Reagan easily defeats Carter

By United Press International
Ronald Reagan easily defeated Jimmy Carter for the presidency Tuesday in a Republican landslide that also toppled several liberal Democratic senators, giving control of the Senate to the GOP for the first time in 26 years.
Reagan, promising Americans to "get the government off your back," demolished Carter by carrying the big industrial states that were supposed to be tossups, grabbing every state in the president's southern power base except Georgia and running away with the states west of the Mississippi River.
The Republican candidate managed a slim majority of the popular vote, but buried the Democratic incumbent by an electoral margin of almost 10-to-1.
Reagan won at least 43 states with 483 electoral votes and early today was leading slightly in one other—Arkansas. Only 270 electoral votes were needed for election.
Carter carried just six states—Georgia, Hawaii, Maryland, Minnesota, Rhode Island, and West Virginia—and the District of Columbia for a total of 49 electoral votes.
The transcontinental Reagan sweep was a surprise, but just as stunning was the Tuesday night massacre of Democratic senators. At least nine well-known liberals, including 36-year veteran Warren Magnuson of Washington and 1972 presidential candidate George McGovern of South Dakota, were ousted by conservative Republicans.
And late reports today from Georgia indicated Sen. Herman Talmadge would lose his bid for reelection to Republican challenger Mack Mattingly. Talmadge had led in the race most of the night and early today. But with 97 percent of the vote counted, Mattingly held a nearly 11,000-vote lead over the incumbent.
Thus Reagan, to take office as the 40th president on Jan. 20, will be greeted by a Senate that will have at least 51 Republican members and

State results mirror nation

HARTFORD (UPI)—Connecticut voters, mirroring a national frustration with the status quo, gave Ronald Reagan a surprisingly easy victory and voted Republican for the third straight presidential election.
Democratic Rep. Christopher Dodd, 36-year-old son of the late Sen. Thomas Dodd, escaped voter disaffection with the top of the Democratic ticket and wound up more than 180,000 votes ahead of former New York Senator James Buckley.
Buckley, 57, who represented New York in the Congress from 1971 to 1977, failed in his bid to become the first person popularly elected to the Senate from two states.
But the GOP won a second seat in Connecticut's U.S. House delegation. Lawrence DeNardis strode past former state Senate colleague Joseph

HUD fund strings now rejected twice

By MARTIN KEARNS
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — The town yesterday voted the federal-Community Development block grant program a second resounding defeat in less than two years.
By more than a two-to-one margin, voters again registered their disdain for federal dollars to promote housing and racial integration.
In April of 1979, the town voted a two-year moratorium on the program run by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Town directors are expected later this year to decide Manchester's participation in the HUD program, and—given yesterday's mandate—there is little doubt but that it will be rejected.
Although the vote was a lopsided victory for opponents of the block grant program, it nonetheless represented a gain for CD supporters, who in the last election were thrashed by a three to one margin. Still, more than half the town's registered voters opposed the referendum's advisory question.
In all, some 15,100 residents voted against the CD, while 6,174 townspeople supported it. The town has a total of 28,533 registered voters.
The town had participated in the program for four years before the 1979 referendum. During that time the town contracted with HUD for about $400,000 annually. The bulk of the appropriations went toward improving the town's limited housing stock.
In the campaign which preceded Tuesday's vote, opponents charged the development of low-income housing would unfairly burden middle income homeowners. Such housing developments, the program's leading opponent charged, do not pay their share of taxes while at the same time increase the demand for town services.
Former town director Joseph Sweeney, who crusaded against the CD program, claimed it would financially drain the town. The eventual result would be tax increases which

Zinsser wins Senate in Glassman's style

By MARY KITZMANN
Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — History reversed itself Tuesday for Democrat Abraham Glassman in his narrow defeat by Republican Carl Zinsser in the Fourth Senatorial District.
Glassman refused to concede the election late Tuesday evening, saying he would wait for recount to verify Zinsser's 80-vote win. Considerable confusion surrounded the tallies for the Fourth District, as early Republican results showed Zinsser winning by 300 votes. Final checks in the late hours of election night, narrowed the margin to 80 votes.
The narrow margin, Glassman's 23,126 votes to Zinsser's 23,206, was typical of Glassman's political career, although in past elections he had been on the winning side. Twice, in gaining a seat on South Windsor's Town Council, and winning a tough September primary to carry the Democratic standard against Zinsser, he eked victories by about 15 votes. This time however, he was on the losing side.
"That's politics," he glumly said scanning the vote tallies. "I just didn't seem to get enough votes, that we had anticipated."
The Glassman attributed the narrowness, and his apparent defeat to the Republican tide which swept Ronald Reagan into office, and gave them GOP control of the U.S. Senate.
"Eighty votes is not a lot out of the some 45,000 cast," Glassman said. "Who knows, what the recount will bring."
On the other end of town Zinsser waited for a call that never came. Every time the telephone rang during the period when the win was uncertain, the Republicans gathered were certain it was Glassman.
Finally at 10:28 p.m. the tension broke and Zinsser accepted the congratulations which his enthusiastic campaign staff had been trying to heap on him for more than a half hour. "Keep in perspective here, when we started this race the Republican Party was No. 3 in the Fourth District. A win is a win and we'll take it," Zinsser announced.
In the post-campaign frenzy which accompanied Zinsser's acceptance, his campaign manager, Scott Clendaniel, said Glastonbury was a key town and its 1,230 vote margin was vital.
State law mandates a recount when the difference is below 20 votes, or the margin between the candidates is less than 5 percent of the total number voting. About 82 percent of the 56,560 voters in the Fourth District voted. Zinsser's slim margin was unfamiliar to him. In elections to the Manchester Board of Directors, he was the second highest vote-getter.
And it was Manchester, political observers say, which lost Glassman the election.
In Manchester, a heavily Democratic community, Zinsser captured 6,859 to Glassman's 5,321. There were 80 more Democratic votes to be found, party insiders said last night, if only Glassman had asked for them. Manchester's Democrats divided deeply over summer during the primary which saw a 19-vote separation between Glassman and David Della-Bitta of Glastonbury.
Throughout the eight-town district, Zinsser edged his opponent picking up victories by several hundred votes in Andover, Bolton, Glastonbury, Hebron and Manchester. Glassman carried his hometown of South Windsor, 5,475 to Zinsser's 3,100 and also Coventry and East Windsor. But the lopsided South Windsor win did not offset Zinsser's chipping at Democratic support in the other towns.
The recount will come within the next several days.

Republican headquarters reflects thrill of winning

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER - The crowd at Republican headquarters sang the Battle Hymn of the Republic while Bernie Bentley energetically strummed his banjo.

The program, sponsored by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, had been turned down by voters in April 1979.

Von Deck said while the town committee worked for the national ticket to the benefit of the local candidates, those candidates' staffs were to pull out the vote for the individuals.

Declared Von Deck, "It's been a long time since we've had a total GOP win. We did it four ways. We won the presidency, we got the state House, (locally, if not statewide), we won the high school reorganization, and we beat the hell out of HUD."

"Hey, Joe, I'm going to have to give you lessons in how to live with one," Ferguson joked, referring to his wife Vivian's long period of being a winner by retaining a seat on the local Board of Directors.

At 8:50 p.m., another local GOP win was apparent. Malcolm Barlow, the Democrat, who had challenged incumbent Republican Walter Joyner for the 12th Assembly District seat...

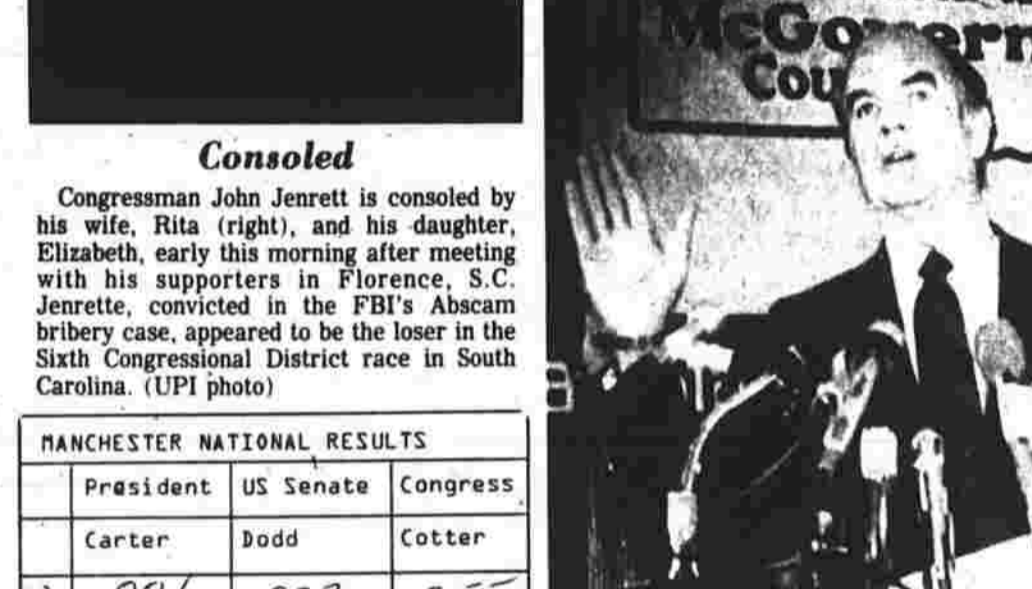

Overheard were comments like, "Too bad they aren't electing the Board of Directors tonight," a clear reference to the feelings at headquarters that the GOP could do no wrong on Nov. 4, 1980, and could even have hoped to capture a majority on the local governing body.

As the votes to defeat the proposal to re-enter the federal Community Development Block Grant program rolled up a wide victory margin, more cheers were heard. "Maybe now, they'll know we mean 'no' we mean 'we're talking about,'" one Republican woman commented.

GOP takes Senate in conservative tide

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A tide of conservatism swept the Senate into Republican hands today for the first time in 26 years.

The Republican Party has not controlled Congress since the 1953-54 session - when Dwight Eisenhower was president. The Senate currently is under Democratic control 59-41, and the House 273-139 with three vacancies.

Two races still undecided in Arizona and Alaska could give the GOP either a 51-49 or 52-48 margin in the Senate. It appeared the Democrats would hold onto 245-250 House seats, well above the 218 needed for control.

Recent scandals affected several races. Abscam losers included the chairman of the House Administration Committee, Frank Thompson of New Jersey, and the chairman of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, John Murphy of New York.

New England at a glance

By United Press International

Maine: Ronald Reagan narrowly won the four electoral votes of Maine in a cliffhanger count that went until the early morning hours.

Massachusetts: The presidential contest in Massachusetts went to the wire, but Ronald Reagan finally won it by the narrowest of margins.

New Hampshire: Ronald Reagan, heavily favored, expected to win New Hampshire, and did. His strength boosted Republican Warren Rudman to an upset of incumbent Sen. John Durkin, a Democrat.

Rhode Island: The nation's smallest state gave its four electoral votes to President Carter and put J. Joseph Garrahy back in the governor's chair for another term.

Vermont: In a close one, Ronald Reagan took Vermont. Republican Richard Snelling maintained his seat as President Carter's only House seat.

Television loses in numbers race: NEW YORK (UPI) - Only Encyclopedia Britannica beat NBC to the punch in calling the presidential election for Ronald Reagan Tuesday night.

Walter Cronkite said "so-called exit polling" - the mainstay of the NBC call that came at 8:15 p.m. EST, far ahead of almost everyone - is a "useful tool," but "simply a poll of what voters said they did and not a measure of what they actually did do" in the voting booth.

CBS News President Bill Leonard was a shade harsher in his assessment of the competition's last gun. Based on the exit polls - consisting of interviews with voters as they emerge from voting booths - he said, "You could have called the election at 4:30 this afternoon. We all had the same information. They came to the conclusion that like holding your finger up in the breeze... exit polls can be used to make a projection."

"I guess they can't go to jail for that. I guess it's small beer anyway. We did it our way and if they want to do it their way, well, it's a wonderful free country."

New York cab driver Leon Manaschowitz - driving a reporter from one network to the next in an evening of covering networks covering an election - said he wasn't surprised. He'd conducted his own poll among fares and he knew it was Reagan, "8 to 1."

By 10 p.m., the whole discussion was indeed "small beer." ABC, following up what could only be a call by Frank Reynolds at 8:13 p.m., made its official even as President Carter went on camera live to concede, and at that point, with West Coast voters still at the polls, CBS still had not officially tallied the necessary 270 electoral votes needed by Reagan to win.

Jackston stalls call on Swensson win

MANCHESTER— Although it was clear by 8:41 p.m. Tuesday night that voters had elected Republican Elsie 'Biz' Swensson to the town's 13th Assembly District seat, no congratulatory call came from the defeated Democrat Phyllis Jackson until morning today. At 7:30 a.m. Mrs. Swensson won the seat which has been occupied by retiring Democrat Francis Mahoney for the past 12 years. Commenting this morning on her win Mrs. Swensson said she didn't expect it because "I don't have a single Republican in my district." The assembly district encompasses the third, fourth, sixth, and eighth voting districts.

After going door to door and always getting a very good reception, underneath I said I think the people are going to come through Mrs. Swensson said.

She contributed part of her win to the young vote. A justice of the peace for the past nine years, she said today, "I married a lot of them. I love that job. She added she intends to retain the appointed post.

In serving her district, Mrs. Swensson has said she would like to serve on the human services or public safety committee of the General Assembly.

Commenting last night on her opponent's failure to make the traditional congratulatory call, Mrs. Swensson said, "She's a little angry with me." Mrs. Swensson traced the anger to a literature blowup which occurred Tuesday. The Democrats had complained Swensson was releasing the earlier handout without gentlemen's agreement against the distribution of literature.

Coventry - Leo Rondau, 56, of 58 Catalina Drive, Coventry, was arrested on a warrant Tuesday night charging him with first-degree sexual assault and risk of injury to a minor. He was released on a $10,000 bond for appearance in court in Rockville on Nov. 18.

Vernon - Richard M. Boland, 44, of Cahton, was arrested Tuesday on a warrant charging him with injury or risk of injury to a minor and public indecency. Police said the arrest was made after investigations of complaints filed by two young females in the Merline Road area.

Boland was released on a $2,500 bond for appearance in court in Rockville on Nov. 18. Juan J. Perez, 36, of 52 Village St., Rockville, was charged Tuesday with 4th degree larceny on complaint of the K-Mart Store at Vernon Circle. He was released on his promise to appear in court on Nov. 18.

Foes to continue commenting

By MARTIN KEARNS, Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — Tuesday's election results sounded the death knell for the federal Community Development block grant program, but the two men who campaigned on either side of the program today said they would continue to speak on town issues. The anti-CD forces were led by former town Director Joseph Sweeney. When contacted this morning he said he was "gratified" with yesterday's election results. Sweeney also cast himself as a former public official with a sense of responsibility for the community. His adversary in the campaign, Robert Faucher, a social activist and co-chairman of the Manchester Citizens for Social Responsibility, today said he was "disappointed" by the results, but vowed to continue to work for the town he said he loves.

Faucher also noted the results were a vote to solve the town's problems on a local level. But he stressed the housing problem was real and predicted the town would meet the housing goals it rejected yesterday within three years. "Manchester has a great need for affordable and it's going to have to be addressed sooner or later," Faucher said. Nonetheless, Faucher announced, "The CD is behind us, it's dead."

To counter the housing crisis in Manchester, Faucher said he would soon propose to town directors a housing assistance panel to advise the board on how to increase the town's limited stock of rental units. The town, he said, needs "more innovative solutions to our problems."

Put Some CHEESE in Your Life

For Main Dishes

Cheese soufflés are one of the classics in the world of cooking. And they're great for a main dish because of the protein that comes not only from the one or two kinds of cheese, but also from milk and eggs. Contrary to popular opinion, the soufflé is not difficult to prepare. It's made with a thick white sauce to which you add egg yolks, cheese and/or vegetables, fish or meat. Egg whites, stabilized with cream of tartar and beaten to the soft peak stage, are folded in to give the soufflé light and fluffy texture. Here are some other tips and don'ts for successful soufflés. The classic dish is deep with straight sides, for the soufflé to rise spectacularly. Butter the sides and/or coat with Parmesan cheese to make removal easier. Mix a small amount of sauce into egg yolks before combining all of it. That allows egg yolks to blend smoothly with the white sauce. When turning the soufflé into a baking dish, be gentle so airiness is not lost. Sauces may be served with the soufflé to add yet another dimension to the dining experience. They're designed to complement the main dish in flavor, color and texture. They'll certainly add to the feeling of satisfaction because of their satiate value. It's an old axiom but a wise one: your guests can wait, but not a soufflé. Have them seated at the table when you take it out of the oven.

- CHEESE SOUFFLÉ (6 servings)
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 1/2 cups grated Parmesan cheese
5 egg yolks, slightly beaten
5 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup milk

Preheat oven to 350°F. Butter a 2-quart soufflé dish or casserole. Sprinkle enough Parmesan cheese on soufflé dish to coat bottom and sides evenly; remove any excess. Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour, salt and cayenne pepper. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir in cheeses until melted. If necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheeses. (Do not boil.) Blend a little of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to saucepan and blend thoroughly; set aside. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold cheese sauce into egg whites; turn into soufflé dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes. FROZEN CHEESE SOUFFLÉ: After folding in egg whites, fold in one 10-ounce package of frozen chopped broccoli, which has been cooked and drained.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

- DOUBLE CHEESE SOUFFLÉ (6 servings)
1 cup cottage cheese
1 package (12 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 cup sliced green onion
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1 cup milk
5 egg yolks, slightly beaten
5 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold egg yolk mixture and bacon into egg whites; turn into 2-quart buttered soufflé dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes.

- SALMON SOUFFLÉ (6 servings)

1/4 cup long grain rice, uncooked
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper

1 can (7 3/4 oz.) salmon, drained, boned and flaked

Combine water and 1/4 teaspoon salt in a small saucepan; bring to boiling. Stir in rice. Cover and simmer 20 minutes or until all water is absorbed; set aside. Preheat oven to 350°F. Melt butter in saucepan; sauté green pepper and green onion until tender; about 3 minutes. Blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Blend a little of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to saucepan and blend thoroughly; set aside. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold egg yolk mixture, rice and salmon into egg whites; turn into 2-quart buttered soufflé dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes.

For Dessert

Cheese and fruit are a perfectly elegant answer to a no-fuss, no-sweat, practically instant dessert. All it takes is for you to set two or three cheeses with several fruits on a platter and serve them. Not only is this an easy wholesome dessert, but it's also a pretty palette of color that goes with a light or heavy meal. Instead of a regular dessert portion, you can content yourself with a few tidbits of cheese and fruit if dinner's leaves substantial, or fill up on more if the meal's been light.

Generally, the rule for fruit and cheese is this: the more mild flavored the cheese, the more pronounced can be the fruit flavor. That's why pineapple, for example, is harmonious with Brick cheese. Blue cheese has a distinctive flavor so it goes well with rather mild honeydew melon.

Nut-like Swiss is somewhat dry so it's an excellent choice with juicy, fragrant green grapes. Cheddar cheese and apples have a traditional flavor harmony, but you might like Colby with apples, too.

Those are only suggestions to get you started. This is one place where you can choose your own combos!

- A. Cheddar cheese, apple
B. Blue cheese, honeydew melon
C. Brick cheese, pineapple
D. Provolone cheese, pears
E. Swiss cheese, green grapes
F. Edam cheese, Tokay grapes
G. Colby cylinder

How refunders are helping to build Indiana church

By MARTIN SLOANE

"The word 'refunder' is not new to the building of a house of worship," says Betty Bourque, clerk of the Sunman Bible Church. King Solomon used rebates to build his temple. The word appears in the New Testament in the Bible, I King 6: 6.

Over the past two years, the Missionaries of the Sunman, Ind., congregation have contributed many thousands of dollars to help build their new church.

But not some refund forms state that "no group or organizational request will be honored." True, but that does not prevent individuals from sending in their refund forms and then contributing the money they receive to a church or charitable organization. This is exactly how the Missionaries do it.

There are a few differences between refunding for yourself and refunding for an organization:

For a group to be successful at such a project, many people must be educated, motivated and organized. But the basic objective is the same - to turn every box top and label into cash.

First, every member of the group must be shown how organized refunding works. Chances are that many are unaware of the many hundreds of refund offers that manufacturers make annually. Most get excited about refunding once they realize that the box tops and labels they have been throwing away can be worth dollars to their organization. This enthusiasm must be organized and channeled productively.

Finding refund forms is the group's biggest challenge. Members are asked to look for forms in all the usual places, such as supermarkets, department stores, and magazines. Some groups find that trading refund forms by mail produces the best results.

Members of the group are asked to save all their box tops and labels from national-brand products. And as soon as the inventory of refund forms begins to build up, a special list of needed forms of purchase is prepared and distributed to each member.

Once the forms are matched with the corresponding proofs, each member receives a portion of them to be filled out and mailed.

Some organizations ask their members to concentrate on cash refunds. They trade gift and receipt forms to obtain additional forms for cash refunds. Other organizations sell the gifts and products at bazaars and rummage sales.

This type of fund raising is by no means easy. It requires a great deal of cooperation from the member of the organization. Your group may find it a lot easier to sell decorative candles, candy greeting cards. I'll tell you more about the Sunman Missionaries' refunding in a future column.

Vegans think diet adequate
NEW YORK (UPI) — Most vegans — vegetarians who eat only fruits, vegetables and grains — think their diet is more adequate than it actually is, says an associate foods and nutrition professor of the University of Louisville.

Charlene Matter says vegans may need vitamins and mineral supplements — and can become malnourished if they modify the variety of foods they eat.

Canning for holiday meals, gifts

It's still not too late to put up some special treats, such as spiced apple rings, winter conserve or pear honey. These canned items go well with holiday meals that feature ham or turkey, for example. They also make good holiday gifts.

These are canning recipes for small quantities; they make a good club or family project. It's always more fun when two or three gather in the kitchen for a canning session which, like the old-fashioned quilting bee, is a good excuse for good old, gossiping or "exchanging of information."

Spiced Apple Ring
7 pounds Delicious apples (about 16 medium) Soaking solution: 8 cups water, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 4 cups water
4 leaspoons red food coloring
1 1/2 teaspoons ground cloves
4 cups sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons ground allspice
Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's instructions.

Peel oranges and finely chop the peel. Place the peel in a large (6 to 8 quart) sauce pot with 5 cups water. Bring to a boil and cook until peel is tender, about 20 minutes. Remove membrane and seeds from oranges and dice the pulp. Add pulp to undrained peel. Continue cooking until mixture is reduced by half, about 20 minutes.

Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's instructions. Add sugar, raisins, lemon juice and cinnamon to the fruit mixture; stir until sugar is dissolved. Cook until thickened, about 30 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in coconut. Carefully ladle hot conserve into hot jars, one jar at a time, leaving 1/2-inch head space. Wipe jar rim clean, place lid on and screw band down evenly and firmly. Place closed jar in canner. Repeat for each jar.
Process 10 minutes in a simmering (180-185 degree) water bath canner.

This kitchen tested recipe makes about seven 8-ounce jars.
Pear Honey
3 1/2 pounds ripe pears (about 9 cups, chopped) 8 cups sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup crushed canned pineapple, drained
Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's instructions.
Peel and core pears and finely chop. Chop the pears, sugar, and lemon juice in a large (6 to 8 quart) sauce pot and screw band down evenly and firmly. Place closed jar in canner. Repeat for each jar.
Process 20 minutes in a boiling water bath canner. This kitchen tested recipe makes six 12-ounce jars.

Heat and carefully ladle hot pear honey into hot jars, one jar at a time, leaving 1/2-inch head space. Wipe jar rim clean, place lid on and screw band down evenly and firmly. Place closed jar in canner. Repeat for each jar.
Process 20 minutes in a boiling water bath canner. This kitchen tested recipe makes six 12-ounce jars.

French-style pork, beans

Pork and beans take on new meaning when pork chops are marinated and pan-seared on top of the stove with a sweet-tart sauce.

This is a French slight-of-hand with thick pork chops you'll want to add to your recipe file. Called Porc St. Hubert in honor of St. Hubert, it is the patron saint of hunters; it is ideal for when the winter wind bites and leaves us with a hearty appetite. The chops cook in about 45 minutes and are served with a glaze made of pan drippings, flour and Harle-Due, a red curant jam.

Keeping in the French mood, serve with melon flaglets similar to our little limes, corned beef, ruben wine, or a Gevrey-Chambertin from Burgundy.

Cheese, such as a sharp Boursault, a delicate creme Boursault or a Boursault with crisp apples, grapes or pears, and French bread torn off the Galie experience.

For a quick family meal, Porc St. Hubert with flaglets and a crisp green salad is satisfying.

Porc St. Hubert: 6 pork chops 1 1/2 inches thick Salt and pepper 1/4 cup French olive or peanut oil
1/4 cup Dijon mustard 1/2 cup French red wine vinegar 1/4 cup butter 4 shallots, chopped 1/4 cup water and 2 thickened bouillon cubes
1/4 cup minced parsley 2 tablespoons flour 1/2 cup 2 ounces Harle-Due (French curant preserve)
Sprinkle chops on both sides with salt and pepper. In bowl mix oil, mustard and vinegar. Brush chops heavily with mustard mixture. On both sides of chops, slit in any remaining mustard. Harle-Due can be substituted with 1/4 cup of Dijon mustard. Turn chops occasionally to permit even cooking. Remove chops and place on serving platter. Keep warm. Stir in parsley. Whisk in flour and curant preserves. Stir over low heat until sauce thickens and bubbles. Spoon hot sauce over pork chops. Serve garnished with French flaglets and parsley sprigs. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Topping the cake
Don't throw away leftover cake. You'll be glad you have it on hand during the holidays for a quick dessert that's easy and delicious. To prepare cake tops and Topping, fold 1 1/2 cups small cake cubes into 1 1/2 cups thawed Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping. Spoon into individual dessert dishes or serving bowl and top with drained extract and a few drops of green food coloring into a shallow whipped topping. This will make 4 cups or enough to fill and frost two 8- or 9-inch cake layers, or to frost top and sides of a 9-inch square cake or 13X9-inch cake. Garnish frosted cake with grated chocolate or chocolate curls, if desired.

We at ShopRite want to improve our stores and customer service. With this in mind we introduce you to the new front end computer scanning system.

Receipt indicates town, store number, and date of food purchase.

Produce purchases are spelled out by recording the name of the item, the price you pay, the item code number, the number of pounds purchased, and the price per pound.

"A" and "E" means taxable. The computer remembers correct tax status.

Items with no UPC symbol are rung up manually and have only a departmental listing like "DEL" instead of a more complete item description.

Multiple priced items, like $15.00 are handled easily and correctly. No need to have all three grouped together.

Store coupons and manufacturer coupons (V CPN) are credited; the sign indicates the deduction.

Cash given to the checker and change returned is shown on the receipt tape. If you use a check or food stamps, this would be indicated.

Time items purchased.

Now at ShopRite of Spencer St.

Here's how it works:

SUPPOSE YOU'VE PURCHASE A 1-POUND BOX OF ShopRite #9 THIN SPAGHETTI

1. THE SCANNER IN THE CHECKOUT COUNTER READS THE UNIVERSAL PRODUCT CODE. THE COMPUTER LOOKS UP THE PRICE.

2. THE DISPLAY AT YOUR CHECKOUT COUNTER WILL LOOK LIKE THIS.

3. AT THE SAME TIME, THE SAME INFORMATION WILL BE PRINTED ON YOUR ITEMIZED RECEIPT LIKE THIS.

4. MEANWHILE THE CHECKER HAS PULLED THE BOX OVER THE SCANNER WINDOW AND PLACED IT IN YOUR BAG. SINCE THE CHECKER DOESN'T HAVE TO LOOK FOR THE PRICE OF CODED ITEMS—OR RING THEM UP AT THE CASH REGISTER, YOUR ORDER CAN BE CHECKED OUT MUCH FASTER WITH GREATER ACCURACY. AND YOU SHOULD SPEND LESS TIME AT THE CHECKOUT COUNTER!

A major change has come to the supermarket—a major change which will transform the food shopping experience for both grocer and customer.

The scanner, or computer assisted checkout, was developed to meet the challenge of rising costs with new technology.

You've seen the small symbol of bars and spaces on supermarket products. This is the Universal Product Code. The first five digits identify manufacturer, and the second five, digits identify product, size and flavor. These numbers are represented on packaging by a series of bars and spaces which an electronic scanner can read.

As the checker moves the UPC marked items across a window in the checkout counter, a light beam scans or reads the symbol and translates it back into a number.

Then the product price is flashed back to the checkout counter. There it is displayed on the viewer for the customer to see and printed on the receipt tape.

This number is transmitted to an in-store computer which looks up the item and the price stored in its memory.

Here's How It Helps You:

DETAILED REGISTER TAPE The easier to read register tape tells everything you need to know to help check prices, compare last week's prices, plan next week's shopping list and budget food dollars wisely.

MORE ACCURACY The prices are stored in the computer's memory so there's greater accuracy in ringing up prices. Sale prices and advertised specials are in the computer, too.

FASTER CHECKOUT There are fewer delays caused by illegible or missing prices. There is no need to group multiple priced items, or separate food stamp items, that is all done by the computer scanning systems.

OUT-OF-STOCKS REDUCED At the touch of a button, we'll know when inventories are low and when to reorder foods, so we have your favorite foods in stock for you.

BETTER CUSTOMER SERVICE The system tells us our peak business hours—the times of the day when we are the busiest. This helps us schedule employees so they are available to assist you.

Answers to Important Questions:

How will I know the prices of the items I buy? Exactly the same way you have in the past. We will continue to premark individual products. Eventually, we hope that your confidence in this new system is so great that you'll agree that individual premarking is unnecessary duplication. But that's in the future! In addition, we've improved our shelf pricing labels and their application method so that you can count on correct pricing information from them.

How will the scanner know about special sale items? Reduced items? Our weekly sale specials will be programmed into the store's computer by our headquarters once a week—just as we lowered prices in the past. No unauthorized price changes at store level will be permitted. On reduced items, the marked-down price will be keyed in by the cashier.

What if there's no UPC symbol on the package? Most grocery items are already labeled by the manufacturer or processor. For those which are not, we will apply a UPC label at the store. Appliance department items and some produce will have no UPC labels, but will be keyed in by the cashier according to the price marked on them.

Free itemized packages will continue to be labeled with the package price per pound and the last day of sale as before.

In order to assure a sufficient supply of sales items for all our customers, we must reserve the right to limit quantities of any sale items, except where otherwise noted. Not responsible for typographical errors. None sold to other retailers or wholesalers. Artwork does not necessarily represent item on sale, it is for display purposes only. Ninety varieties of cheesecake from Kilimanjaro to Passover

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — Do your eyes bulge at the prospect of meringue cheesecake? Does pumpkin cheesecake tickle your Halloween fancy? Will peanut butter and jelly cheesecake stick to the roof of your mouth? How about some Kilimanjaro cheesecake? Or hazelnut cheesecake? Or Passover cheesecake? Imagine if you made them all!

Recipes for the above, plus additional out-of-the-ordinary variations and time-honored types are in a new book, "The Joy of Cheesecake" (Barry's $11.95). The authors are former roommates at Carlton College in Minnesota.

Jeremy Iggers, a Buffalo native, is food editor of The Detroit Free Press. His coauthor, Dana Bobberg, an Iowa City native, is currently a 28-year-old bio-psychology and neuroscience Ph.D. candidate at the University of Rochester.

"I've always loved cheesecake," Bobberg said in an interview. "I've tried to remember my first cheesecake and I think it was from my grandmother, Sena, who used to bring us cakes on the train from Chicago.

"I finally discovered in high school what she was bringing," he said.

Bobberg's cheesecake love affair continued through college where he met and eventually roomed with Iggers.

"We studied philosophy together as undergraduates," Bobberg recalled. "We didn't come up with the idea for a book until about two or three years ago.

"We were just talking about various things we could do together and since I had something of a cheesecake recipe collection started, I said, 'Why don't we write a book on it?'"

"It seems like a common thing but we couldn't find a book on cheesecake."

Using any sources they could get their hands on, Bobberg and Iggers came up with about 90 recipes, added some of their own modifications and began testing them on friends and on patrons at the

Breakfast is important

Recognition of the importance of breakfast is growing, but so is breakfast skipping among some age groups. Cereal Institute, Inc. reported at a breakfast meeting here.

A recent national study by Yankelovich, Skelly and White showed that 71 percent of American adults believe breakfast is the most important meal of the day, reported Dr. Eugene B. Hayden, President of Cereal Institute, Inc.

The hearty Americana breakfast salute to James Beard, famous cookbook author and columnist, illustrates the variety and elegance possible in a cereal breakfast.

Poached Pear
Oven-toasted rice cereal
Graham cinnamon scones
Cran-apple bran bread

Vegetable shortening
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans
3 cups raisin bran cereal
1 1/2 cups applesauce
1 cup cranberry halves
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

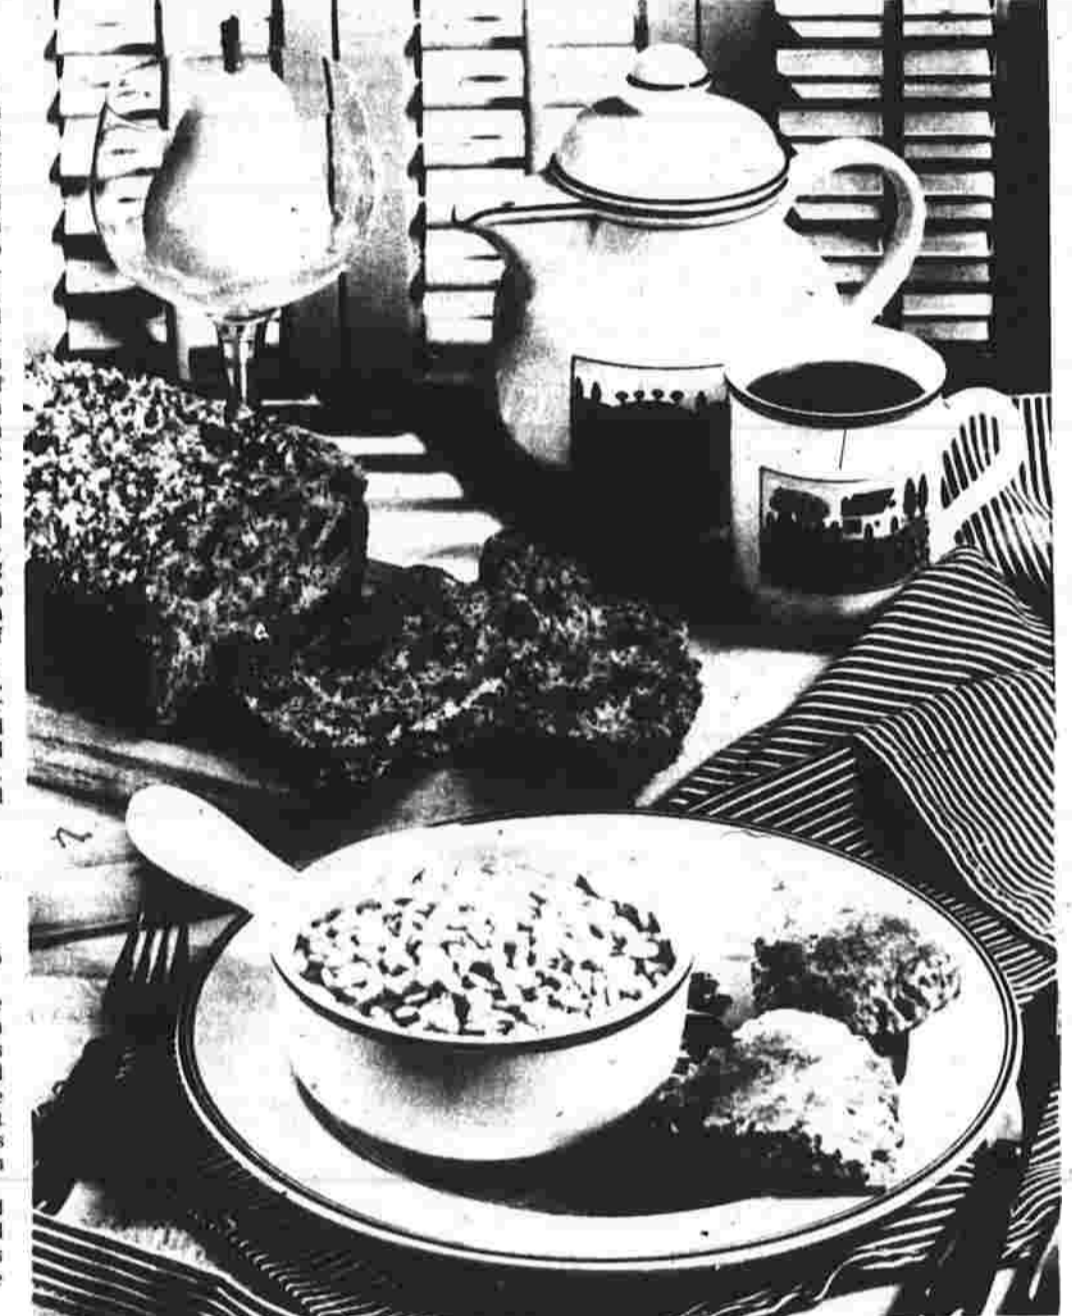

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Generously grease 9 1/2-inch loaf pan with shortening. Coat sides and bottom with 1/2 cup of the mixture. Combine cereal and applesauce in large bowl; mix well. Let stand a few minutes to soften cereal. Add cranberries, eggs, sugar and butter; mix well. Combine flour, baking powder and salt, mixing well. Add flour mixture to cereal mixture, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon into prepared pan; sprinkle with remaining nuts. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool completely on wire cooling rack. Wrap securely and store overnight before slicing to serve. Makes 1 loaf.

Graham Cinnamon
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup finely crushed graham cereal
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons baking powder
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup milk

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. In large bowl, combine flour, cereal, sugar, baking powder and cinnamon; mix well. Add eggs, butter and milk, mixing until dough forms a ball. Turn out onto very lightly floured surface; knead 4 to 5 times. Divide dough into 3 equal portions; shape each portion to form a ball. Flatten balls on lightly greased large cookie sheet to form 6-inch circles. Brush with beaten egg, if desired. Cut each circle into 6 wedges. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes or until light golden brown. Remove to wire cooling rack; separate into wedges. Serve warm with butter or margarine, if desired. Makes 1 1/2 dozen.

NOTE: To crush cereal, place in blender container or food processor; blend about 30 seconds or until cereal is finely crushed. Measure 1 cup cereal crumbs.

Cocoa almond pumpkin squares

Now that the fall harvest season is here, most of us think of special treats made with pumpkin, although pumpkin is available year round. Especially good for parties, brown bagging for work or school lunches is a crunchy cocoa almond combination. It's easy to make, and when cooked is cut into squares.

If you fall off the food wagon, top your cocoa almond pumpkin squares with a dollop of whipped cream or ice cream.

COCOA ALMOND PUMPKIN SQUARES
1 cup flour
1/2 cup quick-cooking oatmeal
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
2 cups cooked and mashed fresh pumpkin or canned pumpkin
1 can (13-ounce) evaporated milk
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon each ground ginger and cloves
1/2 cup chopped almonds (unblanched)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, combine flour, oatmeal, butter or margarine, almonds, additional whipped cream (optional). Chocolate decorations (optional).

Make the crust by combining the flour, quick-cooking oatmeal and 1/2 cup butter. Mix until crumbly. Pat into 9-by-12-inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, make the filling by combining the pumpkin, milk, eggs, 1/2 cup brown sugar, cocoa, salt and spices in mixing bowl. Beat until well blended. Pour into crust. Continue baking at 350 degrees another 25 minutes.

For the topping, combine the almonds, 1/2 cup brown sugar and 2 tablespoons butter. Mix well and sprinkle over filling. Bake another 20 to 25 minutes at 350 degrees until filling is set but still soft. Cool in pan.

Cut into squares and dollop with whipped cream, if you wish. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 16 servings.

Easy, elegant Chicken and Rice Italia takes a tip from Italian cooks who are known for their meat-stretching ideas. This six-ingredient skillet, with gourmet overtones, simmers unwatched, thanks to the benefits of Uncle Ben's (R) Converted (R) Brand Rice.

Turkey leftovers make family meal special

It's difficult to list the ways in which leftover turkey may be used. Just let your imagination loose when you're faced with the tasty remains of a holiday gobble.
For example, curried turkey is easy to do and so are broiled bananas. Put the two together for a dinner that will tingle the taste buds.
Another different turkey dish is a deviled casserole with a crunchy topping and ingredients such as raisins, olives and rum that make each bite interesting. So, as you see, it needn't be turkey sandwiches every day following a holiday bash.
Carried Turkey over Broiled Bananas
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup tarragon
1/2 cup onion powder
1/2 cup milk
2 cups cubed cooked turkey
1/2 cup sliced pitted ripe olives
1/2 medium saucapan, melt butter. Add onion and celery and cook until tender. Blend in flour, salt, curry powder and crushed bouillon cube. Cook 1 or 2 minutes, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Simmer 2 or 3 minutes. Add turkey and olives, heat. Serve over broiled bananas. This delicious turkey recipe makes 4 servings.
BROILED BANANAS
Cut 4 bananas in half lengthwise. Place on a buttered baking sheet. Brush with melted butter and broil for 3 to 5 minutes. Bananas need not be fully ripe.
Chicken and Rice Italia
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1 jar about 8 1/2 ounces minced artichoke hearts
1 can (28 ounces) Italian plum tomatoes
1 cup UNCLE BEN'S (R) CONVERTED (R) Brand Rice
1/2 teaspoon tarragon
Sprinkle chicken with 1/2 teaspoon of the garlic salt. Drain artichoke hearts, reserving oil. Cook chicken in 2 tablespoons of the oil in

Third-ranked Manchester Community College came from behind to trip Middlesex Community College, 2-1, yesterday at rain-soaked Wesleyan University in Middlesex in a first round National Junior College Athletic Association New England Regional Soccer Tournament clash.
The victory boosts the Cougars to 13-1 and moves them into Friday's semifinals against second-ranked Massachusetts Community College at Mt. Wachusett Community College in Gardner, Mass., at 11 a.m.
Mitchell College and Rhode Island Junior College played in the other semifinal with the championship tilt Saturday at noon.
Middlesex opened the scoring at 10:06 of the first half with former Hartford Public star Tony Hudson chipping a pass to Everett Thompson, who beat Cougar keeper Mark

Cougars in semifinals after nipping Middlesex

League baseball officials in Manchester next season will be from the Connecticut Golf Association tour, is Mike Reid.
November issue of Golf Digest has a feature on Reid and he has some nice comments to make about his caddy, Jimmy Horvath of Manchester.
The 30-year-old Horvath, a one-time sports and recreation volunteer and Cape Cod radio station, has been caring Reid's golfing equipment from city to city the past two years.
Horvath is described as a warm, friendly conversationalist, a fourth-handicap player himself who knows every facet of Reid's game.
"I can't even count the number of times Jim has corrected me on club selection," Reid writes. "He does it quietly, in a way I like. We just understand each other very well." At 26, Reid is four years the Horvath's junior.
A year ago, Reid collected over $64,000 in PGA tour prize money and the 1979 season was even more lucrative for both player and caddy. Just completing his fourth year on the tour, Reid credits much of his escalating success to his wife, Randolph, and caddy Horvath.
"Sometimes," he said, "they are the only ones out there watching me."
Maynard Clough, long-time member of the Manchester Country Club, passed along the tip on the Horvath played out of the Manchester club before getting into radio work and onto the pro circuit.

Tolland ousts Eagles in soccer OT game

Eighty minutes of regulation play couldn't produce a goal but only three-and-a-half minutes were required as 13th-ranked Tolland High nipped 20th-seeded East Catholic, 1-0, in overtime in a C.I.A.C. State Girls' Soccer tournament clash yesterday in wet and cold Tolland.
The Eagles, 10-4-3, advance to Thursday's quarterfinals against top-ranked and unbeaten E.O. Smith of Storrs in Storrs at 2:15. The Eagles' top scorer is Tommie Laska, who has five goals.
Laura Romeo got the game-winner for Tolland at the 3:30 mark off a corner kick.
"We played a strong team even for 80 minutes," stated Eaglet Coach Don Fay. "This is a big plus for the program. The kids played superbly defensively."
"We dominated the first half but couldn't score. Tolland was on offense most of the second half but our defense refused to give up and held them scoreless."
Denise White, Jennifer Roberts, Lorretta Cullinan, Dawn Soucy and Felicia Farr were defensive stalwarts for East. Freshman goalie Martha Barter made 17 saves, including several of the spectacular

NFL clubs showing interest in Devine

CHICAGO (UPI) — Several NFL teams have put out feelers to Notre Dame coach Dan Devine, but the Fighting Irish coach said he isn't going to make any decisions about his future until after the season.
"I may have some offers, but I haven't contacted any NFL team about a coaching job next year."
"I have not put out any feelers for any other coaching job," Devine said. "I am not looking for any other job."
Devine formerly coached the Green Bay Packers, serving as head coach between 1971 and 1974. He compiled a 25-27-4 record before taking the Notre Dame job.
"And I didn't apply for that job either. Father Joyce approached me. I was headed somewhere else."
Devine resigned from his coaching job at Notre Dame last August, effective at the end of the current season. His Irish team climbed to the No. 1 spot in the rankings on Tuesday for the first time during the regular season since he took over the job in 1975.
The success of his unbeaten team has been a major factor in the interest of several NFL teams, Devine said.
"The reason that prompted my decision in the first place," Devine said, "was as valid now as they ever were. It would not make any difference if we won 12-0 and won the national championship."
One of the reasons Devine decided to step down was because of the illness of his wife, Jo, who has multiple sclerosis.
"But the only thing being No. 1 has done has changed my decision about returning to coaching from 1 percent to 2 percent," Devine said.
"But I also commented on it," Devine said. "I was thinking about applying for the head coaching job with the Chicago Bears, who are currently coached by Neil Armstrong."
But Devine denied he had talked to anyone about that post.
"I'm not sure if anyone from the Bears talked to me," Devine said. "It was simply not true."
Devine said he would sit down with

Top Enfield to advance in tourney

There is only one real difference between the last Manchester High-Enfield high soccer clash and the previous two.
But it's a big one.
Manchester, which dominated the regular season engagements but wound up on the short end of shutout losses, avenged those reversals yesterday via a 2-0 whitewashing of its own over the Raiders in a Class LL Division first round tilt in wet and rainy Enfield.

Sports Parade Hawser can keep Yank job

By MILT RICHM
NEW YORK (UPI)—Dick Howser has been given the go by George Steinbrenner. He can stay on as manager of the Yankees providing he exercises more prudence with his mouth shut. Measured by any yardstick, Howser comes close to being the model employee. Steinbrenner is the model big businessman. He isn't about to fire Howser purely on some whim and then pay him off for two years. If he does anything that rash, Steinbrenner will see to it somebody else, and not he, pays Howser a salary, or at least the bulk of it, for the next two years. Basically that's pretty much what happened in the case of Billy Martin.

Being broke is one thing, but it could be worse. Ask Bobby Hull, who signed a $2.75 million off-contract with the Winnipeg Jets of the WHA eight years ago and now sits out, doing nothing left due to all the marital litigation he went through with his wife. What he didn't say was that she not only took him to the cleaners financially, but also broke his heart by auctioning off all his hockey trophies and memorabilia.

Charlie Finley's departure from baseball becomes official this Thursday before falling though he took one more shot at his favorite target, Bruce Kohn, during the recent meeting of American League of writers in Chicago. As soon as he began his harangue, a number of the others in the room got up and left. Said one exiting orator: "This is a good time to go get some lunch. We've heard all this before anyway."

The Toronto Maple Leafs like to march to their own drummer. They have a few things different from anyone else and maybe that explains why they are the only team to finish their season schedule in their media guide.

Twenty years have passed since it happened, yet Edgard Baran can still recall with startling vividness that harrowing night when the plane on which he and the rest of the Minneapolis Lakers were forced down in a desolate cornfield in Carroll, Iowa. All the instruments in the plane were out and nothing was working except the motors, he says. The pilot, on the inter-com, and told us he had no other choice but to go down right away. One of us including Jim Krebs, our center, were playing cards. Jim used to cheat a lot and as we were on our way down, he said, "I'll serve this thing. I'll never cheat again."

Baker to pursue fortune in draft

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Los Angeles Dodgers outfielder Dusty Baker is set to be a top draft pick. Baker's salary is reported to be $3 million contract after he will be drafted and will seek his fortune in the free agent draft. Baker considered a leading candidate for the National League Most Valuable Player Award this year made the decision Tuesday. Baker owner Peter D. Maloy said the contract would have made Baker one of the top 10 paid players in baseball and the highest paid player in the history of the Dodgers.

O'Malley thought it was an offer Baker could refuse. "I'm going to miss the guys," Baker said. "I'm going to miss the team. The fans. I'm feeling hard not to be emotional, but it's very disappointing to me."

Negotiations between Baker and his agent, Jerry Kapstein and the Dodgers broke down during the afternoon. Both sides emphasized the meeting was held in a friendly climate and Baker said he hoped the Dodgers would exercise their right to select him in the re-entry draft in New York on Nov. 13.

This afternoon we made a contract offer who would make him one of the top 10 paid players in baseball. O'Malley said "Dodger general manager Al Campanis and myself met with Dusty and Jerry Kapstein and we made a great effort to sign Dusty. I'm surprised and disappointed the offer wasn't accepted. It would have made Dusty one of the top 10 paid players in the game today and he would have become the highest-paid player in the history of the Dodgers."

We will continue to maintain an open policy for Dusty and his agent but I'm not optimistic we will satisfy their request.

No decision on Howser

NEW YORK (UPI)—It appears Howser and George Steinbrenner, the team's principal owner, Tuesday put aside their much-publicized dispute to make a joint statement that no decision has been made yet on whether Howser will return in 1981.

George Steinbrenner and I have had some excellent meetings and conversations in the past few days," Howser said. "We've discussed several things which are under consideration at this time, none of which I am able to divulge."

I know a decision to some of you

(media) has seemed overdue, but I don't feel that way, because after all, it's a decision that affects my life and I intend to take my time with it."

Cy Young winner

Arm does talking for Steve Carlton

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steve Carlton's policy has always been to let his left arm do the talking, and that's what he did in his first Cy Young Award win Tuesday night.

Carlton was a consistent winner from the time he broke in with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1966, but was traded to the Phillies in 1972 after his first Cy Young season.

Canadiens struggle outscoring Quebec

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Montreal Canadiens are struggling to outscore the Quebec Nordiques.

The Canadiens took a 1-0 lead in the opening period on Mark Napier's backhand, but Peter Stastny and Jamie Hislop kept Montreal's offense from building a lead.

Quebec Coach Michel Bergeron, still winless in seven games since taking over from Maurice Filion, complimented his team's performance.

"We played a good game, but that penalty late in the game hurt us," said Bergeron. "We would have won this game except for Lafleur."

In the only other game, the New York Islanders defeated Detroit 6-4.

Dennis Potvin set a club record with five assists and New York scored three goals within a 2-47 span of the first round of the 415,000 Stockholm Open Grand Prix Tennis Tournament.

The 1980 U.S. Open champion had difficulty with his serve during the first two games, but settled down for 6-3, 6-0 triumph.

With that, I won't have any more to say until Dick arrives at a decision."

Phillies' Green still unsigned

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Officials of the Philadelphia Phillies and Dallas Green have not discussed whether Green will return as manager of the championship team for the 1981 season.

The money is right, three and a half to four times what I can make normally," Green told the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"I talked to Paul and Dallas Tuesday night, and it didn't seem as if anything was imminent," he said, adding that he was uncertain whether Green and Owens would meet this week to discuss Green's future.

Pistons in rally to upset Bucks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Consider the odds: The Milwaukee Bucks, winners of 11 of their first 13 games, held a 15-point, home-court lead over the lowly Detroit Pistons.

The Bucks led 93-80 at 6:40 to go when Detroit called a timeout. The Pistons then outscored the Bucks 17-2 in the next 11 minutes.

Philly alive with sports

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Wherever he is right now, the late comedian W.C. Fields might be having second thoughts about all those Philadelphia jokes he told.

Somewhere, Benjamin Franklin might be hoisting a few in honor of his adopted city, not to mention the other founding fathers who kicked up their heels here in colonial times.

The Eagles are in first place in the NFC East and sport the NFL's best record, 8-1. The 7ers are sitting atop the NBA's Atlantic Division at 12-1.

The Bucks are leading the league in home wins and the Flyers are in a playoff position.

Wickham Park site for state X-C meet

By LEN AUSTER
The circumstances will be somewhat reversed from a year ago for the Manchester High and East Catholic girls' cross country teams at the Class X-C meet.

Coach Phil Blanchette's Manchester thinkland in '79 were coming in as CCLC champs and one of the top favorites in the Class LL Division.

But the situation is a little different this year with injury racked Manchester, third last season, hoping to make the top five to qualify for the State Open.

The top five teams in Class LL and top 20 individuals in all four classes qualify for the State Open on Oct. 14 at Edgewood Country Club in Cromwell.

Manchester had designs on a second straight CCLC title but injuries wiped out most of his Pre-season optimism turned into gloomy reality with the Indians finishing 6-1-1 overall.

The Class X race follows at 2:15. Class LL goes off at 2:45 and Class M contestants look the start line at 3:15.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Years ago there was a Louisville Ball movie called "Best Foot Forward." For a long time I've been deriving a certain amount of pleasure from the song "I'm not so beautiful. He played one of the more important military world roles. MARYVIL HOOVER, West Virginia. I think that must have been Kermit Howard. Kermit (like John Allison) was the original Broadway musical and show. The music in there was brought to Hollywood by the movie. It was from all things made up in a film. Kermit Howard seems to have dropped out of sight but the name of my readers will have some information about his subsequent activities.

DEAR DICK: A couple of dear friends and I disagree about who is the father of the Captain. Harry Dragon, of the Captain and Terrell. I say it is Carmen Dragon, the orchestra leader of the 36. My friend says it is an actor she saw on a variety show. She says maybe the Captain was adopted by Carmen Dragon. Can you settle this for me? MRS. STIEGLER, Barre, Vermont. You are right - Terrell's father Captain Dragon is David's dad.

DEAR DICK: Some time ago, Mrs. Griffin's son, Betty Barkley, of "Fight Is Enough," performed a song from the musical show she is doing. It was a ballad concerning an old friend. Last week she brought me the name of the song and it has recorded it and anything else about it. DEAN ALEXANDER, Portland, Me. That was a song called "Old Friends." It not recorded, but
