Seniors yearly holiday fair scheduled for Saturday

By WALLY FORTIN

Hello there! Well it's back to action once again and I guess the most important news to speak of is our Holiday Fair which will be held this Saturday starting at 9 a.m.

We certainly have many lovely hand-made items for the sale and we sincerely thank everyone who donated the many articles.

A reminder to you volunteers who work at the fair that this Friday afternoon we will start to "set up" the tables etc. so why not plan to come for lunch and then you'll be ready to help.

Also, on Saturday morning you all should arrive here at the center at 8 a.m. because the action will start at 9 a.m.

Remember folks, we are counting on you and your friends to stop by and see just how many nice things we do have to offer. You stop by any time between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. You'll be glad you did and we will be happy to see you.

Next, this past Monday we started signing up for a day at the horse races at Suffolk Downs. By noon time we filled one bus and now have a waiting list. If we get enough to sign up we will take a second bus.

Registration will continue for the remainder of this week. Speaking of trips, this coming Monday we will be signing up for a 13 day hop to Florida. This trip is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 12 and the complete package includes six meals, transportation via Deluxe Motor coach hotel and motel accommodations, sightseeing and admissions as per itinerary, baggage handling (one bag per person) all taxes and gratuities.

Sightseeing includes such places as Disney World, Cypress Gardens, Marineland, Kennedy Space Center and a mini tour of St. Augustine. Price is $489 per person double occupancy. $629.00 single and $459.00 triple per person. Joe D. is about ready to start a dart league and would like to have the play to be held on Thursday mornings. There is still plenty of time for more to join.

O.K. now, a reminder that on Sunday, Nov. 16 is the afternoon of our first try-outs for this year's Variety Show. We are looking forward to seeing many new faces this year because we have been watching many of our members and know that there will be pleasant additions.

Now, we are also in need of some ladies to help with making costumes and also men to help with the scenery.

So, if you'd like to help or take part in the show, then please make an effort to attend our first meeting. Just a note to let you know that next Tuesday, Nov. 11 is Veteran's Day and we will be closed for the day, so plan on coming to the center the rest of the week for meals etc.

Last Friday we had a nice turnout for our set-back games with the following winners: Ada Rojas, 125; Gus Frank, 124; Sam Schors, 122; Elmer Swanson, 122; Archie Houghaling, 122; Oscar Cappuccio, 122; Frank Beccio, 121; Floyd Post, 120; Ann Wabrek, 120; Betty Jesanis, 118; Violet Dion, 117; Bert Turner, 117.

On Monday we had 13 tables for pinch and the high scores were: Bea Haber, 841; Mina Reuther, 831; Martin Bakstan, 797; Clara Hemingway, 777; Fritz Wilkinson, 776; Bob Schubert, 772; Annette Hillary, 768; Vi Laquere, 747; Violet Dion, 731; Ann Thompson, 745; Martha LaBate, 740; Helena Gavello, 734; Bert Turner, 734.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chase Manhattan Bank, the nation's third largest, today raised its prime rate to 15 1/2 percent from 14 1/2 percent.

Other banks are expected to follow and analysts say the end is not in sight.

Based on the current cost of funds to banks, a 16 1/2 percent prime is justified right now," said William Sullivan Jr., senior vice president at Bank of New York.

The Fed is in the middle of a deliberate and aggressive tightening move that promises to put further significant upward pressure on interest rates," said David M. Jones, economist for Aubrey G. Lanston & Co.

The federal funds rate traded over 15 percent before the Fed came in to push it down a bit.

Analysts had said that banks were waiting until after the presidential election to make a move that should have been made Monday according to formulas that banks use to set their key rate.

There has been intense upward pressure on interest rates for the past week and one of the reasons could be that consumers are behaving in such a way that suggests a belief that high interest rates are likely to continue for the foreseeable future," said William N. Griggs, senior vice president at J. Henry Schroder Bank & Trust Co.

The monetary authorities have been deeply disturbed by a renewal of inflationary psychology," Jones said.

One indication of this, Jones said, is the Bureau of Labor Statistics' index of spot commodity prices reached 300.1 this week compared with the previous high 296 registered in February. The BLS index included 22 items in all, including nine foodstuffs, and 13 raw industrial items.

The Fed authorities also are extremely disturbed by the recent explosive growth in the money supply that has moved all of the key aggregates above the Fed's target," Jones said.

Griggs said the explosive increase in certificate of deposit and Eurodollar rates indicates that large money center banks are taking aggressive steps "to lock up funds in anticipation of higher short-term rates... and maybe some concern that the availability of funds will be reduced."

"It takes higher rates to discourage borrowing than it did in past periods," Griggs said. "For example, a 12 percent mortgage rate several months ago did not discourage home buyers because they felt mortgage rates were going higher."

UConn appoints Napolitano

STORRS — Dr. Frank A. Napolitano has been appointed acting vice president for student affairs and services at the University of Connecticut.

Napolitano, whose appointment was announced today by UConn President John A. DiBraggio, has been assistant vice president for student affairs and services here for the past five years. He fills a vacancy created by the retirement of Dr. Frederick G. Adams.

Dr. Anthony T. DiBenedetto, who is currently acting vice president for graduate education and research, who heads a search committee for the division of student affairs and services vice president, has been given two charges by DiBraggio.

The first, said DiBenedetto, is to examine the scope and organization of the division, and the second is to carry out a search for the next chief executive officer of the division.

Recently, DiBenedetto held an open hearing in which members of the university community were given a chance to express views on any aspect of the division and to offer suggestions and opinions on the characteristics the search committee should be looking for in the new chief executive.

Top sleuths join probe

ATLANTA (UPI) — Some of the top detectives from around the nation will join Atlanta police and two FBI agents in the investigation of the slayings of 11 black children and the disappearance of four others.

No one hurt in blast

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI) — A tanker truck being loaded with nitrous oxide exploded at a compressed air chemical plant, blowing out three sides of the building and jolting residents up to 50 miles away.

The only worker inside the plant was not injured, despite being knocked down by the tremendous blast. There were no serious injuries among residents who breathed the non-toxic fumes or were struck by flying glass.

Stocks open lower today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues. The Dow Jones industrial average, which climbed 15.96 points Wednesday, was off 1.11 points to 852.04 shortly after the opening.

Early NYSE turnover amounted to about 1,990,000 shares.

Wednesday's turnover of 34,000,000 shares, triggered by Ronald Reagan's election victory over President Carter, was the heaviest on record.

Brokers said they noted considerable selling and profit taking late in Wednesday's session. They said that even though Reagan's triumph was welcomed on Wall Street, investors were uncertain about the outlook for interest rates and the economy.

Bomb-for-hire revealed

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — A little-known terrorist group responsible for a spate of bomb attacks that killed one American and scores of others recruited bomb-squad members and paid a squad leader $26 for each bombing, the government said today.

Authorities said the information came from the "commander" of the bombing cells, Jovito Labajo, 22, a chemical engineering student. Labajo and 14 others were arrested during the last week of October.

Labajo told a government official his group participated in a wave of bombings that began in August and culminated in a blast that forced the scuttling of the 50th anniversary convention of the American Society of Travel Agents Oct. 19, according to a government report.

Pope condemns lust

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II, citing Plato and Christ, said lust is sinful but eroticism is an important part of love and an ethical factor in life.

At the University of California at Berkeley, maverick German theologian Hans Kung said the church under John Paul was becoming more rigid and vowed, "I shall never submit to the Roman Inquisition."

For period ending 7 a.m. EST 11:30 Thursday night will find rain over the north Pacific states and upper Rockies as well as in parts of the upper Mississippi Valley. Fair to partly cloudy skies should rule elsewhere.

Weather forecast

Reagan's Irish roots

Digging for Ronald Reagan's Irish roots is a new Dublin pastime. As far as we can find out, he has no Irish connection, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

But the Irish Times calls him an immigrant from County Cork. The Irish Independent printed a picture of a look-alike from Cork named Myles Oregon with the caption "No, it's not Ronald Reagan. It's a relative from Arden, Buttevant, County Cork."

Basketball court

The Supreme Court will not help 11-year-old Karen O'Connor try out for the boys' basketball team.

Karen went to court when MacArthur Junior High in Chicago wouldn't let her try out for the boys' team. But Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens refused to reverse an appeals court decision in the case.

Woody's ball

Woody Herman may be opening a jazz club in New Orleans. Herman, whose 16-piece band has made only limited appearances lately, played in the Zulu Mardi Gras parade in New Orleans this year — the first white bandleader to play with the mostly black group.

Wake for Edith

They held a wake the other night for Edith Bunker, but the setting was very different from CBS's "Archie Bunker's Place." Edith's death was officially announced on the air Sunday, as Archie Bunker tried to deal with his new status. The wake for her was held at Jimmy's, a new chic Beverly Hills restaurant.

Quote of the day

Out in Hollywood, former actor Ronald Reagan was not the choice of some of his one-time colleagues that Kirk Douglas summed it up when he said, "In an election campaign, every concerned citizen fights like hell for the guy he thinks best. After that you bow to the majority, no matter if your man wins or loses. The man elected is everyone's president — Republican or Democrat."

Manson still dreams despite imprisonment

VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Eleven years after the shocking Tate-LaBianca killings, an aging but spirited Charles Manson — imprisoned for masterminding the mass murders — dreams of climbing trees, smoking marijuana and wandering the desert "where no one can touch me."

The California Medical Facility's most notorious inmate turned down a bid for the third straight time in his flamboyant plea for parole — holds little hope of ever realizing his wish.

The former leader of the bloody sex and drug cult known as the Manson "family" — who turns 46 Tuesday — told UPI he was too old to follow the directives of the parole board that he train for a trade as part of his rehabilitation.

"I'll stay here forever, instead," he said after a panel of the Board of Prison Terms Tuesday rejected his automatic appeal for a release date.

"I'm too old, I can't do too much. I like to sit around, smoke grass, read the Bible now and then."

In an interview, the mercurial Manson, his eyes gleaming, his fingers twisting his scraggly graying beard, said his only hope was that those who are to decide whether he is ready to return to society "will finally get a flicker of light in their minds and understand what I'm saying."

"I don't think this group did it," he said quietly of the panel, which unimpressed with his two-hour rambling discourse on political corruption and death "found and knew would be an unreasonable danger to society" if he were freed.

Suddenly grabbing this reporter's arm and pressing his mouth close to her ear, he whispered, "Do you know of a way out of here? If you get me out, we can go to the desert, and I'll show you things that'll blow your mind."

Then, abruptly letting go and beginning a lively jig, waving his arms wildly above his head and spinning on his toes, he shouted, "Out there I can move — just like this."

An illegitimate son of a 16-year-old prostitute, Manson said he has "done a lot of thinking and learned how not to lie" during the 30 or so years he has spent in correctional facilities, ever since he ran away from a foster home at the age 8.

"The difference between you and me," he said, growing calm again, "is that you live out there, and I live in here, and I never grew up. I'm just a kid. That's the reason I get along with children and animals. With human beings, I just don't fit in."

Winking, he added, "But I can get along with anybody if I have to."

Charged with 25 violations of prison rules, including three attacks on guards, Manson has undergone a change in recent months.

For the first time since being sentenced to death in 1971, he has emerged from his life as a shunned loner in solitary confinement to work as a janitor in the prison's Protestant chapel.

Looking closely at Manson, one can make out the swastika he carved in his forehead during his sensational trial. He was spared the gas chamber and his sentence was reduced to life in 1972, when the California Supreme Court overturned capital punishment.

Charles Manson

Noted that he had been placed in solitary confinement for three years because of "efforts by me then to gain a trial in the MLK case."

He was disciplined for a Nov. 3, 1979, attempt to escape from the fortress-like Brushy Mountain State Prison in East Tennessee.

"The reason for the attempt (sic) escape," he wrote, "is that I have been led to believe escaping is the only way I will be released (sic) from prison, whether guilty or innocent."

"Ray maintained in the statement that 'it was — in my belief, based on associations during the 1967-69 period and other information, that elements associated with the illegal traffic in narcotics financed the MLK assault.'"

He said he provided the name of a convicted drug smuggler to the congressional select committee investigating the King assassination and committee staff members questioned the smuggler at a June 1977 meeting in the Andrew Johnson Hotel in Knoxville.

An employee of the hotel taped those conversations, but the tapes were later destroyed, Ray said.

Manson said he was in a "good mood" after the hearing, but he was disappointed that he would be in the women's center at the college.

Teachers plan events to mark celebration

MANCHESTER — Local teachers will sponsor several events later this month as American Education Week.

Spanning Nov. 12-21, the week is when educators seek to focus the community's attention on the contributions education makes to it.

On Nov. 19, the Manchester Education Association will sponsor a Kalfest, and invite principals, the Board of Education, and PTA members. A locally-produced slide show depicting Manchester teachers in action will be viewed.

Throughout the week, a coloring contest for elementary school children will be held. The topic to be colored will concern education.

This week is also when teachers hold biannual parent conferences, to discuss how individual children are performing scholastically. Newsletters promoting education will be distributed during the conferences.

On Nov. 20 from 7 to 9 p.m., a speaker from Connecticut National Abortion Rights Action League will speak on abortion rights, the laws and the current movement for reform.

Both programs will be in the women's center at the college.

MANCHESTER — The month of November has been set aside to honor disabled veterans by a resolution of Mayor Stephen Penny.

Disabled American Veterans deserve our everlasting thanks and support for their dedication and the disabilities that they suffered on our behalf," Penny said in the resolution.

The Disabled American Veterans Organization was Congressionally chartered in 1921, and the Manchester chapter formed on Nov. 15, 1932.

During the Disabled American Veterans Month in Manchester, Penny urges citizens to contribute to the "Forget-Me-Not" campaign.

MANCHESTER (UPI) — A former state representative and strong defender of the environment is reportedly in line to become the No. 2 man in the state Department of Environmental Protection.

John Anderson, a Democrat from Newtown who did not seek re-election, was expected to be appointed by Gov. Ella Grasso in January, the Hartford Courant reported today.

The newspaper said a well-placed official Wednesday confirmed that Anderson will be appointed after the Legislature convenes Jan. 7, when his term will officially expire.

P&WA plans Georgia plant

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group was expected to announce today plans to build a new plant in Columbus, Ga.

The plant — to build jet engine parts — reportedly will add 800 workers to the company's payroll after it's completed in 1983.

The Georgia plant would be the second outside Connecticut owned by P&W Aircraft, a subsidiary of United Technologies Corp. A plant making turbine blades was opened by P&W Aircraft in North Berwick, Maine, in December 1978.

Health clinic set

COVENTRY — Community Health Service Inc. will sponsor a blood pressure clinic Nov. 18 from 1 to 2 p.m. at Hill 5 Pharmacy.

The group will also sponsor a clinic on Dec. 2 from 1 to 2 p.m. at Bane's Pharmacy, Coventry.

Ostomy meeting

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Ostomy Association will meet Monday night at 7:30 in Conference Room B of Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Patricia Dalton RN, enterostomal therapist from Griffin Hospital, Derby, will speak.

Persons interested in additional information should call 649-6076 or 649-5772.

Daughters of Isabella

MANCHESTER — St. Margaret's Circle Daughters of Isabella will hold a business meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Mrs. Hermaline Feeney and her committee are in charge of refreshments.

Phebe Circle

MANCHESTER — The Phebe Circle of Emanuel Lutheran Church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Irma Young, 42 Candlewood Road.

The hostess will be assisted by Florence Peterson. Bud Myers will be the guest speaker.

Gymnastics openings

EAST HARTFORD — The Parks and Recreation Department has openings in the gymnastics program for two second grade, 9:30 to 10 a.m. and in the sixth and eighth grade from 11 a.m. to noon.

The department said in addition to the above, it has added another session for the third to fifth grades from 10 to 11 a.m. The classes will be held at the Penney High School Auxiliary Gym beginning Nov. 29. The fee for the program is $11 per child.

Persons interested in registering their child for the program should call 289-2781, ext. 317.

Students selected

HERRIN — Raymond Tuohy and Ken McGehee, seniors at Rham High School, have been selected as members of the 1980 Charter Oak Conference All-Star Soccer team.

Tuohy was Rham's leading scorer for the 1980 season with 14 goals.

Teachers plan events

MANCHESTER — Local teachers will sponsor several events later this month as American Education Week.

Spanning Nov. 12-21, the week is when educators seek to focus the community's attention on the contributions education makes to it.

On Nov. 19, the Manchester Education Association will sponsor a Kalfest, and invite principals, the Board of Education, and PTA members. A locally-produced slide show depicting Manchester teachers in action will be viewed.

Disabled vets feted

MANCHESTER — The month of November has been set aside to honor disabled veterans by a resolution of Mayor Stephen Penny.

Disabled American Veterans deserve our everlasting thanks and support for their dedication and the disabilities that they suffered on our behalf," Penny said in the resolution.

The Disabled American Veterans Organization was Congressionally chartered in 1921, and the Manchester chapter formed on Nov. 15, 1932.

During the Disabled American Veterans Month in Manchester, Penny urges citizens to contribute to the "Forget-Me-Not" campaign.

Ex-rep to get post

HARTFORD (UPI) — A former state representative and strong defender of the environment is reportedly in line to become the No. 2 man in the state Department of Environmental Protection.

John Anderson, a Democrat from Newtown who did not seek re-election, was expected to be appointed by Gov. Ella Grasso in January, the Hartford Courant reported today.

The newspaper said a well-placed official Wednesday confirmed that Anderson will be appointed after the Legislature convenes Jan. 7, when his term will officially expire.

Service added

A recent addition to the services offered by River East Homemakers Home Health Aide Service is a companion service for the elderly in the area.

MCC innkeeper club will sell holiday pies

MANCHESTER — The Future Homemakers of America, under the supervision of two members of the faculty in Hotel and Food Service Management at Manchester Community College, will revive the annual Thanksgiving pie sale.

Faculty supervisors are Mike Hiza and Eugene Spaziani.

The destruction of the student center by fire halted the sales in 1979. The group will limit orders to 700 pies. Pies can be purchased through Nov. 21 from a member or can be received by calling 646-4500, extension 205.

All pies are nine-inches and will be offered in apple, pumpkin and mince. The pies will be prepared and ready on Nov. 26.

Orders of 10 or more pies will be delivered. All other orders are to be picked up at the Student Center on Nov. 26.

Persons interested in additional information should call 649-1951.

Union Dam repair costs escalated since estimate

MANCHESTER — The cost of repairing Union Pond Dam has increased by at least $24,000 since a study of the dam was conducted about a year ago, but Public Works Director Jay J. Giles could not be reached this morning to explain the increase.

It is expected that inflation has accounted for at least part of the hike. Giles announced the increase Wednesday, but this morning he was meeting with other town officials and could not be contacted.

Last November a private engineer hired by the town to study the project estimated the repairs would cost about $200,000. But Giles said the figure has risen to 10 percent, and could be as high as $270,000.

The dam has been the focus of controversy between town, state and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officials since 1979. At that time the corps concluded the dam was in danger of collapsing.

The town disagreed with the corps' report and last year was ordered by the state Department of Environmental Protection to conduct a second study.

But the state then disagreed with the town's study. Gloucester engineer Clarence Welti was paid about $20,000 to inspect the dam, but a subsequent DEP study took issue with calculations concerning the amount of waste the dam could hold in a storm.

In hopes of resolving the issue, the state has again ordered the town to conduct a fourth study on the dam. Local officials — who estimate the project alone would cost between $30,000 and $50,000 — have appealed the state order.

Town officials say the water level in the pond is so low that they could not effectively battle a major fire in the area. The town is hoping to raise the level some, claiming the pond could be drained in the event of an approaching storm.

Last month Eighth Utilities District officials expressed concern that low water levels in the pond could pose serious problems for district firefighters. About 100 older homes in the area depend on the pond emergency water supply.

Fire officials say this water level in the pond is so low that they could not effectively battle a major fire in the area. The town is hoping to raise the level some, claiming the pond could be drained in the event of an approaching storm.

Proposal to fight hunger to steer clear of image

MANCHESTER — The formation of a network of people who actively combat local hunger is the goal of a program to be sponsored this month by the Manchester Area Conference of Churches.

"Fundraiser images tend to be built into every hunger program, which is reinforced by pictures showing miserable conditions throughout the way around the world in a country whose name we can hardly pronounce," a program spokesman said.

The spokesman, Father Gary L. Hommedieu of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, said the MACC's program will steer clear of the stereotype of hunger programs.

"We're going to address myths of why hunger exists, and combat the feeling that hunger is a problem of such magnitude that we can't ever do anything significant about it," Father L. Hommedieu said. "No one will pass the hat," he added.

The program, to be hosted by Rev. David Stacey of the Concordia Lutheran Church, will include refreshments and a breadbreaking ceremony. No pre-registration is necessary, but participants are asked to bring a brown bag lunch.

Cosmopolitan Club

MANCHESTER — The Cosmopolitan Club will meet Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the Carrier Room at Center Congregational Church.

The program will be "Tracing Your Ancestors" by Mrs. Dale Cunningham of Ellington. Mrs. Cunningham is a member of the "Church of the Latter Day Saints."

She will tell of the resources of the church library on genealogy and show the sound film of the vaults in the Wasatch Mountain in Utah.

Mrs. Naomi Carlin will be the guest. Guests are welcome.

A school without tests: Utopia or Hades?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Education Association and other groups want to erase standardized tests from the school scene to protect "the kids."

Kids would be the last to reject the idea, it's safe to say.

But there is another side to the coin. And experts examining it at a national conference said life without tests would be chaotic.

That's not what foes of tests say. They claim standardized tests discriminate and are, therefore, unfair. Tests, say they, put lifelong labels on kids—bright, dull, high achiever, low achiever, mediocre, average.

The standardized test most often at the center of the attack is the Achievement Test—SAT—widely used as a college admissions test by Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., one expert said.

"The social consequences of not using tests would be disastrous," he said.

Dr. Robert F. Ebel, professor of education, Michigan State University, said in schools and colleges, in business and government, the information tests describe is virtually indispensable, he said.

"These institutions suffer not from too much testing but from too little good testing."

Critics of testing have chosen the wrong not testing, per se, that is harmful. It is the frequent use of poor tests."

Ebel took on two major opponents of testing—the NEA and the NAACP, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"The leadership of the National Education Association (1.8 million member teacher union has a shortcoming in existing to protect their members, not to encourage individuals to excel. Thus the opposition of the NEA to testing makes sense in the short run. It does not make sense in the long run. For teachers and teaching to prosper in the long run education must prosper."

It has not been prospering lately in part for want of sufficient concern for excellence in learning. Tests have much to contribute in the pursuit of excellence.

As for "leadership of the NAACP" opposing testing, Ebel said this serves their "immediate and narrowly special interests."

"They see tests as Blue skin is studied" attributed to bias in the tests. Almost always they reflect the damage inflicted by inadequate education."

Ebel cited ways in which not testing in schools and colleges would have harmful social consequences. He said it would:

—Handicap communities seeking excellence in education and employment barriers facing poorly educated minorities.

—Remove the incentive for further education and employment. They do not see tests as unprejudiced assessors of competence, as powerful arguments for equality of educational opportunity.

—The low scores that minorities often receive on tests seldom if ever can be thoroughly what is to be taught and how to teach it. The ability of tests to measure the amount of relevant knowledge a teacher possesses is not likely to be questioned by those who are well informed and reasonable. Enemies of testing are not the mainstream," Ebel said.

"Elimination of testing is advocated by relatively small numbers of people, some of whom have relatively loud voices. It is not advocated by the public generally, as a Gallup poll has shown. Within the enterprise there are a few leaders and many followers who oppose testing out of a misguided egalitarian philosophy."

Election tally

A worker at Japan's Foreign Ministry in Tokyo updates the scoreboard in the U.S. presidential election Tuesday while another reads of Ronald Reagan's victory. Japanese government officials commented as it became apparent that Reagan had beaten U.S. President Jimmy Carter in the election. "Whoever wins, Japan-U.S. friendship and relations will not change," Foreign Minister Masayoshi to said. (UPI photo)

Release of hostages delayed by election

By United Press International
The head of Iran's hostage investigating panel predicted the release of the 52 Americans will take longer because of President Carter's loss to Ronald Reagan and he revived the threat of spy trials for the captives if Iran's four conditions are not met.

We would have finalized the matter earlier if Carter had been re-elected. Hossein Khomeini, Iranian deputy speaker of Iran's parliament, was quoted as saying Wednesday that the dimensions of Reagan's stunning victory became known.

Teheran radio said Khomeini head of the commission which investigated the hostages, told Greek television that Reagan's election has no effect on the issue of the hostages, but a solution will take longer because Reagan has only just taken over.

In fact Reagan assumes office Jan. 20 leaving the Carter administration 10 weeks to deal with the hostage dilemma and Wednesday Algerian Ambassador Redha Malek, the U.S. intermediary with Iran, met for one hour with Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher.

Malek was told the United States is still studying the Iranian conditions for the hostage release — a pledge not to interfere in Iranian affairs, dropping Iranian claims against Iran, freeing Iranian assets frozen in the United States and a move to return the wealth of late Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

But Khomeini said if the conditions are not met the hostages will stand trial — a threat that has been repeated intermittently as the 369-day hostage drama has been played out.

State Department spokesman John Tranter in Washington made no comment on Khomeini's remarks that Reagan's election would delay release of the hostages, now a year, and two days in captivity.

Iran says Iraq attacks hospitals

BAHRAH, Iraq (UPI) — Iraqi troops battling for control of Iran's oil-rich city of Ahwaz are shelling hospitals and houses with mortars and cluster missiles and have killed 121 officials, including victims of heavy street fighting, Tehran radio said.

The claims of civilian casualties came as the U.S. Security Council decided Wednesday to send a delegation to Tehran and Baghdad to try to arrange a truce in the 46-day war between the Muslim neighbors.

Brezhnev optimistic for better relations

By United Press International
Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev congratulated Ronald Reagan today on his presidential election victory and said he hopes for better relations with the United States under a Reagan administration.

"Accept congratulations on your election to the post of president of the United States of America," Brezhnev said in a telegram addressed simply to "esteemed Mr. Reagan, Los Angeles."

"I express the hope that your activity in this high post will help improving the relations between our countries for the sake of the Soviet and American peoples, for the sake of the consolidation of peace."

The message was the first official Soviet government reaction to Reagan's win Tuesday over President Carter, and followed earlier indications that Moscow was pleased with the defeat of Carter.

Argentina's military junta said it "could not be happier" to have Reagan in the White House. Mexico and Panama warned that a "big stroke" diplomacy will enmesh the United States in a Vietnam-style war south of the border.

But Iran said Reagan was no better than Carter — and Eisenhower and Kennedy, for that matter.

A top specialist in the Kremlin department on U.S. relations indicated the Soviets might be willing to renegotiate the SALT-II treaty but stressed he expected Reagan to modify hard-line campaign statements about scrapping the treaty.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, said of President Jorge Videla's reception to a Reagan presidency.

But the head of Argentina's leftist Popular Socialist party, Victor Garcia Costa, said Reagan's victory "is a stroke of very bad luck for all of Latin America and the third world in general" and means the return of "Big Stick diplomacy" — a reference to President Teddy Roosevelt's foreign policy dictum to "speak softly and carry a big stick."

"Don't intervene. Respect the internal processes of the countries because they are adult nations capable of self-determination," Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo said Wednesday when asked if he had any advice for Reagan.

Warning Reagan specifically against "direct U.S. military intervention" in embattled El Salvador or Guatemala, he said: "There is no doubt it would provoke the Vietnamization of Central America."

"Nicaragua would be involved in that Vietnam-style war," he said. Panama's President Aristides Borge sent Reagan a double-edged telegram, congratulating him on his win but warning him "the people of Latin America desire that under your administration the principles of self-determination and non-intervention in internal affairs be kept in full vigor."

Iran's Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai said, "there is no difference between Reagan and Carter. Both of them are protecting the interests of U.S. imperialism and attempting to subjugate the weak."

"President Kennedy was a member of the Democratic Party and created the catastrophe of June 5, 1963," when government troops and tanks put down severe riots in Qum, Shiraz and Tehran, he said.

"Carter, he said, was a Democrat and 'caused the martyrdom of 60,000 of our people.'"

Region's results stunned Carter

By United Press International
President Carter hoped to build his re-election bid on a solid foundation of New England support, but when the results starting coming in from the region's polling places it was clear he was in trouble.

The only New England state that supported Carter was Rhode Island. The Communist Party daily Pravda said today the result was a surprise, since "there was hardly anyone who could anticipate Carter's devastating defeat."

This reflected the "total failure of domestic and foreign policy of the Democratic administration," commented Tomas Kolesnicenko said.

The loss of young Carter's vote said today the result was a surprise, since "there was hardly anyone who could anticipate Carter's devastating defeat."

Before Tuesday's election, New Hampshire was regarded as the only sure win for Ronald Reagan.

The first indication the public opinion polls were way off target came with Reagan's convincing win in Connecticut. In New Hampshire his victory was overwhelming and in Maine and Vermont voters gave the conservative Republican narrow victories.

But Massachusetts' election returns stunned Carter. At first it looked like the Democratic president would carry the state. Machine-manipulated results from the cities gave an early lead. However, the edge was lost when ballots were counted in affluent suburbs and rural communities.

Hospital names chief for quality assurance

MANCHESTER — Lois O'Donnell of Bolton, has been named director of quality assurance at Manchester Memorial Hospital, announced William S. Abbott, assistant director.

In this new position, Mrs. O'Donnell will be responsible for coordinating the hospital's overall Quality Assurance Program, while retaining responsibility for the Medical Records Department and Utilization Review.

Mrs. O'Donnell has been director of medical records at the hospital for the past 15 years and is currently president of the Connecticut Medical Records Association.

As a result of this change, a manager of medical records and a supervisor of utilization review have been named. Vanessa D. Rico, manager of medical records, is responsible for the day-to-day operation of the medical records department and reports to Mrs. O'Donnell.

Dorothy Topiloff, R.N., supervises the utilization review activities of the Patient Review Coordinators and also reports to Mrs. O'Donnell.

Miss Rico is a graduate of the College of St. Scholastica in Duluth, Minn., with a bachelor's degree in medical records administration and history. For four years she served as assistant director of the Medical Records at the Hospital of St. Raphael in New Haven. Miss Rico is a registered records administrator, certified by the American Medical Records Association.

Singer to testify in secret

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A veil of secrecy hung over proceedings today as entertainer Wayne Newton headed for Connecticut to testify before a federal grand jury probing the activities of a reputed New York underworld figure.

Officials of a federal strike force coordinating the secretive probe refused to confirm that a subpoena had been issued requiring Newton's testimony.

However, attorney Frank Fahrenkoff said he planned to leave Las Vegas with Newton and an associate of the entertainer after Newton's midnight show. The Reno, Nev., lawyer said they expected to be in New Haven by noon.

The 23-member grand jury is investigating the activities of reputed New York underworld figure Frank Piccolo whom an NBC reporter claimed had become a hidden partner in Las Vegas' Aladdin Hotel which is co-owned by Newton. At an Oct. 8 news conference in Nevada, Newton said he had never heard of Piccolo and said he would file a libel suit against NBC because of the report.

"The grand jury has been investigating Piccolo for a longer period of time," Fahrenkoff said earlier this week. "It has been a long-standing investigation and the jury wants to ask Wayne and Mark questions."

Fahrenkoff said the testimony of the two men would "be consistent" with what they had told the Nevada Gaming Commission which granted Newton and Nevada gaming figure Ed Torres gaming licenses for the Aladdin.

The hotel had been ordered closed in July by the state of Nevada after the Aladdin Hotel Corp. was convicted by a federal jury in Detroit. It re-opened Oct. 1 after Newton and Torres purchased the facility for $85 million and received the gaming licenses. The grand jury also had subpoenaed entertainer Lola Falana, who appears regularly at the hotel, to testify in New Haven. But the request was dropped with Fahrenkoff explaining federal officials had determined Ms. Falana "had no knowledge of any of the people involved."

Bond sees hard times
SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Georgia legislator Julian Bond predicts that the Reagan administration will insure a hard time for the country's working people.

Speaking Wednesday at Western New England College, Bond pointed to the president-elect's minimum wage proposal as an example of an administration that would fail to promote social welfare.

EDC stands firm on right-of-way

MANCHESTER — The Economic Development Commission voted this morning to stick to its location for a power right-of-way but to try to lessen the impact of that right-of-way on a Buckland property owner.

The right-of-way goes through the property of Mrs. Suzanne Shorts of Burnham Street and would require the destruction of a tobacco shed. The path was established because the town developed the Buckland Industrial Park and an earlier right-of-way location would have made the park about 25 acres smaller. The new power line path is the same path that would have been used for Interstate 291 if the industrial park had not been constructed.

The commission cannot delay a decision on the right-of-way because it will lose a half million dollars state grant if the power lines are not constructed by mid-1981.

Contract negotiations scheduled to resume

MANCHESTER — Contract negotiations were scheduled to resume this afternoon between the Meadows Convalescent Home and the union representing workers at the state's largest nursing home.

Health care and service employees at the Meadows have been without a contract since Sept. 30, when their previous agreement expired. Today's meeting would be the third round of negotiations between the home's owners, Gery Care, Inc., and the union, New England Health Care Employees Union, District 1119.

At issue are wage increases and the staff levels provided by the nursing home. The union has demanded sharp wage increases up to the scale of state workers. Also requested are guarantees that the home will provide a staffing level above the minimum required by the state - as well as overtime-level pay for employees working during periods of reduced staffing.

When contacted today, the home's administrator William Fiocchetta, assured that staffing levels are already above the state minimum. In the last meeting, the home for the first time outlined its staffing policy for the union, Fiocchetta said.

The two parties were scheduled today for the first time to discuss the wage issue. "We have yet to even discuss the wages," Fiocchetta said this morning.

Fiocchetta said the negotiations were still in the "initial stages," adding the home is "as anxious as the union members to settle the issue as quickly as possible." Still, Fiocchetta referred to Chester Morgan, candidate for state representative and Christopher Dodd, candidate for U.S. Senator. Both won the election.

Voting was so heavy in the Ninth District in Manchester Tuesday that several, including Joe Naytor and Pat Frignano, made three

Board vote not needed to stay out of CD plan

By MARY KITZMAN
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Unless there's strong indications for it, the Board of Directors will not formally vote on remaining out of the Community Development program.

According to Mayor Stephen Penney, a formal board vote will not be needed. A vote would only be necessary, Penney said, if the town decided to rejoin the program, or there was a slim margin either way on the referendum.

But Tuesday's vote, 15-10 opposing the re-entry, and 6,174 for it, was "clear enough mandate" according to Penney.

"The referendum indicated a majority of the people do not favor rejoining the program," Penney said.

Minority enrollment rises continuing recent trend

By LAUREN DAVIS SHEA
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — Continuing a trend of at least five years' duration, minority enrollment in the town's public schools has again risen to new heights.

Official statistics submitted to the state for the current school year show Manchester's minority enrollment is contracted to pay for an increase of 40.3 percent in the year, compared to 1979. It also shows an increase of 40.3 percent in the number of Project Concern students accepted by the town.

There are 11 American Indians enrolled in Manchester's schools this year, compared to seven last year. There are 131 Asian Americans enrolled this year, compared to 114 enrolled last year.

There are 267 Black students enrolled this year, compared to 252 last year. There are 73 Hispanic students enrolled this year, compared to 58 last year. This represents a gain of 71 full-time minority pupils while the total student enrollment has declined by 378 students.

Vernon cops list arrests

VERNON — Jerome Bennett, 50, of 51 1/2 Village St., Rockville, was charged Wednesday with disorderly conduct in connection with a disturbance on Village Street.

He was released for appearance in court Nov. 18.

East, the eighth seed, will play for the season, will oppose 16th-ranked and defending champ South Windsor, a 3-2 overtime winner over Wilbur Cross, Friday afternoon at 2:15 at Glastonbury High. East and South Windsor have never met before.

The setback ends Bulkeley's season at 2-7. The 21st-ranked Bulldogs were bested in the regular season finale by East, 5-4.

"We really didn't make any adjustments in years," responded East Coach Tom Main, seeing his club shut down usually high-scoring Bulkeley. "The big key was to win the wind the second half. We won the flip and (freshman) goal Jeff Riggis didn't want to go against the sun in the first half. The idea was to keep them scoreless the first half and let our offense go to work the second half."

"We also wanted to check No. 17 (Kris Janso) very tightly. We had Tim Shehan on him until he got hurt and then Phil Marciano and I thought they did a nice job," complimented Main.

Bulkeley, with the wind, had a 13-9 edge in shots in the first half and had the better scoring chances. But Riggis, replacing the injured Dave Callahan, exhibited fine dexterity with seven saves. He thwarted Jargilo three times and Santo Finocchiaro twice. The freshman keeper had an easy second half and finished with eight saves.

The Bulldogs had only three chances in the second half. "Riggis played the last 10 minutes against them (Bulkeley) there and shut them off," Main noted. "The team is confident with him back there. He made some good saves the first half. He's risen to the occasion."

East's offense went to work quickly by the second half and got the game-winner at the 4:06 mark. A through pass by Kyle Ayer was run down by Terry McConville slightly right of the goal by the endline. He saved it, and flipped from a virtually impossible angle a shot which slipped through Phil Stoneham for a flagrant foul. He was given a yellow card earlier in the half and a verbal warning in the first half.

East had 13 second-half shots for a total of 22 against 16 overall for the Bulldogs. Garafalo had 14 saves.

We want to get the first goal. We wanted to work on their posture. We felt they could be rattled," Main commented. "Their defense has been suspect all year. They don't have the skills there like they do up front."

"We're not the CCL or CVC but we are trying hard to represent our league (HCC) the best we can," added Main, who saw his troops annex the 1980 HCC crown. "We've shut out two teams in a row so you have to compliment the defense. They're beating people to the ball."

East capped its scoring with six seconds to go as Ayer was tripped from behind in the penalty area. He boomed a drive from the 12-yard spot into the right corner of the cage. It was his 19th goal of the season.

Bulkeley played the final 8:55 with 10 men as the hot-tempered Jargilo was red carded by official Phil Stoneham for a flagrant foul. He was given a yellow card earlier in the half and a verbal warning in the first half.

Fate, wind right for Eagles

By LEN AUSTER

Once the opening 45 minutes of play elapsed fate — and the wind — was blowing in the right direction for East Catholic.

Electing to go against the wind the first half, the Eagle booters held Bulkeley High scoreless and then went to work in the second 45-minute block. ### Geographical Ignorance A Passport to Confusion

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to the letter from Hawaii. Your Hawaiian correspondent was put out by the number of people who didn't know that Hawaii was part of the United States.

We who live in NEW MEXICO are constantly running into the same situation. Let me give you a few examples.

New Mexico was the only state in the union whose license plates were stamped with "USA" in the lower right-hand corner of the plate.

I have also seen maps in which New Mexico was completely omitted!

As a counselor who assists students in applying for financial aid to further their education, we have been asked why they did not seek aid from Hawaii (Oahu, Maui, Molokai, and Hawaii). And this from so-called educated administrative assistants and executive secretaries!

Many people visiting New Mexico comment on how surprised they were that they didn't have to go through customs or present a passport. They actually thought New Mexico was a part of Mexico.

FROM MEXICO (THE NEW ONE)

DEAR ABBY: Move over. Many from West Virginia wrote to say that their state is sometimes considered the western part of the state of Virginia.

And while we're on the subject of geographical ignorance, many wrote to say that they wish people would quit getting Australia confused with New Zealand.

Peanuts - Charles M. Schulz

WELL, BIRD I HATE TO SAY IT, BUT I DON'T HAVE ANY IDEA WHERE WE ARE...

I'M GETTING HUNGRY, TOO.

YOU KNOW WHAT WOULD TASTE GOOD RIGHT NOW? A BIG PIECE OF ANGEL FOOD CAKE!

"SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING" 2 UNBEATEN EGG WHITES 1/2 CUPS SUGAR 1/8 TSP. COLD WATER 1/8 TSP. CR. OF TA.

Priscilla's Pop - Ed Sullivan

LOOK WHAT I BOUGHT AT A GARAGE SALE TODAY.

A CASE FOR A MUSICAL INSTRUMENT! WHAT GOOD IS THAT?

YOU CARRYING A FLUTE TO WORK?

NO, A WASHED POTATO SUBMARINE SANDWICH.

Captain Easy - Crooks & Lawrence

IT'S TRUE! LIVORNO DID HAVE MY HUSBAND SHOT BY ONE OF HIS MOB GUNMEN!

OF COURSE I'M SURE! JACK KNEW THERE WAS A CONTRACT OUT ON HIS HEAD. HE BUCKED THE MOB ON A BUSINESS DEAL!

THE POLICE KNOW I DIDN'T KNOW THAT! BUT WHO'S GOING TO TESTIFY AGAINST ME AGAINST THE MARFA?

OH, YOU'VE MADE YOUR POINT, BUT WHY WENT AN OLD LIKE MISTAKE KID UP AGAINST THEM?

Alley Oop - Dave Graue

YOU SIMPLY MUST RECOGNIZE MY DEAR! INSIDE A YEAR YOU COULD BE AMERICA'S NEWEST SWEEHEART! RIGHT? PANCHE!

IT'S THIRTY-TWO YEARS OLD, BUT...

YES, WITH A LITTLE MAKEUP, A NEW HAIRDO AND THE RIGHT CLOTHES.

SHED BE PRETTIER THAN ZELDA GADDOON!

ZELDA GADDOON! DON'T NOW THAT I WOULD SURELY BE A WAGON!

ALL RIGHT! YOU TWO MEET! I'LL GIVE IT A TRY.

The Flintstones - Hanna Barbera Productions

YOU'VE GOTTA REALLY LOVE TO PULL THAT ONE OUT!

MARK ANDERSON GREAT FALLS, MONT.

DEAR MARK: I'm glad you wrote. This is the first I've heard about a "lockout" device for cable TV. It's a great idea.

The Born Loser - Art Sanson

PRICES (Feb. 20-March 20) instead of concerning yourself with the immediate. Begin today to develop long-range plans. What you envision can become a reality.

APRIL (March 21-April 18) Treat yourself to a special gift. A great reward today. Showed money with long-range plans. What you envision can become a reality.

TARIUM (April 19-May 20) There is a probability that you have been kidding a major decision which you know you'll eventually have to make. Today you are in the service of another. It is imperative today to perform as your best. The work you do will be closely assessed and evaluated.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There is a change about to take place in your social life. You could meet interesting new people. The first indication may be apparent today.

DELTA (July 23-Aug. 22) This could be a day of changes for you, during which you discover something unproductive and focus on that which is more promising and rewarding.

VIRUS (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Knowledge of information you get today could cause you to today review your concepts and plans. Be willing to change if your new thoughts are brighter.

LEBIA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Something right today today could be of extreme benefit to you. Be sure to take the time to see to it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You may experience a new surge of ambition today, which will impel you toward a goal you once thought beyond reach. Proceed positively.

Winthrop - Dick Cavalli

I'M GOING TO GET OUT OF THIS DUMP. I'M GOING TO BE FREE!

I'LL FLY TO ALL THE CAPITALS OF THE WORLD... I'LL BE IN PARIS! ROME!

I SHOULDN'T HAVE SAID ANYTHING UNTIL I WAS READY TO MAKE MY MOVE.

Levy's Law - James Schumieger

BETTER, HARRY! ANN, BOLL CALLS IN TWO MINUTES.

I KNOW, I HAD TO GIVE ME. GUESS A BIDE OVER TO MEET HIS PADDLE OFFICER.

IS ANYBODY HERE?

I DON'T RECOGNIZE THE VOICE - YOU MUST BE MY NEW CLIENT.

Short Ribs - Frank Hill

THEY WANT TO GOO FOR HIS RETURN.

HAHAHA

WHY CAN'T HE BE BORN ANY OTHER DAY?

Fletcher's Landings

WHY CAN'T I KNOW I'VE BEEN SNAPPED LATELY... I... UM...

I JUST WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT I'M...

OH, EMMA! I SOBE AS SISTERS...

I HAVEN'T FINISHED!

UNUSUAL two trump to show the minor suits might have been ideal, but apparently North and South were not using that convention.

East's lead to three trumps might well have been a winner although we aren't going to approve of it. Anyway, there was a reason for the lead. The game was a pair event and North was a great expert playing with a lady whose one aim was to watch her expert partner operate north-south contracts.

East doubted to ask for a spade lead and South inquired the meaning of the double.

West (a lady) replied, "He is demanding a spade lead. I didn't say I was going to lead one."

Oh, yes! Six clubs is a wrap up (over-crowding won't be a worry).

South complained to high heavens, but the lady said sweetly, "I said that he was demanding a spade lead, I didn't say I was going to lead one."

Oh, yes! Six clubs is a wrap up (over-crowding won't be a worry).

Your Birthday

November 7, 1980

In the months ahead your leadership qualities will become more pronounced and effective. Ventures or enterprises which you inaugurate will have good chances for success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A situation which has not been a trifle out of control will be back in your capable hands today. However, instead of waiting on others, you'd do what needs doing. First out most of what has ahead for you in the year following - no your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail it to: Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those days when your intuition or hunches could be of enormous benefit to you. Persistent inner feelings should not be ignored.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Knowledge of information you get today could cause you to today review your concepts and plans. Be willing to change if your new thoughts are brighter.

LEBIA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Something right today today could be of extreme benefit to you. Be sure to take the time to see to it.
