

Fairs are fun....

One Christmas tree is fun but a whole circle of them is even more so. Amy Dyer, 14 months old, of Hickory Drive, Hebron, twirls one of the many calico Christmas trees that will be among items on sale at the Christmas Fair at St. Maurice Church Parish Center, Saturday. The church is on Hebron Road, Bolton. The fair will feature all of the usual items and booths plus a number of craftsmen selling and demonstrating their products. (Herald photo by Pinto)

New leaders

State Sen. George L. Gunther, R-Stratford, has been elected Connecticut Senate Minority Leader by what he called the "baker's dozen" 13 newly elected GOP senators at a caucus at the State Capitol in Hartford, Thursday. Rhody, Vermont have most on payroll

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Rhode Island and Vermont rank among the 10 highest states for the number of workers on the state payroll providing services to residents, according to federal census figures. The Rhode Island Public Expenditures Council issued a report Thursday based on October 1979 census figures, which showed the number of workers employed in local, state and federal government jobs.

Rhode Island ranked 5th with 216 state workers for every 10,000 residents. Rhode Island was right behind with 218 workers on the state payroll for every 10,000 residents. Among the other New England states, Maine ranked 12th with its ratio of 188 workers to 10,000 residents. New Hampshire was 30th with 137 workers and Massachusetts was 40th with 131 workers. The national average was 140 workers.

R.I.P.E.C. Executive Director Gary Sasse said the figures in Rhode Island and Vermont showed "state government has assumed many responsibilities traditionally performed by local governments and still performed by cities and towns in many other states. The New England states dropped considerably in national rankings in the ratio between local government employees and state residents. All were ranked 40th or below, except for Massachusetts. The Bay

Charter change needed to limit Vernon chief

VERNON — A revision of the charter would be necessary in order to limit the term of the fire chief, Town Attorney Edwin Lavitt has ruled. Lavitt was asked by the Fire Study Committee to research the subject after members of the fire department wanted to, when revising department bylaws, to limit the term of the chief and his assistant.

Vernon police say snow removal a must

VERNON — Due to numerous complaints received by the Vernon Police Department, about sidewalks that haven't been cleared since Monday night's snow storm, police are reminding residents of the town's snow removal ordinance. Landlords, homeowners and businessmen are reminded that they are responsible for the clearing of snow and ice on their sidewalks after every winter storm. The town ordinance requires that snow, sleet and ice be cleared off the sidewalks and they must be sanded so as to be safe for walking, within eight hours after the storm or within eight hours after sunrise, if the storm occurred during the night.

Fire damages house

VERNON — A fire, late Thursday afternoon, caused extensive damage to a colonial farmhouse at 42 Dobson Road. Fire Marshal William Johnson said he believes the fire was caused by a defective chimney but a final determination will probably be made sometime today. Firefighters arrived at the home, owned by Wayne Schneider, about 4:37 p.m. and while the fire was under control in about 20 minutes, some firefighters remained on the scene until about 7 p.m. They came back again later in the evening to put more water on some "hotspots."

S.Windsor man escapes injury

MANCHESTER — A South Windsor man escaped injury Thursday when his small car skidded on a patch of ice, struck a snowbank, flipped over onto its left side, and slid across the road. The driver was Jeffrey A. Jones, of 76 Deming St. South Windsor. The accident occurred at about 10 p.m. on Windsor Street north of Exit 93 of Interstate 84. Police reported traffic was blocked until the car was removed.

Hotel fire kills scores in Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A flash fire erupted in the MGM Grand Hotel Friday, killing scores of guests and forcing more than 1,000 others to the roof of the 26-story tower for perilous rescue by helicopters. At least 80 people were known dead, many trapped in their rooms and overcome by choking smoke which billowed through windows they had broken to get fresh air.

Kristin shot J.R.

Kristin Shephard shot J.R. The climactic moment, rabidly awaited since March, came at precisely 10:33 p.m. EST Friday on CBS when J.R. Ewing's wife, Sue Ellen, fingered her sister as the trigger person of the year. Kristin's motive was woman scorned, and all of "Dallas" — the series, not the city — may not be able to summon forth a jury willing to convict her. If indeed she's brought to justice.

Skiing costs up 13 percent Saturday

By United Press International
For skiers, the best thing in life — snow — used to be free. But now even the cost of that is rising, bringing prices up to 13 percent higher than last year for a day of skimming down mountain trails in New England.

Weekends are skiing prime time everywhere, so it's cheaper to ski mid-week when daily rates go down by as much as $6 and money-saving multi-day packages and season passes are available.

The cost of an all-day lift ticket for adults during the weekend ranges from a low of $13.50 at Mohawk to $20 — the highest so far — at Stratton Mountain in Vermont.

On weekdays, prices range from $8.50 at Mohawk to $10 at Gunstock Mountain in Lacombe, N.H., to $20 at Stratton.

Kids can go along on weekends for $11.50 at Mohawk, $13 at Brodie Mountain in Ashford, Mass., or $12 for at Powder Ridge in Middlefield, Conn. Weekdays, rates are $9 at Gunstock, $11.50 at Mohawk or $11 at Brodie.

Lift packages come in multiple combinations. At the Killington ski area, Sherburne, Vt., there are 19 different kinds and most of the resort's customers use them, says Foster Chandler, vice president and director of marketing.

A two-day weekend pass is available for $30. For a ticket good for five days Monday through Friday, it will cost $70. Mt. Mansfield's two-day pass will cost $35 after Dec. 30 and $31 before.

The Ski 93 Association, which includes Bretton Woods, Cannon and Loon Mountains, and Waterville Valley in New Hampshire, offers a five-day pass costing $50 to $60. A Silver Pass good for 20 mid-week days' skiing at the four areas costs $175.

At Brodie, a season pass for daytime use is $215, including nights, it's $275.

Lodging packages also come in many forms. The Stowe, Vt., Area Association says for $17.50 a night you can get a bed, breakfast and dinner at one of the ski dorms. At the other end of the spectrum, the fanciest lodging places can cost $90 a night for a room.

Some of the Vermont lodges offer a five-day, five-night package that includes lodging, meals and lift tickets. The cost is $206-$210 a person.

Bolton Valley in Bolton, Vt., one of the smaller areas, offers a three-day package that includes lodging, two meals a day and a lift tickets for $154.

Signs of strain in the family

Editor's Note: This is the 12th in a series of 15 articles exploring "American Families in Transition..."

By Robert S. Weiss

In the United States today there is a divorce for every two marriages slightly more than two million couples married in 1979, almost exactly half that number divorced.

These figures help explain the frequently voiced fear that the modern American family is falling apart. There is no question that the high frequency of divorce has changed the character of American family life.

Causes of divorce

The gradual long-term increase in the divorce rate could have resulted from a number of factors: increased urbanization, bringing with it greater freedom from social pressures, increased acceptance of women's rights to independent lives, including their rights to leave intolerable marriages and increased affluence and opportunity together with smaller families, which may have made it easier for men and women to begin new lives.

At the same time, profound changes were taking place in our social lives. We no longer believed so strongly that a woman's aspirations should be limited to her roles as wife and mother.

Paradoxically, our high divorce rate can be seen as testimony to the importance in our lives of our marriages. Surveys show that it is harder for us to be happy if we are dissatisfied with our marriages and our family lives than if we are dissatisfied with our jobs, our friends, or incomes.

In the past decade judges have begun to consider fathers as potential custodians of small children even when the mothers are also "fit" parents.

Most important for children who were close to both parents is that the children continue to be able to see or talk with either parent whenever they want to.

Our Florida trip still has some openings. The dates are Feb. 12 through the 24th and the cost is $489 for two in a room.

Now we still have raffish tickets available for the "Little Women" dolls which will be raffled-off on Dec. 11, just in time for Christmas.

On Tuesday afternoon we had a nice turnout for our bowlers at the Parkade Lanes and here are the high scores: High single and triple, Edna Christenson with a 164 and a 460.

There were five tables of bridge this past week and the high scores were: Nadine Malcom, 4,750; Marge McLain, 4,710; Barbara McLain, 4,420; Tom Mitty, 4,359.

What New England thinks

Portland (Maine) Press Herald: Some interesting ideas are being proposed amid the fallout of public dissatisfaction with the network's presidential projections and Carter's early concession speech.

Starting with the Volkswagen "bug" craze in the late 1960s, American consumers began to signal a whole new set of values regarding auto fuel efficiency, engine compactness, spaciety and durability. Detroit only snorted its disdain.

The fact is, Japan and Europe are beating Detroit at the game it invented. It is neither sporting nor possible now to stop them from playing the game on the American field.

Washington can help - not by running interference between Detroit and Tokyo, Bonn or Stockholm - but by reducing the regulatory burden on the industry. It can make realistic adjustments in exhaust-emission and safety requirement deadlines, without abandoning those goals.

Providence (R.I.) Journal-Bulletin: Indignant when the U.S. International Trade Commission refused to support their call to pressure Japan into reducing auto exports to this country, spokesmen for American auto manufacturers and labor unions hinted they will ask the President and Congress to intervene.

MSOC opens season Dec. 7

Volunteers make the difference

MARGARETE WASLIEF is employed in the business office at Verplanck School. She keeps the Patrons' List up-to-date and mails out tickets. She sings alto with the Choral; her husband, Ed, sings bass.

SCOTT CLENDANIEL, a Manchester attorney, sings tenor with the Choral.

MARILYN PET, a professional graphic artist, spends many hours designing and laying out the brochures mailed out each year.

It takes more than musicians to make a successful symphony orchestra and choral. And a non-profit, volunteer organization has the same needs as a highly-paid professional one.

Pictured here are but a few of the many volunteers who contribute their time and energy on behalf of the Manchester Symphony Orchestra and Choral which begins its 21st season on Sunday, Dec. 7 at 4 p.m. at Manchester High School.

It is through the combined efforts of these volunteers that brochures and programs are designed, printed and mailed; tickets are distributed; rehearsal and performing spaces are made available; contributions and subscriptions are recorded; bills and tax records are kept; and refreshments and decorations are provided.

It takes devoted people to guarantee four successful concerts each year.

"100 Years of Italian Music" will be the theme for the Dec. 7 program under the direction of Dr. Jack Heller, music director and conductor, and Stuart Gillespie, choral director.

The program will include: Overture to the opera "Semiramus" by Rossini; the orchestra, "Mass" by Puccini by the orchestra and choral with Paul Kelly, tenor, and Howard Sprout, baritone; and "Pines of Rome" by Respighi, orchestra.

On March 22, the orchestra will combine symphony and dance featuring the Albano Ballet Co. in a special performance at 4 p.m. in the auditorium of East Hartford High School.

The Choral will offer a variety—medieval to modern—at a spring concert on May 3 at 7:30 p.m. at South United Methodist Church in Manchester.

The season's finale will be two Pop Concerts, June 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. at the Manchester Armory. The theme will be the big bands featuring Ray Beller as host and trumpeter, and Daniel Patrylak, soloist.

Tickets are available at Beller's Music, Manchester, and Belmont Hardware and Sebastian Music in Verplanck.

BLANCHE STONE, president of the Manchester Music Guild, the MSOC's auxiliary, takes charge of additional arrangements in the Pops Concert and provides refreshments for special concerts.

JACQUELINE FRASHER handles all the arrangements for rehearsal and performing space. Her husband, Van, is now in charge of tickets. Their daughter, Leslie, plays the violin in the orchestra and Nicole studies violin.

S. RICHARD BOTTARO, a certified public accountant with the firm of Coopers & Lybrand of Hartford, serves as treasurer of MSOC. His wife, Kathy, sings alto with the Choral. They have two sons, Michael, 5 and David, 2½.

Answers about 'free' products

By MARTIN SLOANE
DEAR SUPERMARKET SHOPPER— I cut out a "buy one, get one free" spaghetti-sauce coupon from my newspaper and took it to the supermarket along with a 29-cent-off coupon on the same item. When I gave the two coupons to the cashier, she said that I could only use one of the coupons. I argued that I was only following the rule of one coupon per item. The manager agreed with her.

Who was right?—Millie from Missouri.

DEAR MILLIE— Sorry. The "Buy One, Get One Free" coupon entitled you to a second jar of spaghetti sauce if you purchased the first at the regular price. Since a coupon cannot be used on a free product, you were trying to use two coupons on the same jar of spaghetti sauce.

DEAR SUPERMARKET SHOPPER— My supermarket refused to give me trading stamps on two items for which I had free-product coupons.

Both of these "free-product" coupons were not given to you merely for the asking. You "paid" for them with the proofs from your previous purchases. The coupons then allowed you to purchase those products based on their manufacturers' promises to reimburse the supermarket.

This transaction was in every sense a purchase on your part and a sale on the part of the supermarket. You should have received as many trading stamps as you would have received by purchasing the products with cash.

Christian colleges in China

By CLIFF SIMPSON

Dr. Nathan Pusey, former president of Harvard University, is now the president of the United Board for Christian Higher Education in Asia. It sounds odd but recently the entire Board of Directors of this Christian concern were the guests of a Communist government in Red China. It was the Department of Education that invited them. I could not understand the contrast between the Three-Self Movement that definitely rejected any foreign financial help for the Christian church movement within the People's Republic of China and the future expectation that this United Board would be supplying funds for colleges and Christian Higher Education. So this guest-

Churches, Oberlin-Shansi Memorial Association, Princeton in Asia, Wellesley-Yenching Committee and Yale-China Association. Each participating denomination has a representative on the Board of Trustees and not only establishes policy but also implements the program of the United Board.

The chuckle
Those of you who get "Modern Maturity" may have seen this quip in a recent issue:
"Two little girls, one Jewish, one Christian, were the best of friends. After Easter, the grandfather of the Christian child asked what her friend had received for Easter. She said, 'I didn't get anything for Easter. You see, I'm Easter and she's Passover. She's Hanukkah and I'm Christmas.' Then, she added with a big smile, 'But both of us are Halloween!'"

The root of all evils
In the First Letter of Paul to Timothy, he writes that "the love of money is the root of all evils" (1 Tim. 6:10). This is a sweeping statement that has exceptions (revenge, rape, just for example) but there is much truth in it. Money has been defined as "that something which buys everything but happiness and takes a man everywhere but to heaven. When Saladin died he left directions that his empty hands should be on view inside his coffin to show that of all his wealth and conquests, he could take nothing with him. Parishioners like to correct their minister even a great one. Robert Hall was a famous English preacher and he sized up the man who had come to take exception to a statement he had made in his sermon. He saw the man was in bondage to his love for money. He took a half sovereign out of his pocket and opened the Bible, then pointed to the word "God." He asked, "Can you see the word?" "Certainly I can see it," replied the man. "Then, I hope you will not miss it."

The story goes that there was no need for the man to answer. It was an unforgettable sermon. "Money, the love of it, can hide from the soul of man even the face of God."

Live Christ
"Live Christ! — and though the way may be
In this world's sight adversity,
He who doth heed thy every need
Shall give thy soul prosperity.
Live Christ! — and though the road may be
The narrow street of poverty,
He had not where to lay his head,
Yet lived in largest liberty.
Live Christ! — and though the road may be
The straight way of humility,
He who first trod that way of God
Will clothe thee with his dignity.
Live Christ! — and though thy life may be
In much a valeatory,
The heavy cross brings seeming loss,
But 'tis the crown of victory.
Live Christ! — and all thy life shall be
A High Way of Delivery —
A Royal Road of goodly deeds,
Gold-paved with sweetest charity.
Live Christ! — and all thy life shall be
A sweet uplifting ministry,
A sowing of the fair white seeds
That fruit through all eternity." — John Oxenham

Adult Scouter honored
MANCHESTER — Verner "Gus" Gustafson of Hebron, Sunday received the Lamb Award, given by the Lutheran Council in the U.S.A. in cooperation with the Boy Scouts of America. The award honors adult scouters and pastors who are Lutheran. Gustafson has been in the scouting program at Emanuel Lutheran Church for over 30 years — first as a member of Troop 126. In 1951, he was the first in the troop to receive the Pro Deo et Patria award recognizing service to church and community.

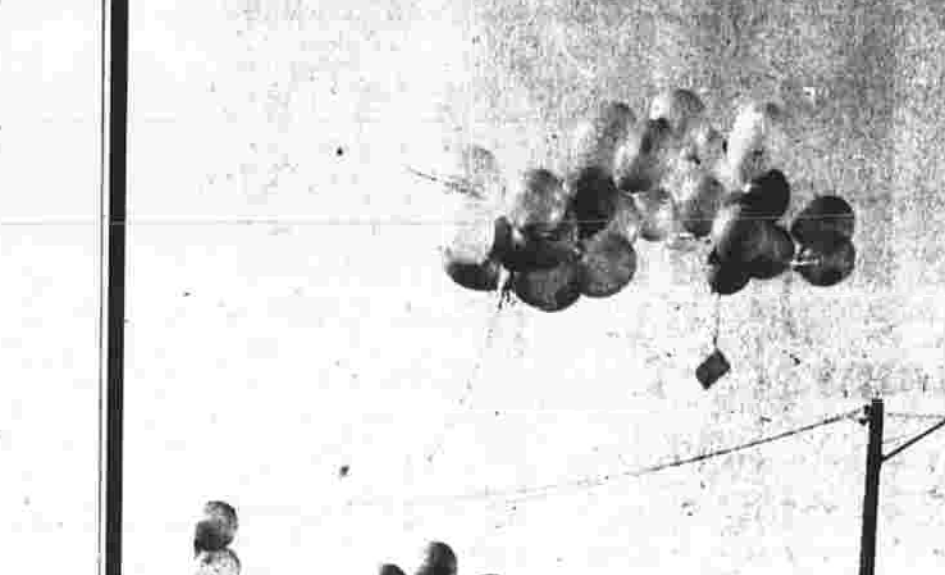

Verner "Gus" Gustafson, center, receives the Lamb Award, acknowledging his years of service to Scouting. From left are Maude Lynne, his wife, and Stephen, his son.

Adult Scouter honored

As an Adult Scouter he has served as a member of the Emanuel Troop Committee, assistant scoutmaster, and for about 13 years as scoutmaster. Gustafson has been district chairman of the Algonquin District, district camping chairman, chairman of the Protestant Commission on Scouting and very active in planning Camporees and First Aid-A-Rees. He is vice president for district operations for the Long Rivers Council and a member of the Council executive committee and chairman of the council Silver Beaver committee.

WORD LIST

- 1. PARSON: A man who preaches the gospel, especially in an outdoor setting.
- 2. SHIRTS: Not shirts. "Thin" shirts, as opposed to thicker ones, is a reasonable distinction in the context given. On the other hand, it is more a question of shirts being more suitable than long trousers, than of this one being preferred to that.
- 3. PARSIN: Not parson. A PARSON "might" help, even if perhaps not much. A person would change the whole situation.
- 4. RETURN: Not regain. It is reasonable to suppose that a skilled gymnast keeps his balance in the main, so that the natural question is of continuing to RETAIN it.
- 5. LOCK: Not lock. But LOCK (using vigilance) covers a wide, meaningful territory. A bad lock is too specific an example.
- 6. LIFE: Not wife. The clue is more inevitably true of life, since the wife may be oblivious to such the strain on the husband, and may, for instance, be expected from him.
- 7. WDS: Not wds. Since they can and do work from prepared material, they don't "take" wds. They may well use WDS.
- 8. SOLED: Not soled. Laundry always involves clothes, etc., that are SOLED—though not always solely that. It isn't always boiled at all.

Highway Department still clearing leaves

MANCHESTER - It's heavier now, but Highway Department personnel are still clearing piles of leaves from town roadsides.

"It's a lot slower, but we're getting there," Frederick Wajcs Jr., town highway superintendent said Friday.

This week's snow piled about six inches of white powder over the ground, pushing the leaf pickup period past Thanksgiving. "Your guess is as good as mine," Wajcs said when asked how long the pickup would be extended.

Many people have still not raked their lawns, and Wajcs said they should do so as soon as the snow melts. Weather forecasters predict a mild week-end which should offer relief to week-end rakers.

Your neighbors' views

Do you think Interstate 84 between Providence and Hartford should be completed?

Richard Wescott, Manchester - "Yes, because it would be a lot better for motorists."

John Grezel, Manchester - "Yes, it should be completed. It will make the traffic better all the way to the north."

Joe Muro, Bolton - "No, we don't need it. Route 6 is not that crowded and it's more political than anything. It will take less time to get home, but I am sorry it will destroy property."

Wittford Smith, Manchester - "Yes, because it will clear the traffic and provide a shorter route to Hartford."

Betty Tessier, East Hartford - "Yes, because I prefer not driving up Silver Lane. The traffic is horrible there and there's almost an accident everyday."

Joey Bellisle, Coventry - "Yes, because I am from Providence and it will take less time to get home, but I am sorry it will destroy property."

Police charge fugitive after sister's funeral

MANCHESTER - Police Friday arrested a fugitive who had returned from California to attend the funeral of his 24-year-old sister.

David Swanson, 26, formerly of 221 Porter St., had been a fugitive for about two years since he failed to appear in Hartford Superior Court on burglary charges, police said.

Police said Swanson was arrested after he escaped from custody following his sister's burial in East Cemetery. While being questioned by police, Swanson ran from his parent's home on Porter Street, and was eventually found in a garage on Elwood Road, police said.

Swanson was reportedly arrested in connection with the theft of several antique guns from a local home. He was one of several men arrested shortly after the incident, police said.

Presented in Manchester Superior Court Friday morning, Swanson was placed on $500 bond after his mother delivered what sources said was an impassioned plea. Police had first said Swanson would be held on $5,000 bond.

His sister, Linda Marie Swanson, had graduated from Manchester High School in 1975 and died in Albuquerque, N.M., where she had been living.

According to his sister's obituary, Swanson had been living in Long Beach, Calif.

Democrats dump McDermott

MANCHESTER - Democrat Roger McDermott, who served on the Board of Tax Review for 14 years, has been dumped from it by his town committee's executive board.

The power play to deny him reappointment is, he and others say, retaliation for an incident during last February's particularly bitter Democratic committee elections. McDermott's signing a petition, giving a "friend" primary rights to challenge the election of a District 9 state composed of party stalwarts, upset many executive members. McDermott's signature was especially noticed because the challenging state headed by Richard McConville, threatened his own.

In McDermott's stead the executive board nominated his own district chairman Frank Stamler, who with McDermott survived the primary challenge by an easy margin.

The executive board unanimously approved Stamler's nomination last week. Although the Board of Directors finalizes the nomination, executive board recommendation usually stand.

"I heard I was going to be axed," McDermott said Friday, contacted at his job at Pratt and Whitney. "I'm sure signing the petition did it."

"Retaliation for practicing my rights is a normal reaction," McDermott said. "I'm sure Stamler is not a Republican, he's a Democrat. I wanted to give him his chance."

McConville said he was aware of the executive board's displeasure with him even before the petition signing.

Democratic leaders Ted Cummings, town committee chairman, and Herb Stevenson, registrar of voters, urged dropping McDermott from the incumbent slate during its formation early last winter. They allegedly wished to replace him with Manchester Community College teacher Mary Ann Roy, who reportedly has close ties to Deputy Mayor Stephen Cassano.

Cummings refused to say the decision was retaliation for the petition signing. He defined it as a question of rank. "Stamler expressed an interest and the board couldn't deny it," he said. He cited Stamler's two-term tenure on the Board of Directors, and service on the Building Committee.

"I have a lot of respect for Roger," Cummings said. "But these things happen."

Scout hike

BOLTON - Members of Girl Scout Troop 966 will hike to Gay City Park today, leaving from 296 West St. at 11:30 a.m.

Girls should bring a bagged lunch, something to drink and a knapsack. Girls should be picked up by parents at the departing point at 3:30 p.m. Norcen Carpenter is the troop leader.

Motorcyclist hurt

VERNON - A car-motorcycle accident Friday afternoon on Route 30 sent the motorcyclist to Rockville General Hospital with a serious leg injury, police said.

The accident involved a motorcycle driven by Barry Fluit of 22 Warren Ave. and a car driven by Sharon A. Binder of Mount Vernon Apartment. The car was involved in the accident.

The accident is still being investigated, police said. Details weren't available.

Animal program slated

EAST HARTFORD - Students in the Grade 2 class of Miss Joan Harpe at the Sly School will learn about the importance of animals to our Pilgrim forefathers through a special program sponsored by the Connecticut Humane Society.

The students will attend the program Monday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. at the society's headquarters in Newton.

Students will learn about two types of dogs, a mastiff and a spaniel, which were brought to America by the Pilgrims and also about the wild animals which inhabited the forests at the time of their arrival.

The children will also see a slide presentation about Plymouth Plantation in Plymouth, Mass., and learn about Colonial children's games and early food recipes.

The program will be presented by Mrs. Joyce Garam, director of humane education for the Connecticut Humane Society.

HUD rejects Vernon's bid

VERNON - The town's application for Bonus Community Development funds in the amount of $100,000 has been turned down by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Vernon had planned to use the funds in part for the town's regional housing contribution to the Capitol Region Council of Governments and part to buy a site for additional housing for the elderly.

Out of all of the towns applying for the bonus funds, only five will receive money, and not the full amounts requested.

Juvenile charged

COVENTRY - A 15-year-old boy has been referred to Juvenile Court on charges of breaking into a lake area home twice this month, police reported Friday.

The boy was taken into custody Friday after the report of a residential burglary Friday. Police said investigation revealed an earlier burglary in the same area.

The boy was charged with two counts of third-degree burglary and one count each of third-degree larceny and fourth-degree larceny, police said.

Meeting set in Coventry

COVENTRY - The Town Council will have a special meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Office Building.

The council will first meet with the Planning and Zoning Commission regarding the position of town planner.

Following that, it will meet with the Board of Education to review the anticipated budget deficits. It will also take action on some appointments and re-appointments.

The council may take action at this meeting on any or all of the items.

Report cards

BOLTON - Bolton High School students were given their report cards for the first marking period, Thursday.

Any parent wishing to have a conference with a teacher should call the school office to make an appointment.

Craft Fair

COVENTRY - The Coventry Grammar School PTO will sponsor its fifth annual Craft Fair on Dec. 6 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the school on Route 31, North Coventry.

More than 25 area craftsmen will be displaying and selling such items as macramé, Christmas ornaments, homemade fudge and jams, knit and crocheted items, stained glass, wreaths, wood items and toys.

Barbara A. Koepke is program chairman.

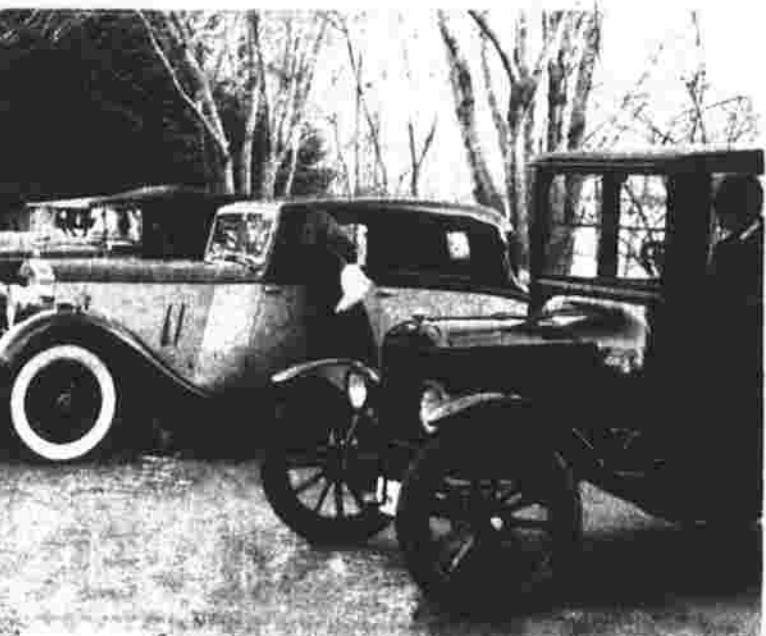

Street hockey

MANCHESTER - The Manchester Recreation Department is designating the West Side Rec Tennis Courts for street hockey during the winter months.

The lights will be on between 6 and 9:30 p.m.

This decision is a result of a request from teenagers at the Thursday's Park and Recreation Commission meeting. The Police Department will not allow them to play in the street and the Recreation Department doesn't want street hockey interfering with tennis players.

Charter Oak and Robertson Park Courts will be open for play all winter long for those hardy tennis players.

Display by district promotes prevention

MANCHESTER - Eighth District firefighters bring their renewed fire prevention display to the Chamber of Commerce's third annual Product Show at the J.C. Penney catalog distribution center.

The display captivated many Manchester school students during this fall's Fire Prevention Week when district firefighters were roundly praised for their work at various schools.

The department's Fire Prevention and Control Bureau is responsible for the display. About 20 firefighters helped prepare the Product Show display.

Persons coming to the show today will be greeted by Smoky the Bear, courtesy of district firemen. The district will also display its "tower truck" used to battle multiple-story fires.

In recognition of the department's "32 years of progress," the hose carriage first used by district firefighters will be available for viewing.

Today's display will emphasize the townwide 911 emergency telephone system. Viewers will be able to pick up the district's "talking phone" and learn how to report fires and other emergencies to the town's police dispatcher.

Firemen will also distribute literature to familiarize persons with fire prevention information relating to wood stoves, homes, and in particular, chimneys.

The work will not only be educational for the 30 firemen who have signed up for service at tomorrow's show. Two firemen will patrol the catalog warehouse, while the remainder will split three-man shifts throughout the afternoon.

Howser resigns, Michael named

NEW YORK (UPI) - Dick Howser, declining comment on whether or not he was fired, resigned as manager of the New York Yankees Friday and was immediately replaced by general manager Gene Michael.

Howser made his announcement in the office of George Steinbrenner in the presence of the Yankee owner and Michael. He will remain with the Yankees as a supervisor of scouts in the southeastern section of the country, working out of his home in Tallahassee, Fla.

His decision culminated six weeks of speculation as to whether or not he would return to manage the Yankees after he led them to the East Division title in the American League during the first season as manager.

The question of whether or not he would be fired surfaced almost immediately after the Yankees lost the playoffs to the Kansas City Royals, even though they had won 103 games during the regular season.

Howser said his decision to leave "the Yankees' managerial post was predicted almost solely on what he called "a tremendous opportunity" in Florida. He refused to go into details as to the nature of the venture, although he did say it had to do "primarily with real estate development."

"I still will work for the Yankees as a supervisor of scouts, but I told George this was something I wanted to do," said Howser, referring to his new opportunity in the private sector.

Steinbrenner said "I'm not ruling out the possibility that I might manage again someday, but as of right now I'm perfectly happy with my situation."

Steinbrenner said "I don't know the same question and he said 'I didn't fire the man. It's a resignation as I don't see I'm concerned, but Dick is going to remain with me.'"

"Every contractual obligation between Dick and I has been worked out," the Yankee owner added, referring to the remaining two years on Howser's managerial contract.

Howser had been with the Yankees as a player and a coach for 10 years when he left them to accept the head baseball coaching job at Florida State at the end of the 1979 season. Steinbrenner brought him back as manager of the Yankees to succeed Billy Martin in 1978.

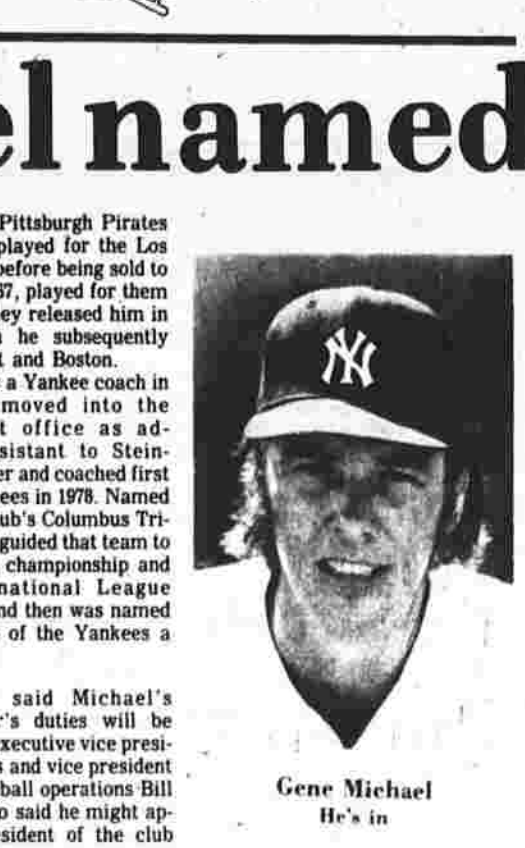

"I went down to Florida State and took him out of job that he could have probably stayed in all his life," Steinbrenner said. "I'm not sure if he did it and I am indebted to Dick. Dick and I have had our differences, why try to hide that? Everybody around me has differences with me. That's me. But in so far as some of the stories that have come out in the past few weeks, we both were duped by newspaper men who asked each man more and more probing questions and I take most of the blame for that."

Michael, who broke into the major leagues with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1966 and also played for the Los Angeles Dodgers before being sold to the Yankees in 1967, played for them seven seasons. They released him in 1975 after which he subsequently played for Detroit and Boston.

He was hired as a Yankee coach in June of 1976, moved into the Yankees' front office as administrative assistant to Steinbrenner that winter and coached first base for the Yankees in 1978. He was manager of the club's Columbus Triple A affiliate, he guided that team to a regular season championship and won the International League playoffs in 1979 and then was named general manager of the Yankees a year ago.

Steinbrenner said Michael's general manager's duties will be divided between executive vice president Gedric Tallis and vice president in charge of baseball operations Bill Bergesch. He also said he might appoint a new president of the club shortly.

Artificial surfaces helpful

By Earl Yost Sports Editor

How Johnny Pesky wished he could play major league baseball today with artificial surfaces now featured in many of the parks.

"Nellie Fox, George Kell and I would have each collected a lot more base hits. We all were line drive hitters and the balls really take off that Astroturf," the current Boston Red Sox hitting and first base coach told members of the Manchester Army & Navy Club here Wednesday night.

As it was, during a 10-year career, Pesky batted .307, the only Red Sox player to collect 200 or more hits in three straight seasons and broke in with a .307 hit year, also a high for a Boston performer.

One incident he told the fine gathering of men happened during his freshman season in Boston, 1943.

"I was 22 and came up from the minors with some pretty good credentials as a hitter."

"I did have some trouble with some pitchers. Spud Chandler of the Yankees was one. I was 0 for 16 against him when we came into Yankee Stadium."

Rose Bowl berth to be determined

NEW YORK (UPI) - The sweet smell of roses and orange blossoms will be in the air for Big Ten and Big Eight powers Saturday. The winner of the Ohio State-Michigan game played in the Rose Bowl and the survivor of the Nebraska-Oklahoma contest is Orange Bowl.

It's ranked Ohio State rates a six-point favorite's role on the basis of a 9-1 record, compared to the No. 11 Wolverine's 8-2 mark, and the strong arm of Schlichter, who ranks fourth in the nation in passing efficiency.

The Wolverines hang tough, however, against passing. Last week they bottled up Mark Herrmann in a 26-0 shutout over Purdue. In turn, Michigan's John Angler rates rather highly in the Rose Bowl, backs with a No. 10 ranking. Zach has passed for seven touchdowns.

In the Big Eight tussle, Nebraska's statistics look like a broken record. The Cornhuskers, nine-point choice over Oklahoma, rank first or second in six categories - tops in rushing offense and in a first place tie with Florida State in scoring; second in total offense, scoring offense, rushing defense and total rushing.

Jarvis Redwine, needing 23 yards to reach the 1,000 yard magic marker, is the greyhound of Nebraska's offense. Still, his seven touchdowns are three less than teammate Roger Craig. Like Redwine, Oklahoma's David Overstreet averages 7.2 yards a carry. The Sooners also counter with J.C. Watts, a 13-touchdown man this season.

Managing Yankees has little security

NEW YORK (UPI) - Managing the New York Yankees under George Steinbrenner is about as secure a position as was being a wife of Henry Ford.

In both cases, the axe comes down sooner or later.

Gene Michael, who replaced Dick Howser as manager of the Yankees Friday, is the seventh manager (sixth man) Steinbrenner has hired since he took control of the team on Oct. 28, 1976.

Bill Virdon was Steinbrenner's first manager when he replaced Ralph Houk, who resigned, in 1974. Virdon, now the manager of the Houston Astros, lasted only one and a half seasons before being replaced by Billy Martin in 1975.

Martin managed the club to the American League pennant in 1976 and a world championship in 1977 before being forced to resign by Steinbrenner on July 28, 1978, after publicly criticizing the owner and calling him a "convicted liar."

Bob Lemon replaced Martin as manager and guided the Yankees to the world championship in 1978 but less than a year later he was replaced by the fiery Martin, who was reinstated by Steinbrenner on Jan. 1, 1979.

In 20 years as owner of the A's franchise in both Kansas City and Oakland, Finley went through 18 managers. Only Dick Williams, who managed the club to three AL West titles and two world championships from 1971-73, lasted longer than two seasons in a row. On seven occasions Finley fired his manager before the season was completed.

Started as bat boy

"I was only 10 years old when I started going to the ball park, working as a bat boy in the Pacific Coast League."

"I always wanted to be a ball player. I signed with the Red Sox soon after I got out of high school in Portland Ore."

Ernie Johnson was the scout who signed me. He used some sound psychology on me. My father always got a bottle and he brought it to my mother.

"I got a $500 bonus, five $100 bills. My father said $500 more he could sign my kid brother, too. Today my brother is vice principal of a school in Oregon."

Pesky's first salary with the Red Sox in 1943 was $4,000.

"At the end of the season, Mr. Tom Yawkey called me into his office and gave me an envelope. I didn't open it until I got to the clubhouse and when I did it was a $5,000 bonus."

"I wouldn't manage today," the one-time Red Sox skipper said. "I had a chance three years ago to manage Pittsburgh but turned it down. I would rather be a coach," he said.

"Williams was the greatest hitter I ever saw. Even today he can walk into a room and electricity a crowd. There's something magnetic about him," his former teammate said.

"Ted was the greatest hitter, better than Joe DiMaggio, but Joe was a better all around player," Pesky said. This statement kept the Yankee fans present happy.

Indian stickers had good season

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sportswriter

Mixing the right personnel into the number of vacancies which did exist, Manchester High girls' field hockey team came away with a fine season in 1980.

"We had a very positive season," remarked Indian Coach Mary Faignant, recalling the year which saw a 6-4-3 mark logged. "We had so many graduates from a year ago so we had a lot of positions to fill. When you have that you don't know (what to expect)."

"But I feel we had a nice season. You can always look back and say it could have been better but it was a good season for us," she added.

The Silk Towners, with their best ever finish in the OCHL in third place, scored 28 goals and yielded 14. Senior Jennifer Hedlund tallied a school record 13 goals to pace the attack with sophomore Toby Brown scoring four goals, senior Georgeanne Eber sold three and junior Nancy Curtin and senior Sandy Caouette two apiece.

Hedlund-Ebersold and Caouette up front, Laura Potter and Jackie Meyer at midfield and Brenda Baltovick at fullback - six seniors - are lost towards 1981.

"The area which will hurt is the attack. We are known as a team which doesn't score much. The emphasis will be on finding a strong forward line," stressed Faignant.

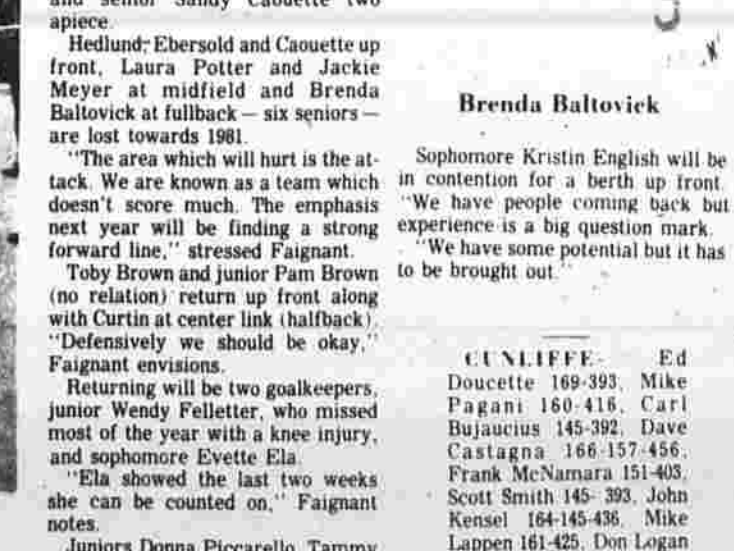

Toby Brown and junior Pam Brown (no relation) return up front along with Curtin at center link (halfback). "Defensively we should be okay," Faignant envisions.

Returning will be two goalkeepers, junior Wendy Falletter, who missed most of the year with a knee injury, and sophomore Evette Ela.

"Ela showed the last two weeks she can be counted on," Faignant notes.

Juniors Donna Piccarollo, Tammy Kleperts and Amy Jones return to the back line.

"The key will be finding two links," states Faignant, naming Dawn Banavieve, Maureen Flanagan and Kristin Anderson among the candidates.

Moon stayed north

TORONTO (UPI) - Warren Moon, the 1978 Rose Bowl hero from the University of Washington, came to the Canadian Football League only to learn the art of quarterbacking, then join the NFL. But, a lot can happen to you in a foreign country.

Along the way he got caught up in a football team as rich in its traditions as the Pittsburgh Steelers and decided to stay for a decade.

"A man could do a lot worse than I have," said Moon, who will lead the Edmonton Eskimos Sunday in their drive for a third straight Canadian Football League Grey Cup against the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

"I don't think about the NFL much anymore," said Moon. "I have a job with the class team in this league, security, the money I wanted, and I also have good teachers."

There is little doubt about that. When Moon signed on with the Eskimos three years ago he joined the most stable team in a league where few teams can afford to give rookies more than a few weeks to mature into professional quarterbacks.

The Eskimos showed their confidence in Moon prior to the 1980 season when they signed him to a complex escalating series of 10-one year contracts - an unprecedented agreement in the league.

Edmonton has built a dynasty of seven Grey Cup berths in the past eight years by being different. While teams like the dismal Toronto Argonauts, the Tiger-Cats, and the Roughriders of Saskatchewan turnover three-quarters of a roster in one year, the Eskimos practice the art of slow change and maturity. Tom Wilkinson - the fountain of CFL wisdom for quarterbacks.

"He has no idea what sort of an impact he has had on me," said Moon.

Campbell to debut Big Apple Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Earl Campbell will make his NFL debut for the first time in his NFL career and the rest of the Houston Oilers hope he can help them maintain their one-game lead in the AFC Central.

The Oilers, who lead Pittsburgh and Cleveland in the division, are riding a five-game winning streak and Sunday's game against the Jets marks their first New York appearance since 1974, one year before Bum Phillips took over as coach and four years prior to Campbell's arrival in the NFL.

But Campbell, who rushed for a career-best 206 yards last week in Houston's 10-6 victory over Chicago to increase his league-leading total to 1,300 yards, may see limited action because of an injury suffered in that game.

"I think I'll be able to play," said Campbell, who can tie a record he already shares with O.J. Simpson with a seventh consecutive 100-yard game. "I feel good. I will go out to practice and I don't foresee any problems."

The Oilers list Campbell's ailments as a bruised knee and term him questionable, but the two-time rushing king says he suffered a bruised muscle at the top of his calf.

Nevertheless, Phillips isn't taking any chances.

"We won't use Campbell any differently. We'll use the same plays," said Phillips. "It's well known we'll use him as we would in practice. We won't use him any less. You can get hurt running a play as easily as running 30 yards. I know there's more of a chance when you run it 30

Colts, Pats need victory

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts and New England Patriots sport the best records among division opponents, but they're both chasing Buffalo in the AFC East and each team needs a win Sunday to stay in the hunt.

The Colts and the Patriots are 4-1 in the AFC East while the Bills have dropped two games to division opponents. But New England, 7-4, trails Buffalo by one game and the Colts, 6-5, are two games astern.

"One of our main goals this season was to stay representative in the division," says Colts coach Mike McCormack. "We just have to keep it going."

Baltimore, 5-1 on the road, has won two of its last three games while the Patriots are entering a mini-slowdown, having dropped two straight and three of their last four.

New England ranks as the fourth best defense in the conference, with the Colts lowly 11th. The Patriots defense turned in a solid effort against the Rams last weekend in a 17-14 loss.

"People were all harping about our offensive performance and how paid attention to the job of the defense did," Erhardt says. "I didn't get the ball over midfield in the fourth quarter. And with a break here or there, we'd have that game."

The Colts expect to be healthy for the contest, but the Patriots likely will go without defensive end Mel Lunsford and reserve linebacker Larry McGrew. Rookie Doug McDougald will be activated if Lunsford can't play.

"We expect a wide-open game," Erhardt says. "We're not going to hold anything back and I'm sure they won't either."

East tankers Open entries

Members of the East Catholic girls' swimming team will take part in today's CIAC State Open Meet at Southern Connecticut State College in New Haven.

Freshman Laura Negri in the 200 and 500 yard freestyles, senior co-captain Claire Viola in the 100 butterfly and 50 free, Lynne Dakin in the 100 breaststroke and both relays, the 200 medley and 400 free, will be the Eagle representatives in the elite competition.

East captured the state Class M championship for the first time last Saturday.

"I may have stuck my neck out by saying we've got to win our last five but I don't believe it, we will! And I think we can. We have to learn to take our losses and benefit from them," said Erhardt.

The Patriots beat the Colts 37-21 on Oct. 19 to cap a five-game winning streak. Both coaches suggested the matchup is more of a brain than brawn the second time around.

"There's more studying done by the players and the coaches," Erhardt says.

"It's kind of a guessing game, but we expect a wide-open game," McCormack says. "We're not going to hold anything back and I'm sure they won't either."

Steel Curtain little tighter

Steelers prepared for Bills invasion

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who received a last-minute reprieve from playoff extinction last week, try to avoid walking a frozen last mile Sunday in Buffalo.

The NFL champions, 7-4, pulled out a 16-13 victory over Cleveland in the final 11 seconds last week and are tied with the Browns, one game behind in the AFC Central.

The Bills, 8-1, sit atop the AFC East with a game over New England and in come off a 14-9 stunner at Cincinnati.

The Steelers' defense is among the league's stingiest and football is left the frigid air swirling around sold-out Rich Stadium. The Steelers, winners of three straight, have yielded only five touchdowns, and are tied for the fewest points (16) and yards (257) per game in the AFC.

Pittsburgh has been able to run against the Pittsburgh Steelers this season. "I don't know if it'll be this year or three years from now, but I'm going to play for a team other than the Cardinals."

"I'm going to go someplace else and play," Banks was quoted as saying. "I don't know if it'll be this year or three years from now, but I'm going to play for a team other than the Cardinals."

The Buffalo defense has made an impression on Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll.

"They're at the top of their conference and up there in defensive stats," Noll says. "They're moving the ball effectively and that contributes to it, and they've got some good, aggressive people on offense."

An interesting sidelight will be the estimated 30,000 Pittsburgh-area fans who are expected to attend the game in the 80,000-seat stadium. The unusually large number of tickets were sold in Pennsylvania by the Bills through the use of a mail order system.

"It'll not only be interesting to see how the Bills do, but also how the Steelers do," says Noll, who wins the football battle, says Banks, "defensive lineman Mike Kilduff," but the one in the stands, as Buffalo's Joe Ferguson, who has

Critical Banks put on waivers

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals Friday put All-Pro center Tom Banks, who blasted the team in public this week, on the waiver list.

Coach Hank Aaron had said earlier in the week that Banks, who has been on the injured reserve for five weeks with strained knee ligaments, would be back in time for Sunday's visit by Kansas City.

However, Banks told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch Wednesday he wanted to play for a team other than the Cardinals.

"I'm going to go someplace else and play," Banks was quoted as saying. "I don't know if it'll be this year or three years from now, but I'm going to play for a team other than the Cardinals."

Banks has been an outspoken critic of the Cardinals' release of All-Pro guard Bob Young, who flunked his physical in St. Louis because of a back problem. Young was signed later by Houston and has earned the praise of Oilers' coach Bum Phillips. Young also pointed out another former linemate, guard Conrad Dobler, is playing for Buffalo although he doesn't get upset with those who question Georgia's rating in terms of a schedule that didn't include any top 10 teams.

"I don't resent anything," he said. "People have their own point of view. But you can't look at anyone's schedule and tell what kind of team they are. You have to get out there and play them yourself."

"We've got Georgia Tech coming up Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl when the Bulldogs will have the opportunity to prove without a doubt they are No. 1."

"Beating Notre Dame would be fine, but right now I'm not even looking at the Sugar Bowl," he said. "We've got Georgia Tech coming up and they need Notre Dame."

Banks, a four-time All-Pro selection, has become a free agent after each of the last two seasons. He hadn't received any offers from other NFL clubs because they would have had to give up a No. 1 draft choice to sign Banks, who is making about $120,000 with St. Louis.

Banks, 32, also is an active member of the NFL Players Association and said accused owners of sticking together and refusing to sign high-priced players.

Banks said the Cardinals make a habit of releasing getting rid of their older players because it is cheaper to replace them with younger players.

Banks had been playing guard for the Cardinals this season because of injuries on the offensive line. Backup Tom Brabner has been at center.

'Nowhere Bowl' set

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Among all the exciting, moving, sad and funny moments produced in 46 football games between UCLA and the University of Southern California, one stands out with a sense of humor.

It occurred in the 1977 showdown. Both teams had been eliminated from Rose Bowl contention and USC won the game 29-27. But in the final seconds of the game, 10,000 UCLA fans and students found solace in the loss with the knowledge that their cross-country rivals were headed for a Rose Bowl-less Jan. 1 also and began chanting their chant: "Roses are red, violets are blue, we're not going but neither are you."

Saturday, as the teams meet in the nationally televised 1980 showdown, there again will be no violets and no roses. UCLA and USC, who have taken care of that before the season, ruling UCLA and USC, along with three other conference schools, ineligible for post-season play because of academic violations.

Three weeks ago, this game could have had enormous impact on the national championship, with both teams pushing towards the top of the rankings. But back-to-back losses by UCLA and a tie and a loss by the Trojans ended all that.

Now it's just for the city champion.

Walker still 'puppy' in game of football

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — His coach says he's still a 'puppy' in many respects but Herschel Walker has scaled incredible heights in one year, jumping from a small Georgia high school team to a top candidate for the Heisman Trophy.

No freshman or sophomore has ever won the Heisman. But Walker may be the best freshman running back ever to play college football.

The 220-pound Georgia speedster needs 175 yards against Georgia Tech Nov. 29 to break Tony Dorsett's NCAA record of 1,586 yards by a freshman. He already holds Bulldog records for "most yards gained in a single game" (281) and in a season (1,411).

He is averaging 57 yards a carry, 161 yards per game and has six touchdowns in 10 games. And he has been named to the Football Writers Association of America's All-American team, the first freshman ever honored by the writers, who have been picking All-American teams since 1944.

"Yes, I think he has a chance for the Heisman," said Georgia coach Vince Dooley, a most cautious man who refused to admit prior to the season that Walker would even be his starting tailback.

"Unfortunately, not only will he know before the balloting (due Nov. 28) if he will have broken Dorsett's record, said Dooley, but he will know if he has taken a team that was 6-5 last year and now they are undefeated," added the Bulldog coach. "Of course, if he's all been him, certainly. But you can make a case out of that."

The fact the Bulldogs are ranked No. 1 will help Walker's chances, plus he has been the cover boy on many national sports publications in recent weeks.

But Walker's astounding success by surprise and there has been no promotion campaign. That, combined with the fact that most voters go with seniors, makes him a longshot. Still, he has been one of the most discussed college players to come along in years.

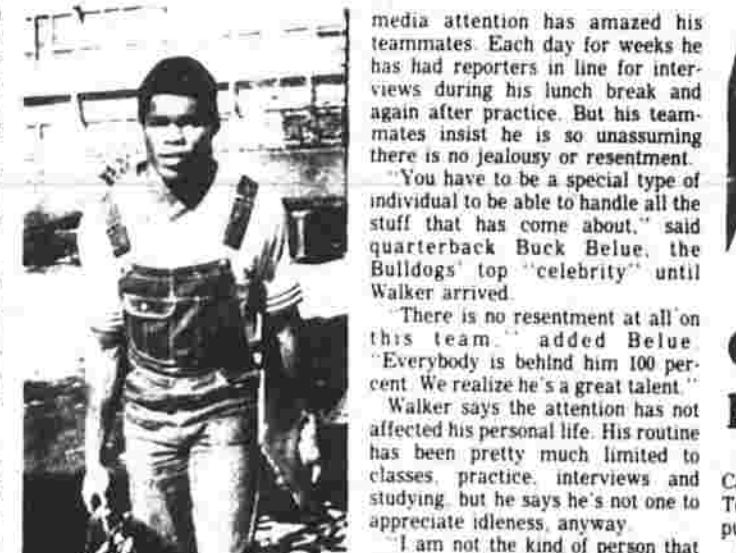

"I really don't think I'm that caliber of athlete for the Heisman yet," said the 19-year-old Walker. "I don't consider myself a modest as well as running ability."

"I am still in a learning process," he insists. "I would like to increase my speed a little bit, but I've been clocked at 9.7 in the 100 and I don't think I'm there."

Really, if I have a chance, it will be the University of Georgia football team for the Heisman. All the guys have helped me out a great deal, and if it wasn't for them I wouldn't be anything."

While he plays down his chances, others are not so reserved about his talent.

"Earl Campbell and Herschel Walker are the only two players I've ever seen who could have gone straight from high school to the NFL," said Bill Brandt of the Dallas Cowboys.

"I've seen a lot of backs, but I don't think I've ever seen one as good as young Walker," said Texas A&M Coach Tom Wilson. "It's hard to find a freshman great, but he really is."

Dooley says Walker is "still a puppy" in many respects — he's learning how to run. But he has started out with three very basic ingredients of a great running back.

"He's got size and with that size he's got this great speed — this ability to go the distance — and we've never had a combination of that. Plus he's got just a marvelous attitude about the game of football and things in general."

Walker is constantly compared to Campbell and Dorsett.

"It doesn't bother me but I wish people wouldn't compare me to those guys," he said. "They're really fine. How can you compare a guy who's got a long way to go with someone who's been through it all? I don't consider myself a super back. They are."

Classic case of desire short by shovels-full

MALDEN, Mass. (UPI)—It was a classic case of desire, but in the end the attempt left a few shovels-full short.

The Malden High School freshman football team didn't want its game with arch-rival Medford cancelled because of a snowstorm.

It was postponed Monday after a storm dumped up to half a foot of snow in the Boston area, making their stadium field unplayable.

Coach Billy Burke said he was told by Medford's coach if we couldn't come up with a playable field by Friday the game would be cancelled.

"This game meant a lot to the boys and I knew they wanted to play," Burke said.

Attempts by the Malden Stadium Commission to clear the field with snowblowers and shovels proved futile because the machines were digging up the unfrozen turf.

"I said to the team, we have two options — either we shovel or we turn in our uniforms. It's up to you. If you want to play, I'll see you at the field," Burke said.

At 3:30 p.m. Thursday — facing something akin to fourth down — the playing field was still unplayable.

"He was worried about injuries — on a muddy, slippery surface," Burke said.

"We gave it a shot but came up short."

Egg drop proves ingenuity

MANCHESTER — Operation Egg Drop took place at Illing Junior High School Thursday and it proved that students are ingenious.

The project consisted for tossing eggs from the roof of the Illing cafeteria, but it was not a wild and messy experiment to illustrate the problems of safe landings from space on hard planets.

The eggs represented astronauts and the packages in which they were encased represented the students' ideas on how to achieve a safe landing, in this case on unbroken egg on the pavement of the school parking lot.

Of 65 eggs dropped, 53 remained intact after flight. They came down encased in foam, plastic, paper and other materials. They were slowed in their descent by parachutes and air-folios.

Nelson Youngerman, head of the Science Department at Illing, said there were virtually 65 different kinds of packaging.

One student, for instance, put his egg in a rocket. The rocket landed as a precision instrument, but it broke through a diaphragm of tissue paper on the way. The paper broke its fall, and the egg survived.

Youngerman said many versions of parachutes were used and it was obvious from the number of successes that students had put their ideas through test runs.

Some rewards to add to the self-satisfaction involved came from Burger King.

They will be the "sign" understudies for the first performance of a Broadway play to be interpreted in sign language. Deaf patrons will be able to watch the interpreters, who will be positioned on the orchestra level just below the stage. Fugard says S. Africa no longer fears ideas

NEW YORK (UPI)—Athol Fugard, leading South African playwright and critic of Apartheid (racial separation), says his country no longer is afraid of ideas, as exemplified in his plays.

"Now they're afraid of the militants," he says. "We've packed our bags and we're going to make a living."

Fugard's latest play, "A Lesson From Aloys," deals with the ways in which South Africans, both black and white, survive Fugard directed the play, which stars James Earl Jones, Maria Tucci and Harris Yulin.

"There's no question that the fact that I advocated ideas inimical to the government was a progressive barrier to Fugard said in an interview.

"They took my passport away for five years. There was the knocking on the door at 4 a.m. and searching the house and taking books."

"They don't do it so much now because I have a certain amount of protection by my reputation abroad. And I'm not going to throw bombs."

The significant opposition in South Africa no longer is the fossilized white liberal, but the young black militant.

"Apartheid is getting worse. Children and young students are emerging with total militant rejection of the entire system. Many schools are empty and closed. We now have a generation of children who have no schooling."

"The government are not afraid of ideas any more; they're afraid of bombs."

Fugard, 48, son of an English father and an Afrikaner mother, is married to South African novelist-poet Sheila Meiring. They live on 20 acres of unspoiled bush about 12 miles from Port Elizabeth. He leaves South Africa only when his plays appear elsewhere.

When he started writing and producing plays in 1960 he had to act in them and direct them as well, to make a living.
