent political forces, wanted to dump Carter in favor of Sen. Edward Kennedy. Even state AFL-CIO President William Marsall, a Carter loyalist, has been critical of the administration's economic policies.

Ms. Maynard is nonetheless confident, with unions now solidly behind Carter, that unhappy blue collar workers will return to the Democratic fold come November. Workers will stick with Carter "or come back to him," she said.

Carter also has the fervent and unshakable support of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

Reagan forces are banking on a 30,000-member army of volunteers and an intensive campaigning by the former California governor and running mate George Bush — with Milliken always at their side.

Milliken, a moderate, is a proven vote getter among independents and Democrats. His willingness to make an all out effort for Reagan, despite their philosophical differences, will be vital to the GOP campaign.

An unknown factor is the impact of Anderson's strong campaign in Michigan. It is generally anticipated a strong Anderson showing would hurt Carter more than Reagan.

There are no statewide contests, but Republicans are hoping to recoup at least three of the five congressional seats they have lost in recent years.

The GOP is keying on two outstate districts lost to the Democrats in 1978 after long Republican dominance. Incumbent Reps. Donald Albores and Howard Wolpe face opponents bolstered by national campaign cash — veteran state Sen. Richard Allen and millionaire department store heir James Gilmore.

With the retirement of veteran Rep. Lucien Nedzi, the GOP is bidding for a traditionally Democratic district in Detroit and northern suburbs.

Campaign committee formed

SOUTH WINDSOR — Mimi Bouley, campaign manager for 14th Assembly District Democratic candidate John Woodcock, has announced the formation of a committee to assist in Woodcock's election. South Windsor Mayor Edward F. Havens will serve as deputy campaign manager.

The campaign will be funded through the efforts of the finance committee, chaired by treasurer Stephen H. Ruge. The finance committee will also consist of Salvatore Garofalo, Edward Steben, Havens, Robert Sheridan, and Jack Woodcock.

Outdoor advertising, including the distribution of the candidate's signs and bumper stickers, will be managed by David and Hazel Perkins. Woodcock's public appearances will be arranged by Ms. Bouley, while Linda Churma, will coordinate the candidate's door-to-door efforts.

Public relations and advertising will be chaired by Town Council member Sherman Tarr, with the assistance of Wayne Cogan and Syd-

State spending a lead issue

SOUTH WINDSOR — There is one issue that transcends all others, according to Robert R. Sills, Republican Candidate for the 14th Assembly District, and that is state spending.

Sills said it has been growing at an incredible rate.

In 1971, the state had its first billion dollar budget and in just 10 years it has reached 27 billion, he said. The number of state employees keeps increasing from 32,000 full-time employees in 1970 to 38,000 in 1980.

The number of employees has increased by 18 percent and yet the state population has increased by only 3 percent, Sills explained.

In 1970 there were 22,000 families in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program. In 10 years, that figure has doubled to 45,000 families in the program. Sills said. The cost of the program has risen from $287 million in 1971 to $631 million this year.

"All of this occurred under a Democratic administration that refuses to exert any effort to stop this spiral," Sills said.

Since 1967, the Republicans have controlled the House only once and since 1959 the Republicans have only controlled the Senate once, Sills said. "It is imperative that we have a Republican Legislature. Ronald Reagan has promised a shift from federal control of many expenditures to the states. We must prepare for this. We don't want to change from a federal bureaucracy to a similar one in this state," he said.

Sills said he is proposing the creation of a "blue-ribbon" watchdog committee to review the daily cost of state government.

He said the information compiled by this committee will provide the basis for a reduction in governmental costs.

"We can and will meet the needs of the people of Connecticut without overtaxing them," Sills said.
