

Meadows Auxiliary created by MACC

MANCHESTER — The Meadows Auxiliary, a volunteer group at the Meadows Convalescent Homes, has been formed as a branch of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches.

Serving as the auxiliary's first president will be Mrs. Paul Chase, 138 Cooper St. Mrs. Chase was a social worker at the Meadows for two years. She has a bachelors degree in Sociology from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. She has participated in the Big Sisters programs, and is now involved with the Jaycee Women and the Quilters Guild.

Mrs. Chase will be organizing auxiliary activities including monthly support meetings, orientation session, and a telephone system. Mrs. Chase, in conjunction with

Historical Society

VERNON — The Vernon Historical Society will meet Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the First Federal Savings, Park Place.

Photographer Ellery King will present a program entitled, "Sept. 21 - The Hurricane." The public is invited.

Board condemns bombing

MANCHESTER — At its meeting Monday night, the Board of Education verged off its usual education track to condemn the firebombing of a local black family's home.

On a motion by Board Member Eleanor Colman, the board voted unanimously to condemn the Oct. 2 bombing of the 11 Brent Road home of the Bruce Meggett family.

The board passed the speedy apprehension of suspects by police, and expressed hope that the Meggett family would continue to live in town.

In other business, the board accepted the budget constraints and assumptions for the 1981-82 year. The preliminary step included a recon- sideration of basic guidelines for the budget adoption process, which will continue from now until the spring.

The assumptions included a belief that enrollments would continue to decline; the special education costs will increase at a slower rate than in earlier years due to increased federal aid; and that the lack of program improvements "cannot continue without seriously eroding the district's ability to stay abreast of new developments and respond to new needs."

During the last budget session, no improvements budget was adopted.

Other assumptions included a belief that the tight job market would provide a low turnover except in the areas of science, math, industrial arts and vocational education. These education specialties are in demand in business.

Region Residents urged to back new Bolton fire truck

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

BOLTON — James Preuss, Bolton Volunteer Fire Department Chief, urges residents to attend the Town Meeting Wednesday and to support the purchase of a pump for the fire department.

The new pump will cost $142,661 and support equipment will cost $12,000. The Town Meeting is at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall.

Preuss said he "thinks the new piece of equipment will make the department more efficient and capable of handling emergencies in the Town of Bolton."

The department expects the truck to have an average life of 20 years. Statistically that means the truck will cost each household $3.07 per year over the 20 year period for fire department.

The cost per person over the 20 year period will be $1.80 per year.

The department now has five pieces of equipment. They include a 1961, 1964, and 1972 pump, a rescue truck, and a forestry truck.

New library program will begin Wednesday

BOLTON — The first session of the Bentley Memorial Library "Terrific Twos" program will be Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the library. The first session is for parents only. Future sessions will be for both parents and their two-year-old children.

About 14 families have registered for the orientation session.

Monica Reed, librarian said, "We plan to talk about what two-year-old children are like and what we hope to accomplish. A film will be used as a point of discussion."

The program will utilize library resources and is being funded by a $88,000 grant through the Connecticut State Library.

The program is being coordinated by Monica Reed and Linda Chamberland.

About 40 parents of preschool children attended a lecture by Dr. Frank Self, an early childhood expert from St. Joseph's College. The lecture was held recently at the library.

Mrs. Reed said the program was well received and people seem interested in having the library sponsor programs for their children.

Parents of two-year-old children who would like to attend the fire program Wednesday are asked to call the library to register.

Discussion will continue on appointed vs. elected

BOLTON — A lengthy discussion should reduce democracy in town further and there hasn't been a contest for the positions in a long time.

The commission eliminated some nonessential, trans language and corrected some errors in chapter 3 of the charter. In chapter 7 it eliminated the requirement that vacancies on appointed boards have to be filled by a person of the same political party. The selectmen should have the right to fill vacancies with whomever they choose.

Manning said the minority representation requirement will be in effect so here will be no chance to "stack a board."

In chapter 8 the commission eliminated the transition language for appointed appointed boards.

Joseph Licita gave a report on the Planning and Zoning Commission. He said the two boards feel strongly they should remain separate as they are now and they don't want to be combined into one board.

Both commissions are apparently having trouble with alternates and would like those seats to be appointed.

The next meeting of the commission is on Nov. 3. Members will discuss the Board of Fire Commissioners, the Planning, the recreation, the Zoning Commission, and marks department.

Teacher elected to board

BOLTON — Susan Murray, Bolton High School Latin teacher, was elected a member of the Executive Board of the Classical Association of New England. She will be working to coordinate State Latin Day at Trinity College, scheduled for March 1981.

Mrs. Murray recently attended the annual meeting of the association in West Hartford. There were several scholarly presentations.

The report of the Ad Hoc Committee on Guidelines for the Articulation of Secondary School and Collegiate Latin programs was discussed. Mrs. Murray is a member of the committee.

It was agreed the report would further aid a student entering a college Latin program as well as the teacher.

GOP cheers, boos mark final stretch

MANCHESTER — A week from election, the GOP Town Committee concentrated Monday night on campaign strategy, cheers for Republicans and heavy criticism for Democrats.

Meeting at GOP headquarters in the former House and Hale Department Store on Main Street, state senate candidate Carl Zisser used the opportunity for yet another blast at his opponent. Campaign coordinators Althea Potter and Curtis Smith were equally hard criticizing Democratic opponents Congressman William Cotter, and the Carter administration.

Two candidates, Walter Joyner, seeking re-election to the state assembly, and Elsie "Biz" Swenson, a candidate in the 13th Assembly District, took a different approach. Joyner, the incumbent in the election race in the 12th District, focused on the U.S. Senate race against the Fourth Senatorial District, Zisser, visibly angry, waved a copy of a Glastonbury newspaper. "He's saying one thing in Glastonbury and another in Manchester," Zisser said.

He referred to Glassman's position that the HUD Community Development Block Grant is a non-issue, called for a meeting with state congressional leaders.

"He keeps bringing up HUD, but and he touched several areas. For the first time in the campaign which began in full force a little more than a month ago, an incident from Mrs. Jackson's five-year tenure on the town Board of Directors surfaced. Von Deck recalled Mrs. Jackson's resignation in the wake of a conflict of interest controversy over reneuing an office building she owns on Maple Street.

"She resigned saying she was too busy with her business to run again," Von Deck said. "How much less is she doing now that she has all this free time to run for the general assembly? State office will take up more time than the board ever did."

Calling Mrs. Jackson a "recurring candidate" he asked "how we can afford to cut her loose on the state budget of hundreds of millions of dollars?"

"I'd like to know why the Democrats resurrected this candidate?"

Other heavy criticism was directed at Abraham Glassman, Zisser's opponent for the Fourth Senatorial District. Zisser, visibly angry, waved a copy of a Glastonbury newspaper. "He's saying one thing in Glastonbury and another in Manchester," Zisser said.

He referred to Glassman's position that the HUD Community Development Block Grant is a non-issue, called for a meeting with state congressional leaders.

Reception fetes pastor

BOLTON — A reception in honor of the Rev. Robert Cronin, former pastor of St. Maurice Church, was attended by more than 400 parishioners and friends. The reception was held Sunday at the church parish center. After 15 years of service, the Rev. Mr. Cronin was recently assigned the pastorage of St. Agnes Church in Natick.

Father Cronin was presented with a repeater watch by George Maneggia on behalf of the church trustees. He also received a painting of St. Maurice Church and rectory. The painting was done by Viola Sobel and included Father Cronin's cat Sarah and a parishioner's home.

James Boylan, parish council chairman, presented Father Cronin with a beautiful cake baked special for the occasion by Carol Zapadka.

Father Cronin also received a scrap book that included spiritual thanksgiving cards, old news clippings, parishioner's pictures and church functions of the past 15 years.

After the reception a dinner in Father Cronin's honor was held at Piano's Restaurant. It was attended by about 200 people.

Dr. Bernard Sheridan was the main speaker. Other speakers were Raymond Cocconi, The Rev. Ralph Kelly, first pastor of St. Maurice Church on Hebron Road, William Cronin's father, brother, Claire Landrey, speaking for the Ladies Aid Society and Boylan.

Glen Miller Miller sang two selections from Ethiopia's ear."

MANCHESTER — Enfield and Vernon have used federal Community Development funds advantageously, without ever hearing a demand to change local zoning or otherwise diminish local autonomy, according to officials of those towns.

Enfield's director of community development, Richard Bruckner, and the former Vernon town planner, John Loranger, made those comments at a well-attended Tuesday night meeting of the Manchester Citizens for Social Responsibility.

"Some household income has been freed for the purchase of retail goods and services, thus indirectly benefiting Rockville's commercial enterprises," Loranger said.

Homeownership increased because when elderly moved out of older, single family homes to live in the CD-funded elderly housing, a pool of moderate- to high priced "starter homes" for young, first time homebuyers was created.

CD funds were also used in both towns to provide sidewalks, street repairs, drainage improvements, lighting, recreation improvements, and a senior citizens center.

"Loranger said the CD money can help a town's tax base increase. "In the long term, when a sliding area stabilizes, the town can earn a tax revenue increase because revaluation will take into account the rehabilitated area," he said.

Millions watch debates Vote bids contrast sharply

CLEVELAND (UPI) — President Carter warned millions of undecided voters Tuesday night that Ronald Reagan may foster nuclear arms proliferation. Reagan, saying he is a man of peace, urged Americans instead to look at their wallets and their pride.

In their 90-minute nationally broadcast debate only one week before the tightest presidential elections in decades, the Democratic president and his Republican challenger made sharply contrasting bids for votes.

Carter accused Reagan of getting ready to throw the SALT II strategic arms limitation treaty in the dustbin and put Reagan on the defensive about what Carter said is Reagan's willingness to see non-nuclear countries build the bomb.

Reagan denied the charge. He pointed to double-digit inflation, urged a congressional investigation of the Tehran hostage crisis and told viewers to look at the nation's economy — then vote for him.

"Ask yourself: Are you better off than you were four years ago? Is it easier to go and buy things at a store than it was four years ago? Are there more or less unemployed? Is America as respected in the world as it is securely as safe? Are we as strong as we were?," Reagan asked. Officials of both campaigns claimed victory in the debate after the candidates, questioned by a panel of reporters and editors, covered a wide range of subjects from energy to women's rights. They collided sharply on nuclear arms limitation.

Carter left Cleveland's Convention Hall after the 90-minute confrontation saying he expected to win the election, and calling the debate only "very useful." But Hamilton Jordan, his deputy campaign chairman, claimed jubilantly, "We won."

Reagan did not make an outright claim to victory either, saying, "I feel very good about it." But returns from an ABC network telephone straw vote gave the former California governor an edge of about 240-1. Carter was a grim attacker during much of the meeting, while Reagan retained a relaxed and usually genial style.

Old man out in the show was independent John Anderson, who took part by having his comments included in a taped broadcast shown by the Cable News Network from Washington.

The panel of questioners got few incisive answers as both men sought to turn their responses to reflect the themes of their campaigns. Carter came back repeatedly to his claim Reagan's opposition to the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty was warning of a saber rattle, and Reagan lost no chance to remind the audience both inflation and unemployment had soared with Carter in the White House.

"When a man who hopes to be president says take this treaty, discard it — that is a very dangerous thoroughly to meet the goals of the locally designed housing plan. Enfield did a local census. It surveyed the types of households among its residents, such as how many were single parent homes, how many headed by a woman, and how many contained elderly residents.

Loranger and Bruckner said their towns met

Then it determined what shape the existing apartments were in, and what the vacancy rate was. From these factors, the town determined the needs it had to meet the housing demands of local residents.

When CD funds were used to meet the locally determined housing goal, the resultant new or rehabilitated housing stock was used by people who were already residents of the town. "People think you have to look to other communities, but we found people within our own borders," Bruckner said.

Loranger said the CD housing funds were used in the Rockville section to reverse a decline in the area. He said of four new or rehab projects which used CD money, three were for elderly housing, and one for family housing.

Opponents have also said the town should use its budget surplus to provide housing, thus eliminating the need to make plans for the benefit of a federal agency.

Loranger and Bruckner said both towns accepted CD funds during years when town budgets had surpluses, and said town leaders shouldn't plan on having surpluses to provide housing.

Fatal crash spills beer

TOLLAND (UPI) — Two trucks collided on Interstate 86 early today, killing both drivers and spilling thousands of containers of beer over the roadway, state police said.

Details were sketchy but state police said the empty truck and the truck carrying cases of beer collided in the westbound lane about 4:30 a.m.

Names of the two truck drivers were withheld pending notification of next of kin, police said.

Meadows strike likely

MANCHESTER — Contract negotiations held Tuesday between the Meadows Convalescent Home and the health workers union representing its employees brought little hope that a threatened strike would be averted.

A union organizer told state police the empty truck and the truck carrying cases of beer collided in the westbound lane about 4:30 a.m.

whether to strike the state's largest nursing care facility.

The Meadows is one of 19 private nursing homes across the state to be threatened with a workers' strike. The NEHEU announced last week that 1,800 workers would strike next month unless its demands for sharp wage increases were met.

At the Meadows, the issue of staffing has again become the focus of attention. The union is attempting to increase staff levels above the minimum required by the state, and to secure increased wages for workers on duty during periods of low-level staffing, according to Milstein.

William Fiocchetta, Meadows' administrator, could not be reached today for comment, and was reportedly away from the institution. Fiocchetta had said last week that negotiations had only recently begun.

Record check is completed

BOLTON — The annual town clerk's records check for the period Sept. 1, 1979 through Aug. 31, 1980 has been completed. All indices and volumes were found to be in excellent order. A total of seven minor errors were found — five in the day book and two in the grantee index. There were no errors found in the grantee index or the volume of records. The errors will be corrected by the town clerk. The check was done by Nancy Silvestein and Donna Holland.

Suspect being questioned

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — A suspect in the sniper slaying of two black youths in Utah is being questioned by the FBI about a dozen other shootings, including the attempted assassination of civil rights leader Vernon Jordan.

Joseph Paul Franklin, 30, subject of a nationwide manhunt since his escape from a Kentucky jail a month ago, was arrested Tuesday evening.

Iransians claim victories

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Iran said it drove back Iraqi forces in Khuzestan province, killing more than 300 invaders, and launched lightning crossborder air strikes into Iraq.

U.S. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim expressed concern at the growing number of civilian casualties and asked the warring nations to distinguish between military and civilian objectives.

Widows air brush fires

VORBA LINDA, Calif. (UPI) — Brush fires fanned by hot Santa Ana winds gusting to 60 mph burned nearly 20,000 acres, killing livestock, injuring at least two firefighters and threatening hundreds of homes.

Several hundred firefighters were on the lines Tuesday, on foot or in bulldozers and aircraft, fighting three separate brush fires in the Los Angeles area.

Nine children die in fire

CHICAGO (UPI) — A fire gutted a two-story frame apartment building on the city's South Side, killing nine children and injuring four other people. Arson was suspected.

Authorities said the victims of the blaze, which broke out about 10 p.m. Tuesday, had no means of escape. "It (the fire) totally burned out the stairs and hall," said Fire Commissioner William Blair. "One of the doors to one of the bedrooms was totally consumed. That's a lot of fire."

Blair said it had not yet been determined definitely whether the fire was deliberately set.

Trade deficit increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans reduced their consumption of imported oil last month, but not enough to offset increases in other imported commodities such as foreign cars.

The result: the U.S. trade deficit increased in September, following three months of declines, the government said Tuesday.

Meanwhile, some major coffee manufacturers lowered their prices for wholesale ground coffee by 15 cents, and Ford Motor Co. posted the largest quarterly loss in U.S. corporate history.

The Commerce Department reported the U.S. trade deficit rose to $1.64 billion last month, up from $1.06 billion in August.

Beverly's blowout

It was soprano Beverly Sills' big night — the very last of her farewell performances on the operatic stage. New York's Lincoln Center was a blaze of klieg lights, banners, balloons, ticker tape and confetti.

Sills fans paid $250 to $1,000 a ticket to attend the seven-hour cocktail, dinner, concert and dancing party in a block-size blue and white tent.

Beverly made her debut with the New York City Opera 25 years ago as Rosalinda in "Die Fledermaus" and she bowed out in the same role, singing the second-act ballroom scene with such celebrity guests as Ethel Merman, Mary Martin, Placido Domingo, Eileen Farrell, Zubin Mehta, Renato Scotti, Dinah Shore, Kitty Carlisle and Joan Mondale.

Care package

When Mayor Webb Hubbell of Little Rock, Ark., visited the Big Apple last summer, City Council President Carol Bellamy gave him a gourmet tour, particularly in a city with money troubles like New York.

He sent Miss Bellamy "an Arkansas Care package." Included was a six-pack of Fazzarback beer, a jar of honey, a can of tomatoes, a package of white rice, a bag of oatmeal cookies, three bottles of Arkansas wine, a miniature car to the city, and a jar of kosher dill pickles.

"Just what I need," Miss Bellamy said, "a jar of kosher dill pickles made in Arkansas."

Redford retorts

Dustin Hoffman predicts in 10 years Robert Redford will be running for president against Warren Beatty. Miscasting, says Redford. "I don't like myself in that role," he replies in the December issue of Penthouse magazine.

Redford thinks Ronald Reagan's career has made it more difficult for actors to speak out politically. Everyone suspects they're running for office.

"Being an actor isn't synonymous with giving up citizenship papers," Redford said. "I think I have a right to speak out."

He admitted fans will accept anything from a favorite on the screen. "But step off and step into the role of a public citizen, and there's a resistance."

Weighty problem

Robert DeNiro would rather experience life than take it, so he gained 60 pounds for the role of aging middleweight boxer Jake LaMotta in the film "Raging Bull."

"I reached the point where I couldn't tie my shoes," DeNiro told Life magazine. "I was huffing and puffing, and my breathing sounded strange. I got a rash on my inner thighs from their rubbing together and my feet hurt from the weight."

DeNiro, who ballooned up to 212 pounds for the role, described the final straw: "My daughter got so she was terribly embarrassed for her friends to see me. After all, I looked like an animal."

New move to call Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dramatic testimony from former Attorney General John Mitchell and Richard Kleindienst highlighted the trial of two former high FBI officials Tuesday, and the federal jury could hear from an even bigger surprise witness.

Sources said chief prosecutor John W. Nields Jr. advised defense lawyers there was a strong chance he would summon Richard Nixon to testify this afternoon or Thursday. It would be Nixon's first court appearance since he assumed the presidency in 1969.

"There is a very strong possibility he will be called — possibly as early as Wednesday or as late as Thursday," said one source close to the trial of retired FBI officials W. Mark Felt and Edward S. Miller.

Testimony by Nixon would provide a stunning finish to the trial in which Watergate figures Mitchell and Kleindienst became prosecution witnesses and references to the Nixon White House have been commonplace.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella Grasso says she remains firmly opposed to a state income tax to balance next year's budget and added state agencies are going to have to make do with less.

Mrs. Grasso said Tuesday she won't begin debating what if any tax increases she'd support if the program cuts her 'ol' order until she receives preliminary budget data Nov. 15.

Jury to null indictment

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A grand jury will convene Dec. 10 in Superior Court to decide if an elderly East Haven woman should be indicted in the shooting death of a teenager.

The jury will consider a murder indictment against Emily Kruger Papuga, 70, who was charged in the Oct. 21 death of John Brady, 15, of East Haven, officials said Tuesday.

Panel OKs redlining ban

HARTFORD (UPI) — A legislative committee has approved regulations to ban redlining by insurance companies, which practices when the regulations go into effect.

The new rules also forbid companies from demanding that any homeowner buy coverage for more than 80 percent of the estimated cost of rebuilding, known as "replacement cost value."

Emergency fuel program to be ready by Nov. 10

MANCHESTER — The town expects to have its emergency fuel program in place by Nov. 10, according to Human Services Director Hanna Marcus.

Local officials are now preparing the plan and will meet with state officials in Hartford. The state recently unveiled its emergency fuel program, and the meeting is intended to detail available state-financed programs.

The information will be given to the town Emergency Medical Services Council which is reviewing procedures for the delivery of emergency medical services. The survey was developed by Ronald Kraatz, assistant health director who is on leave while studying in Washington, D.C. Among the data provided by the survey will be estimates of the amount townpeople would be willing to pay for increased emergency services.

Dr. Turek also announced that interviews will be held

No action taken on condo zoning

MANCHESTER — The Planning and Zoning Commission took no action Tuesday evening on a zone change request to build condominiums near the Manchester Country Club.

The commission delayed a vote until obtaining a legal opinion on whether a two-thirds vote is needed to approve the zone change, and whether the town can require a developer to increase an off-site sewer line.

The commission delayed the decision until its Nov. 10 meeting. The zone change, sought by First Hartford Realty for about 25 acres, would be from a single-family zone to an M zone, a floating zone for construction of group dwellings. The area stretches along the sixth hole of the Manchester Country Club to Fern Street and South Main Street. The corporation, an associate of Green Manor Corp., plans about 108 luxury condominiums, selling at about $100,000, for the area.

Nearly 100 residents opposed the zone change at the Oct. 7 public hearing. Area residents hired an attorney, John LaBelle Sr., to represent them, besides having four others speak.

Reasons for opposition to the plan included a lowering of the property values of the single-family homes in the area, poor visibility for traffic, and a detrimental impact on the nearby Globe Hollow water reservoir. LaBelle also noted the sewer line to service the proposed complex was too small and would have to be replaced. He questioned whether the taxpayer should pay to benefit a private developer.

The PZC directed the question to the Town Attorney's Office for an opinion.

GOP plans contest for political essay

EAST HARTFORD — The Republican Town Committee will sponsor an essay contest on the subject "Do We Need a Strong Town Party System?"

Open to all high school students in East Hartford and the winner will receive a $100 Savings Bond.

Judy Graf, chairman of the party's action committee, said the contest, designed to promote interest and involvement in government on the local, state and national level will be judged by the East Hartford League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Graf said the rules of the contest are that essays are to be 1,000 words or less and must be typewritten, and papers must include author's name, address, phone number, school and grade. Entries should be submitted by mail to Mrs. Judy Graf, 24 Overbrook Drive, East Hartford, 06118. The entries must be received no later than Dec. 15.

Mrs. Graf said the winner will be notified by mail and the award will be presented at the January 1981 meeting of the East Hartford Republican Town Committee.

Zinsser for Senate

We favor Republican Carl Zinsser for the seat being vacated by David Barry in Connecticut's Fourth Senate District. Zinsser has mounted an impressive record in his service to Manchester town government. He has shown the courage to stand for what he has thought to be right, even though he has consistently been in the minority. He apparently has best reflected the interests of the citizens of Manchester because he mounted the second-highest vote total in his last run for town board of directors. Zinsser has been able to present viewpoints that have been the catalyst for compromise in Manchester. Although he has been on the minority side of the board, he has been effective in bringing about a number of moderation in state spending and taxation. We have found Zinsser to be studious and independent in thought. His will be well thought positions based on what he thinks is right for the towns in the Fourth Senate District and for Connecticut at-large. We doubt Zinsser will be one who will wait to hear the party-line on every issue and cast his vote accordingly. Zinsser's opponent, Democrat Abraham Glassman of South Windsor, is an experienced legislator. Glassman and Zinsser both are thoughtful, intelligent, articulate candidates. But Glassman has represented a portion of Manchester for several years as a state representative. He has been a representative of relatively low visibility in Manchester. Because of his low profile, we have doubts on his ability to stay in touch with the views of constituents in the district. We think the people of the district have grown accustomed to having their opinions heard and respected. Whoever serves them in the state Senate must be willing to listen to the needs of the constituency. Zinsser will make a capable, competent voice as the state grapples with the many issues vital to the future of Connecticut. We think he is the best choice for the office and we enthusiastically endorse his effort to reach the capitol.

Town fights sewer halt

MANCHESTER — The town has appealed the sewer moratorium imposed by the state Department of Environmental Protection, Jay Giles, public works director, told the Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday night.

The appeal is the form of a public hearing before department officials. The department then makes a final determination, according to Robert Moore, DEP commissioner. The moratorium was scheduled to take effect Nov. 30. By then, the town is supposed to phase out new sewer system installations. The moratorium was requested by a group of Manchester lawyers representing residents living on the Manchester-South Windsor border. The object of the moratorium was to delay construction of the mammoth J.C. Penney warehouse. The order from DEP said Manchester sewer treatment plant exceeds its capacity and polluted the Hockanum River. The appeal should push back the deadline of phasing in the moratorium to January if the appeal is unsuccessful, Giles told the commission.

He also suggested the commission approve future subdivision requests for sewer installations on a conditional basis, pending the lifting of the moratorium. Sewer installations which are approved but not complete, will probably be allowed to use the system, Giles said.

MACC explains CD stand

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Area Conference of Churches last week released a brochure explaining its support for the federal Community Development program.

According to the statement, the CD program will benefit low and moderate income families, and aid the prevention and elimination of slums or blight. During the four years in which the town participated in the federal program, about $57,000 was allocated for housing improvements. Of that figure, $231,000 went for housing rehabilitation loans and another $116,000 for the purchase of land for elderly housing, the conference said. In the 18 months since the town withdrew from the CD program, no funds have been invested to continue those housing programs started under the federal program, according to the conference. At the same time, town vacancy rates for both rental units and single homes have remained below one percent, condominium conversions have claimed about 400 housing units and interest rates have placed homes beyond the reach of low and middle income families, the conference said. According to the statement, "The Manchester Area Conference of Churches is vitally concerned with the need of all Manchester residents —black and white—rich and poor—to secure safe, decent and affordable shelter for themselves and their families." The conference also said the CD program requires participating towns to assess their own housing needs and to design a plan to meet those needs. Public input is required before the grant is awarded, the conference said.

The town will vote Tuesday on whether to recommend to the Board of Directors a re-entry into the federal CD program. In a similar referendum held in April 1979 the town voted by a 3 to 1 margin to withdraw from the program.

Letters

Facts reviewed and digested on HUD question

To the editor:

Having attended the HUD debate on Oct. 15, and having reviewed and digested the facts as Mr. Faucher calls the, I reiterate what I said in a previous letter to you last month: nothing has changed. Mr. Faucher and the small but vociferous MCSR group are still trying to sell the CD program by implying that senior citizens will profit by Manchester's re-entry into the HUD program.

Not so, Mr. Faucher. Many of our senior citizens are retired and are currently trying to meet the tax bills on their homes while dwindling resources. Their pensions and other sources of income are not keeping pace with the increased cost of living. Senior citizens could suffer great harm in future years because of the increased tax burden inevitably resulting from the CD contract commitments. Playing up to the rental group, Mr. Faucher refers to the problem of rental property conversion to condominium. Does he really believe that the $500,000 annual CDBG subsidy has any bearing on the subject? Some people may be evicted due to condominium conversion but these people are not likely to be considered for any subsidized low rental units which might be constructed if we re-enter CDBG. If 150 units of subsidized housing were available today, CDBG is paying only about one-half what the private home owner pays in light of HUD's insistence last year that a certain percentage of rental subsidy allowances in Manchester be reserved for people from outside Manchester. Mr. Faucher praised the tax revenue received from the HUD subsidized lower income Squire Village apartment complex and Mr. Sweeney demonstrated that each rental unit in Squire Village would be the equivalent of a house assessed for approximately $9,600 after full phase-in of revaluation. A private home of equivalent size would probably be assessed for about $18,000—almost double. Thus Squire Village is paying only about one-half what the private home owner pays in taxes. Of course if your house is assessed for a higher amount, you are carrying a great deal more of the tax load than you would otherwise. Mr. Faucher referred to the housing rehabilitation program. He drives around Manchester he will find that for every house renovated with CD guaranteed loans there are many hundreds of homes (approximately 1,000) that have been renovated since 1947 by the owners without any government or CD support. A very limited few families have benefited from this program compared to those who did the renovations on their own. Further, Mr. Faucher claims that there is not enough money in the local budget to accomplish all the programs supported by the MCSR and referred to the $200,000 in CD money used for the renovation of the Green School Senior Citizen Center.

He forgot that the seniors had to wait for an extra six months to obtain CDBG money. This contract imposes additional obligations on our town. Any failure by our town to perform those contract obligations could result in court action to enforce those obligations. The CDBG funds are definitely tied into HUD requiring additional housing objectives. The HUD rules and regulations are very specific, yet Mr. Faucher and the MCSR group refuse to acknowledge any unfavorable aspects of those regulations. Remember, Mr. Faucher, Mephistopheles (i.e. HUD) never gave anything without demanding his pound of flesh. Citizens of Manchester vote NO on the referendum question number six on Nov. 4.

Finally, Mr. Faucher and company refuse to recognize the "contract" aspect of the situation. As Mr. Sweeney pointed out, Manchester must first sign a written contract with HUD in order to obtain the CDBG money. This contract imposes additional obligations on our town. Any failure by our town to perform those contract obligations could result in court action to enforce those obligations. The CDBG funds are definitely tied into HUD requiring additional housing objectives. The HUD rules and regulations are very specific, yet Mr. Faucher and the MCSR group refuse to acknowledge any unfavorable aspects of those regulations. Remember, Mr. Faucher, Mephistopheles (i.e. HUD) never gave anything without demanding his pound of flesh. Citizens of Manchester vote NO on the referendum question number six on Nov. 4.

CDBG program supported

To the editor:

On Nov. 4 Manchester voters will decide whether or not to re-enter the Community Development Block Grant program. I will be voting "yes" on question number six to re-enter the program. Community development money has funded many worthwhile projects in the past. It has also generated additional money from other sources. Senior citizens benefited greatly from HUD CD money. In the first four years of CD participation $16,000 was used to purchase land for elderly housing and another $93,000 was used for site improvements for elderly housing. Two hundred thousand dollars was used for the new senior citizens center.

A major use of CD money in the past was in the area of housing rehabilitation. Housing rehabilitation loans were available through the Community Development Block Grant program. I feel this is an especially important use of the CD money. Older housing stock must be kept up if deterioration of a neighborhood is to be prevented. Upkeep of a house will not be a priority if a family needs money for food, clothing, fuel bills and other essentials.

The CD money offers an opportunity to get a low interest loan to families who wish to rehabilitate their housing but cannot afford to do so at the higher rates. I've heard people say they don't want Community development money because of the regulations. I've read the regulations and I am unable to find any regulation which causes a problem for me. The regulations spell out exactly what projects and activities are eligible for CD money. The regulations also state what projects and activities are ineligible for CD funds. The regulations call for a three-year plan to be submitted. The community must first see what its needs are and set goals. Then the community plans activities to meet its goals. It is not HUD that designs the plan on spending the CD money. It is the recipient community that decides who to allocate the CD money. One of the most important requirements to me is citizen participation in the regulations spell out what groups of citizens must be represented, what information must be provided to them, and what procedures must be followed at the required public hearings so that everyone in the community has the opportunity to make their views known. The Housing Assistance Plan is another requirement. This plan ensures that a community has studied the type and quantity of housing it needs. A knowledge of the condition of present housing in the community enables the town to plan the types and amounts of housing needed so that it may set realistic goals for the future. I urge you to investigate the facts about the Community Development Block Grant program for yourself and vote "yes" on Question 6 on Nov. 4.

Sadat and Quaddafi rivals

By JACK ANDERSON WASHINGTON — A deadly two-man game has been going on for years in Middle East — and both players are men who should know better. The participants, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Libyan strongman Muammar Qaddafi, have been trying, by one means or another, to remove the other from the playing field "with extreme prejudice" — by assassination or violent overthrow.

In actual numbers, Qaddafi has probably planned more violence against Sadat than the other way around. But Sadat has done his share. In public, Sadat has called his desert neighbor crazy, childish and suffering from a Napoleonic complex. In private, he has planned Qaddafi's assassination. "President Sadat," says one of several top-secret CIA reports, "has ordered the Egyptian intelligence service to draw up plans to overthrow Libyan President Qaddafi... Sadat reportedly stipulated that the coup should appear to originate within Libya, and that care be taken to conceal Egypt's hand." Sadat is apparently going about the planning with some caution.

Thoughts. Jesus knew our relationship to our money and our possessions had a tremendous potential for good or evil in our life. When we remember that the most important things in our life have been given to us freely, our brains, our breath, our bodies, this earth, then as we produce goods and services with our gifts, we will surely want to return some of what we produce to the Giver, and to those in need. Sometimes we say "Oh, let the other guy take care of my part." This is what happened in one situation. Once there was a village that was extremely grateful to its mayor, who had served the community all his life, with grace and compassion. It was a poor village, and yet they wanted to give him a gift in return for all he had done for them over the years. They could not afford to give him much money, so they decided to put a large keg in the village square, and for weeks before their Thanksgiving celebration, the villagers were to put in their contribution of wine. That would be their gift, a large keg of wine, which everyone would contribute to. But when the day of celebration came, and they opened the wine keg to present the first glass to their retiring mayor, it was water. They dipped in to try again; but again, it was water. And again, a bit deeper, but it was water. Everyone in the village had said to themselves, "I'll let the other guy give a portion of wine. I'll put in water just so they'll see me contribute. It won't matter."

How often do you discount the importance of what you can contribute to the well being of your neighbors and your community? If old number one is first in getting, old number one can also be first in giving. It is a matter of life and death for our spirit, and our communities.

Parking ban set Nov. 1

MANCHESTER — The winter all-night parking ban in Manchester will become effective Nov. 1.

The ban is as follows: Any vehicle found parked at any time between 2 and 6 a.m. on any public highway or designated municipally-owned, leased or operated off-street parking area shall be subject to a $15 fine. Minor said the ordinance is designed to facilitate the removal of ice and snow during the winter months and will be in effect until March 31, 1981.

The Police Department requests the full cooperation of all vehicle owners in complying with the ordinance which will be strictly enforced.

Grasso endorses Fahey

HARTFORD — Gov. Ella Grasso has endorsed the re-election effort of Sen. Marcella C. Fahey, D-East Hartford.

In making the endorsement, Gov. Grasso said, "Marcella is totally dedicated to public service." The diligence and long hours she has devoted to her work with the General Assembly's Committee on Appropriations, General Law and Program Review are clear evidence of this dedication. Her selection as vice chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee was an unusual tribute to her expertise and her concern for the needs of our people.

"Marcella's record of legislative achievement and her participation in many civic and community activities eminently qualifies her for re-election to the State Senate," Sen. Fahey is seeking re-election in the Third Senatorial District.

High school vote

To the editor: Manchester's only high school is now 25 years old. After so many years of continuous use by Manchester people, no one should question the need for renovations and improvements. The roof has leaked for many years. It must be repaired properly and as soon as possible. In addition, bringing this school facility up to present day needs, the following must be done.

- comply with safety and fire code requirements.
• make the facility accessible to the handicapped.
• make energy conservation improvements.
Some of the costs for these needed requirements will be reimbursed by the state. That means that the tax burden on the local property owners will be minimized. The town's bonding position is excellent at this time.

He leaves his mother, Mrs. Nellie Kaplan Greenberg and a sister, Mrs. Louis Betty Weiner, both of West Hartford. Funeral services were held today at the Weinstein Mortuary in Hartford and interment was in Paterson Verain Cemetery, Wethersfield. Memorial week will be observed at the home of his sister, 263 Griswold Drive, West Hartford, through Saturday. Memorial contributions may be made to a charity of the donor's choice.

Kenneth H. Warner
SOUTH WINDSOR — Kenneth H. Warner, 65, of Ellington Road, died Monday at Hartford Hospital. He was the husband of Alice Helm Warner. He was born in Hartford and had lived in the South Windsor area all of his life. Before his retirement he was a toolmaker in the Hartford area for many years. Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Mrs. John (Pete) Callahan of South Windsor; eight grandchildren; four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be Thursday at 10 a.m. from the Callahan Funeral Home, 1602 Main St., East Hartford with the Rev. Alva G. Decker officiating. Burial will be in Rose Hill Memorial Park, Rocky Hill. Friends may call at the funeral home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Town may bypass ZBA for tank

Giles appeared before the PZC explaining the need for the water tank, which is to provide fire protection and smooth water distribution problems. The problem, Giles told the commission, is locating a site, as residents of any area will probably protest the construction of the 115-foot diameter tank.

Lamson explained the town presently has no regulation governing construction of any type of public facility, including fire stations, police stations, or even town office buildings. These buildings exist by a variance of zoning regulations, which the ZBA grants.

The PZC examines the merits of the application, like any other zoning application. Special exceptions are those uses which are permitted in a zone, with approval. The PZC members noted there should be a specific regulation governing public facility construction, and the water tank construction was an example.

The zoning change will probably have a public hearing in January, as it must also be routed through the Capitol Region Council of Governments. After the possible revision, plans for the water tank would proceed. Giles said several options could be considered.

Communist Party says state has 'dirty tricks'

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Communist Party has charged Connecticut election officials with playing "dirty tricks" in barring its presidential candidates from the state's Nov. 4 ballot.

Claiming 187 petition signatures had been wrongfully invalidated by election officials, the party Tuesday demanded a spot on the ballot for Communist presidential candidate Gus Hall and runningmate Angela Davis.

"The Communist candidates have been barred from the November ballot by dirty tricks numbers games by which some town clerks and registrars have wrongfully eliminated signatures of our nominating petitions on false grounds," charged Lee Dugan, national field director for the Hall-Davis campaign.

"Town clerks or registrars in 20 Connecticut towns and cities threw out names based on outdated voter lists and in some cases because 'there were no middle initials,'" Ms. Dugan charged.

She said almost 11,000 of 24,000 signatures gathered had been rejected, leaving the party 141 names short of the 14,000 required to win ballot status in the state.

"This action is simply another way of rigging the November election on behalf of the old parties by removing from the voters an important alternative choice," said Ms. Dugan.

Reaction to big debate is predictable in state

HARTFORD (UPI) — Major party officials in Connecticut predictably gave their respective presidential candidates a good rating in Tuesday night's national debate between President Carter and Ronald Reagan.

Democratic State Chairman James Fitzgerald said Carter "conducted himself with dignity" and had "swayed soft Democrats away from (independent candidate John) Anderson to vote the Democratic ticket."

Ralph Capocelatro, the Republican state chairman, saw it another way.

"Governor Reagan clearly won. There's no question, the great majority of undecided voters were waiting for a signal—a good reason to vote Republican—and they got it."

Fitzgerald said, "No one lost or no one won the debate" but he felt it was clear that Carter had the upper hand.

"There was nothing new or startling that we have not heard before in the campaign," said Fitzgerald who accused Reagan of engaging in "the old rhetoric" of pointing out the nation's problems and claiming he has all the solutions.

Republican U.S. Senate candidate James Buckley, who viewed the debate in his Sharon home, said Reagan "came off well."

Buckley said he was "appalled" by Carter's attempts to tell voters that all was well with national defense and the economy was improving.

"Here you have Carter look you straight in the eye and say the world was flat and expect you to believe it."

"People don't believe him," said Buckley of Carter.

Lawyer facing charges will remain a candidate

NEW BRITAIN (UPI) — Attorney John V. Zisk, charged with larceny and extortion in a grand jury probe of alleged criminal activity in Hartford County, will remain a candidate for the state senate, his lawyer said Tuesday.

Zisk, 51, a former Democratic state senator, appeared in New Britain Superior Court Tuesday, where his case was continued until Nov. 19 in Hartford Superior Court.

His lawyer, Harold Geragosian of New Britain, said Zisk indicated he would stay in the race to unseat Republican State Sen. Nancy Johnson. Zisk couldn't be reached for comment.

New Britain Democratic Town Chairman Thomas Domizio has asked Zisk to withdraw.

Zisk turned himself in to state police and was charged with first degree larceny by false pretense and extortion Sunday after a warrant for his arrest was issued Friday.

Authorities have refused to discuss the nature of the charges, based on grand jury hearings begun last month in Hartford.

Buckley, Dodd attack records

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Republican James Buckley and his opponent for the U.S. Senate, Democrat Christopher Dodd, are zeroing in on each others defense record in the last days of their campaigns.

Buckley and Dodd, in back to back appearances Tuesday night, one week before election day, accused each other of poor defense voting records in the Congress.

Buckley, a former senator from New York, also questioned Dodd's credibility in his campaign stance versus his record in Congress.

The two answered questions from editors and reporters at the 27th annual meeting of the United Press International Newspaper Association of Connecticut.

Buckley, who has been shown to be trailing in the race which will be decided next Tuesday, also said he hadn't had time to reflect on the way he had run his campaign.

Dodd, a three-term Democratic congressman from Connecticut's sprawling 2nd district, said he had consistently put forth positive programs and hadn't run a negative campaign.

Dodd said his opponent this week had decided to attack his defense record and while he didn't mind if Buckley addressed certain votes, "to characterize that record as a weak record is something I definitely take exception to."

"I can relate with their disappointment in not getting on the ballot," said Mrs. Kennedy. "But you must remember that we've had a number of other parties, the Citizens, Libertarians and others get on the ballot in Connecticut. It's not just Connecticut. The Communist party has had trouble elsewhere."

Forensic experts say Carter won

By United Press International

Nicholas M. Cripe, former president of the American Forensic Association and head of the Department of Speech at Butler University, Ind., called the debate in Carter's favor.

"Had this been a college debate decided on points for evidence, organization, analysis, refutation, delivery, why then, you would have had to go with Carter," said Cripe.

Dennis Winfield, executive secretary of the National Forensic League, also gave Carter the edge. On a 50-point scale, Winfield gave Carter 20 points to Reagan's 18.

"I think the debate did show sharp differences between the two men, particularly on the ... Equal Rights Amendment, on the minimum wage, Social Security and the Energy Policy," he said.

Robert Jeffrey, dean of communications at the University of Texas at Austin, appraised Carter's offensive posture on the podium as a success.

"Reagan was almost constantly defending himself against the Carter attacks," he said.

ABC poll sees Reagan winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ronald Reagan emerged the 2-1 winner of the presidential debate over President Carter in an ABC experimental phone-in survey marred by busy lines and a tape recording mix-up.

The survey Tuesday night showed 57 percent of the TV viewers chose Reagan as the winner and 33 percent chose Carter, ABC said.

The viewers in the unscientific survey — the first such nationwide phone "straw poll" conducted — were told to call a special number if they thought Carter won, and another number, if they thought Reagan turned in the better performance.

The governor exhibited every bit as much presidential quality as he needed. He was the equal to the President, and I think that's what he was trying to establish in this debate," said Unger.

James McBeth, communications professor at the University of Southern California, agreed with Unger, saying Reagan was better informed on most issues, was more responsive to the questions and had greater self assurance.

FEASIBLE FESTIVE FARE FOR A FALL BUFFET

The Fall season brings with it many entertaining opportunities. Election parties will abound... followed by seasonal sports parties and Saturday night get-togethers for conversation or card playing and Sunday morning brunches. These are just a few of the how's and why's of the Fall entertaining trend.

Whether planning for family or guests, there is no need to worry about serving elaborate food, as economy and practicality are the order of the day. Food costs seem destined to rise, providing us with more reasons for selective food shopping.

What's more, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Science and Education Administration continues to tell us of the importance of selecting the kinds and amounts of food for making up a nutritious diet. The new five food groups are not so different from the old basic four food groups, though it is interesting to note that in the milk and cheese group, the words skim, low-fat and nonfat are prominent, while a group titled Fats, Sweets and Alcohol is labeled CAUTION.

The route to a better diet is a sensible assortment of foods from the four food groups... viz: Vegetables and Fruits mainly for their Vitamins A and C and B. Bread and Cereal Group mainly for whole-grain and enriched breads and cereals, which are important sources of B vitamins, iron and protein plus magnesium, folacin and fiber. The Milk and Cheese Group contributes riboflavin, protein and Vitamins A, B₂ and B₁₂, and some Vitamin D. The Meat, Poultry, Fish and Beans Group is valuable for protein, phosphorus, iron, zinc, Vitamin B₆, other vitamins and minerals.

While adhering to these government guidelines and standards, food can be festive, yet practical and easy-to-prepare. Here is a fine example of a feasible, festive, fall buffet with the recipes for creating it. The basics have been built-in... especially with the cheese product... processed with lower fat and cholesterol to meet the demands of modern consumers who are aware of the ways of better health.

The fabled Jack Spratt who ate no fat and his huxorn wife who ate no lean might go hungry with this meal. We'll wager the average American will be thoroughly satisfied and happy with the hot sherried bouillon. Po'Boy sandwich sliced into pieces for eight, a nifty spinach salad and a tasty zucchini, cheese and carrot combination. Fresh fruit for dessert balances the menu.

ELEANOR'S PO'BOY
(Makes 8 servings)

1-1/2 pounds lean ground beef
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
3 slices Skim-American Pasteurized Process Cheese Product
1/4 cup chopped green onion
2 teaspoons Wyle's® Beef-Flavor Instant Bouillon OR 2 Beef-Flavor Bouillon Cubes
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 (1-pound) loaf French bread
1 medium tomato, sliced
1 medium green pepper, cut into rings

ANDY'S HARVEST VEGETABLE MEDLEY
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

1-1/2 pounds zucchini, sliced
1 pound carrots, pared and sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1 tablespoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon OR 3 chicken-flavor bouillon cubes
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons diet margarine
8 slices Skim-American Pasteurized Process Cheese Product, cut into small pieces

SUSAN'S SPINACH SALAD
(Makes 8 servings)

4 cups torn lettuce or other salad greens
4 cups torn fresh spinach
1 (11-ounce) can Mandarin orange sections, drained
1 (8-ounce) can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
8 slices Skim-American Pasteurized Process Cheese Product, cut into strips

Preheat oven to 400°. In large skillet, brown meat; pour off fat. Stir in tomato sauce, 3 slices cheese product (cut into pieces), onion, bouillon and garlic powder, cover. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes or until bouillon dissolves, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, slice off top of French bread and scoop out center section (use for making bread crumbs or crostons); place on large sheet of aluminum foil for wrapping. Spoon meat mixture into bread loaf. Cut remaining cheese product slices in half diagonally; layer alternately with tomato slices and green pepper on meat; replace top of bread. Tightly wrap in aluminum foil. Bake 20 minutes or until hot. Slice into 8 servings. Refrigerate leftovers.

NOTE: Prepared as directed, and using ground beef with 10% fat, provides approximately 12 grams of fat, and 320 calories. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

Preheat oven to 350°. In large covered skillet, over low heat, cook zucchini, carrots, onion, bouillon and pepper in margarine, stirring occasionally, 10 to 15 minutes or until carrots are tender. Reserving about 1/4 of the cheese product, stir remainder into vegetables. Turn into lightly-oiled 1-1/2-quart shallow baking dish (10x 6-inch); top with reserved cheese product. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until hot. Refrigerate leftovers.

NOTE: Prepared as directed, provides approximately 5.4 grams of fat, and 100 calories. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

In large bowl, combine all ingredients except dressing; chill until serving time. Toss with dressing. Refrigerate leftovers.

NOTE: Prepared as directed and without dressing, provides 27 grams of fat, and 90 calories per serving. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

DAVID'S SHERRY BOUILLON
(Makes about 1-1/2 quarts)

6 cups water
3 tablespoons beef-flavor instant bouillon OR 9 beef-flavor bouillon cubes
1/3 cup dry or cocktail sherry
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Lemon slices, optional

In large saucepan, bring water to boiling; add bouillon, stirring until dissolved. Remove from heat, stir in sherry and lemon juice. Serve hot garnished with lemon slices if desired.

NOTE: Prepared as directed, provides approximately 26 calories. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

Food can be addicting for the fat

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The dumpy doctor gulping another chocolate-coated cherry or the portly businessman tucking away another plate of mashed potatoes may not consider themselves food junkies — but they might be.

Research by Temple University's Dr. David Margules indicates that a hormone called beta-endorphin, which acts like an opiate, may be closely connected to obesity.

Margules said in a recent interview that beta-endorphin "lies dormant and is only called upon in special circumstances."

"It hooks as if hunger and starvation can bring it out, and stress can bring it out," he said.

How the hormone fits in the chain of events awaits to be determined by research, said Margules, but apparently it is triggered by food consumed in response to stress or hunger.

It also appears to be especially active in cultures where famines are prevalent.

"They feel that if they don't eat they will perish, which is a painful, psychological emotion," Margules said. "Famine is very threatening and painful, and you eat under this circumstance because it relieves that pain."

Margules said he suspects the food triggers the release of beta-endorphin, the first natural opiate discovered in the body, which acts in a way morphine might.

It will produce euphoria. It will also slow down breathing. It will produce a passive, relaxed state," said Margules, who founded the newly created National Obesity Research Foundation.

"Many of its actions help us to conserve energy so we're less likely to be active when this morphine-like hormone is working," he said.

Once the passive state is past, he said, "then we get withdrawal symptoms, and when it's gone we get more cravings — like alcohol."

"We've known for many years that obese people talk about food as if it were some kind of drug, so we connected the two," he said.

In preliminary research on rats, Margules found a high incidence of beta-endorphin in obese animals. It also was discovered that Naloxone, which counteracts the effects of morphine, stops mice from overeating. The action of the drug is short-lived and has not been tested on humans, he said.

Obesity, Margules said, is becoming a major medical health problem.

Beta-endorphin, he said, could hold the key.

Baked stuffed onions

Baked stuffed onions are easy to do, yet so few of us take the time to consider them as a main vegetable course.

Certainly, individuals who have problems digesting fried onions will appreciate their favorite in a new edible guise. Serve these with all your major meat, fish or poultry courses during the holidays.

They also make an excellent baked vegetable. And, again, baked stuffed onions are so easy to do, you'll kick yourself for not having included in them in your repertoire all these years.

Savory Stuffed Onions
6 large onions (about 1 1/2 pounds)
6 slices bacon
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, well drained
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
Cut tops off onions. Scoop out, leaving 1/2-inch thick shell. Chop onion centers. In skillet, cook bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. Cook chopped onion in drippings until tender. Stir in soup, spinach and bacon. Fill onion shells with spinach mixture. Arrange in 2-quart shallow baking dish (12-by-8-by-2-inch); cover with foil. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes or until done. This kitchen tested recipe makes 6 servings.

They also make an excellent baked vegetable. And, again, baked stuffed onions are so easy to do, you'll kick yourself for not having included in them in your repertoire all these years.

Fat & happy not a myth

UNIVERSITY, Ala. (UPI) — An associate professor of romance languages says the belief that fat people really are happier may not be pure myth.

Gregory R. Rocher of the University of Alabama reached his conclusion in translating a book by a 19th century French physician, Laurent Joubert, in his "Treatise on Laughter."

Study laughter warm the blood, so those who laugh easily become fat.

My heart stopped beating. At the same moment, my husband conveniently decided to take a walk.

What could be wrong? Had the coupons expired? Were they counterfeit? Just as I was about to sink through the floor, the manager arrived. Pointing excitedly to the register, the cashier exclaimed, "I think it's on fire!"

I quickly directed their attention to the woman behind me who was puffing on a cigarette. The air conditioning was blowing the smoke right at the cashier.

As she put out the cigarette, the manager retreated to the produce section, shaking his head in disbelief.

My thoughtful husband returned with the coupons. During the last 30 minutes of roasting time, bake stuffing mixture and brush roast frequently with gravy mixture. Remove roast to serving platter. Spoon off fat, reserving drippings on top of range. In roasting pan, stir remaining gravy mixture into drippings. Heat, stirring to loosen browned bits. Serve with stuffing and gravy. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

Stuffed Turkey Breast
1 cup chopped zucchini squash
1/2 cup grated carrot
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon ground mace
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups pumpernickel bread cubes
2 cups rye bread cubes
2 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) apricots in heavy syrup
2 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) mushroom gravy
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
5 cups herb-seasoned stuffing mix
1/2 cup water

Super Market Shopper

My husband and I were shopping at Super Market Shopper. I got the three boxes for nothing.

Among my purchases were three boxes of Tide, which were priced at 89 cents each. When I handed the teen-age cashier three 30-cent-off Tide coupons, I got the three boxes for nothing.

I purchased my purchases in the trunk of the car, my husband and I headed back to the store with 33 more Tide coupons.

As the cashier rang up box after box of free Tide, I smiled with satisfaction. But suddenly she stopped and slammed her hand down on the bell to summon the manager.

How did Gladys get her

36 Tide coupons? When I telephoned her, she gave me the following breakdown: seven came from neighbors, four from relatives, 14 from trading with members of her coupon club and eight from trading by mail. She couldn't remember the origins of the last three coupons.

"What are you doing with all that detergent?" she asked.

"My husband and I son both give me baskets full of dirty work clothes," she laughed. "And I have been thinking about taking in some laundry."

Incidentally, Gladys was fortunate in her choice of supermarket. Many stores would have limited the number of boxes of Tide on which she could have obtained her triple discount.

Diet is not the cure

You may be suffering from high blood pressure and not even be aware of it. Some 60 million Americans have high blood pressure. Of the population over age 45, about 40 percent of whites and more than 50 percent of blacks suffer from some form of this disease.

In older people, high blood pressure can lead to many serious conditions, including stroke, heart disease and kidney failure.

It is important to have your blood pressure monitored regularly by a medical professional. Don't rely only on those do-it-yourself machines for measuring blood pressure that have recently begun appearing in public places. Blood pressure readings are given in two numbers, such as "120/80" or "120 over 80." Although the average blood-pressure reading for adults is 120/80, a slightly higher or lower reading is not necessarily abnormal or unusual.

Somewhat lower readings — 110/70, for example — are considered safe for most people. And for older people, many experts believe that readings as high as 140/90 are acceptable.

But once the blood pressure goes above this level, notes the Public Health Service, some form of treatment should be considered.

Widespread opinion to the contrary, a change of diet or other nutritional measures cannot cure you of this disease.

Exercising, losing excess pounds and reducing salt intake may help lower blood pressure in certain cases. But at the most, they will only aid in controlling the disease.

So don't try to treat yourself. Even medical science is far from knowing all the answers about high blood pressure. But it does know that the disease usually is best controlled with certain drugs that must be administered by a doctor.

High blood pressure is a condition that requires careful medical supervision over an extended period of time. Don't decide you are cured after a few months and then stop taking your pills or following your diet.

Once your doctor has prescribed an anti-hypertension drug, you will probably have to continue taking it for the rest of your life. The dosage may be reduced, but the medication will seldom be eliminated entirely.

This is a small payment, you'll agree, for a longer and healthier life.

For more information on this subject, write to the High Blood Pressure Information Center, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md. 20205.

Unique small-scale holiday feast

Holiday feasts come in all sizes. There is no reason why a single individual or a couple without children cannot put on a small spread for their favorite dining companions.

The holidays also are a time for a newly married couple to entertain ladies without destroying the budget.

For example, a succulent pork loin rib roast or turkey breast serves six to eight easily. Both are stuffed on a small spread for their favorite dining companions.

Don't forget a harvest vegetable salad and your favorite pecan pie or pumpkin pie for dessert. It's all much easier to do than serving 30!

Roast Pork Loin With Apricot Stuffing
5 pound pork loin rib roast
1 can (about 16 ounces) apricots in heavy syrup
2 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) mushroom gravy
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
5 cups herb-seasoned stuffing mix
1/2 cup water

chop apricots. Combine gravy and syrup in saucepan, cook celery and onion in butter until tender. Add stuffing mix, apricots, water and 1 cup gravy mixture. Toss lightly. Spoon into a buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole. Cover. During the last 30 minutes of roasting time, bake stuffing mixture and brush roast frequently with gravy mixture. Remove roast to serving platter. Spoon off fat, reserving drippings on top of range. In roasting pan, stir remaining gravy mixture into drippings. Heat, stirring to loosen browned bits. Serve with stuffing and gravy. group concluded that the available data were still fragmentary, but advised that the results of the latest CDC study should not be ignored.

Therefore, on September 22, Procter & Gamble announced it was suspending sales of Rely and that it would refund money to consumers who had Rely in their homes.

The Food and Drug Administration offers this advice to consumers: "The current evidence indicates that women should stop using Rely. Women who want to reduce their risk of toxic shock even further may want to consider not using any tampons at all, or using napkins part of the time during their periods."

"Women using tampons who develop a high fever and vomiting or diarrhea during their periods should stop using tampons and see their doctors right away."

The FDA and CDC have said they will continue studying Toxic Shock Syndrome to find out what causes it and why it is associated with tampons. Procter & Gamble will participate with the government in this important effort.

In the meantime, Procter & Gamble advises women not to use Rely tampons and to return unused Rely for a refund.

A message to users of Rely tampons

Women who use Rely tampons should stop using them and return the unused product to Procter & Gamble for a refund.

Government studies show that tampons are associated with an increased risk of Toxic Shock Syndrome (TSS). This is a newly discovered disease that affects mainly women who use tampons during their periods.

Toxic Shock Syndrome can be very serious and is believed to be responsible for a number of deaths. Almost all women who have had the disease have recovered.

Some recent studies indicate that Rely was apparently involved with Toxic Shock Syndrome to a greater extent than other tampon brands.

Toxic Shock Syndrome was first reported in November 1978. It is believed to be caused by a toxin produced by a bacterial infection (Staphylococcus aureus). In June 1980, the U.S. Center for Disease Control (CDC) first linked it to tampon use. No one yet knows how or why tampons are associated with this disease.

In June, based on research conducted up to that point, CDC said that tampon use alone was not sufficient to cause the disease. CDC also said that no particular brand of tampon was more involved than others.

On September 21, P&G convened a scientific advisory group to review all known data relating to TSS. The

Cookie recipes today have old-fashioned holiday flavor

What's ice-cream and absolutely essential to the success of the winter holidays? Children will holler: snow. But every cook knows that the answer is a freezer. Why? Because a freezer can be stocked with Christmas goodies that are leisurely and lovingly prepared well in advance of the holidays. That takes much of the pressure off the cook and allows him or her to enjoy the merriment of the season.

Cookies, for example, are as much a part of Christmas as gaily decorated trees. And the more kinds there are, the merrier the occasion. How reassuring it will be to have them already baked and in the freezer, or freezer-ready to be popped in the oven for serving and giving as gifts.

Yuletide carolers never seem to get enough chocolate chip cookies. Here's a recipe for Chocolate Chip Biscuits that can be baked right now and hidden in the freezer. No one will believe that condensed Cheddar cheese soup is the key to their rich flavor, convenience and stability. The batter also includes old-fashioned oats, dark brown sugar and other ingredients along with chocolate morsels and chopped walnuts.

Cocunut Crunchies may be baked in a jelly-roll pan, cut into bars and frozen. As delicious as they are versatile, these bars are moist and crunchy with walnuts and delicately lemon flavored. Their base is condensed cream of mushroom soup.

Spiced Apple Cookies are slightly different. They are to be prepared now, frozen, then baked for holiday eating and gifting. They may, of course, be mixed and baked in one cooking session. A medley of spices, chopped apple and raisins are mixed into the cookie dough that is moistened and rose-hued with condensed tomato soup.

Created for today's fast-paced lifestyles, all three of these recipes yield cookies with that old-time good flavor and old-time freshness of holidays past.

Chocolate Chip Biscuits
2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup shortening
2 cups packed dark brown sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 eggs
1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
3 cups old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 cup chopped walnuts
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In bowl, stir

Bake 25 minutes or until done. Cool; cut into bars. Makes 75 bars (2x1 inches).

To Freeze: Cool bars completely. Wrap in freezer wrap or foil. Freeze.

Spiced Apple Cookies
3 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 cups packed dark brown sugar
2 eggs
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 cup chopped apple
1 cup raisins
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In bowl, stir together flour, baking soda, cinnamon, allspice and cloves. In large bowl with electric mixer, beat butter and sugar; add eggs and soup. Gradually blend in flour mixture or until done. Makes about 8 dozen.

To Freeze: Freeze cookie dough. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Drop frozen batter by tablespoonsfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake 20 minutes or until done. Makes about 8 dozen.

Social Security

Q. Right now, I am receiving Social Security benefits while I attend college. I am thinking about dropping a course and working part-time and going to school part time. Will I still be able to get Social Security benefits? A. No. You must be a full-time student in order to qualify for Social Security student benefits.

Q. My son is severely mentally retarded and will never be able to support himself. I am thinking about earning $20,000 a year, it is difficult to pay all his special expenses and support the rest of my family. Does my son qualify for Supplemental Security Income benefits? A. That question cannot be answered without knowing more facts. The number of people living in the household and their incomes and resources will be taken into consideration in deciding whether or not your son qualifies for SSI.

Q. I was in the hospital for several weeks. Since I live alone, my doctor now wants me to spend a couple of months in a nursing home before returning to my house. Will Medicare pay for this? A. Since you were in the hospital for more than 90 days, Medicare will pay for the nursing home care.

New York wine

Quaffing the blancs detracts from rouge

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — Many grape growers in the Finger Lakes region and western New York state face a large loss on their red wine crops this year because of the trend to white wines.

The Empire State's grape farmers produced 185,000 tons of grapes in 1979, a distant second to California's 1.82 million tons, but 134,500 tons of those New York grapes were Concord, making New York the nation's leading producer of that variety.

Unfortunately for New York's $38.6 million-a-year wine industry, the prevalent grape varieties harvested this fall remain Concord and other red varieties at a time consumers are buying more and more white wines.

Nationally, white wines account for more than half of wine sales with reds and roses accounting for the remainder, according to industry officials.

Most Finger Lakes wineries have greatly reduced the number of red varieties they are purchasing from area growers and are making an enormous depressed price for them.

Many growers, in turn, are unable to find adequate markets and will let some of their crop rot on the vine.

"There's definitely a glut of the wrong-colored grape," said Howard Kimball, director of the New York State Wine Grape Growers Association. "Some farmers are tearing out their vineyards, but I think a lot of them are ignoring the trend and hoping it will disappear."

But, said Kimball, "White wines will be on the rise in the foreseeable future and continue that way."

"Growers are caught in a bind that no one could foresee," said Richard Figiel, editor of Eastern

Grape Grower & Winery News, a bi-monthly magazine. "The trend has been quite shocking to many people."

"Wine before dinner is making an enormous largest winery," said Mark Miller, owner of the small but successful Benmar Winery in the Hudson Valley. "It's more usually agreeable to have a chilled wine before dinner and white wines are more amenable for chilling."

Fall planting is still better

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Don't let the regional droughts keep you from fall planting of spring-flowering bulbs, even in areas where water conservation measures are in effect.

Bulb specialist August De Hertogh says newly planted bulbs and bulbs still in the ground don't need immediate watering. Their root growth will be delayed if they are not watered promptly, but the bulbs themselves will not be damaged. De Hertogh says. He is chairman of the Department of Horticulture at North Carolina State University.

Selectman in Bolton wants cable TV link

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

BOLTON — Selectman John Carey believes that the Town of Bolton should be annexed to the existing cable television franchise in Manchester.

Carey attended a meeting recently at which boundaries for cable television franchises were discussed.

He said he got the impression there was interest in annexing Bolton with Vernon, Ellington and Tolland.

Carey said he believes Bolton should be annexed to Manchester for two reasons — it's the most efficient way to do it and Bolton has more in common with Manchester than the other towns.

Carey said he thinks it will be a long time before the franchises are set up and people can actually get cable television.

Fire board elects two

BOLTON — Stanley Klekota and John Daly were recently elected chairman and secretary of the Board of Fire Commissioners.

The commissioners are reviewing an agreement between the Bolton Volunteer Fire Department and the Town of Bolton that should be signed in November.

James Preuss, fire chief, is compiling an inventory of the major contents of the firehouse that should be ready for the commissioners at their November meeting.

The commissioners were told by the fire marshal that the firehouse fire escape is rusted and should be taken care of and the boiler room door should be replaced.

Subdivision planned

BOLTON — An application for a subdivision on Route 6 and South Road was submitted to the Planning Commission by Lawrence Fiano. The project would consist of 13 lots and would be called Mark Anthony Estates.

Fiano, who does not want to build a public road for the rear lots, plans to have four large lots with one outlet onto Route 6. Fiano plans to conserve the area where the terrain is rough and where there is a brook.

James Klar, commission member, objected to the proposed private road. He suggested the commission get an opinion from Jerome Walsh, town attorney, on the use of a private road rather than driveways.

Klar wanted answers to questions such as whether it would prejudice the town in the future and whether the town was setting a precedent.

The commission voted to approve Anthony and Elizabeth Roads in the Fiano Heights subdivision. The engineering firm of Fuss and O'Neill said both roads appear to be okay.

The roads will need Town Meeting approval.

School planning raffle

BOLTON — The Children's Cooperative Nursery School raffles to raise money for the school is now under way. The school meets at St. Maurice Church parish center.

Raffle prizes include a card of wood, dinner for two, at Gordie Howe's Restaurant in Glastonbury, two tickets to a Whalers home game, four-week membership at American Lady Fitness Center in Manchester, two hours of indoor tennis at the Manchester Racquet Club, a $25 gift certificate at Town and County in Glastonbury, a 12-pound turkey, a five-pound ham, a $10 gift certificate at A&P in Manchester and a $10 gift certificate at Top Notch in Manchester.

Prizes for the raffle are still being received by the school. They will be awarded even though they are not shown on the tickets.

Tickets sell for $1 and may be obtained by calling Tori Escott at 742-8906. The drawing will be Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. at the parish center. Winners need not be present to win.

PTO schedules meeting

BOLTON — The Bolton Elementary School's Parent Teacher Organization will have a special meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the elementary school's all purpose room.

The participants will discuss the reorganization of the Bolton school system.

School Superintendent Raymond Allen, Joseph Halobardo, Board of Education chairman, and Richard Packman, will review the reorganization for structural changes.

All school board members have been invited. Those attending the public meeting will be able to express their views and ask questions.

The architect's proposal for structural changes, compiled after conferring with the appropriate town officials, will be on display.

ZBA sets hearing

BOLTON — The Zoning Board of Appeals will have a public hearing to hear two requests for variances Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall.

Eva Morra of 1 Clark Road is requesting a variance to build houses on back land. Plans are to use a right of way which is not part of the parcel.

Lawrence Fiano, 266 Boston Turnpike, is requesting a setback variance for construction of a single residence on property located on Route 6.

Call the Division of Community Services (203) 646-2137.

Dem candidates' night a nice, friendly event

BOLTON — The recent Democratic Meet the Candidates night had a "nice turnout of residents and politicians."

Daniel Harris, Democratic Town Committee chairman, said, "The politicians weren't really campaigning, it was just a nice, friendly evening."

William Coster, candidate for reelection as U.S. Representative, reminded those in attendance of the benefits in terms of a return of money to the district since he has been in office.

Harris said one of the benefits of having a president and congressman from the same party is they work together for the benefit of the town.

He said many items don't always make the news but federal contracts and a return of tax dollars to the district have really improved since President Carter has been in office.

Harris urged people to vote in November and said, "It's particularly important this year when there's not much enthusiasm. No matter how you vote, go out and vote."

He said, "Unless politicians get the message people will vote, they (politicians) will not be responsible. People have to show where the real power is — in the vote."

Al Ahearn, candidate for state representative for the 55th district, and Abe Glassman, candidate for 4th district state senator, spoke briefly on what they have done in the past.

Steele endorses Frier candidacy

Former U.S. Republican Rep. Robert Steele, has announced his endorsement of the candidacy of Claire F. Frier, a Republican candidate for state Senate from the 55th District.

"In these most difficult times, inflation, cost of state government, bureaucratic waste, and increased taxes threaten to devour us. It is essential that we elect people now who are committed to a return of economic responsibility," Steele said.

He said that Mrs. Frier's candidacy gives the voters of the 55th Senatorial District the opportunity to elect such a person and I urge her election.

Mrs. Frier, a resident of Ellington, and her husband, owned and operated an area business for many years and Mrs. Frier has served during the last two sessions as a staff member in the state legislature. She is running against incumbent Democrat Michael Skelley.

Holiday bazaar planned

ROCKVILLE — The United Methodist Church Women of Rockville United Methodist Church, 742 Grove St., will sponsor the annual Holiday Bazaar on Nov. 15 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church.

The fair will feature unusual Christmas gifts, food, fancy work, a boutique, good used clothing and luncheon.

The luncheon menu will include vegetable beef soup, clam chowder, an assortment of sandwiches and desserts.

For more information call Mrs. Robert Sugalski, chairman, 873-3122.

Police probe burglaries

VERNON — The Vernon Police Department investigated 15 burglaries and one attempted burglary during the period of Sept. 26 to Oct. 16.

All but two of the reports involved private homes. Breaks were reported into homes on the following streets: Brooklyn Street, Raynor Place, West Street, M. Vernon Drive, Grier Road, Route 30, Talcottville Road, W. Main, South Street and Park West Drive.

The breaks into businesses were on Windsor Avenue and Route 83.

Three presented awards

VERNON — Three members of the Vernon Junior Women's Club have been presented with "Service to the Community" awards by officer William Yetz of the Vernon Police Department.

Janice Cormier received an award for her organization of the Bike-Bike held last May to aid the Tolland Area Association for the Retarded and Handicapped; Mary Angeli, director of the 1980 Safety Town, an annual program for preschoolers, also received an award; and Jean McBurnett, was honored for her work as a Safety Town instructor.

Zoning laws said wrong in Rockville

By BARBARA RICHMOND

VERNON — Assistant Town Planner Francis Armentano doesn't feel zoning laws combined when the town governments were consolidated in 1965, are right for the Rockville section. Armentano spoke to the Northwest Rockville Neighborhood Association Tuesday night and explained a town plan of development he will propose which would make most of the Rockville section a "mixed use" district.

Armentano explained that the mixed use zoning would be controlled by issuance of special permits and through public hearings that would especially involve the neighborhood groups concerned.

He said by designating areas as "Planned Neighborhood Developments" (POD) zones, it would give the town greater flexibility in making the best use of the assets of the Rockville section.

Robert Hurd, chairman of the neighborhood group, said he'd like to see a lot of that done by "friendly coercion" rather than by regulation.

Another group member, Dr. Howard Abbott, asked Armentano what the plan is for the overall future of Rockville. Armentano said he sees it remaining as a high density residential area, with some commercial, the hospital, library and such — "it's a mixed use and I'd like to see that way," Armentano said.

"I think most of the people here would like to see it remain a mixed bag," Dr. Abbott said.

To a question "Concerning more apartments going up, Armentano said, 'Given the economic situation I don't think you're going to see many apartments going up in the Rockville section, unless they're apartments for the elderly.'"

Armentano said he had a call earlier in the day Tuesday from someone interested in constructing apartments for the elderly but said he wasn't going to make any information public yet because it is the very preliminary discussion stage.

Armentano said a special permit would mean that in order to obtain the special permit a developer would have to go to the Planning Commission and there would be a clause in the regulations that neighborhood groups must be contacted for input before such a permit was granted.

The planner said right now there isn't one large district in Rockville for any one use and a land use plan he is working on will show this, he said.

He also emphasized that the new proposal wouldn't affect anybody presently living in the area. He said this would remain a non-conforming use, but he said he would like to see this many non-conforming uses because it hinders development.

It used to be that the Zoning Board of Appeals could grant variances but it no longer has that power. He said he thinks if the Planning Commission adopts his proposal as part of the town plan of development, the Zoning Commission will also adopt it.

Barbara Merk, a member of the neighborhood association, asked why Armentano tried to treat rural Vernon and Rockville as the same. He said Rockville was unique because it was developed and rural Vernon was not heavily developed at that time.

He said Union Street, in Rockville, from West Road to the intersection of E. Main, Main and Grove streets is all zoned commercial but there are many residences in that area. He said all are considered legal as non-conforming uses.

He said in 1965 they didn't look at the concept of a mixed use district but he feels Rockville might as well be zoned as mixed use, but with special controls and special permits.

DEAR ABBY: I did say that men can be sexually active at 80...

DEAR ABBY: The letter asking whether marriage between a Republican and Democrat could ever work interested me because my marriage was also "mixed"

DEAR ABBY: After a miserable marriage and traumatic divorce, I married a woman so wonderful that it made everything that had occurred previously seem like a bad dream from which I had finally awakened.

DEAR ABBY: I cannot count on her to be on time for anything. Nor can anyone else. She is always behind and running late. It is an exasperating fly-in-the-ointment of what would otherwise be a union made in heaven.

DEAR ABBY: I did say that men can be sexually active at 80, which is true, but depends on their attitude, the state of their general health, and whether they have an interesting and interested partner.

Public Notice

Town of Bolton

The Zoning Commission of the Town of Bolton will hold a Public Hearing at the Community Hall on Thursday, November 13, 1980 beginning at 7:30 p.m. on the proposed revisions of the Zoning Regulations which will provide:

1. Increased restriction on the keeping of animals.
2. Provision for the temporary use of trailers as dwellings.
3. Revision on wetland restrictions consistent with Federal Flood Insurance Rate Map.
4. Review the fee for requested revisions of the town zoning regulations.

A copy of the full text of the proposed revisions is on file at the office of the Town Clerk of Bolton.

Bolton Zoning Commission

Warning of State Election

Town of Bolton

November 4, 1980

The electors of the Town of Bolton are hereby warned to meet at their polling place in said town on Tuesday, November 4, 1980 for the following purposes, to wit:

- I. To cast their votes for Presidential and Vice-Presidential electors, United States Senator, Representative-in-Congress, State Senator, State Representative, Registrar.
- II. To vote on the following questions for the approval or disapproval of a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Connecticut, a vote of "YES" being a vote for approval, and a vote of "NO" being a vote for disapproval.
 1. For the constitutional amendment concerning admission of electors after removal from the town of residence.
 2. For the constitutional amendment concerning the registration of seventeen year old citizens as electors.
 3. For the constitutional amendment concerning the age of eligibility for state office.

The full text of such proposed amendments is taken under the authority of Article Twelfth of the Constitution of the State of Connecticut and House Joint Resolution 92 of the 1979 session of the General Assembly, Senate Joint Resolution 90 of the 1979 session of the General Assembly, House Joint Resolution 103 of the 1979 session of the General Assembly, House Joint Resolution 103 of the 1979 session of the General Assembly, and House Joint Resolution 103 of the 1979 session of the General Assembly.

Notice is hereby given that the location of the polling place is as follows:

Community Hall
222 Bolton Center Road
Bolton, Connecticut, on the 20th day of October, 1980.

diate rate to three clubs would guarantee a much better hand than his 14 HCP 5-3-2.

Today, the three-club rebid merely shows that he wants to pass at this rebid. It may show a much better hand but in that case he will take strong action later.

North's next bid of three diamonds is just a forcing bid. It may be the start of a slam bidding sequence. At all it does is tell South that North has a strong hand.

It also just tells that South wanted to hear. He doesn't have much of a hand, but he does have a heart stopper and bid three hearts.

This bid cools all North's slam interest. North is happy to pass at three hearts.

The diamond lead holds South to three contracts, but has no trouble collecting five clubs, three spades, the ace of diamonds, game and rubber.

There are lots of bidding sequences that would also lead to three contracts, but even more that would lead to game or slam.

The contract is a diamond contract. A diamond lead will hold any spade declarer to nine tricks.
